[illegible]at guard, Nilsen at tackle, [illegible]
Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack
(Continued on page 3)

Oct.	2	[illegible]
Oct.	9	[illegible]
Oct.	16	Vermont [illegible]
Oct.	23	Middl[illegible]
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson [illegible] 1930
Nov.	11	Burlington [illegible]
Nov.	20	Class Game [illegible]

[illegible]21
[illegible]ha
[illegible]g
[illegible]D.
[illegible]A
[illegible]ons

[illegible]ty

[illegible]o Burlin

...not before he could fire a crushing blow struck him from behind and all went black

When he recovered consciousness he found that he was bound hand and foot and was lying on a stone floor littered with straw. Through a narrow opening above, a square of sunlight flooded the cell and he saw that he was in some sort of a prison. In vain he struggled to free himself of the stout cords that held him. At last he gave up in despair. His head throbbed with a dull pain. Some time during the afternoon he fell asleep, exhausted. When he awoke the place was pitch dark and cursing himself for a fool for slumbering he struggled frantically at his bonds. Something hard was cutting into his side. With a sudden revival of hope he realized that it was his match safe. After tedious efforts he finally shook it from his pocket and turning, groped for it until he got it into his hands. Next, with his back away from the slit-like entrance, he lighted the straw and held his bonds over the blaze. Although he burned his hands painfully many times the cord at last parted. Quickly smothering the flames, he looked fearfully toward the door afraid that he had been detected. Then in the darkness unbound his feet.

Creeping cautiously to the narrow door he peered out. A solitary guard was seated close by on a block of stone gazing down toward the square where under the glow of torches some sort of a rite was in progress. The thump of drums beat upon the still night air supplemented by the shrieking notes of reed instruments; and he could see the populace, dark shapes dancing about the statue. At times a wailing, drunken chant rose and fell.

As the guard's back was toward him, Stanton leaped upon him and smashed his head upon the rock before he could utter a cry. Tying him with the bonds of which he had just freed himself he dragged the inert body into the cell. Silently skirting the black pool into which he had almost stumbled, he crept silently toward the temple. It was surrounded. In the gloom he discerned the shapes of warriors. A plan flashed into his mind, born of necessity, and he stole down across the bridge to the field. At one corner was a large, narrow-mouth jar that the natives used for watering their crops. Carrying it to his plane Stanton filled it with gasoline from his reserve tank, then returned to the end of the bridge where he hid it in the thick vegetation. Beside it he gathered a pile of dry grass and leaves. The remainder of the night he spent over his plane. It had been left untouched by the natives.

As it commenced to grow light he stole back across the bridge and hid in the thick vegetation that lined the Sacred Way past which the procession must pass on the way to the pool of sacrifice. Beside him was a heavy club that he had stumbled upon. Dawn flushed the eastern sky. The people, still half drunk with the night of carnage, were assembling about the temple. Stanton's hand tightened on the club, the procession, lead by the priests with the girl in their midst was coming his way. As they were opposite his hiding place with a wild yell he charged the nearest priest over the head, seized the girl before the rest could collect their startled wits, dashed through the bushes down the bank and fled across the swaying bridge. Grabbing up the armful of tinder he threw it upon the end of the bridge, deluged it with gasoline. Touching a match to it he jumped back as the flames leaped into the air with a roar. With a cry of alarm the leading warrior stopped in his tracks and was pushed into the flames by the mob behind him. He uttered an unearthly shriek of pain.

In the confusion Stanton hoisted the girl into the plane twisted the propeller. The engine started with staccato reports and the machine began to move. Ducking in under the wing Stanton climbed into the pilot's seat. They bumped along the ground then shot into the air. As they climbed into the sky and headed toward the rising sun he looked back down upon the blazing bridge, met the girl's eyes filled with tears of joy, and laughed exultantly. He was going home—to stay!

Volonor

Glen B Winship has certainly defied precedent in writing Volonor, which will be condemned by many, praised by many, but ignored only by the ignorant.

Volonor is a story of almost feverish action, over a ground-sketch, of a re-made social structure. It is a strange combination of love-story, adventure-story, and didacticism, blended with other elements less easily labeled. It includes all of the major passions and motives of mankind, except religion.

Although Mr. Winship has not attempted to give a "picture" of American customs, he has been remarkably successful in catching the "flavor" of American life—our restless habits of thought, our curiously mingled caution and daring, our extremes of virtue and vice, the multiplicity of our interests, the wide sweep of our imagination, our revolt against arbitrary rules and customs, and our lasting faith in the essential principles of right and justice.

Volonor is not merely a story of absorbing interest. It yields even more from a second reading than from the first. It provokes but does not require thought. A school boy would find in it quite enough to repay his reading, though he could only skim the surface, while for the more mature readers, there are hidden meanings that carry into bypaths of practical and theoretical science, sociology, economics, and psychology. The style is simple, yet there is a nicety in the choice of words and phrases, carrying rich undercurrents of thought for those who want more than a swiftly moving narrative.

Grant West's beef-steak parable may serve as illustration, though many others might be given.

Because of West's love for Dorothy Wentworth and his dread of offending her, he is afraid to mention the evil habits that so frequently wreck married life, and yet circumstances compel him to make some allusion to infidelity. This is his way of doing it:

"Now Dorothy, suppose that I loved you, and I knew you greatly disapproved of my eating beef-steak. . . . On the strength of my promise not to eat beef-steak, we got married, and you got kinda tied down, and I knew you couldn't very well leave me. Maybe I'd sneak out occasionally and fill up on beef. . . .

"But just suppose you weren't tied down, that you had enough money to live on comfortably and could leave me any time you wanted to without having your reputation ruined, and also that we had some system so that it was a pretty safe bet that you would find out sooner or later if I sneaked a little beef. I'd hesitate a long time before I'd break that promise, wouldn't I?

"That's just the situation we'll have here in Volonor. We'll have to keep on courting the women, and they'll come mighty near fixing the standards."

In spite of its daring, the novel is clean in execution, and whether the reader endorses or condemns the Volonese scheme of living, it will remain fresh in his memory long after most other novels are forgotten.

S. B. H

The Catty Co-ed

Says

Two more weeks
To vacate-shun
Then
We'll all go
To the station
Back to home
And mother.
And
A new hat
From Dad!
Then we'll wake
The home town
From its Winter slumbers!

• • •

But now—
It's a case
Of a new dress
Or a case
Of—something
For the Basketball Hop.

• • •

Please
Some one
Give me an idea.
It's hard
To be catty
This weather
'Specially on
The wages
This man-age-ment
Pays!
Lucky it's time
For warm weather
Or you'd see
A ghost.

• • •

Speaking
Of ghosts,
Did you see
The phantom
Of the opera?
Ugh!
What a face!
It must Have taxed even His mother's Love.

• • •

Prrrrr.
I'm satisfied.

carries
all well-known varieties
of
Soaps Tooth Pastes Cold Creams
Talcum and Face Powders

New Supplies of Art Classes
...in packages with special discount
are ready at the
...ICAL BOOK STORE

Track Dope

E. R. L.

I was speaking with a former Vermonter the other day, and he remarked that he could remember when a track man was an object of great mirth on this venerable old Vermont campus. In fact, I myself can remember that when I first came to college I chanced to inquire:

"Who is that athlete over there with the green V on his white sweater?"

"That's not an athlete," was the reply, "that's a former captain of the track team."

The attitude of the student body as a whole in those days seemed to be: Why should a fellow go out for track, if he is an athlete?

Every misconception, however, is in the process of riding for a fall, and truth will out in the long run. It took people quite a while to believe that the earth is round, and that the earth rotates around the sun. So also it is beginning to be understood that it takes a real athlete to be a track man. There is many a second baseman who would pass completely out of the picture if he had to follow Archie Post around for a mile, and many an outfielder would look equally slow in a hundred yards against Sandy Lawler. There are a number of 200 pounders who would look tough competing against Simpson in the shot, or against Hill in the hammer. And so it goes. Let me add, a propos, that I consider it the greatest tribute to American athletes that the United States has won the Olympics almost as far back as any of us can remember.

Today takes place in the gymnasium what we hope to make an annual affair from now on, so let us call it the First Annual Interfraternity Track Meet. This year we have no laurels or medals to offer, but should that make a big difference in the spirit of the affair? This meet will give the fraternities a line on the material they have, and pave the way for a real hot interfraternity meet outdoors this spring, to be held the entire week of April 26.

Speaking of spirit, I wish to say that the spirit of the old men on the team is fine, but that of the new men is so to speak, not so good. A new man comes out for the hammer, finds that he cannot beat Olney Hill, so he gives it up, losing sight of the fact that next year Hill will be gone and that any one with experience is in line for a letter. Likewise a man comes out for the high jump, and seeing that he cannot do six feet, he quits. That is not the spirit which is going to make champions. That is not the spirit which will make Vermont track teams come up to even a good high school standard.

Next week we shall compare the Vermont interfraternity meet with similar meets held at other institutions.

HOCKEY ELECTIONS

At the recent hockey elections W. S. (Speed) Denning of Brookline, Mass., was elected captain for next year. At the same time T. M. (Ted) Egan '27 of Underhill was elected manager.

Denning is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity, a Freshman in the College of Medicine and captain of next year's football team. Egan is a member of Kappa Sigma, eligibility manager, and assistant manager of tennis.

Letters were awarded to E. R. Mitiguy of Burlington, W. S. Denning of Brookline, Mass., F. A. Winchenbach of Framingham, Mass., N. C. Wood of Lyndonville, S. L. Hebert of Rochester, N. H., D. F. Kimball of Enosburg Falls, A. C. Jervais of Burlington and P. M. Fitch of St. Johnsbury.

A. C. Unsworth '28 of Burlington, C. H. Stevens '28 of Winooski, and M. I. Gould '28 of Burlington were chosen to be assistant managers.

ELLSWORTH'S

The home of fine watches and diamonds

Successor to A. G. Hasser

71 CHURCH STREET

Correct Shoe Repairing

AT LOWEST PRICES

J. A. Sikora 188 Bank St.

FORMAL WEAR

Dress shirts with plain stiff bosom, or the latest vogue, with miniature pleats.

Suspenders—or if you must be correct, "braces"—in all tints.

Dress bows, the kind you tie yourself or those already made.

Every item is an aid to the man of social affairs.

• • •

HUMPHREY'S

The Blue Store

The 1927 Ariel

Page 12

...ly in the fall, a mixer was held

(Continued on page 3)

"Genius sometimes tries to pass itself off" as hard luck.

PHI DELTA ZETA GRANTED CHAPTER OF KAPPA DELTA

...nal women's fraternity ...us will be installed ... recess when Phi ...come Alpha Theta Delta.

... was established in ... women's fraternity ... members have been ...ffairs and the fra... greatly in mem...

... a well-known na... comprising at pres... apters and twenty... anizations. It is ... members of Na... Congress.

The Women's Athletic Association officers for the coming year are: President, Naomi Thorne '27; vice-president, Della Martin '28; corresponding secretary, Lois Wright '27; recording secretary, Elizabeth Burke '28; treasurer, Doris Griffith '27; publicity manager, Dorothy Cottrell '29; senior executive, Arline Cushing '27; senior executive, Marian Parker '27; junior executive, Mildred Whitney '28; sophomore executive, Marian Everest '29; outing club president, Elizabeth Pingree '27.

Outdoor sports occupied a prominent part in activities at the beginning of the year. Hockey, volley ball and tennis season culminated in the Fall Field Day, which was most successfully staged at Grassmount. A fine spirit was evidenced in the way the classes turned out, each having their own bonfire and singing songs. Speeches were made by Miss Patterson, Miss Cummings, Miss Blanchard and by several former presidents of

(Continued on page 3)

Bluestockings, for the coming year, will have Ruth M. Flint '27 for its president; Eleanor S. Barrell '27, vice-president; Florence B. Smith '27, secretary-treasurer; and Eunice E. Cook '27 as chairman Program Committee.

The Literary Club has always endeavored to strengthen interest in literature, and now it is going to add an entirely new and different note to the custom of previous years. Wavering between a policy of "inaction" and "in action," it has firmly and irrevocably decided upon the latter plan. Action and accomplishment are to be the keynotes of the newly reorganized club. Education and instruction are to be combined with enjoyment and pleasure in such a way as to develop a strong society with only active members.

A committee has planned a program of more journalistic nature, and at each meeting a paper will be required from all members. From the material thus received, half will be submitted

(Continued on page 3)

...Delta Delta. For the past year she has acted as manager of Women's Glee Club, has been a member of the CYNIC Board and women's editor of the Ariel. Other officers for the coming year are: Vice-president, Mildred Whitney '28, and secretary-treasurer, Lillian Tomlinson '29.

Genius wins sometimes; hard work always.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Installation Service for the new officers of Y. W. C. A. will be held at Redstone Sunday at four. Laura Buckham '24 and a former president of our association will be the speaker.

Notice

The time of the Intercollegiate Competition in Writing has been extended from April 1 to April 15.

F. Turrea

...activity in th... ...the winter, tho... ...include snowshoein... ...g. Freshmen, p... ...pperclassmen are ... ...these sports. Th... ...offering excellen... ...coming acquainte... ...new girls also are ... ...all who go. ...dership of Eli... ...membership and act... ...creasing.

...guard, Nilson at tackle, Bonz, Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this ... and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Rose L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

...aged to come out for the w...

...ly

...A minor improve... ...grounds has been ... concrete walk le... ...llow to Morrill ... ...waded through th... ...called South ... ...because there ... Hall.

Number 11 of a Series

DANCE ORDERS
PROGRAMS
FAVORS
MENUS
STATIONERY

Bring your printing to us and be sure of service and satisfaction.

FREE PRESS PRINTING CO.
189 College Street
Burlington - - - Vermont

Stationery, Magazines
NEWSPAPERS
BESSEY NEWS CO.
136 Church St.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under
Free Press Building

NEW YORK LIFE INS. CO.
a purely Mutual Institution
A symbol of Strength and Integrity
Make it YOUR Company
"Bernie"

If you are giving up candy during Lent,
Try a Chocolate Milk Shake
at the
COFFEE CORNER

THE UNIVERSITY STORE
You may have forgotten
carries
all well-known varieties
of
Soaps Tooth Pastes Cold Creams
Talcum and Face Powders

New Supplies of Art Classes
made up in packages with special discount
are ready at the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

AVERILL WILL MANAGE BASKETBALL NEXT YEAR

At the annual basketball elections held the first part of the week Lawrence H. Marvin '28 of Essex Junction, was elected captain for the coming season, and Lawrence H. Averill '27 of Malone, New York, was elected manager.

Marvin has been a member of the Varsity squad for the past two seasons, and has had a regular berth at center this winter. He is a member of the Delta Psi Fraternity and was elected an assistant manager of baseball last spring

Averill is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity and was recently elected to Wig and Buskin. He is chairman of Junior Week, advertising manager of Wig and Buskin, and has been assistant manager of basketball this winter

G. S. Talcott '28 of Williston, C. F. Castle '28 of Springfield, Mass and M. C. Robbins, Jr. '28 of Pelham, N. Y. were elected assistant managers. Talcott is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity. Castle has been active in the Gold Key Society. Robbins is a member of Kappa Sigma and is assistant eligibility manager.

Letters were awarded to the following men: C. W. Price, H. A. Prentice, A. T. Post, M. Katz, all of Burlington L. H. Marvin of Essex Junction, E. J. Moodie of Craftsbury and R. L. Thompson of Proctor. Thompson and Katz are the only members of the squad who will be lost through graduation this year, leaving very good prospects for next. The letters were given out at the basketball hop held last evening in the gym.

POSTURE WEEK

The first three days of the coming week will be devoted to the special program planned for "Posture Week" by the women's physical training department.

"Posture Week" is not to be just like the other "weeks" that are at present so much in vogue but merely serves to call the attention of the women of the University to the essentials of good posture with which we are for the most part acquainted but are inclined to forget in the busy round of college activities. The program, accordingly, is planned to illustrate the significance of good posture and the manner of attaining it

Several professors have consented to speak to their classes on the subject of posture. Mottoes, posters, free literature will be daily points of interest. On Monday special exercises on posture correction will be issued to the students. On Tuesday, soap box orations will be given in the Y Room between classes. Wednesday a ballot for the girl with best posture in college will be conducted.

A turtle found on the football field during practice at Lehigh University last fall, was adopted as the team mascot. It was named "Knock-'em," and each game scored was carved on its back during the season.

The annual interfraternity visiting week took place last week at the University of Maine, under the direction of the Senior council. The latch string on all fraternities was out during the period, and calls were made by all the Greeks.

carries
all well-known varieties
of
Soaps Tooth Pastes Cold Creams
Talcum and Face Powders

New Supplies of Art Classes
made up in packages with special discount
are ready at the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

...ING
...NCED IN NAVAL

...

...

...

DANCE ORDERS
PROGRAMS
FAVORS
MENUS
STATIONERY

Bring your printing to us and be sure of service and satisfaction.

FREE PRESS PRINTING CO.
189 College Street
Burlington . . . Vermont

Stationery, Magazines
NEWSPAPERS
BESSEY NEWS CO.
136 Church St.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under
Free Press Building

NEW YORK LIFE INS. CO.
a purely Mutual Institution
A symbol of Strength and Integrity
Make it YOUR Company
"Bernie"

If you are giving up candy during Lent,
Try a Chocolate Milk Shake
at the
COFFEE CORNER

THE UNIVERSITY STORE
You may have forgotten
carries
all well-known varieties
of
Soaps Tooth Pastes Cold Creams
Talcum and Face Powders

New Supplies of Art Classes
made up in packages with special discount
are ready at the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

AVERILL WILL MANAGE BASKETBALL NEXT YEAR

At the annual basketball elections held the first part of the week Lawrence H. Marvin '28 of Essex Junction, was elected captain for the coming season, and Lawrence H. Averill '27 of Malone, New York, was chosen manager.

Marvin has been a member of the Varsity squad for the past two seasons, and has had a regular berth at center this winter. He is a member of the Delta Psi Fraternity and was elected an assistant manager of baseball last spring.

Averill is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity and was recently elected to Wig and Buskin. He is chairman of Junior Week, advertising manager of Wig and Buskin, and has been assistant manager of basketball this winter.

G. S. Talcott '28 of Williston, C. F. Castle '28 of Springfield, Mass and M. C. Robbins, Jr. '28 of Pelham, N. Y. were elected assistant managers. Talcott is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity. Castle has been active in the Gold Key Society. Robbins is a member of Kappa Sigma and is assistant eligibility manager.

Letters were awarded to the following men: C. W. Price, H. A. Prentice, A. T. Post, M. Katz, all of Burlington, L. H. Marvin of Essex Junction, E. J. Moodie of Craftsbury and R. L. Thompson of Proctor. Thompson and Katz are the only members of the squad who will be lost through graduation this year, leaving very good prospects for next. The letters were given out at the basketball hop held last evening in the gym.

POSTURE WEEK

The first three days of the coming week will be devoted to the special program planned for "Posture Week" by the women's physical training department.

"Posture Week" is not to be just like the other "weeks" that are at present so much in vogue but merely serves to call the attention of the women of the University to the essentials of good posture with which we are for the most part acquainted but are inclined to forget in the busy round of college activities. The program, accordingly, is planned to illustrate the significance of good posture and the manner of attaining it.

Several professors have consented to speak to their classes on the subject of posture. Mottoes, posters, free literature will be daily points of interest. On Monday special exercises on posture correction will be issued to the students. On Tuesday, soap box orations will be given in the Y Room between classes. Wednesday a ballot for the girl with best posture in college will be conducted.

A turtle found on the football field during practice at Lehigh University last fall, was adopted as the team mascot. It was named "Knock-'em," and each game scored was carved on its back during the season.

The annual interfraternity visiting week took place last week at the University of Maine, under the direction of the Senior council. The latch string on all fraternities was out during the period, and calls were made by all the Greeks.

carries
all well-known varieties
of
Soaps Tooth Pastes Cold Creams
Talcum and Face Powders

New Supplies of Art Classes
made up in packages with special discount
are ready at the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

MILITARY TRAINING DENOUNCED IN HAWAII

[illegible] against military drill burst [illegible] at far removed universi[illegible] weeks—at semi-Oriental [illegible] University of Hawaii [illegible] corn-belt, American Uni[illegible] of Indiana. Both protests [illegible] develop into vehement [illegible] ending in the inevitable [illegible]

[illegible] O Hawaii. "The voice of [illegible] like many other college [illegible] rises over one issue to sopho[illegible] on the morning of February [illegible] homore issue appeared with [illegible] denunciation of the R. O [illegible] that almost stunned the student [illegible] and precipitated excited argu[illegible] in Chinese, Korean, Japanese, [illegible] and English.

[illegible] almost the entire front [illegible] the vitrolic sophomore assault [illegible] headed a Mighty Dramatic Farce. [illegible] manifesto said in part:

"While Europe is moving with slow and definite steps toward peace, as [illegible] on the Locarno Pacts, America [illegible] recruiting her citizenry to arms, [illegible] wholly oblivious to her great [illegible] to the world. It is to be re[illegible]ted that America is to some ex[illegible] adopting the German theory of [illegible]ruledness which the world de[illegible]ed about ten years ago. . . ."

On the second page the three sophomore boys call for a new brand of teachers to supersede the present regime with its mistaken efforts to "manufacture walking encyclopedias." College, they declare, is the "place to cultivate thinking, not a place for unnecessary cramming of insignificant details."

It is still impossible to predict what turns the Hawaii uproar will take. Frances M. Fox, New Student correspondent, reports that "three things at least are certain: First, that there is a decided division of opinion pro and con with no majority evident on one side or the other; second, that the students are interested in the problem, in most cases more interested than informed; third, the division is not along racial lines. Protestants and defenders of the R. O. T. C. are found in all groups represented on the campus."

President Arthur L. Dean of the university is not alarmed. To him it is just a bit of sophomore effervescence. He takes exception, however, with their theory that the War Department is forcing militarism upon the colleges. "The shoe is really on the other foot," he explains. The college presidents are all for compulsory training. At the recent meeting of the presidents of land grant colleges they were almost unanimous in this plan for Congress and the War Department to augment the college corps.

At the University of Indiana, The Vagabond, literary magazine started a campaign against compulsory drill. An optional military Drill League was formed with Charles F. Reed '26 at its head. The friends of forced drill immediately countered with a Student Defense League. A petition affirming the necessity of the continuance of the local unit as an essential detail of the national policy has already 400 signatures, the leaders insist.

Plans are being worked out to organize a debate between the two clubs at some future date.

Coincident with the Indiana and Hawaii incidents were many student editorials for and against drill in schools where it is compulsory. A University of Washington Daily Curricula "Critic-Orials" (described in another page of this paper) brought down the wrath of drill masters. It described Military Science and Tactics as "The most absolutely useless and discreditable course in the University. Builds the young men up, nit. Teaches 'em discipline, nit. Makes good citizens of the boys like so much. . . ."

The R. O. T. C. issue has become of such general interest, declared the California Tech, California Institute of Technology, "that it can no longer be ignored." The Tech will take no sides in the dispute but opens its columns for contributions "free from malice or invective."

The Knox Student declares that at Knox College, Illinois, where drill is elective, over 50 per cent of the men take it. "We favor military training and the R. O. T. C. we also favor peace, but the idea of abolishing military training as a means of securing it seems illogical and smacks too much of pacifism. New Student

Nearly six hundred foreign students are enrolled at the University of California. Among the six hundred representatives are students of nearly every country in the world. There is no race that has not sent at least one of its number to the University of California.

Announcing

THE ALGONQUINS

Music for
FRATERNITY AND COLLEGE DANCES

Hjalmar Aronson
Delta Psi House
BURLINGTON, VT.
Phone 741

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
Special arrangement can be made for all kinds of Parties. Red Feather Candy and Mrs. Perkins' Maple Nut Candies
PHONE 2545

THE BEST SODA in Town
See For Yourself At
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

Park Cafe and Sea Grill
SERVICE and QUALITY
Noon-day Meals
50c. and 75c.
Special Supper 75c.
A LA CARTE SERVICE

Turk Says
Spring Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down.	You pay per week for 10 weeks.
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS
SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the Styles come from — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Let Us Take Care of Your Dry Cleaning
Pressing, Repairing and Dyeing
Our Service Will Please You
We call for and deliver—you will receive your garment on a hanger enclosed in a sanitary bag.
OUR PRICES ARE RIGHT
WE INVITE YOU TO INSPECT OUR PLANT
PHONE 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
Plant and Office 274 N. Winooski Ave.
OWNED AND OPERATED BY A U. V. M. CHEMIST

[illegible] Early in the fall, a mixer was held

(Continued on page 3)

[illegible] sometimes tries to pass [illegible] as hard luck.

PHI DELTA ZETA GRANTED CHAPTER OF KAPPA DELTA

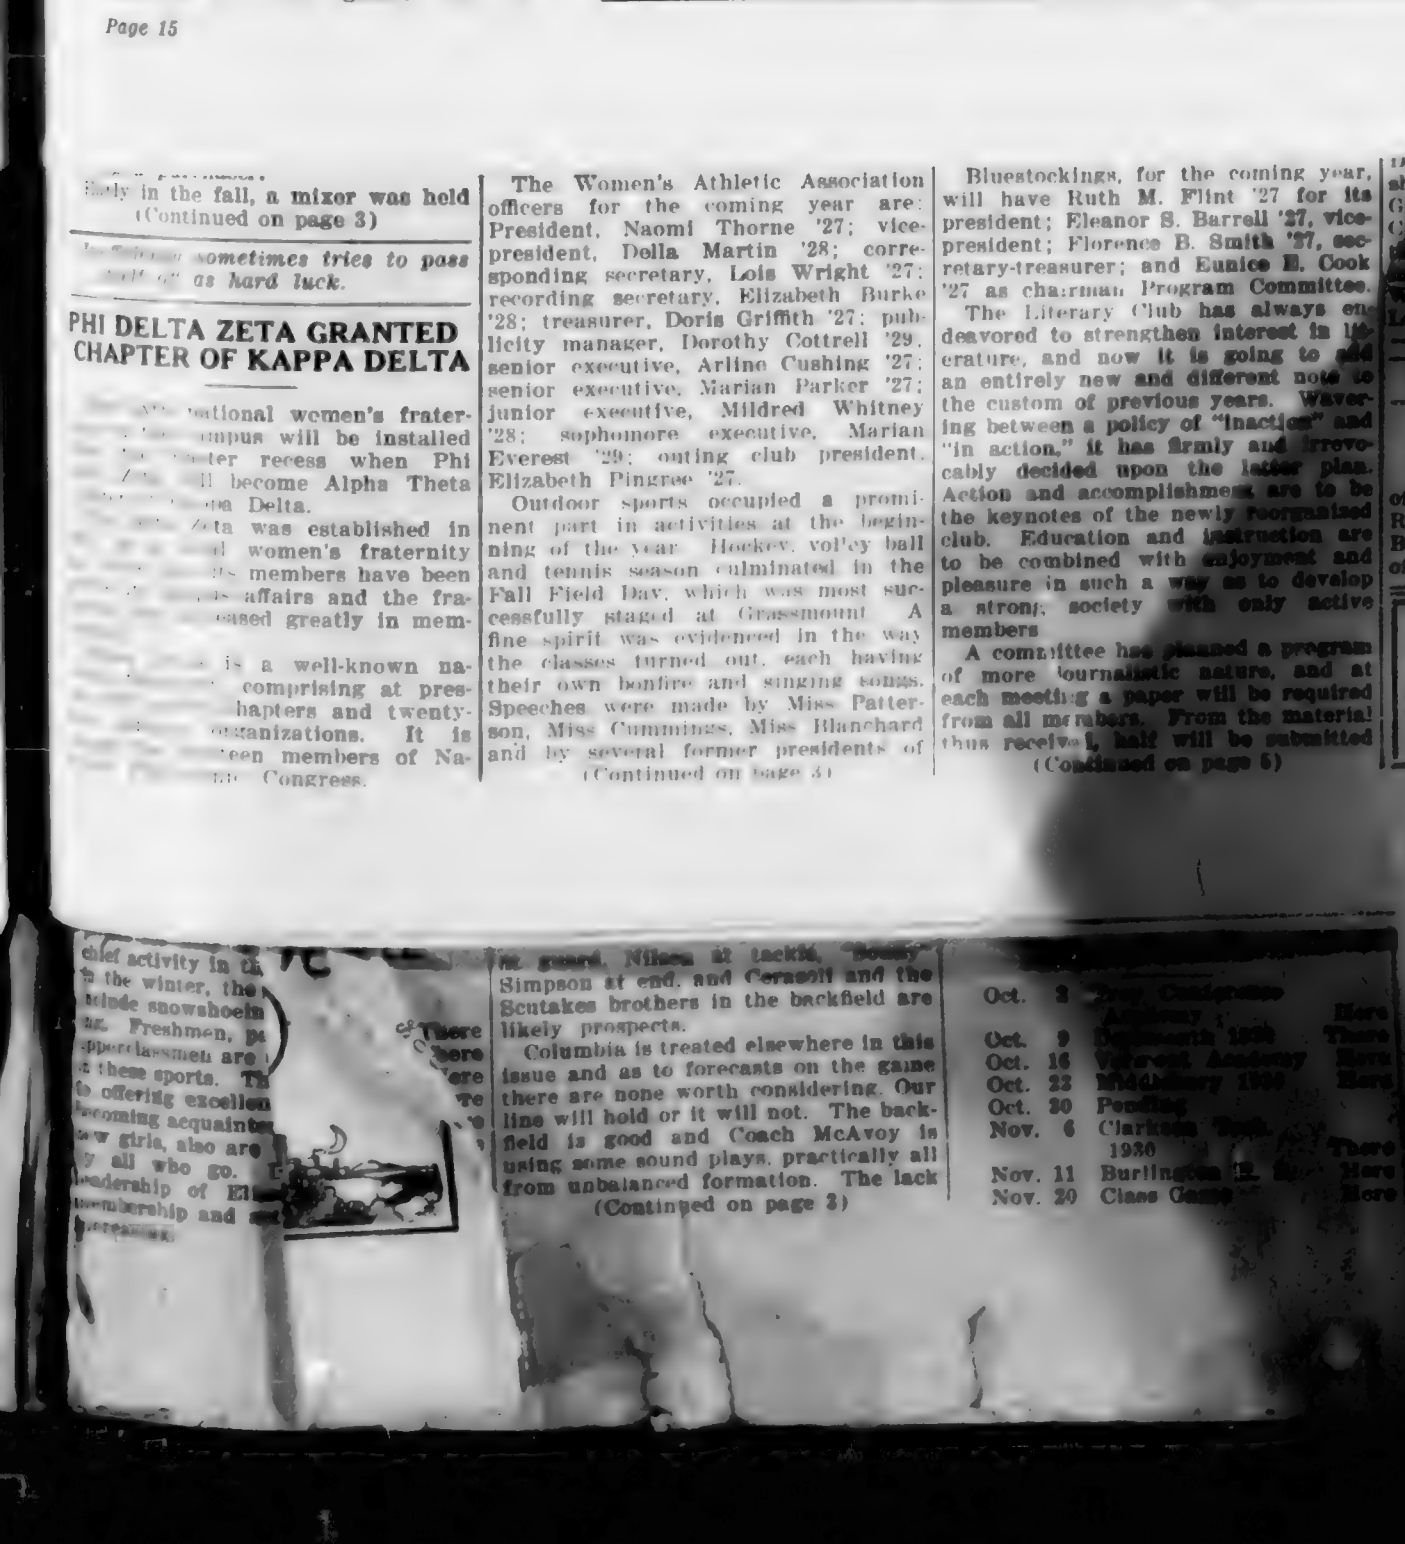
[illegible] national women's frater[illegible] campus will be installed [illegible] ter recess when Phi [illegible] will become Alpha Theta [illegible] Kappa Delta.

[illegible] Zeta was established in [illegible] women's fraternity [illegible] members have been [illegible] affairs and the fra[illegible] eased greatly in mem[illegible]

[illegible] is a well-known na[illegible] comprising at pres[illegible] hapters and twenty-[illegible] organizations. It is [illegible]teen members of Na[illegible] Congress.

The Women's Athletic Association officers for the coming year are: President, Naomi Thorne '27; vice-president, Della Martin '28; corresponding secretary, Lois Wright '27; recording secretary, Elizabeth Burke '28; treasurer, Doris Griffith '27; publicity manager, Dorothy Cottrell '29, senior executive, Arline Cushing '27; senior executive, Marian Parker '27; junior executive, Mildred Whitney '28; sophomore executive, Marian Everest '29; outing club president, Elizabeth Pingree '27.

Outdoor sports occupied a prominent part in activities at the beginning of the year. Hockey, volley ball and tennis season culminated in the Fall Field Day, which was most successfully staged at Grassmount. A fine spirit was evidenced in the way the classes turned out, each having their own bonfire and singing songs. Speeches were made by Miss Patterson, Miss Cummings, Miss Blanchard and by several former presidents of



(Continued on page 3)

Bluestockings, for the coming year, will have Ruth M. Flint '27 for its president; Eleanor S. Barrell '27, vice-president; Florence B. Smith '27, secretary-treasurer; and Eunice E. Cook '27 as chairman Program Committee.

The Literary Club has always endeavored to strengthen interest in literature, and now it is going to add an entirely new and different note to the custom of previous years. Wavering between a policy of "inaction" and "in action," it has firmly and irrevocably decided upon the latter plan. Action and accomplishment are to be the keynotes of the newly reorganized club. Education and instruction are to be combined with enjoyment and pleasure in such a way as to develop a strong society with only active members.

A committee has planned a program of more journalistic nature, and at each meeting a paper will be required from all members. From the material thus received, half will be submitted

(Continued on page 5)

[illegible] chief activity in th[illegible] the winter, the [illegible]nclude snowshoein[illegible]ng. Freshmen, g[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] becoming acquainte[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] by all who go. [illegible] leadership of El[illegible] membership and [illegible] greatness.

[illegible] guard, Nilsen at tackle, Bonny Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

Oct. 2	[illegible] Collegiate Academy	Here
Oct. 9	[illegible]mouth 1930	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here

Tufts College Dental School

After that date two years in college with specified work in Chemistry, Biology and Physics may be required. Men and [illegible] admitted. Address

Frank E. Hoskins, M. D., Secretary,
416 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass.

H. W. STILL Phone 2873-W

HOFFMAN

CLEANERS AND DYERS
MEN'S SUITS PRESSED
AND CLEANED
Free Auto Delivery
145 Elmwood Ave. Burlington, Vt.

Ready with Spring Clothes!

The most elaborate showing of fine Suits, Top Coats and Furnishings we've ever had.

Suits $25 to $55
Top Coats $20 to $45

* * *

Miles & Perry Co.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898

BOWDOIN SENIORS DRAW UP TEN-YEAR PROGRAM

Thirteen Bowdoin seniors were delegated last spring to draw up the undergraduate idea of a program for the college to follow during the next ten years. The report has just been completed and submitted to President K. C. M. Sills to be considered along with a similar study by the faculty, another by the alumni.

"What shall the Bowdoin of the Future be like?" the thirteen asked themselves. Then they passed the query on to the frosh, to sophomores, juniors and other seniors in a questionnaire. They analyzed the questionnaire, deliberated, and composed a document of fifty-five typewritten pages.

In the next ten years, the report directs Bowdoin should:

Not add any "practical" courses, designed to facilitate earning a living, that is for the graduate schools, not the liberal college.

Appoint teachers who are not "learned pundits, not parroting pedagogues, but live men of intellect, men of attractive personality, men who have demonstrated their ability to teach."

Have as required for freshmen, an introductory course in evolution, a course in Biblical literature.

Stiffen major requirements.

Continue present polity of faculty coaches.

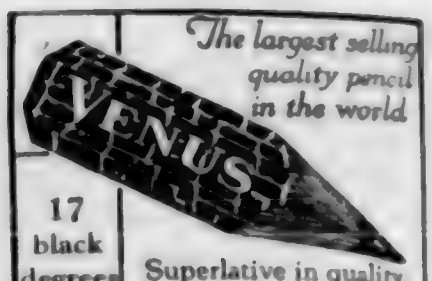
Abolish certificate system and require the passage of entrance examinations.

Limit enrollment to five hundred.

Give student council more power and duties, delegate to it sole power to recommend to faculty all disciplinary action to be taken on a student.

Here and There

The New Hampshire Winter Sports Team, having beaten both Dartmouth and McGill, the two foremost bidders, now claims the championship of the United States and Canada.



An organization has been formed at Northwestern University to study the forces on the campus which change the personality of a man during his college career.

Here I sit me in class to sleep.
I pray my chum my notes will keep;
If I should snore before I wake.
Please punch my ribs, for pity's sake!
—The Torch.

Worcester Tech is planning a new Freshman dormitory. The structure will cost approximately $240,000, this amount to be raised by a drive sponsored by the undergradutes.

Unless members of fraternities at the University of California maintain a scholastic average better than "C" they will not be permitted to have any social functions at their houses.

Due to the success of the Glee Club trips in 1925, the Harvard choristers will make two tours, one to Canada next winter, and the other to New York City and its vicinity this spring.

The largest selling quality pencil in the world

17 black degrees
3 copying

Buy a dozen

Superlative in quality, the world-famous

VENUS PENCILS

give best service and longest wear.

Plain ends, per doz. $1.00
Rubber ends, per doz. 1.20
at all dealers

American Lead Pencil Co.
220 Fifth Ave., N.Y.

Knickers and Sport Trousers

We have a most complete line of fancy Knickers and Long Trousers.

Priced from

$4.50 to $10.00

Hayes & Carney

197 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

Queen City Cafe

103 Church St. Burlington, Vt.

EXCELLENT SERVICE

Regular Dinner 45c

Home Cooking

Special attention given to small parties and banquets.

Meal Tickets $5.00 worth, for $4.50

Phone 1154-W

RED 46 DEPT. STORE

"The Store of Progress"

BURLINGTON VERMONT

STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES

YOUNG'S HATS

carries
all well-known varieties
of
Soaps Tooth Pastes Cold Creams
Talcum and Face Powders

New Supplies of Art Classes
made up in packages with special discount
are ready at the

MEDICAL BOOK STORE

íc

NUMBER 2

LL EDIT OF CYNIC

na of Women
oard. Vina H was chosen coming year ember of the two years,
Bluestockings,
and plans to mbia Univerom Vermont.
ha Xi Delta.
'27 will be
. She has of the 1927
ar. She is a
elta.
as women's . Bagley '27,
vinia Margie
'29.

p than catch

S NEW UB PRES.

cial Benefit omen

er the direc
'26, has con
ear its inval
g democracy
g Vermont raternity af-

ponters' Club
the "big sis which each big sister to and to be of ment to her f the college
se prove dif-
ccording to Open House
er the openacquaint the ent dormitoixer."
al informal the auspices at enjoyable
e big sisters.
ttire, imilittle

BILL PAYMENT

27 opened of-
of bills and
September 14. took place in day morning.
delivered the e a liabilull in part University marked by ing, and the , virtue and e Freshman life on the their account ne have the by their life's ake men rea of decisions.

nson, will fit ation may be on is more ry e are the repeople. The tablished the
Her interest
A student's ingly impor-
o frequently, de post. The er rests with on was follesson and

Prof. Evan
America th ou Almighty nements by the college the benedicncluded the gures are as ollment this all previous n class has rmer figures.

by appreciam-
from also.
ar is the one-
This includes heater and the
The student ation branks ions; athletic ganization 'or ents for class
Vermonters
Stu-
and the Mus

ciency sometimes tries to pass itself off as hard luck.

PHI DELTA ZETA GRANTED CHAPTER OF KAPPA DELTA

national women's frater-nus will be installed recess when Phi become Alpha Theta Delta. was established in women's fraternity members have been affairs and the fra-ased greatly in mem-

a well-known na-comprising at preshapters and twenty-anizations. It is members of Na-Congress.

ly in the fall, a mixer was held
(Continued on page 3)

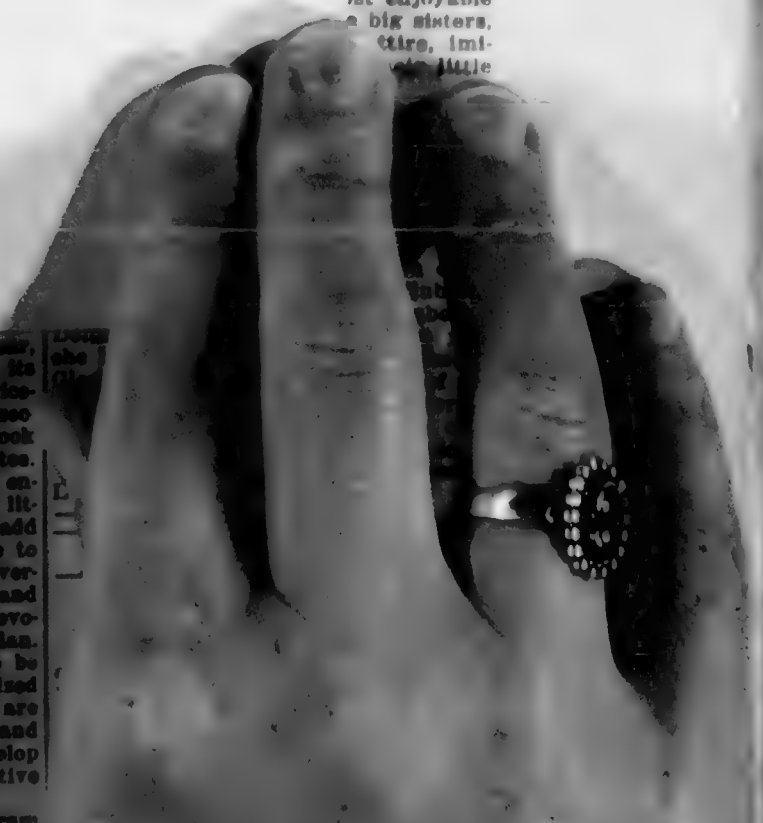
The Women's Athletic Association officers for the coming year are: President, Naomi Thorne '27; vice-president, Della Martin '28; corresponding secretary, Lois Wright '27; recording secretary, Elizabeth Burke '28; treasurer, Doris Griffith '27; publicity manager, Dorothy Cottrell '29; senior executive, Arline Cushing '27; senior executive, Marian Parker '27; junior executive, Mildred Whitney '28; sophomore executive, Marian Everest '29; outing club president, Elizabeth Pingree '27.

Outdoor sports occupied a prominent part in activities at the beginning of the year. Hockey, volley ball and tennis season culminated in the Fall Field Day, which was most successfully staged at Grassmount. A fine spirit was evidenced in the way the classes turned out, each having their own bonfire and singing songs. Speeches were made by Miss Patterson, Miss Cummings, Miss Blanchard and by several former presidents of
(Continued on page 3)

Bluestockings, for the coming year, will have Ruth M. Flint '27 for its president; Eleanor B. Barrell '28, vice-president; Florence B. Smith '27, secretary-treasurer; and Eunice E. Cook '27 as chairman Program Committee.

The Literary Club has always endeavored to strengthen interest in literature, and now it is going to add an entirely new and different note to the custom of previous years. Wavering between a policy of "inaction" and "in action," it has firmly and irrevocably decided upon the latter plan. Action and accomplishment are to be the keynotes of the newly reorganized club. Education and instruction are to be combined with enjoyment and pleasure in such a way as to develop a strong society with only active members.

A committee has planned a program of more journalistic nature, and at each meeting a paper will be required from all members. From the material thus received, half will be submitted
(Continued on page 5)



ief activity in th
the winter, the clude snowshoein
Freshmen, p pperclassmen are these sports. Th
offering excellen
coming acquainte
w girls, also are
all who go.
adership of Ellen membership and ac increasing.

at guard, Nilsen at tackle, Simpson at end, and Corasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack
(Continued on page 3)

Oct. 2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct. 9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1930	There
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here

ONS

ly

approved been ill

TWOFOLD
USE OF

Bilingu Lil
Students i
With

FELLOWSI
192

Ne

carries
all well-known varieties
of
Soaps Tooth Pastes Cold Creams
Talcum and Face Powders

New Supplies of Art Classes
made up in packages with special discount
are ready at the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

The .Vermont Cynic

BURLINGTON, VT., MARCH [illegible] 1929 — NUMBER [illegible]

ANNUAL WOMEN'S ISSUE

OMICRON NU COMPLETES FIRST YEAR ON CAMPUS

[illegible] the national honorary [illegible] Society is now a [illegible] Vermont. Recently, [illegible] 27 and several alumn[illegible] initiated. Besides [illegible] interests of Home Eco[illegible] at home the local chapter is [illegible] student in that depart[illegible]ing College in Peking. [illegible] the only such course [illegible] this interest is a unique [illegible] campus activities was a [illegible] and Science Juniors in [illegible] Laura B. Richards'

[illegible] conclave of Omicron [illegible] held in April at Manhat[illegible] Miriam Dailey '26 will [illegible] Vermont.

[illegible] reasons, don't let them

Y. W. C. A. COMPLETES SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Doris Harbour '27 Elected Pres.—Association to Continue on Trial for One Year

[illegible]nt-elect of the Y. W. [illegible] Harbour '27, a member [illegible] Omega and an ever-[illegible] of the Association. The [illegible] are to be: Vice-presi[illegible] Currier '27; secretary, [illegible] White '28; treasurer, Cath[illegible]ong '27; and undergrad[illegible]ntative, Florence Smith

[illegible] the mass meeting recently [illegible] the discussion of the place of [illegible] on the campus, the prospects [illegible] have been promising. [illegible] was voted to place the organization [illegible] for one year and plan for a [illegible] of its status at the [illegible] of that time; therefore, having [illegible] we are still accorded a [illegible] at Vermont, we are hopefully planning to fill it.

The Y. W. C. A., under the leader[illegible] Lois Robinson, has carried on [illegible] activities of previous years and [illegible] a few variations.

The first Women's Handbook appeared on the opening day of college. It contains information concerning [illegible] of the campus activities, Student [illegible] organizations, a Panhellenic section and all material requisite for freshman orientation. During pre-freshman days, trains were met and [illegible]n bureau maintained.

The next service was the second-hand book store, a project by which [illegible]s of used books are, for a small [illegible] relieved of the task of finding a purchaser.

Early in the fall, a mixer was held

(Continued on page 3)

[illegible] sometimes tries to pass [illegible] as hard luck.

PHI DELTA ZETA GRANTED CHAPTER OF KAPPA DELTA

[illegible] national women's frater[illegible] campus will be installed [illegible] winter recess when Phi [illegible] will become Alpha Theta [illegible] Kappa Delta.

[illegible] Zeta was established in [illegible] as a local women's fraternity [illegible] members have been [illegible] affairs and the fra[illegible] increased greatly in mem[illegible]

[illegible] is a well-known na[illegible] comprising at pres[illegible] chapters and twenty[illegible] organizations. It is [illegible] men members of Na[illegible] Congress.

Elizabeth Warner New President of Women's Student Union

Activity and Progress of Organization Has Furthered Success of Student Government

The Student Union officers for the coming year are: President, Elizabeth Warner '27; vice-president, Della Martin '28; secretary, Eleanor Lockwood '28; treasurer, Jeannette Hays '28; chairman program committee, Belle Randall '27; chairman social calendar Ruth Eayres '27; chairman eligibility committee, Charlotte Brown '27.

Elizabeth Warner of Vergennes is a member of Delta Delta Delta, was elected to the CYNIC Board as an assistant editor her freshman year, made women's editor for the past year, is a prominent member of Bluestockings, is an outstanding girl of her class, and one who is truly capable of holding the reins of student government.

The first big task of the new Student Union council was the management of the Conference of Co-educational Colleges of New England, which met at Vermont last April. Representatives from U. of Me., Colby, Bates, M. A. C., C. U. C., R. I. S. C., and Middlebury were entertained at Vermont for the three days of the conference. Every one who attended felt that the conference was worth while, for the contacts it gave with girls from colleges who have problems very similar to ours. The group was small enough so that there was a fine opportunity to exchange ideas, and go somewhat into the details of the various student government organizations for comparison and suggestion.

Directly after last spring's elections, the new system of nominations and elections was worked out, in response to a growing need for a system which was less cumbersome and which would give increased opportunities to the most capable people. This system has been used for the present elections and seems, on the whole, to be satisfactory.

Through the Handbook and by a personal letter to all freshman women they were welcomed to Student Union. In the fall several meetings were held with their executive boards and tried to [illegible] a spirit of cooperation and responsibility toward student government. The freshmen were given a Student Union examination which brought out their knowledge of important rules and their attitude toward student government.

Belle Randall '27 accompanied the president to the Women's Intercollegiate Association for Student Government held at Wellesley College November 15-11. The delegates tried to bring back to the campus some of the ideas and inspiration which came from this conference whose members came from colleges all over the United States. The conference is of distinct value to Vermont because of the new viewpoint it brings. The scope of representation means a breadth of vision and expansion of ideas. The conference is now turning to consider not only student government problems but also to crystallize college opinion upon questions of national and international importance.

A new undertaking was begun at this conference, one that will bear fruit in added development of responsibility, leadership and initiative. A system of extension work has been commenced, supported by the Conference, to enable high schools to try out student government. A fund has been established, each college represented in the conference donating. In this way it is hoped to instill into the high school student the principles, ideals, and benefits derived from student government, so that she will be fitted to carry on later either in college or in life.

The constitution of Student Union has undergone only slight revision, mainly the classification of details, putting into black and white some of the rules which had been rather indefinitely understood in the past.

In order that the point system

(Continued on page 5)

VINA B. RUGG WILL EDIT WOMEN'S PAGE OF CYNIC

At the recent elections of women members of the CYNIC Board Vina B. Rugg '27 of St. Albans was chosen as women's editor for the coming year. Miss Rugg has been a member of the CYNIC Board for the past two years, an active member of Bluestockings, women's literary club, and plans to study economics at Columbia University after graduating from Vermont. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta.

M. Loretta Jennings '27 will be women's exchange editor. She has acted as women's editor of the 1927 Ariel during the past year. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta.

New members elected as women's news editors are Iola F. Bagley '27, Eunice E. Cook '27, Virginia Margie '27 and Margaret Derrick '29.

It is easier to keep up than catch up.

LORETTA JENNINGS NEW VERMONTERS' CLUB PRES.

Club Has Been of Special Benefit to Freshman Women at U. V. M.

Vermonters' Club, under the direction of Florence Lewis '26, has continued during the past year its invaluable work of promoting democracy and friendship among Vermont women, irrespective of fraternity affiliations.

Early in the year Vermonters' Club was active in sponsoring the "big sister" movement through which each freshman is assigned a big sister to welcome her to Vermont and to be of assistance and encouragement to her through the first weeks of the college year which might otherwise prove difficult for newcomers. According to tradition the customary Open House Night was held soon after the opening of college in order to acquaint the freshmen with the different dormitories and to serve as a "mixer."

During the fall several informal parties were held under the auspices of the club, one of the most enjoyable being a dance to which the big sisters, in strange and wonderful attire, imitative of the "ed" escorted their little sisters.

The big Vermonters' Club party which the organization sponsors each year, and which was held in the form of a cabaret a year ago, was planned for January of this year but was of necessity postponed and will probably be held after the Easter recess.

Loretta Jennings '27 has been elected president of Vermonters' Club for the coming year. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta. For the past year she has acted as manager of Women's Glee Club, has been a member of the CYNIC Board and women's editor of the Ariel. Other officers for the coming year are: Vice-president, Mildred Whitney '28, and secretary-treasurer, Lillian Tomlinson '29.

Genius wins sometimes; hard work always.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Installation Service for the new officers of Y. W. C. A. will be held at Redstone Sunday at four. Laura Buckham '24 and a former president of our association will be the speaker.

Notice

The time of the Intercollegiate Competition in Writing has been extended from April 1 to April 15.

F. Tuttle

Who are a little wise the best fools be.

NAOMI THORNE CHOSEN NEW W. A. A. PRESIDENT

Association Promoted Rallies and Various Other Cooperative Enterprises

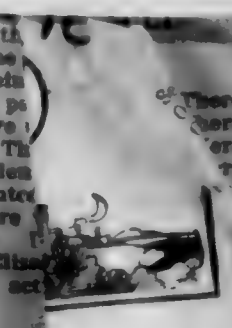
The Women's Athletic Association officers for the coming year are: President, Naomi Thorne '27; vice-president, Della Martin '28; corresponding secretary, Lois Wright '27; recording secretary, Elizabeth Burke '28; treasurer, Doris Griffith '27; publicity manager, Dorothy Cottrell '29; senior executive, Arline Cushing '27; senior executive, Marian Parker '27; junior executive, Mildred Whitney '28; sophomore executive, Marian Everest '29; outing club president, Elizabeth Pingree '27.

Outdoor sports occupied a prominent part in activities at the beginning of the year. Hockey, volley ball and tennis season culminated in the Fall Field Day, which was most successfully staged at Grassmount. A fine spirit was evidenced in the way the classes turned out, each having their own bonfire and singing songs. Speeches were made by Miss Patterson, Miss Cummings, Miss Blanchard and by several former presidents of

(Continued on page 3)

A vacant mind is an invitation to vice.

BLUESTOCKINGS TO ADOPT NEW POLICY



Action and Accomplishment to Characterize Program of Literary Club

Bluestockings, for the coming year, will have Ruth M. Flint '27 for its president; Eleanor S. Barrell '27, vice-president; Florence B. Smith '27, secretary-treasurer; and Eunice E. Cook '27 as chairman Program Committee.

The Literary Club has always endeavored to strengthen interest in literature, and now it is going to add an entirely new and different note to the custom of previous years. Wavering between a policy of "inaction" and "in action," it has firmly and irrevocably decided upon the latter plan. Action and accomplishment are to be the keynotes of the newly reorganized club. Education and instruction are to be combined with enjoyment and pleasure in such a way as to develop a strong society with only active members.

A committee has planned a program of more journalistic nature and at each meeting a paper will be required from all members. From the material thus received, half will be submitted

(Continued on page [illegible])

[illegible] chief activity in th[illegible] In the winter, the [illegible] include snowshoein[illegible]ing. Freshmen, ps[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] in these sports. Th[illegible] is offering excellen[illegible] coming acquainte[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] of all who go. [illegible] leadership of Elise[illegible] membership and act[illegible] increasing.

[illegible] guard, Nilsen at tackle, Sonny Simpson at end, and Cassell and the Scutaken brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

[illegible]men at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

[illegible] interested are [illegible] aged to come out for the w[illegible]

A minor improvem[illegible] grounds has been [illegible] concrete walk le[illegible] How to Morrill [illegible] wade through th[illegible] called South [illegible] because the[illegible] Hall.

Number 61 of a Series

The Catty Co-ed Says

[illegible]

BRIGHT LIGHTS OF THE COLLEGE YEAR

[illegible] Sunset? Sure it's been a good summer! Good old Connecticut!

[illegible] That long Sis-Boom-Bah with Lady Betty Middlebury" at the end. Let's go!

Nourishment. Some food! Hurrah for Central Vermont Turkeys.

Description. Santa was some boy! Yeh and at what no "roomie" passed off the rug.

Incentive. Gee I flunked that exam hard!

Fulfillment. And then some girl waits for to kiss.

Starter. Up where the wind blows just a little cooler.

Again. Two more days to vacation
Then we go to the station.
Back to civilization—

Mere. We said we weren't going to have a Junior Prom.

Same. Well, that sheep skin set me back $25. But we'll root for Vermont every time.

It has been suggested as a clue to the solution that "Paddlin' Madeline" is a particular infatuation with

—We live by radiation, not by absorption.

Conceit may puff a man up, but it never props a man up.

The most essential feature of a man is his improvableness.

T. P. O'HARA, Tailoring

170 BANK ST.

Blue Serge Suits
2 Pair Trousers, $32

Top Coats, $19 to $24

Knickers, $4

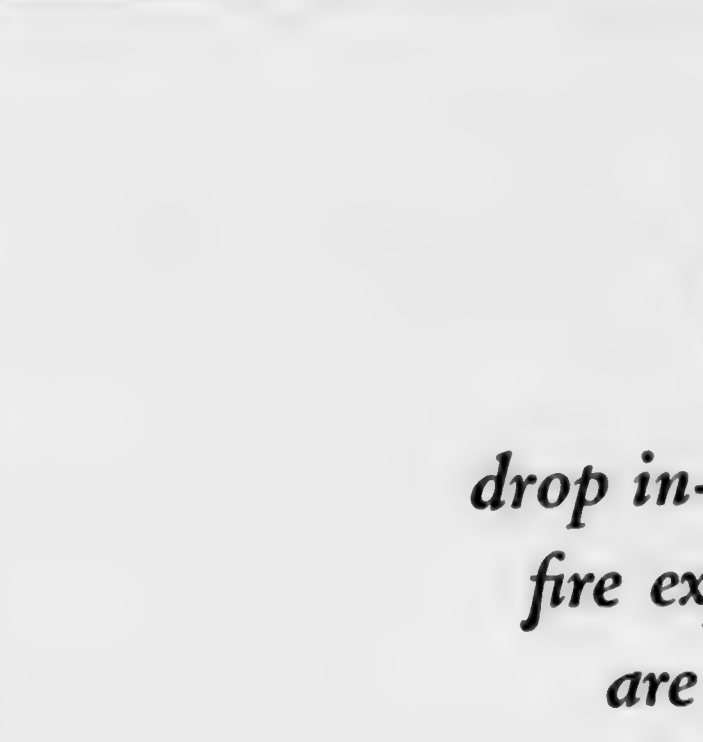
Turk Says

Spring Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS



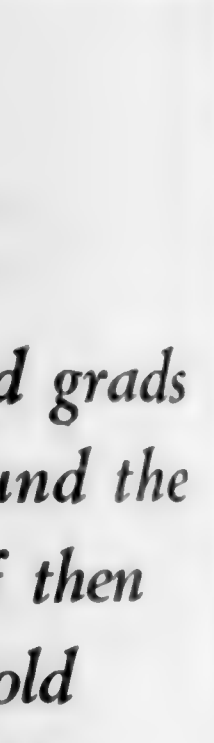
Where the Styles come from

Turk's

Burlington Cincinnati Columbus Jackson

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

When old grads drop in—and around the fire experiences of then are fondly retold —have a Camel!



WHEN famed men return. And by dancing firelight they relate their stories of old—have a Camel!

For Camel helps all men who rise proudly to rise higher and more jauntily. Camels never harm or tire your taste, no matter how plentifully you smoke them. You'll never find more friendly flavor than you get in Camels.

So this night when those from long ago return to think of the roads that join. As you see in their past your future unfold, then zestfully taste the smoke that's prized by the world's experienced.

Have a Camel!

Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. The most skilful blending. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No better cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company
Winston-Salem, N. C.

© 1926

NOTE

[illegible] regrets the absence of the poems which have been sent [illegible] to the Athena Women's issue. There is a difference [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Catty Co-ed Says

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

Naomi Thorne Chosen New W. A. A. President

(Continued from page 1)

... was served around ... followed by a business ... numerals, emblems ... awarded.

... that ensued between ... indoor gymnasium, ... filled the program. ... showed various points ... good posture, excel... work, dancing and ... A new plan was car... sophomores were ... of the two required ... interpretative dance... baseball offered a ...

...ssful winter carnival ... Redstone February 13. ... enthusiasm, and the ... First honors went ... '27, and second to ... 26. A huge bonfire ... general fun. Kathryn ... in charge.

... indoor rally held at ... Thursday, March 18. ... was served, after which ... 26, the retiring presi... ... the keys, together ... ...ors and responsibilities ... president, Naomi Thorne. ... past year's activities ... showed by stunts put on ... All the stunts were ... original, and first prize ... junior class. Awards ... numerals, emblems and ... to quite a number of ...

... present, W. A. A. has been ... Posture Week. Much ... Lois Burbank '27 for the ... attractive posters, which ... make the venture a success. ... has had a new arrange... ... year. Each class has ... other class, with the re... ...iors won first place, and ... second. Betty Wilson '26 ... every effort to make this a ... season, and her work has ... repaid. Great preparations ... made for the basketball ban... ... is to be given in the near ...

... Meet is to be held ... after which tennis, horse... ... canoeing, track, and base... ... again come into their own ... sports.

... feels that it has been a ... and successfull year for ... and justly so.

Y. W. C. A. Completes Successful Year

(Continued from page 1)

... gymnasium and Y. W. C. A. ... share in making the event a ...

... the Social Service Commit... college girls have assisted the ... Children's Aid Society by taking ... to clinics, or out for an after... entertainment.

The Deputations Committee has ... the sending of teams, in ... junction with the Y. M. C. A., to ... Junction, Richmond, Charlotte, ... and Montpelier Seminary. ... usual program for such visits ... a "Social" on Saturday eve... ... the charge of one or more ... on Sunday.

The annual bazaar was held just ... Christmas. At this time, the ... raises funds for the bulk ... budget.

... have taken the form of ... services. Besides those for ... occasions, have been the bi... services which were estab... this semester at the request of ... of the students. A variety ... are used for these informal ... The recent speakers have ... Dorothy Mayo Harvey, Dean ... and Leon Dickinson.

... November, the first Women's ... was held with Miss Anna ... Rural Secretary of the National ... as speaker.

... been a number of out... this year. Mrs. Beatrice ... and Miss Gladys Taylor, both ... National headquarters, spent ... here. Miss Taylor's visit ... interests of the community ... survey in which Vermont ... other institutions in the ... are participating. Miss ... Sociology professor ... College, Peking spent two ... campus recently.

... was represented on ... Court Committee and at the ... Student Conference at Amherst. Several delegates attended the Student Volunteer Convention at Massachusetts Agricultural College.

As has been the custom for several years, we sent one hundred dollars to Vellare Medical School in India, an interdenominational enterprise and the only one of its kind in that district.

A Maqua fund, from which money may be borrowed towards expenses at the Maqua Conference, has been established.

During the fall, discussion groups were maintained in several of the dormitories.

Miss Holbrook led a six-weeks' course in rural leadership which was designed to anticipate some of the problems encountered by a teacher in a small community. The enrollment was about twenty-five.

McMAHON'S BREAD
Made of the highest grade bread flour, rich sweet milk and malt
PIES OF ALL KINDS
Cakes and Doughnuts
McMahon's Bakery
32 Church Street Phone 13

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB HAS PART IN MUSIC WEEK

The Women's Glee Club plans to take part, as last year, in the activities of Music Week, which occurs the first week in May. This would take the place of the spring concert of the combined glee clubs, and would consist of numbers repeated from the January concert, plus two new numbers sung by the combined Men's and Women's Glee Clubs to open and close the choral portion of the program.

The Women's Glee Club caused much favorable comment by its January concert. If it is to be fairly represented and to sustain its reputation, a full attendance at rehearsals is essential. Because of the intervention of spring vacation, the time for preparation is very short. The next rehearsal will be held in the music building Tuesday evening, March 30, at 7 o'clock.

President MacCracken of Vassar says woman is fifty years ahead of man. Well, the villain still pursues her.

DANCE ORDERS
PROGRAMS
FAVORS
MENUS
STATIONERY
Bring your printing to us and be sure of service and satisfaction.
FREE PRESS PRINTING CO.
180 College Street
Burlington - - - Vermont

Pick a pipe and pack it with good old P. A.

TALK about "alliteration's artful aid" . . . the printer certainly raided the "p" box that trip. But let that go! The advice is just as serious and sound as though it were couched in the careful diction of an English prof.

Just get yourself a jimmy-pipe and fill the bowl to the brim with Prince Albert. Light up, and let the first fragrant whiff tell you that no other tobacco is like P. A.—or can be! Cool and sweet and fragrant, P. A. has everything a fellow ever wished for in a smoke.

P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat. The Prince Albert process settled that in P. A.'s freshman year. Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. The first load-up will tell you why pipes are so fashionable among young men today.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moisterer top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

...chief activity in th... In the winter, the ... include snowshoein... ing. Freshmen, pa... There ... upperclassmen are ... there ... these sports. Th... ... offering excellen... becoming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. ... leadership of Ki... membership and ... increasing.

Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...tournament by Junior Lloyd Boyn... 21..., William M Lockwood, 201; ...liam J. Humphrey, 196; Osbo... Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; ...D. Marshall, 187; and Law... Averill, 186. The require... qualification were 186 po... possible 250. The slo... were 200 yards sta... kneeling and sitti... prone. The rapid ...

(Continued...

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER

Member of the
NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

[illegible] at special rate of [illegible]

[illegible]

MARION V. TAYLOR '26
[illegible] Editor

[illegible] '26
[illegible] Jennings '27
[illegible] Rugg '27
[illegible] Fairbanks Smith '28
[illegible] M. Tracy '29

[illegible] undergraduates are heartily [illegible]. All communications [illegible] by the writer, whose name [illegible] if so desired. They should [illegible] the Editor-in-Chief and [illegible] by Wednesday noon. Any [illegible] handed in by Thursday may be telephoned to 762 before Thursday.

[illegible] of this issue:
[illegible] RUGG
[illegible] HOLDEN
[illegible] Manager

[illegible] 44 March 27, 1926 No. 23

Elsewhere in this issue is reprinted an article on "Problems of the Present Age." Admitting some of the charges brought against present-day living and the younger generation to be not unjustified, yet we cannot feel that the situation is quite as bad as it is painted. We are constantly hearing and reading criticisms directed against modern times and modern young people particularly the young people of the college world, and often these criticisms contain dire prophecies for the future.

In the words of a well-known professor who was on our campus not long ago, the question seems to be "What in the world coming to?"

Well, frankly, we do not know, and do not pretend to. But we cannot believe that it is anything terrible or that we, the "younger generation" are rushing headlong to ruin, as so many seem to think. We confess to the crime of believing in ourselves, utterly and thoroughly.

Lucretius and Vergil, back in the days of ancient Roma, lamented in immortal verse the passing of the "good old days" of their fathers. And men have been doing the same ever since, harking back to the generations preceding their own as a Golden Age, a Pre-Millenium or something of the sort. It seems to be a perpetual affliction of the human race to bewail their own hard lot and to believe that the world is travelling a downward course.

Now we are not among those who scoff at the old-fashioned ideas and notions of our fathers and mothers nor do we fail to appreciate the hard labor which built up the bank accounts upon which we loan with perhaps too great freedom. We do not claim perfection or anything approaching it. But we do appreciate the advantages which modern civilization gives us.

Is those who criticize and condemn [illegible] that the younger generation—meaning ourselves—has no dreams, no hopes, no ideals, as they had? Then [illegible] are judging us unfairly, not knowing the whole truth. We are more frank about somethings today [illegible] more reticent about others. [illegible] and our sentiments [illegible] for the most part [illegible] are none the less deep if [illegible] not spread out to the curious gaze of the world.

We are judged by externals. Because we demand a cold shower and an eight o'clock breakfast of grapefruit and coffee; because girls of today wear bobbed hair instead of mountains of false hair; because we can get the latest pretty things while we are young enough to enjoy them instead of waiting to fill a hope chest at seventy-six

No longer kept with our noses to the grindstone or required to wear ourselves out by hard, physical labor we have more time for recreation and greater opportunities than ever before for self-expression. The indiscreet few bring down disapproving wrath upon the heads of the many.

I do not think that old age will find us wearied and bored with too much pleasure. And if it does even that is better than waiting and working all one's life for a reward which when it comes, finds us too old, too tired to enjoy it.

It has been said that no commodity is so perishable as news. In view of this fact, there is a present agitation upon the campus for a semi-weekly issue of the CYNIC. Were this realized, it would mean that Wednesday's number would contain all events up to Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock; while on Saturday, we would have a résumé of activities through Friday evening. Not only would the accuracy of the retrospective function of the paper be increased, but also, would its prophetic ability be improved. There would be fewer false announcements and no write-up, phrased in the past perfect tense, describing in detail events that were never really events. This is an additional note in favor of a semi-weekly issue of the CYNIC.

"The retracing of steps, either figuratively or literally, is always provocative of thought to the individual who walks again over the old paths; the waning of a moon never finds the same state of feelings in the heart that had throbbed through it under the gold sickle. Back over how many a road do we walk with a sigh, remembering the laughter that had once echoed along it! Something has been gained, something has been lost, since; and a human sigh is as likely to be called forth by one cause as the other."

Retrospection shows the way that custom has made, and that tradition has marked for its own; shows the result that policies of good fellowship, cooperation, fair play, and broad-mindedness have brought about; shows what is so vastly important: the spirit in which things are accomplished; and in this world, ever new and ever changing, a world where everything is possible, it shows us the purpose of life and labor and art—to serve. It lifts the veil upon the future, and shows the elusive quest for the realities and recollections and vision that round out our lives; shows a central and fundamental essential contained in the bold words: true life—real liberty. Liberty from that narrowness that tends to weaken the mind; liberty from that egotism that destroys worthwhile material that might prove a great creative force. And true life. Life that is love, and love that means service. Service to mankind, to the universe; that will spell progression, and never know the apathy of indifference. Service that will bring cheer and comfort and peace to all servants of all ranks and station: to poets, artists, teachers, statesmen, rulers, workmen, craftsmen, men of business; men of the law; men of trade; tillers of the soil; fishers in the sea.

PROBLEMS OF THE PRESENT AGE

The following article, prepared by Miss Kate Drew of Newport and read before the Women's Club of that city was recently published in a Newport paper. We reprint it here in part because we believe that it may interest us of the "younger generation" to read the viewpoint of others on our way of living:

"What has become of the old-fashioned home where father put on his slippers after supper and read the paper while mother darned the stockings and the children played parchesi and checkers and dear old grandma sat by the fireside knitting—all that is a thing of the past—now father is at the club, mother is playing bridge, and the children, the chances are that no one knows where they are, and as for grandma, she has probably shortened her skirts, bobbed her hair, and is doing the Charleston at some dance. I see there is a new movie advertised, called "Galloping Grandmas," quite an appropriate name. I have just learned of a lady who is seventy-six years old and has just bought a hope chest and with the aid of her daughter and grandchildren is filling it with lovely silk undies in gay colors. She could not have these in her younger days, but can now, and finds that life is good to her for there is something new left for her to enjoy.

"But as for the younger generation, what is there going to be left for them to enjoy? As it is they have everything to make life pleasant that mind can conceive of, or heart can wish for. They have victrolas, pianos, radios, as soon as they are old enough to get a license many of them have cars and nearly all have too much spending money. The girls dress better every day in school than their parents, when they were young, dressed going to parties or attending church.

"The present generation are inclined to laugh when we speak of the good old times when we were young, and scoff at our old-fashioned ideas and notions, but just remember that in many cases it was the same antediluvian has-beens that worked early and late to lay the foundation of the bank account that they are now spending so freely on the luxuries of the present age.

"Grandpa did not have to take a cold shower to get his eyes open in time for an eight o'clock breakfast of a grapefruit and coffee nor did he have a car to take him to his place of business and commence his day's work at nine a. m. On the contrary he was up at sunrise, and at six a. m. his hearty breakfast was a thing of the past, and in spite of the fact that grandma worked from daylight to dark, cleaning, baking, sewing and measuring the cloth for their clothing and looking after the welfare of her household, when she went to bed at night, though tired she had the satisfaction of feeling she had accomplished something worthwhile and she did not awaken the next day with that dark brown taste that comes the morning after the night before....

"Very few of the boys and girls in the dark ages of fifty years ago had very much of an education, but they did have health, pluck, active brains and good common sense; and the last two mentioned came [illegible] even the best of [illegible] if underneath the [illegible] which it seems [illegible] young people to [illegible] make any better men [illegible] those of fifty years [illegible]

"When I see a 1926 [illegible] head about as large as a [illegible] a boyish bob that is so [illegible] there is practically no [illegible] a snitch cut on the [illegible] each ear and a face [illegible] 98-cent chromo, a comp[illegible] pipestem legs set firmly [illegible] playing overshoes, I just [illegible] judge from outward [illegible] what kind of a wife and [illegible] will make and like the [illegible] woman, 'I have my doubts.'

"I have lived to see a [illegible] pleasant summers and the [illegible] ber of hard, cold winters [illegible] see that with all the advan[illegible] Age of Jazz that you [illegible] more out of life than we [illegible] now live too fast. We [illegible] time to enjoy the beautiful [illegible] has given us to enjoy [illegible] no longer a day of rest [illegible] of "Let's go somewhere [illegible] a day's outing do we spend [illegible] shores of our lake or [illegible] the green woods where we [illegible] our souls with the beauties [illegible] We do not—we take a [illegible] and drive thirty-five or forty [illegible] hour and wish the fellow [illegible] would get out of the way [illegible] go faster. We catch a glimpse of a mountain on the right of us [illegible] at the left of us and a blue [illegible] us. We are travelling so fast [illegible] it is only a glimpse we get [illegible] like it.

"I want to sit down under a tree and rest and take it [illegible] I cannot do it in these times. We have to keep up with the procession [illegible] to be pushed and jostled and [illegible] and get out of breath trying to [illegible] something that amounts to [illegible] Why simply nothing except to be trying to have a good time. We are an age of pleasure seekers. We are all chasing the bubble of pleasure with out-stretched hands and if we succeed in grasping it, it only bursts in our hands and disappears and we have nothing worthwhile left. When we get too old to keep up the procession have to step out and sit by the side of the road and watch the others go by, will it be with a feeling of satisfaction that we have made the most of our oportunities and used the talents God has given us to the best of our ability, and held out a helping hand to those less fortunate and tried to make some one's life brighter each day or will we look back with regret over our misspent lives and wish that we might be given just one more chance before we start out on the long long trail which each one of us must travel alone?"

—Every thought bears fruit after its own kind.

A freshman at Auburn College has broken all known records by eating 27 Eskimo pies in 22 minutes.

THE BEST SODA
in Town
See For Yourself At
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

Peoples Dept. Store
27-29-31 Church Street
"THE RELIABLE STORE"
Featuring
FOR MEN
KIRSCHBAUM CLOTHES
HAWES HATS
NO-FADE SHIRTS
WALK-OVER SHOES
COLLEGIATE CLOTHES

FOR WOMEN
WOOLTEX COATS
HART SCHAFFNER & MARX COATS
Walk-Over Shoes for Men and Women
And Other Nationally Known Brands of Merchandise

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Correct
Shoe Repairing
AT LOWEST PRICES
J. A. Sikorn 188 Bank St.

Elizabeth Warner New President Student Union

(Continued from page 1)

...efficiently. Mor... its eligibility com... have a card cata... in college with a ... each one holds. ... adopted by Stu... chairman of the eli... has been made a ...tion office.

...fitting memorial to ...sson, the alumnæ of the University have taken the lead in establishing a fund for a college infirmary. Student Union including all women in its membership, has expressed a desire to take an active part in establishing this memorial. A committee is working out the details by which we can make our contribution.

During the year various speakers have come to our assemblies, presenting topics of current interest and vocational opportunities for the students.

Women's convocations were inaugurated this year. It is planned to have them once a year under the direction of Student Union, with each of the major organizations taking turns in providing a speaker.

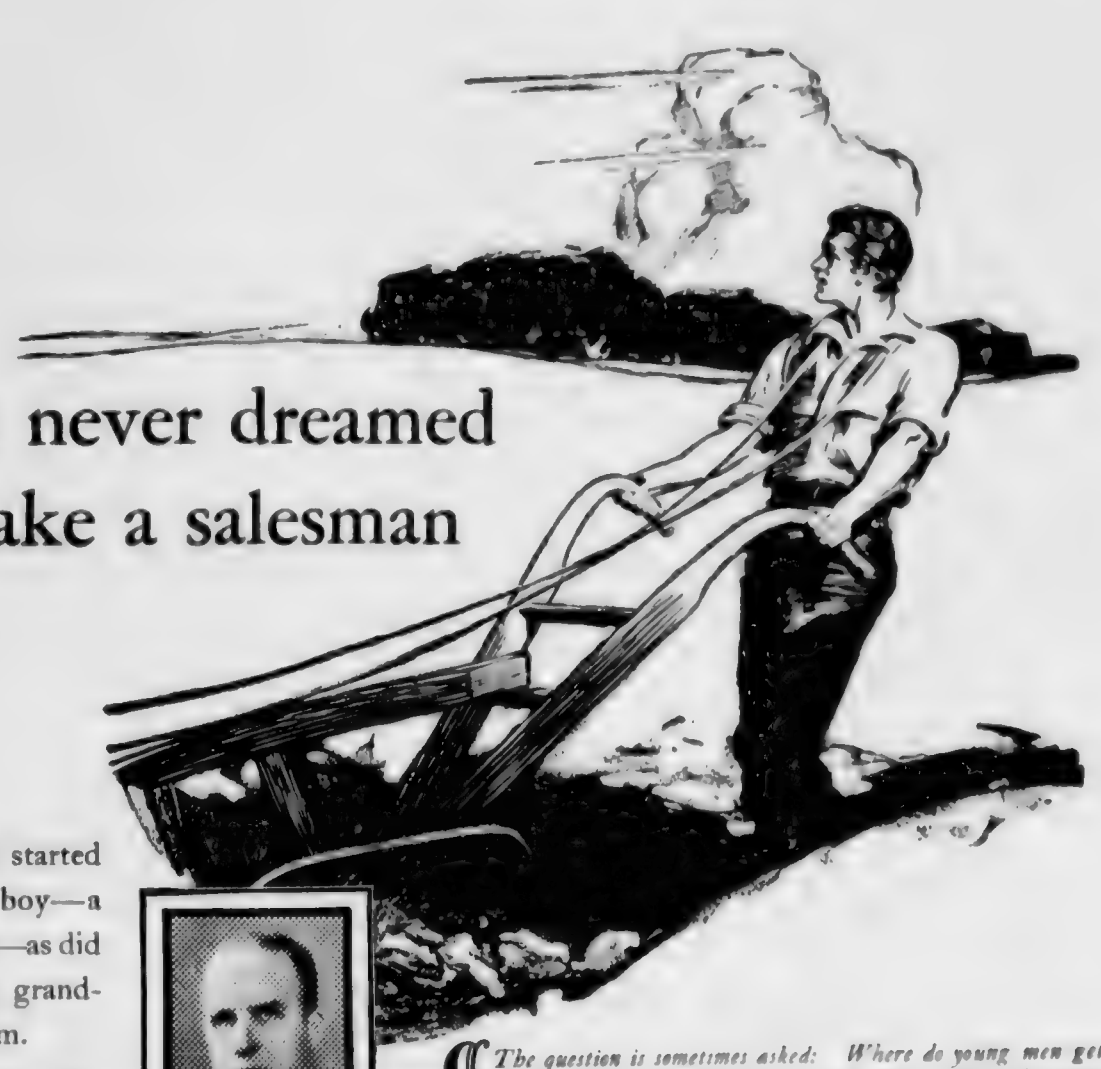
It is hoped that a personal sense of honor and responsibility is the basis of student government and in so far as this has been strengthened our student government has grown during the past year.

You can lead a man to college but you can't make him think.

It is not the hop at the start but the steady pump that gets there.

—The man who does as he pleases is always pleased.

Bluestockings to Adopt New Policy



(Continued from page 1)

...publication. In this way a high ...ard will be created. The success of the venture depends upon the members to whom the club is looking for support.

The next meeting is to be held at Redstone Sunday evening, March 28 at 7 P. M.

—You can't be a howling success by simply howling.

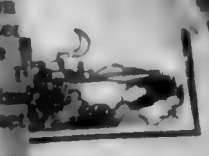
Loomis never dreamed he'd make a salesman

E. W. LOOMIS

The question is sometimes asked: Where do young men get when they enter a large industrial organization? Have they opportunity to exercise creative talents? Or are they forced into narrow grooves? This series of advertisements throws light on these questions. Each advertisement takes up the record of a college man who came with the Westinghouse Company within the last ten years or so, after graduation.

E. W. Loomis started life as a farmer boy—a real "dirt" farmer—as did his parents and grandparents before him.

Across the corn furrows, however, he would catch sight on the road of the only kind of engineer a farmer boy of that day saw—a civil engineer—and a civil engineer Loomis determined he would be.



At Delaware University, however, he got a job in the electrical laboratory—he also waited table, played football, wrestled, was commissary of the Commons, ran the battalion and did a number of other things, besides studying electrical engineering. One day a kindly professor said to him—"You understand men even better than you do electricity and engineering, why not go in for the sale of electrical apparatus?" Loomis liked the idea—came to Westinghouse—took the student course—then off to the New York Office as a "cub" salesman.

He worked—he always had—both on the farm and in college. In three years he was head of a section of the industrial sales department. By 1922 he was manager of the Industrial Division of the New York Office—charged with responsibility for the sale of Westinghouse apparatus to all industrial customers in New York State and in the northern half of New Jersey.

Loomis has fifty-two men working under his direction. It is barely eleven years since the wise old professor remarked to him—"Consider selling; it's a promising field."

Westinghouse

...chief activity in th... the winter, the ...ninde snowshoein... ...Freshmen, p... upperclassmen are ... these sports. Th... offering excellen... coming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. ... leadership of Elm... membership and act... increasing.

...st guard. Nilsen is tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Corrson and the Scntakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...at Camp Lloyd Raymond, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne H. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 2)

...aged to come out for the w...

A minor improvem... grounds has been ... concrete walk le... Row to Morrill ... wade through t... called South ... because the...

Number 61 of a Series

Ed's Allowance

EVO A. LUCCHINA, News Editor

BASEBALL TEAM SHAPING UP FOR SOUTHERN TRIP

Lack of Seasoned Infield Chief Problem—Randall May Cover Third—Prentice Looks Good at First

[illegible] a number of seasoned infielders [illegible] passes a make-up [illegible] Coach Collins [illegible] is as good a [illegible] and if this [illegible] season will [illegible] prob- [illegible] but if he is ensnared in- [illegible] with misgivings [illegible] over the last [illegible] will make the trip any [illegible] is the best prospect at [illegible] base as well as a [illegible] Jack" Conway, of [illegible] at short and as the [illegible] he will be a strong factor [illegible] the inner circle.

[illegible] and "Kiki" Price are [illegible] as keystone [illegible] so that either [illegible] second or [illegible] "Kiki" can do [illegible] at bat or in a field [illegible]

[illegible] continues to [illegible] he will hold down the [illegible] and hits well.

[illegible] the bat, Winchenbach has [illegible] as a dark horse. He has a [illegible] and is a snappy receiver. [illegible] experience is his only draw- [illegible] but he will certainly make the [illegible] and Thompson had better look to [illegible]

[illegible] garden positions are also in [illegible] If neither Capt. Braley or [illegible] Morse have to come in to first [illegible] everything will be fine. They [illegible] center and left fields and [illegible] Prentice or Price can hold down [illegible]

[illegible] Fogg will be the pitching [illegible] the aggregation, with Moriarty [illegible] him close and Roark, Smith [illegible] possibly [illegible] for reserve [illegible]

[illegible] comes through and [illegible] up to his ability it may be the [illegible] which will turn the tide in [illegible] of the Green and Gold team.

[illegible] way of judging accurately [illegible] batting and fielding of the inexperienced men who will largely fill the [illegible]. no prognostications of any [illegible] be made, but in the cage [illegible] pretty good.

[illegible] season will be opened against [illegible] University at Washington on [illegible] day, April third.

F. W. Guild visited Brookline, Mass., last Saturday and saw Miss Elizabeth [illegible] of Santa Monica, California, win the national indoor tennis championship on the covered courts at Chestnut Hill.

SIGMA ALPHA CHI HOLDS INITIATION AND BANQUET

Sigma Alpha Chi held its formal initiation last Saturday at the chapter house. The initiates were B. F. Clark of Groton, C. E. Harwood of Dorset, A. G. Mackay of Peacham, H. R. Mattoon of Bennington, E. A. Morton of St. Albans, C. E. Reynolds of Bellows Falls, all of the class of 1929; and M. I. Gould of Burlington, E. R. Mackay of Peacham, and E. C. Suitor of Barre, [illegible] the class of 1928.

The fourth annual banquet of the fraternity was held in the evening at the Hotel Vermont. B. G. LeMieux '25 [illegible] as toastmaster. Among the [illegible] were Professors George F. Eckhard and Arthur Myrick, S. B. [illegible], Jr., I. B. Phelps '27, M. I. Gould '28 and A. G. Mackay '29. Alumni present were Nelson Washbridge '24, Albert Janke '23, Graham Bruce M. '28 of Burlington and Leon Carl of St. Albans.

RIFLE TEAM NOTES

The only match heard from this week was dropped to the Cadets of Norwich by one point. The score:

U. V. M. 1928 — Norwich 1929

Follett is high-point man this week with a score of 388.

HONOR LIST

The Honor list of underclassmen for the first semester have been announced as follows:

No grade below Margaret Durick '29, J. Medlar '29 and T. F. Rich '28; No grade below B (from the class of 1928) Faith Baldwin, E. O. Dalrymple, R. K. Hastings, Marguerite Margie, C. R. Merikangas, D. E. Palmer, Marjorie Purinton, Muriel Richardson, D. F. Scribner, Charlotte Stone, Dexter Taft, P. R. Wheeler (from the class of 1929) Dorothy Claflin, Genevieve Hook, Alice Miller, F. F. O'Keefe, C. H. Overley, A. D. Poverman, L. R. Robinson, A. E. Sargent, Irene Witkus.

FRATERNITY SERIES GOES TO DELTA PSI

Delta Psi won the Key and Serpent cup and the fraternity basketball championship Thursday afternoon by defeating Kappa Sigma 18-16. The game was very fast and close as the score would indicate. Had it not been for the stellar work of Healey Randall the Delts would have been lost, as he accounted for ten of their eighteen points. For the Kappa Sigs, Roark did most of the defense and was a whirlwind on the offense. Wood of Kappa Sigma was second high scorer accounting for six points. "Hank" Dresser refereed the game.

KINGSLEY PRIZE SPEAKERS CHOSEN

Six men were chosen at the tryouts, Wednesday afternoon, to compete in the annual Kingsley prize speaking contest which will be held in May. The speakers from the Sophomore class are J. O. Phelps of Milton, J. M. Leavens of Maplewood, N. J., and R. H. Allbee of Springfield. Those from the Freshman class are T. L. Kelley of Burlington, C. H. Overly of Burlington and P. V. Brickiatis of Saco, Me.

DEBATING TEAM GETS EVEN BREAK ON TRIP

The Vermont debating team returned Sunday from a four-day trip into Maine, having debated the University of Maine at Orono on Thursday night and Colby College at Waterville on Friday night. The question was, "Resolved that the United States should own and operate the coal mines of this country," rather than the question which the team has debated in previous contests, which was, "Resolved that the Anthracite coal mines should be owned and operated by the Federal Government." The Vermont team upheld the affirmative in both debates.

Vermont won the debate at Orono by a 2 to 1 decision. The Maine team was unable to refute the points brought forward by Herron and Guild, who succeeded in proving that the coal fields are at present an absolute monopoly in private hands. O'Connell showed successfully that the Wheeler plan would eliminate many of the present evils within the industry.

At Waterville the Vermont team was defeated by the Colby debaters by an unanimous decision, although the Vermont team was even more convincing than the night previous. A large crowd was present for the debate and the men from Vermont were given much applause by the audience.

The Green and Gold team was composed of the same men who have participated in previous debates. W. J. Herron, Jr. '26 of Saranac Lake is the captain, F. W. Guild '26 of Lebanon, N. H., is the second speaker, and J. J. O'Connell '26 of Saranac Lake is the third speaker. The debating schedule includes one more debate, that with the Syracuse team which debates the prohibition question in the College chapel during the Easter recess.

J. STITT WILSON CONDUCTS MEETINGS

J. Stitt Wilson, internationally known speaker, conducted several discussions with students Wednesday and Thursday. The guest was introduced at a luncheon for students in the Y. M. C. A. building Wednesday noon. Mr. Wilson delivered an address stating the purpose of his work, which was to show how to have science and religion pull together.

At an unofficial convocation held Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Wilson spoke on "Measurements" of men. He named physico-chemical categories of science as a measurement, and also of intellect and mental development. At 7 o'clock in the evening Mr. Wilson spoke in the chapel on "Relations of Evolution to Religion." On Thursday morning, he granted personal interviews and in the evening he gave a talk at the First Church.

Interfraternity Meet

(Including a dissenting report on interpretation)

—L. R. L.

The usual way for the Cynic editor to report such as last week's [illegible] this.

"The First Annual Indoor Track Meet was [illegible] gymnasium last Saturday. The Meet was won by [illegible] with a total of 27 points. The fraternities is as follows:

"Alpha Tau Omega [illegible] Phi Delta Theta 15, Sigma Chi (Medical) 11, Dependents 7, Phi Mu [illegible] Alpha Chi 4, Lambda [illegible] Sigma 0, Zeta Chi 0, Sigma Tau Epsilon Phi 0.

"The summary is as follows:

"30-yd. dash: Robbins, [illegible] Ottley.

"30-yd. low hurdles: [illegible] Howard, Lord.

"30-yd. high hurdles: [illegible] (no third or fourth place).

"440-yd. run: Wilson [illegible] Coyne.

"880-yd. run: Post, Baldwin.

"Mile run: Post, Suitor, [illegible].

"Broad jump: Hastings, [illegible] Pike, Mainini.

"High jump: Lyman, Wilson, [illegible] Pike.

"Pole vault: Whitten, Harris, [illegible] (no fourth place).

"16-lb. shot-put: Kropper, [illegible] Mackay.

"35-lb. hammer: Hill, Harris, [illegible] Mainini.

"The 2-mile run was [illegible] contestant was limited to [illegible].

How cold and impersonal such a report is! How far from the truth! We say far from the truth for any concealment of the truth amounts to falsity? Inasmuch as the Cynic is a paper primarily to be read by Vermont men, and inasmuch as most of the subscribers know the contestants personally, why not add a personal touch to the report and why not make it a fairly complete and truthful report? We suggest something as follows:

"For the First Annual Interfraternity Indoor Track Meet, which by the way, is hoped to be made an annual event, last week's affair was as big a fizzle as we have witnessed in many a day. It seemed that nearly all the fraternities had made up their minds before the meet began that they stood no chance of winning it, so they made

ELLSWORTH'S
The home of fine watches and diamonds
Successor to A. G. Mansur
71 CHURCH STREET

Athletic Outfitters
for
U. V. M.
Teams
Base Ball Supplies
Special Prices
L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

R. W. STILL — Phone 2873-W
HOFFMAN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
MEN'S SUITS PRESSED AND CLEANED
Free Auto Delivery
145 Elmwood Ave. Burlington, Vt.

Park Cafe and Sea Grill
SERVICE and QUALITY
Noon-day Meals
50c. and 75c.
Special Supper 75c.
A LA CARTE SERVICE

Knickers and Sport Trousers
We have a most complete line of fancy Knickers and Long Trousers.
Priced from
$4.50 to $10.00
Hayes & Carney
107 Bank St. — Near Majestic
Open Evenings

Queen City Cafe
103 Church St. — Burlington, Vt.
EXCELLENT SERVICE
Regular Dinner 45c
Home Cooking
Special attention given to small parties and banquets.
Meal Tickets $5.00 worth, for $4.50
Phone 1154-W

...best. Let it be ... the A. T. O.'s, that ... turned out and ... remarkable spirit, which took ... in sending the champion... ... of the whole affair ... About 30 spectators ... and half of them ... it was an inter... ...class meet. Half ... doesn't know it ...

... scheduled for 2:30, ... of the contestants ... schedule was kid... ... they blew in about ... event was the high ... was won by Lyman ... Out of our total ... here at Vermont, ... the only ones to toe ... event. Shaw, who is ... in this event, and ... out about five times ... not to go stale, did ... a meet of so little ... the low hurdles, four ... They all placed. In ... competition was unusual... ... there was great excite... ... when it was perceived that there ... contestants that the ... have to be run in heats, ... heats.

... the cage the meet was then ... to the running track. The ... showed their enthusiasm ... in the cage. The mile ... 440 were run off without accident. ... 2-mile Suitor would have been ... ahead of the field, for the ... competition here was not so keen as ... the dash, as may be judged by the ... that Suitor was the only con... ... In the mile there were only ... contestants, but Suitor was sent ... to make the affair look like a race. ... running events were witnessed ... a crowd of three Freshmen, who ... didn't quite understand why these ... fellows were chasing each other around for.

Let us return to the cage. Four ... contestants showed up for the ham... ... which was won by Hill, with ... second; Kropper, third; ... fourth. The latter had been ... practicing three times this winter, ... thereby proving that with practice, ... is sure to gain perfection. Four ... contestants showed up for the shot... ... and broad jump, thereby making ... competition keener in those events ... in the 2-mile. With half a dozen ... jumpers in college who can do ... than 18 feet, 3rd and 4th places ... that event were won at 17 feet ... 10 feet respectively, merely be... ... no one else showed up for it. ... who has been jumping well ... practice, evidently was too indis... ... to enter the event in the after... although he was perfectly O. K. ... evening, from what we can ... from his fraternity brothers. ... the State Champion in this ... was also among the missing. ... of state champions, only ... out of the nine now in college ... the meet. In the pole vault ... half mile, not more than three ... could be induced to try their ... When the returns of the runs ... announced in the cage, the en... ... reached its highest when a ... essayed to clap his hands."

We had intended to compare the ... Interfraternity Meet with ... meets in other colleges, but ... reasons, we shall not at... ... Suffice to say, that at a ... small New England college, 27 ... in the forty-yard dash! ... comparison stop here.

Dean Joseph L. Hills

[This is the fourth of a series of biographical sketches of faculty members published weekly in the Cynic ]

Dean Hills stands high in student opinion both as friend and as teacher and is popular as a speaker at student gatherings. With a thorough knowledge of chemistry as a foundation he has done much practical and helpful work in agriculture, as experimenter as instructor and as executive.

Joseph Lawrence Hills was born at Boston, Massachusetts on March 2, 1861, the son of Thomas and Amelia Ellen (Drew) Hills. In 1881 he received the degree of Bachelor of Science from Massachusetts Agricultural College and also from Boston University. He did post-graduate work at Massachusetts Agricultural College 1881-4 and in 1903 received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Rutgers.

On September 11, 1888 he married Miss Kate Conover of New Brunswick, New Jersey.

The first employee of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station was none other than our Dean, and check No. 1 for the sum of $20, one month's salary as assistant chemist, was issued to J. L. Hills. In 1884-5 he was associate chemist at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station at New Brunswick and for the next three years served as chemist for the Phosphate Mining Company, Ltd., at Beaufort, South Carolina.

In 1888 Mr. Hills came to the University of Vermont. For ten years he served as chemist and since 1893 has been director of the Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station and Professor of Agronomy at the University. In his capacity as director he has issued 39 at more annual reports and more than 200 bulletins from the Vermont Station a considerable part of which is the product of his pen. Since 1898 he has been the Dean of the College of Agriculture.

In 1892 he was chemist in charge of the United States Internal Revenue Sugar Laboratory for Vermont.

The Association of Land Grant Colleges is perhaps the most powerful of the nation-wide associations of institutions of higher learning, comprising as it does in its membership all of the state colleges and universities founded on the Morrill (Federal) Land Grant Act of 1862, such institutions as the Universities of Wisconsin, Illinois, California, Missouri, Nebraska, as Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Cornell and Rutgers. Dean Hills has served as Secretary-Treasurer since 1904 and for more than twenty years has been Secretary of its Executive Committee.

From 1892-1909 he was a member (gubernatorial appointment) of the State Board of Agriculture and ex-officio Cattle Commissioner, from 1908 until its abolition in 1917 he was ex-officio member and secretary of the State Board of Agriculture and Forestry, from about 1911 to 1916 he was ex-officio trustee of the State Schools of Agriculture at Lyndonville and Randolph Center.

He belongs to the Society for the Promotion of Agricultural Science is a fellow in the American Association of the Advancement of Science, is a member and past governor of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of Vermont, of Kappa Sigma, and of the honorary societies of Alpha Zeta and Phi Kappa Phi.

PLEDGING

Sigma Delta announces the pledging of Wendell P. Roy '28 of East Barnet.

Sigma Nu announces the pledging of R. E. Young '29 of Bellows Falls.

Phi Mu Delta announces the pledging of Leighton P. Sanders '29 of Burlington.

Speaking of perfume—what a whale of a difference a few "scents" make!

For the first time in sixty-three years hazing freshmen at the University of California has been done away with as the result of an edict from the president.

Compliments of

C. A. BARBER & CO.

112 Church Street

LAW STUDENTS

THE BOSTON UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL

Trains students in principles of the law and the technique of the profession and prepares them for active practice wherever the English system of law prevails. Course for LL. B., fitting for admission to the bar, requires three school years.

Post graduate course of one year leads to degree of LL. M.

Two years of college instruction is required for admission.

Limited Special Scholarships $75 per year to needy college graduates.

For Catalogue Address
HOMER ALBERS, Dean
11 Ashburton Place, Boston

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
Special arrangement can be made for all kinds of Parties. Red Feather Candy and Mrs. Perkins' Maple Nut Candies.
PHONE 2305

Ready with Spring Clothes!

The most elaborate showing of fine Suits, Top Coats and Furnishings we've ever had.

Suits $25 to $55
Top Coats $20 to $45

• • •

Miles & Perry Co.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898

RED 46 DEPT. STORE
"The Store of Progress"
BURLINGTON VERMONT

STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES

YOUNG'S HATS

FRATERNITY JEWELRY AND FAVORS

F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELLERS
17 Upper Church St.

EASTER RECESS
is most here
Those baggage tags on your grip look grimy
Better buy new ones
Also
there must be "THAT CERTAIN PARTY"
to whom you want to take an Easter Gift.
Call at
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
or
MEDICAL BOOK STORE
and
"We'll show you what to take home"

"Sprig is cub"
and we'll have green salads for lunch
Stop and try them
THE COFFEE CORNER

NEW YORK LIFE INS. CO.
a purely Mutual Institution
A symbol of Strength and Integrity
Make it YOUR Company
"Bernie"

...chief activity in th... ...n the winter, the ... include snowshoein... ...ing. Freshmen, pa... ...pperclassmen are ... ...n these sports. Th... ...s offering excellen... ...ecoming acquainte... ...ew girls, also are ... ...y all who go. ... ...adership of Eli... ...membership and ... ...creasing.

...guard, Silen at ... Simpson at end, and Corasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...21...; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

...ly

A minor improvement... ...grounds has been ... concrete walk le... ...Row to Morrill ... made through th... ...called South ... because there ... Hall.

Number 61 of a Series

RIFLE TEAM BANQUET ENDS FOURTH SEASON

Arlie Wright and Lois Tompkins Receive Silver Cups for High Scores—Three Others Awarded Pins

[illegible] to make the team. A squad of about fifteen is selected from [illegible] contestants for positions. This year the team consisted of Capt. Arlie Wright, Manager Clarence Wright, Alice Crane, Thelma [illegible], Lois Tompkins, Ruth Fassett, Alice [illegible], Ruth Edson, Ethel [illegible], Ruth Tuttle, Pauline Lynch, Alternates Doris Hart, Lois [illegible], Edith Tracy, Marion Everett, [illegible] McKenzie, Marjory Hill.

[illegible] Dorothy '26, coach of the team, announces that the team average this year is 98.72, while the individual high average is 98.9, last year the average was 97.1. The completed schedule which follows shows that the team fired 24 matches of which they won 18.

With Usual Apologies

'Twas a real collegiate gathering, and a peaceful crowd was there;
Many came with blind dates, and others on a dare.
[illegible] of the groaning saxophone came thru the open door,
[illegible] sheik paid his fifty cents,
and appeared upon the floor.

"Well look who's here," the flapper cried, "And when did you get back?"
"Just arrived" the sheik replied, "On the train from Hackensack."
"Say, save here," the boy went on,
"and I'll tell you what I'll do,
I'll show you a pretty crazy step—
that's a fact, I promise, too!
It's something they do in the Palais d'Or, and other Broadway joints,
I think you'll all admit, my lads, this step has darn good points."

The collegians hooted--the collegians razzed his line was still the same.
But our young friend commenced to dance, and put their boots to shame.
This [illegible] boy sure knew his stuff
he shook a wicked knee—
It was nothing like we learned at school, toe, heel, and one, two, three.
He waved, he galloped in the air, he cavorted 'round the ground
The Step I must admit, my friend was never more quite sound.

"I can teach you to dance like this,"
he said when he came up for air;
So all the ladies just gathered 'round—
and that's what's left for fair
Charleston Mad chaps what [illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

M. U. '27.

[illegible] has lots of good [illegible] can [illegible] around corners in [illegible]
[illegible] had [illegible]
every circle has a center.

With the Fraternities

Kappa Alpha Theta

[illegible] announces the initiation of Ruth Varney '28, Katherine Bennett, pledge to Margaret Morse, [illegible] Annette [illegible] Mayer of the class of 29, on Saturday, March 27. The district president, Polly Hodges [illegible] present. A banquet will be served at the Hotel Vermont.

Delta Delta Delta

[illegible] of Delta Delta Delta announces the pledging of Mary Comstock of Great Barrington, Mass., and [illegible] of Rock Falls, both of the class of 29.

An informal party was held in the rooms on Monday evening in honor of the pledges in the city.

Dorothy Ellis and Dorothy Barrows [illegible] were week end guests.

Pi Beta Phi

Pi Beta Phi announces the initiation of Miss Gladys Reed '28, Mattie Farr '28, Ruth Lowell '28, Marion Backus, [illegible] Cleveland Reed, Billingham, Marjorie Sherman, Dorothy Small, Dorothy Spargo, Lois Tompkins, Dorothy Abbott, of the class of '29, on Saturday, March 20. The initiation was followed by a banquet at the Vermont roof garden. Among the alumnæ present were Dorothy Smith '24, Erminie Pollard '24, Linda Clark, Dorothy Grow.

The initiates entertained the pledges of other fraternities at a tea Monday afternoon.

Alpha Xi Delta

A dance was held in honor of the [illegible] pledges Saturday afternoon, March 20, after which dinner was enjoyed at the Golden Pheasant Tea room. Mr. and Mrs. Zottman Janke, Professor and Mrs. Carpenter chaperoned. Rider's orchestra furnished the music.

Alpha Chi Omega

An informal dance was held at the Delta Mu rooms, in honor of the pledges, March 13. Professor and Mrs. Dean, Professor and Mrs. Stoughton were the chaperons.

Phi Delta Zeta

Phi Delta Zeta announces the pledging of Theresa Rosai '28.

A dance was held Saturday, March 20, at the Phi Chi rooms in honor of the new pledges. The chaperons were Professor and Mrs. Yates, Professor and Mrs. Dean. Preston's orchestra furnished the music.

Sigma Gamma

A tea dance, in honor of the pledges, was held at the rooms on College Street, March 13, after which dinner was served at the Golden Pheasant Tea room. Professor and Mrs. Doane, Professor and Mrs. Wallace offered chaperonage. Flagg's orchestra furnished the music.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB HAS VERY SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Much interest and enthusiasm has been shown in the Glee Club this year and it has had a very successful season under the direction of Prof. Howard G. Bennett, head of the music department.

A most enjoyable concert was given on January 15, consisting of Old English madrigals, Swedish folksongs, Russian songs, and a song written and composed by Professor Bennett. This concert was broadcast through the University radio station WCAX.

Rehearsals are still being held twice a week in preparation for a concert to be given with the Men's Glee Club in May. Some out-of-town trips have also been planned for in May.

There are at present fifty-five members of the club. Florence Lewis '26 was leader and Loretta Jennings '27 was business manager during the first part of the year. At a meeting held [illegible] Stella Martin '28 was elected leader and Catherine Bassett '29 business manager.

—Silence is the fence around wisdom

DRAMATIC CLUB TO PRESENT CLASS PLAYS

Dramatic Club will have Olufa [illegible] '27 as president for the coming year, Lillian Avery '27, vice-president, Agatha Jasjon '27, secretary, Eleanor Taft '28, treasurer.

The class plays will be presented in the gymnasium Tuesday night, March 30. Rehearsals have been steadily going forward for the past month, and there is every indication that the plays will be the success they have always been in previous years.

The junior play is "The Far-Away Princess" with the following cast: Strubel, Lillian Avery; Princess, Elizabeth Johnson; Frau von Halldorf, Vina Rugg; Frau von Brook, Florence Smith; Frau Lindermann, Fern Westover; Rosa, Elizabeth Howe; Liddy, Harriet Metcalf; Milly, Naomi Thorne.

The sophomore play is "Overtones" with the following cast: Margaret, Ola Keith; Maggie, Marjorie Tewksbury; Harriet, Eleanor Davison; Hetty, Irene Bates.

"The Grandmother" is the freshman play, with Catherine Bassett as the grandmother; Gladys Kone, the Disagreeable Young Man; Marion Everest, Jovial Young Man; Elizabeth Hagar, Polite Young Man; Charlotte Cleveland, Brunette Girl; Dorothy Strong, Blonde Girl; Faith Edmunds, Melancholy Girl; Marian Backus, Vivacious Girl; Theresa Schneller, Sentimental Girl, and Lydia Blodgett as the Bride.

Spectres

The scream of whistles;
The answering screech of sirens
On the River;
The honk-honk of rushing motors
And the cop's shrill yell
As he fails;
The peal of church bells
As the Angelus calls;
And weary faces aglow
At release.
Six o'clock, says the dial's.

The thought of solitude,
That grim spectre of the lonely,
Peoples every corner and every nook
Of my small room.
Hush, whistles! Hush, boats!
Hush, my heart!

—The fellow who aims at nothing generally hits it.

ELIZABETH JOHNSON TO HEAD THE PRESS CLUB

The Women's Press [illegible] ed with the publicity [illegible] the University of Ver[illegible] in close touch with [illegible] which the girls take p[illegible] concerning those elect[illegible] various organizations [illegible] Union, Y W C A W[illegible] members of important [illegible] clubs such as Glee Cl[illegible] Sandal, and Dramat[illegible] to home newspapers [illegible] career of the girls may [illegible] their fellow townspe[illegible] stories are also prepared [illegible] newspapers so that th[illegible] the women of the Uni[illegible] mont are watched with [illegible] general public.

Plans are being [illegible] means of which it is [illegible] Press Club will make [illegible] year in every respect.

Elizabeth L. Johnson [illegible] dent for the coming [illegible] elected to the Press Club [illegible] lows.

Fern Westover '27, Mer[illegible] Dorothy Cottrel '29, C[illegible] '29, and Mary Spargo '29.

—Do all the good you can, and by the knowledge of it within your own hat.

The Old Bee Hive

Phoenix Full Fashion Pure Silk Hosiery Special $1.50 Pr.

Women will be delighted with these perfect fitting, slenderized ankle silk stockings that we show in the season's smartest shades at $1.50 pair.

Let Us Take Care of Your Dry Cleaning

Pressing, Repairing and Dyeing
Our Service Will Please You

We call for and deliver—you will receive your garment on a hanger enclosed in a sanitary bag.

OUR PRICES ARE RIGHT
WE INVITE YOU TO INSPECT OUR PLANT
PHONE 614

VERMONT CLEANSING CO.

Plant and Office 274 N. Winooski Ave.

OWNED AND OPERATED BY A U. V. M. CHEMIST

The Vermont Cynic

VOL. 44 BURLINGTON, VT., APR[illegible] NUMBER [illegible]

JUNIOR WEEK COMES LAST WEEK IN MAY

Cast for Play Has Been Chosen and Two Baseball Games Arranged

[illegible] only a little more [illegible] the committees [illegible] into shape their [illegible] ring event. The [illegible] Junior Week are [illegible] day, Friday and [illegible] 27, 28 and 29.

[illegible] Wednesday afternoon [illegible] starting from the co[illegible] will open the four[illegible] As in other years, the [illegible] portion the Junior [illegible] "Saving Grace," which [illegible] on the evening of [illegible] May 27 at the Strong [illegible]

[illegible] Junior Banquet will be held at [illegible] Hotel Vermont on Wednesday eve[illegible] May [illegible]

[illegible] will play St. Stephen's on [illegible] here on Thursday [illegible] May 25. Then the play will [illegible] in the evening.

[illegible] will be the busiest day. In [illegible] there will be a baseball [illegible] Springfield Y. M. C. A. [illegible] and Vermont; Captain Guild [illegible] varsity men will play Middle[illegible] on the tennis court the same [illegible] The Junior Prom will be [illegible] Friday evening in the Gym, with [illegible] Varsity Coast Orchestra from [illegible] South furnishing the music. A [illegible] decorator will have the [illegible] trimmed up for the special occa[illegible]

Saturday afternoon Vermont will [illegible] Massachusetts Agricultural Col[illegible] in baseball at Centennial Field. [illegible] will also be a triangular track [illegible] between Norwich, Middlebury [illegible] Vermont. The Junior Week pro[illegible] will close with the fraternity [illegible] Saturday evening.

The cast of the Junior Week play [illegible] is some of the University's best

(Continued on page 5)

FRATERNITY COUNCIL FORMULATES NEW RULES

[illegible] meeting of the Interfraternity [illegible] will hold Thursday, April 15, the [illegible] rules were agreed upon for [illegible] 1926-27 and are here submit[illegible] approval by the various frater[illegible]

[illegible] RULES 1926-27

[illegible] beginning with the first day of [illegible] no fraternity or frater[illegible] man shall entertain, discuss [illegible] matters with or extend invi[illegible] membership to any Freshman [illegible] student until the end of the [illegible] period after regular bidding [illegible] at open house nights or [illegible] parties as explained below.

The word entertain is interpreted [illegible] accompanying at movies, [illegible] engagements, out of town [illegible] contests, etc.)

No Freshman or new student [illegible] allowed in any fraternity [illegible] between aforesaid dates, except[illegible] open house nights, and rushing

On the 10th, 17th, 20th, 23rd [illegible] of November, fraternities [illegible] Freshmen at their [illegible] from seven to ten in [illegible] Entertainment shall be [illegible] and no fraternity [illegible] discussed at these

[illegible] on page 5)

FEDERAL INSPECTION

[illegible] general inspection will [illegible] Thursday and Friday [illegible] The inspecting officers [illegible] will grade the [illegible] for distinguished [illegible] battalion has received rating dur[illegible] last eleven years.

NOTICE TO SENIORS

Seniors should take special notice of the fact that they ought to order their caps and gowns at once at the University store as some time is needed for these orders to be returned. All those possible should wear their caps and gowns on Founder's Day for the Founder's Day exercises.

STUDENT SENATE

At the meeting of the Student Senate held on April 17, there was some discussion as to the time to hold a mass meeting of the Student body to vote on the following three matters. Whether the Student Senate shall be continued or not. The plan of having a semi-weekly issue of the CYNIC, and what the University mascot shall be. A cheer leader will also be elected at this time. No time was decided on definitely, but it was suggested that the matters to be voted on might be discussed at the Boulder smoker to be held on May 11. A student union will then be held sometime before June and these matters put to a ballot. Balloting will not only take place at the meeting but for several days there after to make sure that everyone has an opportunity to vote.

A committee was appointed by the president to consider the matter of a uniform cut system. There has been some agitation again this year in favor of adopting a cut system. The committee appointed were Heath, Wilbur, Blackhall, James, and Hewes.

W. H. CROCKETT TO BE FOUNDER'S DAY SPEAKER

Honorary Societies Will Be Announced and R. O. T. C. Inspection Will Take Place

Mr. W. H. Crockett, Vermont historian, will speak on May 1, Founder's Day—the 175th anniversary of the birth of Ira Allen. Mr. Crockett is editor of University publications, and chairman of state publicity. He is a member of the faculty, teaching journalism, and is the author of a History of Vermont.

Founder's Day was first observed in 1894. There are three speakers on this occasion, the main speaker, and one chosen from each of the upper classes. Boulder initiation is held on this day. The R. O. T. C. Battalion will be inspected immediately before the exercises, which are held in the morning in the gymnasium.

A baseball game with Manhattan is scheduled for the afternoon.

Elections to the honorary societies are announced at the morning exercises, namely: Boulder, men's Senior honorary society; Mortar Board, women's honorary society; Cap and Skull, medical honorary society; Scabbard and Blade, military honorary society; Key and Serpent, and Gold Key, Junior and Sophomore societies, respectively. The winner of the Wilbur prize for essays on Ira Allen, will also be announced.

G. C. MARTIN, U. V. M., '24 GETS COMMISSION

The Military Department has received notice from the War Department that George Chipman Martin, U. V. M. '24, has been commissioned as a Second Lieutenant, Infantry, Reserve Corps on April 17, 1926.

Martin was a member of Sigma Phi Fraternity, a News Editor of the CYNIC, and accomplished his college course in three years. He is now located in Jacksonville, Florida.

Southern Trip Furnishes Varsity Valuable Experience During Recess

Lack of Outdoor Practice Put Players at Disadvantage on Field —Many Close Scores

The annual Southern invasion of the Green and Gold team while not as successful from the standpoint of games won as might be desired, was instrumental in bringing the team up to the point where they will be able to cope successfully with their opponents during the course of the regular season. The team this year has been hampered in many respects chief among which was the miserable brand of weather experienced this Spring. Coach Collins was forced to make his selection of players without having had the benefit of watching them perform outdoors, but all things considered is satisfied that he has a good team in the making. The trip brought out many strong points in connection with the building up of an almost entirely new team and, naturally, disclosed the fact that there are many glaring weaknesses to be corrected.

The team showed up rather poorly in the field, an unusual situation for a Vermont team, due promarily to lack of practice and experimenting with players in unfamiliar positions. The hitting, too, was not what it should have been, but it is felt a few good days outdoors will greatly remedy the situation.

The squad, numbering fourteen players left here on April 2nd and was made up of the following: Captain Bradley, Prentice, W. Morse, B. Morse, Conway, Randall, Thompson, Aronson, Winchenbach, Moriarty, Roark, Fogg, Smith, Guild, Manager Casey, Coach Collins, Graduate Manager Mayforth. The squad was also accompanied by O. F. Prentice, local business man, who has been a consistently loyal rooter of the Vermont teams.

On the third of April the Green and Gold nine opened against Catholic University at Washington where they met their first defeat 9 to 1. Moriarty

(Continued on page 7)

ARIZONA DEBATERS DEFEAT VERMONT

The Vermont debating team [illegible] during vacation to the University of Arizona in the University chapel, the visiting team having the affirmative side of the question "Resolved, That this House Condemns the Present System of Prohibition in the United States."

The Arizona team comprised Carlton B. Wiscart, W. Fenimore Cooper, and Richard F. Pattee. The University of Vermont team was made up of Fred [illegible] W. Guild '26, Joseph J. O'Connell, Jr. '26, and Emory C. Mower '27. Judge E. C. Mower was chairman of the debate. Decision was by the house ballott.

The successful Arizona team, which has held a remarkable record for three years, overcame the facts presented by the Vermont trio by superiority of presentation and oratory. The Arizona team used the arguments that prohibition is not enforced and cannot be. The negative side maintained that the present system of prohibition is satisfactory, as shown by the comparatively dry state of the country today.

The Arizona team claims the United States championship upon this subject, and has made a tour of the country to uphold its claim.

DEAN BROWN OF YALE COMMENCEMENT ORATOR

Reverend D. G. Downey Will Deliver the Baccalaureate Sermon

The orator at Commencement will be Dean Charles R. Brown of Yale Divinity School. The baccalaureate preacher will be the Rev. David G. Downey, D. D., book editor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and one of the ablest men in his denomination.

The Rev. Downey was born in Ireland. He received his A. B. at Wesleyan University and the Doctor of Letters degree from the same University. He received the degree of Litt. D. from Cornell College, Louisiana. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, Phi Beta Kappa and a trustee of Wesleyan University. He is the author of "Modern Poets and Christian Teaching." He resides at Mount Vernon, N. Y.

The Rev. Brown is a native of West Virginia. He received his A. B. from Yale, a D. D. from Oberlin and Brown University, the degree of LL. D. from Wesleyan University and S. T. B. and S. T. D. both from Boston University. He has been Dean of the Divinity School at Yale since 1911. He made a trip through the holy land for professional study. He has been a special lecturer on ethics at Leland Stanford, Jr. University; Lyman Beecher lecturer, Yale; special lecturer, Cornell, Columbia; Ingersoll lecturer on immortality, Harvard. He is the author of several books.

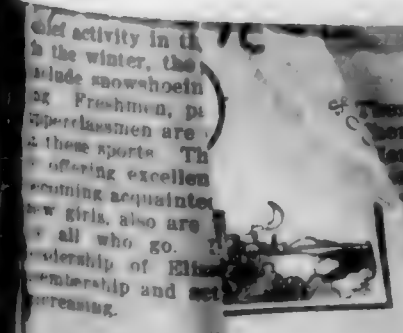
BOULDER SMOKER BEFORE WILLIAMS GAME

A Smoker managed by Boulder Society is to be held on the evening of May 11. This is the evening before the Williams game which will be one of the big games of the season.

It was planned to hold this smoker before the team went on the southern trip on March 31 but that plan was abandoned because there was so much sickness at the time.

WEDELL TO HEAD Y. M. C. A. ACTIVITIES

The installation of the new Y. M. C. A. cabinet was held at the city 'Y' Sunday afternoon, April 18. retiring President Hodgdon briefly outlined the work of the 'Y' for the year 1925-26, stressing the retreat, the Freshmen camp at Abnaki in the fall the arrival f the new Secretary, R. B. Maxted, and the series of meetings led by J. Nevin Sayre and Stitt Wilson. The cabinet was then installed and President Wedell made a brief speech.



The officers for the year 1926-27 are: President, Carl H. Wedell, '27, of Lynn, Mass.; Vice-President, Clifford M. Quad, '28, of West Orange, N. J.; Secretary, Orin A. Burbank, '27, of Chelsea; Treasurer, Theodore F. Rich, '28, of Burlington; Editor-in-chief of the "Handbook" George H. Perry, '28, of Springfield; and Business Manager, Irwin Gould, '28, of Burlington. Other members of the cabinet in charge of various branches of 'Y' work are: Campus Service, Harold H. Fogg, '28 of Braintree; Meetings J. Benham Phelps, '27, of Milton; Church Relations, William M. Shank Jr., '28, of Chambersburg, Pa.; Conferences, Mark Pierce, '27, of Groton; Deputations, John F. McColl, '27, of Townshend; Discussion Groups, Dean Rowe, '27, of

(Continued on page 2)

OUTING CLUB

At a meeting of the Outing Club held recently, the following officers were elected:

President, F. H. Sears, '27; vice-president, G. E. Saunders, '28; secretary, L. G. Cowles, '29; chairman of the executive committee, R. M. Brace '29.

[illegible] activity in th[illegible] the winter, the [illegible] include snowshoein[illegible] ing Freshmen, p[illegible] Upperclassmen are [illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] coming acquainte[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. [illegible] leadership of Eli[illegible] membership and act[illegible] increasing.

[illegible] grade, Dillon at tackle, Bonny Simpson at end, and Corazoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

[illegible] aged to come out for the w[illegible]

A minor improvement [illegible] grounds has been [illegible] concrete walk le[illegible] Row to Morrill [illegible] wade through th[illegible] called South [illegible] because there [illegible] Hall.

Number 41 of a Series

Fraternity Council Formulates New Rules

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Saturday December [illegible] P. M. Monday December [illegible] neutral period during which [illegible] or house [illegible] of an organization to [illegible] the Conference shall [illegible] such whatsoever [illegible]

4. At 1 P. M. on Sunday December [illegible] the members of the Conference shall meet and bring all their invitations to pledge and addressed envelopes said meeting to be held in [illegible] Mill designated by the President of the Conference. Within said envelope shall be only the printed form of the invitations properly filled out and all unsealed envelope with the address of the inviting fraternity on it. The invitations shall then be delivered to the respective representatives of the different fraternities in person appointed to the Fresh [illegible] presenting themselves before said Conference. In a room adjoining the Conference room each Freshman shall [illegible] put the blank "I accept" or "I do not accept your invitation to membership" and shall then put each invitation in the envelope addressed to the pledging fraternity and return same to the Conference room.

5. On the day of pledging, when the invitations are being given out fraternity men will remain in their houses.

6. Every invitation shall be in writing and upon printed forms furnished by the secretary of the Conference; invitations not accepted shall be returned. This does not apply after pledging day.

7. Every pledge shall be valid for a period of seven months unless revoked by the pledging fraternity.

8. Any fraternity directly concerned with a person who is pledged at another college but before being initiated transfers to Vermont, must ratify or disclaim such pledge within ten days after the arrival of said pledgee. The fraternity may ratify or disclaim such pledge by reporting same to the President of the Conference.

9. All pledgees shall wear buttons. Those pledging shall be declared irregular by the Conference, they shall be strictly honored by all fraternities. It is herewith expressly ruled that the Conference alone shall have power to declare a pledge irregular or unlawful.

10. Penalties for the infraction of the rushing rules will be administered by a Faculty Council, comprised of as many members of the faculty as there are fraternities represented in the Conference; each fraternity having one representative on the Faculty Council. These faculty members are appointed by the fraternity which they represent. The officers of the Faculty Council shall be the same as those of this organization and shall rotate in the same order.

In dealing with a violation, the Faculty Council shall sit as a court with the offending fraternity as the defendant and the President of the Council (Faculty) as a judge, providing his own fraternity is not the defendant. In such a case the vice-president will act as a judge. All the evidence shall be presented to the court by both defending and prosecuting fraternities, and then a decision will be made by the court alone in secret session. A majority vote of the court will convict.

11. The punishment for infraction of the rushing rules shall be dismissal from the Conference for a period of one year, and prohibition from all interfraternity contests. These shall include all interfraternity athletics and Kake Walk. In cases of extremely minor infractions the sentence may be cut to one half a year from the [illegible]

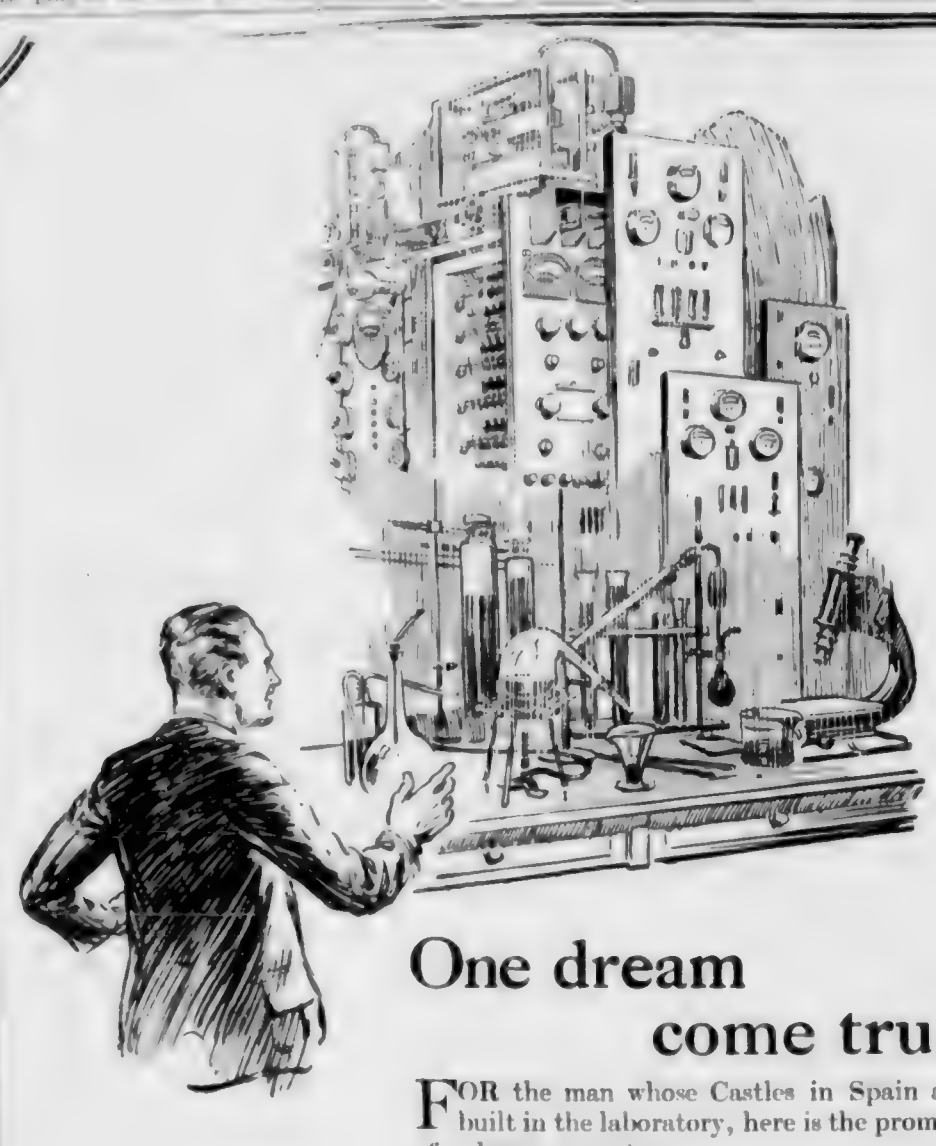
Wedell to Head Y. M. C. A. Activities

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Membership, George E. Reed '29 of Newport. New Students, Phillip B. Daniels '27 of Lyndonville; and Publicity, Whitney D. Safford '28 of Burlington.

President Wedell prepared for college at East Lynn High School, East Lynn, Mass. He played on the Varsity Tennis Squad his first year at Vermont and has participated in the [illegible] and Junior years. He was on the Varsity debating team his Sophomore year. Throughout his college career Wedell has been active in the work of the Y. M. C. A. serving as Vice-President this year.

The vice president will act as delegate to the New England Y. M. C. A. conference. The new cabinet is planning to hold a retreat soon to lay plans for the coming year.



Immediately following the installation Edward H. Lockwood, executive secretary of the committee on friendly relations among foreign students, gave a talk on some of his experiences in China.

Ray: "And after waiting two hours I broke the date with her."—Yellow Jacket

R. W. STILL Phone 2873-W
HOFFMAN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
MEN'S SUITS PRESSED AND CLEANED
Free Auto Delivery
145 Elmwood Ave. Burlington, Vt.

Vermont's "Coffee [illegible] a rendez-vous during [illegible] for several dogs which [illegible] warm friends of some [illegible] We are eclipsed by [illegible] sity. Their Daily [illegible] who is familiar with [illegible] campus can help being [illegible] number and audacity [illegible] dogs. (Not foot appeal.) They interrupt classes. Women, and even the [illegible] self. They include [illegible] descript mongrel waifs, [illegible] posedly well-bred canines [illegible] home and an owner.

BLAZERS
The Latest Idea in College Sport Wear
$10.00
▲ ▲ ▲
Hayes & Carney
197 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

One dream come true

FOR the man whose Castles in Spain are built in the laboratory, here is the promise of a dream come true.

In communication research, men have seen a thousand great visions in little test tubes, hundreds of new thoughts reflected in the mirrors of galvanometers.

A life-time of this work is waiting for the man who loves it, and under conditions that he has always longed for. A wealth of apparatus and materials, an abundance of knotty problems, a group of associates who are helping in the great work—these are a natural part of this far-reaching industry.

The requirements of communication call for deeper, ever deeper inquiry, and not only along electrical lines but in chemistry and mechanics as well—all science contributing the stuff of which the researcher's dream is woven.

Published for the Communication Industry by

Western Electric Company
Makers of the Nation's Telephones

Number 57 of a series

Co-ed Columns

VINA B. RUGG '21, Women's Editor

EDITORIAL

...g tendency among ... mind you we are ...sly, to think of ...ollege not by the ...ticularly individual ... founder gave it, ...mply "Vermont."

...t loss will be felt ...his. Our four years ... drop in the bucket ...entury and a quarter ... our University has ... customs change and we ... a small part in changing ... it is well for us to look to ... visualize a little the ... a changed custom.

"U. V. M." which stands for "Universitas Viridimontis" has stood for ... of Vermont since its ... You will find people all ... United States who know our ... as "Vermont" but as "U. V. M." ... Vermont," for all the respect ... it smacks slightly of "Michi... New Hampshire" or any ... state university. Cannot we endeavor to preserve, in keeping with ... and seniority of our college, ... individual name by which it has ... to be known?

Perhaps a little publicity would do ... In this commercialized age we ... afford to overlook the importance of such a medium. Therefore, ... more often in our own publi..., in other publications which ... our college and let us hear ... the lips of our students that old, ...honored appellation "U. V. M." ... if one might be forgiven for being slightly radical, I would even ...re to say that as time went on "U. V. M." might even go back to its ... place on the athletic sweater, the ... which the "V" usurped early in ...present century.

We strive for personal individuality, why not strive for it for our college?

Communications

To the Women's Eidtor of the CYNIC:

On every side we are continually ... new chapel" and "infirmary." ...ting the great need of the Uni... of both a chapel and an in... can everyone be blind to the ... that we are also in desperate need ... new girls' dormitory? Surely no ... can maintain that the present sys... is satisfactory when one considers ... many of the upperclassmen are ... to live in private houses or in ... groups while Redstone and ...son Hall are almost wholly re... for the incoming Freshman ... Nor can they fail to realize ... many students are living in an ...ronment that is not at all in keep... with the aims of a higher educa... and that such surroundings are ... conducive to the making of a ... alert and receptive individ...

When we read that in 1925 at the ...sity of Illinois a three-story ... and stone building was erected ... has a floor area of 39,500 square ... and accommodates 144 girls, we ... to wonder if we will ever have ... dormitory at Vermont. The ... problem becomes more acute ... each year yet no move is ... toward obtaining definite ... in regard to a new dormitory.

... not too ideal plan would be a ... modern building which would ...modate all Freshman women. ... would then have an opportunity ... each other at the beginning ... year and to live in a more ... atmosphere. This would ... Robinson and Redstone open to upperclassmen who would like to have the refining influence which is peculiar to Redstone and Robinson, as a complement of their college course.

This need is urgent. It must be recognized and the way to bring about such recognition is by awakening interest in the matter, by boosting it on the campus.

'27.

With the Fraternities

Delta Delta Delta

Eta Chapter of Delta Delta Delta held its annual initiation Saturday afternoon at the home of Gladys Ford '27. The initiates were Mary Comstock, Mildred Dwyer, Florence Estey, Marion Everest, Genevieve Hook, Marjorie Long, Bertha Metcalf, and Hilda Stevens, all of the class of 1929. Following the initiation, a banquet was held in the grill room of the Hotel Sherwood at which Janice Byington '23 was toastmistress. Dorothy Barrows '25 answered for the alumnae, and Mrs. D. A. Loomis for the Mothers' Club. Mrs. Cook brought greetings from Alpha Chapter at Boston University. Mona Herron from Alpha Upsilon Chapter at Colby College, and Cleone Cummings from Alpha Iota Chapter at Middlebury. Alumnae present were Mrs. L. M. Simpson '96, Gladys Flint '17, Mrs. O. K. Jenne '20, Evelyn Orton '22, Mrs. John Patrick '23, Marion Witters '24, and Dorothy Barrows '25.

Alpha Xi Delta

Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta announces the initiation on Saturday, April 17 of Muriel Cleveland '28, Rosemond Belknap, Lydia Blodgett, Elizabeth Canning, Margaret Durick, Elzada Fiske, Elizabeth Hager, Constans Holden, Helen Kelley, Jacquelin Lanou, Alma Linder, Ruth Moore, Florence Scott and Earlyan Simonds of the class of '29. The initiation was followed by a banquet at the Vermont roof garden, where covers were laid for 90. Two patronesses, Mrs. Guy W. Bailey and Mrs. E. C. Mower were present. Since April 17 is Founder's Day, the members of Alpha Pi Chapter at Middlebury were guests of the local chapter. Dorothy Gilbert '25 was toastmistress, and toasts were given by Thelma Mathewson '26, Vina Rugg '27, Gloria Young '28, Helen Whipple, Alpha Pi '27, Elzada Fiske '29, Anna Smith '18, and Helen French '26. The following alumnae were present: Martha O'Neil '15, Madeline Taylor '17, Anna Smith '18, Edith Halstead Porter '19, Ruth Buxton '23, Alida Fairbanks '21, Mary Shorey Fallon '21, Blanche Abbott Miller '21, Dorothy French '22, Valda Lyons ex-'22, Constance Canning '24, Mary Carroll '24, Marion Kidder '24, Myrle Bristol '25, Dorothy Gilbert '25, Naomi Lanou '25, Louise Morgan '25. In behalf of the alumnae, Anna Smith presented the chapter with a Founder's Day purse.

Alpha Chi Omega

To the soft strains of Lohengrin a tiny bride and groom, a miniature pair, appeared at the Chapter rooms April 19. With them they brought the announcements of the engagements of Allene Bertholf '26 and Olney Hill '26, Phi Delta Theta; Anne McGee '26 and Anthony Daugherty '26; and Marjorie Fifield '26 and Hansen Twitchell '25, Lambda Iota.

Margery Perrin '21, Doris Sidwell '21, Martha Leighton '24, Hazel Stanhope '24, Olive Eddy '24 and Clara Salls attended meeting April 19.

Sigma Gamma

Sigma Gamma announce the initiation on April 17 of Elizabeth Brown, Dorothy Claflin, and Lucene Little, all of the class of 1929. Lila Carroll, Marion Pierce '25 and Doris Hall '25, Marion Little '23 and Evelyn Fiske '28 attended initiation. Consuelo Northrop '21 acted as toastmistress at the banquet, which was held at the Hotel Vermont

Phi Delta Zeta

Phi Delta Zeta gave an informal tea Thursday afternoon, April 24, at the Athena Club rooms. It was held in honor of Kappa Delta delegates, who are here to install the local fraternity as Alpha Theta of Kappa Delta. The women of the faculty and various delegates from other fraternities were guests

W. A. A. NOTES

The outdoor schedule for gymnastic work will start April 26. There will be classes in tennis, volley ball and baseball. If a sufficient number of girls turn out to warrant it, instruction will also be given in track.

The indoor meet, which was to have been given April 24 has been given up, and will not be held this year.

Naomi Thorne '27 and Ruth Eayres '27 attended at Wellesley, the Athletic Conference of Athletic College Women, held there April 16 and 17. This conference included all the colleges in the East, thirty being represented. The conference adopted for its slogan, "Fun for all, all for fun." The main idea of the meeting was to emphasize the principle of sports for sports' sake, and not the idea of playing a game to win.

Some plans for changing the point system slightly has been advocated as a consequence of the Wellesley Conference, and the Council is working on the matter just at present.

The Catty Co-ed Says

D' ja' have
An ice
Vacation?
Ain't it grand
Ter be back
Studying agin?
Most of it is Back-studying Me-thinks.
While some Even bro't
Their grippe
Back with 'em.
Ten days

(Continued on page 8)

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL PRESENT CLASS PLAYS

The junior play "The Far Away ... the Sophomore play "Overtones" and the Freshman play "The Grandmother" will be presented in the gym next Tuesday, April 27.

Intensive work has been put in the rehearsals by the casts and the coaches, and it is to be hoped that everyone will be out to support their class and show their appreciation.

MASQUE AND SANDAL ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Eleanor A. Chapman '27 has been elected president of Masque and Sandal for the coming year. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. The other officers of the society are: Vice-President, Eunice E. Cook '27, secretary, Mathilde L. Uehlm '27; treasurer, Dorothea F. Baker '27.

STUDENT UNION NOTES

Last Saturday morning at the Women's Student Union meeting, Dean Patterson spoke to the women of the Dean Wasson Memorial Fund emphasizing the services of Dean Wasson to the University and the great need of the University of an infirmary adequate to the needs of the women students.

The treasurers of the various organizations gave reports of their financial standing but no definite action was taken.

Della Martin '28 was chosen as delegate to the Conference of the Women's Student Government Associations of the Co-educational Colleges of New England which was held at Bates College, Lewiston, Maine from April 22 to 24.

This morning Miss Hazel Arkley of the Burlington Savings Bank spoke to the women students on "Banking as a Vocation for Women," this being the first of a series of vocational talks which is to be given at the Student Union meetings.

Stationery, Magazines NEWSPAPERS

BESSEY NEWS CO.
136 Church St.

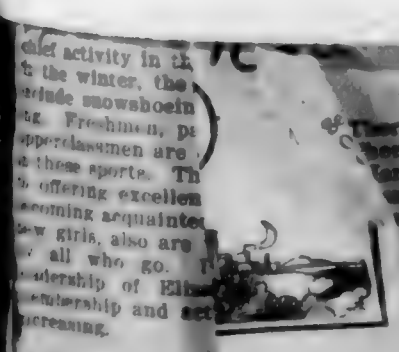
ELLSWORTH'S
The home of fine watches and diamonds
Successor to A. G. Mansur
71 CHURCH STREET

The Old Bee Hive

"Humming Bird"
Pure Silk Hosiery
A Silk Stocking That Wears Longer
Priced $1.50 pr.
White, Black and all Fashionable Colors.

Queen City Cafe
103 Church St. Burlington, Vt.
EXCELLENT SERVICE
Regular Dinner 45c
Home Cooking
Special attention given to small parties and banquets.
Meal Tickets $5.00 worth, for $4.50
Phone 1154-W

Peppie Pasters



MAKE your letters laugh! Send them letters with the funny Peppie Pasters the newest fad. All the rage at Mt. Holyoke, Ann Arbor, Wellesley and other colleges. Express your thoughts with these clever little cartoons. Now you don't have to be an artist. There is a Peppie Paster to express every mood and thought you have.

Put them in your diary and memory book. Use them for dance orders, bridge scores, place cards. Make a Peppie Paster lamp shade. Show your own cleverness in a hundred amusing ways.

Only 10c. for 105 stickers, no two alike. They're perforated and gummed like a sheet of postage stamps. Three series (A, B and C). Get them at your dealer's. If he can't supply you, put 10c and your name and address in an envelope for each one of the series you want. Mail to White and Wyckoff Mfg. Co., Dept. [illegible], Holyoke, Mass.

WHITE & WYCKOFF MFG. CO.
Dept. [illegible], Holyoke, Mass.
I want Peppie Pasters and I want 'em quick. Enclosed is a dime for 105 of them. My dealer hasn't them yet.
Name .....
Address .....
City ..... State .....
Dealer's Name .....

...ctivity in th... the winter, the ...ude snowshoein... Freshmen, p... upperclassmen are ... these sports. Th... offering excellen... coming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. ...dership of Eli... ...ership and act... increasing.

...ports, Nilson at tackle, Bunty Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Rose L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 200 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

...aged to come out for the w...

A minor improvement ... grounds has been ... concrete walk le... Row to Morrill ... wade (through th... called South ... because the... Hall.

Number 61 of a Series

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER
OF THE
INTERCOLLEGIATE
PUBLICITY ASSOCIATION

MANLON V TAYLOR '28
Editor-in-Chief

Robert M. Tracy '29 Managing Editor

Associate Editors

Associate Managers

All undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute to the columns of the paper as often as they desire. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief and must be handed in by Wednesday noon. Any matter may be handed in by Thursday noon. Any matter may be telephoned to 782 before Thursday.

Business Manager

Assistant Managers

Vol. 61 April 26 1928 No. 24

The next issue of the Cynic will not appear until Tuesday May 4, in order that a report of Founder's Day activities may be included in it.

What do you think of prohibition? Probably not since the passing of the 18th Amendment has the matter come so prominently before the public eye as it has the last few weeks, with the Senate and House investigations, the deluge of wet propaganda, and the searchlights of newspaper comment directed upon it. Now the colleges all over the country, in their turn, have a chance to render their verdicts or air their opinions on "the great American experiment." What do you think of it?

On page ten of this issue you will find a ballot enabling you to conveniently record your views. Do you think that the present system is all right? Or that the idea of complete prohibition is sound in theory, but impracticable? Or that the idea itself is wrong: that alcohol fills a real and universal need and in the long run does more good than harm? How about light wines and beers; should the ban on them be removed? How successful has enforcement been to date, and what are its chances of being successful in the future?

Whatever you think, write it on the ballot, cut it or tear it out, and drop it in the Cynic box, hand it to an editor or leave it in the Cynic office. It is only in this way that student sentiment at Vermont can be crystallized and brought to light.

If anyone has ideas which are too voluminous to be expressed on the ballot, the Cynic would appreciate his writing them out separately and handing them in for possible publication in future issues. Next week we plan to print as much as space will allow of student and faculty opinions of the situation. Everyone has ideas on prohibition. Let's exchange them.

Daily Dribble

[illegible] preached in East Barre last Sunday.

On Friday April 16, Walter H [illegible], candidate for state senator, lectured before the Men's Club of the Congregational Church of Windsor.

Miss Elizabeth V. Colburn is representing the Arts Department of the University of Vermont at the Eastern Arts Association which is held at Swarthmore.

Prof. Cummings went to Windsor last night to speak before the Men's Club of the Congregational Church.

Mr. C. H. Stevens, instructor in Spanish, spoke on Spain before the Faculty Club last Saturday evening. The meeting was held at the home of Professor Bennett.

Professor [illegible] head of the Latin department, has been elected to the Executive Committee of the New England Classical Association for a period of two years.

Professor Hamlin of the Classical Department spent the Easter vacation with his father who is Professor of Greek at Bucknell College.

Professor Matzke of the French Department addressed the men's Club of St. Paul's Church on Thursday the subject being Modern Italy.

Professor Butterfield has been appointed to succeed Professor Eckhard as a member of the Board of Street Commissioners of Burlington for the coming year. Professor Eckhard will be taking his sabbatical year.

The Billings Library wishes to announce that the April issue of the American Mercury has mysteriously disappeared from its files. Meanwhile, Mr. Mencken enjoys his larks immensely and Mr. Asbury, some weeks ago an insignificant journalist, basks in newly acquired note, or notoriety. A Vermont man who was present at the Harvard Union ovation of Editor Mencken reports that the latter, commenting on his action in Boston pointed out that he wasn't fat enough to play golf or old enough to play chess, and one had to have some sort of amusement. Seriously, we don't see why Mr. Chase and his society insist on picking on perfectly innocent intellectuals like Asbury and Mencken while there are yet McFadden publications on the market.

After a student has participated for two consecutive years at Northeastern University in some musical organization, he is eligible to receive a charm when he graduates. These charms take the place in musical activities that the letter does in Varsity sports.

FACULTY NOTES

[illegible] preached in East Barre last Sunday.

On Friday April 16, Walter H [illegible], candidate for state senator, lectured before the Men's Club of the Congregational Church of Windsor.

Miss Elizabeth V. Colburn is representing the Arts Department of the University of Vermont at the Eastern Arts Association which is held at Swarthmore.

Prof. Cummings went to Windsor last night to speak before the Men's Club of the Congregational Church.

Mr. C. H. Stevens, instructor in Spanish, spoke on Spain before the Faculty Club last Saturday evening. The meeting was held at the home of Professor Bennett.

Professor [illegible] head of the Latin department, has been elected to the Executive Committee of the New England Classical Association for a period of two years.

Professor Hamlin of the Classical Department spent the Easter vacation with his father who is Professor of Greek at Bucknell College.

Professor Matzke of the French Department addressed the men's Club of St. Paul's Church on Thursday the subject being Modern Italy.

Professor Butterfield has been appointed to succeed Professor Eckhard as a member of the Board of Street Commissioners of Burlington for the coming year. Professor Eckhard will be taking his sabbatical year.

FRATERNITY JEWELRY AND FAVORS

F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELLERS
17 Upper Church St.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic

It seems necessary though such a meeting should have to be looked for [illegible] at an institution of higher learning that some action be taken concerning the use of the front campus as an athletic field.

We are now at the time of year when grass is easily killed out, and when a beautiful campus can easily be turned into a muddy and unsightly stretch of waste land; this change though as yet unnoticeable, is rapidly occurring.

Vermont's campus has long been one of her proudest assets. A beautiful campus is traditional to the Institution and sacred in the hearts of Vermont Alumni. We still have a campus of which we may justly feel proud. As true Vermonters may we cherish and respect its beauty.

VERMONTER '28

To the Editor of the Cynic

And Junior Prom only thirty days away!

In the spring one's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of promenades, "the soft muted wailing of violins, lighted tapers flickering in the wind," and all that sort of thing. What one date shines out in the social calendar above the rest? Junior Prom! We read about Junior Proms in "Patty" books. We had an idealistic conception of them. We came to college and attended Junior Proms. We've found them none the less glorious—but realities must be faced.

The gym floor is in a deplorable condition. The wood is dead. Several waxings would do little good. It has long served Vermont students and the time has come when it must be replaced. Why not at this opportune season? Let us have the opinion of the student body immediately about a new gym floor.

COED.

To the Editor of the Cynic

Shall Vermont continue to have its existing form of student government, or shall we revert to the former system of Student Union in place of the Student Senate? This question will soon come before the men of the University for a vote, and we should begin to think a little of the advantages of the two plans.

In theory, at least, the present form should be more efficient, but does it actually turn out that way? How many times has there been a quorum present at its meetings. When the question of a special train to Norwich came up last fall it took the combined efforts of senators and Boulder for a considerale length of time to decide this matter. How long would it have taken Student Union to decide it? It would have been settled in one meeting if one can [illegible] of the latter body.

Some will argue [illegible] enough business to [illegible] such a body to [illegible] meetings. This [illegible] would it not be worth [illegible] simply for the sake [illegible] together once a week [illegible] nice songs and cheers [illegible] rules state that all [illegible] know all Vermonters [illegible] of them can comply with [illegible] Very few, but can we [illegible] They have had no opportunity [illegible] the music, and we have [illegible] few Smokers to enable [illegible] the music. Many of the older men are forgetting these songs [illegible] when we stop to think [illegible] heard them sung last [illegible] blame their memory [illegible]

We hear the complaint that [illegible] "spirit" on the hill [illegible] every year. If it is a [illegible] what are we doing to [illegible] tions? The reinstallation [illegible] Union would be a help.

If the majority of the [illegible] sire to petition the [illegible] for some purpose, and the [illegible] the Senate is against [illegible] if there fails to be a [illegible] what can we do? By [illegible] the old system we can [illegible] least, and everyone will have [illegible] to say something if they [illegible] if not they will have no [illegible] crabbing. Let's have more [illegible] of the matter, both pro and con.

Outing Club

To the Editor of the Cynic

The Outing Club at Vermont has not been very active of late for various reasons. One of the important of these has been [illegible] of interest among the students [illegible] to the causes for this [illegible] one has been the lack of [illegible] stimulus. The former officers had so much other work [illegible] haven't been able to keep [illegible] As a result the Outing Club has to suffer.

I feel sure that it will be [illegible] to get a bunch of fellows together with sufficient practice [illegible] Winter Sports team next year [illegible] will pull down some places [illegible] mont in the Winter Carnival [illegible] take place. Winter Sports [illegible] considered the most important [illegible] tion of an Outing Club but we [illegible] to develop some others as well [illegible] by any chance the ice should [illegible] the lake before college closes [illegible]

Ready with Spring Clothes!

The most elaborate showing of fine Suits, Top Coats and Furnishings we've ever had.

Suits $25 to $55
Top Coats $20 to $45

* * *

Miles & Perry Co.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898

Cornell University Summer Session in LAW

First Term, June 21 to July 28
CONTRACT, Assistant Professor Whiteside of the Cornell Law Faculty.
PROPERTY, Mr. Willcox of the New York Bar.
SURETYSHIP, Professor Campbell of the Harvard Law Faculty.
MORTGAGES, Professor Campbell.
TRUSTS, Professor Fraser Dean of the Minnesota Law Faculty.
MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS, Professor Burdick Dean of the Cornell Law Faculty.
PRACTICE, Professor McCaskill of the Cornell Law Faculty.

Second Term, July 29 to Sept. 3
CONTRACT, continued.
AGENCY, Professor Thompson of the University of Pittsburgh Law Faculty.
WILLS, Professor Vance of the Yale Law Faculty.
INSURANCE, Professor Vance.
BANKRUPTCY, Associate Professor Robinson of the Indiana University Law Faculty.
PARTNERSHIP, Professor Williston of the Cornell Law Faculty.
CORPORATIONS, Professor Stevens of the Cornell Law Faculty.

Students may begin the study of law in the summer session.

For catalog, address the
CORNELL LAW SCHOOL
Ithaca, N. Y.

canoe trip as a ... we can get enough ... will take some ...nding country. ...ews that come ...rs or more and ... getting outside ... many things of ...all radius if one ...t see them. ... lets go its hold ... appears we in- ...ing. Here's hop- ... bunch will show ...t pep to help us ... Outing Club at ...ges with half our opportunities have enterprising clubs. Are we going to let them beat us out?

We will welcome any suggestions or talks with those who are interested. There will be a meeting in the near future. Watch for notices of it.

F. H. Sears, '27.

Junior Week Comes Last Week in May

(Continued from page 1)

known players. The members of the cast are: Dexter D. Butterfield '26 of Burlington, Henry C. Conlin '26 of Winooski, Herbert E. Noon '28 of Newark, N. J., the Misses Anna Perkins '28 of Burlington, Muriel Cleveland '29 of Springfield, Mass., Elizabeth Johnson '27 of Cromwell, Conn., and Marion Lawrence '26 of Franklin, Mass. The play is under the direction of Mrs C. I. Taggart.

The programs for the Junior Week activities will be greatly improved over those of other years. This year's programs will be larger, will contain twelve pages and will have a very attractive cover.

Don't laugh at our jokes, you may ... some day.

Doctor (to young lady whose appendix he has just removed) Everything is quite all right, so I will leave you in the hands of my assistant.

Fair Patient (who is somewhat of a prom trotter) Thank you so much, and do out in again'.—Cane.

Correct Shoe Repairing

AT LOWEST PRICES

J. A. Sikora 188 Bank St.

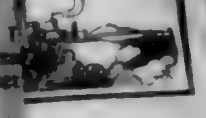
They call it the "Pierce Type"

R. T. PIERCE

When the class of '15 at Maine was being graduated, the name "Pierce" meant no more in the field of metering than Sweeney or Jones. Today, however, if you'll talk to such companies as the Detroit Edison Company, The Southern California Edison Company, the Duquesne Light Company, or the United Verde Copper Company, you'll learn that "Pierce" means a type of remote metering, which enables a man in a central dispatcher's office to read the condition of a sub-station several miles away.

Superpower brought in the need for an improved method of remote metering, and R. T. Pierce, Maine '15, in the employ of Westinghouse, devised it. He designed a system that operates on a new and different principle, and that has met with general acceptance in the Central Station field. He also was active in the recent re-designing of the entire Westinghouse instrument line.

It was only a few months after Pierce had completed the graduate student course at Westinghouse that he was given an assignment in the instrument section of the engineering department. He took it merely as a "fill-in" job. Soon he saw that instruments play a vital part in every electrical operation. As an instrument engineer, Pierce spent several weeks on the U. S. S. Tennessee and the Colorado during their trial runs. He has ridden in the cabs of electric locomotives. He is in closer touch with radio than anyone not a radio engineer.



A design engineer comes continuously in contact with sales negotiations, and Pierce's contact with them proved so beneficial that he was lately made head of the Instrument Section of the Sales Department, which means that he really has charge of the sale of all instruments to Westinghouse customers.

The question is sometimes asked: Where do young men get when they enter a large industrial organization? Have they opportunity to exercise creative talents? Or are they forced into narrow grooves?

This series of advertisements throws light on these questions. Each advertisement takes up the record of a college man who came with the Westinghouse Company within the last ten years or so, after graduation.

Westinghouse

...ief activity in th... ...n the winter, the ...ude snowshoein... ...ng. Freshmen, p... ...pperclassmen are ... ...these sports. Th... ...offering excellen... ...coming acquainte... ...ew girls, also are ... ...all who go. ... ...adership of Eliz... ...embership and act... ...creasing.

...Columbia at Burlington, Sunday ... Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct. 2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct. 9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here

...21", William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 2)

...aged to come out for the w...

A minor improvem... grounds has been ... concrete wal... le... Row to Merrill ... made through th... called South ... because ther... Hall.

Number 61 of a Series

SPORTING NEWS

[illegible] A. [illegible]CHINA, News Editor

MOVIES WEDNESDAY FOR TENNIS ENTHUSIASTS

Pictures Presented in Science Hall Will Reveal Styles of Champions

[illegible] in the net [illegible] Captain [illegible]

[illegible] Wi[illegible] Miss [illegible] Robert[illegible] R[illegible] Patterson, [illegible] and Norman E. [illegible]

[illegible] championship [illegible] play of Bill[illegible] Tilden is about [illegible] and black.

[illegible] The rate of exposure was 125 [illegible] and the rate of [illegible] pictures per second, [illegible] and consequent expansion of the motion and [illegible] players depicted, which gives the spectator plenty of time to [illegible] the style of the various players. Four [illegible] cameras were used [illegible] taking the films. In [illegible] cameras were [illegible] the player from four [illegible] angles, and the films synchronized in order to show action from [illegible]

[illegible] of form shows that in [illegible] players hit the ball as [illegible] into the air others catch [illegible] the face of the toss, and that [illegible] as it is dropping.

[illegible] thing that is revealed [illegible] angles of impact used in [illegible] strokes by the players. [illegible] outstanding feature of the [illegible] is the study of footwork afforded. [illegible] also show the grips for

[illegible] on page 8)

PROSPECTS DOUBTFUL ON WEEK-END JOURNEY

[illegible] Green and Gold played [illegible] College. The Springfield [illegible] seems to be weak with the stick [illegible] in contrast as is evidenced [illegible] the [illegible] of the games played [illegible] The [illegible] team has lost to Dartmouth 3-4, Boston College 19-2 [illegible] Eastern League and [illegible] has also been trimmed [illegible] 4-1 and New York [illegible]

[illegible] Vermont plays Holy Cross, [illegible] and Tom Keady's Marines [illegible] Worcester team, but [illegible] one of its early games [illegible] and William and Mary 13-4.

[illegible] comparisons can be made between the [illegible] that the [illegible] in point of view of [illegible] games the team on both [illegible] and their [illegible]

[illegible] which made the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Colgate Wesleyan [illegible] and the [illegible] and as [illegible] Maine [illegible] a game 4-3, [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Amherst [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Weekly Wetness

In response to a long-felt demand on [illegible] Wetness begs to announce that he has engaged the well-known [illegible] on etiquette, Aunt [illegible] to answer any questions that may be sent to this column. Address Weekly Wetness, CYNIC office.

Dear Deborah: If a gentleman asks you to dine at Henry's, do you wish him to have a check, or what is it proper to do?

HUNGRY.

Dear Hungry: One, smothered.

Dear Deborah: If a young man should meet you in Churchill's and you showed up until 4.15. Is that proper procedure?

ANGRY.

Dear Angry: Buy her a wristwatch.

Dear Deborah: My girl insists that I go to church with her. What shall I do?

AGNOSTIC.

Dear Agnostic: It is evident that the correct procedure in this case would be to learn to play tick-tack-toe.

My Country 'Tis of Thee—In Cross Section

Said the engineer
Who operated up
The turnpike
Said the insurance men
Who insure you're soon Gone
"Drive slow"
Said the mother
Whose baby took away
Its rattle
And gave her little Oscar pure vitamines instead.

"Pass"
Said the undertakers,
"From now on we're Musicians"
Said
The churches,
"Please contribute
To our fund;
Be gay and peppy
Buy
Conducting foreign Missions
And build a brand-new golf-links in Outer-Bander-Kund.

"Pass"
Said the world at large
"This is the time
To revel
Any man in this world
Over the world
Will come
You haven't any
Time to waste;
Go out and raise
The devil!
Then no matter what comes next, at least you've had your fun!"

The Co-ed's Lament

They say there's bliss in love's first kiss—
For me, I've never tried.
They say it's fun once you've begun—
For all I know they lied.

But now at last I have a past,
I know you'll understand.
I broke the spell, but please don't tell—
That once he kissed my hand!

Spring Song

(Written in blank, very blank, verse
By an honest-to-goodness co-ed)
I've got a new hat
I've got a new hat
I've got a hat with a tip-tilted brim!
It's trimmed with a "daisy"
And a sort of "what-you-call-it"
And a little silver elephant in front for a pin.

I've got a thrilling hat
A positive man-killing hat
The sort of hat for which you'd almost Give your soul in pawn
And although the weather's baddish
And my grades are rather saddish
And exams' I don't care what the hell goes on!

Perfectly Awful Limerick

There was a young lady from Bangor
Who danced with remarkable langour
When asked at a ball,
"Do you Charleston at all?"
She said, "No, all I do is the tango."

Diogenes wishes to announce a prize contest. If any of our talented readers can make up a worse limerick than this, to that scourge of humanity will be awarded the handsome prize of a free ride around Burlington's beautiful scenic circuit, the Country Club Loop. If the winner is a lady, Diogenes will be only too happy to accompany her in person, and point out the beauties of the ride. Send your contributions to the CYNIC Office

"He's a fraternity man
"How do you know?"
"He answered to four names in class this morning."—Minn. Ski-U-Mah

McMAHON'S BREAD
Made of the highest grade bread flour, rich sweet milk and malt
PIES OF ALL KINDS
Cakes and Doughnuts
McMahon's Bakery
32 Church Street Phone 13

Southern Trip Furnishes Varsity Valuable Experience

(Continued from page 1)

pitched for Vermont and Devin did the mound duty for C. U. Moriarty held the hard hitting C. U. nine to eight hits, but bunched hits coupled with two errors gave C. U. four runs in the fourth, while two hits and a pair of walks was enough to give them three more in the fifth.

The following day "Tom" Keady's Marines took Vermont into camp by a 6 to 2 score. Fogg and Moriarty doing the [illegible] duty for Vermont. The next day Roark held the Marines to four scattered singles while Vermont gathered six off the delivery of Parsons. In spite of this Vermont dropped the game by a 4-0 score.

On the 7th of April Vermont lost to the Navy again by a 6 to 2 score. Vermont got 5 hits and the Navy collected 8 off Moriarty.

On the 8th Vermont turned in her first and only victory of the southern trip by defeating Drexel 7 to 4. Fogg holding Drexel to 2 hits up to the

(Continued on page 10)

Let Us Take Care of Your Dry Cleaning
Pressing, Repairing and Dyeing
Our Service Will Please You
We call for and deliver—you will receive your garment on a hanger enclosed in a sanitary bag.
OUR PRICES ARE RIGHT
WE INVITE YOU TO INSPECT OUR PLANT
PHONE 814
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
Plant and Office 274 N. Winooski Ave.
OWNED AND OPERATED BY A U. V. M. CHEMIST

The Ox Woman

On an East Indian farm, where the crop is tea, a wooden plow turns up the rich black soil. A woman drives, another woman pulls—and a black ox pulls beside her.

Six hours under a tropical sun, a bowl of cold rice—and six hours more. Then the woman goes to her bed of rushes, and the beast to his mud stall. Tomorrow will be the same.

The American home has many conveniences. But many American women often work as hard as their Oriental sisters. They toil at the washtub, they carry water, they churn by hand—all tasks which electricity can do for them at small cost, in half the time.

The labor-saving possibilities of electricity are constantly becoming more widely recognized. And the social significance of the release of the American woman from physical drudgery, through the increasing use of electricity in and about the home, will appeal instantly to every college man and woman.

The electric light, the electric iron, the vacuum cleaner—the use of electricity on the farm for pumping water, for milking, and for the cream separator—are helping to make life happier. General Electric research and engineering have aided in making these conveniences possible.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-18.

7-71DH

GENERAL ELECTRIC

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

chief activity in th... the winter, the ... clude snowshoeing. Freshmen, ... upperclassmen are ... in these sports. Th... offering excellen... coming acquaintes... new girls, also are ... by all who go. ... leadership of Ed... membership and ... increasing.

Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1920	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1920	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1920	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

[illegible] William M Lockwood, 201; [illegible]m J Humphrey, 196, Osborn Nye, 194; Rose L. Clark, 190; [illegible] D. Marshall, 187; and Lawy... Averill, 186. The require... qualification were 18[illegible] possible 250. The slow ... were 200 yards ... kneeling and sitti... prone. The ...

Professor Frederick Tupper

[illegible] December 17 1871. His parents were Benjamin and Sarah [illegible] Tupper. He later graduated from the College of Charleston [illegible] A. B. degree he took up graduate work at Johns Hopkins University [illegible] Ph. D. degree in 1901. An honorary degree of doctor of letters, L. H. D., was conferred on him by the University of Vermont in 1906. [illegible] trips to Europe, he was married to Miss Amanda'a Baer at London, England June 30 1903.

Following completion of graduate work at Johns Hopkins, Doctor Tupper served as Professor of English Literature at Wells College for one year. In 1904 he came to Vermont as Professor of English Language and Literature. Besides serving on the Vermont faculty for thirty-two years, Professor Tupper has acted as lecturer at the summer session Columbia University (1912, '16); Harvard University (1916); Ohio State University (1921). He delivered a series of lectures at Brown University during the past winter. Among philologists, Professor Tupper is regarded as an authority on early English or Anglo-Saxon.

Doctor Tupper has been the author and editor of several works. Among them are the Exeter Book of Riddles, (1910); "Representative English Drama from Dryden to Sheridan" (with Professor James W. Tupper of Lafayette College) (1914); "Walter Map's Courtiers Trifles" (with Professor Marbury B. Ogle, formerly of the University of Vermont) (1923). He has edited texts of Shakespere and Goldsmith. Besides these works, he has contributed frequently to philological and literary journals.

Professor Tupper is a member of Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Beta Kappa and the Ethan Allen Club.

LOST: BASEBALL MEN

We might mention one interesting incident which happened on the southern trip. On the day of the C. C. N. Y. game, two of the fellows (no names mentioned), who were to take the bathag to the grounds, received their instructions and were told to take the subway. This they did and got off when they came to the baseball grounds. They lugged the bats in and neatly laid them out in front of the players bench. Then they sat down and waited for the rest of the team. They were approached by the care taker and asked what they were doing there. Innocently, they replied that they were from the University of Vermont and that they were waiting for the game. He then said, "This is Columbia University Field. The grounds you are looking for are on the other side of the city." The boys then took the bats, called a taxi, and hurried to the C. C. N. Y. field. It looked as if these members of the Vermont team intended to try and win two games in one day.

Movies Wednesday for Tennis Enthusiasts

(Continued from page 6)

the various strokes, both fore and backhand: volleys, half volleys, overhead smashes and service, and also call attention to the timing of the players.

They tell the story of tennis perfection in the only way [illegible] told, and those who [illegible] their play by pa[illegible] tennis greats are now [illegible] means of so doing. [illegible] finest ever taken [illegible] and their edu[illegible] structing the gen[illegible] on the proper way to [illegible] ous strokes in the game. The photography is [illegible] and the pictures have [illegible] Tilden and Walter I. [illegible] of the Motion Picture [illegible] the national organizat[illegible] add to their instructive [illegible]

"Well—hic—if you're M[illegible] wish you'd come down [illegible] your husband—hic—[illegible] us want to go home [illegible]

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
Special arrangement can be made for all kinds of Parties. Red Feather Candy and Mrs. Perkins' Maple Nut Candies.
PHONE 2895

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

H. L. FORD ADDRESSES MARKETING STUDENTS

Harry L. Ford, Secretary of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce addressed the students in marketing last Tuesday morning on the topic "Selling Vermont by Publicity."

Mr Ford summed up the advantages of advertising in the modern business world showed how the principle was being carried out in other states and therefore pointed out ways in which Vermont might be benefited through publicity and certain other channels of policy.

Track Dope

(Continued from page 6)

when Capt Simpson is perfectly capable of throwing the spear in any meet? The way things now stand, we should have no dependable second string men to depend upon in several events if the first string men should happen to pull a tendon sprain an ankle or suddenly be put under warning.

Of course the weather is largely responsible for this. We have not the facilities to handle large numbers indoors and so cannot yet get out doors to speak of. With the Intercollegiate Meet approaching however, [illegible] attention to a larger number of men practicing especially in the field events. It [illegible] is anything that possesses [illegible] it is to see a Cross-country Track Meet where men [illegible] a discus 60 feet and a javelin 90 feet and put the shot 35 feet etc. You can't tell us that a fraternity cannot find three men to do better than this if it wants to.

The Intercollegiate Meet is scheduled for two days, Friday April 30 and the second one Friday Saturday the following Monday and Tuesday. All this is presuming the track is not frozen over. In case it should rain on one of these days the day's events will be held on Wednesday, May 2. That will give the Varsity men sufficient lay off before the meet with Montreal A. A. It is time that the fraternity men get their heads together and think who are to be the fraternity must compete in at least for them, etc. The rules say that a fraternity must compete in at least 10 out of the 15 events in order to be recorded in the final count. This will allow a fraternity to cut out the pole vault, high hurdles, and 2-mile run and still be a legal competitor.

Catty Co-Ed Says

(Continued from page 3)

Wasn't half long enuff
For a real cure!

* * *

Now—
The aged
And decripit seniors
Limp on
From now
'Til June
They'll be Raising canes
And just because They think They're going
To graduate
The college will Surely rot
And tumble
Without these
The pill-ers
But
They'll not be Graduated
Cum veliquan
Hurry up chapel.

* * *

Teas,
Tete-a-tetes,
And teethees
Spring (?)
Is here
But she has
A bad case
Of the grippe,
Suffers from chills,
But has
No fever
Doc says
No walks to Holtz,
No canoeing
On Champlain
And last
But not least
No wounds in the heart
From Cupid
Instead of
The flower garlands
Extra heavy
Red flannels
And
Fur lined moccasins.

* * *

I say
Ain't nature grand?

Item in a college paper: "Many members of the faculty, several trustees, and about a dozen people were present."

U. V. M.

We will paint or imprint FREE any school, fraternity or your own initials on that slicker or raincoat you buy from us.

WORK DONE BY AN EXPERT

* * *

PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
29 Church Street

APRIL SHOWERS
BRING OUT
TOWER'S
FISH BRAND SLICKERS

The most Practical and Stylish Rainy Day Garments

TOWER'S TRADE FISH BRAND MARK

"The Rainy Day Pal"

Your dealer has them

A. J. TOWER CO.
Boston, Mass.

126

This Year Twenty-first Anniversary of Junior Week—First Prom in 1895

Week less than five committee working the biggest and best presented in the since the first semblWeek appeared on are tempted to recall its celebration.

a number of enterthe Junior Promenade attraction were held a CYNIC editorial of Junior Week." This ed the belief that the and "will be all that a year or two." The place that year were Promenade, the home conClub, a Cotillion Club the first home baseball There seems to have been no attempt at a Junior Week, a succession of events to fall together. The advised the next Junior a committee in Septemsuggested the addition to the the college play, a tennis and the appearance of It was hinted that with the fraternities might upon to hold house parties would add to the gaiety of the

The first official Junior Week was April 27-29, 1905, and was pronounced very successful by the CYNIC, and plead for its continuance as a permanent custom.

The Promenade, or "Prom," as we call it, was initiated by the class of '96 on April 19, 1895. The Promenades were held annually in the armory on the corner of Pine and Main Streets until 1902, when the newly completed gymnasium was first used.

Concerning the first "Prom" we quote from the CYNIC of May 4, 1895, as following: "On Friday evening, April nineteenth, just a year from the night of their annual Sophomore class supper at Montreal, the class of '96 inaugurated the custom of a Junior Promenade at the University of Vermont, which proved as it has in so many other colleges, the most brilliant social event of the college year."

The decorations were always elaborate. On this occasion the hall was dressed in bunting and American flags, and at the south end was a large shield with the class numerals in yellow on a background of blue, "the whole effect," according to the reporter, "being heightened by the beautiful gowns of the patronesses and the young ladies."

The character of the affair has changed much since those early days, due in some measure to the changing customs and the growth of our coeducational department. There was always a long list of towns-women who acted as patronesses and the list of out-of-town guests much exceeded the present one. The program usually started with a concert by the dance orchestra. Promptly at nine o'clock the Grand March began, often led by some prominent member of the faculty. President Buckham performed this office one year.

Twenty or thirty dances was considered a good-sized program, which lasted from 9 P. M. until 3 A. M. One feature in 1897 was the continuous music. The Howard Opera House Orchestra furnished music for the regular order of twenty dances, and during the intermission Sherman's Military Band played the popular marches of Sousa, Rosey and other composers for two-steps.

The first Parade and other early customs of Junior Week will be discussed in a later issue.

Features fair and golden hair
I soon shall see again.
Winter's sleep hath made her sweet,
Hath made her sought by men
Spring breezes kiss her dainty cheeks,
And turn them red from pale.
Shall I be just a breeze, kind friend?
Hell, No. I'll be a gale!

—Ex

MISS STEWART U. V. M. '17 TO STUDY AT OXFORD

Miss Daisy Stewart '17 of Morrisville will be one of the 450 teachers of English and history from the United States to attend summer school courses at Oxford next summer. The Association of University Women and the Society of Women Professors in Oxford have arranged these courses for candidates showing exceptional ability and advancement in their work.

Miss Stewart received the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy in 1917 and has since taken three years of summer school work at the University.

She will sail for England in June and while at Oxford will specialize in English and English literature. Completing her trip with a tour of England, France and Switzerland, she will return to take up her duties at Springfield in the fall. Miss Stewart is now vice-principal of the Springfield High School where she has taught for four years. Previous to that she taught five years in the Richford High School.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under
Free Press Building

T. P. O'HARA, Tailoring
170 BANK ST.

Blue Serge Suits
2 Pair Trousers, $32
Top Coats, $19 to $24
Knickers, $4

When you and spring are thrilling to the opening game of the year—and your favorite player drives out a homer—as the stands rock with cheering
—have a Camel!

WHEN the first ball game is here. And the heavy hitter cracks the ball shrieking into deep center for a home run—have a Camel!

For Camel adds the magic of its own fragrance to life's most festive days. Camels are of such choice tobaccos that they never tire the taste or leave a cigaretty aftertaste. You'll get more contentment, more pleasure out of Camels than any other cigarette.

So this fair spring day as a redoubtable batter lofts out one that it seems will never stop flying—oh, then, taste the smoke that means completed enchantment.

Have a Camel!

Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. The most skilful blending. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No better cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

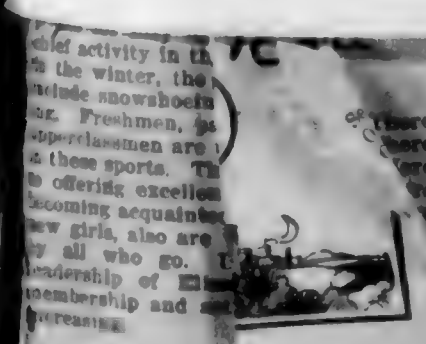
R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company
Winston-Salem, N. C.

© 1926

Turk Says

Spring Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.



On a purchase amounting to	You pay down.	You pay per week for 10 weeks.
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS

Where the Arabs come from — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

chief activity in th... the winter, the ...include snowshoein... ...ter. Freshmen, ...upperclassmen are ... these sports. Th... ...to offering excellen... ...becoming acquainte... ...new girls, also are ... ...by all who go. ... ...leadership of Mi... ...membership and ... ...increasing.

...of Guard, Miss A. Cook, Scott Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 8)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...21[illegible]; William M Lockwood, 291; ...ham J Humphrey, 196; Osb... Nye 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; ... D Marshall, 187; and Law... Averill, 186. The requir... qualification were 196 ... possible 250. The ... were 200 yards ... kneeling and ... prone. The req...

(Continued on page 8)

H. A. MAYFORTH PRAISED AS MANAGER OF FAIR

Free Press Praises Work in Bringing About Combination of Three State Fairs

[illegible]

SEASON OF RIFLE TEAM ENDS—5 TO GET LETTERS

The rifle team completed their 1925-6 schedule March 26. The season as a whole was successful, Vermont registering nine wins out of fourteen matches and losing by one point to Norwich, the district champions.

The results [illegible] as follows:

[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	1924
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	475
[illegible]	[illegible]	Colby Hoosiers	1750
[illegible]	[illegible]	M. I. T.	1781
Vt.	1930	Mich. Aggies	1850
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	Nebraska	1899
Vt.	1844	Cincinnati	1959
[illegible]	[illegible]	Western Md.	1951
[illegible]	[illegible]	M. I. T.	1844
Vt.	1928	Norwich	1929
Vt.	1878	Boston U.	1944
Vt.	1844	Amherst	1722
[illegible]	[illegible]	Williams	1877

The members of the team are Hibbard '26, Bisson '27, Castle '28, Weston '27, Brown '28, Whitman '27, McCall '28, Follett '26, Tudhope '26, Hitt '27, Fisher '27 and Reynolds '27.

The awards of sVt will be given to the five men having the highest scores in certain matches designated by the Athletic Council.

NEWS BRIEFS

Zeta Chi announces the pledging of I. F. Peterson, '29 of Stowe, and F. H. Sears '29 of Bread Loaf.

Boulder held a dance in the gymnasium Friday, April 16. About 50 couples attended. Music was furnished by Ted Green and Gobi Orchestra.

[illegible] the new downstairs shower [illegible] the gymnasium is nearing [illegible]. The showers [illegible] and [illegible] the work [illegible] a permanent [illegible] will be [illegible] the [illegible] will be furnished [illegible] and the [illegible] of the [illegible]

[illegible] Kimball '28 was elected [illegible] of the class of '28 [illegible] Kimball [illegible] Mr. Leonard [illegible] Miss Barnard [illegible] Miss Bryant [illegible] Miss Hazen [illegible] Miss Hazen [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOL. XLIV BURLINGTON, VT., MAY 4, 1926 NUMBER 26

SENATE ACHIEVES MUCH DURING ITS FIRST YEAR

Student Governing Body Reaches End Of Its Trial Year—Ballot Coming In Near Future

[illegible] Senate is just finishing [illegible] of its existence. Last [illegible] the students, the Student [illegible] proved unsuccessful [illegible] trial years trial, was [illegible] the present body consists [illegible] representatives from each [illegible]

[illegible] the Senate form of student [illegible] it was agreed that [illegible] should be one of trial, [illegible] which a special mass [illegible] be called, at which [illegible] student body should decide [illegible] or not the Senate had [illegible] and would warrant [illegible] another year. In a [illegible] mass meeting will be [illegible] are a few of the [illegible] matters acted upon by [illegible] during its brief span of [illegible]

At the [illegible] meeting complaints [illegible] concerning the method [illegible] track elections. It was [illegible] the coach of track should [illegible] these. An appeal was [illegible] athletic council which [illegible] answered by voting that [illegible] manager of athletics and [illegible] should each have one [illegible] the choice of track of[illegible]

May [illegible] last year an election for [illegible] was held, for which position [illegible] Moore, who has presided [illegible] games this year, was [illegible]

One [illegible] the most important measures inaugurated was the drawing up [illegible] Social Calendar, which designated [illegible] and dates of the social [illegible] which each organization on the [illegible] hold. In this manner [illegible] were spread out uniformly over [illegible] conflicts were avoided, and [illegible] gymnasium assured for [illegible] so that plans could be [illegible] in advance.

Loving cups were presented to [illegible] Fay and Kennon, who completed [illegible] four-year terms on the [illegible] Military Staff last summer, [illegible] of the respect and gratitude [illegible] them by the students.

The Athletic Department being unable [illegible] properly remunerate Coach [illegible] for his services as track mentor, [illegible] in view of the fact that he had [illegible] to turn out Vermont's [illegible] track team in several [illegible] a cash gift was voted and [illegible] him at the end of the [illegible] year.

[illegible] September, a mass meeting and [illegible]

(Continued on page 5)

KINGSLEY PRIZE GOES TO PETER V. BRIKIATIS

[illegible] afternoon, April 23, a [illegible] was held for the [illegible] Kingsley Prize Speaking Con[illegible] Peter V. Brikiatis '29 of Bangor, [illegible] first prize of $25, John [illegible] of Maplewood, N. J., [illegible] of $15, and Roger H. [illegible] Springfield, third prize of [illegible]

[illegible] and their speeches [illegible] Julian O. Phelps [illegible] New York Chamber of [illegible] Coolidge; Charles H. [illegible] Gettysburg Reunion [illegible] Woodrow Wilson; Roger H. [illegible]les in Spain," by John [illegible] John M. Leavens '28, [illegible] Speech," by Senator [illegible] L. Kelly '29, "The [illegible]er," by Harding; and [illegible]atis '29, "Recognition of [illegible]sium."

[illegible] were: Mr. Wm. H. Ed[illegible] Mr. Harry L. Ford and Mr. [illegible]

(Continued on page 8)

NOTICE

A mass meeting of all male students of the University will be held at the Gymnasium on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to discuss continuation of Student Senate, semi-weekly issuance of the Cynic, and other matters.

A ballot on these questions will be conducted in the Old Mill on Monday and Tuesday, May 3 and 4.

HONOR SOCIETIES FOR COMING YEAR ANNOUNCED

BOULDER

R. S. Aronson of Rutland, L. H. Averill of Malone, N. Y., T. M. Egan of Underhill, B. J. Humphrey of Proctor, F. M. James of Hardwick, W. M. Lockwood of Burlington, R. E. Lyon of St. Albans, E. J. Moodie of Craftsbury, A. T. Post of Burlington, D. M. Rockwell of Proctor and C. G. Simpson of Lyndon Center.

CAP AND SKULL

O. J. Bizzozero of Barre, R. J. Catlin of Swanton, A. O. Godfrey of Burlington, and W. M. Judd of Enosburg Falls.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

H. A. Aronson, Proctor; L. H. Averill, Malone, N. Y.; C. H. Blackhall, Bristol, Conn.; E. L. Boyce, Waitsfield; A. R. Hill, Winooski; W. M. Lockwood, Burlington; E. J. Moodie, Craftsbury; O. F. Parody, Peekskill, N. Y.; H. C. Sherwin, Wells River; C. G. Simpson, Lyndon Center; G. S. Talcott, Williston.

KEY AND SERPENT

S. C. Abell, St. Albans; H. C. Collins, Greensboro Bend; J. T. Conway, New Bedford, Mass.; J. J. Curran, Florence, Mass.; R. T. Holden, Bennington; L. H. Marvin, Essex Junction; A. W. Shaw, New York, N. Y.;

(Continued on page 8)

Founder's Day Observed Saturday With Walter H. Crockett Speaker

Herron and Parody Class Orators—Honor Societies and Winners of Prizes Announced—Impressive Initiation Exercises Take Place Around Boulder

The annual observation of Founder's Day, the birthday of Ira Allen, was held Saturday morning with Walter Hill Crockett, historian and journalist, as speaker of the day.

The exercises opened at 8:45 with a review of the R. O. T. C. Battalion on the back campus. The four companies preceded by the band, marched in columns of platoons past the reviewing officers, consisting of officers of the Military Department, the President and Deans of the University, and Cadet Major and his staff. The corps was then marched to the front of the Old Mill, forming a hollow square about the historic Boulder.

The impressive initiation ceremonies of the newly elected members of Boulder Society were conducted by President Bailey, and those of Scabbard and Blade by Col. George J. Holden, Commandant.

At ten o'clock the faculty and student body assembled in the gymnasium, the Senior Class appearing for the first time in cap and gown. After the singing of "Rock of Ages," Ovide F. Parody of Peekskill, N. H., gave the Junior Class oration, "The Ideals of Ira Allen," and William J. Herron of Saranac Lake, N. Y., the Senior oration, "Men of Vermont."

President Bailey, in his introduction of Mr. Crockett, paid him the tribute of being first in love for the state and University, and the man best acquainted with the history of both. The address, entitled "The Meaning of Founder's Day," was well delivered.

After reading the lists of honorary societies, the president announced the awarding of the James B. Wilbur prize for the best essay on Ira Allen to Leslie R. Rowe '26 of Barnet. Margaret A. Durick of Fair Haven received the Howard entrance examination prize in Latin, the second prize going to L. S. Turner of Hyde Park. George N. Butterfield of Burlington was awarded the mathematics prize.

The R. O. T. C. Band did splendid work in both the indoor and outdoor exercises and added a great deal to the program.

MR. CROCKETT'S ADDRESS

Passing briefly over the Founder's early life, Mr. Crockett brought out the phases of Allen's career, particularly those dealing with his relation to the founding of the University. Mr. Crockett's speech on Ira Allen was in substance as follows:

(Continued on page 2)

GLEE CLUBS COMBINE FOR ANNUAL CONCERT

The Men's and Women's Glee Clubs are busy preparing for their annual concert which is to be presented in the gymnasium on the evening of Friday, May 7, under the direction of Professor Bennett. On the social calendar, that date was reserved for the home concert of the Men's Glee Club, but later it was decided to have a concert by the combined glee clubs. An entirely new program has been prepared.

The concert wil begin promptly at 8:15. Following the concert, there will be dancing until twelve o'clock.

FRESHMEN ELECT GOLD KEY MEN FOR YEAR 1925-26

Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock the men of the class of '29 met to elect five Gold Key men. President Thorn called the meeting to order and Olney Hill of the Boulder Society took over election proceedings, which resulted in the following five choices:

A. G. Mackay, Peacham; K. L. Price, Burlington; L. E. Roark, Barre; G. B. R. Van Name, Staten Island, N. Y.; R. E. Young, Bellows Falls.

The Vermont Independents met at 7:30 Monday evening to elect four Gold Key members. The meeting resulted in the choice of the following men:

L. M. Bjorn, Barre; H. D. Elmer, Claremont, N. H.; S. M. Martinetti, Barre; B. R. Morse, Burlington.

It was voted to hold another meeting at 7 o'clock the evening of Monday the third to discuss the question of a dance Junior Week.

FATE OF SEMI-WEEKLY TO BE DECIDED SOON

Plan Approved by Administration—To Be Voted Upon by Students

Since the first announcement of its intentions some time ago, the CYNIC Board has been working out a plan for the complete revision of the paper, changing it into a semi-weekly of four pages, increasing its size, and making minor changes in its editorial scheme. At present the plan is completed as far as possible, and awaits the action of the student mass meeting on Saturday. Women's Student Union has already gone on record as favoring the new plan, so that if the men favor it also, the new paper will come out next fall.

The general idea of the proposed CYNIC is that it shall be a four-page paper of five columns instead of the present four, and of proportionately greater length, and that it shall appear every Saturday and Wednesday of the college year. It will be somewhat similar in appearance to the papers of such colleges as Williams and Amherst, although it may be printed, unlike those, on regular newspaper stock. It will contain a news account of college activities up to the day of its appearance.

At a recent meeting of the Committee on University Publications, representatives of the CYNIC submitted the following recommendation of the committee:

That the new plan be tried the first

(Continued on page 8)

1927 ARIEL COMING OUT IN JUNIOR WEEK

Many Attractive Features in New Year Book—Issue Nearly Sold Out

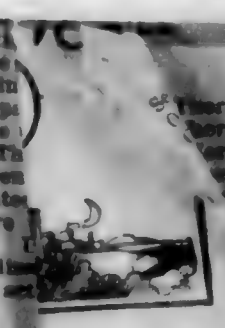
Interest is beginning to center around the 1927 Ariel, the year book published by the Junior class, which is to appear on the campus during Junior Week. The last active selling campaign occurred yesterday but copies can still be obtained by personal application to board members. Only 200 copies remain unspoken for, and the interest in the book would seem to indicate that these too, will soon be gone.

There are several features of unusual interest in the book for this year. The drawings for the opening section are in two colors, representing early events in the life of the University. Following this is a sixteen-page section describing the founding of Vermont. This section is illustrated with appropriate line drawings.

The divisional pages are to be in two colors, made from very attractive drawings depicting Vermont's tradition, done by Miss Lois Burbank '27. The subdivisional pages, while not in two colors, are from the same pen.

The Junior section, for both academs and medics, presents a new feature. The portraits are oval, with a small rectangular snapshot of each individual just as he is seen every day on the campus placed with it, and with a pen drawing of the new chapel.

(Continued on page 5)



CLARKSON GAME OPENS SEASON ON HOME FIELD

Vermont opens its regular home schedule against Clarkson Tech on Thursday, the 6th, and local fans are waiting for this contest with considerable interest. While little is known of the Clarkson team it is almost assured that a good battle will result as the visitors always put up a plucky fight.

Vermont is increasing in strength with each practice and Coach Collins has been doing considerable shifting in the hope of finding the proper combination. The latest move is to place Randall at first, where he handles himself well, and use Fogg in the outfield when not pitching. Valenti and Morse are battling it out for third with the former having a slight edge at this writing.

Local fans will be delighted with the improved condition of the field, the grass infield making for additional speed in running the game. The game on Thursday will start at four o'clock and it is confidently expected that there will be a large turnout of fans

[illegible] chief activity in th[illegible] In the winter, the [illegible] include snowshoein[illegible]ng. Freshmen, [illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] in these sports. Th[illegible] is offering excellen[illegible] coming acquaintes[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. [illegible] leadership of Eli[illegible] membership and [illegible] increasing.

[illegible] Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct. 2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct. 9	Dartmouth 1929	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1929	Here
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1929	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here

[illegible] 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Pingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 196. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out possible 250. The slow fire [illegible] were 200 yards standing, [illegible] kneeling and sitting, and [illegible] prone. The rapid fire record [illegible]

(Continued on page 2)

Founder's Day Observed Sat.; W. H. Crockett Speaker

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] the University was the idea and [illegible] of the early pioneers of Vermont and broadened and formed by [illegible] of the succeeding years."

[illegible] Day is observed we [illegible] the progress which has been [illegible] under the auspices of Vermont [illegible] we pause but short and [illegible] to be not determined said Herron [illegible] the steadiness of its red brick [illegible] rich in tradition and fond [illegible] inspired by sacred [illegible] Old Vermont as it has been [illegible] to be judged and re[illegible] in the light of the needs it has [illegible]. The real criterion of the [illegible] may be expressed in our [illegible] and varied expression. Men of Vermont.

Going down the list of outstanding Vermonters the speaker mentioned a [illegible] who seemed to amply fulfill [illegible] qualifications. For if one is [illegible] and sincerely satisfied with himself if he is confident that he has made the most of himself and of his opportunities, and that he has done this in an honest and upright manner [illegible] greater than the [illegible] of real estate.

Men from all the walks of life—from politics to theology—Henry H. Hazelton, President of the New York Life; Wm. A. Wheeler, Vice-President of the United States in 1876; Jacob Collamer, Senator and Justice of the Supreme Court; Thaddeus Stevens, leader of the House of Representatives, and many others.

It is the duty of the [illegible] the future to maintain [illegible] set by our founder [illegible] worthy sons of Vermont.

(Continued on [illegible])

McMAHON'S BREAD
Made of the highest grade [illegible] rich sweet milk and [illegible]
PIES OF ALL KINDS
Cakes and Doughnuts
McMahon's Bakery
22 Church Street Phone 11

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
97½ Church St.
1 FLIGHT UP
Excellent service for
Ladies and Gents

Let Us Take Care of Your Dry Cleaning
Pressing, Repairing and Dyeing
Our Service Will Please You
We call for and deliver—you will receive your garment on a hanger enclosed in a sanitary bag.
OUR PRICES ARE RIGHT
WE INVITE YOU TO INSPECT OUR PLANT
PHONE 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
Plant and Office 274 N. Winooski Ave.
OWNED AND OPERATED BY A U. V. M. CHEMIST

HERRON'S ADDRESS

W. J. Herron, '26 stressed the old ideals of Vermont the ideals which were predominant from the time the University was founded by Ira Allen through the trials of the War of 1812 and every war since then through trial and trouble peace and prosperity

P. A. throws pipe-peeves for a loss

AND the bigger they are, the harder they fall, as Shakespeare or somebody said. You can prove this beyond question with a jimmy-pipe and a tidy red tin of Prince Albert. Any time. Anywhere. As a matter of fact, tackling pipe-grouches is P. A.'s regular business.

Cool and sweet and fragrant, P. A.'s wonderful smoke comes curling up the pipe-stem, filling your system with a new brand of pipe-pleasure. You smoke—and smile! For the first time in your life, you've found the one tobacco that scales to your blueprint of bliss.

Slow or fast, no matter how you feed it, P. A. never bites your tongue or parches your throat. Those important items were taken care of in the original plans by the Prince Albert process. Get yourself a tidy red tin of this friendly tobacco today.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Co-ed Columns

VINA B RUGG '27, Women's Editor

EDITORIAL

... in so many dif... memory of absent ...dness of youth, the ... the sweetness of a ... the daily and or... ...s that occur in the ... any individual—you ... opportune time, the ... has left the clearest ... impression upon the ... has been shown to have ... lives and accomplish... who have gone before. ... who have shown us ... and simplicity of the ... life's adventure, we ... that we have gained ... inspiration than they ... to demonstrate as ... from our predecessors. ... fellow students, there ... a spirit of such charm ... that the vitality of our ... and incentives seems to ... by its torch-like glory. ... not let it be in vain; ... the fragrance of the ... with the coming of the ... with the passing of ... inspirations, let the ... ...long forgetfulness. But ... let the ideals that have been ... so vividly portrayed for ... our capacity for the vision ... as recognize the fact that we ... this capacity in those about us.

Communications

To the Women's Editor of the CYNIC:

Two weeks ago at Student Union the matter of its decreasing attendance was discussed. In order to remedy this condition a program committee has been chosen. During the coming year talks will be given on subjects of interest to all.

To what purpose has this half hour each week been set aside? All of us can well afford to spend this short time in broadening our viewpoints and in making the necessary laws for our government.

Let us revive our interest in, and give more "pep" and enthusiasm to the Student Union which our alumnae worked so hard to bring into being as a democratic institution.

'28.

To the Women's Editor of the CYNIC:

Horseback riding for one dollar an hour with spring fast approaching is just the right thing to all those who know the joys of riding. For beginners it should hold a still greater appeal as it is a gateway to unknown pleasures. Ten fine horses! A splendid coach! Four lessons for four dollars! What greater spring-time thrill?

'29.

STUDENT UNION GIVES VOCATIONAL TALKS

Miss Arkley of the Burlington Savings Bank spoke to the student body on Saturday at Student Union on "Banking as a Vocation for Women." The programs, arranged by the President, seem to be bringing back the interest of the student body to Student Union.

Next Saturday the Wasson Memorial Fund with reports from individual organizations will be discussed.

W. A. A. NOTES

A pirate party was held in the gymnasium Saturday evening April 24. The decorations were in green and gold and represented the deck of a ship.

Programs were in the form of passports for the W. A. A. Ship "Vermont," where excellent entertainment was rendered by a number of talented artists.

Following a business meeting, the ship's orchestra played for dancing.

W. A. A. is offering the opportunity for horseback riding again this spring. Lessons will commence May 4, with D. C. DeWolfe '29 acting as coach. Miss Cummings has charge of the enterprise, and all necessary arrangements.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Dr. Perkins gave an address on Stitt Wilson's "Trend of Evolution" in the chapel on Wednesday evening. Y. W. plans include several of these lectures, to be given at short intervals.

There was a vesper service at Redstone Sunday, May 2. It proved to be a very appropriate opening for Music Week.

Masque and Sandal Notes

Now that the class plays are over, there is one other treat along the college dramatics line in store for the students of the University. "Masque and Sandal" in conjunction with "Wig and Buskin," the two prominent societies interested in dramatics, are getting started on their rehearsals for "The Saving Grace," by C. Haddon Chambers.

"The Saving Grace" is a humorous drama calling for a small cast, but having a large proportion of major parts; and will prove well worth seeing. Mrs. Taggart, of long standing reputation on our campus, is coaching.

Before final presentation here on the Thursday evening of Junior Week, May 27, at The Strong Theatre, the cast will make a tour of several outside towns where the finishing touches will be made.

As is customary a prize will be given to the person selling most tickets. It cannot be stated at present, the exact date on which tickets will be put on sale.

CLASS PLAY PRIZE WON BY FRESHMEN

Under the auspices of Dramatic Club the three class plays were given in the gymnasium Wednesday evening, April 27. The Freshman play "Neighbors" was accorded the prize. The cast consisted of Marion Everest, Marion Backus, Charlotte Cleveland, Faith Edmunds, Dorothy Strong, Gladys Kone, Catherine Bassett and Theresa Schneller. The work of costuming, coaching and properties was very well done by students of the various classes.

The Duckling's Ditty: "Waddle I do?"

KAPPA DELTA CHARTER FOR LOCAL SORORITY

Phi Delta Zeta, a local sorority at the University of Vermont, was installed as Alpha Theta Chapter of Kappa Delta last week. Kappa Delta was founded in 1897 at Virginia State Normal in Farmville, Va., and now consists of fifty-six active chapters. There are also forty-five alumnae associations.

A tea was given Thursday afternoon in honor of the national guests, Gladys Pugh, National President was the installed officer and was assisted by Alice Davis, President of Beta Province. The first and second degrees were given Friday afternoon and evening. The third degree took place Saturday afternoon and was followed by a banquet at the Hotel Vermont roof. Marion Auker '22 acted as toastmistress.

Gladys Pugh brought greetings from Zeta Chapter in Alabama. Greetings were also brought by Lila Blitch from Gamma in Virginia, Alice Davis from Phi Tau at Bucknell and Mrs. Loveland from Pi Chapter in Nebraska. Beta Province presented Alpha Theta with a silver loving cup. Other greetings were received in letters and telegrams.

On account of the poor Vermont roads Olga Achtenhagen, National Editor, and other guests were unable to be present. They came by automobile as far as Rutland and then were obliged to turn back to New York.

Miss Patterson, Dean of Women, Mrs. Ingalls, Mrs. Yates, Mrs. Dresser and Mr. Dexter, official representative from Balfour's, were guests at the banquet.

The toast program was carried out in a castle of dreams and rose garden idea. It told first of the garden and how the white rose of Kappa Delta was chosen. The steps by which the rose was finally obtained were pictured, the bud, then the blooming and finally the full blown rose.

In the dim light of the candles, everyone joining hands in the Kappa Delta Circle of Friendship the banquet was fittingly brought to a close by the singing of "Champlain" and Kappa Delta songs.

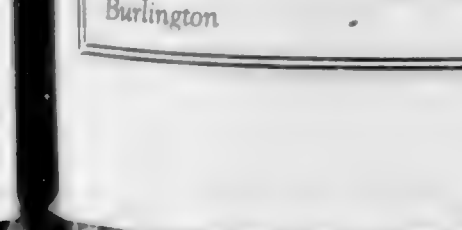
The initiates were as follows: Marion Auker '22, Fannie Pierce '24, Leah White ex-'23, Katherine Brown ex-'26, Mertrude Dennis M '28, and Alice Crowe, Myra Elwell, Alice Hayes, Agnes Innes, Cecilia Bliss, Emma Slack, Alice Wright all of '26, Evelyn Bower, Mabel Donahue, Edith Mapes, Lillian Stillwell, Laura Thompson all of '27, Lucy Galli, Pauline Lynch, Helen Lynch, Theodora Mascott, Merta Monro, Theresa Rossi, Marion Thrall, Katherine Wright all of '28, and Mabel Pierce and Edna Shaw of '29.

The pledges present were: Neva Amadon, Mae Brock, Hope Grant, Adena Thompson and Freda Tracy.

Kappa Alpha Theta

Lambda Chapter announces the initiation on Thursday, April 29 of Deborah Johnson '28, Dorothy Cottrell '29 and Dorothy Strong '29.

The alumnae gave a party at the chapter house for fraternity members on Monday evening, April 26.



THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
Special arrangement can be made for all kinds of Parties. Red Feather Candy and Mrs. Perkins' Maple Nut Candies
PHONE 2205

The Old Bee Hive
"Humming Bird" Pure Silk Hosiery
A Silk Stocking That Wears Longer
Priced $1.50 pr.
White, Black and all Fashionable Colors.

Dance Orders and Favors
For Your Junior Week Dance
WE HAVE THEM
Many Styles To Choose From
COME IN AND SEE THEM
FREE PRESS PRINTING CO.
189 College Street
Burlington - - - Vermont

SALE
A few 1926 Diaries can be purchased at a very reasonable price
at the
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
and
MEDICAL BOOK STORE
Just the thing to keep an account of these last most eventful days of the college year 1925-1926.

Cold Drinks - Fruits and Salads
Spring Food
at the
COFFEE CORNER

...ief activity in th... In the winter, the ...lude snowshoein... ...ng. Freshmen, ju... ...pperclassmen are ... these sports. Th... ...o offering excellen... ...becoming acquainte... ...new girls, also are ... all who go. ... ...adership of Eli... ...membership and ... ...increasing.

...of basketball. Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire position were 200 yards standing, 200 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 ... prone. The rapid fire record ...

(Continued on page 2)

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the
NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

$3.00 a year delivered

MARION V. TAYLOR '26
Managing Editor

PERRY '26

JENNINGS '27
Intercollegiate Editor

Smith '26

Margaret Purrica '26

Virginia Margie '28

Editor-in-Chief and

PIERLE'S

May 4, 1926 No 25

STUDENT SENATE

In a few days, the men of the University are to decide the fate of Student Senate. That body was instituted a year ago as a possible solution to the inefficiency of the old Student Union system. Now its period of trial is up, and whether it be continued as a permanent institution rests with the student body. It is essential that the men who go to vote on this matter next Saturday be informed as to the actual condition of affairs; know how Student Union has functioned during the past year what it has done how wise and efficient its action has been.

Last week a letter appeared in the Cynic which advocated a return to the old system. Whether that letter represented the opinion of a considerable number of students or only that of the writer is a question. From our own knowledge of the situation we would judge that the writer is unique in his attitude. We believe that, in view of the facts, such an attitude is essentially irrational, the result of insufficient information.

In his letter, the correspondent questioned the efficiency of Student Senate. We agree with him. Student Senate has been by no means the epitome of efficiency. But it has done its work moderately wisely and well, and in the minds of those who remember the hubbub disorder and levity of the old Student Union meetings it represents an immeasurable improvement on the latter.

Elsewhere in this paper appears a summary of the principal accomplishments of the Senate during its year of trial. To anyone looking over that list it must appear, despite the alleged lethargy and efficiency of the body that it has a record to be justly proud of.

Those who understand the conditions under which Student Union was instituted, and its constitution, will have recognized the gross error of a statement contained in "'27" where we were told that if the majority of the students desire to petition the Faculty [illegible] some purpose and the majority of the Senate is against such action, do it there fails to be a quorum present, what can we do?" Evidently he misunderstood that by a petition of a majority of the male student body, the Senate is forced to call a mass meeting for action on the subject in question. Ordinarily, of course, Senate is apt to bring up questions in which a number of students are vitally interested, and settle them as well as may be. The members of the Senate realize as well as anyone else that they are simply representatives of the student body, existing to serve its needs and its convenience. But if any wild flight of fancy, we can imagine them so degenerated that they no longer have any sense of responsibility to their constituency, then there is that recourse mentioned above.

"'27" suggests that even though mass meetings would be less efficient and satisfactory from a business point of view than the Senate, nevertheless, they would serve a valuable function in getting the men together for promotion of college spirit. Songs could be sung, cheers practiced, etc. In this we agree with the writer that mass meetings such as Student Union could be of service, although the old Union, as we remember it had little time in its half hour a week, for matters such as singing and cheering. In this connection, however, we might suggest that the new chapel will be ready for occupation some time next year and will offer the opportunity for mass meetings which does not seem to exist at present.

All things considered, it would seem that the Student Senate project had amply justified its continuance, with everything to gain and nothing to lose by such an action.

Another matter that will be voted upon at the coming mass meeting is that of supporting a semi-weekly issuance of the Cynic, beginning next fall. And here it might be remembered that in approving such a venture, the student body is not signing away its life, or, to be more exact, the extra dollar a year for subscription which may be incident to the permanent institution of a more progressive paper. According to the plan which the Committee on Publications has suggested the new Cynic would be tried as an experiment for the first semester, and only then, after everyone had had a chance to judge of its quality, would the change in subscription price be instituted.

Thus a favoring of the plan at the coming meeting would mean giving the Cynic a chance to improve itself, with no obligation on the part of any one. It is another situation where, it appears to us, the student body would have everything to gain and nothing to lose by a favorable action.

We have talked over the new Cynic plan with a great many people, including students and members of the faculty and administration. Everywhere we have found approval and encouragement. We have gone over the details of the plan with the printers and with others who understand the technical difficulties involved, and can see no reason why it will not work out satisfactorily. Because we believe the proposed system to be the best thing that can happen to the Cynic, in increasing its value and usefulness to its subscribers, we solicit your support of it.

FOR INSTRUCTION
ENTERTAINMENT, DIVERSION
Read the
SERVICE
LIBRARY BOOKS
Robert J. Shanley & Co., Inc.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Discussion groups are being held every Wednesday evening in the chapel at 7:15 as a follow up of the meetings led by Stitt Wilson. The discussion on the 21st, led by Secretary Morrical compared Mutual Aid in the animal world to the need for such aid among humans. Professor [illegible] led the group on the 28th in a discussion of the Trend of Evolution.

John McColl, Mark Pierce, Spike Rowe and Clifford Quad led a deputation to Essex Junction on Sunday, April 25. Both afternoon and evening meetings were in the nature of Young Peoples' Conferences.

Daily Dribble

Mon. If you would like to have a faithful servant, serve yourself.

Tues. Ever show a man his need—and then why your product fits that need?

Thurs. Every time a man puts a new idea across, he finds ten other fellows who had thought of it before he did. But they only thought of it.

Fri. Men who seldom mix with their fellow creatures are almost sure to be one sided—the victims of fixed ideas.

Sat. Men are of two classes—those who do their best work today and forget about it, and those who promise to do their best work tomorrow and forget about it.

FACULTY NOTES

Professor Evan [illegible] East Barre last Sunday.

Friday, April 16, [illegible] gave an illustrated lecture Men's Club of the [illegible] Church of Windsor. [illegible] on Landscape Gardening.

Judge Edmund [illegible] of government and law at [illegible] sity of Vermont is going summer as one of the [illegible] Carnegie Endowment for [illegible] Peace. He will make a [illegible] International Law and [illegible]

Dr. F. W. Sears, professor [illegible] logy at the Medical College [illegible] turned from Florida.

Professor George F. [illegible] presented with a memento [illegible] recognition of his excellent [illegible] while serving on the Burlington [illegible] Commissioners by the members of the Board, Messrs. Thomas [illegible] H. H. Hickok and [illegible] George C. Stanley, last Tuesday noon. Professor Eckhardt resigned his service with the Board as he is to take his sabbatical leave at University. Professor Arthur [illegible] terfield will succeed Professor Eckhard on the Board.

FORDS
Sports and Cut Downs
If you can find any that look worse we want to see them.
But you cannot find a better engine.
Runs like a lily
PRICED TOO CHEAP
Chas. P. Smith Jr., Inc.
87 St. Paul St.
Vermont's Largest Dealer

Specially Designed
SUITS
For College Men
Four Piece Styles
in the season's smartest shades
$35 to $55
Tuxedo Suits
Haberdashery
Miles & Perry Co.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898

TOWER'S
FISH BRAND
COLLEGE COATS
SNAPPY, SERVICEABLE WATERPROOFS
All the go with College men

Varsity Slickers
(YELLOW OR OLIVE)
Sport Coats
(YELLOW OR OLIVE)
TOWER'S
TRADE FISH BRAND MARK
"The Rainy Day Pal"
A.J. TOWER CO.
BOSTON MASS
323

Senate Achieves Much During Its First Year

page 1

... held in conjunc- ... A. and the ...

... "Champlain" ... game was inaugu- ...

... was sent to the ... conference held ... in November ... opinion regard- ... and to establish ... similar considera- ... nal problems.

... the efforts of the ... money and mak- ... that a banquet was ... men at the close ...

... ance was rendered ... the presentation ... the members of ...

... adopting a mascot ... committee appointed ... possibilities, and ... in the CYNIC. The ... brought to a vote after ... meeting.

... been taken towards the ... Club, which is an ... composed of men who ... their letter in major ... found on the campuses ... universities.

... gave its sanction to ... the date of the CYNIC elec- ... April to directly after mid- ... which has been very ... to the paper.

... plan was adopted ... officers, whereby the ... managers and sinking fund ... stipulated amounts of any ... its publication.

... is backing the Board in ... for a semi-weekly paper, ... of which will be decided on ... on which the choice of ... mascot, and form of ... government will be made.

... cooperated with other ... in putting hockey on its ...

... fraternity basketball series ... off at the Senate's petition, ... was found that the authorities ... to pass over the annual ...

... point system which regulates ... number of activities to be carried ... one man has been revised and ... operation while a committee is ... plans for an organized ... which are being presented ... approval of the faculty, after ... wishes of the student body ... sought.

In addition to these matters much ... business has been transacted. ... despatch and efficiency which ... body found difficult to ...

1927 Ariel Coming Out in Junior Week

Continued from page 1

... a background for the two ... which appear on each page.

... athletic section of more than ... pages follows. The class was ... in getting good action pic- ... of the various sports. Track is ... due recognition of its impor- ... during the coming season, and ... all suits of each Varsity man in ...

... social section consists of eight ... of the campus, taken at the ... of its glory last spring, and ... forth in a manner which does it ... They will occupy the entire ... of the page, and be printed in ... tint. A view of the library from ... angle displays its beautiful ...

... fraternity pages will be varied ... presence of cuts of each of the ...

... possible, pages of snap- ... be included in their section. ... three pages of action ... all following the season ... besides seven large pictures ... pages in clear detail, yet ... seven pages of snaps show- ... day by day, and an ... portion of the major events ... run in with them.

... portraits of teacher training ... be run in an attractive ... individuals to the page.

... two-color border for the ... and historical sections, and ... design in a pleasing soft tint ... of the book.

... Ariel has a short space for ... benefit.

The cover is done in green this year with a bronze die of the chapel as an effective decoration.

Founder's Day Observed Sat.; W. H. Crockett Speaker

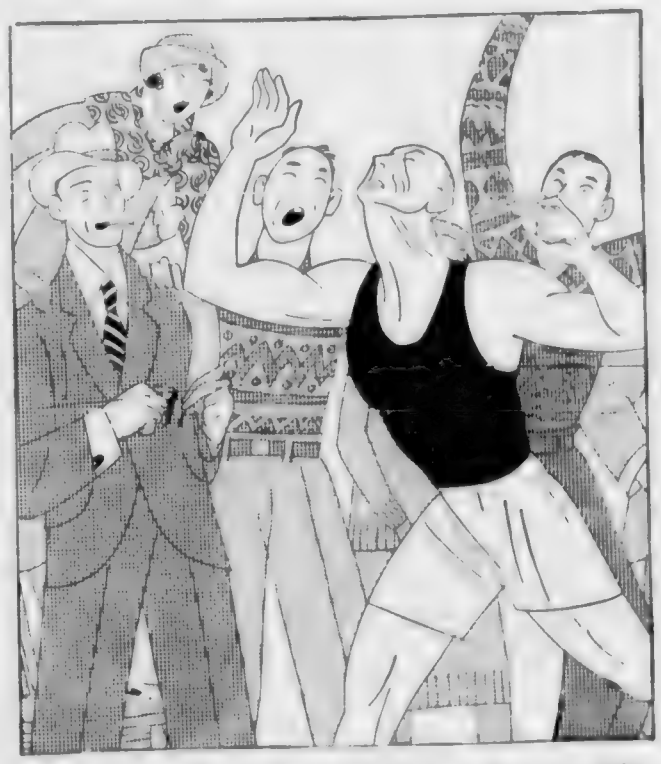
(Continued from page 2)

PARODY'S ADDRESS

O. F. Parody '27, speaking on "The Ideals of Our Founder," began

"Once again we find ourselves gathered in convocation to pay homage to our founder, of glorious memory. Once more we have gathered to review the evolution of our University and state. They were founded in the same year and their development has been parallel, to the story of one is the story of the other. We can take particular pride in relating the story of our founding, as it is a story rich with tradition and noble deeds. No other university can boast of a more illustrious founder than Ira Allen. When one reads the life story of our founder, it is revealed that this many-sided man was an idealist. He was a dreamer of great dreams and a doer of great deeds through which he tried to make his dreams come true."

Parody then described Allen's journey up Lake Champlain, up to the Winooski River, on whose shore he camped, by wooded hills, very near the location of our University. He ... of the visions of our founder and ... determination to realize them But ... ideals are not carried out in a ... or a year, and so, buffeted about ... the ... dream had to remain a dream until later ... He was the outstanding figure ... this revolutionary chaos, for "he ... to have been connected with ... important event of the day, in ... role of soldier diplomat financier, ... statesman. He speaker con- ... However trying these days ... Allen ... remained true to his ideals, ... perfect university within the per- ... state. And in the year 1791, he ... founded the state of Vermont and a ... year later the University of ... Thus ... in ... form.



"It might seem as though his task now complete, his goal had been reached but we must remember that Ira Allen's state and university were based upon ideals. Merely the foundations upon which to build had been laid in 1791. After 1791 Ira Allen set out to build up both the state and university and it was while he was in Europe, carrying on his glorious work, that he fell into evil days.

But his ideals persisted, and we have them to carry on. The inscription on his statue, "Founder of the State of Vermont. Founded this University. 1791," while simple, is an accurate summary of his life. He lived for the state and the University.

Parody concluded with these words: "It is upon such an occasion as this Founder's Day, when we are inspecting our precious heirlooms, that we should guard against the ever retrospective attitude and accept this day not only as a cause for celebration but as a challenge from the past. Our ... past challenges us to greater deeds in the future. We of the present are challenged to add to our heirlooms, our traditions, our past accomplishments, so that each Founder's Day another chapter of greatness will be added to those of the past. Glorious as our past has been let us accept its challenge and make our future even more glorious. Let us not look upon our past as a source from which we can secure a feeling of consolation and complacency, but rather as a source to which we can go and secure renewed energy and zeal which will enable us to carry on the noble work of our founder to the highest point of perfection."

When the runners are bunched on the track—and suddenly Chuck, your own superman half-miler, spurts ahead on the finish and wins

—have a Camel!

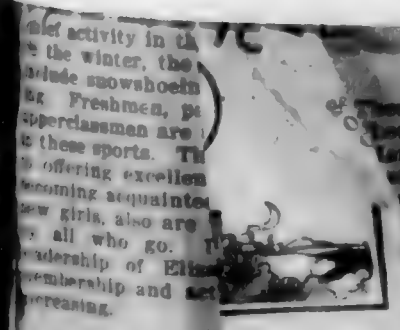
Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. The most skilful blending. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No better cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

WHEN the lithe half-milers are fighting for the lead. And your own dauntless champion suddenly soars ahead and wins—have a Camel!

For you'll never find another friend so attuned to your triumphs as Camel. Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown — they never disappoint your taste. Camels annihilated cigaretty after-taste. Regardless of price, you'll never buy better tobaccos, or blending, or flavor than you get in Camels.

So this year when the old school's men go through for victory after victory — taste then the smoke that's choice of the world's victorious.

Have a Camel!



Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

© 1926

... activity in th... the winter, the... include snowshoein... ng. Freshmen, p... upperclassmen are ... these sports. Th... offering excellen... becoming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. T... leadership of Elis... membership and act... increasing.

... Simpson at end, and Corsaro and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

... 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 2)

... aged to come out for the w...

A minor improvement ... grounds has been ... concrete walk be... Row to Morrill ... wade through th... called South ... because (how... Hall.

Number 41 of a Series

SPORTING NEWS

MARION V. TAYLOR '25 Sporting Editor

SPRINGFIELD LOSES TO VARSITY BY 4-2 SCORE

Fogg's Pitching Largely Responsible for Victory—Randall and Fogg Score Winning Runs

[illegible] ability to come through in the pinches gave them a well earned victory over Springfield at [illegible] Friday afternoon. The game was featured by Fogg's pitching in the latter [illegible] together with the timely [illegible] of the Vermont squad were responsible for the shower of [illegible] to the tune of a 4 to 2 score.

[illegible] started to put the game away in the [illegible] scoring one run in the [illegible] when the diminutive [illegible] walked Erickson for a pass. Conway [illegible] Morse, the giant [illegible] singled cleanly to left and [illegible] scored.

[illegible] evened it up in the third [illegible] was hit off walked and was [illegible] to second. Berry's drive [illegible] was too hot for Fogg to [illegible] and went [illegible]kins to third. He [illegible] a moment later on Mahnken's [illegible] to right.

[illegible] put another run across on a [illegible] by Randall and a long drive [illegible] center by Aronson who [illegible] out at third.

In the seventh Springfield evened up [illegible] on a wild pitch and two [illegible]. The fatal ninth for Springfield [illegible] with Erickson fanning Smith, [illegible] stretched and took second on [illegible] down third base line. Hanson [illegible] to right scoring Bradley and [illegible] taking third. On the next play [illegible] to get Randall going second, [illegible] threw wild and Fogg scored.

The summary:

VERMONT

	ab	r	h	o	a	e
[illegible], 2b	4	1	0	0	4	1
Conway, m.	3	0	1	3	2	0
Morse, lf.	4	0	2	1	0	0
Smith, 2b.	4	0	0	2	6	0
[illegible], cf	1	1	0	1	0	0
[illegible]	4	1	1	1	6	1
Randall, rf.	4	1	2	0	0	0
Prentice, 1b.	4	0	0	16	0	0
[illegible], c	3	0	2	3	2	0
[illegible]	31	4	8	27	20	2

SPRINGFIELD

	ab	r	h	o	a	e
Jenkins, lf	4	2	1	0	0	0
[illegible], cf.	4	0	0	2	0	0
[illegible], ss	4	0	1	2	1	0
[illegible], 1b	4	0	2	15	0	0
Wright, 3b	4	0	1	0	3	0

Continued on page 7

HOLY CROSS SLUGGERS DEFEAT GREEN AND GOLD

On Saturday, April 24, Holy Cross [illegible] the Green and Gold nine to the [illegible] under a 10 to 0 defeat. Moriarty, who started for Vermont, went well until the fourth inning when Holy Cross touched him up for five runs. Passes and errors figured in the Purple's scoring with three base hits. Roark went into the box in the fifth for Vermont and he was greeted with a Purple onslaughter which netted four more runs for the Crusaders. From the fifth inning on, Roark managed to keep the Holyas well in check.

The royal fielders, "Bill" Morse and Freeman, thrilled the crowd by making spectacular catches.

Davidson, who started on the mound for Holy Cross was compelled to leave the mound in the fourth when he wrenched his arm. Fons, the Freshman twirler who replaced him kept the Vermont batters well in hand during the rest of the game, allowing only two singles. The summary:

VERMONT

	ab	h	po	a	e
Valenti, ss	4	[illegible]	1	1	0
Conway, m.	3	1	2	2	1
Morse, lf	4	1	4	0	0

Continued on page 7

Speaking of Sport

Just take a look at the track dope this week. Montreal A. A. A. has [illegible] Olympic Man on her track team to start a union with. We [illegible] just see what the World's Champion for the mile on snowshoes [illegible] have a chance after all, if we [illegible] to do down here but maybe he'd have a chance after all, if we have another little snow flurry.

———V———

Randall seems to have edged Prentice out of his berth at first because of the former's superior work with the stick. Unless the basketball star shows a reversion in batting "Healy" will probably hold down the sack the rest of the year.

———V———

Burt Morse had a sore arm on the last trip but he may be back on the mill soon in the rest of the games. However there will be keen competition for the job.

———V———

The tennis pictures Wednesday were remarkably helpful to anyone who wishes to learn tennis, and has not the opportunity to watch the champions in action. As a matter of fact, the slow motion feature of the films enabled one to analyze the movements of the players to much better advantage than if one were actually watching them in person. The women's tennis department deserves much credit for bringing the movies here.

———V———

The coeds are coming along right nobly in their efforts on the chalked court. The other day we happened to be down in the cage while Capt. Carpenter was putting a squad of about twenty young ladies through their paces and nearly every one of them served better than any female we ever saw on the University courts before. Maybe that's exaggerating a little bit but not much.

———V———

And then the next day we glanced into the gym as we went by and there was one boy and two girls hitting the ball up against the wall. There three were playing together in perfect amity. The first time we ever saw it happen.

———V———

The spring football men are out on the back campus every day and Coach McAvoy, assisted by "Hank" Dresser and Capt. Rattan is drilling them in the fundamentals.

———V———

The Owls also had their baseball club out the other day. Thursday afternoon down at Smalley Park they had a little three inning practice scrimmage with Burlington High School. Before the Pearl St. boys got going the schoolboys had a four to two lead and then they had to go home to supper.

V

The showing of the tennis moving pictures Wednesday night was very much of a success. About a hundred people attended including several students from Bishop Hopkins Hall, high school students, officers from Fort Ethan Allan Post, and a number of townspeople as well as some members of the faculty and athletic department.

———V———

The interest shown in fencing is amazing.

VARSITY SECONDS VS. BURLINGTON H. S. TODAY

Coach Collopy's second team is all ready for business. Out of a squad of about twenty-five "Jim" has rounded out a team which he claims will be as strong as last year's extraordinarily strong and successful aggregation. Today the Green and Gold reserves cross bats with the likewise unseasoned Burlington High School club. Last season the corresponding contest was disastrous for the schoolboys and [illegible] is no reason to suppose that the hilltoppers will not turn in another 18 to 2 count today or better.

For the seconds Talcott will start in the box with Santoire and Schoppe in reserve. Winchenbach will receive and "Russ" Gray will tower over the initial sack. Valenti may be at the keystone position but this is not certain. Short-stop and third are likewise uncertain as is at least one of the garden positions. Guild will undoubtedly cover center but for the other positions several candidates will fight it out. Price, Cogswell, Macomber, Williamson, O'Keefe, Young, Johnson, Rogers, "Speed" Denning and Foster are all strong contenders and Coach Collopy intends to try as many of them as possible out today.

PAMPHLET FOR VISITING ATHLETES

The University of Vermont Athletic Council has prepared a two-page folder for the convenience of visiting teams. A brief introduction welcomes the out of town athletes. This is followed by a concise, alphabetically arranged list of the various college buildings, fraternity houses, and points of interest such as the Post Office, Union Station, and hospitals, together with their addresses and telephone numbers.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN FENCING SCHOOL

Dr. Aldinger is enthusiastic about the interest taken in fencing, this sport being fostered for the first time at U. V. M. Thirty candidates, under the direction of Lieutenant Allison of Fort Ethan Allen are turning out three times a week for practice. This instruction consists of the fundamentals, such as, advance and retreat, parries, on guard, foot work, position of arms and feet, elementary methods of attack, and disengagement and cut overs. Practice will be continued throughout the spring, and prospects are good for developing a creditable fencing team on the hill next fall.

THE BEST SODA
in Town
See For Yourself At
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

BLAZERS
The Latest Idea in College Sport Wear
$10.00
▲ ▲ ▲
Hayes & Carney
197 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

BRILLIANT PROSPECTS FOR TENNIS SEASON

This year the tennis [illegible] a big job and it begins [illegible] though they could take [illegible] better than any net [illegible] passed the portals of [illegible] for several years. Captain [illegible] entirely changed his style [illegible] depending on his cut [illegible] he is deadly, he is getting [illegible] drive which he has developed [illegible] the winter months. [illegible] Baldwin is going like a [illegible] present and if he keeps [illegible] he will be invaluable. [illegible] shaping up well although [illegible] Mower show the need of [illegible] tice.

The outdoor courts were [illegible] over the last part of last week and [illegible] now in shape for the practice [illegible] the team so badly needs to [illegible] well on its severe [illegible] schedule.

The team shows more [illegible] strength both in singles and [illegible] than last season and will [illegible] shadow of a doubt be [illegible] better balanced.

Track Dope

E. R. L.

The Montreal A. A. Meet

When the track team runs [illegible] against the track men from M[illegible] on May 8, it meets what is potentially the most powerful team which a Vermont track aggregation has ever faced. M. A. A. has a bunch of stars who were they in the pink of condition would trim any college in New England. They are handicapped however by the fact that they have been unable to practice out of doors and [illegible] have no indoor facilities. But even with this advantage (which is slight, considering the insignificant amount of practice which we have done outside) the Vermonters will have to hit a fast stride and hold it, if they expect to come out on the long end of the addition.

Here is how the two sides line up. 100 yds. In this event Montreal is represented by McKechenneay and O'Neil. The former is a member of the Canadian 1924 Olympic team, and he is the 1925 Canadian 100 yd. champion. Incidentally he is the world's snowshoe sprint champion. Vermont has Crouter, Lord and Robbins at

R. W. STILL Phone 2873-W
HOFFMAN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
MEN'S SUITS PRESSED AND CLEANED
Free Auto Delivery
145 Elmwood Ave. Burlington, Vt.

Base Ball
Tennis
Golf
Supplies
L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

...router is the out... ...but he may be lost ...count of scholastic

...McKechenneay ... ...for again. 'Nuff not ...ials on a big scholas...

...Taylor for Montreal is ...man with a record of ...meters. That makes ...9-10 for 440 yards, ...g right along.

...ad dead from running ...es, we may let him ...s even, lf, etc. Ottley ...to make a bid for a ...

...tes is a former Cana... ...lamp, and last year ...in the Canadian Cham... ...ng the winner to a ...

...this event is of doubt ...st will run this event ...the mile, and therefore ...to run as well as if ...Stone or Leary may ...a pinch

...the Canadian miler, ...snowshoe miler, being ...en in this event. This ...s the makings of a good ...

...mont's hope in this event ...n who his running mate ...is event. Perhaps Tud... ...or Rowe.

...Smith for Canada, Rowe, ...ther Tudhope or Martin... ...mont. Odds seem to be ...in this event, as it does ...but one can never tell.

...Hurdle. Montabone, the ...mpion and Olympic man, ...d of 154 ought to bring ...on in this event. But ... ...has been working hard at ...ly and if his ankle does ...m, he should give the ...champion something to ... We lack second and ...men in this event, how...

...Hurdles. These are a ...to the writer and to the ... We can see no outstand... ...on either side, unless Monta... ...takes it into his head to run this ...

...In the field events, we should say ...dds are on Vermont, in spite of the great Canadian weight thrower ... It should be a great fight ...Cable for M. A. A. and Simp... ...and Hill for Vermont. Cable is ...best all around weight man, ...s record of 135 feet 6 ... Personally, we bet on Hill in ...Sonny Simpson in the ...and javelin, but Cable is all by ... in the discus and looks good ...in all the others.

...Jump. O'Neil the Province ...Quebec champ has one 21 feet in ...and we look to him for a ...Hastings ought to push him ...Prentice would come in ...in the event.

...Jump. King is Quecec champ... ...Wilcox should be good first ...and Platt or Prentice may ...place.

...Vault. Personally, we believe ...there is nothing north of us that ...Whitten (I forgot about ...Hoff of Norway). But Con... ...of Canada's best pole vault... ...give opposition. Add to all ...the Canadian giant Carruthers, ... 6 feet 5 inches tall, former ...record holder, weight man, ..., that incidentally oarsman and ...star and the Canadians have ...team.

...paper therefore, the dope is in ...Canadians, but they are ...as above mentioned, so ...so bad as it looks. ...however that this is a track ...and not a winter carnival, for ...Canadians are bringing down ...world's snowshoe champions, ...right up to the mile.

PHELPS AND MARTIN ATTEND N. E. I. A. A.

J. B. Phelps '27, managing editor, ... H. Martin '27, advertising man... ...CYNIC staff, attended the ...meeting of the New England ...Athletic Association at ...of New Hampshire, Fri... ...Saturday. Separate confer... ...held for business and edi... ...departments, at which repre... ...of the nine colleges in the ...discussed subjects as... ...by them. Martin gave a talk ..."Collection of Accounts," and Phelps spoke on "Balancing of Advertising and News Space."

The delegates were given a banquet Friday night and attended the Bates-New Hampshire track meet Saturday afternoon.

The faculty at North Carolina State University reports a 400 per cent increase in co-eds this quarter. Before Christmas there was only one girl; there are now five.

FRATERNITY
JEWELRY
AND
FAVORS

F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELLERS
17 Upper Church St.

Marshall Baxter Cummings

Prominent among the graduates of Vermont who are engaged in agricultural work is Marshall B. Cummings, now serving his seventeenth year as professor of horticulture. Born in Thetford, Vermont, December 2, 1875, the son of Harlan Page and Alpha Maria Cummings, he matriculated at the University in 1897, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture in 1901.

He was a successful applicant for the position of instructor in horticulture at the University of Maine, and spent five years in that institution working in the meantime on a thesis, "A Study of Reciprocal Crosses," which won for him the degree of Master of Science. Several summers during this period were spent at the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

In 1907 he went to Cornell and spent two years there, earning his Ph. D. in 1909 for work on orchard problems. He was then invited to his present position left vacant by the departure of Professor William Stuart, taking up the work that fall.

An important part of his career has been in connection with the Vermont State Experiment Station, since he has published nearly a score of the bulletins of that institution. While he has investigated upon many branches of horticulture, his most important work has been restricted to four lines, orchard, strawberries, Hubbard Squash, and plant physiology. Some new varieties have been produced by him.

Most of his findings have come out in the bulletins issued from the Maine, Cornell and Vermont experiment stations, among these being "Aerial Fertilization of Plants with Carbon Dioxide," "Sterility of Strawberries," "Strawberry Breeding," and others of a less technical nature. He has also contributed articles to such horticultural journals as the American Fruit Grower, and Better Fruit Magazine.

An interesting experiment which he is now carrying on has to do with the work and its results in the University orchards, which may extend over a fifty-year period, of which twenty have already elapsed.

Dr. Cummings is a member of the American Pomological Society, American Association of Horticultural Science, and American Association of Plant Breeders. He is secretary of the Vermont Horticultural Society and of the Faculty of the College of Agriculture, and has been state nursery inspector since 1909. He also belongs to the Cornell chapters of Gamma Alpha and Sigma Xi, national scientific fraternities, and to the Vermont chapter of Alpha Zeta.

FENCING INSTRUCTOR HAS FINE RECORD

Lieutenant Philip W. Allison, fencing coach at the U. V. M., graduated from Cornell in 1911. While in college he was a member of the fencing team for three years, being captain his Senior year. It was during his Senior year that he won the intercollegiate championship, the first time that it had been wrested from the Army or Navy.

For the five years following his graduation he was a member of the New York Athletic Club. From the close of the World War till 1924 Lieutenant Allison did no fencing. Returning from duty in Hawaii, he tried for and made the U. S. Olympic team. The U. S. team lost to the French team, which won the championship. Lieutenant Allison won one out of his four matches, losing two of the remaining matches by a single touch only.

He is now a member of the 7th Field Artillery, stationed at Fort Ethan Allen.

NINE MEMBERS OF RIFLE TEAM RECEIVE LETTERS

Letters have been recently awarded to the following nine high men of the rifle team as a result of the 1925-26 season: A. R. Hill '27, acting captain, J. N. Follett '26, J. L. Hibbard '26, A. J. Bisson '27, J. F. McColl '27, L. A. Reynolds '27, A. K. Tudhope '27, L. C. Whitman '27, C. E. Brown '28.

DR. PRATT'S RULES FOR MENTAL HEALTH

1. Neither run away from nor especially fight your emotions. Learn to harness them in a useful way.
2. Be efficient in what you do. Seek a task within range of your accomplishments.
3. Do one thing at a time.
4. Make practical, clear cut decisions.
5. Do not think you have to accept hurry and haste as a necessary part of modern everyday life.
6. Avoid worry. Don't worry about your bridges until you come to them; then go ahead and cross them.
7. Keep work, play and exercise in their proper relative proportions.
8. Shun the "New England conscience."
9. Don't waste time getting ready. After a decision is made, act. Don't be the person who begins to commence to think about getting ready to start.
10. Remember that your problem is very much the same as that of the individual on your right or on your left.

'Twas autumn in the year one. The sun was slowly sinking in the west. Even then the sun had learned to set in the west. Adam felt lonely. Darkness came on apace. There was a rustle of leaves. It was Eve.

California Pelican

Holy Cross Sluggers Defeat Green and Gold

(Continued from page 6)

Smith, 2b	4	0	2	1	1
Bradley, rf	3	0	2	0	1
Fogg, cf	3	0	2	0	1
Randall, 3b	3	0	7	0	1
Aronson, c	3	0	3	0	1
Moriarty, p	1	0	0	0	0
Roark, p	3	0	0	0	0
Totals	30	2	24	4	6

Holy Cross	ab	h	po	a	e
Walsh, 3b	3	0	3	3	0
McMahon, 2b	3	3	1	3	2
Cote, ss	4	0	3	4	0
Morrisey, rf	4	0	1	0	0
Freeman, lf	4	1	1	0	0
Savage, cf	5	1	0	0	0
McEntee, 1b	4	1	9	0	0
Doherty, c	3	1	10	0	0
Davidson, p	1	1	0	1	0
Fons, p	3	1	0	0	0
Totals	32	8	27	10	2

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Vermont	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Holy Cross	0	0	0	5	4	0	1	0	*	10

Runs: Walsh, Freeman 2, Savage 2, McEntee, Doherty 2, Fons. Two base hits: McEntee, McMahon. Stolen bases: McMahon, Savage. Sacrifice hits: Walsh, Fons. Double plays: Smith and Randall, Conway and Randall. Left on bases: Holy Cross 7, Vermont 5. Base on balls: off Fons 2, off Moriarty 4, off Roark 3. Hits: off Davidson none in 3⅓ innings, off Fons 3 in 5⅔ innings, off Moriarty 5 in 4 innings, off Roark 3 in 4 innings. Struck out: by Davidson 5, by Fons 5, by Roark 3. Passed ball: Aronson. Umpires: Barry and Hendricksen. Time 2 hours, 25 minutes.

Springfield Loses to Varsity by a 4-2 Score

(Continued from page 6)

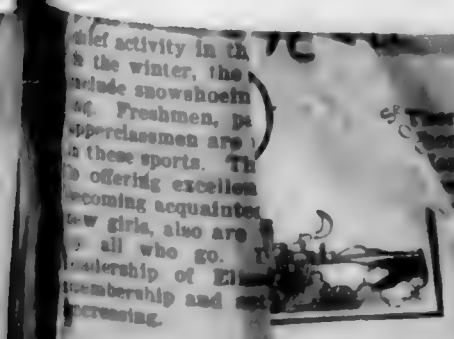
James, 2b	2	0	0	3	3	0
Yates, rf	2	0	0	0	1	0
*Elliott, c	4	0	1	4	5	1
Erickson, p	3	0	0	1	4	0
†Wagner	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	32	2	7	27	17	1

*Elliott ran for Berry in 3rd
†Wagner batted for Erickson in 9th.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Vermont	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	2	4
Springfield	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	2

Two-base hits: Randall, Aronson. Stolen bases: Conway, Morse 2, Bradley. Sacrifices: Conway, Shanks, James. Double play: Berry to James to Mahnken. Left on bases: Vermont 6, Springfield 9. Bases on balls: off Fogg 4, off Erickson 5. Struck out: by Fogg 3, by Erickson 7. Wild pitch: Fogg. Umpires: Miller and Waters. Time: 1 hour, 55 minutes.

For your dances and hops buy
The "Original Fruit Punch"
$1.00 gallon, delivered
With Ice and Fruit
BOOTH'S DRUG STORE
College St. — Opp. Park



U. V. M.

We will paint or imprint FREE any school, fraternity or your own initials on that slicker or raincoat you buy from us.

WORK DONE BY AN EXPERT

PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
29 Church Street

...chief activity in th... ...in the winter, the ...include snowshoein... ...of. Freshmen, pa... ...upperclassmen are ... ...in these sports. Th... ...is offering excellen... ...becoming acquainte... ...new girls, also are ... ...to all who go. ...leadership of El... ...membership and ... ...increasing.

...There ...were ...were

...at guard. Nunn at tackle, Tenny Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct. 2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct. 9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here

...Lloyd Raymond... ...215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Hin... ...Ham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne ... Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Ed... D. Marshall, 187; and Lawren... Averill, 186. The requirement... qualification were 186 points ... possible 250. The slow ... were 200 yards stand... kneeling and sitting ... prone. The rapid fi...

(Continued ...

The Weekly Wetness

[illegible]

• • • • •

[illegible]

Dear Aunt Deborah:

[illegible] Heretofore I have had no difficulty in maintaining the proper poise of my position. But now I fear that I am perpetrating the unpardonable sin by overstaying my welcome. I have come to the conclusion that this is a sufficient excuse to the gentle art. Yesterday after walking down Church Street I made the painful discovery that I was carrying a bag of onions and a pound of pork chops on the crook of my cane. I should have proceeded up in some state. I reasoned that it would be best not to agitate the cane unless my arm was fully extended and projected too far for social convenience. I then noticed a well groomed brother swinging his parcels on his cane before him as he went. I tried this only to get the dreaded thing tangled in the legs of an approaching gentleman throwing him to the sidewalk. The gentleman was being picked up and dusted off proved to be no pleasantries pro cessary. Dear Aunt Deborah just how should the thing be managed?

Distressingly

M G P

Dear M G P

Yours is a problem that I have had to deal with frequently in the past three weeks. A number of suggestions have been offered. One that has proved useful is to purchase a pair of roller skates tying one on either side. A small dog leash attached to the cane will enable you to drag the cane behind you without much inconvenience. Or you might find it a help to get a small bicycle tail light on one end with a No Parking sign on the other. These signs may be procured at Phi Delt house. But after all I think the best plan is this. Hang your cane on the chandelier of your room or the door knob if no chandelier is available. Look at it from all angles to make sure that it is hanging evenly with a good firm stance. Put on your hat and coat. Look at the cane once more to make sure that all is well with it. Leave the cane on the chandelier (or door knob) and go out being careful to close the door quietly behind you. In the majority of cases and especially in stubborn ones this will be found to be the best remedy.

Sympathetically

Aunt Deborah

We (Diogenes) had planned to continue our Perfectly Awful Limerick Contest for some weeks further before awarding the prize. This indeed is still our intention. But having been presented by a stranger clad of no mean appearance with the following contribution we were much touched, and decided upon the spot that a prize had been well earned and that the least we could do in token of appreciation would be a personal vote thanking your stern for the favored R R T Loop.

Dear Mr Diogenes

I have always had a most unbearable desire to ride around the R R T Loop and am having complete confidence in the weakness of this have been I crave your attention.

Proposed Cut System for Academs Is Considered by Administration

A committee from Student Senate to consider the [illegible] proposed by the [illegible] and Tuesday with representatives of faculty and administration to talk over the feasibility of [illegible] a system of [illegible] which [illegible] at this meeting the matter was thoroughly discussed and the student committee [illegible] to work out the details as given [illegible] with a view to [illegible] which [illegible]

[illegible] with the help of the Student Affairs committee and Professor Clifford [illegible] F W Rollins [illegible] the committee [illegible] Middlebury, Dartmouth, Williams, Amherst, University of Maine, Harvard and Bowdoin. The system as proposed would apply only to students in the College of Arts and Sciences and only to students from that college. It would not apply to [illegible] where work is done in close touch with outside preparation.

The system is based upon the theory that there are in the Arts and Sciences College certain students who have come here to get the most possible out of the money and time expended and that at least a portion of these students have sufficient intellect and character to make it unnecessary to drive them to master the subjects which they elect.

The proposal is, that in conection with the general attitude of recognition of the peculiar requirements of the exceptional student on the part of the university, those students be allowed a certain amount of discretion in class attendance. This freedom from strict regularity of attendance would be granted only to members of the two upper classes, and only to those members whose academic work had shown that they were in college for the purpose of learning, and that they were of sufficiently high intellectual ability and sufficiently diligent to be trusted to employ to the best advantage the time taken from classes.

The details of the system must be worked out in such a way that it will not become simply the means for students to cut down class attendance without applying that time to better advantage. It must be applied so that courses with few students will not be entirely disrupted, and so that the details of administration will not be sufficiently great to injure the effectiveness of the plan or to make it excessively expensive of execution.

The idea of the system is, broadly, that the higher the scholarship of the individual, the more liberty he shall have in personally deciding how a particular hour should be devoted in order to give him a real education. Marks are taken as a gauge only in the absence of any other suitable index. It was the hope of at least some of the students interested that the scheme would also work out so as to bring about uniformity of absence regulations in the Arts College. This college only was included in the scheme, because of the more technical nature of the courses in the other colleges; and an attempt was made to exclude from consideration all courses of such a nature.

The student committee received advice from the administration as to the sort of working system which would stand a chance of receiving serious consideration at the hands of the Arts faculty, and was asked to work over the details of the plan in accordance with the suggestions of the administration representatives, and submit it at a future meeting.

Honor Societies for Coming Year Announced

(Continued from page 1)

J A Smith, Dedham, Mass.; C H Stevens Winooski; G. S. Talcott, Williston; M V. Taylor, Jr., Richford; R M Whitcomb, Essex Junction

Kappa Mu Epsilon

A. R. Hill, Winooski; D. C. London, Burlington; S. H. Martin, Bethlehem, Pa.; J. R. Morton, Montclair, N. J.; O B Nye, Highgate Center; C. G Simpson, Lyndon Center; H. E. Southworth, Post Mills

Gold Key

L. M. Bjorn, Barre; H. D. Elmer, Claremont, N. H.; P. M. Fitch, St Johnsbury; M. Goldman, Brooklyn, N Y; W S. Hall, Bennington; A. G Mackay, Peacham; C. C. Macomber, Fairfax; S. M. Martinetti, Barre; H R. Mattison, Bennington; B. R Morse, Burlington; F. J. O'Neill, St Albans; A. W. Phelon, Springfield, Mass.; J. R. Pike, St. Johnsbury; K L. Price, Burlington; M. C. Lane Cambridge; L. E. Roark, E. Barre; F E Robbins, Brattleboro; L R Robinson, Pittsford Mills; R. M Tracey Rutland; G. B. R. Van Name Staten Island, N. Y.; R. E. Young, Bellows Falls

Omicron Nu

Helen M French of St. Johnsbury, Mariam L. Dailey of Derby, and Agnes J Innes of Thomaston, Conn. May 1926, Marion A. Putnam of Wardsboro, and Myrtle M. Start of Bakersfield

The Freshman's Lament

There once was a Freshman quite gay
Who never the rules would obey.
So the paddle did dangle
On th' lads assumed angle
He the price of his folly did pay.

Kingsley Prize Goes to Peter V. Brikiatis

(Continued from page 1)

George W. Marks. The R. O. T. C. Band played several selections during the contest.

Brikiatis '29, winner of first prize was perfectly at home on the platform and striding up and down, speaking with the pep and assurance of a veteran held the large audience spellbound. He was by far the best speaker of the afternoon delivering a speech of his own composition upon the reason why the United States should recognize Russia and the future results of our refusal to do so.

Fate of Semi-Weekly to Be Decided Soon

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] semester of last year [illegible] ment, provided a [illegible] of the student body.

That at the end of the mass meeting of the [illegible] whether the plan shall [illegible] as a permanent one. In favorable action the subscription price (not to exceed [illegible] will be included in the [illegible] ter fees. In the case of action, the subscription [illegible] main the same as formerly plan will be discontinued.

This recommendation was [illegible] by President Bailey and [illegible] turned over to the Student Union has already considered and decided, in view of extensive implications [illegible] decision to vote at mass [illegible]

Correct
Shoe Repairing
AT LOWEST PRICES
J. A. Sikora 188 Bank St.

BAILLARGEON'S
BARBER SHOP
Nuff Said
25 Church St.

T. P. O'HARA, Tailoring
170 BANK ST.

Blue Serge Suits
2 Pair Trousers, $32
Top Coats, $19 to $24
Knickers, $4

ELLSWORTH'S
The home of fine watches and diamonds
Successor to A. G. Mansur
71 CHURCH STREET

Here's
Parker Duofold
WITH THE 25-YEAR POINT in rich
Black and Gold
The same Pen and Price as the Parker Duofold in Lacquer-red, Black-tipped
$5 and $7
Choose your Color, Choose your Size, Choose your Point
Extra-Fine, Fine, Medium, Broad Stub or Oblique
Get everything you want and get it in this Classic of Pens with Point guaranteed for 25-years.
Good pen counters have it for you to try. Stop at the nearest.
THE PARKER PEN COMPANY
Duofold Pencils to match the Pens: Lady, $3; Over-size Jr., $3.50; "Big Brother" Over-size, $4
Factory and General Offices
JANESVILLE, WIS.

Boulder Society

[illegible] Atkinson

[illegible] manager of football [illegible] new catcher on the [illegible]ad. He is a member [illegible] Key and Serpent, and [illegible]. He is a graduate [illegible] School

[illegible] Averill

[illegible] Franklin Academy [illegible] member of Sigma Nu [illegible] elected manager [illegible] is advertising manager [illegible] Baskin and Chairman

M. Egan

[illegible] scholarship graduate [illegible] High School and a [illegible] Sigma. He will be [illegible] next winter and is [illegible]er and assistant man-

[illegible] J. Humphrey

[illegible] assistant manager of [illegible] of the Glee Club this [illegible] a member of Student [illegible] the 1927 Ariel Board, [illegible] Key and Serpent and [illegible] is a graduate of Proc-[illegible]

[illegible] M. James

[illegible] assistant manager of track, [illegible] the Ariel Board, Student [illegible] and several committees. [illegible] a member of Sigma Phi and [illegible] Hardwick Academy.

[illegible] M. Lockwood

[illegible] is a native of Burlington and [illegible] next year's Kake Walk [illegible] business manager of the [illegible] and secretary of Student Senate the [illegible] class president his first [illegible] and chairman of the Sophomore [illegible] the folowing year. He belongs to Gold Key, Key and Serpent, and Phi Delta Theta.

Raymond E. Lyon

[illegible] has been active in journalistic [illegible] as editor of the CYNIC, [illegible] editor of the Press Club, photographic editor of the Ariel, and member of Pi Delta Rho. He is also a member of Key and Serpent and [illegible] Iota

Lewis J. Moodie

[illegible] an honor scholarship man [illegible] Cutsbury Academy and belongs [illegible] Gold Key and Phi Mu Delta. He [illegible] Manager-elect of Freshman football, assistant manager of tennis, and [illegible] of the Junior Class. He has [illegible] on the CYNIC and Ariel Boards, Student Senate, and various committees. He is a letter man in basketball three years, being captain this year, and is a letter man in track. He was class president last year and is vice-president of Student Senate. He belongs to Gold Key, Key and Serpent, and Sigma Nu.

Don M. Rockwell

Don is another Proctor High School man, director of the 1927 Kake Walk and manager of the Glee Club. He was assistant manager of football this year and a member of the Ariel and Cynic Boards. He belongs to Key and Serpent and Kappa Sigma.

Carl G. Simpson

Carl is captain of track and business manager of 1927 Ariel. He is a graduate of Lyndon Institute and a member of Gold Key, Key and Serpent, Pi Delta Rho, and Phi Mu Delta.

Archibald T. Post

Archie comes from Saratoga [illegible] High School and now lives in [illegible]. He has played Varsity basketball three years, being captain this year, and is a letter man in track. He was class president last year and is vice-president of Student Senate. He belongs to Gold Key, Key and Serpent, and Sigma Nu.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

RED 46 DEPT. STORE
"The Store of Progress"
BURLINGTON VERMONT

STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES

YOUNG'S HATS

No Entertainment, Dance or Reception is complete without
FREDDIE'S FRUIT PUNCH
Prepared only by
CENTRAL DRUG CO.
Cor. Church and College Sts.

HENRY'S DINER
QUICK SERVICE
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices
155 BANK STREET

Turk Says
Spring Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay per week for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the Budget comes from — Ture's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

Crows

In a field in sunny Spain stands a stone mortar. Crows hover around it, picking up bits of grain and chaff—cawing.

Here Marcheta, in the fresh beauty of her youth, will come to pound maize. For years she will pound maize. The stone will stand up under the blows; not a dent has the muscle of three generations of women made upon it. But the crows will hurl their black gibes upon a woman aging early and bent with toil. Old Marcheta—still in her thirties.

The American woman does not pound maize. But she still beats carpet; she still pounds clothes; she still pumps water. She exhausts her strength in tasks which electricity can do better, and in half the time.

The high ideals of a community mean little where woman is still doomed to drudgery. But the miracles which electricity already has performed indicate but a fraction of the vast possibilities for better living and the tremendous opportunities which the future developments in electricity will hold for the college man and woman.

Electricity, which can release woman from her burdens, has already created a revolution in American industry. Wherever mankind labors, General Electric motors can be found carrying loads, driving machinery and saving time and labor. And there is no branch of electrical development today to which General Electric has not made important contributions.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

[illegible] activity in th[illegible] the winter, the [illegible]nclude snowshoein[illegible]g. Freshmen, p[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] coming acquainte[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. T[illegible] leadership of [illegible] membership and [illegible] increasing.

[illegible] Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

[illegible] Lloyd Royce 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; [illegible]ham J. Humphrey, 196; [illegible] Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; [illegible] D. Marshall, 187; and Lawr[illegible] Averill, 186. The requirem[illegible] qualification were 184 points [illegible] possible 250. The slow fi[illegible] were 200 yards standing [illegible] kneeling and sitting [illegible] prone. The rapi[illegible]

(Continued on page [illegible])

Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE TO MEET AT NORTHFIELD

500 University Delegates Will Be Present—Many Exceptional Speakers

[illegible] annual [illegible] Association conference [illegible] at Silver Bay for the [illegible] will be held at the old [illegible] conference grounds at Northfield Mass. Those [illegible] are beginning [illegible] with the presidents and secretaries of [illegible] Student Government Henry [illegible] Wilson and Miss Mandy head the [illegible] delegation. Each [illegible] have assigned duties to perform [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] leaders of [illegible]

The conference this year will be [illegible] the 21st of June to the 23rd [illegible] The program consists of [illegible] meeting and evening forums [illegible] of the morning and [illegible] recreation hours and other [illegible] in the afternoon. Among the [illegible] listed for this year include [illegible] Mason for the first three [illegible] Dr. Speer Henry Hallam [illegible] Van Dusen and others [illegible] are famous.

About 500 delegates will be present [illegible] various universities in the [illegible] including Harvard, Yale Dartmouth, Williams, Wesleyan and the [illegible] of Vermont and many others. The local Christian Association [illegible] a delegation of 20 men. [illegible] information see Mark [illegible] '27 or R. B. Maxted, the Association Secretary.

NEWS BRIEFS

The federal inspection of the R. O. T. C. battalion and the distinguished [illegible] are the present goals at which the Military Department is aiming. In the past eleven years the Vermont unit has been among the "distinguished" colleges eight times. The winning of this honor entitles members of the battalion to the wearing of a blue star on the coat sleeve.

Approximately thirty students, composed for the most part of those taking the advanced military course, have signed up for the R. O. T. C. camp at Camp Devens held from June 18 to [illegible]

Psi Chi announces the pledging of D. N. Montague '28 of Underhill.

Sigma Alpha Chi announces the pledging of W. A. Dodge '29 of Johnson and C. G. Castle '28 of Springfield, Mass.

Sigma Phi announces the pledging of H. K. Morse '29 of this city.

Key and Serpent Society held a dance Friday evening, April 30, in the gymnasium. Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Dean were chaperones and music was furnished by the Algonquins.

Many hearts were gladdened by the announcement of Boulder Society appearing last week that Frosh caps need not be worn after May 1. However all the other rules are still in force, especially that some sort of headgear must be worn at all times.

The A. S. M. E. held its regular [illegible] monthly meeting April 21, 1926 in the Engineering building. Several members of the society read papers which they had written after research. Among the subjects were: "Life of Goodyear," by G. Steare Wilcox; "Automatic Train Control," by Beebe Winslow; and "Airplane Development" by Arthur Ross Hill.

The R. O. T. C. Band will give a concert Wednesday evening, May 5 at St. Albans. Afterwards a representative orchestra will play for dancing. About forty-five men will make the trip under the leadership of Joseph P. Lechnyr.

The last issue of the Vermont Cynic was edited by the women members of the staff and a very creditable edition it was.—Georgetown University Hoya

CROCKETT IS CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATORSHIP

[illegible] Crockett has announced [illegible] is a candidate for State Senator [illegible] Chittenden County. Mr. Crockett [illegible] very capable active in town and [illegible] affairs being [illegible] alderman, [illegible] prosecutor and head [illegible] the [illegible] of the University [illegible] extension [illegible] publicity for the State of Vermont. He has also been [illegible] editor of the Burlington Free Press, news editor of the [illegible] Vermonter and managing [illegible] of the Montpelier Journal. He [illegible] these positions of the Vermont Legislature [illegible] as a reporter [illegible] Capital reporter of the Herald.

[illegible] writes pretty [illegible] about Vermont, her [illegible] history, her industries and her possibilities. Some of [illegible] are used as text books in Vermont schools.

Mr. Crockett will be a Republican [illegible] that a candidate for an office should make but few promises and express his views on current problems as they arise. He also believes in a small amount of good legislation rather than a large amount of poor legislation.

R. O. T. C. CONCERT TO BE FOLLOWED BY DANCE

On Friday evening, May 14, the R. O. T. C. Band will give its annual spring concert. A student dance will follow the concert.

The Band, under the leadership of Joseph P. Lechnyr, now consists of fifty members, including the bugle corps which was organized last fall. During the fall and winter it played at most of the intercollegiate contests.

A busy program is outlined for this spring, including, besides the home concert, several prospective trips, federal inspection, Founder's Day, the baseball games and Memorial Day.

WALTER CAMP MEMORIAL TO BE ERECTED AT YALE

A massive stone gateway will soon be erected at Yale in memory of the late Walter Camp, the "Father of American Football," if present plans can be pushed through to completion.

By the terms of an agreement between Yale Corporation and the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the memorial will be a tribute not from Yale alumni alone, but every college and preparatory school where football is played. The arch, costing $300,000, is to be placed at the entrance to the athletic fields, which will be renamed Walter Camp Fields in his honor.

Yale men will raise one half of the required amount and the N. C. A. A. has undertaken the remainder of the financing. A committee has been appointed, under the chairmanship of E. K. Hall of Dartmouth and consisting of men who were associated with Camp in his long work in football, to bring the matter to the attention of American colleges.

NEW TRAIN SCHEDULES GO INTO EFFECT MAY 1

In the new train schedules there are several items of interest to college students.

On the Central Vermont, the south bound trains (daily) leave at 11:25 A. M. instead of 11:00; at 3:35 A. M. instead of 3:55 to connect with the Bostonian; and (daily except Sunday) at 6:30 instead of 6:50.

The train leaving White River Junction at 11:35, arriving in Burlington at 3:55 P. M. has been discontinued.

On the Rutland Railroad, the south bound morning mail leaves at 6:45 instead of 7:45 on week days, the afternoon mail from Boston comes at 4:30 instead of 5:30.

The students of vivisection at Johns Hopkins are experiencing quite a bit of difficulty in securing subjects for their work. After having been arrested for cruelty to the feline species, they were released, when their purpose was learned.

At a meeting of the Faculty Club last Saturday at the home of Prof. A. B. Myrick, Prof. Tupper read a paper on "Medieval Women."

MORTAR BOARD TAKES SEVEN NEW MEMBERS

The following girls have been chosen [illegible] Mortar Board Senior Women's Honorary Society.

Charlotte S. Brown of Winchendon, Mass., who has been outstanding in society work on the campus, a member of Women's Self Board, Assistant Engineer, Class Nominating Committee, Lilac Day Committee, House Committee, House President, Glee Club and coach of Volley Ball.

Arline J. Cushing of Newport prominent in athletics, a member of Judiciary Committee, W. A. A. Council, Ariel Board, Junior Week Committee, Baseball, Campus Manager of Basketball, Basketball Manager Basketball, Hockey and Soccer.

Doris M. Harbour of Bennington, Vt., who has been Discussion Group Leader, on House Committee, Basketball, Vermonters' Club Vice-President, Y. W. C. A. Secretary, Y. W. C. A. President, member of Dramatic Club and Pathfinders.

Loretta M. Jennings of St. Albans, who has been Manager of Glee Club, Women's Editor of Ariel, Cynic Board, Intercollegiate Editor, Vice-President of Newman Club, Junior Week Committee, and President of Vermonters' Club.

Naomi Thorne, of Oradell, N. J., a member of Dramatic Club, Ariel Board, Chairman Freshman Rules Committee, Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, College Song Leader, Basketball, Hockey, Volley Ball, Soccer, Baseball, Class Vice-President, W. A. A. Council and President of W. A. A.

Lois Wright of Essex Junction, a member of Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, W. A. A. Cabinet, Basketball, Hockey, Soccer, Student Union Council, Glee Club, and Secretary of Glee Club.

Elizabeth Warner of Vergennes who is Student Union President and has been Women's Editor of Cynic, a member of Bluestockings and Dramatic Club.

The recent meeting of the Men's Student Council of the University of Kansas resulted in several unique decisions. A war against dance "crashers" began with the infliction of $5 fines on six men in the university. Full publicity was given the affair and this step is expected to fully check the evil practice. Another feature which met with much acclaim was the decision to restrict the number of cars on the campus and the enforcement of rigid campus traffic rules.

SIGMA ALPHA CHI SUBMITS PETITION

Local Fraternity Is Desirous of Joining Sigma Alpha Epsilon

The Sigma Alpha [illegible] recently issued a petition [illegible] chapter of the Sigma [illegible] Fraternity, one of the [illegible] fraternities. Containing, [illegible] printed in two colors, the [illegible] only describes Sigma Alpha [illegible] organization, but tells [illegible] the State, of Burlington [illegible] University of Vermont [illegible] tains views of the Univer[illegible] and other points of inte[illegible] copy has been sent to [illegible] Sigma Alpha Epsilon chap[illegible] country, and to officers of [illegible] provinces into which the [illegible] is territorially divided [illegible] only six chapters in N[illegible] three of these being in M[illegible] two in New Hampshire [illegible] Maine. The petition will [illegible] liminary consideration at [illegible] Convention in December [illegible] pha Chi was founded in [illegible] 1922. Last September its [illegible] changed to 56 Summit [illegible] the residence of Professor [illegible] Emerson.

SENIOR WARBLERS WIN CUP IN CLASS SING

The Lyman Cup was awar[illegible] seniors in the class sing [illegible] noon for their rendition of [illegible] the Waters," and "Vermont," under the leadership of [illegible] all E. Mower of Burlington. Honorable mention was given to the [illegible] men, who sang "Champlain" and Miss Lillian B. Tomlinson of Mystic, Conn., leader.

The Junior Class gave "[illegible] We're Loyal to You," under [illegible] Mower of Burlington, and the sophomores. "Harvard Has Her Crimson" and "High O'er the Waters" [illegible] Corbin C. Lyman of Winooski.

SENATE WILL ENFORCE ATTENDANCE OF MEMBERS

At a meeting of Student Senate [illegible] Sunday, constitutional [illegible] were passed which provide [illegible] unexcused cuts of Senate meetings [illegible] a semester will drop a [illegible] membership, and that a quorum shall consist of two-thirds instead of three-fourths of the members.

HOW IMPROVE KAKE WALK?

There are several items in the putting on of the annual Kake Walk which the Directors feel could be bettered. Chief among these is the question of first night attendance. In past years this has been falling off probably due in part to the fact that the awards are not made until the second night. Since Kake Walk is primarily a student affair, the Directors feel that there should be some good ideas among the student body. There should also be some ideas among the alumni, who are able to judge Kake Walk from a different standpoint than we on the hill can. With this in mind, the accompanying form has been printed in the Cynic and any person who thinks he has a good idea will fill out the blank space and send the form in.

1. Ways of increasing first night attendance.

   .....

   .....

2. Suggestions in regard to Stunts.

   .....

   .....

3. Suggestions in regard to Kake Walking.

   .....

   .....

4. Suggestions in regard to the Peerade.

   .....

   .....

5. Any other suggestions.

   .....

   .....

Suggestions along these lines would be greatly appreciated. They may be submitted to W. M. Lockwood, 230 South Winooski Ave., Burlington, Vermont.

The Vermont Cynic

VOL. XLI BURLINGTON, VT., MAY 15 1926 NUMBER 26

FIRST HOME BALL GAME A VICTORY FOR VERMONT

Clarkson Receives a Shutout 3-0 —Team Shows Improvement

[illegible] its home season in [illegible] manner sending Clark[illegible] the small end of a 3-0 [illegible] interesting battle. Mor[illegible] the mound for the Green [illegible] he twirled a heady [illegible] Carney, the Clarkson cap[illegible] a mighty nice game, [illegible] seven hits, but fielding [illegible] part of his mates had [illegible] on many occasions. Ver[illegible] errorless ball and took [illegible] all lapses on the part of [illegible] Clarkson's biggest scoring [illegible] came in the eighth when [illegible] filled with but one out. [illegible] the next hitter and [illegible] following man to ground [illegible].

[illegible] scored in the first. Con[illegible] as did Morse. Smith [illegible] Bradley singled scoring [illegible] In the second Thompson [illegible] on the shortstop's error. [illegible] on Moriarty's out at first [illegible] on Valenti's single. The [illegible] for the afternoon in the [illegible] when Smith singled, stole [illegible] ed to third on Bradley's [illegible] to the outfield and scored when [illegible] ker erred on Randall's [illegible] Thompson caught a nice [illegible] for Vermont while Morse and [illegible] collected two hits apiece. [illegible] Haskell and MacCartney [illegible] for the visitors.

The summary:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
[illegible]	1	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	*
[illegible]rson	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0

Batteries: [illegible] Carney and Mangan.

DATES OF FRATERNITY RUSHING SEASON SAME

A meeting of the Interfraternity Council was held Wednesday evening at Sigma Phi Place to revise the rushing rules. The plan drawn up by the Council before Easter and the one presented by Sigma Phi were discussed.

The new rules will bring the rushing season in October as heretofore. Instead of three afternoons and three evenings the rushing dates will comprise four evenings and one Saturday afternoon. The bids will be given out on a Sunday at 2 p. m., and from 12 midnight Saturday night, after the last rushing date until 6 p. m., Sunday there will be a strict neutral period in which no fraternity man shall approach any Freshman. A faculty council consisting of 5 fraternity members of the faculty, and not members on the council will be elected annually to judge all charges of breaking the rules. The names of persons bringing charges will be withheld. The record of a fraternity convicted of breaking the rules shall be published in the Cynic and the Freshman Handbook. A fraternity withdrawing from the council will suffer the same penalties as for breaking the rules.

The June number of "Review of Reviews" is to contain pictures of New England scenery. The local Chamber of Commerce on request, has received several points in the state from which to obtain a picture of Univer-

SENIORS!

Gather on the steps of the Billings Library tomorrow (Sunday) evening at 7.00 o'clock for the Senior Sing, in pursuance of a custom established by the Class of '25. Everyone come.

CYNIC MEETING

There will be a meeting of the entire Cynic Board Tuesday afternoon at 4.00 in Room 3, North College. This meeting is for the purpose of revising the organization of the staff for next year's work. It is essential that everyone be present.

MONTREAL OUTPOINTS TRACK TEAM IN MEET

A week ago today the Montreal A. A. A. track team invaded Centennial Field and pranced away from the locals 81⅓ to 53⅓.

Montabone, McKechnie and Carruthers were a track team in themselves each taking a first in two events. Crouter was outclassed, taking only a second and two-thirds being the only Vermont man to place in the dashes. The track records were past, however, with 10 flat for the 100 yards, 22⅘ for 220 yards, 54⅘ for the 440. In the hurdles Shaw took two-thirds, and Robbins a second in the 220 low hurdles. Devereaux was way ahead of the field in the two-mile, pacing it 10.26⅕ with Rowe third. The Quebec aggregation led also in the mile but Post and Albee took the places.

In the field events the Green and Gold showed up much better winning three first, five seconds and five and half thirds.

Capt. Simpson was high point man for Vermont with a first and three seconds.

In the pole vault Consiglio of the M. A. made 11 feet 3 inches with Witten and Hastings trailing.

The broad jump gave the Maple Leafers only a third with Hastings and Prentice leading with 20 feet 2 inches to win.

Olney Hill broke the state record for the hammer with 145 feet 2 inches. Capt. Simpson took second.

The shot put went to Goma of the visitors with a heave of 39.07½, Simpson and Kropper placing.

Goma also took the javelin with 158 feet 7½ inches. Simpson and Platt trailing. Capt. Simpson threw the discus 118 feet 9½ inches and Carruthers (M.) and Katz (V.) took the second and third.

C. ABBOTT RETURNS FROM BATON ROUGE CONVENTION

Local Chapter Had Delegate at Scabbard and Blade National Encampment

Carl Abbott '26 returned recently from the convention of the Scabbard and Blade Society held in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, April 29, 30 and May 1. Incidentally, the convention was held at the same time as the dedication of the new buildings of the University of Louisiana. Delegates from sixty-seven colleges were present, representing practically every state in the Union, while some colleges were represented by more than one delegate. Among the speakers were General Bullard, second in command to General Pershing during the last war, General Lejeune of the Marines, and R. A. Charles of the American Defense Association.

The idea of the conference, though not definitely expressed, seemed to be that in the course of time disarmament equally with other nations will come about, but at present disarmament is merely an ideal and not practical.

The discussion of the conference centered around the suppression of pacificist propaganda throughout schools and colleges. The attitude of the conference was against war, but it was believed that peace will come only through adaquate armament.

Senate Returned As Result of Ballot By Men Students

Popular Vote Also Favors Publication of Cynic as Semi-Weekly —Emory Mower '27, Cheerleader—Mass Meeting Precedes Poll

Student Senate and the semi-weekly Cynic were overwhelmingly favored by the men students at the poll conducted Monday and Tuesday in the Old Mill. Student Senate as the organ of student government was installed after a year's trial by a vote of 298 to 51. The semi-weekly Cynic plan was adopted 267 to 67. Results of the poll were announced at the Boulder smoker held Thursday evening.

A mass meeting of the men students was held Saturday to discuss the Senate and the Cynic policy. At that time Raymond E. Lyon and William Lockwood editor and business manager of the Cynic appeared and presented the reasons why a change to a semi-weekly basis would be desirable. Their reasons were much like those which have appeared from time to time in the Cynic. There was comparatively no discussion in the meeting until a Junior challenged the right of Freshmen to vote on the questions before the meeting. A heated discussion took place, in which several Freshmen participated. A motion to allow the first year men to vote was carried by a small majority. It was announced that Emory C. Mower and George Leary were the candidates for cheerleader. Recommendations for mascot gave preference to the catamount and the lynx. In a Senate report presented by R. M. Thompson '26.

The entire body of men students were given an opportunity to express their opinion and choice on the foregoing questions and nominations by a secret ballot cast at a poll in an Old Mill corridor. About one-half of the men students took part in the poll. Besides sanctioning the Senate and the semi-weekly Cynic, the men elected Emory C. Mower of Burlington cheerleader and adopted the catamount as the official mascot over the lynx by a vote of 138 to 126. 61 men favored no mascot, others suggested cows, the camel, the tom-cat and other animals.

The Student Senate has been functioning for a year and has been considered far more efficient than the old weekly mass meeting type of government. During its year of existence the Senate has made a creditable showing.

(Continued on page 2)

ST. MICHAEL'S HELPLESS BEFORE "LEFTY" ROARK

The Varsity defeated St. Michael's College in the annual game on May 8 the official score being 9-0 (forfeit). The teams had played up to the eighth, the score being 6-0 in favor of Vermont at that point. Owing to Coach Burns protesting a decision at third the team was called off the field with the result that a forfeit was announced. St. Michael's was helpless before a superb exhibition of twirling on the part of "Lefty" Roark, who did not permit a solitary bingle, neither did he pass a man. Vermont hit opportunely and took advantage of their opponents' misplays. Randall was hitting star for Vermont rapping out a double and a single.

UNIVERSITY BATTALION GOES THRU INSPECTION

The University Battalion was carefully inspected Thursday and Friday by Major Thompson Lawrence of the Tank Corps, Camp Meade, and Major R. M. Danford, Office Chief of Field Artillery, Washington D. C. As has been customary the inspectors did not give any results and it will not be until June when it will be definitely known whether the battalion is rated in the distinguished class.

Inspection began Thursday morning with theoretical work in class rooms by the advanced students. A review of the entire battalion occurred at 9 o'clock. Inspection, close order drill, practical tests in rifle marksmanship, scouting and mechanics and use of weapons took up the remainder of the morning. In the afternoon, a field problem was worked out near South Burlington.

Friday morning the inspectors met the Sophomores and Freshmen in classroom. The inspection was concluded with a thorough examination of the armory, equipment, rifle range, records and facilities of the battalion.

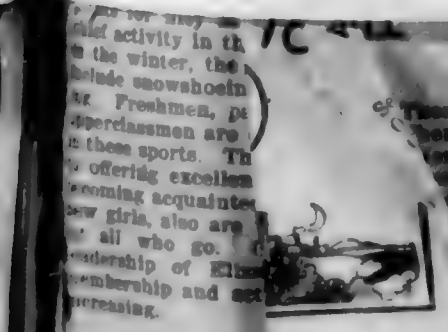
HAROLD WILSON IS HEAD OF N. E. Y. P. FELLOWSHIP

At the meeting on May 8 and 9 of the New England Young People's Fellowship held in Providence, R. I., Harold Wilson '26 of Bethel, Vermont, was elected president. About three hundred fifty delegates, mostly college and high school students attended the convention. The Fellowship is composed of the young people of the Episcopal Church. Besides being president of the New England Association, Mr. Wilson is president of the Vermont Association. While at the convention he acted as toastmaster at the banquet. Erwin Gould '28 is president of the local association.

FACULTY NOTES

Professors Groat and Robinson were in Italy when last heard from. Prof. Groat returns home early this summer, while Prof. Robinson intends to come home this fall.

Miss Colburn recently spoke before the Athena Club on Early Colonial Art. During better homes week she spoke on Better Principles for the Home.



Prof. Lutman is about to sail for this country. He has been spending several months in Vienna on research work.

Prof. Burns recently spoke before one of the men's clubs in the city on Forestry.

CATAMOUNT TO BE MASCOT

COMBINED GLEE CLUBS GIVE SPRING CONCERT

The culmination of a year's training on the part of the Men's and Women's Glee Club came Friday night, May 7 in the annual concert of the clubs at the gymnasium. The audience was large and responsive, and the applause was a tribute to the work that the clubs have done. The program included songs by the separate clubs, by the combined clubs, and violin solos by Miss Eleanor Chapman '26. The "Song of the Lumbermen" and "Bonnie Dundee" by the men were especially well received, as were "Now is the month of Maying" and "Love Will Find a Way," by the women, and the finale, "Hallelujah, Amen," by the combined clubs. The clubs were directed by Prof. H. G. Bennett, who has trained them throughout the year. Miss Margaret Corbin '29 was the accompanist. Miss Margaret Hazen '26 accompanied Miss Chapman.

[illegible] activity in th[illegible] the winter, the [illegible]clude snowshoein[illegible] Freshmen, p[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] coming acquainte[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. [illegible] leadership of Elm[illegible] membership and act[illegible] increasing.

[illegible] at guard, Nilson at tackle, Tommy Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

[illegible] marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne [illegible] Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence Averill, 186. The requirements [illegible] qualification were 180 points [illegible] possible 250. The slow fire [illegible] were 200 yards standing, [illegible] kneeling and sitting, [illegible] prone. The rapid fire [illegible]

(Continued [illegible]

Senate Returned as Result of Ballot by Students

(Continued from page 1)

JUNIORS TO ELECT SENATORS TUESDAY

A junior class meeting will be held [illegible] on Tuesday [illegible] representatives [illegible] seven representatives [illegible] president who automatically [illegible] A member which elected [illegible] has been holding [illegible] further nominations from [illegible] will be in order. College of [illegible] H A Aronson J J Cal[illegible] College of [illegible] J C A[illegible] Mauser, J R Morton, S H Martin C G Simpson; College of Arts and Sciences, C H Blackall, B J Humphrey, T M James, W M Lockwood E. J. Moodie, O. F. Parody, A T [illegible] and J B Phillips

Key and Serpent will hold their annual initiation of the incoming members on Tuesday evening May 18

NOTE

Last week's issue of [illegible] omitted in order to keep [illegible] budget for the current [illegible] provides for only three [illegible]

Copies of the 1936 [illegible] catalog are now available [illegible] tation at the Medical [illegible]

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
Special arrangement can be made for all kinds of Parties. Red Feather Candy and Mrs. Perkins' Maple Nut Candies
'PHONE 2045

No Entertainment, Dance or Reception is complete without
FREDDIE'S FRUIT PUNCH
Prepared only by
CENTRAL DRUG CO.
Cor. Church and College Sts.

Wear the Genuine
FISH BRAND SLICKER
MAKERS OF THE BEST SINCE 1836
TOWER'S FISH BRAND
LOOK FOR THIS TRADEMARK
"The Rainy Day Pal"
STYLES FOR MEN WOMEN AND CHILDREN
A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON

Daily Dribble

"There are bigger fish in the sea [illegible] but you can't [illegible] the big ones if the little ones [illegible]

What a man says he can't he's [illegible]

It's a long time going through [illegible] with an anger but [illegible] don't have [illegible]

In the ratio of opportunity it is better to pick the fruit than to wait [illegible]

That man is the best man who makes the least difference between himself and other men

The Baptist Student Union held a [illegible] Farm Beach May [illegible] Among the speakers were [illegible] Daniel R. Bacon of New York [illegible] Dr Dawson and Mr May [illegible] The following officers were elected President M B Ricker vice [illegible] Roger F Perry Treasurer [illegible] Curtis Secretary Mabel [illegible] and chairman of social re[illegible] Jerome Q Bullis

ELLSWORTH'S
The home of fine watches and diamonds
Successor to A. G. Mansur
71 CHURCH STREET

LAW STUDENTS
THE BOSTON UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL
Trains students in principles of the law and the technique of the profession and prepares them for active practice wherever the English system of law prevails. Course for LL. B., fitting for admission to the bar, requires three school years.
Part time evening course of one year leads to degree of LL. M.
Two years of college instruction is required for admission.
Limited Special Scholarships $50 per year to needy college graduates.
For Catalogue Address
HOMER ALBERS, Dean
11 Ashburton Place, Boston

When it's the night of the season's most festive dance—and Mimi, herself, has consented to go—when in a last moment before starting you thank your good fortune
—have a Camel!

WHEN the night of the famous prom has come—and you contemplate your luck and your greatness — have a Camel!

For Camel adds of its own romance to every memorable event. Camels never tire the taste, never leave a cigaretty after-taste. When you light a Camel, you may know you are smoking the world's mellowest cigarette.

So this night, as you fare boldly forth to society's smartest and gayest affair—learn then how sympathetic, how really fine and friendly a cigarette can be.

Have a Camel!

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. The most skilful blending. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No better cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

© 1936

Co-ed Columns

VINA B. RUGG '27, Women's Editor

EDITORIAL

[illegible] heard the plaintive [illegible] crowded schedule, the [illegible] the conmbination [illegible] But why ask such [illegible] when it is a very [illegible] teristic among the [illegible] our worthy campus. [illegible] well say that it is a [illegible] And the fact that [illegible] are not themselves [illegible] of the truth of their [illegible] thes their rebellion [illegible] ening it. For it is [illegible] that if sober and bal- [illegible] were applied to the [illegible] problem, one would find, [illegible] and perhaps a little [illegible] that matters were not [illegible] they might be, and that [illegible] has a cherry promise [illegible] rather than the sup- [illegible] and consternation of im- [illegible] And if one continues [illegible] of new thought, per- [illegible] of suddenly awakened [illegible] suddenly acquired energy [illegible] and in enticing appeal [illegible] to accomplishments that [illegible] when interest and [illegible] accompanied by actual [illegible] courage. If one is [illegible] himself, he will find that [illegible] within himself, an infinite [illegible] bilities; that in contrast [illegible] which his conscious mind [illegible] to defend him from the [illegible] of the curriculum, [illegible] the power to go beyond [illegible] imagined limits and do [illegible] that he had not even dreamed [illegible] so there should be made a new [illegible] a new standard, a new seal [illegible] endeavor. And psychology [illegible] contrary, let the goal be the [illegible] for it is true that the [illegible] sometimes happens. And [illegible] variety of the choices be even [illegible] than the imagination. And [illegible] failure is the only result of [illegible] campaign for impos- [illegible] accomplishments, then instead [illegible] bewailing the outcome, proceed all [illegible] again. For it is better to fail [illegible] than to have attempted only [illegible] and transitory deeds. [illegible] every Vermont student, there [illegible] the infinite possibilities of great [illegible] and these possibilities should [illegible] wasted during the days that [illegible] coming, the days that are passing [illegible] swiftly, and the days that are with [illegible] now.

Communications

To the Women's Editor of the CYNIC:

I've been happy lately. As I [illegible] across the campus yesterday, I [illegible] discovered why, and wondered if [illegible] feeling might not be a mutual [illegible] among us all.

We are proud of our campus, I [illegible] And why not, for isn't it one [illegible] the most beautiful of the world? [illegible] the spring, the velvety lawn, the [illegible] elms, the gray squirrels frisking [illegible] the blue sky overhead, our [illegible] Champlain in the valley below; [illegible] things make just the ideal [illegible] which should inspire us to [illegible] the ideals which we are form- [illegible] and which will last long after [illegible] let the walks and halls of [illegible]

[illegible] that the brow of a hill is [illegible] place for a college. As [illegible] the hill, the view behind [illegible] as he rises. Education [illegible] as pleasant and broad [illegible] the world, as is visi- [illegible] from the Old Mill Tower.

[illegible] the statue of Ira Allen [illegible] in pensive mood upon our campus, for the beauties of nature about the spot would bring anyone who contemplated them to realize the deeper sentiments and more reverent thoughts.

Our new chapel will soon be another source of pride for our beloved campus.

I am sure we, the students, have yet much to do, before we can make ourselves worthy of the beauty by which we are surrounded.

'28.

FRATERNITY
JEWELRY
AND
FAVORS

F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELLERS
17 Upper Church St.

With the Fraternities

Kappa Alpha Theta

Mrs. David Marsh Bosworth of New York City and her mother, Mrs. Lawrence of Bristol, Vermont visited the Theta House last Saturday.

The active members of the chapter entertained the alumnae and mothers at the Theta House, Tuesday afternoon, May 11.

Delta Delta Delta

M. Roberts and M. McLæod took the trident degree, Monday afternoon at the chapter rooms.

The Alliance gave the active members, at the home of Mrs. Tinkham, a supper and a bridge party.

The chapter held its formal dance at the Van Ness Roof Garden. The chaperones included Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick.

Pi Beta Phi

The chapter held its formal dance on Friday at the Ethan Allen Club House. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hard.

Alpha Chi Omega

The active members of the chapter held a Patroness and Mother's party at their rooms on Saturday afternoon.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

As Sunday, May 2, was the first day of Music Week, a special musical program was arranged for the Vesper Services at Redstone. Eleanor Chapman played the violin, and Marion Sargeant sang. Mrs. Wheeler recounted some of her experiences among the Indians of Arizona.

No definite date has been set for the out-of-door Sunday Vesper Service, but plans are under way for it.

Y. W. C. A. has voted to give $25 yearly for five years toward the Wasson Memorial Fund.

A cabinet meeting was held Wednesday, May 12, in the inner "Y" room.

Alma Tyler, chairman of the "Maqua" committee, asks everyone to watch the "Y. W." bulletin board for "Maqua" pictures. "Maqua" is a Y. W. C. A. summer camp.

W. A. A. NOTES

Miss Cummings attended the meeting of National Women Athletic Coaches held at Vassar College this past week.

Canoeing started Tuesday of this week. It is to be remembered that a girl must have permission from home before signing up.

The tennis tournament is being played off. The first two rounds must be played before the twentieth of this month.

STUDENT UNION HEARS CONFERENCE REPORT

In Student Union Saturday morning, Della Martin '28, gave a report of the Conference at Bates College, Lawiston, Maine, April 23-26. Representatives from Bates Colby, New Hampshire State, Middlebury, Massachusetts Aggie, Rhode Island State Connecticut Aggie and Vermont met to discuss in a genial, round-table fashion the problems of Women's Student Union.

The three-day Conference was opened with an address of welcome by the president of Bates College Ruth Pope, Dean of Women at Bates followed, taking for her subject "The American Woman, the Nation and the Future." She traced the attitude toward womanhood which has characterized the generations from the time of Sparta's glory to the present She emphasized that women's sphere is no longer restricted, mentioning that 645 occupations are open to them today. Dean Pope declared that home-making is the highest vocation for the average woman. She urged that the girl who is determining upon a vocation consider the cost of training time required, salaries and health hazard and that she gauge her own personal qualifications against the qualifications necessary. She pointed out that choice of vocation and effectiveness of accomplishment are important to the nation. "The future," Dean Pope said, "will be largely as we make it."

Light cuts, duties of house committees, Freshman initiation and enforcement of quiet hours were discussed. "Two heads are better than one" is an old, old adage. When viewpoints radiating from nine New England campuses are focused on a single problem, solution is never far away.

The last meeting of Student Union Council for this year was held Friday afternoon in the inner "Y" room.

Le Cercle Français held a meeting at the Prospect House, Tuesday evening. The program was composed of French instrumental and vocal music

CHINESE STUDENT WILL SPEAK AT FIRST CHURCH

In recognition of International Goodwill Sunday, University students will on May 16 have the opportunity of hearing Paul Chih Meng a Chinese student and lecturer. He is a supporter of the Renaissance in China, and is a participant of the Student Movement, being one of those who were imprisoned in Peking because of their leadership in the patriotic movement of 1919. He comes from a Chinese family of nineteen generations of culture and is competent not only to interpret China's ancient civilization, but he also expresses in fluent, forceful English the feelings of young China. As general secretary of the Chinese Student Christian Association in the United States, Mr. Meng has a knowledge of what the trend of thought is among the two thousand Chinese students in this country and his work as secretary on the staff of the Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students gives him contacts with students from more than a hundred nations.

Mr. Meng will speak at the First Church at 7:30 Sunday evening. Dr. George Huntley, a Vermont alumnus who has worked for some years in China, will lead the devotional service.

The Old Bee Hive

"GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE"
Chiffon Silk Hosiery
$1.95 Pr.

Silk all the way up, beautifully clear and sheer. Some of the smartest and best wearing silk stockings made.

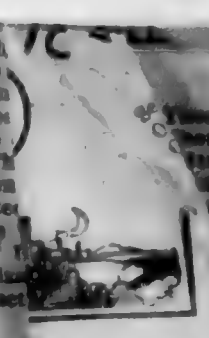
Black and all the leading colors to match the costume.

Peppie Pasters!

Stickém around 105 for 10¢

MAKE your friends laugh! Send them letters with the funny Peppie Pasters — the newest fad. All the rage at Mt. Holyoke, Ann Arbor, Wellesley and other colleges. Express your thoughts with these clever little cartoons. Now you don't have to be an artist.

There is a Peppie Paster to express every mood and thought you have.



Put them in your diary and memory book. Use them for dance orders, bridge scores, place cards. Make a Peppie Paster lamp shade. Show your cleverness in a hundred amusing ways.

Only 10c for 105 stickers, no two alike. They're perforated and gummed like a sheet of postage stamps. Three series (A, B and C). Get them at your dealer's. If he can't supply you, put 10c and your name and address in an envelope for each one of the series you desire. Mail to White and Wyckoff Mfg. Co., Dept. Q. R. 2 Holyoke, Mass.

WHITE & WYCKOFF MFG. CO.
Dept. Q.R.2 Holyoke, Mass
I want Peppie Pasters and I want 'em quick. Enclosed is a dime for 105 of them. My dealer hasn't them yet.

Name.....
Address.....
City.....State
Dealer's Name

[illegible] activity in th[illegible] in the winter, the [illegible] include snowshoein[illegible] ing. Freshmen, p[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] in these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] coming acquaintec[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. [illegible] leadership of Elis[illegible] membership and act[illegible] increasing.

There are [illegible] There are [illegible] to [illegible]

Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct. 2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct. 9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here

marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne D. Nye, 194; Rose L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

[illegible] aged to come out for the w[illegible]

A minor improvem[illegible] grounds has been [illegible] concrete walk le[illegible] Row to Morrill [illegible] wade through th[illegible] called South [illegible] because there [illegible] Hall.

Number 11 of a Series

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] ASSOCIATE
[illegible] ASSOCIATION

[illegible]

MARY N. V. TAYLOR '28

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Vol. 24 May 14, 1926 No. 26

[illegible] the exhibitions it looked [illegible] as though Vermont's [illegible] Fourteenth more familiarly [illegible] as the Colonel's Army, had [illegible] a glorious triumph. The coming [illegible] was not marked, so [illegible] we could see by any abnormally [illegible] offenses on the part of the [illegible] forces and we understand from [illegible] also that the inspecting [illegible] this year were not unusually [illegible] of attitude or forbidding of [illegible]. We wish the battalion success [illegible] again enjoying the distinction of [illegible]ership in the distinguished class [illegible] is something about the stirring [illegible] of the band, with its roll of [illegible] and blare of new and shiny [illegible] and the marching ranks of [illegible], which make even the pacifist [illegible] his agitation for disarmament [illegible] peace." "the essential evil of [illegible] the militaristic attitude [illegible] our institutions of learning," so that he cries with the rest, "More power to the army!"

RUSHING

One hesitates to cast disparaging remarks in the direction of honest endeavor but it would almost seem that the Interfraternity Council, which has been sitting for some months in an effort to adequately revise its rushing rules, has labored strenuously and brought forth a mouse. So far as we can see the measure of this long travail is practically in sum and substance what the Council had to start fraternity in the dire days specified. If with. The changes which have been made in the old rules are of a comparatively minor character, changes which will not get at the root of the matter and eradicate the evils which brought the rushing problem, and the long deliberations of the Council into being.

One of the major criticisms of the [illegible] offered last year by a number of fraternities when knowledge of the situation was fresh in the minds of everybody was that the date of pledging came too early in the year, that it should be put off until Thanksgiving, Christmas or until after the mid-semester. The new rules provide the same time of bidding as before. In the later meetings of the Council, that particular consideration was ignored under pressure of other new [illegible] and apparently allowed to die a natural death.

The chief difficulty with the old rules, however, as admitted last year by most of the fraternities involved, was not to be found in their intrinsic qualities so much as in the fact that there was no way of adequately enforcing them. In the case of violators of its regulations, the Council was virtually powerless. Evidence for the enforcement of charges was necessarily flimsy, charges brought counter-charges, any attempt at enforcement threatened the whole superstructure, disruption and dissolution of the whole council. Obviously such a situation was futile and dangerous and no solution of the rushing problem.

The new regulations, to avoid this difficulty, have provided for the maintenance of a court of five faculty judges to render decision in case of charges brought against the action of any fraternity contrary to rules of the Council. Charges are made secretly to these judges by any member of the Council, a hearing is held and a decision reached. This system is the same as the old one, with the exception that a student court is supplanted by a faculty court. We fail to see how it will accomplish the desired result. It shifts judicial responsibility from student to faculty shoulders, but it does not make charges any less flimsy, explanations less plausible, counter-charges less possible. It does not make the position of the Council more secure in the event that fraternities are actually found guilty by the court. It might be possible to punish one fraternity in the dire ways specified, if none of the others objected and resigned in protest, but it would be obviously impossible for the Council to lose more than two of its components without losing much prestige, and probably disintegrating.

We realize that is infinitely easier to tear a thing down than to build it up, and that the criticism we have had to offer may be of little value. Some day, however, we hope to see the present system supplanted by one a little bit more practicable.

The Weekly Wetness

SIGNS OF SPRING

Since up until very recently the weather has shown no realization of the date (this means that it has been too darn cold) for the benefit of our readers we enumerate a few of the more prominent signs of spring that they may identify the season for themselves. We do this because we feel that spring poems are a bit overdone and that our spring poems in particular might sometimes be characterized as underdone.

1. Outdoor gymn (doggone it!).
2. Blazers (usually confined to Phi Delts).
3. Colds.
4. Junior Week bids (contingent on father's letting us have the car).
5. Heavy rush at Balfour's due to extra pin orders.
6. Coughs.
7. New Clothes! (especially grey suits; they get lighter every year, and Senior canes).
8. Resurrection of campus cars. Under this head comes:
   a. Short trips to St. Armand.
   b. Systematic exploration of Burlington's better back roads.
9. Sneezes.
10. Marked increase in annual crop of engagements.
11. Corresponding decrease in candidates for Phi Bete.
12. Bronchitis.
13. Collegians playing "one 'o cat" in the streets.
14. Grippe.
15. Uusal manifestations of nature: birds, flowers, etc.
16. Influenza.
17. Tonsilitis!
18. Laryngitis!!
19. Pneumonia!!!
20. And—colds!!!!

We understand that [illegible]ed" has a very [illegible] goes to Yale and [illegible]

The Wetness is rather [illegible] is the first time in [illegible] that we have been ca[illegible] publish below the letter [illegible] received

To Editor Weekly Wetness

Dear Sir:

As a member of the [illegible] class I take this way [illegible] against your very [illegible]ribald article in the last [illegible]fer to the question and [illegible] under the head of "Aunt [illegible] Answers to Queries." [illegible] any member of the Senior [illegible] be so unacquainted with [illegible] of social usage as to be [illegible] manage a cane; granted [illegible] he displays such disloyalty [illegible] as to admit this regret[illegible] print, it nevertheless seem[illegible] be very poor spirit on [illegible] publish the letter! [illegible] should, out of pure college [illegible] suppressed. We must have [illegible] if the college is to continue [illegible] like this, although a source of [illegible] regret to all of us should [illegible] aired in public. How [illegible] if Dartmouth or Middlebury [illegible] chance to read that issue of the [illegible] "Vermont Seniors can't [illegible] canes!" We would be the laughing stock of New England. You [illegible] to have failed to take such [illegible] this into account. I therefore take the liberty of reminding you [illegible] sponsibility to the college [illegible] our representative; it is your duty to suppress such confessions [illegible] never be read by the outside world. I trust you will exercise [illegible] in the future. Take as your motto that of the New York Times, "All the News That's Fit to Print" and take care henceforth to eliminate carefully the unfit.

I remain, sir,

Yours very truly,

CONSTANT READER.

We apologize most heartily to "Constant Reader." In our efforts to boost the college and settle puzzling problems for our readers the staff of Aunt Deborah's wise counsel we have perhaps overstepped ourselves [illegible] on any queries accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope will not appear in this colyum.

'Jever hear about the man who was simply bugs on Entomology?

BAILLARGEON'S
BARBER SHOP
Nuff Said
25 Church St.

Specially Designed SUITS
For College
Men

Four Piece Styles
in the season's smartest shades
$35 to $55

Tuxedo Suits
Haberdashery

Miles & Perry Co.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898

University of Vermont
Students' Special
Stationery
on Whiting's Mutual Bond
sold only by
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
and
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

Breakfast & Fruit
Orange Juice a Specialty
at the
COFFEE CORNER

SECONDS SCORE EASY WIN ON EDMUNDS HIGH

Vermont Seconds by administering a Burlington High ore of 11-1. Tal- mound for the of a no hit game Gadue hit safely. ted ten hits off and these coupled miscues accounted e. The Seconds out there and will beat as the season

NEWS IN BRIEF

A portrait of Mrs. Coolidge in her graduation gown is to be presented to the University by Darwin P. Kingsley. The portrait, painted by one of the foremost artists of the world, will hang in the Billings Library.

Miss Colburn's Art Class is making some brightly colored posters, some of which are expected to be taken on the Maple Sugar Special.

Thomas Bradlee of the extension service will represent the University on the Maple Sugar Special scheduled to leave Burlington May 18.

A large delegation of [illegible] from [illegible] the conference by [illegible] a Swedish [illegible] at [illegible]

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under
Free Press Building

FOR INSTRUCTION
ENTERTAINMENT, DIVERSION
Read the
SERVICE
LIBRARY BOOKS
Hobart J. Shanley & Co., Inc.

Stationery, Magazines
NEWSPAPERS
BESSEY NEWS CO.
136 Church St.

YOU can't always tell from the Campus

THIS is a plain tale of a regular, everyday American undergraduate—an engineer from the University of Cincinnati, with a college record much like that of thousands of other students.

He got a kick out of playing varsity basketball. He caught on the baseball team. When Cincinnati won at football, he celebrated with the rest. For a year he supervised the student cooperative bookshop. He was president of the Engineering Tribunal, the student governing body. In a word, he did the things well, that college students everywhere like to do.

But of the specialization which he was to undertake at Westinghouse—there wasn't a clue.

The case of W. E. Thau is another example of unforeseen opportunities afforded by such an organization to a man with a healthy aptitude for getting things done.

After the usual training given college men, he entered the General Engineering Department. Later he became Engineer in Charge of the Marine Section, handling all marine and government application jobs. That was six years ago.

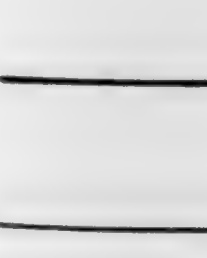
Within Thau's time, the Diesel-electric drive has come to be the most advanced method of ship propulsion. By means of it the man in the pilot house controls his vessel as easily and surely as the driver of an automobile. Also, this system uses about one-third the fuel of the ordinary steamship—an enormous saving in dollars, cargo space and weight. Of all the Diesel-electric marine installations in the world today—70 per cent are Westinghouse.

W. E. THAU

Thau and his associates determine how practical is each application proposed. They diagnose each customer's needs. They prescribe the right Westinghouse equipment.

The question is sometimes asked: Where do young men get when they enter a large industrial organization? Have they opportunity to exercise creative talents? Or are they forced into narrow grooves?

This series of advertisements throws light on these questions. Each advertisement takes up the record of a college man who came with the Westinghouse Company within the last ten years or so, after graduation.



For instance, when the Government sent word: "Electrify the battleships Tennessee and Colorado," the Marine Section was on the job to install turbine electric drives, which helped to make these warcraft the most powerful units in the National Defense.

Or the Clyde Steamship Line says: "We want to load these lumber-cargo carriers electrically. How can we do it? What will it cost?" Thau must figure to a fine point the exact requirements.

Thus does the Westinghouse application engineer combine commercial and engineering sense to advance the interests of the customer being served.

Westinghouse

[illegible] activity in th[illegible] the winter, the [illegible] attitude snowshoein[illegible] ing. Freshmen, p[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] coming acquainte[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. [illegible] leadership of Elis[illegible] membership and act[illegible] increasing.

[illegible] guard, Nilson at tackle, Bobby Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

marksmen at camp Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 185 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

All Freshmen interested are [illegible] aged to come out for the w[illegible]

A minor improvem[illegible] grounds has been [illegible] concrete walk le[illegible] Ross to Morrill [illegible] wade through th[illegible] called South [illegible] because ther[illegible] Hall.

Number 61 of a Series

SPORTING NEWS

MARION V. TAYLOR '28, Sporting Editor

VERMONT TRIMS B. U. ON THE TENNIS COURTS

Local Netmen Win Three Matches Out of Five—Students Show Interest

Speaking of Sport

The baseball series match which was scheduled for Monday had to be postponed till later [illegible] Shaw and Smith and worked around [illegible] a score for the affair to come off. Every one he wired to find out what our sports was to be played and when the answer came back to [illegible] that [illegible] got sore at it and came back.

Wednesday was another big day in the lives of Smith and Thompson started off a [illegible] streak. If he keeps it up it will be like the old days [illegible]

St. Michael's seems to be the first team to [illegible] for a long time to get on the deal in obtaining Peumansend.

The new ranking system for the tennis squad has aroused a great interest among the players already.

Unfortunately the M. A. A. A. collection of Olympic stars was too strong for the boys but their showing was very creditable.

Perhaps it wasn't sport, but we understand the private in federal inspection succeeded in stopping his buddy's bleeding [illegible] with the tourniquet he applied around the neck.

PHI MU DELTS WINNERS OF FRAT TRACK MEET

Phi Mu Delta won the Interfraternity Outdoor Track Meet held last week at the University with a total of 42 points with the A. T. O.'s coming second with 38 points. The meet proved to be the most successful held in years although only eight fraternities were entered. The points by fraternities is as follows: Phi Mu Delta 42, Alpha Tau Omega 38, Sigma Nu 31½, Delta Psi 21½, Phi Delta Theta 20½, Sigma Phi 7½, Kappa Sigma 2, Zeta Chi 2.

Despite the poor weather, the meet started Friday afternoon, April 30, and four events were run off. "Bob" Thompson captured the broad jump with a leap of 19 feet, 7 inches. Hill won the hammer throw, with a distance 148 feet. One of the features of the day was the two-mile run which was won by "Archie" Post, with Martinetti a close second. The 100-yard dash was won by "Sandy" Crouter.

On Saturday afternoon, four more events were run off. In the mile run, Post again came in first, with Mart-

(Continued on page 7)

TIMELY HITTING WINS CONTEST FOR NORWICH

Friday, May 7, on the Cadets' home field, the Vermont nine tasted defeat. Lucky hitting at opportune times gave Norwich a 6-4 victory.

In the seventh with two out and the three bases full the red stocking catcher smashed a tripple.

The Green and Gold hit Williams in the fifth and sixth, garnering two tallies in each period.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	—T
Norwich	0	0	0	2	0	0	4	0	*	—6
Vermont	0	0	0	0	0	2	2	0	0	—4

COACH COLLINS' CHARGES VANQUISH MIDDLEBURY

Vermont has again triumphed over her traditional rival Middlebury. At Porter Field, Thursday Coach Collins' charges clouted out a 13-5 victory. Up until the seventh inning the up-staters were trailing 5-1 but then the fun began. Captain Bradley led his team in a glorious hitting spree and the Blue and White used three hurlers to try and stem the tide but to no avail. The U. V. M. aggregation cantered severally and merrily around the bases, touching them consecutively and firmly. The representatives of the college on the hill swatted the down-state hurlers' offerings not only with facility and force but with sickening and monotonous regularity until after a natural process of exhaustion the Green and Gold players fell on the bench panting and could hit and run no more. When this time came the bat-fest had netted them an even dozen runs.

After Fogg's substitution for Roark after the sixth inning, "Noisy" allowed his opponents not a run.

RIFLE TEAM RANKS TENTH

Vermont stands well up in the list of collegiate rifle teams as the scores of the National R. O. T. C. competition for the William Randolph Hearst Trophy show. In 100 [illegible] teams of the country Vermont's [illegible] teams ranks tenth with [illegible] the high point man for Vermont. The University of Minnesota [illegible] the trophy with a score of [illegible]

MCAVOY AND RATTAN TO COACH FOOTBALL

W. J. McAvoy and [illegible] Rattan are to be the [illegible] 1926 football season at [illegible] ing signed agreements [illegible] versity of Vermont A[illegible] tion. Coach McAvoy w[illegible] year's Varsity, came fr[illegible] sity of Delaware, gra[illegible] Lafayette College in 190[illegible] All-American fullback w[illegible]

Captain W. V. Rattan [illegible] structor in military s[illegible] Coach McAvoy's assist[illegible] played football on var[illegible] and acted as assistant [illegible] Freshman eleven during [illegible] son.

T. P. O'HARA, Tailoring

170 BANK ST.

Blue Serge Suits
2 Pair Trousers, $32

Top Coats, $19 to $24

Knickers, $4

Base Ball

Tennis

Golf

Supplies

L. P. WOOD

Sporting Goods Store

78 CHURCH STREET

For your dances and hops buy
The "Original Fruit Punch"
$1.00 gallon, delivered
With Ice and Fruit
BOOTH'S DRUG STORE
College St. — Opp. Park

RED 46 DEPT. STORE
"The Store of Progress"
BURLINGTON VERMONT

STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES

YOUNG'S HATS

H. W. SEITZ. Phone 2873-W
HOFFMAN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
MEN'S SUITS PRESSED AND CLEANED
Free Auto Delivery
168 Elmwood Ave. Burlington, Vt.

THE BEST SODA in Town
See For Yourself At
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
96 CHURCH ST.

John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
$9
On Display by
MR. C. P. LATHROP
FRI. AND SAT.
May 21 and 22
at
LA PIER'S STORE
$7
John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
Stores in New York, Brooklyn, Newark and Philadelphia. Address for Mail Orders, 191 Hudson St., New York City

Dance Orders and Favors
For Your Junior Week Dance
WE HAVE THEM
Many Styles To Choose From
COME IN AND SEE THEM
FREE PRESS PRINTING CO.
189 College Street
Burlington - - - Vermont

Pi Delta Rho Elects

... honorary journal... a meeting held ... the following mem... 28. M. V. Taylor ... 28. H D. Crandall ... E. J. Moodie '27. ... M. Lockwood '27. ... A. Lucchina '28. ... G. R. Perry '28. ... new members will ...

Phi Mu Delts Winners of Frat Track Meet

... from page 6)

... heels. In the 220-... Shaw, Lyman and ... order named. The ... by Capt. Simpson, ... of 38 feet. The high ... a tie for first place, ... Howard jumping 5 ... each. "Johnny" Pike ... in this which con... of the day.

... Monday turned out to ... consequently only two ... off. In the 220 yard ... finished first in 23 2-3 ... Simpson won the dis... a heave of 111 feet.

... the weather, five events ... run off on Tuesday ... was larger than on the ... days, due to the fact of ... Seconds Baseball Game ... Burlington High. In the quarter ... again came in first with ... Ottley close behind. In ... Post finished first and ... second. The 120 yard high ... won by Shaw, with Rob... and Howard third. The ... resulted in a tie for both ... second places, Harms and ... feet and McAvoy and ... 9 feet 9 inches. In the ... Simpson won with a ... of 146 feet 1 inch.

Arthur Beckwith Myrick

[This is the seventh of a series of biographical sketches of faculty members published weekly in the CYNIC*].*

Arthur Beckwith Myrick was born in New York City on the 27th of June, 1875, the son of Franklin Brown and Sarah (Beckwith) Myrick. He prepared for college at the Brooklyn Boys High School, Brooklyn, New York, graduating in 1894, and with one year of post-graduate work in Latin and Greek.

He graduated from Harvard College with the A. B. degree in the class of 1900 and received the A M. degree the following year, studying in the Harvard Graduate School until June, 1904, when he received the degree of Ph. D. in Romance Philology. Romance Philology was his major subject, Middle English being the minor. From 1902 to 1904 he was an Austin Fellow and an instructor in French and Italian.

He married Miss May Edwards Selfe of Wellesley, Massachusetts, June 11, 1903.

In the spring of 1904 Mr. Myrick received an appointment for three years as professor of English literature and Philology at the Reale Accademia Scientifico-Litteraria (now known as the University of Milan) at Milan, Italy. It is noteworthy that Mr. Myrick was the third English person who had ever taught in any Italian University. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Myrick he returned in the fall of 1905 after a year's teaching, to the United States and accepted the chair of Romance Languages here.

Professor Myrick is a member of the Modern Language Association of America, the Modern Language Association of New England, and the American Association of University Professors. He is the author of articles and notes in the American Journal of Philology, Romanic Review, etc., and the translator of stories and plays in various magazines. He was collaborating translator in Robertson and Blair's History of the Philippines, 1902-1905, and has published a translation of Beaumarchais' "Barber of Seville."

Turk Says

Spring Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

a purchase amounting to	pay down	pay per week for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS

Where the Styles come from — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

FORDS

Sports and Cut Downs

If you can find any that look worse we want to see them.

But you cannot find a better engine.

Runs like a lily

PRICED TOO CHEAP

Chas. P. Smith Jr., Inc.

87 St. Paul St.

Vermont's Largest Dealer

Make Money This Vacation

$10–$20 daily

Sheaffer Dealers are Looking for Good Men

—to sell Sheaffer "Lifetime" fountain pen Desk Sets to business and professional men.

High class, instructive and remunerative work for intelligent and ambitious students.

The fine quality of the product is backed by one of America's best known, most substantial and successful organizations.

Call any Sheaffer dealer today. Get the story—no obligation. Or write direct:

W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY
50 Fifth Ave., New York City
806 Republic Bldg., Chicago
861 Market St., San Francisco
Ft. Madison, Iowa

The big or little company —which?

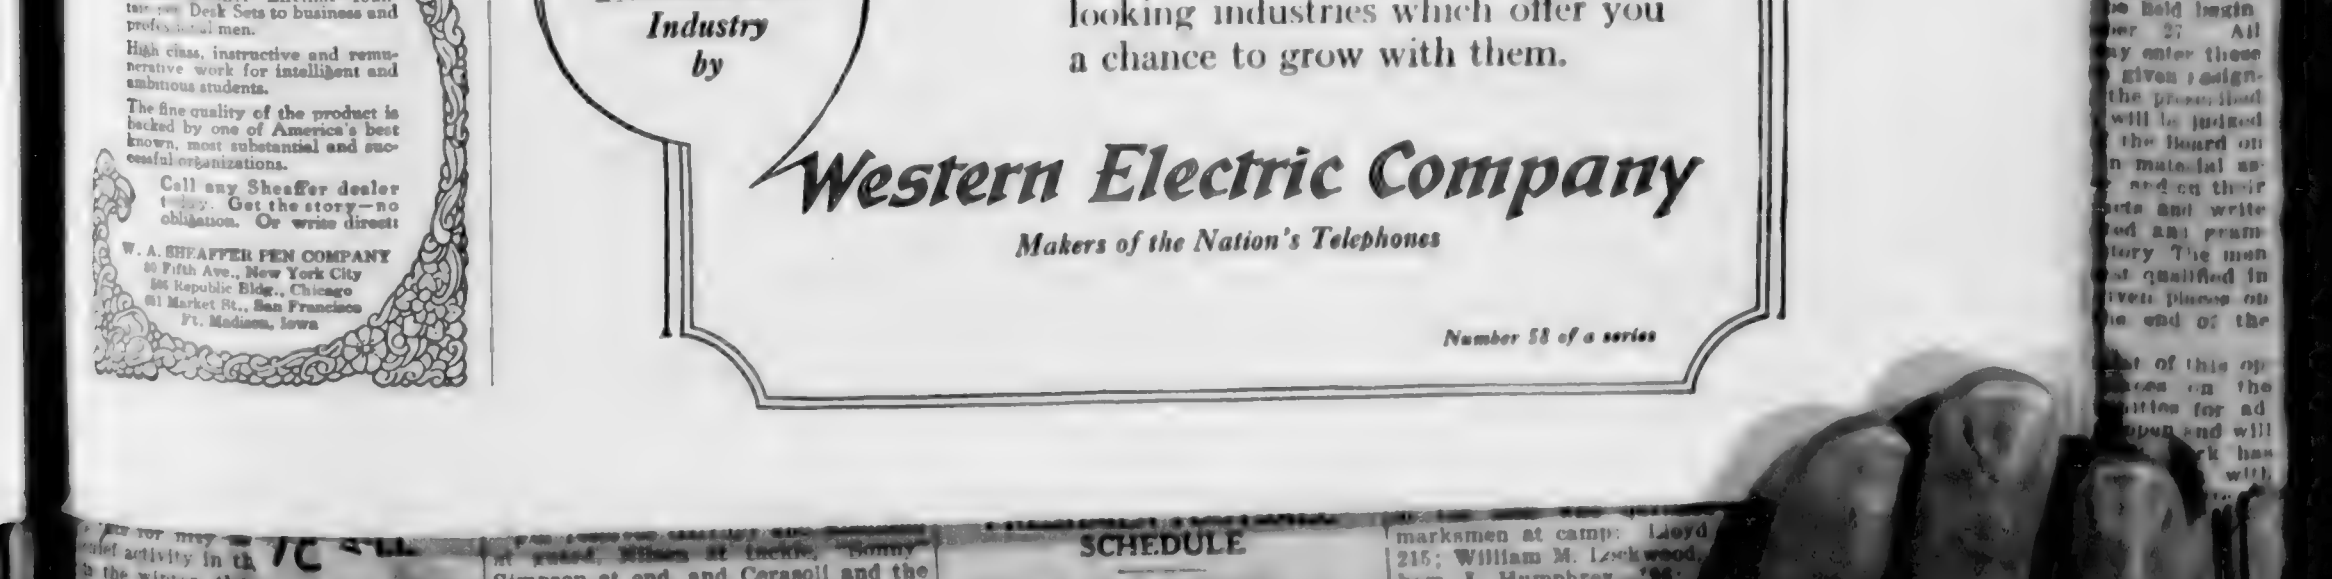
"YOU'LL surely be buried in the big company," say some. "Everything is red tape, and you'll end up in a groove in some little department."

"Your little company never gets you anywhere," others assert. "The bigger the company the bigger your opportunity."

Whether a plant covers a hundred acres or is only a dingy shop up three flights is not so important as whether the company is concerned with improving its product through the development of its men and their ideas.



There are ably managed and growing companies in growing, forward-looking industries which offer you a chance to grow with them.

Published for the Communication Industry by

Western Electric Company

Makers of the Nation's Telephones

Number 58 of a series

(Continued on page 8)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

... marksmen at camp: Lloyd ... 215; William M. Lockwood, ... ham J. Humphrey, 206; ... Nye, 194; Rose L. Clark, ... D. Marshall, 187; and ... Averill, 186. The ... qualification were 184; ... possible 250. The ... were: 200 yards ... kneeling and ... prone. The ...

JULIAN PHELPS TO BE EDITOR OF 1928 ARIEL

Sophomores Elect W. F. Reagan Business Manager—1927 Ariels to Appear Soon

[illegible] Phelps of Milton, was elected [illegible] of the Ariel [illegible] Tuesday [illegible] of the Sophomore class. [illegible] a member of Delta Upsilon [illegible] Press and has served on the Ariel Advertising Committee [illegible] Phelps will be [illegible] Latin and Philosophy. Extemporaneous Debate is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon [illegible] Reagan has served [illegible] Phelps and Reagan [illegible] Ariels but were [illegible] in the near future. [illegible] editor of the 1927 Ariel announces that work on this publication is nearing completion and that the publication will appear during the latter part of May or possibly before [illegible] and 650 of the approximately four hundred pages [illegible] and the covers have already been received.

PROF. METCALF DIRECTS PLAY BY THEATRE CLUB

[illegible] "The Mob" a comedy by Howard Segal was presented by the [illegible] Club Thursday May 6. The production which was enthusiastically received by a large audience was directed by Professor John T. Metcalf of the psychology department.

The leading characters were well [illegible] by Vermont students. Mrs. [illegible] Spaun Taggart who has directed many similar plays was the exception. Ruth Professor Franklin [illegible] and took the leading part. Captain [illegible] The thickly bearded [illegible] was Professor Arthur [illegible] Marsh. The part of Sergius filled [illegible] was acted by Professor Metcalf.

The Gold Key society held its initiation on Tuesday May 3. The following officers were elected: President R. R. Morse of Burlington, vice-president John B. Van Name of Staten Island, N. Y., secretary, Kenneth Price of [illegible], treasurer R. E. Young of Island Falls.

Victory Over Williams in Third Home Game

(Continued from page 6)

[illegible] Bob Thompson had a field [illegible] at bat getting three safe blows [illegible] four trips to the plate. Randall added two more to his total while Art Gould succeeded [illegible] a triple and a single in [illegible] Lock Smith [illegible] a great day in the field accepting [illegible] chances without the semblance [illegible] an error. Hassenger the visiting [illegible] got two blows out of [illegible] and Walker the Will [illegible] put up a nice game in the box [illegible] six chances without [illegible]

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
[illegible]	0	1	2	0	2	0	0	0	0
Williams	0	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	0

McMAHON'S BREAD

Made of the highest grade bread flour, that sweet pack and malt

Wedding Specialties, Candies, Nuts, Fancy Cakes for Parties

McMahon's Bakery

32 Church St. Phone 134

Compliments of

C. A. BARBER & CO.

112 Church Street

WHITMAN IS PRESIDENT OF THE INDEPENDENTS

A meeting of the Vermont Independents was held Monday May 3. At that [illegible] Whitman was elected president, [illegible] McCall vice-president, [illegible] secretary and Arthur [illegible] treasurer. William Duncan [illegible] social manager.

At a meeting held Monday, May 10, [illegible] Bernard and Jerome Bullis [illegible] to the Gold Key society). [illegible] to enter the inter-fraternity [illegible] A committee of [illegible] to look into the [illegible] of a house next door. [illegible] meeting will be held Monday May 17.

BAND GIVES CONCERTS HERE AND AT ST. ALBANS

Wednesday evening May 5, the [illegible] Band of the University of Vermont under the leadership of [illegible] Lackey played a concert in St. Albans. Following the concert, an [illegible] composed of members of the band played for dancing until twelve o'clock. The band returned to Burlington immediately thereafter.

About fifty men, with Captain Lamson and Mr. Lechnyr made the trip to St. Albans leaving the gym at [illegible] p.m. Some difficulty was experienced on the way to St. Albans on account of the condition of the road.

The concert was given in the state armory before a large and appreciative audience. A cornet solo by Mr. Lechnyr accompanied by the band was exceptionally well received.

The band gave their annual spring concert in the gymnasium last evening. A large number of students were in attendance and dancing to music from an eight-piece orchestra was enjoyed folowing the concert until twelve o'clock.

The proceeds of this concert go to defray the expenses of the band and to buy new music.

1926

The committee is very anxious that the remainder of the Seniors fill out and return the questionnaires at once so that a consensus of opinion may be secured on the important, unimportant, and other matters taken up.

COLLEGE EDITORS WILL MEET HERE NEXT YEAR

The third annual convention of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association will be held at the University of Vermont next year as a result of an invitation extended by the Vermont delegates, S. H. Martin and J. B Phelps, at the recent convention of the Association held at the University of New Hampshire. The present membership comprises the papers of Norwich, Bates, Maine, Boston College, Northeastern, Massachusetts Aggies, Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut Aggies and several others.

The purpose of the Association is to foster friendly relations among member papers and provide a union for the exchange of ideas and solutions of problems, as well as to form a united campaign for procuring advertising.

The recent convention at Durham, N. H., was addressed by men prominent in the newspaper world and by members of the New Hampshire faculty. Discussions dealing with the problems of the individual papers were held separately by the business and editorial delegates. At the business meeting plans for continuing the work of the body during the year were adopted and officers elected. Eugene Tetziaff '26, managing editor of the New Hampshire was chosen president for the coming year.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Knickers and Golf Hose

We are displaying an extensive selection at moderate prices.

— BLAZERS —
$8, $9, $10 $15

▲ ▲ ▲

Hayes & Carney
197 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

PEOPLES DEPT. STORE

A Fine Assortment of Wide Bottom Trousers All Sizes

$3.95 to $7.95

PEOPLES DEPT. STORE, 29 Church St.

Let Us Take Care of Your Dry Cleaning
Pressing, Repairing and Dyeing
Our Service Will Please You

We call for and deliver—you will receive your garment on a hanger enclosed in a sanitary bag.

OUR PRICES ARE RIGHT
WE INVITE YOU TO INSPECT OUR PLANT
PHONE 614

VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
Plant and Office 274 N. Winooski Ave.
OWNED AND OPERATED BY A U. V. M. CHEMIST

Kappa Mu Epsilon will [illegible] initiation next Thursday, [illegible] Phi Delta Theta House [illegible] the initiation a banquet will be held at the Hotel Vermont. [illegible] Vollie Yates and Professor [illegible] Eckhard will be the [illegible]

Announcing
THE ALGONQUINS
Music for
FRATERNITY AND COLLEGE DANCES
Hjalmar Aronson
Delta Psi House
BURLINGTON, VT
Phone 741

Rivals the beauty of the Scarlet [illegible]

The Non-Stop Writer with the 25-Year Point
—a point guaranteed, if not misused, for 25 years and good for fifty

PARKER Duofold is the pen you can lend to a classmate without a tremor, for its point yields to any style of writing, yet retains its original shape.

Only the Parker has the Duofold Point—a point that gives you both lifelong endurance and highest writing excellence. The skill to combine these two in a single point has made Parker Duofold the largest selling pen in the world regardless of price. Try it at the nearest pen counter.

Parker Duofold Pencils to match the Pens
Lady Duofold, $3; Over-size Jr. $5
"Big Brother" Over-size $4

THE PARKER PEN COMPANY
Janesville, Wisconsin

Parker Duofold $7
WITH LUCKY CURVE FEED AND 25 YEAR POINT
Duofold Jr. $5 Lady Duofold $5

The Vermont Cynic

VOL. 44 BURLINGTON, VT., MAY [illegible] NUMBER 29

SYRACUSE COLLECTS FIVE RUNS IN LOOSE GAME

Conway Stars For Vermont At Short And At Bat—Schoppe Pitches Good Ball

[illegible] its second game [illegible] when 7 mis[illegible] to collect 5 runs [illegible] innings. Schoppe, [illegible] allowed the visi[illegible]ed hits, not one of [illegible] extra bases. Jack [illegible]reat day at short with [illegible] put outs with only [illegible] getting one of the [illegible] Schlegel allowed. He [illegible] only double play of [illegible] he nipped Richmon's [illegible]ighth which he threw [illegible]nd doubling Hanson. [illegible] Syracuse's only other [illegible]

[illegible]ed first in the fifth. [illegible]afe on Conway's low [illegible] He went to second [illegible]pplied Bushline's ground[illegible] a fielder's choice, and [illegible] pitch. Bushline was [illegible] Conway to Smith. [illegible]e on first on a fielder's [illegible] second and went third [illegible]ored. He tallied on [illegible]d out. Again in the [illegible] down. Hanson drew a [illegible] to third on Smith's er[illegible] reaching first safely on [illegible] Hanson scored on Richmon's [illegible] taking second. Both [illegible]ed on Bushline's infield [illegible] and scored on Eisemen's [illegible]ngle. [illegible] Green and Gold base [illegible] got beyond first.

VERMONT	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
[illegible]	4	0	1	6	6	1
[illegible]	4	0	0	1	2	2
[illegible] Mayo c	4	0	1	1	0	0
[illegible]	3	0	0	0	0	0

(Continued on page 6)

FRATERNITIES COMPETE FOR CUP IN BASEBALL

[illegible] afternoon, May 14, the [illegible] Baseball Series started [illegible] the Sigma Nu winning from the [illegible] a loosely played game [illegible] McGaughan and Pike [illegible] well for the winners, while [illegible] put up a good game for the [illegible]

[illegible] of Varsity games, the next [illegible] of the series were played on [illegible] afternoon. In the first game [illegible] won from the A. T. O.'s [illegible] score of 8-3. "Speed" Denning [illegible] batted freely by the Kappa [illegible] but scored in the longest hit of [illegible] being a three-base hit. [illegible] pitched a good game for the [illegible] Chadwick receiving him.

[illegible]e second game of the day the [illegible] Phi team won from the Sigma [illegible] by the score of 12-1. Calcagni [illegible] was for the Delts but ragged [illegible] the game. The Sigma [illegible] on the other hand, played error[illegible] ball which accounted for their [illegible] score. The batters [illegible] Sigma Phi, Remick and Ash[illegible] and for the Sigma Delts, Cal[illegible]

[illegible] Wednesday, the Phi Mu Delts [illegible] the Sigma Nus 15-10 and the [illegible] won from the Tau [illegible]

(Continued on page 2)

PI DELTA RHO INITIATES

[illegible] honorary journalistic [illegible] its new members [illegible] evening at the Sigma [illegible] house. The following of[illegible] were elected for the coming [illegible] President, J. B. Phelps '27; [illegible] C. H. Stevens 28; [illegible] W. R. Doane '27; and treas[illegible] A. W. Lockwood '27.

JUNIOR WEEK PEERADE

All fraternities, dormitories, and organizations, intending to participate in the Junior Week Peerade, Wednesday, May 26, must hand the names of their stunts to Arnold Post, George Alfred, Frank Flagg, Bell Randall, or Eleanor Chapman on or before Monday, May 24.

TENNIS TEAM IS BUSY OVER THIS WEEK-END

This week-end, the Vermont Tennis Team plays three matches, meeting Tufts on Thursday, Boston University on Friday and Springfield on Saturday, all three matches being away from home. Coach Carpenter took the following men on the trip: Capt. Guild, Baldwin, Shaw, Taylor and Mower. In the singles, the Green and Gold will be represented by Capt. Guild, Baldwin, Shaw and Mower, with Taylor probably playing No. 2 in the Boston University match in place of Nye. Baldwin and Shaw will comprise one pair in the doubles and Guild and either Mower or Taylor the other.

Tufts has already defeated the Vermont men 4-2, but the Vermonters are out for revenge this time. Dowsan, Nichols, Banks and Schiller will compose the Medford team. In regard to the Boston University match, the locals have defeated them once this year and are expected to duplicate it at Medford. Martin, Hill, Young and Bernstein will face the locals in this match. Today the team is playing Springfield. Last year the Vermonters tied one match with the Massachusetts team and lost the other. Springfield has two letter men playing this season and the locals will have to travel to take a victory from them.

SENIORS!

Gather on the steps of the Billings Library tomorrow (Sunday) evening at 7.00 o'clock for the Senior Sing, in pursuance of a custom established by the Class of '25. Everyone come.

Annual Junior Week Celebration to Be Held On Campus Next Week

Athletic Contests, Prom, Play, Peerade, Junior Banquet Few of Features Committee Has Planned—Barbary Coast Orchestra from Dartmouth Here for Prom

Next week the University will celebrate Junior Week with an unusually large number of events on the program. Three home baseball games, two tennis matches, a Peerade, the Junior Banquet, the College Play, the Junior Prom, and the fraternity dances, are some of the many events planned by Lawrence Averill, chairman of Junior Week and his committees, which will fill the days.

The Junior Week programs, have been prepared by the program committee of which Charles Blackall is chairman, and will be on sale this week at the University store. They have an attractive cover of green leather and contain cuts of campus views.

Peerade

On Wednesday, May 26, at 4 p. m., the Peerade will wend its way through Burlington's main thoroughfares in which all the men's and women's organizations will compete for the Wig and Buskin Cups presented to the best floats and individual stunts advertising the College Play "The Saving Grace". The cup for the best float went to Sigma Nu last year.

Junior Banquet

Wednesday evening at 7 p. m., the Junior class will set down to their annual spread at the New Sherwood Hotel. Music will be furnished by the Algonquins. Prepared and impromptu speeches from members of the class will be heard. All those intending to be present should notify Bingham Humphrey, chairman of the banquet committee, or one of the other members, Ovid Parody, Ralph Blodgett, Priscilla Bromley, or Arlene Cushing, at once.

College Play

Thursday evening at 8:15 p. m., in The Strong Theatre, the curtain will rise on C. Haddon Chambers' comedy "The Saving Grace," presented by the combined Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal Societies under the direction of Mrs. C. Ives Taggart, who has coached many college plays. The cast is composed of people who have taken part in one or more college plays and demonstrated their ability to fill the parts assigned them.

Junior Prom

Friday night at 9 p. m., in the gymnasium comes the big event, the Junior Prom. It is expected that about

(Continued on page 2)

STUDENT'S CONFERENCE MEETS AT NORTHFIELD

The Northeastern Student Y. M. C. A. Conference, held in years past at Silver Bay, will be held this year, June 16-24 at Northfield, Mass., a famous conference center. Six hundred men from forty-four colleges of the New England and Middle Atlantic States attended these meetings last season.

Among this year's speakers will be: Dr. Robert E. Speers, J. Stitt Wilson, Prof. Henry Hallam Tweedy, D. D., Pitt Van Dusen, Prof. S. Ralph Harlow, Rev. Allen Chambers and Dr. Geo. R. Baker. Stitt Wilson, well known on this campus through the series of meetings held here last March, will give the first three addresses.

So far only nine U. V. M. men have signified their intention to attend this year's conference. Vermont's quota is twenty men. All men interested in going to Northfield may obtain further information at the college "Y" office.

Research Club Elects

At a meeting of the University Research Club, May 18, the following officers were elected: President, Prof. A. B. Myrick; Vice-President, Prof. A. D. Butterfield; Secretary-treasurer, Prof. H. G. Millington; additional numbers of the executive committee, Dr. Ernest Van Alstine and Prof. Hovey Jordan. The following research students gave reports of their work: Miss Evelyn Metcalf, Miss Gunhild Myhrberg, Richard Aplin, Wallace White, Henry MacBirney, and Burch Schneider.

"THE SAVING GRACE" BY C. HADDON CHAMBERS

Combined Dramatic Societies Present Annual Play Under Leadership of Mrs. Taggart

C. Haddon Chambers' play "The Saving Grace," which is to be presented by Wig and Buskin, and Masque and Sandal is a tale of the rising and falling fortunes of a perpetually bankrupt family. "Fighting Blinn" Corbett (retired, perforce, from His Majesty's army) finding himself in dire financial straits attempts by various and sundry methods to extricate himself, the results are amusing, to say the least.

A young Englishman, Ripley Guildford, whose money is quite to be desired, and who becomes engaged periodically, adds zest to the plot, when viewed in the light of a possible husband for Mrs. Corbett's young niece, Susan. So does the young man's mother, Mrs. Guildford, who is often more truthful than polite.

Hogg and Ada Parsons, who would like to be faithful family servants but are a little worried over their financial prospects if they do so, complete the list of characters.

The Cast

Henry Collins '26 takes the part of Blinn Corbett. "Connie" is a member of Alpha Tau Omega and Scabbard and Blade, and has taken part in several other college plays. Hogg, the

(Continued on page 7)

NEW STUDENT LOAN FUND IN MEMORY OF IRA ALLEN

Campaign is Launched on 175th Anniversary of the Founder's Birth

The General Ira Allen Memorial Loan Fund of the University of Vermont for the benefit of deserving or needy students was launched on Founder's Day, May 1.

The fund, which will be available to men in all years and in all colleges of the University, is under the Loan Fund Committee of the University, of which President Bailey is chairman. To obtain a loan, one must present a record of good scholarship and character, and have the application approved by the Dean. The loans draw four per cent interest while the student is in college, and for one year afterwards. Then they collect six per cent interest. As now planned, the fund will be available for use next fall.

The fund is so established, that when it is once well started, it will be self sustaining, as students who have received the benefit of the funds will be graduating and paying back the loans.

To help in starting the fund, pamphlets on Ira Allen have been sent out to men who are or have been in some way connected with Vermont. The pamphlet contains a reproduction in colors of a portrait of General Ira Allen, sketches of his life, his work,

(Continued on page 2)

MAJOR STANLEY IS NEW CHIEF OF MEDICAL UNIT

Major Ormel H. Stanley of the medical corp has been designated assistant professor of military science and tactics in charge of the medical R. O. T. C. unit. He succeeds Major A. O. Davis, who is completing his fourth year here. Major Davis leaves June 1 for Camp Devens, from whence he will go to San Francisco Harbor.

The new head of the medical unit is a graduate of Bowdoin and the University of Maine. He entered the army in 1916 and is at present stationed at Alcatraz Island, San Francisco Bay. Major Stanley will report for duty at the University next September.

R. O. T. C. BAND PLAYS

The R. O. T. C. Band played a concert Friday evening at Rutland before a large and appreciative audience. A representative orchestra of the band played for dancing.

On Thursday the 27th the band will play for a concert and a short parade for the Knights Templars' Conclave in Newport.

[illegible] for [illegible] activity in th[illegible] the winter, the [illegible]clude snowshoein[illegible] Freshmen, pa[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] coming acquainte[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. T[illegible] membership of Blin[illegible] membership and act[illegible] increasing.

[illegible] guard, Miles at tackle, Henry Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

[illegible] marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

All Freshmen interested are [illegible]aged to come out for the w[illegible]

A minor improvement [illegible] grounds has been [illegible] concrete walk le[illegible] Row to Morrill [illegible] wade through th[illegible] called South [illegible] because there [illegible] Hall.

Number 61 of a Series

Annual Junior Week Celebration To Be Held Next Week

(Continued from page 1)

Fraternity Dances

Sports

New Student Loan Fund in Memory of Ira Allen

(Continued from page 1)

INDEPENDENTS TO HAVE JUNIOR WEEK DANCE

Fraternities Compete for Cup in Baseball

(Continued from page 1)

Independents; Sigma Delta vs. Delta Psi; Lambda Iota vs Phi Mu Delta; Alpha Tau Omega vs. Tau Epsilon Phi; Sigma Phi vs. Phi Delta Theta; Zeta Chi vs. Phi Mu Delta; Kappa Sigma vs. Tau Epsilon Phi; Sigma Nu vs. Phi Delta Theta; Lambda Iota vs. Sigma Nu; Alpha Tau Omega vs. Independents; Sigma Phi vs. Delta Psi.

The first graduating class of Cornell numbered nineteen of only two students, one in order to make the affair more unique the couple decided to marry.

R. W. STILL Phone 2873-W

HOFFMAN

CLEANERS AND DYERS
MEN'S SUITS PRESSED AND CLEANED
Free Auto Delivery
145 Elmwood Ave. Burlington, Vt.

Correct Shoe Repairing

AT LOWEST PRICES

J. A. Sikora 188 Bank St.

LAW STUDENTS

THE BOSTON UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL

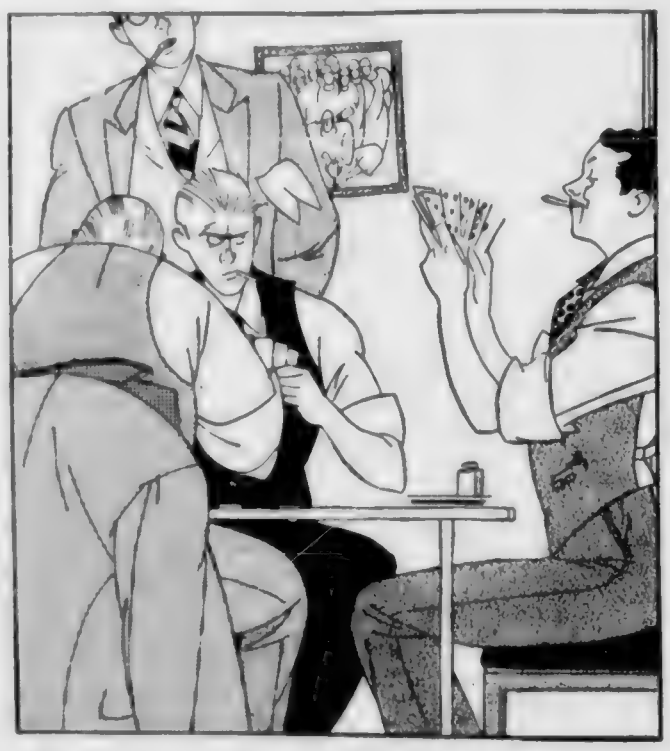
Trains students in principles of the law and the technique of the profession and prepares them for active practice wherever the English system of law prevails. Course for LL. B., attractive admission to the bar, requires three school years.

Post graduate course of one year leads to degree of LL. M.

Two years of college instruction is required for admission.

Limited Special Scholarships $75 per year to needy college graduates.

For Catalogue Address



HOMER ALBERS, Dean
11 Ashburton Place, Boston

Stationery, Magazines NEWSPAPERS

BESSEY NEWS CO.
136 Church St.

When it's a rainy night—and with three crafty bridge players your luck is running wild

—have a Camel!

WHEN the dark skies are pouring rain outside. And fickle fate deals you hands at bridge that you play with consummate skill—have a Camel!

For Camel is the silent partner that helps every deserving player win his game. Camels never hurt or tire the taste, never leave a trace of cigaretty after-taste. Regardless of the gold you spend, you'll never get choicer tobaccos than those rolled into Camels.

So this evening as you ply your unerring skill, evoke then the mellowest fragrance that ever came from a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

Camels represent the utmost in cigarette quality. The choicest of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are blended into Camels by master blenders and the finest of French cigarette paper is made especially for them. Into this one brand is concentrated all of the knowledge, all of the skill of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men.

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

© 1926

Co-ed Columns

VINA B. RUGG '27, Women's Editor

EDITORIAL

...s, fundamentally. ...l motive of every ... In order that the ... progressing, the ...rnment must con... ...ational institutions ... and the laws of the ...tained. These are ... tasks which con... not only here at ... over the world. To ... these problems and ... of humanity in ... Vermont may well ... sons and daughters, ... everlasting goal of ... women. But, in con... ...ssful life, is it not ... as a foundation the ... received on the college ... just these reasons such ... the Women's Student ... Student Senate, the ... A. and the Y. M. C. A., in ... things which go to ... college life have been in... ...to build up the character ...e individual; to instruct him in ...ays of business; to promote de... ...and cooperation on the ...and finally to give to him all ... a college can give toward suc... Since it is through untiring ... that the institution has been ...ished the one aim of the stu... body should be to uphold its ... traditions; to enter its activi... ...and in so doing to build up a ...ation of success which may in ... years reap for him a life of ...ness and prosperity.

Communications

To the Women's Editor of the CYNIC:

There is one word in the vocabulary of the present generation which in my opinion needs immediate extinction, and that is the word "collegiate." Perhaps I should not blame the word, but rather the properties for which it stands.

It symbolizes the spirit of the cheap... ...ement of college—the flashy type ... noticeable by the time they ...end in choosing accoutrements of ...ess than of the mind. It stands for ...bjection of the individual to the ...ence of the mob. It fosters a ... in direct opposition to the one ... our founders held when form... ...our worthy institutions. It makes ...the product of our colleges, persons ...personalities, persons who are de... ...of individual ideas, and afraid ...express thoughts contrary to the ...of public opinion.

This wish to appear collegiate gives ...an undesirable aspect to our ... that even our professors say ...the hope of our nation does not ...upon us as college graduates, but ...the working youth, who realize ...the importance of serious matters.

Yours for the promotion of individ...uality.

'28.

To the Women's Editor of the CYNIC:

It has been many years since Ver... has had a new college song. ...r did the truth of this reveal it... ...more disastrously than at the song ...fest out upon the campus on ...Day. There really weren't ...songs to go around without ...the same one twice. Fresh... got the worst of the deal when ...ng was left unsung except ...plain" and even that had been ...of the program within the gym... but fifteen minutes previous.

I propose that U. V. M. adopt the ... the Freshmen sang about the ...at Grassmount, on Field Day last ... It was sung to the tune of ... Me Back to Old Virginia," and ...entitled "Champlain and Mans... The verse is worthy of being included in the regular group of Ver... songs.

Herewith:

When shadows fall over Champlain and Mansfield
And when the work of a busy day is done,
Gather O Classmates, and let us sing together,
Sing while across the mountains gleams the setting sun.
Beauty of working, of living, and playing,
Vermont will teach us, Oh! may we learn it well.
Thus by our living prove worthy of giving
Faith and allegiance to our college on the hill.

'29.

To the Women's Editor of the CYNIC:

To stand near the Y room door when classes are passing is to be a witness to a hearty free-for-all among those attempting to enter or exit its sacred portals. The congestion reminds one of the rush for a bargain counter or for a popular entertainment at The Strong Theatre. The girl who can make her way in or out unscathed may well count herself lucky. It would seem that if the door of the Inner Y room could be opened, some of our wild scrambles might be eliminated. It may be a tradition to keep this door locked, as it seems to be a tradition to have the Y room clock silent. If, however, it was not breaking any established custom, the use of the Inner Y room door would be a solution to our traffic problem and make for a more orderly appearance about the Y room.

McMAHON'S BREAD

Made of the highest grade bread flour, rich sweet milk and malt.

Wedding Specialties, Candies, Nuts, Fancy Cakes for Parties

McMahon's Bakery

32 Church St. Phone 134

STUDENT UNION MAY DIVIDE WORK OF PRES.

Announcements concerning the appropriations to the Wasson Memorial Fund were made in Student Union Saturday. Y. W. C. A. appropriated $25 a year for five years with the idea of increasing this sum if possible. W. A. A. appropriated $50 for five years. Student Union made no definite announcement. Its appropriation depends on whether or not Student Union dues are increased to $1.50 per year.

The discussion of increasing the dues was left over until this week.

The main topic of discussion was that of having a chief Justice at Vermont. The plan is that there shall be elected a chief Justice whose rank will be equal to that of Student Union President. This shall bring about a division of the work between the President of Student Union and the Chief Justice.

At Vassar, where this plan has worked out very well, the Chief Justice has charge of the work of judiciary Committee and is chairman of that committee. She is the representative of Student Union on the campus to whom students may look for the interpretation of Student Union laws and regulations. She meets house committees at certain appointed intervals and discusses matters with them. Her taking over of all these duties leaves the Student Union President free to attend all executive duties. In short, the plan is to divide the responsibilities of Student Union President and to place them on two people instead of on one, as has hitherto been done.

Vice-President Della Martin presided on account of the absence of President E. Warner.

BLUESTOCKINGS NOTES

Bluestockings held their last meeting of the year Tuesday night at Redstone. At this meeting, papers were read and commented on.

With the Fraternities

Kappa Alpha Theta

The formal dance of Kappa Alpha Theta was held Friday night on the Vermont roof. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Dean and Mr and Mrs. Putney. The music was furnished by Paul Rider and his orchestra and the favors were leather cigarette cases.

Delta Delta Delta

The chapter is entertaining the active mothers at a luncheon this afternoon.

Eta Chapter announces the initiation of Mildred McLeod '29 and Mary Roberts '29 on Wednesday May 12.

The spring formal was held on the Van Ness roof May 14. Paul Rider's Orchestra furnished the music and the chaperones were Capt. and Mrs. Rattan and Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick. The favors were leather card cases.

Pi Beta Phi

The formal dance of Vermont Beta was held Friday Night at the Ethan Allen Club. The music was by the Border Night Hawks. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hard and Dr. and Mrs. Reed were the chaperones and the favors were leather key cases.

Marion Parker is entertaining the chapter at a house party at her home on Williston Road this week-end.

Alpha Xi Delta

Upsilon Chapter held its spring formal at the Vermont roof garden May 7. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Myrick and Professor and Mrs. Dean. Music was furnished by Paul Rider's orchestra and the favors were hammered silver match cases.

Alpha Chi Omega

Alpha Iota held its formal dance on the Vermont roof, May 14. The Algonquins furnished the music and the favors were leather address books.

Mrs. Graft, the national inspector of the fraternity, will be the guest of honor at a house party held at the camp of Lois Palmer, this week-end.

Grace Everest of Tau Chapter and Mabel Miles '21 attended the chapter meeting this week.

Kappa Delta

Kappa Delta had a house party last week-end at Alice Wright's camp on Malletts Bay.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Y. W. C. A. is planning to hold a Sun-rise Service on the summit of Mt. Mansfield on Sunday the thirtieth. Dorothy Harvey will lead the service. The party will leave here Saturday noon and spend the night at Taft's Lodge, climbing the remainder of the way early Sunday morning. Each person is asked to bring her own food, enough for three meals.

ELLSWORTH'S

The home of fine watches and diamonds

Successor to A. G. Mansur

71 CHURCH STREET

LURE OF MAQUA BEGINS TO GRIP THE CO-EDS

...the shores of Lake Thompson at ...mand, Maine, at this time of the ...ear turn the thoughts of those who have ever been so fortunate as to go to Maqua. For those who have never been, and so know little of its charm, we will say that Maqua is the Y. W. C. A. camp to which go delegates from the New England Colleges for a ten day period of association with some of the best known speakers and leaders in the work today, as well as for a vacation in an ideal spot after the hectic rush of the end of the college year. This year the conference is to be held from June 1 to June 10.

Can you imagine anything more tempting after a headlong scramble through exams than a morning dip in sparkling, icy water, while the morning sun slips through the myriads of white birches beside the shore, long warm afternoons under the spicy pine trees while the scent of new-cut grass and ferns grows rich under the rays of the setting sun, anything more lovely than the hush around the evening campfire while the loon calls from across the lake, and mysterious ripples lap upon the shore? Then as the blue dusk grows darker, the walk home by a winding path, lighted only by the fitful torches of the leaders?

If there were anything more lovely it would be this—that the deeper and and more fundamental need in human hearts for an answer to their perpetual questionings, is recognized. For this, Maqua helps her daughters to think, to put things in their proper places with the right perspective, and to open vastly wider avenues of approach to subject of world-wide interest as well as the perplexing hurts of personal life. This is done through organized meetings and discussions as well as the more informal and ubiquitous "hash party."

Maqua is a healer, of minds as well as bodies, and like the white birch, whose Indian name she bears, lets fall tender drooping fingers of contact to those who need her.

Compliments of

C. A. BARBER & CO.

112 Church Street

THE BEST SODA in Town

See For Yourself At

CHURCHILL'S

Drug Store

95 CHURCH ST.

The Old Bee Hive

Women's Pure Silk Full Fashion Hosiery

$1.50 Pr.

Girls who like to have their Silk Stockings fit snug at the ankle, will find these at $1.50 most exceptional. White, Black and all leading colors.

Dance Orders and Favors

For Your Junior Week Dance

WE HAVE THEM

Many Styles To Choose From

COME IN AND SEE THEM

FREE PRESS PRINTING CO.

189 College Street

Burlington - - - Vermont

...for any ... relief activity in th... the winter, the ...nside snowshoein... ...ng. Freshmen, p... upperclassmen are ... these sports. Th... ...s offering excellen... ...coming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. T... ...dership of Eliz... membership and act... increasing.

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...at guard, Niles at tackle, Sonny Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

...marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Rose L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

...All Freshmen interested are ...aged to come out for the w...

...A minor improvement ...grounds has been ...concrete walk le... Row to Morrill ...wade through th... called South ... because the... Hall.

Number 41 of a Series

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

[illegible] every Saturday morning during the college year. Subscription $2.00 a year delivered anywhere in the United States. Single copy 7 cents. Communications should be addressed to the Business Manager. [illegible] Entered at the postoffice at Burlington, Vt., as second class matter. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized September 15, 1925.

[illegible] Managing Editor
[illegible] '28
[illegible] '28
[illegible] '28
VIOLA M. WOOD '27 Associate Editor
MARION V. TAYLOR '28 Sporting Editor
[illegible] PERRY '28 Intercollegiate Editor
PETTA JENNINGS '27 Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] Catherine Smith '28
[illegible] Hagley '27
[illegible] '27
[illegible] Margaret Durick '28
Robert M. Tracy '28 Virginia Margio '28
[illegible]
WILLIAM M. LOCKWOOD '27 Business Manager
[illegible] MARTIN '27 Advertising Manager
[illegible] Ainsworth '28 Assistant Managers

[illegible] and undergraduates are heartily [illegible] All communications [illegible] signed by the writer, whose name will if so desired. They should [illegible] the Editor-in-Chief and [illegible] him by Wednesday noon. Any [illegible] handed in by Thursday may be telephoned to 782 before Thursday.

In charge of this issue:
[illegible]
News Editor
HARLAN M. STEVENS
Assistant Manager

Vol. 44 May 15, 1926 No. 26

HONOR SOCIETIES

A few days ago the peculiar maneuvers of a squad of militaristic gentlemen, in evening apparel and with [illegible] for mascotry created a mild stir in certain quarters of Burlington. As to the identity of these singular individuals it was noised about that they represented the new Key and Serpent Society, which had chosen this rather unique method of making its debut into life at Vermont. If this be true, may we congratulate these men on their opportunity to help carry on one of the best and most worth while types of student institution on our campus—the Honor Society.

The name "Honor Society" is apt to be rather misleading. For the societies so designated mean more than a reward to certain individuals for meritorious service. They are a reward, yes but they are also a demand—a demand for even more and better service, a demand for college loyalty and for social responsibility. The man who makes an honor society is obligated more than he is honored. Members of these societies, we believe, realize this, and in the realization and the acceptance of the obligation, get much of constructive value in the development of their own personalities.

To the [illegible] of students outside these societies, students whose work has only just begun or whose work is to remain unhonored, their existence means much of usefulness and of value, perhaps as an inspiration as a goal to strive for, or as a unifying influence in college spirit, and college life. The misanthropinism represented by last year's "Honor Grabber" letter does not represent, we feel, a very universal sentiment. Most of us would agree with the attitude of a certain Vermont professor, who, when he hears of the attempt to scathingly condemn certain men by calling them "honor grabbers," exclaimed with [illegible] "for what is there better to grab than Honor?"

What, indeed? Honor with its accompaniment of responsibility means much to the honored, and to him who is as yet unhonored, it is a goal and an inspiration.

JUNIOR WEEK

[illegible] of the list of activities we find Junior Week again emerging. To review the past month on the social calendar is to view one long succession of elections, initiations, concerts, dances, athletic contests, and what not. At last, however, we are emerging into the final spurt which will end only to be replaced by the sterner need for preparation against the finals.

For the Juniors the season has a special appeal and they feel a certain ownership in the occasion through efforts and planning which have been extended over several months. But as far as entertainment goes there is but one event, the Junior Banquet, to which everyone is not admitted. Junior Week has an appeal for everyone, because of the multiplicity of happenings which fall therein. The Juniors and perhaps the Seniors will "take in" all the events, while the Freshmen and Sophomores will patronize to the extent of their pocketbooks.

We are fortunate this year in the large number of athletic contests which have been secured for next week or which happened to fall therein. There will be some major contest practically every afternoon. On Saturday, especially, an added attraction in the triangular track meet between the three state colleges.

Junior Week is along with Kake Walk, Founder's Day and others, one of the important landmarks of the year. It is such seasons which should do much to bolster that lack of college spirit which we hear so much about. Junior Week should help because of the large number involved in it. Next week the members of the tennis squad, baseball team, and track squad go into action in much heralded events. The Peerade will involve many men and women to present the ideas of some thirty organizations. The dramatic societies have been preparing their part for weeks; and last but not least the committees from the Junior class have been unsparing in their efforts to make the week a success. What is more worthy of our support than this season, which produces the cooperation of so many to bring pleasure to everyone?

The last meeting of the Aggie Club was held Tuesday night. A lecture was given by Professor Cummings.

The students of Penn State, following in the footsteps of the student body of Yale, overwhelmingly expressed their disapproval of compulsory chapel by a vote of 1,709 to 315.

The guillotine surely can't be much more painful than that feeling you have when your fountain pen rolls off the table and sticks in the floor.

Announcing

THE ALGONQUINS

Music for FRATERNITY AND COLLEGE DANCES

Hjalmar Aronson
Delta Psi House
BURLINGTON, VT.
Phone 741

Campus Comment

"29" Scores College Spirit

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

The "College Spirit" of U. V. M. has been written and written about. I would like to take this opportunity to express my, and several other fellows' opinion on the matter.

As you all know, or ought to know, Vermont was defeated by Tufts. Why? Because of the lack of spirit in the student body; or should I say those of the student body that were present. I would say that most of them were at the "movies" with a "friend."

How many fellows were hoarse after the game? How many yelled enough to become hoarse? Five Freshmen who yelled all during the game; and when they did, half of the stand looked at them as though they had horns on or were some wild animal escaped from the Zoo. A ball game is no tea party and the sooner the fact is known, the sooner the team will acquire the spirit set up by the student body, and will begin winning games. We have as good a team as any college, and they went down fighting as did the five Freshmen who stood by them all during the game.

Now the only way to make this team win is to come out to every game; and the one who comes out after the game who can speak above a whisper should be made "to assume the angle."

There was a smoker before the Williams game. How many were out? Not more than 150 out of 800 men. Can you not tear yourselves away from your books or your "lady friends" for an hour to come to smokers and acquire Vermont Spirit? No wonder we do not have enough spirit.

The only time this year that the "True Vermont Spirit" was shown was at the Middlebury-Vermont Football game. Why, say, you could feel it going around. And did we not trim Middlebury by this Spirit? I'll say we did. We can win all the games if we have the same spirit.

To know Vermont and to acquire True Vermont Spirit" may take a year, but it does not cost a cent to try and obtain it.

A LOYAL VERMONTER "29".

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

The Vermont Independents protest against the using of their name as a cognomen for various pick-up athletic teams composed mainly of college men who are members of fraternities. If these men want to get together as a team from U. V. M. to play outside teams, why do they have to call themselves "Independents" when there are several other names fully as applicable. The name "Independent," when used with reference to Vermont men, should be associated only with the non-fraternity group in the same way that the name of a fraternity is associated only with that frat and not with half a dozen other organizations.

THE INDEPENDENTS.

Song by the Collegians, entitled: "Our Trousers Don't Have the Freedom of the Press."

Tufts College Dental School

Four year course with degree of Doctor of Dental Medicine. Candidates required to present High School certificate of graduation from approved schools and credentials covering one year in college including specified work in Biology, Chemistry and English with Physics of other High School or College grade for entrance September 29, 1926. After that date two years in college with specified work in Chemistry, Biology and Physics may be required. Men and women admitted. Address

Frank E. Haskins, M. D., Secretary, 416 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass.

The Old Mill

LAURA BUSS [illegible]

Please do not be [illegible] title; this is not an [illegible] loyalty, nor yet an [illegible] for Vermont, "nestled [illegible] Mountains"—you know [illegible] rather an inquiry into [illegible] able horde of "old [illegible] called colleges.

You have seen an [illegible] coffee grinder, undoubtedly [illegible] end you put the coffee [illegible] coffee beans and little [illegible] ones, slender ones, plump [illegible] tant ones, small insignificant [illegible] they all go. Then you [illegible] giously for a few minutes [illegible] ly your coffee beans begin [illegible] from the other end of the [illegible] how changed they are! [illegible] have we big important [illegible] er any small insignificant [illegible] have all became exactly [illegible] they all look exactly alike [illegible] tell which was the big bean [illegible] so important, nor which [illegible] bean that was so woefully [illegible] tant. Of course in their [illegible] they will undoubtedly [illegible] better coffee; in fact the [illegible] the coffee mill is generally [illegible] to be very good for the [illegible] much the most efficient and [illegible] the process of coffee making [illegible] it not a shame that the [illegible] became so small? All the [illegible] kinds of beans have shrunk [illegible] of the smallest, the poorest [illegible] number. It seems a pity.

This mild little allegory [illegible] illustrate a point. Right [illegible] have we called our recitation hall the "Old Mill." It is a mill and it works just as the coffee mill does. Every spring the Mill receives its [illegible] grist more varied in kind [illegible] beans could ever be. Here [illegible] the brilliant man, the dull [illegible] man with a spark of [illegible] him and the mediocre [illegible] last is most important. He [illegible] bean that shapes all the others. He [illegible] the real ruler of the Mill. [illegible] the Mill is run and in its [illegible] law. All the other beans [illegible] conform to his pattern and [illegible] not—his ostracism upon [illegible] ever! They are "wet," "high" [illegible] "oil cans" in his picturesque [illegible] ology. Hence we see why the products of our "Old Mills" [illegible] over are so discouragingly [illegible] surprisingly mediocre. The [illegible] man rules because of his [illegible] varyingness. He is nettled

(Continued on page [illegible])

No Entertainment, Dance or Reception is complete without

FREDDIE'S FRUIT PUNCH

Prepared only by
CENTRAL DRUG CO.
Cor. Church and College Sts.

Specially Designed SUITS For College Men

Four Piece Styles
in the season's smartest shades
$35 to $55

♣ ♣ ♣

Tuxedo Suits

Haberdashery

♣ ♣ ♣

Miles & Perry Co.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898

The Weekly Wetness

Song of the Sci Hall

[illegible] upon this earth
[illegible] to me
[illegible] in the Sci Hall

[illegible]
[illegible] flagrant dogfish,
[illegible]
[illegible] worst smells get
[illegible] Science Hall.

[illegible] reek of a car ex-
[illegible]ent tinge,
[illegible] that abide in the Sci
[illegible] garbage man cringe!

[illegible]mont's
[illegible] sweet formaldehyde
[illegible] alcohol.
[illegible] worst smells get
[illegible] Science Hall.

Social Note

[illegible] and that the president [illegible] League got set six hun[illegible] meeting of the Bridge [illegible] Card-In-General Club. He [illegible] cards with all the honors, [illegible] instead because he [illegible] could bring himself to call [illegible] a spade!

[illegible] rendez-vous of those-who-[illegible] the Sweet Shop, is really onto [illegible] we may expect at any time a [illegible] called, of course, The [illegible] Sweet Special.

Little Stories From Mythology

[illegible] was a French prof, on dit. [illegible] said to his class, "Mes cheries, [illegible] very clair [illegible] would like en plein air. [illegible] is dismissed, tout de suite!"

To The Room-Mate

(After the manner of Alexander Pope dogone him!)

[illegible] and believe, thy own importance [illegible].
[illegible]mate, thy great worth is not [illegible] now
Without your guiding hand I'd go [illegible]
What would I'd do without you I can't [illegible]
[illegible] do my Econ for me; clean* the [illegible].
[illegible] wake me every morn—
[illegible] disgrace!
There's one thing about you I can't [illegible]:
[illegible]pes me, galls me, makes me tear [illegible] hair
[illegible]esn't matter when you pay your [illegible]
I wish to hell you'd buy some [illegible]rettes!

[illegible] it is the prerogative of every [illegible]alist to steal his brother colyum[illegible] stuff. Diogenes takes great pleas[illegible] in presenting to his public this [illegible] specimen of stolen fruit. The [illegible] on Foreign Relations after [illegible] deliberation, has come to the con[illegible] that the author of this gem [illegible] have been a student at either [illegible] Holyoke or Yale. Dartmouth was [illegible] eliminated from possible origins [illegible] Economics at Dartmouth is [illegible] as "Eccie." The "ie" is prob[illegible] an affectionate diminutive, as the [illegible] profs playfully call it. The [illegible] to the cigarettes also bans [illegible] and Harvard. In our per[illegible] opinion, the lyric has an unmis[illegible] aroma of Yale, not only be[illegible] the colloquial use of the term [illegible], but also because of the refer[illegible] to "cleaning." We are inclined [illegible] that the author will prove to [illegible] other than that doggy brother [illegible] Co-ed's. Bingo.

*Ed. note. This is a fine example [illegible] exaggeration.]

BAILLARGEON'S
BARBER SHOP
Nuff Said
25 Church St.

OPPORTUNITY TO STUDY SOCIAL PROBLEMS IN N. Y.

For the ninth consecutive season a picked group of college students will be given the opportunity of spending seven weeks in the study of race, industrial and social problems in New York City. This group, known as the College Summer Service Group will be held from June 28 to August 13, 1926. Each member of the group is placed in an institution such as the Bowery "Y", the Church of All Nations, etc., where he lives, eats and works during his seven weeks in New York.

One of the most interesting features of the weekly meetings is the period following the noon-day luncheon when different men in the group relate the experiences they have had in the Christian and Social Service institutions in which they have been placed to do practical work. In addition to these meetings, authorities on Labor, Race Questions, and like subjects give lectures twice a week and answer questions.

Last summer twenty-one colleges from nineteen states were represented. This season Vermont will be allowed one delegate. Anyone interested should inquire at the "Y" office at once.

KEY & SERPENT INITIATES

Key and Serpent members for next year were initiated Tuesday night at the Owl House. The initiation banquet took place directly after, at the Hotel Vermont. Prof Tupper assisted as toast master. Dutton spoke in behalf of the alumni, Bingham Humphrey for the retiring society and John T. Conway for the initiates. Charles H. Stevens of Winooski was elected president, Harold Collins of Greensboro Bend, vice-president, R. J. Holden of Bennington, secretary and S. C. Abell of St. Albans, treasurer.

[illegible] the banquet the initiates [illegible] the gym championship to [illegible] the [illegible] cup in return [illegible] their courage.

Our idea of luxury in college to be about three blocks from a classroom with thirty-five minutes in which to make it. Ex

All Parker Duofolds
Carried in stock at
Hobart J. Shanley & Co., Inc.
5 CHURCH ST.

Independents Lose

On Saturday the 14th the Vermont Independents journeyed to St. Albans where the school boys took them into camp by a 6 to 5 score after a hard ten inning battle. Cummings pitching for the high school nine held the Independents well in hand. Williams who replaced him in the seventh did not go as well and Cummings went back into the box in the eighth and held the Independents scoreless.

Active: Congratulations, old man.
Newly pledged. Same to you.—Delta Pursuit.

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
ONE YEAR OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
Room 2809

Decorate yourself with the degree of P. A.

THAT means "Pipa Amoroso" in the Latin, or "pipe-lover" in plain campus English. P. A. has certainly endeared a pipe to more men than any other letters in the smoke-alphabet. Because Prince Albert lets a fellow smoke all he wants to—and makes him want to!

Cool as the stare of a marble Venus. Sweet as the approach of vacation. Fragrant as spring blossoms. Think up your own similes, Fellows. You will when you pick P. A. and a jimmy-pipe for permanent roommates. Prince Albert is great tobacco, and that's not blah.

Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. Fill the bowl of that old jimmy-pipe to the brim and borrow a match. Then you're set for some great smoke-sessions, as sure as you're a foot high.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

[illegible] activity in th[illegible] the winter, the [illegible]nclude snowshoein[illegible] Freshmen, p[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] coming acquainte[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. T[illegible] leadership of Elin[illegible] membership and act[illegible] increasing.

[illegible] There [illegible] There [illegible]

[illegible] at guard, Nilsen at tackle, Sonny Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

[illegible] marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 200 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

[illegible] All Freshmen interested are [illegible]aged to come out for the w[illegible]

A minor improvement [illegible] grounds has been [illegible] concrete walk le[illegible] Row to Morrill [illegible] made through th[illegible] called South [illegible] because there [illegible] Hall.

Number 61 of a Series

SPORTING NEWS

MARION V TAYLOR '28 Sporting Editor

TRACK MEN TAKE SECOND PLACE AT EASTERN MEET

Vermont Men Upset Dope by Taking 33⅓ Points at Worcester—Simpson High Point Man

Captain Simpson

[illegible] was broken by Capt Simpson with a distance of 163 feet, 4 inches [illegible] the old record was 162 feet [illegible] 145 feet 1½ inches for Vermont [illegible] inches Olney Hill hurled the ham [illegible] the old record of the meet [illegible] feet

Art Shaw easily won the high [illegible] in 16⅕ seconds He also took second place in the low hurdles bringing in with Capt. Simpson and Hill [illegible] points out of the 33⅓, which Vermont scored

Olney Hill

A light rain in the afternoon proved unfortunate for Whitten. Vermont's pole vaulter, who because of a wet [illegible] was able to get only fourth place

Sandy Grenier was fourth in the [illegible] yard dash and third in the 220 yard dash. Arnold Post captured third place in the mile run and fourth in the 880 yard run Besides winning the javelin throw Capt Simpson won the shot put, distance 38 feet, 9 inches took fourth place in hurling the discus and second in the hammer throw Simpson was high point man of the meet taking 14 points. He also stood third among New England javelin throwers on Saturday.

We hear the latest styles for men
Are clothes to match the hair
We wonder what will happen then
Old Baldy will be dare"

Utah Chronicle

Speaking of Sport

[illegible] have won no [illegible] Dan [illegible] Roark [illegible] St Michael's and Santoire pitched [illegible] victory over the Mt Assumption team last Tuesday afternoon. We hope that the [illegible] will have a chance to [illegible]

We hear that Tom Keady is bringing [illegible] baseball team [illegible] Field [illegible] is hard as if any [illegible] were on the team to go up in the air

If "Dutch" Hoag returns to the [illegible] our chances of winning the State Championships from Middlebury will be greatly strengthened.

The second team seem to have their eye on the ball as was indicated by the score of the Mt Assumption game 17-1

"Sandy" Simpson is to be congratulated on his work in the Worcester meet. Besides taking two firsts, he took a second and fourth placing him high point man of the meet.

Coach Latty deserves much credit for whipping a team into shape which took second place in the Eastern Colligiates. At the rate we are improving on track next year we ought to win the meet.

Today the 19th Annual Interscholastics are being held at Centennial Field. Rutland, Brattleboro and Burlington seem to be the most logical contenders for the cup.

Syracuse Collects Five Runs in Loose Game

(Continued from page 1)

Randall, 1b.	3	0	0	11	0	0
Guild, cf.	3	0	0	0	0	0
B Morse, 3b.	3	0	0	2	1	1
Aronson, c.	3	0	0	4	3	3
Schoppe, p.	2	0	0	2	2	1
Talcott, p.	1	0	1	0	0	0
Valenti, 3b.	0	0	0	0	0	0
*Winchenbach	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	31	0	3	27	14	8

*Hit for B Morse in eighth.

SYRACUSE

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Ringwood, ss.	4	0	2	1	3	0
Van Lenglen, rf.	5	0	0	0	0	0
Peck, lf.	4	0	0	2	0	0
Hanson, 2b.	3	1	2	1	2	0
Bingen, 1b.	4	1	0	12	0	0
Richmon, 3b.	4	2	1	0	4	1
Bushline, cf.	4	0	0	2	0	0
Eisemen, c.	4	1	1	9	0	0
Schlegel, p.	4	0	1	0	2	0
Totals	36	5	7	27	11	1

Inns.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
U V M.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
S U.	0	0	0	0	2	2	0	0	0	5

Stolen bases: Ringwood, Eisemen. First base on errors: Syracuse 6, Vermont 1. Left on bases: Syracuse 6, Vermont 3. Struck out, by Schlegel 8, Schoppe 4, Talcott 1. Double plays: Conway to B. Morse. Passed balls: Aronson. Umpires: Carney and Mangan.

Good: Gee, my girl is sore at me because she thinks I went out with another woman while I was home.

Morning: Why don't you confess?

Dearie: I would if I knew which night she's referring to.—Boston Beanpot.

FRATERNITY
JEWELRY
AND
FAVORS

F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELLERS
17 Upper Church St.

COLLIN'S MEN LOSE TO TUFTS IN EIGHTH FRAME

Morse Makes Home Run—Fogg Responsible for First Tally—Guild Makes Great Throw

Last Saturday at Centennial Field Tufts was victorious over U. V. M by the score of 4-

The game was hard fought and but [illegible] in the field at crucial moments [illegible] Collins' men would have triumphed

Vermont scored first in the third Randall dropped a nasty one over the third baseman's head and then tallied the first run on "Chief" Fogg's long [illegible] over center

Tufts turn came in the fourth. Shuman the visiting moundsman, took first on Valenti's error and advanced to second when Moriarty and Valenti both refused to accept Brothers' slow grounder. Later Kelley drove to deep right, sending Shuman home to tie the score

"Bill" Morse was first up for the locals in this inning and swatted a terrific homer, the offensive feature of the day. Bagley then missed Smith's third strike and Jack took second as Randall was thrown out after a sacrifice bunt. Guild fanned and Fogg walked as Smith stole third. Bagley's second error in this inning, a passed ball, was costly, allowing Smith to score and Fogg advanced to third. The Brown and Blue hurler was unsettled, or very wise, and passed Thompson. But Moriarty fanned, leaving a man on second and third

At the beginning of the fifth, Burt Morse took over the hot corner but nothing of importance happened

In the sixth Brothers hit between third and short. Bagley butted him second. Kelley flied out and as Liston singled to Guild, Brothers ran and scored

"Lefty" Roark took the mound for Vermont in the seventh and allowed no earned runs during the rest of the game

During the eighth round, Bagley hit, Plebeau ran for him and took second as Kelley went to first on Guild's error Both men advanced on Roark's wild throw to second. Plebeau then scored when Fogg fell and dropped Liston's fly. Later Kelley scored on Philips' Texas leaguer. Score, Tufts 4, Vermont 1

The excitement was intense in Vermont's half of the ninth. But with two away and a man on second Roark failed to take advantage of the chance to win his game.

Guild's throw in after Liston's double, cut off Kelley at the plate in the second and was the fielding feature of the day.

For your dances and hops buy
The "Original Fruit Punch"
$1.00 gallon, delivered
With Ice and Fruit
BOOTH'S DRUG STORE
College St. — Opp. Park

RED 46 DEPT. STORE
"The Store of Progress"
BURLINGTON VERMONT

STEIN-BLOCH
CLOTHES

YOUNG'S
HATS

VERMONT SECONDS LOSE TO CLARK BY 7-3 SCORE

On May 14 the Vermont [illegible] lost to Clark School [illegible] battle by a 7 to 3 [illegible] played good ball until [illegible] the infield blew up [illegible] school boys 4 runs [illegible] for the seconds put up [illegible] of ball, keeping the hits [illegible] with the exception of the [illegible] when the visitors scored [illegible] hits

In the first inning [illegible] a brace of tallies on [illegible] smashes. In the second [illegible] Mulvanity who came [illegible] after on McDonald's triple

In the fourth the Second score Morse grounded [illegible] doubled and came home [illegible] single. Winchenbach [illegible] second. Williamson [illegible] Gray and putting Win[illegible] third. Then Winch[illegible] Williamson worked a pet[illegible] steal with Winchenbach [illegible]

Vermonts only other [illegible] in the eighth when Prentice [illegible] stole second, took third [illegible] sacrifice, but Cogswell [illegible] Gray fouled to the catcher, [illegible] inning.

In the fatal 11th Clark put [illegible] across on two hits, and three [illegible] errors.

B. Morse had a great day at [illegible] while Prentice was the only Vermont batter to get two hits. [illegible] Boone were the high lights [illegible] victors.

SANTOIRE PITCHES A NO-HIT NO-RUN GAME

On Saturday the 15th the Vermont Seconds journeyed to Jeffersonville where the town team turned them back by a 8 to 5 score. Santoire pitching for the Seconds was touched for 13 hits, while the locals were able to garner 6 off the delivery of Lawrence the Jeff. hurler. Home runs Duba former Vermont shortstop and Winchenbach feature the game

In a slow and uninteresting game of ball the Seconds defeated the Mount Assumption Institute by a 17 to 0 score. Santoire hurling for the Seconds pitched a no-hit, no-run game besides striking out 14 men The Seconds had a great day both in the field and at bat, Macomber and Prentice each chalking up three hits apiece

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Base Ball
Tennis
Golf
Supplies

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

The Old Mill

(Continued from page 4)

...not so clever as to ...free from the ac... ...reveled at the rest ...as never did and ...ing unusual. But ...escape. Mediocrity ...anything different ...eptance of things ...t he cannot under... ...erstate. He makes ...applying them to ...kin (and hence ...feels that he has ...at all tendency to ...the pity of it is ...can not, by mere ...n he smothers the ...the flash of talent. ...man enjoys us... ...instrument of his ...a "course crabber" ...t study for joy of ...because it is forced ...professor. If the ...of genius attempt ...let him beware! ...m the herd lest you ..."queer," "high hat!" ...dull man, he is a ...it go at that.

...powerful of human ...sists tell us, is the ...probation of our fel... ...od is the man who ...moved by the sneers ...atified by its praise. ...whence mediocrity ... The "course crab... ...disdain he endures, ...way to avoid it. There ...to sink to the level ... Rather than be a ..., neglects his work, ...grow rusty with little ...ashamed of receiving ...than D. The genius ...turn that the cardinal ...and, unless he be of ...an endure the ridicule ...except his own soul, he ...cloak of mediocrity. ...writes his poetry or ...sings in secret, in a panic ...be discovered. These ...ful but the dull man is ...at all. For he, lacking ...sense" that is the prized ...mediocrity conceals his ...behind a mask of glib ...slang, stereotyped ...requires the vices of medi... ...its fashions in language ...takes on a cheap "smarty... ...taining any of its chief ...ability.

...a mill, a mill that grinds ...exceeding fine. Be warned! ...the approval of your own soul ...with you; unless you can ...your own level and let the ...world go hang—unless you ...things, stay away! For ...you come you will be ...with the grist, and emerge ..."Man" stamped upon you, ...mark of nicely ground coffee.

COAST GUARD SERVICE

The Treasury Department has just ...to the Military Office for ...interested in the Coast Guard ... There is a need for Tempo... ...missioned Officers up to the ...of Lieutenant which can be ...by any male citizens of United ...between 21 and 30. Temporary ...afloat and ashore with full pay ...allowed. The applicants are ...according to educational and ...qualifications, which in... ...knowledge of nevigation or ...of boats, and according to ... All those interested ...see Capt Lammons at the Mili... ...

...prove that fifty per cent ...married people in the United ...women.—Rice Owl.

FORDS

SPORTS AND CUT DOWNS

If you can find any that look worse we want to see them. But you cannot find a better engine.

Runs like a lily

PRICED TOO CHEAP

Chas. P. Smith Jr., Inc.

87 St. Paul St.

Vermont's Largest Dealer

George Gorham Groat

[This is the eighth of a series of biographical sketches of faculty members published weekly in the CYNIC*]*

In Professor George G. Groat the University of Vermont has one of the leading American authorities on labor problems. Doctor Groat has made a long study of industrialism and labor. The result of his research appears in several volumes and articles contributed to various journals. Among his works are "Trade Unions and the Law in New York" (1905); "The Attitude of American Courts in Labor Cases" (1911); and "An Introduction to the Study of Organized Labor in America."

Besides his interest in labor, Professor Groat has been actively connected with civic organizations. He has long been a member of the State Committee of the Y. M. C. A. At various times, he has served the City of Burlington in several capacities. From 1919 to 1922, he was vice-president of the Vermont State Conference on Social Work. He is a member of the College Street Congregational Church.

On December 15, 1871, at Green Island, New York, George Gorham Groat was born, the son of William Henry and Fidelia Anna (Gorham) Groat. After receiving his A. B. degree at Syracuse University in 1895, Professor Groat taught a year at Round Lake Academy, New York. He served on the faculty of the New York State Normal College from 1897 to 1903, being granted a Pd. M. degree by the institution in 1897. In 1901, Cornell University conferred the degree of Master of Arts on him. Doctor Groat taught at Morris High School, New York, from 1903 to 1906, at the same time being in charge of Accounts and Finance at the New York Factory Study School of Commerce, Columbia University. [illegible] Professor Groat with the degree of Doctor of Philosophy [illegible].

On June 18, 1907, he married Miss [illegible] Western, Secretary of Albany, New York.

After serving as Professor of Economics and Sociology and secretary of the Faculty at Ohio Wesleyan University from 1906 to 1913, Doctor Groat came to the University of Vermont as Professor of Commerce and Economics. As head of the Department of Commerce and Economics, Professor Groat has done much to elevate the standards of the department. He has installed a definite [illegible] system in his department which is the only definite system now in use in the University. Professor Groat is a member of several University Senate committees. At present he is taking a sabbatical year and is in Europe.

Among the societies he belongs to are: Delta Upsilon, Phi Beta Kappa, American Economic Association, American Association for Labor Legislation, International Association Institute Solvay (Bruxelles), Weltwirtschaft (Kiehs Archiv).

"The Saving Grace" By C. Haddon Chambers

(Continued from page 1)

man servant, is played by F. W. Jones '28, a fraternity brother of his master; Jones will be remembered as taking part in the play, "The First Year." Dexter Butterfield '26 takes the part of the young Englishman, Ripley Guildford. "Dex" is a member of Sigma Nu and of Boulder, has been president of Student Senate and has appeared in the cast of a number of plays. The part of Mrs. Corbett is taken by Marion Lawrence, a member of Alpha Xi Delta who has acted very successfully in former plays. Anna Perkins, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and former player, takes the part of Mrs. Guildford. Susan Blaine is played by Muriel Cleveland '29, who is a transfer this year to Vermont. Ada Parsons, the handmaid, will appear in form of Elizabeth Johnson '27, a member of Alpha Xi Delta, and president of the Women's Press Club.

All styles shown at LA PIERRE'S STORE
are now selling at the WALK OVER BOOT SHOP
27 Church St.
PEOPLES DEPT. STORE

Make Money This Vacation

$10–$20 daily

Sheaffer Dealers are Looking for Good Men

—to sell Sheaffer "Lifetime" fountain pen Desk Sets to business and professional men.

High class, instructive and remunerative work for intelligent and ambitious students.

The fine quality of the product is backed by one of America's best known, most substantial and successful organizations.

Call any Sheaffer dealer today. Get the story—no obligation. Or write direct:

W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY
80 Fifth Ave., New York City
506 Republic Bldg., Chicago
651 Market St., San Francisco
Ft. Madison, Iowa

Why Study?

The more you study, the more you know
The more you know, the more you forget
The more you forget, the less you know
So why study?
The less you study, the less you know
The less you know, the less you forget
The less you forget, the more you know
So why study?

Cornell University Summer Session in LAW

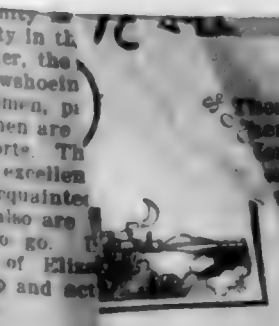
First Term, June 21 to July 28

CONTRACT. Assistant Professor Whiteside of the Cornell Law Faculty
PROPERTY. Mr. Willcox of the New York Bar
SURETYSHIP. Professor Campbell of the Harvard Law Faculty
MORTGAGES. Professor Campbell
TRUSTS. Professor Fraser, Dean of the Minnesota Law Faculty
MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS. Professor Burdick, Dean of the Cornell Law Faculty
PRACTICE. Professor McCaskill of the Cornell Law Faculty

Second Term, July 29 to Sept. 3

CONTRACT, continued
AGENCY. Professor Thompson of the University of Pittsburgh Law Faculty
WILLS. Professor Vance of the Yale Law Faculty
INSURANCE. Professor Vance
BANKRUPTCY. Assistant Professor Robinson of the Indiana University Law Faculty
PARTNERSHIP. Professor Wilson of the Cornell Law Faculty
CORPORATIONS. Professor Stevens of the Cornell Law Faculty

Students may begin the study of law in the summer session



For catalog, address the

CORNELL LAW SCHOOL
Ithaca, N. Y.

TENNIS RACKETS
and BALLS
on SALE
and for RENT
at the
THE UNIVERSITY STORE

A few more boxes
of the
STUDENTS SPECIAL STATIONERY
at the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

TENNIS WEATHER
brings
ICE CREAM & COLD DRINKS
at the
COFFEE CORNER

...for intra... ...brief activity in th... ...h the winter, the ...outside snowshoein... ...ag. Freshmen, p... ...upperclassmen are ...d these sports. Th... ...is offering excellen... ...ecoming acquainte... ...new girls, also are ... ...all who go. ...leadership of Elizabeth ...membership and act... ...increasing.

...Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...marksmen at camp. Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

...All Freshmen interested are ...aged to come out for the w...

...A minor improvem... ...grounds has been ... concrete walk le... ...Row to Morrill ... ...wade through t... ...called South ... ...because thes... ...Hall.

Number 61 of a Series

The Catty Co-ed Says

[illegible]

• • •

[illegible]
Spring
Is a fine thing
[illegible]
Maybe the wild
And woolly
[illegible]
Have an Easter egg
Have an Easter old
After the first week
And besides
It's here
And shady
On roof gardens
And in cool houses
He'll never know

• • •

Soon be Fri
Day
There will be life
Next week
For Juniors week
All the frats
Are pushing
Last how
They will win
The prize
For saving Grace

• • •

Of course
The Prom will be
Just a bit nicer
Than last year
Don't cha know?
All the dumb Frosh
Are excited
And wondering
Just which one
The great
And well known
Barbary Coast from Dartmouth
Will take
To the Prom.
And if he is tall
And dark
Or short and light'

• • •

So were
We all once

W. A. A. NOTES

The class baseball teams were chosen this week and the interclass games are being played off.

The classes in horseback riding are proving to be very successful, as are also the classes in canoeing. A larger number have signed up for canoeing than ever before.

Daily Dribble

If you want to be praised—die
Timetogotowork- thinkso

The more you are heard, the less you will be heard of. Fame is all the things you didn't say about yourself

Misery is but mold on a stagnant mind

The end of development is to become wholly fine but not a whit feeble

Prof.: Ever had economics?
Freshman: No! Just measles and chicken pox.—Boston Beanpot

JUNIOR WEEK
Prepare now for Junior Week
WHITE FLANNEL TROUSERS $8.00
Tuxedos for Sale and also for Rent
▲ ▲ ▲
Hayes & Carney
107 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

Twenty-second Annual Junior Week Coming—First Peerade Held in 1908

For the twenty-second time a Junior [illegible] about to celebrate Junior Week at Vermont. Since its inception [illegible] a week in May has always been reserved for it except in 1918 when war activities prevented. Several weeks ago the CYNIC printed an article concerning the Proms of 25 years ago. The following information [illegible] those events of that time may be of interest to readers.

The annual Junior Week Peerade originated in a mammoth street pageant on May 19 1908. The credit for this important event in the Junior Week calendar goes to Mr. Harry E. Gage, popularly known as "General" Gage, under whose direction college dramatics flourished for many years. Its purpose was to advertise the college play and for several years it was the most widely heralded occasion of the week.

The Free Press of May 20, 1908 says "The Great Street Pageant in Behalf of 'Half Back Sandy' that was presented at The Strong last evening, traversed the streets of the city yesterday noon with full eclat. At 11:30 o'clock crowds began to gather on Church Street, and when the parade appeared the curbings were lined with people and the windows of the adjoining blocks were filled with eager spectators. No person was disappointed for the parade was a whole just as advertised. It was probably the biggest stunt ever done by college students and was certainly the most pleasing. Hiram Birdseed and Matilda of Eden Mills arrived in the city early and drove through the principal streets enquiring the whereabouts of the parade. Their horse was colored sky blue.

The peerade of 1909 is said to have even eclipsed that of the preceding year. A Cynic of that date terms it a "Kaleidoscope." President Buckham, Dean Tinkham and Mayor Burke headed the procession. Among the specialties presented were Col. Ben Hit Young of fame in the St. Albans Raid, Sammy D. Champlain, the flesh eating Chickabuck bird, the sacred bulls of India and other monstrosities. The officials who judged the entrants were E. C. Mower, Professor A. B. Myrick and Dr. Beecher. The winners received a free box at the play.

For four successive years from 1909 to 1912, the Wig and Buskin Society was able to present during Junior Week, plays written, by undergraduates. "William Warren's Welcome" by Roger G. Ramsdale '09, was the first play written by a student ever produced here. "The Bachelor Cure" written by H. H. Fisher '11 and the "Ipsaham Rug" by George P. Tuttle '11, were presented in 1910 and 1911 respectively. The "Ipsaham Rug" took an Easter tour which included Boston, North Adams and Northampton, Massachusetts and Poughkeepsie, New York, being enthusiastically received at all those places. In 1912 plays were offered by four undergraduates. The one selected for presentation was written by James H. Hoffnagle '13, who received a cash prize of $25 and one-fourth the net proceeds from the performance.

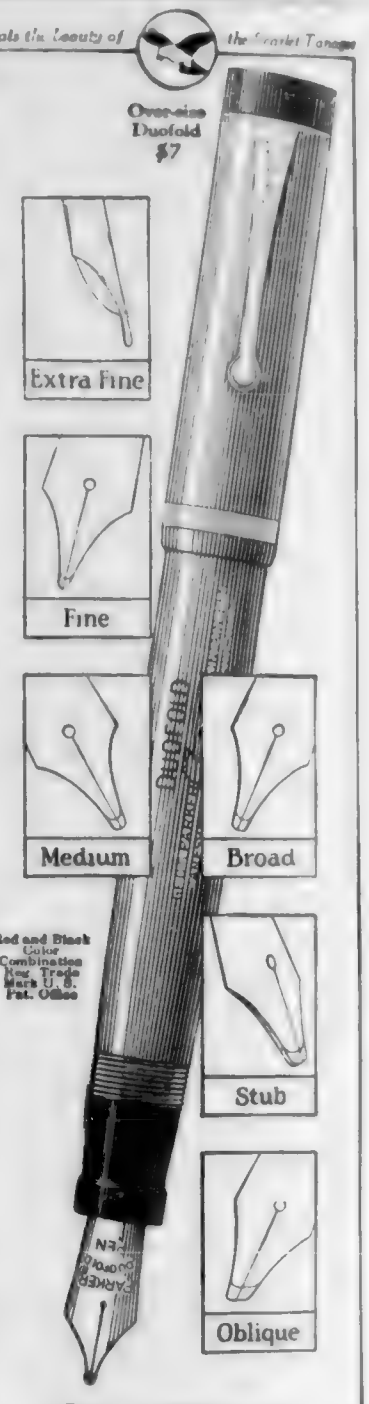
The custom of a Junior banquet revived last year was regularly followed in former years, but the men and women held separate spreads. The class of 1917 introduced a novelty in the form of a "hobo banquet." Only old clothes were allowed and the maximum expenditure was 50c. The men gathered in the gymnasium at 7 p. m. and worked on the Prom decorations until 9 when they paraded down to The Strong Theatre. Later they adjourned to the Boston Lunch for supper.

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
Special arrangement can be made for all kinds of Parties. Red Feather Candy and Mrs Perkins' Maple Nut Candies
PHONE 2365

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under Free Press Building

T. P. O'HARA, Tailoring
170 BANK ST.
Blue Serge Suits
2 Pair Trousers, $32
Top Coats, $19 to $24
Knickers, $4

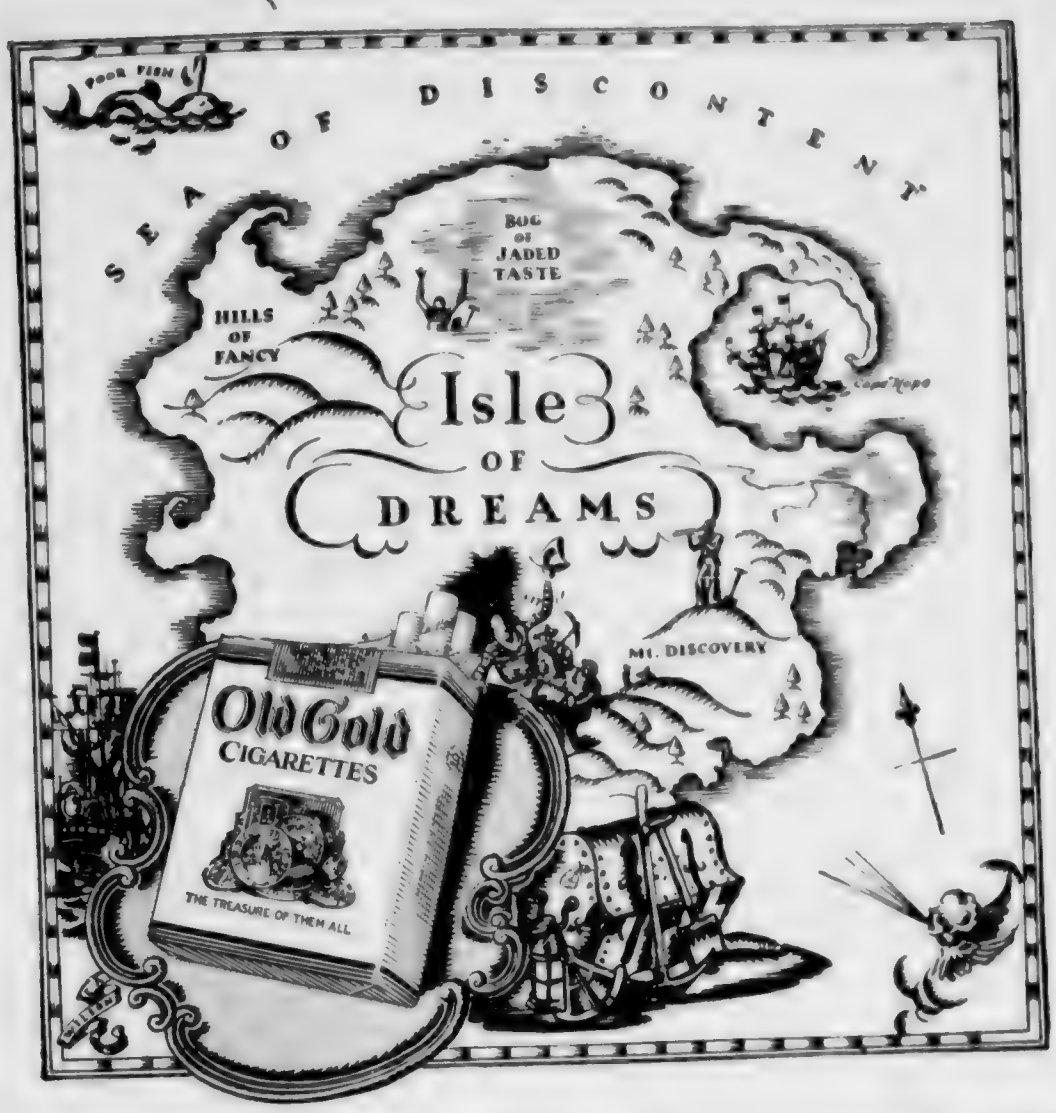
APRIL SHOWERS
BRING OUT
TOWER'S
FISH BRAND SLICKERS



The most Practical and Stylish Rainy Day Garments
TOWER'S TRADE FISH MARK FISH BRAND
"The Rainy Day Pal"
Your dealer has them
A. J. TOWER CO.
Boston, Mass.
126

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Wednesday night [illegible] Jordan led a very [illegible] profitable discussion on [illegible] istic View of Life. [illegible] not sympathetic with [illegible] view he gave a very clear [illegible] presentation of it before [illegible] meeting open for discussion. [illegible] of the discussion was about the limitations of [illegible] in an adequate philosophy [illegible] tion of the universe.



Prof. Spafford led the discussion of the series on Sunday night, May 12, taking as his "Competition vs. Cooperation in Industry."

The "Y" cabinet is getting its annual set-up [illegible] week end. Saturday and Sunday spent at Camp Abnaki [illegible] will be laid for next year. There are fifteen on the cabinet.

Reveals the Beauty of the Scarlet Tongue
Over-size Duofold $7

Costliest Point to Make
Most Economical to Buy
For it's Guaranteed if not misused for 25 years
We pay $2,340 a pound for the Tip alone—selected Iridium—hardest metal known.
We fuse it by hand into a point of Gold, and polish it to jewel-like smoothness.
We skilfully temper the point to yield to any hand, yet resume its original shape, so no style of writing can distort it.
It is magnified many diameters, and five times inspected by Parker experts.
Barrel of Rich Black and Gold, or Black-tipped Lacquer-red — handsome to own, hard to mislay.
Try the Parker Duofold at any good pen counter.
THE PARKER PEN COMPANY
JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN

The Dawn of a Better Cigarette

You'll need no Pick and Shovel To unearth this TREASURE

MAYBE, when you heard about the fellow who found a gold mine in his back yard, you wondered why you were cheated when the rabbit's foot was passed around.

But wait! You're going to have the thrill of a bit of easy treasure-finding, too.

Without the need of a map, a compass or a pick and shovel, you're going to walk around the corner and find a wealth of OLD GOLD—that new treasure of cigarettes—

—with a charm as alluring as a chest of bright gold guineas

—waiting for you—for 15c—at the nearest cigarette counter in your own neighborhood.

OLD GOLD represents 166 years of tobacco-blending "know how".

But we don't intend to spoil your surprise party by revealing all of its delights. You're entitled to your own OLD GOLD adventure.

So we simply say: Buy a package of OLD GOLDS today—and smoke out the evidence. You'll agree they are truly OLD GOLD, the highest possible standard in quality and cigarette value.

OLD GOLD

THE TREASURE OF THEM ALL

20 for 15¢

The Product of P. LORILLARD CO., Established 1760

at guard. Nilles at tackle, Bonny Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 2)

All Freshmen interested are aged to come out for the w

A minor improvem grounds has been concrete walk le Row to Morrill wade through th called South because they

Number 61 of a Series

LIQUOR QUESTION PUT TO FACULTY MEMBERS

Cynic Reporter Finds 9 for Modification—1 for Repeal and 5 for Continuance

[illegible]

Prohibition Is Vicious

[illegible] It trespasses what a large part of the population considers its personal liberty. Prohibition was passed by a small well-organized and unscrupulous minority during abnormal war conditions. The amendment is thus explained.

2. Disrespect for the prohibition law by a large part of the population is contrary to breaking of laws to an [illegible] extent. Light wines and beers would satisfy nearly all the desire, since very few like the "hard drinks" which they are now drinking for the lack of better liquors.

3. Residences in Continental Europe have given several professors opportunity to observe that countries using light liquors are not afflicted with drunkenness or disorderly conduct under influence of liquor.

Should Continue Experiment

Two professors, one of whom believes a partiality to light wines, considered prohibition a great experiment. The Volstead Act and subsidiary laws have not been given time enough to be completely tried. The present conditions may be due to other factors than Prohibition; time alone can tell. "Wets" and "Drys" are moved by personal opinion, not by facts which can not be established until the enactments are thoroughly tried.

For More Enforcement

There were three ardent "drys," all of whom asked for more enforcement of the existing enactments. Their arguments were in part:

1. The great mass of the population is not aware of the harmful effect of alcohol. The intelligent class must control the masses for the latter's good.

2. Prohibition is making the working classes industrious and thrifty. Bank accounts of laborers have been increasing since prohibition, definitely showing saving of money formerly spent for liquors.

3. Conditions are bad now, but were worse before enforcement.

4. Light wines and beers lead to "hard" liquors as has happened in Quebec.

Lone Repeal Advocate

The only member of the faculty who favored immediate repeal of all prohibition enactments said that the constitutional right of liberty had been seriously infringed by the eighteenth amendment and subsidiary legislation.

Students Disagree

Ten student leaders were interviewed. Their opinions were equally divided and were much less those presented by the professors. As interesting fact noted was that several modification advocates were total ab-

FACULTY NOTES

[illegible]

Professor Hunter spent last week in New York on business.

[illegible] Educational Directors [illegible] Department with Professor [illegible] an inspection trip. [illegible] Directors have gone to Washington, D. C. with Professor [illegible] and the Mechanical Engineers have gone to Schenectady with Professor [illegible].

Professor Hazen Perkins recently addressed a meeting of the American Federation of Women's Clubs at Middlebury on the [illegible] of Progress in Vermont.

Professor A. F. Merrick has been elected head of the Research Associates of the University.

I think everybody the news that a wedding in Honolulu was in completion. Professor Lawton, who with his family had crossed California on their trip [illegible] to Hawaii, to study a couple of the actions of the volcano.

TENNIS SQUAD TRIES COMPETITIVE SYSTEM

An experiment is being tried out [illegible] by Post Carpenter coach of tennis in regard to the tennis squad. The plan is the same as is used at Dartmouth, and which proves very successful there. Coach Carpenter has divided up [illegible] into two sections. The best five are to comprise the varsity squad. The others are at present according to standing and in order to advance in the list a player must win two matches on two [illegible] days. A player may challenge [illegible] not more than two ahead of him. Any newcomers must start at the bottom and work up. Post Carpenter expects to take several who are showing up well in his tennis [illegible] and add them to the bottom of the list, thus giving them a chance to show their wares. The varsity players are to have the court every afternoon and the others will have the remaining two. The ranking of the players at present is as follows: (1) Capt. Gould; (2) Nye; (3) Baldwin; (4) Bill Shaw; (5) E. Mower; (6) M. V. Taylor; (7) Sheild; (8) Goddard; (9) Perry; (10) Cleo Chaffee; (11) Noble; (12) Graves.

ARIEL ADVERTISERS

The following merchants by their ads are helping make the 1927 Ariel possible. Show them that their investments have been worth while by giving them your patronage.

Myles & Perry Co., Thomas & Co., B. Turk & Bros., Combination Cash Store, Peoples Department Store, Red 16 Department Store, W. G. Reynolds, Abernethy's, Fashion Shop, Old Beehive, Burlington Lunch, Park Cafe, Rand's Home Lunch, Booth's Drug Store, Burlington Sweet Shop, Mars Confectionery, Young's Pharmacy, Adams' Music Rooms, American Phonograph Co., Bailey's Music Rooms, Bessey News Co., City News Agency, McAuliffe's, Hobart J. Shanley, B. R. T., Burlington Traction Co., Champlain Transportation Co., Burlington Steam Laundry, T. P. O'Hara, Standard Steam Laundry, B. J. Boynton, Hendee & Davis, Herman Shoe Co., The Shufix, Sikora's, Bero & Co., Preston's, Wilbur Barber Shop, Charland's Barber Shop, Cole Fur Co., Simpson's, Burlington Savings Bank, Howard National Bank, C. A. Barber, Berry-Hall Co., LaPier's Store, Spaulding & Kimball, White's Pure Milk Products, Hall Furniture Co., Looney Furniture Co., E. S. Adsit Co., Elias Lyman Coal Co., Gove, The Florist, Moquin's Bakery, Howard Cigar Store, Green Mt. Sanatorium, Burlington Free Press, F. S. Lanou & Son, Hotel Vermont, Sherman Typewriter Co., L. P. Wood, Conn Gen. Life Insurance Co., C. G. Nichols (Tires), W. E. Greene Co., Morgan Bros., Robinson Edwards Co., Shepard & Morse.

stainers, while prohibition supporters included several who imbibe liquors not infrequently. The Cynic is still conducting its poll. So far the voting has been very light. As the result of the poll will help to determine the national sentiment, a large vote should be turned out.

FACULTY OF SUMMER SCHOOL ANNOUNCED

Representatives from Other Colleges to Assist in Vacation Courses Given Here

Professor Bennett C. Douglass, director of the summer session of the University of Vermont has made an announcement of the new instructors who will be at the 1926 session. The summer school bulletin has been published and may be obtained at the office of the Department of Education by students expecting to attend the summer session.

The Music Department will include Professor Howard G. Bennett, who acted as professor of music during the conege year. Mr. W. Warren Shaw, Director of Vocal Music, who is a recognized authority on the differentiation of Italian methods of voice culture, will be assisted by Miss Syrene Lister in the teaching of voice production, analysis and allied subjects.

Professor Eugene P. Chase, a graduate of both Harvard and Oxford will give three courses in history. Doctor Chase will go to Lafayette College as Associate Professor of Government in the fall. Mr. Oscar C. Gallagher, who is the Superintendent of Schools in Brookline, Mass., will offer course in high school administration and supervision of instruction.

Miss Alice H. Hayden, supervisor of Art in the schools of Bristol, Conn., will assist Miss Elizabeth Colburn in the Art Education courses. Miss Anne L. Mullin, who is supervisor of student teaching at the Normal School of North Adams, Mass., will have charge of grades 1 and 2 in the demonstration school conducted in connection with the summer session. Miss Mildred B. Stone, instructor in Arithmetic Methods in the State Normal School, Salem, Mass., will offer courses in Arithmetic.

Professor Arthur D. Butterfield in conjunction with Professor Evan Thomas will give courses in higher mathematics. Miss Cleo Chappell, instructor in Geography of the session, is in charge of the courses in Geography at the State Normal School, Trenton, N. J.

JUNIOR CLASS MEETING TUESDAY IN CHAPEL

The Junior class will meet Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the Chapel for the election of officers. At a meeting of the nominating committee last Wednesday the following people were selected: others may be nominated from the floor. President, W. R. Doane, F. M. James, R. E. Lyon, C. G. Simpson. Vice-President, Eleanor Chapman, Marion Parker, Anna Ward. Secretary, Alma Tyler, Harriet Metcalf, Vina Rugg, Lois Wright. Treasurer, H. A. Aronson, J. B. Phelps, H. T. Aplin.

NEW CATALOGUE OFFERS SEVERAL MORE COURSES

The new University Catalogue recently issued contains several additions to the curriculum.

The Physical Education Department under Dr. A. K. Aldinger offers courses in boxing, wrestling, horseback riding, fencing and canoeing.

Leon W. Dean is offering courses in short story writing and dramatic composition. Several new courses are offered in the Department of Political Science and considerable space is given the Department of Music under H. G. Bennet.

Miss Harriet E. Abbot, field worker, for Eugenics Survey of Vermont, carried on under the auspices of the Zoology Department has her office in the Experiment Station.

TENNIS TEAM LOSES TO TUFTS ON FORT COURTS

Saturday afternoon, [illegible] nis Team defeated the [illegible] by the score of 4-2. The [illegible] played on the cement [illegible] Ethan Allen the [illegible] unavailable because of [illegible]. The visitors took [illegible] two of the singles, [illegible] Shaw being the winners.

The summary is as follows:

Singles

Guild (V) beat Dow[illegible] 6-2, 6-0.

Nichols (T) beat Nye [illegible]

Banks (T) beat Baldw[illegible] 6-4.

Shaw (V) beat Stev[illegible] 6-3.

Doubles—

Nichols and Banks (T) [illegible] and Nye (V) 6-3, 5-7, 6-3.

Dowsan and Schiller (T) [illegible] win and Shaw (V) 6-2, [illegible]

Last Monday, the Ver[illegible] Team traveled to Hanover [illegible] met their third consecu[illegible] the season. The Vermont[illegible] win a match, although [illegible] were well played. Boyd [illegible] to give a good account [illegible] the New England Inter[illegible] season. The summary is [illegible]

Singles

Boyd (D) beat Guild (V) [illegible]

Partridge (D) beat Nye [illegible]

Morecraft (D) beat Ba[illegible] 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Moore (D) beat Shaw [illegible] 6-3.

Doubles

Boyd and Partridge (D) [illegible] and Nye (V) 6-2, 6-1.

Morecraft and Moore (D) [illegible] win and Shaw (V) 6-4, 8-6.

HENRY'S DINER

QUICK SERVICE

You eat well when you eat at Henry's.

Where they serve the best at popular prices

155 BANK STREET

Turk Says

Spring Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	10% down	10% per week
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS

Where the Styles come from — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

Let Us Take Care of Your Dry Cleaning

Pressing, Repairing and Dyeing
Our Service Will Please You

We call for and deliver—you will receive your garment on a hanger enclosed in a sanitary bag.

OUR PRICES ARE RIGHT
WE INVITE YOU TO INSPECT OUR PLANT
PHONE 614

VERMONT CLEANSING CO.

Plant and Office 274 N. Winooski Ave.

OWNED AND OPERATED BY A U. V. M. CHEMIST

The Vermont Cynic

Vol. 44 BURLINGTON, VT., MAY 29, 1926 NUMBER 40

R. O. T. C. BATTALION TO PARADE MEMORIAL DAY

... Battalion will ... May 31, 1926, in ... exercises of the ... patriotic societies. ... the gymnasium ... Following the ... the battalion will ... ...ns on the back ... parade and re- ... to 10 a. m. ... the battalion are ... present for the parade ... attendance at the ex- ... nasium is not com- ...

CUP FOR BEST FLOAT GOES TO LAMBDA IOTA

Rand House Has Best Float Among Women Entrants—Zeta Chi Takes Individual Prize

... afternoon, the Grand ... advertising "The Saving ... its way through the ... ...ton with the band at ... out in white trousers ... ...en sweaters.

... best men's float was ... Lambda Iota for their ... ...ation of the title of ... float contrasted the ... of today with those ... the Ira Allen Chapel ... showing the saving ... ...tion.

... Rand house float won the girls' ... represented a garden of ... and was the most beautifully ... decorated float. The ... was awarded to a repre- ... of Zeta Chi, who, as grace ... saved by a barrel.

... of the Peerade were ... Dopkins, Prof. C. H. ... and Capt. F. B. Lammons. ... was chairman of the ... Peerade. The other mem- ... G. J. Alfred, F. F. Flagg, ... Randall and Miss E. A. ...

... interpretation of the title ... of how to save ... ...tly represented by ... canoes and frantic ... Now, ways of going to the ... lacking as the buggy, ... improvised taxis and other ... transportation overcame that ... The savings graces them- ... present and by their ... even brought back the ... Special to see the play.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ALMOST PREVENT THEFT

... Rutland prohibition agents ... sufficient trust in the intelli- ... and integrity of certain Uni- ... of Vermont students, they ... be mourning the theft ... $3,000 to $5,000 worth of ...

... weeks ago some U. V. M. ... overheard three Italians dis- ... the proposed break. They ... the Rutland officials giving ... addition, the number of the ... ...ld seven by the bootleggers. ... ...ason of unproductive vigil- ... the prohibition men decided that ... a fake. Soon after the ... guard the liquor was ...

PISTOL TEAM

... afternoon on the Vermont ... pistol team fires ... in the first annual ... ...state pistol match. This ... ...match in which the con- ... have fired on the same ...

BLACK PANTHER TAKES DEFEAT FROM VARSITY

Fogg Holds Visitors to Four Scattered Hits on Centennial Field—Jack Smith Has Good Day in Garden

Vermont broke into the win column again Monday at Centennial Field by sending Middlebury back home on the end of 4 to 1 score in the fourth game of the State Championship Series. Fogg pitching for Vermont allowed the visitors only 4 well scattered hits and struck out nine of the opposing batsmen. Bossert, pitching for Middlebury lasted only half of the first inning. Hingston the relief pitcher held the hard-hitting Vermonters to hit safely only twice during the remainder of the game. "Jack" Smith at second for the Green and Gold turned in an exceptional field day with 7 assists and one put-out. Neither the Vermont batsmen nor Middlebury was able to connect for extra bases. Vermont turned in the only double play of the day in the sixth. Anderson singled, Novotny the next man up hit a hot sizzler to "Chief" Fogg who made a nice peg to Conway, getting Anderson coming second, and Conway threw to Randall, putting out Novotny.

Vermont got away to an early start and won the game in the first inning. Bossert, who started on the mound for Middlebury, was wild. He walked Conway and hit Jack Smith. W. Morse singled scoring Conway and Smith going to third. Thompson walked but was forced at second by Randall. Hingston replaced Bossert on the mound. Guild singled scoring Smith and Randall. Valenti walked. Prentice fouled out to first while Fogg hit one down the first base line and was called out when the ball hit him.

Middlebury got its lone tally in the second. Palmer singled and went to second on Rice's infield out. March singled, Rice pulling up at third. Willis hit to Valenti who threw Palmer out at the plate, March going to

(Continued on page 2)

Fraternity Dances

Tonight following the established custom of Junior Week all the men's fraternal organizations will hold their formal dances. Every dance will be open to visitors from the other organizations, as in previous years.

The Zeta Chi Fraternity will hold its dance at the Van Ness Roof Garden with Lechnyr's Orchestra in attendance. The chaperones will be Professor and Mrs. L. W. Dean, and Professor and Mrs. H. G. Millington.

The Algonquins will play for the Sigma Nu dance at the Sigma Nu Lodge. The chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dopkins, and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. O'Neil.

At the Delta Psi House music will be furnished by the Green and Gold Orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Mayforth, and Mr. C. P. Smith, Jr., will chaperone.

The Sigma Delta Fraternity will dance at the Vermont Roof Garden with music by Rider's Orchestra. Captain and Mrs. Lammons, Professor and Mrs. Puffer, and Mr. and Mrs. Bosworth of Bristol, will act as chaperones.

Pierson's Five-Piece Orchestra will play at the Tau Epsilon Phi House on Wilson Street. The chaperones are Professor and Mrs. H. Jordan.

The Sigma Alpha Chi Fraternity will dance at its house on Summit Street. Clark's Orchestra will furnish music. The chaperones are Prof. and Mrs. A. B. Myrick, Professor and Mrs. G. F. Eckhard. The favors are to be silver jewel cases.

Saturday night the 29th of May the Phi Mu Delta is holding its Junior Week dance at the chapter house. Mademoiselle Beaupre's orchestra will be in attendance, and the favors will

Continued on page 8)

SENIORS!

The next class sing will be held on the library steps at 7 p. m., Sunday. Don't miss these last few opportunities to get together.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS OF NEWPORT USE BAND

Thursday morning the R. O. T. C. Band went on the last trip of the season to Newport where it played for a parade and concert. The trip was taken under the auspices of the Knights Templars in honor of the dedication of a new temple.

The Band under the able leadership of Mr. J. F. Lechnyr and the management of Capt. Lammons, has completed a successful season and is to be congratulated on the showing it made during the Federal Inspection.

W. J. VAN PATTEN KILLED IN FACTORY EXPLOSION

Popular Member of '25 Class Loses Life as Result of New Jersey Accident

William J. Van Patten 2nd, U. V. M. 25, died on May 21 at Englewood, New Jersey, as a result of severe burns received in a factory accident.

Mr. Van Patten was in the employ of the Corn Products Company at Edgewater, New Jersey, where he had found summer employment while in college, and was going through the various departments, learning each process and so preparing himself for the higher positions. He was serving a two-month period as laborer in the plant when the fatal accident occurred on May 15. He was working on the sixth story of the factory when an imperfect valve blew out of the machine over which he and another man were working, letting out a volume of live steam which covered both men rendering the second unconscious. Van Patten knocked over by the force of the steam, gathered sufficient strength to walk down the six flights of stairs to the first aid room where he summoned aid for the unconscious workman. Although he was severely burned at several places on his body and flesh was hanging in scorched strips he insisted that the other man receive medical attention first. There was hope of recovery until next to the last day when he went into convulsions brought on by uremic poisoning after which he did not regain consciousness.

Mr. Van Patten fitted for college at Andover Academy where he worked his own way and took part in Varsity swimming. At the University of Ver

(Continued on page 7)

SIMPSON AND PARKER CHOSEN TO LEAD '27

Carl G. Simpson of Lyndonville was elected president of the class of 1927 Tuesday afternoon, in the chapel, Marion M. Parker of Burlington, vice-president, Harriet L. Metcalf of Burlington, secretary; and Hjalmar Aronson of Proctor, treasurer. Simpson has done a great deal of work for the University and for his class, having been manager of the 1927 Ariel, captain of track, and a member of the Student Senate. He is a member of Phi Mu Delta, Boulder, Scabbard and Blade, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Pi Delta Rho, Key and Serpent, and Gold Key Societies.

The following men were elected to the Student Senate: C. G. Simpson, Lyndonville; H. A. Aronson, Proctor; C. H. Blackall, Bristol, Conn.; W. M. Moodie, Craftsbury; O. Y. Parody, Peekskill, N. Y., and A. T. Post, Burlington.

COLLEGE PLAYERS MAKE HIT WITH 3-ACT COMEDY

C. Haddon Chambers' "The Saving Grace" Presented at The Strong—Conlin Star of Drama

"The Saving Grace," a comedy in three Acts by C. Haddon Chambers was presented by the combined Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal societies at the Strong Theatre on Thursday evening, May 27.

The story deals with the difficulties in the household of "Blinn" Corbett a discharged English Army officer, who lost his rank when he ran off with his colonel's wife. The last penny has been spent and the niece of his wife, Susan Blaine has a suitor coming who is regarded as a very good match for her. The butcher refuses to deliver the duck for dinner unless money is forthcoming. Such is the situation at the opening of the play.

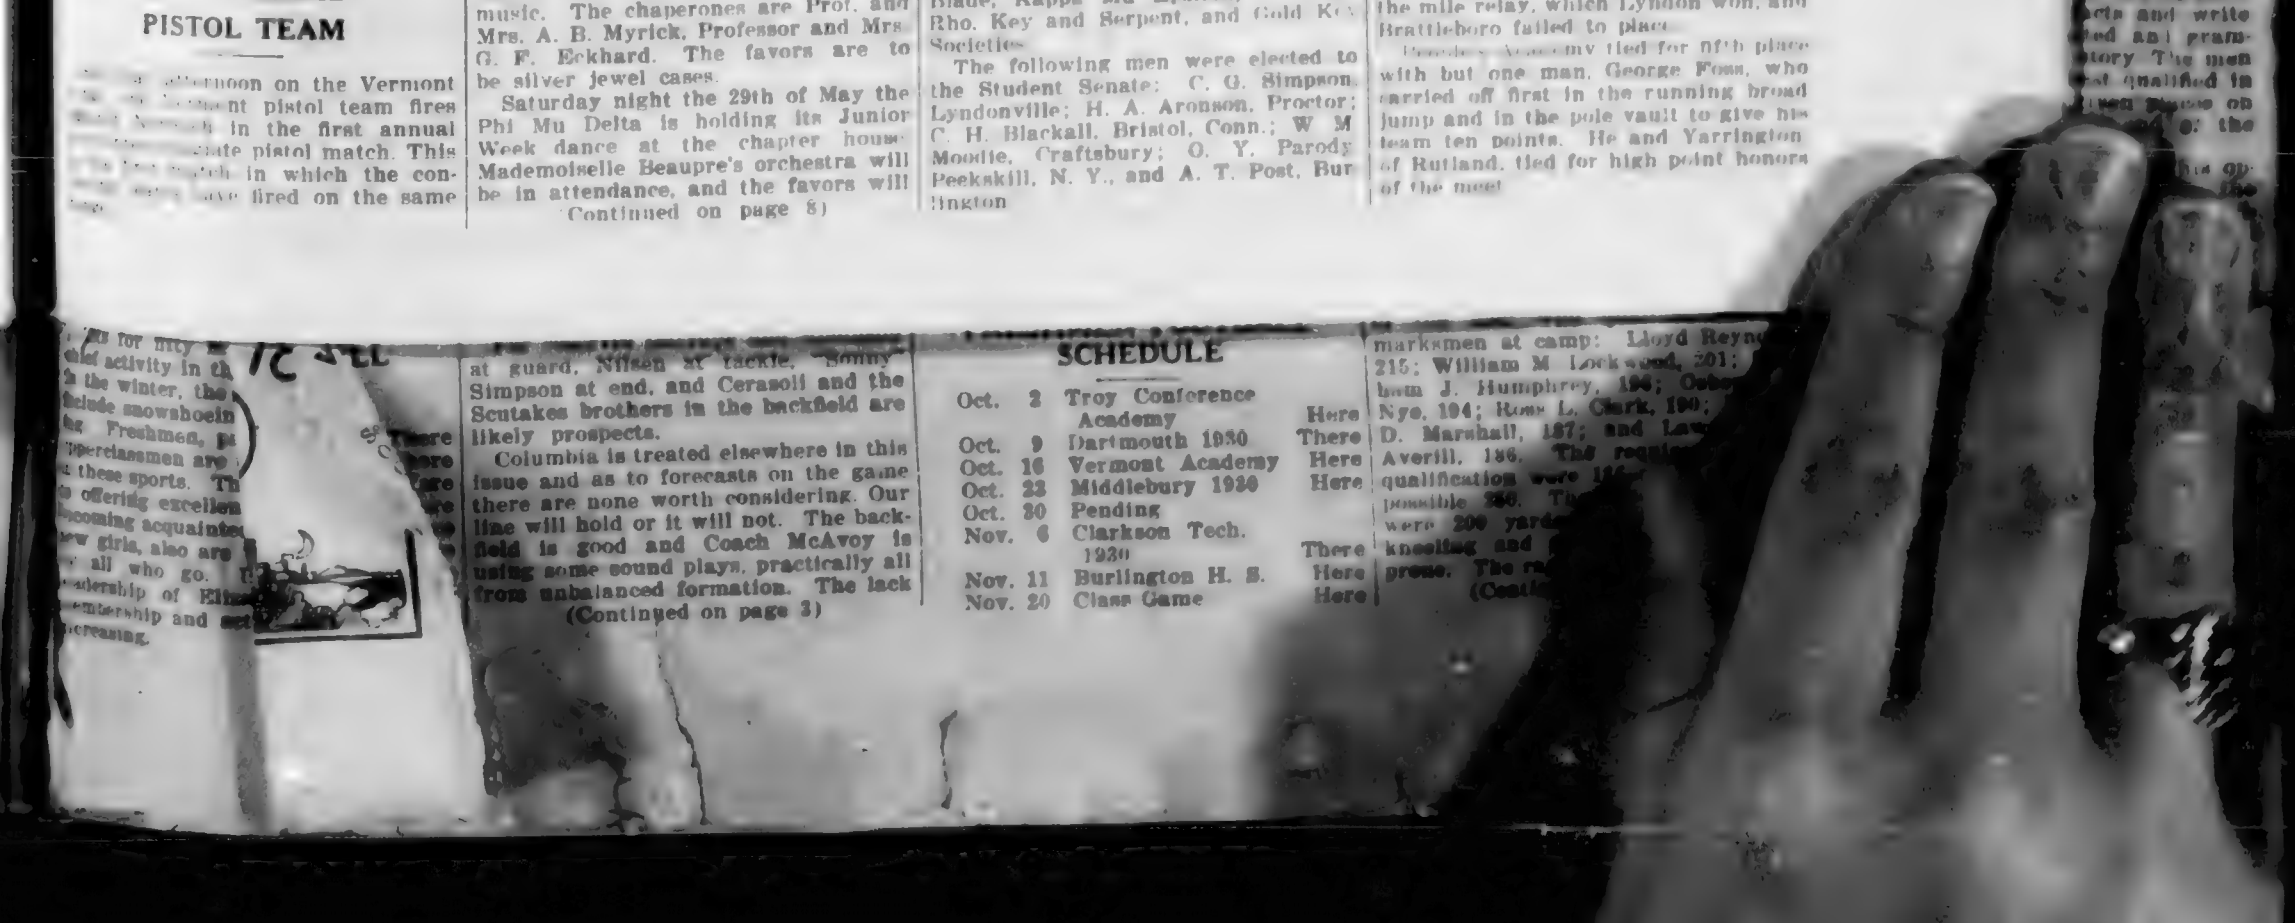
"Connie" Conlin was easily the star of the evening. The part of "Blinn" Corbett which he took required almost constant presence on the stage. The eccentric character of the retired army officer, his feeling of self-importance and his rough concealment of his love for his wife could not have been acted in a more realistic manner.

Miss Marion Lawrence as Mrs. Corbett did not show the least reluctance in disclosing the unpleasant experiences of her former husband "Blinn's" colonel. Her love for her present husband knew no bounds, and the tact necessary in managing his different moods was well expressed in her acting.

Her stern disapproval of her son's engagement and later her complete capitulation to his desires were points which added much spice to the action of the play.

Dexter Butterfield in his personifica-

(Continued on page 2)



RUTLAND HIGH AGAIN STATE TRACK CHAMPION

Rutland High won the 19th Vermont Interscholastic Track meet, held on Centennial Field by the University of Vermont last Saturday, obtaining 43 points. Lyndon Institute was second with 30, Brattleboro third with 29, and Burlington fourth with 16½. Montpelier and Peoule's Academy tied for fifth place with 10 points each. St. Johnsbury and Spaulding took 8½ and 6 points respectively.

Five records were broken. E. Rice of Burlington broke the record for the quarter mile in 54 flat. The former time was 54¼, held by Bedard of Lyndon. A. Powell of Burlington broke his own record in the shot put with a heave of 45.03½. The record which was set last year was 42.05. H. Pierce of Rutland broke the record for the mile run in 4.43½. The former record was 4.50 held by Cannister of Lyndon. H. Franzoni of Rutland broke the record for the javelin with a throw of 143.09. The former record was 139½ held by E. Donnelly of Montpelier. H. Yarrington of Rutland broke the record for the 120 high hurdles, in 17 flat, the former record being 17¼ held by Moran of Brattleboro.

Brattleboro and Lyndon both qualified more men than Rutland but the latter school ran away with the mile run, 220 low hurdles and running high jump, collecting eight of the possible eleven points in each event. Brattleboro lead Lyndon until the last event, the mile relay, which Lyndon won, and Brattleboro failed to place.

Peoule's Academy tied for fifth place with but one man, George Foss, who carried off first in the running broad jump and in the pole vault to give his team ten points. He and Yarrington of Rutland, tied for high point honors of the meet.

... for nitty ... chief activity in th... in the winter, the ... include snowshoein... ing. Freshmen, ... Upperclassmen are ... these sports. Th... is offering excellen... becoming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. ... leadership of Elin... membership and act... increasing.

... at guard, Nilsen at tackle, Sonny Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

... marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reyn... 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; ... ham J. Humphrey, 196; Os... Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; ... D. Marshall, 187; and Law... Averill, 186. The requi... qualification were 1... possible 250. Th... were 200 yard... kneeling and ... prone. The ra...

(Conti...

Black Panther Takes Defeat From Varsity

(Continued from page 1)

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
		1	0	1	2
	3	1		1	2
	3	1	1	1
	3	1	1	11	0
	4			11	0	1
	4	0	1
	3	0	0	1	1	0
	3			0	0	0
	3	0	0	0	1
	37	4	3	27	15	1

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
			0	13	1	0
	4	0	0	2	1	0
	4		1	1	4	1
	4		0	0	0	0
	3	0	1	1	3
			0	2	0	0
	3	1	1	2	0	0
	2	0	0	1	2	0
	3	0	1	1	2	0
	0	0	0	0	0	0
	1	0	0	0	0	0
	31	1	4	24	13	3

*Batted for Anderson in 9th

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1
	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	*	4

Earned runs: Vermont 2. Middlebury 1. Sacrifice hit: Morse. Stolen bases: Wright. First base on balls: off Emerson 1; off Kingston 2 off Fogg 1. First base on errors: Vermont 2. Middlebury 1. Left on bases: Vermont 6, Middlebury 1. Struck out: by Fogg 9, by Emerson 1. Double plays: Conway to Conway to Rathbun; Fogg to Conway to Rathbun. Wild pitches: Fogg, Kingston. Hit by pitched ball: Smith by Emerson; Smith by Kingston. Time: 1 hour 35 minutes. Umpires: Carney and Mangan.

College Players Make Hit With 3-Act Comedy

(Continued from page 1)

one of the cleverest young men noted for recklessness and ease of falling in love and his part in portraying every inspired love and look of rage and terror.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson in the part of Meg Pomeroy was the serving maid of easy standing of the professional English type. Frank Jones as William Rigg the butler and accomplice was most perfect in the manners of his profession. The scenes between these two gave a peaceful side attraction to the many issues of drama and ended by their decision to marry before Hugh goes off to war.

Miss Muriel Cleveland made her debut in college dramatics in the part of Susan Ripley the niece of Mrs Carbert and for whom the present events of the play demand a match with a man of wealth. Her duty was to assist the courtship of Mr Ripley (continued under the continuous interference of one of parent and guardian. The match finally turns out to be a real love affair. Miss Cleveland was able to carry off both the retiring and the masterful parts of act with [illegible]

[illegible] proved but the [illegible] of the part of [illegible] [illegible] Rigg was equal to [illegible] and [illegible] the part.

JUNIOR PROM HELD LAST EVENING IN GYMNASIUM

The Junior Prom held last evening in the gymnasium was well attended. The Barney Quest Orchestra from Burlington, which has decorated so many other colleges was at its best last night. The gymnasium was very pretty, decorated with paper streamers and the effect was set off by the lack cross banner with gold letters set on a purple background. A new feature of the Prom was the use of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Co-ed Columns

VINA B. RUGG '27, Women's Editor

EDITORIAL

[illegible]IAL SEASON

[illegible] peak of the social [illegible]ermont, is past and [illegible]s go the programs [illegible]ances. Not till an- [illegible] be with us again. [illegible] the first, for others [illegible]o others there have [illegible] more Junior Weeks. [illegible] to say that all ap- [illegible] a peculiar thrill that [illegible] a tightening in the [illegible] thought of it, an eager [illegible] might not be ours to [illegible]

[illegible]s like Junior Week, [illegible] are sprinkled over [illegible] enable us to meet the [illegible] of life and incidentally [illegible]. The memory of the pleas- [illegible] stays with us, it helps us on. The [illegible] of life which are not easy to [illegible] are made more easy because of [illegible]

And what are these hard things? Why [illegible] of course. The next thing on [illegible] program, and the hardest, stiffest [illegible] of all.

Because we have enjoyed the past [illegible] because it has left with us a [illegible] of pleasure and because of [illegible] ahead let us take our bearings [illegible] get ready for a final spurt. For [illegible] it is the first, for others it is the [illegible] and yet for others there have been [illegible] will be more college years but for [illegible] it should end triumphantly in a [illegible] fitting and in proportion to [illegible] pleasure it has brought.

THE RAINBOW

Looking back over a college life of [illegible] years one generally recalls the [illegible] of his own life through a mist [illegible] activities and Commence- [illegible] pains, until only the important [illegible] stand out in the memory. What [illegible] the outstanding features of that [illegible] years". First perhaps, the remem- [illegible] of the beginning of a college [illegible] with its duties, which at [illegible] seemed so disastrous but in [illegible] years proved to be amusing. [illegible] recalls one of the greatest [illegible] of college life. An event which [illegible] now being celebrated at old [illegible] Junior Week! The time [illegible] cares are flown away, joy reigns [illegible] and one good time follows [illegible]. This year it is the class of [illegible] who have the honor of represent- [illegible] Alma Mater on the campus. [illegible] indeed, a just reward for any [illegible] who has endeavored to uphold [illegible] spirit of old Vermont by contribut- [illegible] the good quality of its athletics [illegible] its scholarship. For the past [illegible] the talk of the college has been [illegible] Week. The big "Peerade" in [illegible] splendor and with its outstand- [illegible] originality; the college play which [illegible] its characters men and women [illegible] dramatic ability and last [illegible] by no means least the Junior [illegible].

[illegible] the Junior Prom and to enter [illegible] is like reaching the end of a [illegible]. The old gym in which Ver- [illegible] has won many a victory is [illegible] into a palace with the main [illegible] as a ballroom and the armory as [illegible] room. A solid canopy of many brilliant colors overhanging the gym and the banner of the proud Junior class is suspended. But wait, that is not all. In gazing around one sees the real rainbow encircling the room. Fair maidens attired in gorgeous costumes of every shade and hue. Mingled together these colors help to form the brightest rainbow that Vermont has ever known, the rainbow of Junior Week. In short it is the rainbow by which every Junior class, which goes out from the University of Vermont will be remembered. It is the symbol of youth and happiness.

With the Fraternities

Delta Delta Delta

The engagements of Beatrice Herberg '26 to Harold Wilson '26, Delta Psi and of Iola Bagley '27 to Frank Perry '28, Theta Upsilon Omega of University of New Hampshire were announced.

Pi Beta Phi

The alumnae entertained the actives after the regular meeting Monday night, May 24.

The Sophomores entertained the patronesses at a tea Monday afternoon, May 24.

Alpha Xi Delta

The chapter entertained the local chapter of Kappa Delta on Wednesday night, May 18.

Kappa Delta

The chapter had a very successful food sale on Saturday, May 22

Two delegates, Marion Thrall and Helen Lynch have been elected to attend the Beta Province Camp at Swartzwood, New Jersey, June 24

Sigma Gamma

Sigma Gamma held a house party over the week-end at Eleanor Davison's Camp at Starr Farm Beach.

Eleanor Davison, '28, has received a scholarship, given by the Baptist National Board of Religious Education, to the Columbia University Summer School. Miss Davison is one of the five in the United States to receive one of these scholarships.

LILAC DAY

On account of the cold weather, the Lilac Day pageant has been postponed until June 3. The pageant this year, under the direction of Mrs. Pollard, is unusually effective, and a great deal of time has been spent on it, so it is hoped that there will be a large number of guests.

W. A. A. NOTES

The interclass baseball games are being played off this week and next. The baseball rally will be June 1 at Grassmount at which time the final game will be played. The all-sports cup will be awarded as well as sweaters, emblems and numerals.

The Catty Co-ed

Says

[illegible]
Little Skirts
[illegible]
Pour spirits
They all scampered
Back into their holes
Or beds
Or what do
They give in?
May as well
Enough.
Must have had
A Saluting cup
With June yet
So cold
The Barbary's
Coasted up
From Dartmouth
And then
The other flowered
Bloomed and blushed
And
The dumb Frosh
Took in Her first prom
But what fun
It was
To promenade
Not at all
Like grannie said

* * *

Poor Juniors
They couldn't decide
Whether to eat
Or not
To eat.

* * *

Was Grace saved?
The cast
Did its best
And the honors
Are divided between
The Wig
And the Masque.
But
It doesn't matter
Who did it
If the saving Grace
Is safe
And The Strong
Was full,
Also the Bank account.

STUDENT UNION VOTES TO HAVE CHIEF JUSTICE

[illegible] meeting it was [illegible] to establish a new office to be known as Chief Justice, the duty of which will be to have charge of all disciplinary matters and thus release some of the pressure which falls upon the president. The Chief Justice will act as the head of all house committees and as chairman of judiciary.

Nominations have already been made for the office and will be voted on this week. They are Ruth Evans, Dorothea Baker, Charlotte Brown, class of '27.

The debate "Shall the Women's Student Government be the Same as the Men's" which was to have been held today at Student Union has been postponed. The same question will be debated in the fall.

Miss Holbrook gave an interesting talk Saturday morning, May 21 on the work of the American Association of University Women.

GLEE CLUB

The Sextet broadcasted from Station WCAX on Tuesday night, May 18 at 7 o'clock. Three selections were rendered. "Hymn to Diana" by Prof Bennett, "Judge's Dance" and "To Be Sung on the Waters." The sextet is composed of Edith Starr and Vina Rugg, first soprano; Eleanor Davison and Catherine Bassett, second soprano, and Helen Morrissey and Della Martin, alto.

An out-of-door vesper service is going to be held tomorrow afternoon at Redstone. It will be lead by Dorothy Harvey.

GRADUATION

Gifts for this occasion should be well selected as they will be treasured for many years to come.

F. J. Preston & Son

"GIFTS THAT LAST"

JEWELERS

17 Upper Church St.

TENNIS RACKETS

and

BALLS

on

SALE

and for

RENT

at the

THE UNIVERSITY STORE

A few more boxes

of the

STUDENTS SPECIAL STATIONERY

at the

MEDICAL BOOK STORE

TENNIS WEATHER

brings

ICE CREAM & COLD DRINKS

at the

COFFEE CORNER

Correct

Shoe Repairing

AT LOWEST PRICES

J. A. Sikora 188 Bank St.

The Old Bee Hive

GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Silk Stockings that Wear

SHEER OR SERVICE WEIGHTS

$1.85, $1.95, $2.25 or $2.50 Pr.

Sold exclusively here, and featured in all colors to match the costume.

[illegible] for fifty [illegible] chief activity in th[illegible] the winter, the [illegible]ludes snowshoein[illegible]ag. Freshmen, pa[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] coming acquainte[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. [illegible] leadership of Elisa[illegible] membership and act[illegible] increasing.

[illegible] at guard, Nilsen at tackle, Sonny Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

[illegible] markamen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence Averill, 186. The requirements qualification were 186 points out possible 250. The slow fire [illegible] were 200 yards standing, [illegible] kneeling and sitting, and [illegible] prone. The rapid fire record

(Continued on [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the
NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

[illegible] Published every Saturday [illegible] year
[illegible] $3.00 a year delivered
[illegible] Manager 258 Mo[illegible] Ave. All other correspondence to [illegible] Mills House
[illegible] Post Office as [illegible] matter [illegible] special rate of [illegible] Act of [illegible] 1924.

[illegible] RUGG '27
[illegible] Editor
MARION V. TAYLOR '28
[illegible] Editor
[illegible] '28
Intercollegiate Editor
LETTA JENNINGS '27
[illegible] Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] Smith '28
[illegible] gley '27
[illegible] Cook '27
[illegible] Burich '29
Robert M. Tracy '29 Virginia Margio '28
Assistant Editors
[illegible] M. LOCKWOOD '27
[illegible] Manager
[illegible] M. MARTIN '27
Advertising Manager
[illegible] Stevens '28
[illegible] Unsworth '28
Assistant Managers

[illegible] and undergraduates are heartily [illegible] All communications [illegible] signed by the writer, whose name [illegible] withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief and [illegible] by Wednesday noon. Any [illegible] should be handed in by Thursday noon or may be telephoned to 762 before 7 p. m. Thursday.

In charge of this issue:
[illegible] PHELPS
News Editor
A. [illegible] UNSWORTH
Assistant Manager

Vol. 44 May 29, 1926 No. 30

PROHIBITION AGAIN

Since the CYNIC has attempted a survey of Vermont's attitude toward prohibition, it might be a good idea to summarize the results of it and draw a few conclusions.

First, then in regard to the mental attitude evinced toward the laws in question we find as much division of sentiment here as anywhere else. Some years of technical prohibition have not apparently succeeded in uniform opinion to any appreciable degree. They seem rather to have awakened a spirit of discontent and of opposition, if not open rebellion. It is significant that faculty members, whose upholding the law in practice are so divided mentally on the question, as is the student body.

As to the extent to which the spirit of prohibition and the laws of prohibition have affected the actual practices of the student body, we are faced with a slightly more difficult problem than that of attitude. It is hard to discover what is the actual drinking situation at Vermont. It is a matter which cannot be gotten at by open canvassing and in regard to which everyone seems to have more opinions than facts. It is even harder to attempt a comparison of this year's situation with that of last year, or the year before, to determine whether the problem is becoming more or less serious. However, it is the opinion of a good many students with whom we have talked that prohibition has by no means eradicated whatever tendency there may have been to resort to alcoholic beverages in the old days, and as a matter of fact, has made no very serious dent in it. And, as the man said, "Them that wants it, gets it." Prohibition has not as yet, apparently, succeeding in prohibiting.

We believe—with, we imagine, the majority of American people and of college people—that the idea of prohibition is a good idea, in theory; that the use of alcoholic beverages is productive of little ultimate good to society, and of a good deal of harm. So do we believe in certain rather revolutionary concepts of Mr. H. G. Wells, and of certain advanced schools of eugenics. The question is, is the country as a whole ready for the idea? Can the thing be put over? Prohibition is needed, a great experiment. Whether it will work or not remains to be seen.

Campus Comment

Vermont Apathy

To the Editor of the Cynic:

The [illegible] prohibition poll again brings out the apathy of Vermont students. Hardly seven [illegible] hundred votes have been cast in a poll to determine Vermont's opinion on the greatest political issue of the day! About every student has an opinion, but it is seldom aired. The rather poor response to the prohibition vote [illegible] an exception only one-half of the men voted in the Senate poll. [illegible] sufficed to make the [illegible] the Vermont opinion a good [illegible] the Junior Week was postponed [illegible] last winter [illegible] World Court poll was [illegible] are but a few cases. [illegible] Vermont people are backward [illegible] national poll they make an unsuspicious and favorable impression as "[illegible] fours" at a formal ball. Instead of taking every opportunity to show that U. V. M. is to be regarded a factor in national student opinions and life, the typical Vermont student revels in phantasy. When big things are to be done, no wonder Vermont is overlooked in the galaxy of universities with traditions of enthusiasm and leadership kept on a high plane by keen competition.

Vermont is an old American university; its scholarship was the equal of the best in the United States. U. V. M. has sent out men who have honored her name and brought her glories. Today the apathy (called "reserve," a virtue) being shown by Vermonters indicates a period of decline. When Vermont was in flower, such a student as is now the typical Vermonter was in the minority. It took much more energy than is now being expended to keep Vermont existing in the early days.

Vermonters should show an interest in problems calling for solution by college men; they should freely discuss and express their opinions; they should take an interest in student and class governments and express their opinions by voting. All along the [illegible] apathy and reserve should be obliterated, [illegible] and action substituted.

Recently Vermont saw a gleam of the proper frame of mind, which accomplishes things . . . the spirit which Mr. E. R. Latty imbued in a much-beaten track team with glorious result. Coach Latty is to be congratulated on [illegible] the traditional Vermont spirit.

Let's not continue the old Vermont [illegible] track but carry it over into [illegible] activities.

'25.

It has been, on the whole, a most successful Junior Week. Too bad we couldn't have had the Junior Banquet, but perhaps the extra interest and energy which might have gone into that, has contributed to the success of other features of the week, the Peerade, the play, the Prom, etc. The Junior Week committees have worked hard, and well, and are deserving of a lot of credit.

Now back to the grind, to brush up on that French and Spanish, and make up those Physics experiments, and get in those tardy English reports before the inexorable hand of time dashes cold water upon us in the shape of the finals. Pleasant consideration, isn't it? Perhaps it really is—for some people. We don't know who they are.

ELIGIBILITY NOTES

There are men on the Varsity teams who need help in some of their subjects. This help may mean their keeping out of warning and being eligible for teams next year.

The eligibility department has been trying to furnish tutors but is having some difficulty in getting enough to help. The department would like some more tutors in [illegible] and also Engineering [illegible] Economics 7, Spa[illegible] These tutors must be [illegible] finals take place [illegible]

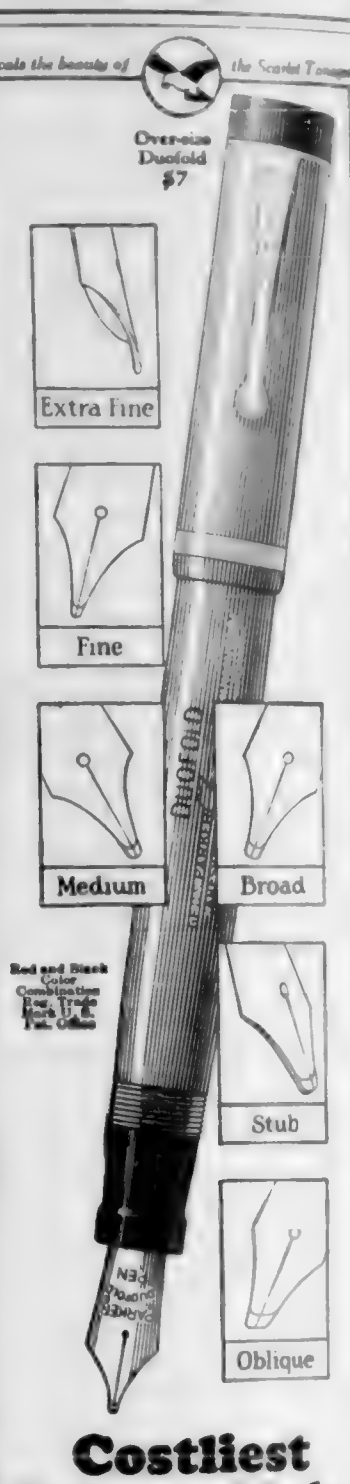
Those who will [illegible] their names at Mr. [illegible] with either Ted Eaton [illegible]

Specially Designed
SUITS
For College Men

Four Piece Styles
in the season's smartest shades
$35 to $55

Tuxedo Suits
Haberdashery

Miles & Perry Co.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898



Cornell University
Summer Session
in LAW

First Term, June 21 to July 28
CONTRACT, Assistant Professor Whiteside of the Cornell Law Faculty.
PROPERTY, Mr. Willcox of the New York Bar.
SURETYSHIP, Professor Campbell of the Harvard Law Faculty.
MORTGAGES, Professor Campbell.
TRUSTS, Professor Fraser, Dean of the Minnesota Law Faculty.
MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS, Professor Burdick, Dean of the Cornell Law Faculty.
PRACTICE, Professor McCaskill of the Cornell Law Faculty.
Second Term, July 29 to Sept. 3
CONTRACT, continued.
AGENCY, Professor Thompson of the University of Pittsburgh Law Faculty.
WILLS, Professor Vance of the Yale Law Faculty.
INSURANCE, Professor Vance.
BANKRUPTCY, Assistant Professor Robinson of the Indiana University Law Faculty.
PARTNERSHIP, Professor Wilson of the Cornell Law Faculty.
CORPORATIONS, Professor Stevens of the Cornell Law Faculty.
Students may begin the study of law in the summer session.
For catalog, address the
CORNELL LAW SCHOOL
Ithaca, N. Y.

Announcing
THE ALGONQUINS
Music for
FRATERNITY AND COLLEGE DANCES
Hjalmar Aronson
Delta Psi House
BURLINGTON, VT.
Phone 741

THE BEST SODA in Town
See For Yourself at
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST

Recalls the beauty of the Scarlet Tanager

Costliest Point to Make
Most Economical to Buy
For it's Guaranteed if not misused for 25 years
We pay $2,340 a pound for the Tip alone—selected Iridium—hardest metal known.
We fuse it by hand into a point of Gold, and polish it to jewel-like smoothness.
We skilfully temper the point to yield to any hand, yet resume its original shape, no no style of writing can distort it.
It is magnified many diameters, and five times inspected by Parker experts.
Barrel of Rich Black and Gold, or Black-tipped Lacquer-red — handsome to own, hard to mislay.
Try the Parker Duofold at any good pen counter.
THE PARKER PEN COMPANY
JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN

All Parker Duofolds
Carried in stock at
Hobart J. Shanley & Co., Inc.
5 CHURCH ST

The Weekly Wetness

...d that the weekly wet... ...ue for this week. Any ... we shall be forced to ... of this colyum to ...ge.

... is to appear twice a ...uture it seems to be ...ange the name of this ...nly we can no longer ...etness. Has anyone a ...est? We have already ...llowing:

...ly Flood"
... Innundation"
... every so often Tidal ...

... seem to have gotten ... Some confusion seems ... whether we are to be a ...emi, or even possibly bi... ...ation. This leaves us ... choice in the matter. We ...

... weekly Shower"
... weekly Downpour"
... weekly Hurricane" (or ... if preferred)
... weekly Blizzard"

What does the gentle reader think?

... Discipline Committee

About campus is flitting a tale
Of two coeds who gaily set sail
In Woodstock to play
But 'twas rumored next day
That they'd both spent the night in the jail.'

A maiden sat in quandry deep,
Which shall it be?" she said.
Which dress shall I wear to the Junior Prom
The blue one or the red?"

Alas! she moaned and a tear rolled down
Her round and rosy cheek
If only I could decide which hat
Would look best for Junior Week."

Oh dear! she cried, "I would give all
My hopes of wealth and fame,
If I but knew what is quite correct
To wear to the baseball game."

But now her troubles are past and gone
The solution's no longer hid.
No more does she fret over what to wear
Cause she didn't get a bid!

We absolutely refuse to pull any clever remarks about Junior Week in this issue. For one thing, every other paper in town including the Free Press and the Twin Cities Advertiser will have S. C. B.'s (snappy come-backs) on it. We would be original. In the second place, nobody will read the Cynic this week any way so why do all that unnecessary brain-cudgeling? Conserve the Convolutions is our watch-word at present. Thirdly and lastly dear brethren, the chief reason is this: we can't think of anything to say.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under
Free Press Building

RED 46 DEPT. STORE
"The Store of Progress"
BURLINGTON VERMONT

STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES

YOUNG'S HATS

STEVENS PRESIDENT OF SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomores elected Charles H. Stevens of Winooski, president; Dorothy M. Hall of Burlington, vice-president; Margaret C. Wallace of Burlington, secretary; and Robert T. Holden of Bennington, treasurer. Stevens is assitant manager of football, hockey and the CYNIC, a member of Key and Serpent and Pi Delta Rho, and was chairman of the Sophomore Hop Committee. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Elizabeth Billings of Bethel was chosen for Women's Editor of the 1928 Ariel. The following men were elected to the Student Senate: W. C. Chadbourne, Claremont, N. H.; J. T. Conway, New Bedford, Mass.; T. C. Hewes, Groton, Conn.; W. F. Reagan, Pittsfield, Mass.; G. S. Talcott, Williston; and R. M. Whitcomb, Essex Junction.

No Entertainment, Dance or Reception is complete without
FREDDIE'S FRUIT PUNCH
Prepared only by
CENTRAL DRUG CO.
Cor. Church and College Sts.

FACULTY NOTES

President Bailey has returned from New York.

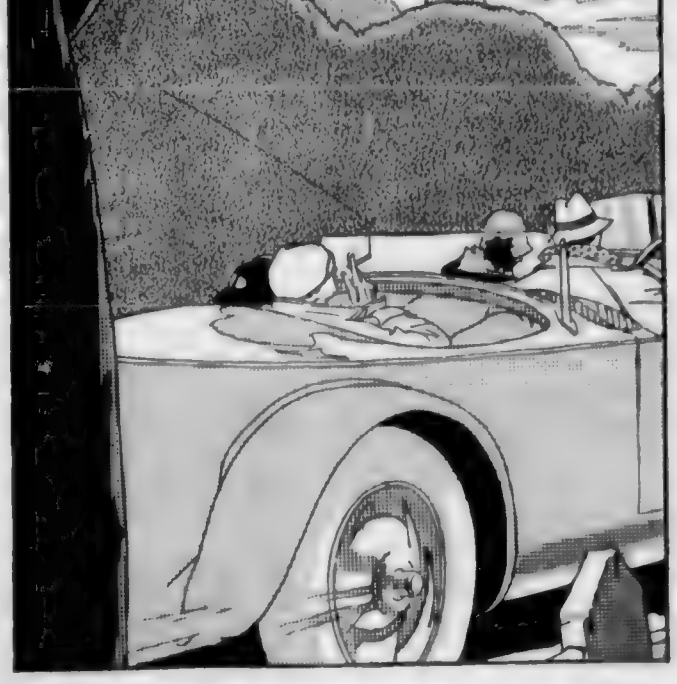
Dr. Beecher is making the trip to Chicago with the Maple Sugar Special.

Monday evening, Dean Hills presided at a Helen Keller meeting in the gymnasium.

Professor Latham has returned from Europe.

Miss Elizabeth V. Colburn spoke on Home Furnishings and Arrangements before an interested group Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs A. L. Sherman.

HENRY'S DINER
QUICK SERVICE
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices
155 BANK STREET



Turk Says
Spring Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the budget comes from Turk's Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

When silvery moonlight falls on town and field—and the long, joyous tour home is ready to begin
—have a Camel!

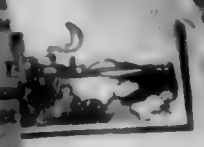
WHEN moonlight washes woodland and hills with platinum light. And the tour home is ready to begin—have a Camel!

For Camel makes every smooth tour smoother, adds of its own contentment to every delightful journey. Camels never tire your taste or leave a cigaretty after-taste. Pay what you will, you'll never get choicer tobaccos than those in Camels.

So this night as the forest-topped hills race by in moonlit processional. As the magic road curves through the colonnades of birches—have then the finest made, regardless of price.

Have a Camel!

Camels contain the very choicest tobaccos grown in all the world. Camels are blended by the world's most expert blenders. Nothing is too good for Camels. In the making of this one brand we concentrate the tobacco knowledge and skill of the largest organization of tobacco experts in the world. No other cigarette made is like Camels. They are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.



Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

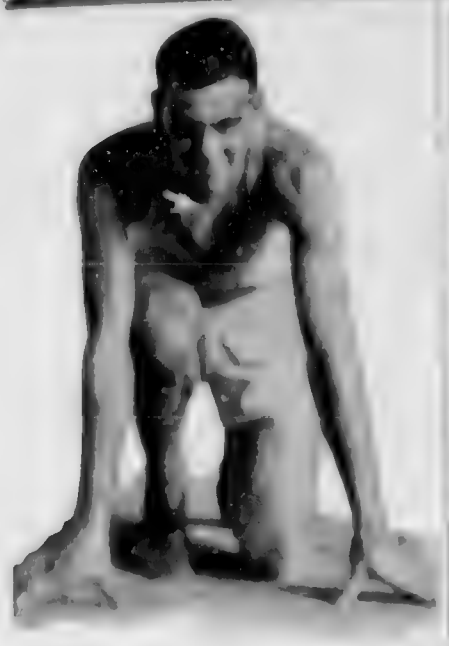
© 1926

... for fifty ...
... letic activity in ...
... the winter, the ...
... ride snowshoein...
... ar. Freshmen, ju...
... pperclassmen are ...
... these sports. Th...
... offering excellen...
... coming acquainta...
... new girls, also are ...
... all who go. ...
... adership of Eli...
... embership and ...
... creasing.

at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Bonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutaken brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)



SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

... markmen at camp; Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence Averill, 186. The requirements ... qualification were 186 ... possible 250. The ... were 200 ... kneeling ... prone. ...

SPORTING NEWS

MARION V. TAYLOR '28, Sporting Editor

STATE TRACK CHAMPS WILL BE PICKED TODAY

Vermont Favored to Win in Most of the Events With Simpson High Point Man

This afternoon the annual Vermont Intercollegiate Track Meet is being held at Centennial Field. Vermont is the favorite because of its excellent record at the Eastern Collegiates and its fine showing against the Montreal A. A. A.

Capt. Simpson should take first in the shot, javelin and discus. If you can tell anything by comparison [illegible] will probably win the hammer throw, while Kropper and Katz should both place in these events. For Middlebury, Potter, Davis and Eddy should place in the weights, while Plumley and Fisher seem to be Norwich's best bets in the high jump. Wilcox will face stiff opposition in Potter, Walker and Roberts of Middlebury and Lawrence and Pierce of Norwich. Roberts (M) is favored to win the broad jump with Hastings and Prentice bringing points for Vermont. Wilcox (V) should win the pole vault, with Williams (M) and L. Pierce (N) also placing. In the mile run, there is only a difference of seconds in the time of Post (V), Witt (M) and G. Pierce (N).

In the 220 low hurdles "Art" Shaw should take first, with Huss and Sullivan (N) and Schaefer (M) placing in order. Shaw should also take first in the high hurdles with Huss again second and Sullivan and Schaefer (M) placing.

In the 100-yard dash, Smith (M) is favored to win over Crouter (V), [illegible] (N) is only a fifth of a second behind Smith. These three men [illegible] each other in the 220 and it [illegible] a task to pick the winner. [illegible] will probably represent Vermont

Speaking of Sport

[illegible] will soon be over and with them the bulk of sports at Vermont until next fall. The season has not been an eminently successful one to Burlington sport fans but it's a safe bet that [illegible] will be doing [illegible] up to snuff enabling it not to order. Perhaps this has been an off year but at the [illegible] and accumulation represented by the college showed itself to be anything but an opponent to be respected.

—V—

Track has probably done as well as any branch of athletics here this year and we may look to the results of the intercollegiate meet this afternoon with high hopes.

—V—

The recent tennis trip was not particularly successful but it is noteworthy that Vermont has an opponent to win a tennis match. B. U. and Tufts were both defeated at Burlington and there is no reason to suppose that Springfield will not meet a similar fate when she advances upon the Green and Gold home courts.

—V—

It is unfortunate that Norwich should have seen fit to wish to cancel her return game with us. Vermont has indubitably demonstrated her superiority over her other diamond rivals in the state and Norwich apparently would rather retain her doubtful laurels than to lay herself open to the admittedly uneven chance of losing even the shadow of them.

—V—

Spring football is over and done and so far as we can see no phenomenal material has been unearthed. Summer is coming and a good chance to persuade good football players that they need Vermont.

—V—

Our delegation at the N. E. Intercollegiate Track Meet came through in the person of Capt. Simpson well enough to place us ahead of several more widely touted colleges.

BASEBALL TEAM FAILS TO SCORE AT HANOVER

Tuesday at Hanover the Green and Gold dropped another game. The Big Green came through with runs in the second and fourth and three in the fifth when the Vermont battery wrangled issuing two passes and allowing two stolen bases. An error on a throw to third base by the catcher also contributed.

The hurlers for the hilltoppers were consistently wild giving eight passes between them. Dartmouth men were apparently able to steal at will.

In the fifth Fogg at center made a heroic stab at Fusonie's drive but fell and dropped the ball. He was unconscious for a time but was able to finish the game.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

The appearance of overall clad upperclassmen on the campus this week was the rather informal announcement of the formal initiation of the new Scabbard and Blade men. The initiation was held Monday evening at Lanou's Camp on Malletts Bay.

The initiates are H. A. Aronson, L. H. Averill, C. H. Blackall, E. L. Boyce, A. R. Hill, W. M. Lockwood, E. J. Moodie, O. F. Parody, H. C. Sherwin, C. G. Simpson, and G. S. Talcott.

VERMONT PLAYS FAST BALL AGAINST MARINES

Tom Keady's Devil Dogs Win Their Game in Second Inning —Roark Bats for 1.000

Friday, May 21 Vermont was defeated 6-3 by Tom Keady's Marines in one of the fastest games of the season. Both pitchers were touched freely but Stolle received better support, six Vermont base runners being put out after they had reached safely. Chenoweth, catcher, and Feeny, first sacker, played well for the Marines.

"Lefty" Roark had a day pitching steady ball and batting a thousand, collecting a single and getting a walk. He scored second, the only Vermont man to do so that day, and brought in two of the three runs.

The Marines scored in the second. Hall flyed out to Morse. Chenoweth and Hrisko singled. Stark walked, filling the bases. Stolle flied out to Morse. Chenoweth scored. With two outs, Chenoweth scored on a two bagger scoring three runs. In the third, Duncan was hit by a pitched ball. He went to first, stole second and scored on Hall's double.

Vermont also scored in the third. Roark walked, stole second and scored on Smith's triple to right. The Marines tallied again in the fourth. Stark singled, advanced to second on Stolle's sacrifice and scored on Valenti's error. Vermont scored two more in the fifth. Roark singled, stole second and came home on Stolle's wild pitch. In the seventh, Fogg singled, was forced at second by Valenti. Roark doubled and Valenti scored.

Vermont threatened in the ninth. Guild and Fogg fouled out. Aronson singled and Prentice was safe on [illegible]

(Continued on page [illegible])

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
Special arrangement can be made for all kinds of Parties. Red Feather Candy and Mrs. Perkins' Maple Nut Candies.
PHONE 2865

T. P. O'HARA, Tailoring
170 BANK ST.
Blue Serge Suits
2 Pair Trousers, $32
Top Coats, $19 to $24
Knickers, $4

BAILLARGEON'S BARBER SHOP
Nuff Said
25 Church St.

SPECIALS
For Decoration Day
STRAW HATS
BLUE SERGE SUITS
WHITE FANNEL PANTS
SPORT SWEATERS
LINEN KNICKERS
TENNIS SHOES
TAN and BLACK OXFORDS
For men and women
PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
27 CHURCH ST.

Base Ball
Tennis
Golf
Supplies
L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

Henry Farnham Perkins

[... of a series of ... of faculty mem... in the CYNIC.]

... Freshmen at Ver... are bound to ... impressions and the ... recognizing this, has ... of conferences to ... getting themselves ... custom that one of ... en over to the show... of views of Univer... color, accompanied ... from the man who ... des. Dr. "Harry"

... have an opportunity ... acquaintance with a ... by the son of a well... but one who has also ... himself to science. ... activities those ... are his studies in ... and in color photog... made for the furth... search work have car... a large part of the ... ment and have resulted ... important findings.

... to his Alma Mater in ... in biology, he rose ... ship of Zoology, which ... 1911. One summer ... was spent with the ... station in their labora... Gulf of Mexico, where ... kinds of the lower forms ... his reports being pub... Yearbook of the institu... summer was spent in ... research in the Bahamas. ... research assistant for ... Bureau of Fisheries on Lake ... working on a series of sur... of a general nature, others ... fresh water clams, and the last, ... pearl buttons, on the various types ... with their habits.

... photography has long been his ... and he now has a collection of ... thousand of these photographs. ... was connected with the Lumiere ... as special investigator, and ... for them a new process of ... plates. He made several ... to the West, making reproduc... of scenes in Yellowstone Park ... Canadian Rockies, which were ... at many exhibitions. On one ..., when making pictures for ... purposes for the Canadian ... Railroad, he was provided by ... with a private train, fitted up ... as work in every detail.

... Perkins was born in Burlington, ... in 1877, the son of Dean George ... Perkins. He took the classical ... at U. V. M., graduating with ... class of 1898. The presidency of ... class was bestowed upon him in ... Junior year and he was also pres... of the Y. M. C. A. in his Senior ... Johns Hopkins University ... him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1902 for his thesis on the jellyfish.

While at Johns Hopkins, he was general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and held that position at Vermont for two years after his return here. He has also been interested in Boy Scout work, having served on the National Council and as chairman of the local council.

His latest activity has been the direction of the Eugenics Survey of the State of Vermont, which was the outgrowth of his course in heredity. The staff of this survey are now following an ambitious program which would take several years to complete.

The Vermont chapter of Phi Beta Kappa Society has made him its register for the last twelve years. He is a member of Delta Psi Fraternity, the Ethan Allen Club, the College St. Congregational Church, National Association of Audubon Societies, Vermont Bird Club, Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and various other scientific societies.

W. J. Van Patten Killed in Factory Explosion

(Continued from page 1)

... from which he graduated in 1925 ... known as "Billy" and received ... popularity. He was a member ... Sigma Phi Fraternity.

... funeral was held Sunday after... at the home of Judge H. B. ... with Rev. I. C. Smart officiating, ... burial in Lake View Cemetery.

Daily Dribble

The best relief for indigestion is a permanent disappearance.

Don't be a turkey, even if someone does stuff you with chestnuts.

It is said that the Great Mississippi, without having been hardened with bottles, is the Limerick.

Folks who never do any more than they get paid for never get paid for anything more than they do.

The strength of a man lies in his wealth of his weakness.

Milk of human kindness beats cold cream for wrinkles.

Compliments of

C. A. BARBER & CO.

112 Church Street

N. W. 2111-L. Phone 2873-W

HOFFMAN

CLEANERS AND DYERS
MEN'S SUITS PRESSED
AND CLEANED
Free Auto Delivery

145 Elmwood Ave. Burlington, Vt.

Free Press Printing Co.

189 College St.

Burlington, Vt.

Printing for every student need

Close harmony

Don't think that a college "sing" is the only place for close harmony. The electrical communication industry, too, has applied the big idea.

Four men put their heads together in the research laboratory—and there evolves a new and scientifically accurate basis for the measurement of speech and hearing.

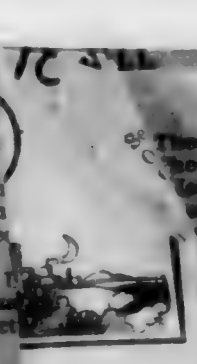
Construction engineers, whose pole lines stride across country, work hand in hand with purchasing engineers who look forty years ahead for the pole supply of the future.

In the factory, engineers and craftsmen together develop new processes and almost-human machines to increase production and effect economies.

Combined ability—that's the thing! In the words of the song, "a long pull, a strong pull, and we'll all pull together."

Published for the Communication Industry by

Western Electric Company



Makers of the Nation's Telephones

Number 59 of a Series

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
ONE YEAR OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
Room 2809

... for fifty ... brief activity in th... the winter, the ... include snowshoein... Freshmen, p... upperclassmen are ... these sports. Th... offering excellen... coming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. ... leadership of Elizab... membership and act... increasing.

... at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct. 2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct. 9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here

... marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 2)

All Freshmen interested are ... aged to come out for the ...

A minor improvement ... grounds has been ... concrete walk be... Row to Morrill ... wade through th... called South ... because they ...

Number 61 of a Series

NATIONAL LIFE TEAM LOSES TO VT. SECONDS

[illegible] baseball team [illegible] the Montpelier baseball team [illegible] by the score of 7 to 6 [illegible] Vermont baseball team [illegible] Saturday afternoon [illegible] Montpelier [illegible] eight runs were [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Vermont

GIFT LIBRARY OF THE
UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 44 BURLINGTON, VT., JUNE 7, 1926 NUMBER 31

122ND COMMENCEMENT TO BEGIN ON JUNE 17

Portrait of Mrs. Coolidge to Be Presented—Chapel Not to Be Dedicated

The one hundred twenty-second [illegible] of the University of [illegible] Thursday, June 17. [illegible] will be more or less in [illegible] Contrary to previous [illegible] new Ira Allen Chapel [illegible] dedicated this Commencement [illegible] is still much work to [illegible] building. However, the [illegible] tools, timbers, and dirt now surrounding the chapel will be removed before Commencement Week [illegible] appearance of the [illegible]

A feature of the week will be the presentation of a large portrait of Mrs. Grace Coolidge, loyal alumnae of [illegible] First Lady of the Land. [illegible] P. Kingsley of New York will make the presentation speech at the alumni luncheon Saturday, June [illegible] President Guy W. Bailey will receive the gift for the University. It will be hung in the Billings Library.

The Rev. Dr. Daniel George Downey, a Vermonter, [illegible] speaker is prominent in church circles. He was born in Ireland 1858 and graduated from Wesleyan University in 1884. Dr. Downey is ordained as a Methodist Episcopal minister, and has been pastor in churches of Connecticut and New York. Since 1912, Rev. Downey has been Book Editor of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The subject of the Baccalaureate speech has not been announced.

Dean Charles Reynolds Brown of the Yale University Divinity School is the Commencement Day speaker. Dr. Brown is a graduate of the University of Iowa in the class of 1883. For fifteen years, he served as pastor of the First Congregational Church at Oakland, California. He received appointment to the head of Yale Divinity School in 1911. Dr. Brown is well known as a speaker on many college occasions.

Classes which are holding reunion at Commencement are: '61, '67, '68, '75, '76, '86, '87, '88, '89, '91, '96, '01, '05, '06, '07, '08, '11, '16, '24, '25.

Commencement Week events commence Thursday, June 17, when the Informal Class Pilgrimage will be held during which the statues of Ira

(Continued on page 2)

ETA SIGMA PHI PLACES CHAPTER AT VERMONT

A new national honorary fraternity [illegible] on the campus last Tuesday evening when the Greek Club Eranos became Iota Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi. Though a comparatively new fraternity, having been founded at the University of Chicago in 1924, it already has nine chapters. The chapter at Vermont is the first to be installed east of the Ohio River. The aim of this fraternity is to promote friendship among American students interested in Greek and Latin, and to foster a love for the classics.

The installation took place at the residence of Professor and Mrs. S. E. Bassett. Professor Bassett was the installing officer. The charter members are: Thelma E. Mathewson '26, [illegible] R. Smith '26, Alice A. [illegible] Catherine Armstrong '27, [illegible] F. Baker '27, Elizabeth D. [illegible] M. Pauline Sullivan '27, [illegible] P. Baldwin '28, Herbert D. [illegible] Ursula M. Dwyer '28, [illegible] M. Eckley '28, Marguerite [illegible] Muriel E. Richardson '28, [illegible] Wright '28, Catherine B. [illegible] Lucille A. Brunelle '29, [illegible] Burick '29, Bertha Klein [illegible] R. Kone '29, Mollie S. [illegible] Lloyd S. Turner '29. Professor Bassett and Professor L. M. [illegible] were made associate members.

UNIVERSITY TAKES PART IN MEMORIAL EXERCISES

The U. V. M. battalion of the R. O. T. C. met on the back campus at 8:20 Monday morning for the annual Memorial Day parade. Headed by the R. O. T. C. Band the battalion marched down College St. to South Winooski Avenue where it joined the sections from the Fort Ethan Allen, Company K and the G. A. R. Starting at the corner of Main and South Winooski Avenue the parade moved down Main to Church, up Church to Pearl, up Pearl to University Place and thence to the back campus. There the battalion passed review for the last time this year, this time before the members of Stannard Post, G. A. R.

Following the review the Memorial Day exercises were concluded in the gymnasium. John H. Brooks read Gen. John A. Logan's "General Order Number Eleven"; Commander A. C. Stoughton of Stannard Post then gave a Salute to the Dead. Rev. Sumner H. Mitchell of the Unitarian Church offered prayer and Walter H. Crockett of the University faculty gave the address of the day. The exercises were closed by the singing of "America" and benediction by the chaplain, Rev. Mitchell. President Guy W. Bailey presided.

Professor Thomas recently went to Ohio to attend the fiftieth anniversary of his graduation from Denniston College.

Green and Gold Track Team Wins State Track Championship Easily

Latty's Men Take 11 Out of 15 Possible Firsts—Capt. Simpson Breaks Three Records—Hill, Wilcox and Robbins Break One Each — Prentice Takes Broad Jump

The Green and Gold Track Team closed its season last Saturday with a crowning triumph over Middlebury and Norwich. The dope was that an even meet between the Blue and White and U. V. M. would be run off but the University men walked away from their opponents with the overwhelming score of 81½ to Middl's 31 and Norwich's 21½.

In the fifteen events eight meet records were broken, three of them by Captain Simpson who also took a second place in the hammer. Simpson put on one of the most remarkable exhibitions in the history of track. He bettered the 1922 record in the shot put by ¾ inch, threw the javelin 19 feet 8 inches farther than his previous record, and hurled the discus five feet over Flanders' record. The first and last of these broken records were made by Flanders of Norwich four years ago.

Olney Hill broke his hammer record by ten feet and "String" Wilcox upset all forecasts by breaking the high jump record by three inches. Robbins, Vermont freshman, took ⅘ of a second off the 220 low hurdles record and provided another upset by winning the pole vault.

Smith of Middlebury crashed two more marks in the dashes clipping 1-10 of a second on the 100 and 9-10 off the 220.

In the broad jump Prentice surprised everyone with his first.

Another unexpected turn came in the javelin when Platt and Winchenbach crowded Eddy (M.) out of even a place in the javelin.

(Continued on page 2)

SENIORS

The Senior sing will be held as usual on the Library steps tomorrow (Sunday) evening at 7. Permanent class officers will be elected at that time.

FROSH HOLD UNIQUE MEMORIAL EXERCISES

The charge that Vermont is lacking in enthusiasm can hardly apply to the Freshmen who occupy Converse Hall. Last Monday following the Memorial Day exercises, the populace in the vicinity of the campus was rudely shaken from its daily routine by voluminous strains of "The Stars and Stripes Forever." Upon gazing from their windows to see the cause of the disturbance, neighbors were shocked by the sight of Freshmen bandsmen in B. V. D. uniforms led by two Hawaiian dancers clad in traditional grass skirts. Before the Purity League could be summoned the procession had disappeared into the ramparts of Converse Hall.

Senior Questionnaire Exposes Many Qualities Not Previously Published

Carl Ottley
Most Popular and Respected

Frances Burditt
Most Popular Coed

In an attempt to aid the "Boost Vermont" movement, the ideal Vermont type of young manhood and maidenhood has been carefully determined through the figures compiled by the Senior Questionnaire Committee, and for the first time is revealed the standard to which a college Senior should attain to approach perfection.

The ideal young man about to graduate from the University of Vermont is found to be an engineer by training, a Vermonter by birth, and a reader of the Cosmopolitan by choice. That he may be identified the more easily when met, it may be said that he is an even six feet tall, weighs from 155 to 160 pounds, and is 23 years of age.

He smokes (35 to 6), and in a majority of cases Lucky Strikes. He has taken a drink upon occasion (30 to 10), but is not in most cases a confirmed drinker. By a slight margin (21 to 19) he is contemplating matrimony. He canoes (34 to 7), he parks (32 to 6), and is not unaware of the joys of osculation, for while 34 out of 41 who answered this question admit having kissed one of the opposite sex, 38 out of this same 41 admit having been kissed.

Ideal Woman

The maidenly type evolved from the figures has spent four years in the Literary-Scientific course, yet is most impressed with Good Housekeeping as a magazine. She is born in Vermont, too, and at 21 years of age is five feet three inches tall and weighs from 110 to 115 pounds.

With two exceptions the women answering the questions have kissed, and only one has not been kissed by a man. They prefer canoeing (12 to 5) to parking (9 to 7), and ten admit that they have matrimony in mind as against three who deny it.

Seven out of sixteen have taken at least one drink, and eight out of seventeen have tried the virtues of our Lady Nicotine. The ladies prefer Lucky Strikes, but with the Turkish brands putting up a good scrap for honors.

Ottley Most Popular

Carl Ottley is most popular and most respected, has done most for the class, and next to Mardy Platt is considered the handsomest representative of his sex in the class. Mike Katz, the class optimist and its wittiest mem-

(Continued on page 5)

LOCKWOOD WILL HEAD THE STUDENT SENATE

J. T. Conway Is Vice-President and C. H. Stevens, Sec.-Treas. for the Ensuing Year

William Lockwood '27 of Burlington was elected president of the Student Senate for the ensuing year at a meeting held Tuesday. Lockwood is a member of Boulder, Key and Serpent, Gold Key, Scabbard and Blade, Wig and Buskin, and Pi Delta Rho; is business manager of the CYNIC and will be one of next year's Kake Walk Directors. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

At the same meeting J. T. Conway '28 of New Bedford, Mass., was elected vice-president of the Senate. Conway is a prominent athlete and served as president of his class this year. He is a member of Sigma Phi and Key and Serpent.

C. H. Stevens '28 of Winooski is the new secretary-treasurer. Stevens has been a member of the Managing Board of the CYNIC. He is an assistant manager of football. Among societies to which he belongs are Pi Delta Rho, Key and Serpent, and Phi Delta Theta. He is the newly elected president of the Sophomore class.

The Student Senate next year will be composed of the following men: from the class of '27, C. G. Simpson, H. A. Aronson, C. H. Blackhall, W. M. Moodie, O. F. Parody, and A. T. Post; class of '28, W. C. Chadbourne, J. T. Conway, T. C. Hewes, W. F. Reagan, G. S. Talcott, C. H. Stevens, R. M. Whitcomb; class of '29, B. F. Morse, B. Gustafson, F. O'Keefe. The president of the class of '29 will automatically become a member on election as will the president of the class of '30. The members of Cap and Skull are ex-officio members of the Senate.

[illegible] ALL

[illegible] for fifty [illegible] chief activity in th[illegible] the winter, the [illegible] include snowshoein[illegible] Freshmen, p[illegible] upperclassmen are [illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] coming acquaintes[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible] all who go. [illegible] leadership of Elit[illegible] membership and act[illegible] increasing.

For reserves Garrupy and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

of the men who qualified as rifle [illegible] markemen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, [illegible] 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; B[illegible] ham J. Humphrey, 196; [illegible] Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 189; [illegible] D. Marshall, 187; and [illegible] Averill, 186. The [illegible] qualification were 186 [illegible] possible 250. The [illegible] were 200 yards [illegible] kneeling and [illegible] prone. The [illegible]

(Cont[illegible]

Green and Gold Track Team Wins State Championship

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] meet with Middlebury [illegible]

[illegible] Green [illegible] Middlebury [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Middlebury [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Middlebury [illegible] Vermont

In Memoriam

VERMONT CREED

... he ought our world de-
... t content with dreams;
... ound foundations with
... idge between extremes;
... those who do not
... uide real honest work;
... you mean to us —
Vermont.

PEARL RANDALL WASSON.

Pearl Randall Wasson, the name ... brings before an old friend ... ss of her physical beauty, ... th of her purposeful self, the ... standing that was hers, ... and heart were so in ... she had caught the very ... life. With such a person- ... no wonder that at the time ... th, the great tribute was ... in these simple words — ... could ill afford to lose her"? ... that sincere cry that went ... Vermont, her home state, ... she had spent her entire life ... the exception of college years ... other. It was in Vermont ... she was born, where she grew ... was married and gave of herself ... so greatly to the lives of others. ... facts of a beautiful life may ... greatly to our real knowledge ... personality but it is fitting that ... women students of the University ... loved should know the background ... her life.

Mrs. Wasson was born in Waterbury, Vermont and it was here that ... made her home throughout her ... until coming to the University. ... year at Abbott Academy at Andover, Massachusetts in college preparatory ... was followed by four years at Wellesley College and these in turn ... two years of teaching English in ... girls' school in Boston. Her marriage to Dr. Watson Lovell Wasson ... in 1905. Dr. Wasson was ... and superintendent of the Vermont State Hospital at Waterbury ... he and Mrs. Wasson made their ... there for the next thirteen years.

During this time Mrs. Wasson's interests were many and varied. She ... into all her husband's professional plans and made his interests, ... interests while at the same time ... many of her own. She was ... leader in the work of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, of the Vermont Council of the Young Women's Christian Association, of the Board of Education of Waterbury. A woman leading such a busy life must ... have the playtime for relaxation ... this Mrs. Wasson found with Dr. Wasson in their love for the outdoors. ... trips, farm management, ... all added zest to her life and ... that spiritual concord with ... which became such a vital part ... herself.

The terrible epidemic of influenza ... in the fall of 1918 brought sorrow to so many homes brought to Mrs. Wasson that which would have meant ... overwhelming grief if she had been ... a weaker mould. The death of Dr.

(Continued on page 9)

Pearl Randall Wasson

Tribute

DEAN PERKINS

I presume that it is true for all of us who know the joy of real friendship that, as by reason of longer and more intimate association, we recognize qualities hitherto undiscovered, perhaps unsuspected, our admiration and and esteem greatly increase.

As the result of this our appreciation of the character revealed gives satisfaction and delight that we have such a friend.

But this is not all. In this recognition we feel, often deeply feel, that in this newly-discovered soul we have found our real friend, a treasure the value of which no words can express, we feel it, but we cannot tell it.

I have said this because in my, all too brief, acquaintance with Dean Wasson I have felt, as rarely has happened, the truth of what has just been written. I only knew her during the few years that so soon passed as she lived here as Dean of Women. A short period indeed, but she was such an unusual personality that even a casual acquaintance gave one the knowledge that she was no ordinary woman.

To all, her personality was gracious, of abounding vitality, full of the joy of life. The charm of her presence all must recognize, but as one knew her more fully, he felt that all this, admirable as it was, did not disclose the deeper qualities of her life, that in her soul of souls there was an earnestness, a spirituality, at first unseen. As has been intimated, no words can tell this, it must be felt, this glorious womanhood.

It was no shallow, trivial life that Mrs. Wasson lived, it was a life of the spirit, deep and strong.

But why multiply words that cannot express what we would say?

When Dean Wasson left us, a radiant soul went beyond our sight, but that rare soul has left a radiance that will be ours so long as memory endures.

GEORGE H. PERKINS.

PRESIDENT BAILEY

In the loss of Dean Pearl Randall Wasson, the University suffered the loss of a person who by the rendition of service earned the right to be classed in that group which may be said to include the makers of University history.

She came to the University at a time when her services could be of the greatest benefit. Although her health was not of the best, she assumed her duties here with a spirit of optimism and cheerfulness that can be found only among those who live with an absolute belief and faith as to the future. During her short stay among us, she demonstrated in her treatment of the manifold duties which confronted her, her remarkable ability.

Her personality, her enthusiasm, and love of service she imparted to those with whom she worked. She was an inspiration to the young women of the University and those who knew her will ever remember her valuable service. She was particularly interested in young women who were endeavoring to obtain an education by earning their way either in whole or in part, and many a young woman has been saved for a college education by her aid and encouragement. She had the confidence of the people of Vermont, because of her loyalty to Vermont. She combined the virtues and graces of the highest type of womanhood with an earnest and effective leadership that sacrificed not the least element of feminine charm and modesty. In fact, to my mind, the outstanding quality which should be ascribed to her is loyalty—loyalty to her State, University, and those with whom she was associated. She will long be remembered as a fine type of Vermont woman, an example for our young women to follow.

The creation of a memorial to be called "The Pearl Randall Wasson Infirmary Fund" is a project to be commended and endorsed.

I sincerely hope that those interested in carrying out this project will meet with success.

GUY W. BAILEY.

FROM AN UNDERGRADUATE

In the rush and confusion of the ... sing weeks of college the Women's Department of the University ceases ... manifold activities for one brief ... an hour dedicated to our loving ... memories of Pearl Randall Wasson, ... gracious Dean of Women during ... years of 1919-1922.

There are but few undergraduates ... who knew Dean Wasson personal- ... but her name has become to every ... girl a symbol of all pervad- ... idealism, of vision, of shining in- ...

... of us who knew her see in ... valiant calm in the face of ... in the memorial window to ... Goodrich in the old chapel ... haunting resemblance to her lovely ... which finds its expression in ... which she wrote for us, our ... heritage from this former ... friend.

Words at best are futile tributes; ... our lives as we live them show ... her spirit still abides with us.

DOROTHY M. HARVEY '26.

IN MEMORIAM—W. L. W.

I like to think of you as wrapped [illegible]
A spirit cause, pagans, cold and [illegible]
Seeking as here to know alone the truth
Searching with quickening soul the truths to be
You longed to know the hidden truths of life
You sought the answer through the [illegible] of God
In Galilee's [illegible] on the mountain [illegible]
By silent [illegible] in books and flowers and sod
And having found the answer to the why
You tried through service to your fellowmen
To pass the touch of hope to broken lives
That they with faltering step might [illegible]
Dear winged spirit, halt your shining flight
And lead me onward thru the dark [illegible] world

PEARL RANDALL WASSON

SONNETS AND LYRICS
PEARL RANDALL WASSON

The fifteen poems that make up this little volume have been collected and published in accordance with the desire of Mrs. Wasson's many friends, who find in them a record of the author's radiant nature. Few as they are, they strike the various notes that were most characteristic of her. Love and friendship delight in the charm of nature, patriotism and devotion to Vermont, responsiveness to romance and beauty, are the inspirations of her lines; and these feelings rise triumphant above regret and the sorrow of loss. Verse in lighter vein is represented by the pleasant and graceful fancy of "The Grasse Mounte Mirrors." These verses will of course be especially welcome to those who cherish the memory of their author, but to others they will come also as the revelation of a charming personality.

"Sonnets and Lyrics" is attractively bound in green limp leather and is on sale at the University Book Store, McAuliffe's and also various towns in the state where friends of Mrs. Wasson have volunteered to take over the sales of the book. The English Department of the University edited the poems, and Professor Frederick Tupper has written a few words of appreciation as a Foreword. Mr. Walter H. Crockett, Editor of University Publications, chose the format of the volume.

The fact that the profits from the sale of the book go to the fund for the Dean Pearl Randall Wasson Memorial, and that the price of one dollar is such a reasonable one, will, it is felt by the committee in charge, stimulate the sale of "Sonnets and Lyrics" among the students, who will find it a charming graduation gift and bit of remembrance of Vermont.

THE FUND

A little more than $10,000 has been secured of the $60,000 which it is hoped may be raised for the Pearl Randall Wasson Infirmary Fund. This fund was started a year ago as a memorial to the late Dean Wasson. The first suggestion made by the Mary Fletcher Hospital was that a hospital room be endowed for the use of the women students of the University. During the year the plan has grown to large proportions. There is a real need for a separate infirmary on or near University grounds for college women—perhaps a wing attached to one of the women's dormitories to the hospital, where college women who are ill may receive care and treatment under the most favorable conditions.

College organizations have pledged $1,500 and additional assistance has been given by women's clubs and college friends. The proceeds from the sale of Dean Wasson's poems, recently published, will be added to this fund.

WALTER H. CROCKETT

... ALL

... for fifty ... activity in th... the winter, the ... include snowshoein... Freshmen, p... upperclassmen are ... in these sports. Th... offering excellen... coming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. ... leadership of Elm... membership and ... increasing.

For reserves Gattupy and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

... of the men who qualified as rifle marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne ... Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; ... D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence Averill, 186. The requirement for qualification were 186 points out of possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, ... kneeling and sitting, and ... prone. The rapid fire record ...

(Continued on page ...)

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

[illegible] Published every Saturday [illegible] $3.00 a year delivered [illegible] United States. Single copies [illegible]

[illegible] communications should be addressed to Business Manager, 123 S. [illegible] All other correspondence to [illegible] should be sent to the Editor-in-Chief. [illegible] at the Burlington Post Office as [illegible] matter.

[illegible] acceptance for mailing at special rate of [illegible] section 1103, Act of [illegible] authorized October 19, 1920.

EDITORIAL BOARD
[illegible] LYON '27
Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] PHILIPS '27
Managing Editor
[illegible] RANDALL '28
[illegible] CHINA '28
[illegible] PHELPS '28
News Editors
VINA B. RUGG '27
Women's Editor
MARION V. TAYLOR '28
Sporting Editor
[illegible] K. PERRY '28
Associate Editor
LORETTA JENNINGS '27
Women's Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] '29 Catherine Smith '28
[illegible] '29 Ida Bagley '27
[illegible] '29 Janice Cook '27
[illegible] '29 Margaret Durick '29
Robert M. Tracy '29 Virginia Margie '28
Contract Writers
[illegible] M. LOCKWOOD '27
Business Manager
[illegible] H. MARTIN '27
Advertising Manager
[illegible] H. Stevens '28
[illegible] '28
Assistant Managers

[illegible] and undergraduates are heartily [illegible] All communications [illegible] by the writer whose name [illegible] will not be printed. They should [illegible] to the Editor-in-Chief and [illegible] by Wednesday noon. Any [illegible] should be handed in by Thurs- [illegible] may be telephoned to 762 be- [illegible] Thursday.

In charge of this issue
[illegible] CHINA
News Editor
[illegible] HOLDEN
Assistant Manager

Vol. 44 June 5 1926 No. 21

We can only be immensely gratified at the result of the triangular meet last Saturday. We never doubted that Vermont would come off creditably, but that she should have so unexpectedly covered herself with glory gives us cause for great rejoicing.

Coach Latty evidently has imbued his team with the old Vermont fighting spirit. The same spirit that held Dartmouth on the one-foot line for downs four years ago. And Captain Simpson in his remarkable feat has set a mark at which future Vermont track men may well aim for some time to come.

The Green and Gold track team has brought another state championship home to rest where it belongs, on the hill. All honor to them.

Another somewhat different source of gratification, especially to members of the Junior class, is the 1927 Ariel, which made its appearance on the campus a few days ago. On the whole, the book is thoroughly up to the standards of the past, and fully merits the many laudatory comments it has received. In certain respects we consider it superior to anything in the past, and itself a new standard for coming yearbooks to aim at. We refer particularly to the book's having a theme or central idea (in this case historical) tending to unify it and give it more continuity and artistic merit.

This is the last CYNIC to come out before June 26, when the final issue is to appear. The latter is scheduled to be pictorial in nature, and if our present plans materialize and the expense is not too prohibitory, that is what it will be.

We note with interest that a chapter of the honorary Greek society, Eta Sigma Phi, has been instituted at Ver-

Further Report on Prohibition Poll

New York.—(By New Student Service) College students of the East favor modification while undergraduates of the middle and West are for maintaining the Eighteenth Amendment intact. This generalization holds true in the returns so far reported by the National Student Federation referendum. Cornell and Yale are strongest for modification, Connecticut Wesleyan went dry by a slim majority and now Williams reports 260 for modification 99 against. Heidleberg College favored prohibition by a vote of 213 to 81.

Indications of a huge vote to be piled up for prohibition are in evidence. At Kansas Wesleyan College the student body voted to send a telegram to the Senate stating that the college was for prohibition. The vote was taken after a chapel lecture by the state superintendent of the anti-saloon league.

In Georgia a Methodist pastor told an assembly of Emory University students of a monstrous parade to be held in Atlanta to "biff John Barleycorn." He explained that it will be youth's protest against the propaganda the wets are creating about the young people of America becoming boozers and "going to the devil."

Willard Hay, newly-elected president of the Liberal Arts Council, is heading the campaign at Emory. He is confident that Emory will do her part in showing the anarchists of America this false presumption on their part. It is probable that the Emory band will also lend its stirring strains to the occasion.

FACULTY NOTES

Tuesday the Civil Engineering class went to Underhill to attend the summer camp. Professors Puffer and Horton started Monday.

Professor Tupper has been called to South Carolina by the death of his mother.

Doctor Paul C. Squires, Associate Professor of Psychology is going to lecture this year at the University of Rochester Summer School. Dr. Squires has recently written a book entitled A Universal Scale of Individual Performance Tests, published by the Princeton University Press.

Max Stewart '22 of Morrisville, who has been teaching in East Orange, N. J., was in town for Memorial Day. June 10 Mr. Stewart sails for the Philippines where he will teach for two years.

mont. With the present alarming tendency of college men away from the classics, especially at Vermont, where only a handful of male students are enrolled in the Classical Curriculum, it seems fitting and proper that those working in the Greek language and culture should make some organized attempt to hold their own and to promote these very much neglected interests.

The CYNIC takes pleasure in presenting the results of the Senior Questionnaire, which as usual will probably be productive of a mild stir of comment and flutter of emotion among those concerned. To those who are too intimately concerned to be amused, we extend our commiserations. We feel for them, even while we realize that in the end, it may be better so. It is sometimes best to know the worst.

Above all, let there be no blood shed.

In Iowa State College some women are signing a compact pledging themselves not to have a haircut before September 1, 1926. Any girl who breaks this pledge is fined $10.

Stationery, Magazines
NEWSPAPERS
BESSEY NEWS CO.
136 Church St.

The Weekly Wetness

Results of the Prom

(Compiled by our inquiring reporter as the clock struck one.)

After the Prom was over:
1. Viol player passed out.
2. Chaperon from much dancing Reports a slight touch of the gout.
3. Very poor crop of engagements. Can't meet last year's record at all.
4. "Thank God that's over!" said Larry.

After the ball.

Old Ballad

(As sung by the Damme Ioughta string quartette.)

If a brother find a brother
Going through his rye,
Should that brother sock the other
Or just sit down and cry?
Chorus.
All the brothers may be thirsty
But then, so am I.
I love my dear fraternite-e-e (hold it)
But it better lay off my rye!

A Few Words of Cheer From Herman Q. Ankle, Disciple of Edgar Guest and '26

Well, fellers, it's All Over Now and you've had your Fun! The Gay,Glad, Week-end is done; the Ladies (God bless 'em) have gone home and Now Exams are Looming! Com'on, Boys, let's show 'em the Old Fight! Let's hit those Exams with the Old-Fashioned Vermont Spirit! Let's show 'em what a Two-Fisted, Red-Blooded, Smashing, Crashing, Right-Handed, Real He-Man from Old Vermont can Do!! Remember, these are The Best Years of Your Life! And blah and blah and blah!

Report From the Economics Department on Some Very Vital Statistics of the Prom. See Graph on Page 13

1. No. men who at the last minute found that their roommates had borrowed their collar buttons.. 47
2. No. men who thereupon borrowed somebody else's..... 58
3. No. men who consequently had to use safety pins..... 11

To any Logic student finding the fallacy in the reasoning given above we will give one good sock in the jaw. In fact on second thoughts, we will give the above-mentioned trophy to anybody who even mentions Logic in our presence. That's just how fearless we are!

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

GRADUATION
Gifts for this occasion should be well selected as they will be treasured for many years to come.

F. J. Preston & Son
"GIFTS THAT LAST"
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

BRIEF NEWS

The new members of [illegible] ciety were initiated at [illegible] roof garden Tuesday. [illegible] annual Boulder banquet [illegible] ceremony. President [illegible] sided, spoke, as did [illegible] Hills and Dean J. W. [illegible] Boulder man present [illegible] words.

While home on a [illegible] Barnes '26 of Brown [illegible] painful though not [illegible] while riding a motorcycle [illegible] day. According to word [illegible] friends, Barnes started [illegible] a large Harley Davison [illegible] in gear and it ran [illegible] knocking him from the [illegible] machine was slightly [illegible] Barnes was detained at [illegible] week.

Ten Y. M. C. A. suppers [illegible] Converse Hall at six [illegible] day morning to consume [illegible] field" breakfast and discuss [illegible] ing conference. To date [illegible] dents have registered.

Daily Dribble

For any man to be [illegible] what he has done, or boast [illegible] for an ant to boast of a [illegible] in the shadow of the Himalayas.

An optimist is one who [illegible] where there is none; a pessimist is one who blows it out. A little [illegible] mination will take you to the Northfield Conference.

It is the tragedy of [illegible] you have got to make good [illegible] room.

Don't go among the does [illegible] not want to be did.

Think twice, speak once.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Sports Clothes
for the
Summer Season

KNICKER SUITS
LINEN KNICKERS
WHITE SHIRTS
GOLF HOSE
SPORT JACKETS
NEW NECKWEAR
WHITE FLANNELS
ATHLETIC UNDERWEAR
STRAW HATS

Miles & Perry Co.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

Questionnaire Exposes Qualities Not Previously Published

(Continued from page 1)

...most popular ... only most versa... Al Newton for ... parlor athlete ... seen the busiest ... during his four ... aced by Freddie ... Russell. Next to ... done most for ... to Bill Moreton he ... ious member of ... Gould is most like... life.

... which Oney Hill ... ested by the fact ... most for the Uni... Cutley, most for the ... Atwood is relegated ... has the "broadest" ... third in the work ... class.

... considered much the ... man, and although ... trimmed him out ... dressed. Mardy ran ... this and didn't al... to lead him far in ...

... Hall knows more ... and his competitors combined, ... was the only other ... who could even finish. Archie ... Mac Katz a good race for ...

... Wilson the most sarcastic ... of the class, was chosen class ... It was decided that Bill ... is the best politician devel... by 1926.

Burditt Most Popular Co-ed

Among the co-eds, Frances Burditt is acclaimed the most popular and ... to Helen French has done the ... for U. V. M. Ruth Bacon is win... the class beauty contest with ... Wright a good second. Ruth ... is the most respected woman ... Beatrice Herberg is backed as the ... likely to succeed. Her diversity ... interests has brought "Peg" Hazen ... of "Most Versatile," with Bea... Herberg a close second.

The palm awarded the most con... is presented to Marion ... ends with Constance Weaver not ... far behind.

Helen French gets the crown as ... of busy bees and Beatrice Her... is the second busiest co-ed. Her... also knows the most of any of ... is considered the most adept ... man among her sex, and next to ... Burditt has done most for ... class. Helen French and Frances ... have also done the most of ... for U. V. M. "Peg" Hazen ... second as a politician. The ... optimist is Florence Lewis, ... Grace Norton and Lois Martin ... at the dark side of things. The ... fashion plate is Jane Howe, with ... Bacon the second best dressed ... "Kay" Atherton has the ... wit, but Harriet Elliot takes ... tongue lasher's prize as the most ... member.

Class Characters

Allen Newton and Elizabeth ... are deemed by their class... to fit the classic parts of ... and Juliet" to the letter.

Among the males "Bill" Herron and ... O'Connell are the perfect "Siam... Twins." Frank Bartlett gained ... distinction of "Flat Tire" easily ... his partner Grace Norton who ... labeled for the "Dumb Dora" part. ... a "Charlestoneer" "Art" Harms is ... an equal. Robert Allen is the ... provincial member among the ... while "Bun" Bosworth and Fred ... are tied for class "Kake ... "Hunky" Kinsler could not ... outdo "Dex" Butterfield as a ... so the result is a tie, but ... is to shine as the "Hot Dope ... "Art" Harms and "Bill" Wil... and "Kay" Atherton are the class ... ones, being considered the ... Hard Boiled." Carl Withrow ... Cereal" Veinott get the remain... male distinctions of "Lothario" ... Sap" respectively.

Thelma Mathewson and Alice Crowe ... the Siamese Twins among the ... portion of the class. Jane

McMAHON'S BREAD
Made of the highest grade bread flour, rich sweet milk and malt.
Wedding Specialties, Candies, Nuts, Fancy Cakes for Parties
McMahon's Bakery
11 Church St. Phone 134

"Mardy" Platt
Handsomest Man

Ruth Bacon
Class Beauty

Howe is rated the "Most Cosmopolitan," is second to none other than "Kay" Atherton for the "Red Hot Mama" act, is the class "Gold Digger," as well as the "Most High Hat." Jane is also tied for the part of "Theda Bara." "Kay" Atherton is the class "Charlestonette" and Elizabeth Sprague is the "Best Parlor Athlete." Harley Armstrong is the "Most Provincial." Harriet Elliot couldn't beat Mary Killelea and there is a tie between them for the position of class "Gossip." "Tillie the Toiler" and class "Ingenue" are embodied in Katheryn Lang.

Opinions Held by 1926

The favorite outdoor sports among both sexes are baseball, football and tennis, while basketball and dancing were favored for indoor activity. Junior Week with its attendant social functions was the favorite college social function. Government is the favorite subject and economics the hardest. Carroll, Tupper and Mower are the favorite professors, while Butterfield, Squires and Spafford share in the distinction of being the hardest ones.

The democratic spirit and beautiful Campus are considered the best things at Vermont. The co-eds and the South Campus walk which they rave so much about in the CYNIC are the worst things.

The sentiment of the men is religious; the men voting for compulsory chapel (25-20). The women, however, oppose it (5-8). Both sexes favor the proposed cut system, the vote being, men (22-20), women (11-1).

Vocational Choice

Various answers to the question "What do you want to do?" were received. Most of the class wish to keep others from the sins which have wrecked them and desire to teach. A few would like to loaf if "pa" would foot the bills. Foreign service, army, theatrical management, writing, business, law, travel, acting, secretarial work and dairy manufacturing are among the other occupations favored with the aspirations of Vermont brand of sheepskin bearers.

Correct
Shoe Repairing
AT LOWEST PRICES
J. A. Sikora 188 Bank St.

The Old Bee Hive
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
Silk Stockings that Wear
SHEER OR SERVICE WEIGHTS
$1.85, $1.95, $2.25 or $2.50 Pr.
Sold exclusively here, and featured in all colors to match the costume.

Greatest Need at U. V. M.

"The greatest need at Vermont is money," say the Seniors; money for buildings; money for endowment, and money for everything. They will have plenty of opportunities offered them by the Alumni Office to remedy this defect when they get out in the world.

RIFLE TEAM ELECTIONS

The rifle team recently held election of captain and managers for next year. Reynolds '27 the high point man of the team was elected captain; Bisson '27, manager and Castle '26 and Brown '26, assistant managers.

A. S. M. E. ELECTIONS

At a meeting of the local student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, A. R. Hill of Winooski was elected chairman for the coming year. Other officers elected were: Vice-chairman, J. R. Morton of Montclair, N. J.; secretary-treasurer, R. F. Moore of Peacham.

All Parker Duofolds
Carried in stock at
Hobart J. Shanley & Co., Inc.
5 CHURCH ST.

SPRINGFIELD NETMEN WIN FROM VERMONTERS

Tuesday afternoon during fitful showers Springfield net men defeated Vermont 4-2. Captain Guild defeated the opposing captain in two close sets thus adding another win to his string of victories. Nye never got going against Archer, the only Red and White man who has not been defeated this season. Taylor lost the closest match of the day to the diminutive Rudert. Baldwin played great tennis against Lewis and won his second singles match of the season. The doubles both were dropped in straight sets.

Summary

Guild (V.) beat Rivers 6-4, 6-4
Baldwin (V.) beat Lewis 9-7, 6-4
Rudert (S.) beat Taylor 9-7, 6-4
Archer (S.) beat Nye 6-1, 6-1
Lewis and Wilson (S.) beat Baldwin and Shaw 7-5, 6-4
Archer and Rivers (S.) beat Guild and Nye 6-3, 6-1

Graduation Presents?
Come in and see us for suggestions
CENTRAL DRUG CO.
Cor. Church and College Sts.

RED 46 DEPT. STORE
"The Store of Progress"
BURLINGTON VERMONT

STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES

YOUNG'S HATS

GRADUATION GIFTS ARE IN ORDER
One long lasting memory of the University of Vermont and the friends made there can be most appropriately expressed by presents marked with the University seal.
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
has an interesting variety to show you.

THE
MEDICAL BOOK STORE
closes June 15th
This gives only a short time for several last chances on things you want.

A COLD DRINK TO COOL YOUR FEVERED BRAIN
at the
COFFEE CORNER

...TBALL

...activity in th... the winter, the ...clude snowshoein... Freshmen, p... upperclassmen are ... these sports. Th... offering excellen... coming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. ...ership of Eliz... membership and ac... increasing.

For reserves Carruth and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

...of the men who qualified as rifle marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 2)

...the different phases of college ...

All Freshmen interested are ... aged to come out for the w...

...ly

A minor improvem... grounds has been ... concrete walk le... Row to Morrill ... wade through th... called South ... because they ... Hall.

Number 41 of a Series

SPORTING NEWS

MARION V. TAYLOR '24 Sporting Editor

PHI MU DELTS TO FACE KAPPA SIGS IN FINALS

[illegible] Phi Mu Delta defeated [illegible] Sigma Alpha Chi [illegible] Montgomery. The Owls got [illegible] Phi Mu's [illegible] Kappa Sigma [illegible] Phi Delta Theta, [illegible] Phi Mu [illegible] Sigma Alpha Chi [illegible] Phi Mu [illegible] Sigma Alpha Chi's drew a blank in [illegible] was their first game in the series. The Phi Mu's gathered six runs by their heavy hitting in the [illegible] and three more in the fourth [illegible] The Sigma Alpha Chis gathered [illegible] in the second and third innings and had men on in practically every inning but failed to capitalize them. Batteries: Phi Mu Delta, [illegible] and Johnson; Sigma Alpha Chi, [illegible] and E. Mackay.

Standing of fraternities in preliminary series of baseball series:

League No. 1

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Phi Mu Delta	1	0	1.000
[illegible] Delta	1	1	.667
[illegible] Nu	1	2	.333
Zeta Chi	0	1	.000

League No. 2

Kappa Sigma	2	0	1.000
[illegible] Tau Omega	1	1	.500
[illegible]	1	1	.500
Tau Epsilon Phi	0	2	.000

League No. 3

Phi Delta Theta	1	0	1.000
Delta Phi	2	1	.667
Sigma Phi	1	2	.333
Sigma Delta	0	2	.000

FOGG VIRTUALLY WINS THE M. A. C. GAME ALONE

Catamount Pitcher Allows Only Four Hits and Scores

Fogg. Fogg Fogg was all that M. A. C. saw and heard when they [illegible] here in the last event of the Junior Week festivities. Besides allowing the visitors only 4 hits he struck out 5 men gathered two hits himself scored one of Vermont's 3 runs and made [illegible] assists.

Vermont scored in the third. With two out Fogg singled and stole the [illegible] sack. Guild walked, Smith was hit by a pitched ball filling the bases. Bill Morse drew his second walk of the day forcing in Fogg. Thompson lined out to second. In the fourth, Randall grounded out to the pitcher. Aronson and Conway singled in succession. Temple tightened up to fan Valenti. But Fogg came through and another hit scoring Aronson. In the eighth Bill Morse doubled the only long hit of the day. He scored a moment later on Thompson's single. Only twice did the visitors threaten. In the first Griffin worked [illegible] Thompson's relief out and went to third on a wild pitch. Temple grounded out Fogg to Randall to end the inning. In the seventh Hoerth was safe on Smith's bungle. Temple [illegible]

Continued on page [illegible]

Speaking of Sport

Montgomery beats Norwich 5-4. Norwich beats Dartmouth 6-5. Vermont wins Montgomery. What kind of a thing is this?

V

We hear amateur baseball is coming back into its own. More power to it.

V

The tennis team has not had a successful season. Captain Guild playing his fourth year was a consistent winner and accounted for the major part of Vermont's tallies last season. He is the only man of the team to graduate, however and with another year success should come to the net men who have received their baptism of fire this year.

V

Manager Russell has completed his third managership. He arranged a schedule much better than any previous one and it is to be hoped that his work will prove the first step upward for Vermont in the collegiate tennis world.

V

Has the baseball season been satisfactory? Well! What's wrong? Is anything going to be done about it? We don't know but we expect not. This year seems to have been a period of slumps in major sports. The powers that be do not seem to be worried, however. They seem to think perhaps if they wait long enough something will happen. Yes, something probably will and it isn't very hard to guess what.

CATAMOUNTS FAIL TO SUBDUE SPRINGFIELD

Poor Fielding and Failure to Hit Results in a Shut Out

Springfield shut out Vermont on Saturday 2 to 0. Vermont's inability to hit with men on bases and errors at the critical moments on the part of the Green and Gold's infield lost the game. Moriarty on the mound for Vermont allowed Springfield only 5 well scattered hits while his teammates collected 8 off the Springfield hurler.

Springfield chalked up the first score when Jenkins singled in the first inning. He advanced to third on an error by Valenti and crossed the plate on a fielder's choice. The second run came in the seventh after Erickson had reached first on an error, coming around to home when Crowley, the visitor's pitcher banged out a double.

Vermont made a strong bid to enter the scoring column in the sixth, but the Green and Gold batters proved weak and Smith's triple failed to register a single tally. The Vermont second baseman crashed a long hit to deep right. The next two batters were unable to bring him home, but Randall drove a fast grounder past second which hit the umpire, and the rules kept Smith on third with Randall safe at first. An infield out ended the inning.

The summary:

Springfield

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Jenkins, lf.	4	1	2	2	0	0
Wright, 3b.	3	0	0	1	0	0
Erickson, rf.	4	1	0	1	0	0
Mahnkan, 1b.	4	0	0	11	1	1
Miser, cf.	4	0	1	2	0	0
Craig, 2b.	3	0	1	1	4	0
Berry, ss.	2	0	0	1	2	0
Putnam, c.	3	0	0	3	0	0
Crowley, p.	3	0	1	0	3	0
Totals	30	2	5	27	10	1

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Conway, ss.	4	0	1	2	3	0
Smith, ss.	4	0	1	3	2	0
W. Morse, lf.	4	0	2	0	0	0
Thompson, rf.	4	0	0	0	0	0
Randall, 1b.	4	0	1	17	0	0
Guild, cf.	3	0	0	1	0	0
Valenti, 3b.	4	0	1	1	0	2
Aronson, c.	3	0	1	4	1	0
Moriarty, p.	3	0	1	0	4	0
*Macomber	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	34	0	8	28	15	2

*Batted for Moriarty in 9th.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Vermont	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Springfield	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	2

Umpires: Carney and Mangan.

Temple University of Philadelphia has started a drive for twenty million dollars to enlarge and build up its institution.

NORWICH WINS STATE PISTOL CHAMPIONSHIP

Norwich won the State intercollegiate pistol title from Vermont here Saturday. The Vermonters were off form and did much poorer shooting than in practice. The score was Norwich 1289, U. V. M. 1017.

Individual scores: Castle (N) 278, Barrett (N) 276, Riggs (N) 269, Dauchy (V) 246, Bradley (N) 235, Walker (N) 231, Reynolds (V) 221, Follett (V) 207, Gray (V) 191, Johnson (V) 152.

ST. STEPHENS IS VICTIM OF VERMONT IN TENNIS

On Thursday afternoon, May 27, the Vermont Tennis Team won over the St. Stephens players by the score of 4-3. For the first time this year, a new plan was carried out, five singles being played instead of four as customary. This eliminated the possibility of a tie at 3 all. "Sonny" Taylor, playing No. 5 for Vermont, won the only love set for the Green and Gold this season. His scores were 6-0, 6-4. Guild and Baldwin won their matches easily in straight sets. This was Baldwin's first win for the Green and Gold in his singles matches. The summary is as follows.

Singles

Guild (V.) beat Ferris 6-1, 6-2.
Baldwin (V.) beat Faerber 6-3, 6-3.
Taylor (V.) beat Brunot 6-0, 6-4.
Titus beat Nye (V.) 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.
Morrill beat Shaw (V.) 6-3, 7-5.

Doubles

Baldwin and Shaw (V.) beat Faerber and Morrill 6-2, 6-3.
Titus and Ferris beat Guild and Nye (V.) 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

BAILLARGEON'S BARBER SHOP
Nuff Said
25 Church St.

HENRY'S DINER
QUICK SERVICE
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices
155 BANK STREET

BIG GREEN STICKMEN GIVE FINE EXHIBITION

In one of the [illegible] ball ever put up [illegible] team Vermont [illegible] 9 to 0 shut out. [illegible] mound for Vermont [illegible] the first, second and [illegible] retired in favor of [illegible] sixth inning. [illegible] visitors only 4 were [illegible] which they scored [illegible] 14 hits that Dartmouth [illegible] were infield hits a [illegible]

Owl at the bat and [illegible] field furnished the [illegible] the Dartmouth fielder [illegible] hits out of five trips [illegible] third snagged five flys [illegible] of assists for a perfect [illegible]

Vermont threatened [illegible] that in the seventh inning [illegible] two down, Aronson [illegible] single into center field. [illegible] safe on Norris' error [illegible] walked for the second time [illegible] game, filling the bases. [illegible] Burt Morse clipped a [illegible] Pickens pocketed it, ending the [illegible]

This is Vermont's last [illegible] test at home. On June 12 [illegible] and Gold will face the Brooklyn Giants and on the 19th the Yankees. Two more collegiate baseball games remain to be played, Williamstown and Brown at [illegible] on a two day trip the middle of the month. The score:

Dartmouth

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Owl, rf.	5	1	4	1	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hudgins, ss.	5	1	1	2	1	[illegible]
Stanley, cf.	5	2	1	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pickens, c.	4	2	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Elliott, lf.	5	1	2	2	[illegible]	[illegible]
Dey, 1b.	5	1	2	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Stevens, 3b.	5	0	0	2	3	[illegible]
Norris, 2b.	4	0	1	1	[illegible]	[illegible]
Van Riper, p.	4	1	2	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Totals	42	9	14	27	11	[illegible]

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Guild, cf.	3	0	0	1	[illegible]	[illegible]
Smith, 2b.	3	0	0	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
W. Morse, lf.	3	0	0	0	[illegible]	[illegible]
Thompson, rf.	4	0	0	1	[illegible]	[illegible]
Aronson, c.	3	0	1	11	[illegible]	[illegible]
Randall, 1b.	4	0	0	8	[illegible]	[illegible]
Conway, ss.	2	0	1	0	1	[illegible]
Valenti, 3b.	2	0	0	1	[illegible]	[illegible]
Moriarty, p.	1	0	0	0	2	[illegible]
Schoppe, p.	2	0	0	0	[illegible]	[illegible]
B. Morse, 3b.	1	0	0	0	0	[illegible]
*Fogg	0	0	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Totals	28	0	2	27	[illegible]	[illegible]

*Ran for Aronson in second and [illegible]

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Vermont	0	0	0	0	0	0	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Dartmouth	3	0	0	0	5	0	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

R. W. STILL Phone 2873-W
HOFFMAN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
MEN'S SUITS PRESSED AND CLEANED
Free Auto Delivery
145 Elmwood Ave. Burlington, Vt.

Turk Says
Spring Suits and Top Coats Ready
This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay per week for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the Budget comes from — Turk's — Burlington, Cincinnati, Columbus, New York
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

Clarence Russell Williams

...the tenth of a series of ... sketches of faculty members ... weekly in the CYNIC.

... Russell Williams was born ... phia on the fifteenth of ... 1870, the son of Reverend ... ser Williams, Ph. D., who ... ty years was one of the ... the American Sunday ... On his father's side ... ded from the early set... ...tford, Connecticut, and on ... from early German set... ...rmantown, Philadelphia. ...ams prepared for college at ...rmantown Academy, Phil... ...d received the A. B. degree ...niversity of Pennsylvania ...owed by the M. A. degree ...ton in 1895. He was a ...udent of President Har... ...e University of Chicago, ...

...ried Miss Gertrude Butler ...tive of Marietta, Ohio at ... Park, Florida, May 1, 1907, ...d upon a life as writer and ... chiefly upon educational ...

...ved the degree of Ph. D. ... in 1912, nearly fifty years ... father had graduated from ... institution.

... the war he did work for the ... Library Association at ...on and Merritt.

... Williams was head of the De... of History at St. Stephen's ... 1919-1921, and was in charge ... work in American History at ... College and New Jersey Col... Women, 1921-1922. He attend... ...ate lectures in history at ... 1922-1923.

He came to the University of Vermont in 1923, taking charge of the Department of History, first as associate professor, and since 1924 as Professor of History.

Mr. Williams is a member of the American Historical Association, the Mississippi Valley Historical Association, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Maine Historical Society (honorary), and of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences. In the Transactions of the latter was published a monograph, and articles usually of a popular character have been contributed by him to various publications.

He is a member of the new national social science honor society, Pi Gamma Mu.

He has travelled and lectured somewhat in the South, and spent a winter in Cuba, which gave him some insight into the life and problems of Spanish America, while summers spent on the Maine coast have led to studies not yet published in the early exploration, French and English, of that region

Fogg Virtually Wins the M. A. C. Game Alone

(Continued from page 6)

... to Thompson. Moberg struck out. ...ett went to third on McVey's safe ...gle. Bilgard hit a hard one to Fogg, ... made a neat stop, recovered the ...ll and threw him out at first.

The score:

VERMONT

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Guild, cf.	3	0	0	1	0	0
Smith, 2b.	3	0	0	1	2	2
W. Morse, lf.	2	1	1	2	0	0
Thompson, rf.	3	0	1	1	0	0
Randall, 1b.	3	0	0	10	0	0
Atchison, c.	3	1	1	6	2	0
Calloway, ss.	3	0	1	2	2	0
Varney, 3b.	3	0	0	2	0	0
Fogg, p.	3	1	2	2	9	0
Totals	26	3	6	27	15	2

MASSACHUSETTS AGGIES

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Thompson, lf.	3	0	0	2	0	0
Griffin, cf.	4	0	1	2	1	0
Huertl, 2b.	4	0	0	1	3	0
Temple, p.	4	0	1	0	5	0
Moberg, rf.	2	0	0	1	0	0
McVey, 1b.	4	0	1	10	0	0
Bilgard, 3b.	3	0	0	0	1	1
Mowatt, ss.	2	0	0	3	2	0
Briggs, c.	3	0	1	5	1	0
Total	29	0	4	24	13	1

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Vermont	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	1	*	3
Mass. Aggies	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0

STATE TENNIS TITLE FALLS TO MIDDLEBURY

The following afternoon the Green and Gold lost the state title to Middlebury by the score of 5-1, the matches being played on the local courts. Captain Guild made Vermont's only point by defeating Wolfskehl (M.), 7-9, 6-4. The summary is as follows:

SINGLES

Guild (V.) beat Wolfskehl (M.) 7-9, 6-4.

Hewes (M.) beat Nye (V.) 6-2, 6-1.

Hewes (M.) beat Baldwin (V.) 6-2, 6-1.

Seymour (M.) beat Shaw (V.) 6-3, 6-4.

DOUBLES

Wolfskehl and Twitchell (M.) beat Guild and Nye (V.) 2-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Hewes and Seymour beat Baldwin and Shaw (V.) 6-3, 6-3.

CIVIL ENGINEERS LEAVE FOR CAMP AT UNDERHILL

The Sophomore and Junior Civil Engineers and Professors Puffer and Horton left Tuesday, June 1, for Underhill Center, where they are to camp for four weeks. The Sophomores are majoring in topographical surveying, featuring triangulation, plane table, base line, measurements, survey from map, and stadia work. The Juniors are laying out the preliminary and location survey for a railroad.

For your banquets, etc. use
FRESH FRUIT ORANGEADE
It's delicious
Only $1.00 gallon, delivered
BOOTH'S DRUG STORE
College St. — Opp. Park

Fords Cheap

Run fine, look fine, and are fine.

Just what you want for fun

CHAS. P. SMITH, Jr., INC.
87 ST. PAUL ST.

Vermont's Largest Dealer

NEW YORK LIFE INS. CO.
a purely Mutual Institution
A symbol of Strength and Integrity
Make it YOUR Company
"Bernie"

Pick a pipe and pack it with good old P. A.

TALK about "alliteration's artful aid" . . . the printer certainly raided the "p" box that trip. But let that go! The advice is just as serious and sound as though it were couched in the careful diction of an English prof.

Just get yourself a jimmy-pipe and fill the bowl to the brim with Prince Albert. Light up, and let the first fragrant whiff tell you that no other tobacco is like P. A.—or can be! Cool and sweet and fragrant, P. A. has everything a fellow ever wished for in a smoke.

P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat. The Prince Albert process settled that in P. A.'s freshman year. Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. The first load-up will tell you why pipes are so fashionable among young men today.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

©1930, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

...ALL

...s for fifty ... chief activity in th... ...h the winter, the... ...nclude snowshoein... ...ng. Freshmen, ... upperclassmen are ... in these sports. T... ...s offering excellen... ...becoming acquainte... ...new girls, also are ... ...all who go. ... ...leadership of Eli... ...membership and ... ...creasing.

For reserves Garrupy and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 8)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct. 2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct. 9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here

...of the men who qualified as ... marksmen at camp: Lloyd Re... 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; ...ham J. Humphrey, 196; Os... Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 19... D. Marshall, 187; and L... Averill, 186. The requi... qualification were 1... possible 250. The ... were 200 yards ... kneeling and ... prone. T...

The Dawn of a Better Cigarette

Try one and you're won!

If a girl is truly beautiful, it doesn't need a second look to tell you so. If a cigarette is really pleasing, it doesn't take a second package to register the fact. Superior quality makes itself felt in a hurry.

So it is with OLD GOLD Cigarettes. No long courtship is needed to satisfy you that OLD GOLDS are perfectly mated to your taste. It's love at first light. When the match is struck, the match is made.

With the first puff of this exquisitely fine blend, you will know you have found the mellowest, smoothest, most fragrant and gratifying smoke you've ever set your lips to.

When you try one . . . you're won!

* * *

It is a COOLER cigarette. The heavier and coarser leaf has been discarded for hand-selected lighter and finer leaf—requiring less draught and bringing less heat to the lips.

It is a SMOOTHER and MILDER cigarette. A new-day method takes out all harshness in the tobacco, tempering the balance to gentle perfection.

It is a more FRAGRANT and PLEASINGLY GRATIFYING cigarette. Only the pick of the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos is used in OLD GOLD, blended by old masters to bring out the utmost in aromatic smoking quality. . . . P. Lorillard Co.

OLD GOLD

The New and Better cigarette ~ 20 for 15¢

THE TREASURE OF THEM ALL

The Product of P. LORILLARD CO., Established 1760

In Memoriam—Pearl Randall Wasson

(Continued from page 8)

as great a sorrow but her spiritual belief in living such a part of her was, the following equal to the task of creating Dean of Women at Vermont.

the rare qualities that she brought with the student of her gift for inspiring those whose lives we today revere her

Creed is one of her ents of the University over it seems to me to be a fitting expression that she was, and if them which she wrote ry of Dr. Wasson, we have so a perfect revelation of a understanding woman.

MARIAN PATTERSON.

MY FIRST YEAR

lovely chance, what can I do give my gratefulness to you? me even here, where I on a hill against the sky."

Sara Teasdale and I, too, offer to "lovely chance," which through a fortunate encounter in the Middlebury last one spring day in 1920, formed my college friendship with Randall Wasson and brought to Vermont to live. She was my introduction to the state. I saw it first and knew it best through her eyes. It is no wonder that both the state and the University have grown very dear to me, for, as Mrs. Wasson "introduced" me to the state, so was she the link which connected me with the University and with Redstone.

There is no one now left in college who lived through that first year at Redstone surely the most kaleidoscopic first year that ever fell to the lot of any newcomer. Through the tapestry hanging in my mind's gallery runs a scarlet and gold and glowing thread the personality of Mrs. Wasson, my erstwhile college friend, always lovely, now grown into a woman of profound charm, of verve, of imagination, a woman sincere, loyal, vibrating to every offering of the spirit.

Many phases of that first year come back to memory. I shall try to give but one, the one from which I may not dissociate Mrs. Wasson since she seemed to hold first place in her interest and in her hope for the success of the University. Student life, by rare good fortune under the direction of Katherine McSweeney, was still in its fledgling state, with the feathers apparent and wings in its gait a hop, a jump, and, sometimes even a flight. And I remember, of course, Mrs. Wasson's pleasure for it, her fledgling. For hers was indeed, that "vision" without which the people perish." I have mused often, over Solomon's combination of ideas in that verse, ending, as he does, "but he that keepeth the law happy is he." Now, in thinking over that initiatory year, I see the reason. Hers, perhaps, was the vision, our part, I believe, is to keep the law. Thus only can we show that we have been chosen to fulfill her wishes and be guided by her spirit.

KATHRINA STORMS.

HOMAGE

There was once a lady, a talented, gracious, whimsical lady, into whose keeping was given the genius of greatness and simplicity. Thoughts of her are like the abiding fragrance of a flower that slowly fading, is sweet, and rare, and wholly wonderful. Only the wizardry of keenest imagination cannot hope to depict her; with only bald words that have, withal, astounding significance. For she was supreme philosopher in a world that is ever new, ever changing, a world where everything is possible. There seemed eternally to be unfolding within the shadowy places of her being ever newer, and ever more subtle powers, so that, the vitality of her knowledge made the knowledge of all others seem of infinitesimal unimportance.

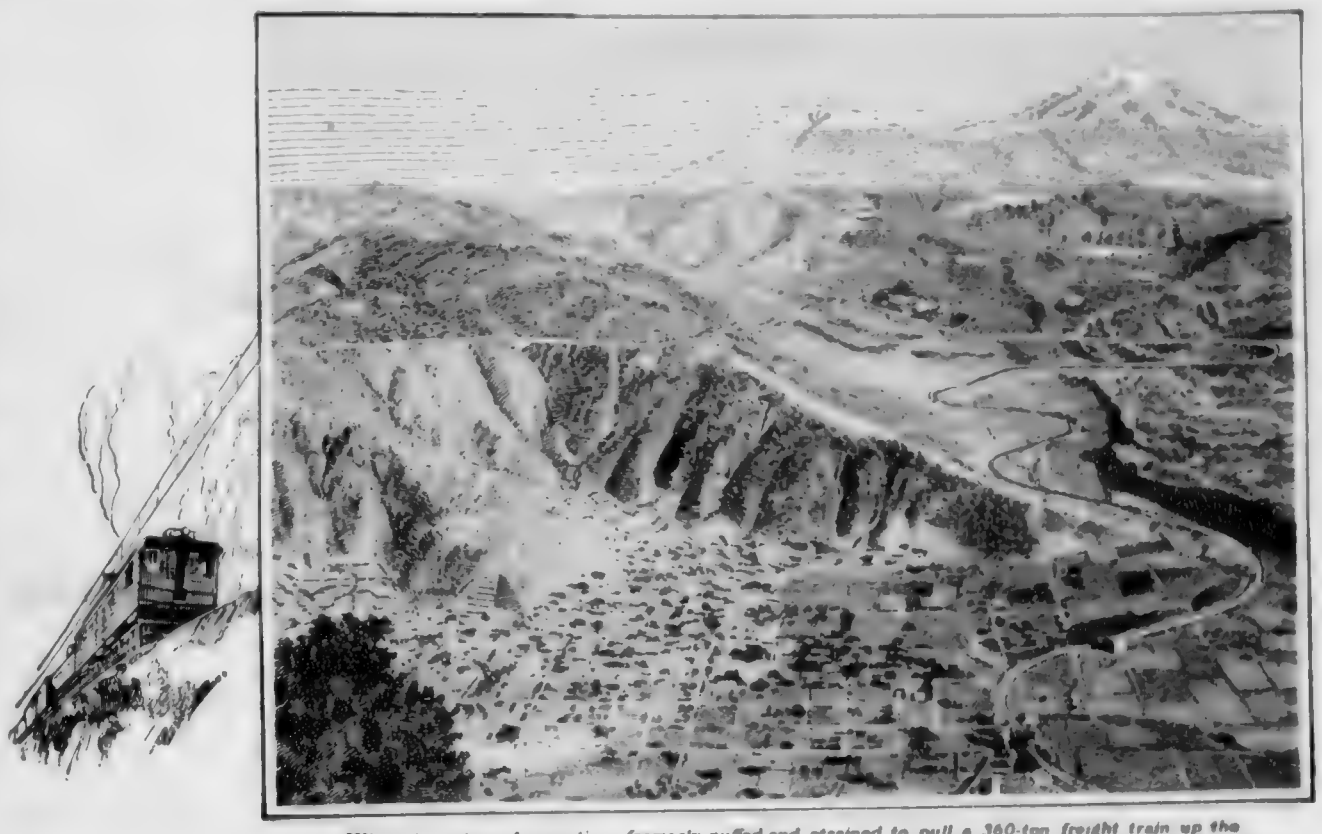
She was very akin to the poet, and had so far perfected the art of the supreme adventure, that even while her mind seemed engulfed in beatific vision, the richness and expansion of her personality reflected a color and glow that was almost appallingly sublime. For her capacity of the vision was equalled only by the depth of her life. The essence of content, of comfort and of charm radiated from her, illuminating all who came under her mystical influence. And with such an appeal that she seemed reaching for one's spirit. So cosmopolitan in character was she, that one approached her very simply, feeling no self-consciousness, no timidity, but a deep, reverent admiration that seems to flood one with the memory of absent friends, the gladness of youth, the joy of sunlight, and the sweetness of a child's smile.

Possessing a humanness that was capable of astonishing nobility, this characteristic dominates every thought of her. Incredibly multitudinous are the evidences that it was with this mystical quality that she peopled the house of her life. And there came, as a result, to all who knew the favor of her benign smile, a glory, a peace, and a joy untold. Even from the shadowland of eternity, the charm, the inspiration of her soul reaches out to us; and when the river of life is most strong, and rushes us along through whirlpools and rapids until it seems as though we must be dashed upon the sheer rocks, then there appears to us the vision of our tradition. And way above and beyond the physical cosmos that seems to cling and wish to bind us within its hateful toils, there gleams and glows the beacon fire of her unchanging devotion. And ever the eternal sunshine of her inspiration floods the world with an appealing invitation of glorious promise.

VINA B. RUGG.

In the life of a college which has lived one hundred and thirty-five years, three years seem hardly a day. Measured by actual achievement that short period which comprised Dean Pearl Randall Wasson's service to Vermont had crowded into it the actual accomplishments and also the beginnings of ideas and deeds which most of us would feel to be a good ten year's work.

No mere pedant, but a natural leader, a dreamer, yes, but a doer likewise, high-minded but retaining always the common touch, Pearl Randall Wasson came to the University and gave with boundless generosity her talents, her grace and herself.



KATHERINE MCSWEENEY '22.

DEAN WASSON'S INFLUENCE

The inspiration of the personality of Dean Pearl Randall Wasson upon students of the University of Vermont deserved to rank in importance with subjects taught in college classrooms for not all the benefits of higher education are obtained from textbooks. She could share the enthusiasms of youth, with no sacrifice of the wisdom of maturer years, and this very quality made her advice and sympathy of greater value in the solution of student problems. She had developed qualities of leadership before she came to the University, which fitted her well for college work, and these were used to broaden and to bless the lives of students who looked to her for guidance.

Dean Wasson exemplified in her life the accomplishments which college women seek—knowledge, culture, tact, the refinements and graces of life, and nobility of character. Her memory should be a continuing influence for good upon the young women of Vermont, an inspiration to achievements in culture and character that will make for nobler and richer womanhood.

WALTER H. CROCKETT.

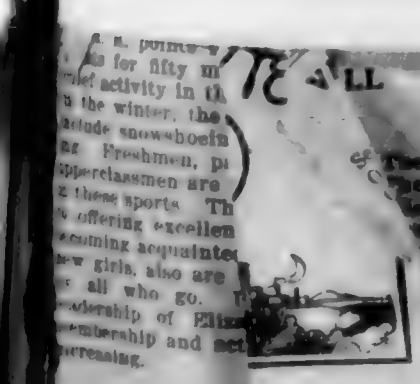
Where two steam locomotives formerly puffed and strained to pull a 360-ton freight train up the steep slope of Maltrata incline, two electric locomotives haul a 660-ton train with power to spare.

Electricity levels the Mountains

In Mexico, romantic land of pretty senoritas and languorous minstrelsy, practical American engineers have harnessed streams so that mountains may be leveled.

The winding thirty-mile Maltrata incline on the road from Vera Cruz to Mexico City is now electrified. Ten electric locomotives replace twenty-three steam engines. The electrics haul twice the tonnage of the steam locomotives—and in half the time, with obvious benefits to traveler, railroader, and shipper.

Yet Maltrata is but an example of electrical progress. For electricity is conquering the grades of railroads and of industry alike, the world over.



Impressive, no doubt, but still modest when compared with the possibilities of electricity in years to come. And it remains for college-trained men, with trained capacity for initiative and leadership, to become ambassadors for further electrical conquests in foreign lands.

The General Electric Company required but eighteen months to electrify Maltrata incline—locomotives, power plant, transmission equipment complete. Engineering skill, backed by vast manufacturing facilities, has enabled G-E to serve humanity in many ways.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

...ALL

...There
...Here
...Here
...Here

...for fifty m...
...lief activity in t...
...n the winter, the ...
...include snowshoein...
...ng. Freshmen, p...
...upperclassmen are ...
...these sports. Th...
...s offering excellen...
...coming acquainte...
...new girls, also are ...
...all who go. T...
...adership of Eliz...
...embership and act...
...creasing.

...For fourteen Harrupp and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct. 2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct. 9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here

...of the men who qualified as rifle marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196, Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 200 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

...ly

...A minor improvement...
...grounds has been ...
...concrete walk le...
...Row to Morrill ...
...wade through th...
...called South ...
...because they ...
...Hall.

Number 41 of a Series

SIGMA PHI CONVENTION PROGRAM IS COMPLETED

The [illegible] Convention of the Sigma Phi Fraternity is to be held [illegible] the occasion of Alpha of Vermont [illegible] the University of Vermont June 23-25. About one hundred and fifty members of the fraternity are expected to attend these including representatives from each of the ten chapters of this fraternity. The presiding officer will be Judge Barnes of [illegible] Supreme Court of Vermont.

The first general session will be held on the afternoon of Friday, June 23. An informal contest will be held in the latter part of the afternoon. Friday evening a reception and dance will be held in the Billings Library.

Saturday, June 25, will see the completion of the business in the meeting. The afternoon will be given over to a baseball and different sports. The convention will end with a banquet Saturday evening.

The visiting delegates will be housed at various fraternity houses and University buildings. All meals will be served at the Ethan Allen Club house.

The local committee in charge of the convention is headed by Judge Henry P. Shaw '26.

PROF. G. S. WHITBY OF MC GILL LECTURES

Professor G. S. Whitby of McGill University spoke to a group of Chemistry students on "Recent Advances in the Chemistry of Rubber" Saturday morning, May 22, in the Williams Science Hall. Professor Whitby is an expert in this line and has done a great amount of research work in regard to the manufacture and production of rubber.

About sixty attended the lecture. Professors Carson Viter and Heller, with fifteen students from the Chemistry Department at Middlebury were present. Preceding the lecture dinner was served at the Golden Pheasant Tea Rooms to faculty members and students from both universities.

Professor Whitby started with a discussion of latex the sap of the rubber tree from which crude rubber is obtained, its probable composition, and the purpose of various ingredients. He then proceeded in order through the numerous processes in the manufacture of the crude material to the finished product showing a number of slides to illustrate the points he wished to make clear.

COLLEGE HEADS SEEK CHAPEL ATTENDANCE

Princeton, N. J.—(By New Student Service) Hundreds of questionnaires found their way to college presidents' busy desks, to be cluttered sanctums of undergraduate editors, to the subdued study of the college minister. Hundreds of fat envelopes drifted back to Princeton where they were opened, classified, tabulated by student officials of the National Student Federation. Thousands of words were boiled down to a press notice. And papers throughout the country report FULL FINDS RELIGION GAINING IN COLLEGES.

Of 315 college presidents questioned 176 opposed compulsory Sunday chapel while 139 approved. Ninety opposed compulsory week-day worship while 225 favored it. Only 42 of the five questionnaires to college editors were answered. Of the 42 a majority reported undergraduate sentiment in favor of conditions as they are. Of all the colleges from which replies came and at which compulsion is in effect only four expressed dissatisfaction and desired a change.

Compulsory chapel is most favored in small colleges. It either has never prevailed or was abandoned in the large universities.

The inebriated passenger in the elevator lost all his self-control when the operator stopped the car with a jolt at the third floor.

"Lemme out!" he demanded, "I'm through with this damn machine!"

"Oh! come now," replied the boy, "we're almost down. Surely you can stand just three more stories?"

"All right, as long as they're good snappy ones!"—Ex.

Coach Latty
Who Has Put Track on the Map at Vermont

FIVE COLLEGE GRADS AWARDED FELLOWSHIPS

Fellowships for the years 1926-28 have been anounced by Professor G. P. Burns. Miss Pauline Ayres, Vermont, was granted a fellowship in botany; Miss Laura Parker, Vermont, has one in English; O. P. Orrins of the University of Virginia will be with the philosophy department; Mr. Lausch, Gettysburg College, has a fellowship in medical science; and Harry Finkelstein of Tufts College is to study with the physics department. There were 30 applicants for the fellowships. The value of a fellowship is $700 for the first year and $800 the second year. Preference was given to graduates of colleges other than the U. V. M. Awards were made to graduates of colleges, who have shown superior ability in the department in which the applicans are to work.

LACK OF INTELLECTUAL VIGOR TROUBLES OREGON

Eugene, Ore.—(By New Student Service) From two far-removed sources the news comes of student participation in educational policy. At the University of Oregon the Emerald, undergraduate daily, announces a student report on "the states of intellectual vigor in the university." The report, sponsored by the Emerald sets about to discover the causes "responsible for the lack of more spontaneous intellectual activity within the University than is now the case."

The Emerald forecasts the following recommendations "which in all probability will be included in the report":

Advisability of changing present plan of grades and credits

The freeing of upperclassmen from compulsory class attendance.

The granting of special privileges and encouragement to upperclassmen in "free lance" scholastic study and endeavor.

Recommendations for differentiation of teaching and research activities of professors.

Various other matters will also be included in the report. Most of the items will be made public as soon as the work is concluded. Portions "dealing with personalities" will be submitted directly to university administrative officials.

On May 10, and the following day two groups of undergraduates will represent undergraduate opinion at the annual meeting of the Harvard faculty and Board of Overseers. One group will meet the overseers at a dinner preliminary to the meetings, the other, the most important, will attend the sessions on both days. The latter group will be composed of nine men representing the most important activities on the campus.

ELLSWORTH'S
The home of fine watches and diamonds
Successor to A. G. Mansur
71 CHURCH STREET

NEW MEMBERS OF CYNIC BOARD

The following named men have been elected to the Cynic Board as a result of their efforts during the past semester: Whitney D. Safford, '28 and Charles E. Harwood, Wallace M. Greene, George H. James, Anthony A. Lucciani and Frank G. Shedd from the class of '29.

JUNIORS TO GO TO CAMP DEVENS FOR SIX WEEKS

Twenty-seven cadets from the R. O. T. C. Battalion will spend six weeks in military training at Camp Devens, beginning June 18.

The men going from U. V. M. are: H. A. Aronson, L. H. Averill, A. R. Beaulieu, D. M. Bashaw, C. H. Blackhall, E. L. Boyce, J. J. Candon, R. L. Clark, B. J. Humphrey, F. S. Lanou, W. M. Lockwood, D. C. London, E. D. Marshal, F. R. Metzger, E. J. Moodie, E. C. Mower, O. B. Nye, O. F. Parody, J. B. Phelps, R. E. Reed, L. A. Reynolds, H. C. Sherwin, C. G. Simpson, G. H. Sloan, F. E. Somerville, H. E. Southworth, and G. S. Talcott.

The rate of five cents a mile will be paid for transportation over the shortest usual route to Ayer, Mass., two miles from Camp Devens.

The men are asked to take their R. O. T. C. uniform with them for special occasions. Captain Lammons and Rattan will be instructors at the camp and anyone wishing advice or help will find them willing to aid.

There are to be 150 students at the camp from the University of Maine, New Hampshire University, Boston University, Rhode Island State College, Connecticut Agricultural and Vermont.

Major Drollinger of Boston University will be commandant. All students should report to him upon arrival at Camp Devens.

SECONDS WIN FROM B. H. S.

Tuesday the University second team won 6-3 from B. H. S. at Centennial, making five straight victories. Gadue pitched well but received poor support. Price starred for the seconds.

The score:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Seconds	1	1	1	3	0	0	0	0	0	6
B. H. S.	1	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	3

Batteries: B. H. S., Gadue and Preston; Vermont, Talcott and Winchenbach.

In the Indiana Student, "What do you think of the suggestion that the co-eds ask the men for Thursday night dates?"

Telephone 597-W
T. P. O'HARA
Tailoring
170 BANK STREET
French Dry Cleaning and Pressing
Goods Called For And Delivered

COLLEGE LIBRARIANS HOLD MEETINGS HERE

On Friday evening [illegible] opening session of the [illegible] College Librarians was [illegible] Marsh Room of the [illegible] The speaker, Dr. H. L. [illegible] catalogued the library [illegible] ago, told a great deal about [illegible] P. Marsh, who had [illegible] library at that time. Mr. [illegible] an authority on the English [illegible] an author, congressman [illegible] sador. Dr. Koopman closed [illegible] ing a poem which he had [illegible] honor of Mr. Marsh in 1[illegible]

The rest of the session [illegible] to subjects of general [illegible] librarians. Plans for the [illegible] ies at Dartmouth and Wesleyan were described.

Saturday morning at [illegible] sion about what is going [illegible] different libraries was [illegible] this the University served [illegible] delegates at Robinson Hall [illegible] luncheon the Chamber of [illegible] furnished automobiles and [illegible] the convention were shown [illegible] city. At the afternoon session it was decided to hold the next meeting at Holy Cross College, Worcester.

The committee on arrangements for this meeting was composed of F. K. Drury of Brown University, Isaac B. Shattuck of the University of Vermont, Laila A. McNeil of Mount Holyoke College, and Walter B. Briggs of Harvard University.

The distance between [illegible] great in some of the South American universities that the students are compelled to use street cars and busses to go from one class to another.

Dunlop Golf Balls
No. 1 Re-enameled $6.00 doz.
No. 2 Re-enameled $4.00 doz.
All styles and models of KROYDEN and MacGREGOR CLUBS
L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

Clothcraft Guaranteed Clothes
Go On Sale
SATURDAY, JUNE 5
SALE LASTS UNTIL ALL ARE SOLD

ALL SIZES COLLEGE MODELS D. B. AND S. B.
WITH TWO PAIR PANTS
PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
29 CHURCH STREET

VOLUME
NUMBER

The Vermont Cynic

PICTORIAL SUPPLEMENT

The Fountain

NUMBER 1

Year
'lment

ation—"Life fe

A BILL PAYMENT

1930 opened of ent of bills and y, September 14
es took place in nesday morning
by delivered the ent or a Liabil
y paid in part the University as marked by inking, and the
ity, virtue and

This Freshman an life on the t their account money have the pay their life's make men rea ep of decisions reason, will fit ination may be reason is more story

tate are the re its people. The established the
h. Her interest
d. A student's eedingly impor
ld to frequently.
guide post. The power rests with session was fol-

ire lesson and
Prof. Evan
America the Most Almighty announcements by of the college
ed the benedicconcluded the figures are an enrollment this ek all previous than class has former figures.

many upperclass-
ed from also year is the one-
This includes
mester and the
The student ination breaks ports athletic subscription for ents for class
nt, Vermonters women's Stu-
and the Musi

ETE POSITIONS

g a new system board members
class. A series en eight to ten be held Decem-mber 27. All may enter these be given assign-the prescribed will be judged of the Board on in material aser, and on their facts and write
ted and gramstory The men best qualified in given places on the end of the most of this op-places on the qualities for ads open and will

Cynic work has close touch with the different phases of college life
All Freshmen interested are aged to come out for the w

...ly

A minor improvem
grounds has been concrete walk le
Row to Morrill
wade through th
called South
because thes
Hall

Number 41 of a Series

...n, points
...s for fifty m
...ief activity in th
...n the winter, the
...prude snowshoein
...ar. Freshmen, p
...pperclassmen are
...n these sports. Th
... offering excellen
...coming acquainte
...w girls, also are
... all who go.
...adership of Eliz
...embership and act
...creasing.

FOR TWELVE thirsty and hungry
at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

of the men who qualified as rifle marksmen at camp. Lloyd Reynolds, 21[illegible], William M Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250 The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

Seniors Prominent in Class Day Activities

Telephone 597-W

T. P. O'HARA

Tailoring

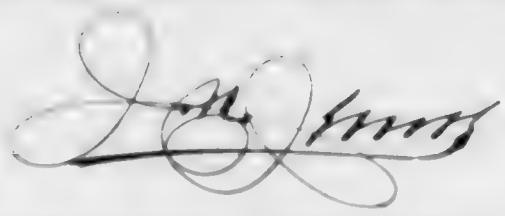
170 BANK STREET

French Dry Cleaning and Pressing

Goods Called For And Delivered

Turk Says

Spring Suits and Top Coats Ready



Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS

Turk's

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

Dr. Jeans, who has been elected by the Board of Trustees to succeed the

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP

97¼ Church St.

UP FLIGHT UP

Excellent service for Ladies and Gents

Dunlop Golf Balls

No. 1 Re-enameled $6.00 doz.

No. 2 Re-enameled $4.00 doz.

All styles and models of KROYDEN and MacGREGOR CLUBS

L. P. WOOD

Sporting Goods Store

78 CHURCH STREET

The Vermont Cynic

VOL. 44 BURLINGTON, VT., JUNE 26 1926 NUMBER 38

COMMENCEMENT NUMBER

CLASS DAY EXERCISES TAKE PLACE ON GREEN

Seniors Take time Out to Renew Pleasant Memories—Miss Marjorie Fifield is Class Poet—E. Carlton Abbott, Campus Orator

At 3:15 on the afternoon of Friday, June [illegible] another Senior class met in cap and gown on the steps of the Billings Library to march down the campus to the scene of the out-door exercises of class day. Marshall E. [illegible] headed the procession, while Joseph [illegible]'s orchestra furnished music. The speakers for the class were Carl [illegible] of Seneca Castle, N. Y., who gave the president's oration; Margaret [illegible] of Richmond with the class poem; E. Carleton Abbott of Woodstock campus oration; R. L. Thompson Proctor, Boulder oration; A. G. [illegible] of Bristol, Conn., pipe oration; Miss Fifield of South Hero, class poem; Olney W. Hill of Burlington, address to undergraduates.

Finally summing up the influence and tradition of Vermont President Buell said, "As we stand upon the threshold and look back upon the early days of this institution and think of its struggle for existence and what it has meant to those who have come and through them to its state and nation, we cannot but be moved with a spirit of gratitude to those who founded it and to those scholars and friends of the state and generous givers whose means who through unselfish devotion and service have helped perpetuate it, making possible our being here today."

Class History

The history of the class was taken in chronological order, beginning with the first appearance of the class on the campus on September 20, 1922. Points of interest, both scholastic, social and athletic of this first year were given, up to the beginning of the sophomore year and a new and distinct class individuality. The Junior year was marked by the "First Lady in the Land," Mrs. Coolidge, the visit of the University Band to Washington, the eclipse, the carnival at Fort Ethan Allen, the earthquate, and last but most significant, the 1926 Ariel."

"The Senior year has been one of

(Continued on page 3)

APPOINTMENTS TO 1928 ARIEL ARE ANNOUNCED

Appointments to the Board of 1928 Ariel have recently been made, and announced as follows:

Appointed by the editor: Medic editor, A Bradley Soule; feature editors, Lewis G. Leary and Herbert D. Kimball, athletic editor, Mahlon V. Hunt, assisted by C. Lynwood Taffee and George Graves; grind editor, Eva A. Lucchina, assisted by Ruth C. Unsworth, Charles H. Morris and Harold H. Fogg; photographic editor, George R. Perry; art editor, Herbert J Merrill; engraving editor, Kenneth R. Stevens.

Appointed by the business manager: Stuart C. Abell, advertising manager, Herbert T Holden, circulation manager.

Appointed by the women's editor: Helen M Bates, Laura P. Bliss, Katherine S Griffith, Jeanette S. Hayes, Dorothy F Lynch, Elizabeth P. Morse, Clara E. Richmond, Margaret Stuart and Gloria I. Young.

Members of next year's Junior class are asked to start during the summer to collect interesting snapshots that can be used in the Ariel.

DR. JENNE NEW DEAN OF MEDICAL COLLEGE

James Nathaniel Jenne, M. D., M. S. has been selected by the Board of Trustees of the University of Vermont, as dean of the Medical College to succeed the late Dr. Henry C. Tinkham. Dr. Jenne had previously been chosen by the faculty of the Medical College for that position.

Dr. Jenne has now been connected with the University of Vermont as professor of Medicine for thirty-five years. He was born in Berkshire in 1859, was educated in the public schools of that town and graduated from the University of Vermont College of Medicine in 1881. He took post-graduate work in New York City and in Paris. In the Spanish-American War the Doctor served with the rank of Major.

He first practiced medicine in St. Albans and later in Burlington; has been president of the Vermont State Medical Society and surgical director of the Central Vermont Railway.

He was adjunct professor of materia medica and therapeutics from 1891 to 1893, professor at the head of the department from 1893 to 1911, and since then has been professor of clinical medicine and therapeutics.

Dr. Jenne received the honorary degree of Master of Science from the University last June. He was one of the charter members of Delta Mu Fraternity at this University.

REV. DOWNEY DELIVERS BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Dr. Downey Admonishes Seniors to "Truer Thinking and Better Living"—Stresses Worth of Personality

On Sunday the twentieth at four o'clock the Rev. David George Downey, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Wesleyan University, delivered a Baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class in which he appealed to them for a greater appreciation of the art of living in its best and fullest sense such as can be reached only through God.

Form Procession

The faculty and Seniors formed in procession on University Place at 3:15. Professor David Marvin, M. D. was the marshal in charge, Prof. Marshall Baxter Cummings, Ph. D., was the faculty marshal, and Marshall Ellis Mower and Donald Miller Clark served respectively as marshals for the academic and medical Seniors. Upon their entrance into the cage, which was attractively decorated with evergreens, the audience rose and the processional was played. The orchestra was composed of symphony pieces and was under the leadership of Joseph F Lechnyr and Prof. Howard Gordon Bennett, M. A., who was director of music for the day.

Offer Invocation

President Bailey presided. Invocation was offered by the Rev Joseph Reynolds, president of the standing committee of the Episcopal diocese of Vermont, who was chaplain of the day. Following this the audience joined in singing "Oh Worship the King." The scripture lesson was taken from the Corinthian chapter on love and was read by the chaplain, followed by the Gloria Patri and prayer, and the singing of "O God, the Rock of Ages."

The Sermon

The sermon was preached by the

(Continued on page 4)

208 Degrees Conferred at 2nd Largest Commencement

University Closes 135th Year With Record Graduating Class of 170 on Academic Side—Five Honorary Degrees Conferred —Unusually Small Medical Class

TRUSTEE OF UNIVERSITY DIES IN HIS 56th YEAR

Ralph A. Stewart, a distinguished Boston attorney and a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Vermont since 1923, died on June 18 at Hyannisport, Mass.

He was born in East Wallingford, Vt., April 25, 1870 and graduated from the University of Vermont in 1893, serving as star catcher on one of the best teams Vermont ever had. Mr. Stewart attended the Harvard Law School and after graduation gained prominence as a corporation lawyer. He has been counsel for the Boston and Albany Railroad and for the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, was formerly assistant attorney-general of Mass., and during the war served in Switzerland as an American Red Cross Commissioner. At the time of his death he was a member of the firm of Choate, Hall and Stewart.

"DOC" MARVIN IS CHOSEN MANAGER OF BASEBALL

"Bill" Morse Will Captain Next Year's Stickmen—Abell, Holden and Reagan Assistants

As a result of the ballots which were opened last Thursday, L. H. Marvin '28 of Essex Junction will manage next year's baseball and W. J. Morse '27 of Middletown, Conn., will be captain. The assistant managers are S. C. Abell '28 of St Albans, R. T. Holden '28 of Bennington and W. F. Reagan '28 of Pittsfield, Mass.

"Doc" is a member of Delta Psi fraternity and of Gold Key and Key and Serpent. He has been generally active in college activities, has been on the basketball team for the last two seasons, and for the past year has been Assistant Manager of Baseball.

"Bill" is a member of Sigma Phi fraternity and of the honorary societies, Gold Key and Key and Serpent. In his Freshman year he served on the Faculty-Student Council and played class football and baseball and also Varsity baseball. Since then he has kept up his good going, playing on the Varsity football and baseball teams.

Abell is a member of Gold Key and of Key and Serpent and of Kappa Sigma fraternity and is on the staff of the 1928 Ariel. Holden is a member of Sigma Phi and belongs to Gold Key and Key and Snake and is one of the assistant managers of the CYNIC. Reagan is also a member of Gold Key and of Key and Snake and is the Business Manager of next year's Ariel; he is a member of Phi Mu Delta.

Green coat sweaters with collars and with regulation baseball V's have been awarded to the following men: H. A. Prentice of Burlington, W. J. Morse of Middletown, Conn., H. A. Randall of Waterbury, A. H. Fogg of Burlington, J. A. Smith of Dedham, Mass., R. S. Aronson of Rutland, R. L. Thompson of Proctor, L. E. Roark of East Barre, A. A. Valenti of New Bedford, Mass. R W Schoppe of St Johnsbury, F W Guild of Lebanon, N H., D C Moriarty of Waitafield, and J. T. Conway of New Bedford, Mass.

DEAN BROWN OF YALE COMMENCEMENT SEAKER

With the completion of four years work the graduating class of 1926 went out the next largest class in the history of the University. The academic procession moved across the campus at ten o'clock led by Dr David Marvin, Marshal of the day, and by M. B. Cummings, Ph. D., marshal of faculties, Charles Frederick Black '07 marshal of alumni, Donald Miller Clark, marshal for medical students, and M E Mower, marshal for academic students.

Dean Charles Reynolds Brown, S. T. D., LL.D. of Yale Divinity School spoke to the 208 graduates on "What is Your Philosophy of Life?" Using the loud-speaker which has proved such a distinct addition to such gatherings, Dean Brown addressed a large audience, which completely filled the cage of the University gymnasium. He was introduced by President Bailey who also announced the students of high standing, awarded prizes and conferred the honorary, advanced and academic degrees.

DEAN BROWN'S ADDRESS

On the platform decorated with the University colors, and with the portraits of Ira Allen and Mrs. Coolidge, given at this Commencement by Darwin P. Kingsley hanging above, Dean Brown spoke as follows.

Three Motives in Life

There are three primary motives in life, "the desire to get, the wish to keep and the willingness to share." Which course a man follows in his thinking determines from the start what he will be. "From the best story book in the world" comes the story of the Good Samaritan. "What's yours is mine, I'll take it" was the philosophy of the robber on the Jericho road. He typifies a certain group of men which are still very prevalent, with the frequency of crime waves, both those recognized as such.

(Continued on page 2)

12 ELECTED AT PHI BETA KAPPA MEETING

The annual meeting of the Vermont chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was held in the Old Mill Friday morning at 11:30. The nomination and voting on members of 1926 for membership resulted in the following candidates: Dexter Butterfield, Burlington; Alice B. Crowe, Randolph; Miriam L. Dailey, Derby; Jennie Fibish, Montpelier, Helen M. French, East St Johnsbury; Charles H Kimball, Essex Junction, Marshall E Mower, Burlington; Lois E. Robinson, South Hero, E. L. Tracy, Rutland; C O Veinott, Burlington; and H. F. Wilson, Bethel. The total membership from 1926 was fourteen, including David B. Hall, Burlington; and Beatrice Herberg of Burlington, who were admitted at mid-years.

In addition to these Laurel Samson of Burlington was elected at that time as of the class of 1925. From the faculty ranks Professor A B. Myrick of the Romance Language department was made an honorary member.

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

Following are the names and scores of the men who qualified as rifle marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 2)

...ll. There ...here ...ere ...re ...e offering excellen... coming acquainte... new girls, also are ... all who go. T... leadership of Eli... membership and ... increasing.

For reserves Garvey and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

...ETE ...POSITIONS

...a new system ...board members ...class. A series ...n eight to ten ... be held begin... ...mber 27. All ... may enter these ...be given assign... ... the prescribed ... will be judged ...of the Board on ... in material as... ...r, and on their ...acts and write... ...ed and gram... ...story. The men ...st qualified in ...given places on ...the end of the ...

...most of this op... ...places on the ...unities for ad... ...n open and will ...year work has ...lose touch with ...the different phases of college ...

All Freshmen interested are ...aged to come out for the ...

...ly

A minor improvement ...grounds has been ...concrete walk be... ...Row to Morrill ... ...wade through th... ...called South ... ...because ther... ...Hall.

Number 41 of a Series

288 Degrees Conferred at 2nd Largest Commencement

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] the many elite subjects of great [illegible] value.

The parents and the faculty are responsible [illegible] those who may be their charges. Where social evil may [illegible] be brought for the welfare of [illegible] about a supervised or special [illegible] system of responsibility for [illegible] to what should be permitted [illegible] the [illegible] college student an attitude [illegible] here is always some [illegible] a [illegible] the matter of all kinds of [illegible] and [illegible] everything is done [illegible] [illegible] Dean Brown went on [illegible] [illegible] speaking in his hand a five [illegible] representing the reward for [illegible] [illegible] really attained, that [illegible] [illegible] was [illegible] for every [illegible] [illegible] but he was [illegible] [illegible] the use of it by the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] He asked you if for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] much of [illegible] effort has been used in its [illegible] [illegible] the preparations for [illegible] are equally great.

Samaritan Has Advantage

[illegible] [illegible] of the story is [illegible] [illegible] the actions of the Good Samaritan, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] At [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] were ought [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] with what he had at hand [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the unfortunate man and gave aid he had himself for his [illegible] "Most of us," said Dean Brown, "are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SENIORS GOWN LAFAYETTE AND ALLEN AT SUNSET

W. M. Wilbur Offers Address to Ira Allen on Class Pilgrimage —J. J. O'Connell Honors Lafayette

[illegible] evening the Com- [illegible] was ushered in [illegible] the statues of Ira [illegible] the ceremony be- [illegible] contrary to former [illegible] in cap and gown [illegible] and marched first [illegible] of Ira Allen on the center [illegible] W. M. Wilbur of Richmond [illegible] on for the class. In [illegible] said:

"[illegible] of material things we [illegible] of the debt which we [illegible] who made our Univer- [illegible]. To his remarkable fore- [illegible] are indebted for this univer- [illegible] when there were very [illegible] of higher learning in [illegible] and when the chances [illegible] of this one seemed ex- [illegible]. The spot which he [illegible] here on the top of this hill. [illegible] beautiful Champlain Valley [illegible] before us, and our own [illegible] Mountains behind us, is the [illegible] spot in our state. To- [illegible] would be easy for one to say, 'What a beautiful site,' but for Ira [illegible] see the possibilities when [illegible] extended from the lake [illegible] Mount Mansfield was a more [illegible] task.

"The more we know of this man [illegible] greater is our respect for him, [illegible] the work which he did for our [illegible] and University. Much of his [illegible] work was done before he [illegible] the age of 30 and practically [illegible] before 40, yet his fame is to be an [illegible] fame. To every Vermont man [illegible] woman the traditions centering [illegible] Ira Allen are very dear, and it [illegible] the duty of each and every one to [illegible] and perpetuate them, make [illegible] and more pregnant with mean- [illegible] and thus give to our founder some [illegible] measure of the homage which [illegible] now in coming to him.

"[illegible] we part, we have come here [illegible] figure of Ira Allen to tell him [illegible] as we go from the University we [illegible] with us not only the truth re- [illegible] and the knowledge gained, but [illegible] and greater spirit to carry on [illegible] struggle of the ages."

Raise Class Banner

The second event of the pilgrimage [illegible] the raising of the class banner [illegible] the campus flag pole. While the [illegible] sang a Vermont song the green [illegible] white emblem of 1926 floated [illegible] against the sunset as the signal that [illegible] Commencement was taking [illegible] at the University of Vermont.

Honor Lafayette

The class next marched to the statue [illegible] Lafayette on the north end of the [illegible] and with the members stand- [illegible] about in a circle J. J. O'Connell of [illegible] Lake, N. Y., spoke as follows:

"The name of General Lafayette is [illegible] to the heart of every American, [illegible] his memory has become increas- [illegible] bright with the passing years. [illegible] the age of 19 he had espoused the [illegible] of the colonies in their struggle [illegible] freedom, and from that time to [illegible] close of the war, history is replete [illegible] instances of his courage and de- [illegible] His feeling for us may well be [illegible] up in the words he himself [illegible] in a letter to the president of the [illegible] Congress, 'The moment I [illegible] of America, I loved her; the [illegible] I knew she was fighting for [illegible] I burnt with a desire to bleed [illegible] for her.' These words, which are [illegible] to be a tribute to America and [illegible] are in reality even more a [illegible] to the sentiments and ideals [illegible] man who uttered them.

"It is almost exactly 102 years ago [illegible] that General Lafayette gave evi- [illegible] of being especially interested in [illegible] institution by laying the corner- [illegible] of the building which we now [illegible] lately call 'The Old Mill.'

"The act of the laying of the corner- [illegible] which took place on June 28, [illegible] before a large assembly of stu- [illegible] professors and townspeople, had [illegible] much deeper significance to [illegible] than the actual performance [illegible] at would indicate. He saw very [illegible] what a powerful influence the [illegible] national machinery of the country would have upon its future development. He also urged, with a degree of foresight not common at that period, the importance of enlarging and improving institutions designed to instruct and enlighten the rising generation. In our day, even with our advanced educational technique and good teaching facilities, the importance of improving and enlarging our system is still paramount. We who are about to graduate should realize that upon us rests the greater part of the decision as to whether our universities are justifying their existence, and it is our actions, and the way we meet our problems in later life, that will show whether or not our education has been a success.

"And so, as we are at the end of our college days, it is quite fitting that we should pause and do honor to this man to whom we owe so much. Let us endeavor to keep his memory bright in our hearts, as it should be in the heart of every American worthy of the name."

AKRAIA CHAPTER HOLDS BANQUET AND INITIATES

The roof garden of the Hotel Vermont was the scene of the annual luncheon of Akraia Chapter of Mortar Board, Friday at noon. Alene Berthiolf of the graduating class acted as toastmistress, and called on several alumnae for short speeches and impromptus. Immediately after the luncheon initiation was held for Madine Boardman Jennings and Mildred Best Grismer, two Akraia alumnae. Several members of the college chapter were present and in addition the following alumnae: Dean Marian Patterson, Miss Cummings and Miss Storms, Marjorie Luce Helen Stiles French, Florence Cummings Arms, Marion Way, Janice Byington, Katherine McSweeney, Irene Allen, Anna Smith all of Burlington, Mrs. Mildred Best of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Mrs. Jeannette Lyman of Middlefield, Conn., Mary Holman of Washington, D. C., Lucy Lucchina of Barre, Vt., Mrs Helen Rutter Hills of Grand Rapids, Mich., Madeline Whitcomb of Cape May Court House, N. J., Mrs. Madine Boardman Jennings of New Rochelle, N. Y.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN TO MEET AT HOPKINS HALL

The Vermont Division of the American Association of University Women will hold their third annual meeting this year, June 28 to July 1, at Bishop Hopkins Hall where Miss Brenda Cameron, the principal, will be hostess. The meetings will be open to all college women in the state and it is anticipated that a group of some thirty or forty will be house guests at the Hall for the entire period while some 200 other women will come and go between the various sessions.

Tuesday the 29th will be special reunion day when the various alumnae associations in the state will meet. The Smith, Wellesley, Mt. Holyoke, Middlebury and University of Vermont representatives will have their own group meetings while the "Rainbow Division" will be made up of alumnae whose colleges have but few representatives in the state. Following these meetings there will be a buffet luncheon and several of the guests of honor will speak.

On the afternoon of Tuesday there will be an out-of-door play given and in the evening President Woolley of Mt. Holyoke will make an address. Wednesday morning there will be an informal discussion of "Educational Interests in Vermont." Thursday afternoon Miss Marion Gary, President of the Vermont State Division will discuss "What the A. A. U. W. does in Vermont" and in the evening an address will be given by Dean Philip C. Nash of Antioch College, "A Five-Years' Experience at Antioch."

For your banquets and reunions use
FRESH FRUIT ORANGEADE
It's delicious
Only $1.00 gallon, delivered
BOOTH'S DRUG STORE
College St. — Opp. Park

FRATERNAL CHAPTERS HOLD ANNUAL REUNIONS

Saturday evening, was, according to [illegible] reserved for fraternity re- [illegible] unions. In nearly every case the annual banquet was served at the chapter house or hotel, although several served informal teas in the afternoon.

Lambda Iota held its 90th annual meeting Saturday night with the chapter serving a banquet to about fifty actives and alumni.

Sigma Phi held its 81st reunion at the house with about forty-five present. Many alumni were present including Judge Barnes of Chicago, and a number of recent graduates.

Phi Delta Theta met with about forty-five of its alumni at its chapter house an College Street for its annual meeting Saturday night.

Delta Psi held its reunion in the new Goodrich Memorial Home with many alumni present including D. P. Kingsley '81, guest of honor of the University during Commencement. There were about forty present besides the active chapter.

Sigma Nu had about twenty present from the alumni and nearly all of the active chapter at its reunion held at the home of the fraternity on Williams Street.

Kappa Sigma held a business meeting in connection with an informal smoker as its annual meeting. Lyman C. Hunt president of the Alumni Association, who was presiding officer.

Phi Mu Delta entertained alumni and actives at the Champlain Club with a dance and banquet. Besides Vermont alumni present, was Ronald Bamford of Connecticut Agricultural College who was granted a master's degree in Science at Commencement.

Several alumni were present at the Zeta Chi Fraternity reunion held at 55 Loomis Street.

The new home of Sigma Alpha Chi was the scene of a rather large gathering of alumni and friends who returned for the annual meeting.

Alpha Tau Omega also held its reunion at the chapter house on College Street, Saturday evening.

Sororities

Lambda Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta held June-spread at the chapter house with 50 alumnae present. Impromptu speeches were given, with Margaret Hazen and Harriet Elliot responding for 1926.

Mrs. B. F. Lutman '12 acted as toastmistress at the Delta Delta Delta banquet held at the Hotel Vermont. The engaged girls who stood up were Beatrice Herberg and Katherine Lang both of the class of 1926.

Many alumnae from out of town were present at the annual banquet of Pi Beta Phi held at the Hotel Vermont roof garden. Erminie Pollard '24 of Proctorsville acted as toastmistress. The engagements of Ruth Dillingham '29 to Frederick Winslow, Phi Delta Theta '26 and Jane Howe '26 to Robert Patrick, Phi Delta Theta '25 were announced.

The mothers and alumnae of Alpha Xi Delta were entertained at the home of Marion Way on South Prospect Street. A silver sandwich plate was given to the fraternity by the Senior class. The engagement of Marion Kidder '24 to Ralph Leonard of Brandon was announced.

Alpha Chi Omega had informal supper at the Golden Pheasant Saturday night. About twenty alumnae and actives were present.

Sigma Gamma local sorority, served tea Saturday afternoon at the home of Eleanor Davison '28.

ELLSWORTH'S
The home of fine watches and diamonds
Successor to A. G. Mansur
71 CHURCH STREET

A Happy Summer Vacation
• • •
PEOPLES DEPARTMENT STORE
29 Church Street

GRADUATION GIFTS ARE IN ORDER
One long lasting memory of the University of Vermont and the friends made there can be most appropriately expressed by presents marked with the University seal.
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
has an interesting variety to show you.

Class Day Exercises Take Place on Green

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] events the death of Dean Tinkham of the Medical College, the election of Marian Patterson as Dean of Women, the new chapel the success of the endowment fund, and many other things of more local interest.

Campus Oration

"College may not enable you to earn more money, but it should teach you how to get more out of life." These were the words which were given as a keynote to the Campus oration. A college life which has not "enriched our minds, enlarged our experiences, and broadened our outlook upon life," was to the speaker not an ideal college career. College life is pleasant and its passing is to be regretted, but the future is as desirable, "the best is yet to be."

Boulder Oration

The representative of the men's senior honorary society likened the forming of the Vermont student to the [illegible] which produced the symmetry of the U. V. M. Boulder. He said: "Each course we have passed has ground down one more ragged edge on the intellectual side of the boulder. Each athletic team upon which we have played has helped to round out our physical and initiative qualities. Participation in literature, dramatics, debating, student government and military training has aided in shaping our general personality. Membership in honorary societies Scabbard and Blade, Phi Delta Rho, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Mortar Board, and greatest of all, the Boulder Society, has developed the quality of public service and leadership.

"Presently this small and relatively light glacier will retreat into the past

(Continued on page 5)

[illegible] WILL
[illegible] There
[illegible] there
[illegible] there
[illegible] there
[illegible] offering excellen[illegible]
[illegible] coming acquaintes[illegible]
[illegible] new girls, also are [illegible]
[illegible] all who go. T[illegible]
[illegible] leadership of Elit[illegible]
[illegible] membership and act[illegible]
[illegible] increasing.

For reserves Gerrity and Robinson [illegible] guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

[illegible] the names and scores of the men who qualified as rifle marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 134; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 3)

[illegible] the different phases of college [illegible]

All Freshmen interested are [illegible] aged to come out for the w[illegible]

A minor improvement [illegible] grounds has been [illegible] concrete walk le[illegible] Row to Morrill [illegible] wade through th[illegible] called South [illegible] because the[illegible] Hall.

Number 41 of a Series

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] NEWSPAPER [illegible] UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the
NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

[illegible] published every Saturday [illegible] year. Entered [illegible] 1912 a year, delivered [illegible] United States. Single copies [illegible]

[illegible] Business Manager [illegible] Burlington Post Office as [illegible] at special rate of [illegible] Act of [illegible] 1920

[illegible]
[illegible] '27
[illegible] '27
HELEN E. CRANDALL '27
Managing Editor
[illegible] '28
[illegible] '28
VINA B. RUGG '27
Associate Editor
MARION V. TAYLOR '28
Managing Editor
VICTOR R. PERRY '28
Intercollegiate Editor
LORETTA JENNINGS '27
Women's Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] '29 Catherine Smith '28
[illegible] '29 Lois Bagley '27
[illegible] '28 [illegible] '27
[illegible] '29 Margaret Burick '29
Robert M. Tracy '29 [illegible] Margie '28
Assistant Editors
WILLIAM M. LOCKWOOD '27
Business Manager
[illegible] H. MARTIN '27
Advertising Manager
[illegible] '28
Assistant Managers

[illegible] and undergraduates are heartily [illegible] to [illegible]. All communications should be signed by the writer whose name will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-chief and delivered to the Editorial Room by Wednesday noon. Any [illegible] should be handed in by Thursday noon. Any [illegible] may be telephoned to 762 before 9 p. m. Thursday

In charge of this issue
HELEN E. CRANDALL
News Editor
V. B. RUGG
Assistant Manager

Vol. 44 June 26, 1926 No. 32

Another Commencement and another class gone out into the, as we are told, cold hard and cruel world—a class which, throughout its four years' span has worked and played and perhaps marked time with its contemporaries, and thus endeared itself to them but which has also been steadily preparing itself for this time, the time when it shall step into the niche a little higher up than the average which is waiting outside to receive it.

We are sorry to see it go. Not only because we are losing an intimate association with esteemed friends, but because its passage is a stroke of the scythe which brings our own classes nearer the end of college life and nearer to a somewhat vague and dubious prospect, a prospect which many of us would defer if it could be done without discredit.

To the Class of '26 which in its career has reached that critical point which we approach in apprehension, because it has earned our respect and admiration we extend our wishes for success.

THE MILL.

Some time ago there appeared in the Cynic an article entitled "The Old Mill," a declaration of protest against the uniformity of the college product and the methods which bring this uniformity about. The writer has likened American colleges to mills which grind exceeding fine, stifling budding individuality and dwarfing potentiality great personality. The exceptional individual the writer complains, hasn't a chance in the American college of today. He is made to conform to a type which is not above the level of the average individual in the mill. He is brought down to the common ground.

This sort of complaint is significant because it is the complaint voiced by a certain type of student all over the country, and implies an outlook which is apparently gaining in vogue and popularity. In spite of this fact, however, it is an outlook with which the Cynic feels itself justified in taking issue.

An outcry such as that voiced in the Old Mill article is essentially a cry of youth and immaturity; a cry of a younger generation just broken away from the apron strings of the old, losing track of the larger social considerations in the contemplation of its own nascent self-dependence.

The average undergraduate school is a pre-social institution. It is more important that it turn out good citizens than that it turn out Bolshevic scholars. If the administration does not, in certain cases, encourage the acceptance of revolutionary doctrines or the giving up of old beliefs, it is because it realizes that it must not too completely estrange its potential citizens from the established order of things, thus destroying that spirit of unity which is so necessary to any social group.

To those who feel that insistence upon uniformity is robbing them of their mental capacity and individuality, it may be said that the true intellectual and the true scholar are not so easily stopped. Mental capacity is born, not bred. If a man is capable of thinking problems through to a solution, he will go on thinking in spite of any sort of restrictions. He cannot help it. And if a man has the true desire to learn, he will go on learning when he is finished with undergraduate school. There is danger in a society of too many scholars, and of too many philosophers. Why not let only the best, "best by test," continue?

As to the uniformity of the social and everyday side of college life, that also is a good and proper thing. Only through uniformity of social usage and outlook can there be bred the spirit so necessary to any society, the spirit of loyalty to the group, of working together, of partial submersion of self and self interest. Here again the thinking person, while he realizes that the way of his group is but one of many possible ways—some a little better perhaps, some a little worse—sees that it is nevertheless a working basis upon which he can act in the routine things of life. It is a truism that great men do not rebel at their environment—they rise superior to it.

The Cynic stands in support of the Mill. For this sort of a mill has soft and pliable grinders, which can pulverize only softer and more pliable things than they. There are many hard and dependable beans which go through the mill unscathed.

NEW COURSE OFFERED IN VERMONT HISTORY

Many important historic events occurred in 1776 and 1777 which are being recalled by celebrations both state and national. In view of this fact the Department of History is arranging for the coming year a Sesqui-Centennial Course upon the History of Vermont, including the University.

Hon. Walter H. Crockett, the historian of Vermont, whose writings in this field should be known to every one interested in the subject, has been secured to give the course. He will deliver a series of lectures, one each week for which one hour's credit will be given.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

News Briefs

S. S. Kilby '29 of Weathersfield, Conn., was recently pledged Sigma Delta.

Entrance examinations were held June 16-18 in the physics lecture hall in the Williams Science Hall.

Carl Ottley of Seneca Castle, N. Y., was elected from the graduating class to serve on the Alumni Council.

Wallace Greene, U. V. M. '29 was admitted last Monday to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Greene of this city.

Miss Marjorie E. Luce, state leader of home demonstration agents; E. L. Ingalls, state club leader; H. A. Leland, county club leader; and Thomas Bradlee, director of Extension Service, have returned from Orleans County, where they attended a local leaders conference in Newport.

Dr. E. Van Alstine, agronomy specialist, has lately been working in Addison County.

Rev. Downey Delivers Baccalaureate Sermon

(Continued from page 1)

Rev. David George Downey, L. H. D., LL. D., pastor, editor, and writer. In a forceful and convincing discourse on "truer thinking and better living" he constantly stressed the great worth of personality. He considered the graduating class as a group particularly privileged and therefore of great moment in counter-balancing certain of the deplorable tendencies of the age; in special, the tendency toward mechanistic progress as the only or at least the dominating progress. Emerson was aptly quoted, "Things are in the saddle and ride mankind." Rev. Downey pointed out the insufficiency and general limitations of things seen as opposed to things unseen, saying that only the privileged see through the one, which is the symbol, to the other which is the thing symbolized.

Anyone Can See Obvious

"Anyone," said Mr. Downey, "can see the visible. It requires genius to see the invisible. 'Lo, I have felt a presence,' breathed the poet, Wadsworth, on passing through a woodland, and it was neither the wanderer who saw but the sensuous beauty of the scene, nor the scientist who classified its herbs and flowers, nor the forester who estimated its value in dollars and cents who owned that [illegible] the poet. About [illegible] ordinary things of [illegible] lies the opportunity [illegible] see, to develop the ey[illegible]

The preacher urged [illegible] the living God as [illegible] present and as speaking [illegible] terms of today—not [illegible] past, remote and unattainable. [illegible] iasm in religion was [illegible] a natural and highly [illegible] of the emotions just as [illegible] siasm so much more [illegible] athletics, business and [illegible]

"The first portrait that [illegible] Jesus, scratched on the [illegible] catacombs, shows him [illegible] ly visualize him, but in [illegible] herd attire, with vigor[illegible] turning from the wilderness [illegible] rescued lamb upon his [illegible] was this Jesus, youthful [illegible] vital, and not the Jesus [illegible] and wisdom and beauty [illegible] the words of righteous [illegible] at the scribes and Pharisees [illegible] the money lenders from [illegible]

Personality Important

"The greatest thing [illegible] personality. The world moves by the impact of fit and prepared personalities. Behind every great [illegible] lies a personality." And the [illegible] lamented the way in which the world is trying to make things uniform, to wipe out the individual as such, and to reduce all to one common level.

"Equipment may be lacking, but a man may at least have manhood and a woman womanhood." In closing the Rev. Downey made this appealing and inspiring statement to the graduating class: "Seniors, obstacles are but stepping stones to better things; [illegible] but nerve the spirit of a man. Courage, plus vision, plus faith, plus enthusiasm, plus personality conquers all things."

ENGINEERS ELECT

At a meeting of the Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers A. R. Hill '27 was elected president; John R. Morton '27 was elected president; and Robert F. Moore was elected secretary-treasurer.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

After Graduation
▲ ▲ ▲
Gift money can be invested in a piece of jewelry that will be a fine remembrance for many years to come.
F. J. Preston & Son
"GIFTS THAT LAST"
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

Sports Clothes
for the
Summer Season
KNICKER SUITS
LINEN KNICKERS
WHITE SHIRTS
GOLF HOSE
SPORT JACKETS
NEW NECKWEAR
WHITE FLANNELS
ATHLETIC UNDERWEAR
STRAW HATS
♣ ♣ ♣
Miles & Perry Co.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

Class Day Exercises Take Place on Green

(Continued from page 3)

... and doubtful ice sheet will ... We are soon to face the ... which are larger and ... than our college prob... who were Boulder men ... the pledge taken with one ... our revered boulder to ... for what is clean, ... and best for the Uni...

Pipe Oration

... of the Pipe Oration is ... at Vermont. This year ... were of the long-stemmed ... as they were given out ... D. M. Rockwell, S. C. ... ouseholder, A. M. Church, ... Pipe Oration was de... ... speaker enumerated the ... the pipe as a dispeller of ... ettiness, and ill-will, and ... of peace from time im... It is," he said, "a peace-... fertile in meekness and so ... to the title of being blessed, ... quiet meditation, of for... understanding and of tol... This, then, is the spirit which ... strive to cultivate through ... ed of which has taken root ... ived during our four years' ... ideals under the guidance ... other institution and of our ...

... "Let us never forget the ... our last smoke together and ... symbolizes, and ever and ... time to come, as we think of ... our college on the hill, let ... anew and re-live this day ... as the last of the many, ... of pleasure and profit, that have ...

Class Poem

The class poem followed, given by ... Fifield:

... ement is a time for gladness
And a time for sadness, too,
... farewell to teachers,
... scenes and friends so true.

... years we've been at Ver...
Not a one do we regret —
... of learning and of serving,
Years we never can forget.

There were hours of work and worry,
There were hours of happy play;
And these make a checkered mem'ry
Which is mostly glad and gay.

We have learned to love the campus,
Lake Champlain and Mansfield's ...
In the years which are to follow
We shall cherish them as now.

We are passing on from college
To the great workshop of life;
There we'll meet with joys and sor...
There we'll cope with stress and strife.

We have learned from books and lec...
These are tools for future years;
And as sculptors we will use them,
Moving on through smiles or tears.

Now our lives are just before us
They are like unc arven stone
And our deeds will be engraven
Everywhere we chance to roam

Twenty-six will try to chisel
Bid its hands to do its will Only praises, honor glory
For the college on the hill

Address to Undergraduates

Another Boulder man Olney W ... Hill, gave the address to undergrad... uates He pictured the class in its undergraduate days as a reservoir storing up potentialities of service and wider influence for life after gradua... tion He said, "The proposition forms an equal equation We get out of it just what we put in during our under... graduate days."

Ivy Oration

A fitting climax to the exercises of the class is always to be found in the planting of the ivy It is a tangible symbol of the permanent union of the class with the University something which typifies the growing bond of memory between students and Alma Mater. To Frances Burditt fell the task of putting this into words

"For so many years," she said, "it has been the custom to mark the cele... bration of important events by some appropriate memorial. Thus the class of 1926 at this, its most important event, is following the tradition, estab... lished in 1894, by planting the ivy.

To us this little ivy is not merely a plant or a botany specimen, but it is the symbol which unites us in love and friendship to our Alma Mater.

Today this ivy looks small and weak yet it is filled with hopes and promises of greater days to come, and as it climbs upward ever clinging to Vermont it will continue to gain in strength and beauty We may com... pare our lives to the life of this little plant and likewise it is in our power to grow in truth and strength with our college traditions as a foundation

"Thus may our effort be felt, and, as the ivy each year does its part to make our University buildings more beautiful, may the class of 1926 through its service ever maintain the true Vermont spirit and make safe its future greatness"

The singing of Champlain concluded the class day exercises

McMAHON'S BREAD

Made of the highest grade bread flour, rich sweet milk and malt.

Wedding Specialties, Candies, Nuts, Fancy Cakes for Parties

McMahon's Bakery

32 Church St. Phone 134

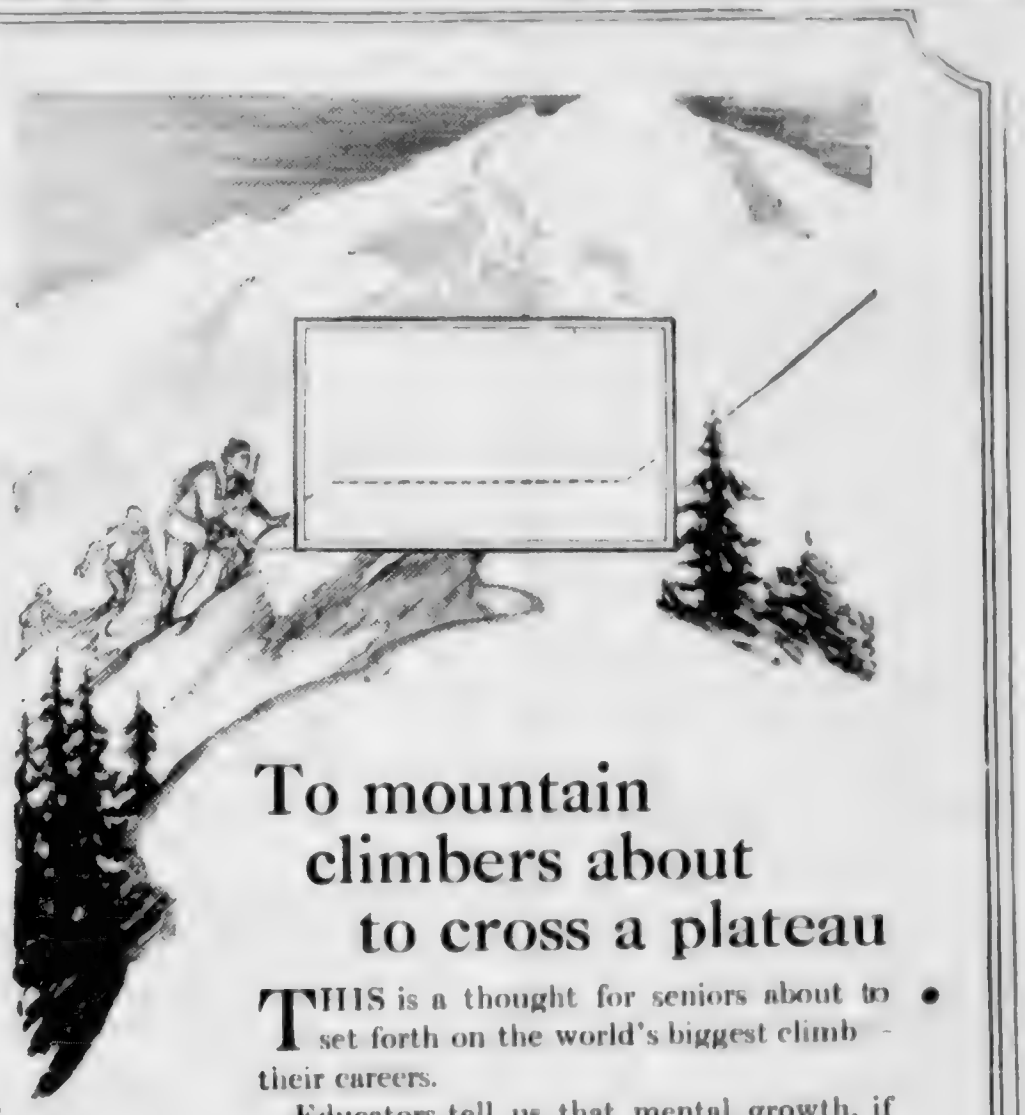
The Old Bee Hive

GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Silk Stockings that Wear

SHEER OR SERVICE WEIGHTS

$1.85, $1.95,
$2.25 or $2.50 Pr.



Sold exclusively here, and featured in all colors to match the costume.

All Parker Duofolds
Carried in stock at
Hobart J. Shanley & Co., Inc.
5 CHURCH ST.

RED 46 DEPT. STORE
"The Store of Progress"
BURLINGTON VERMONT

STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES

YOUNG'S HATS

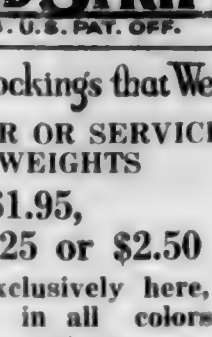
To mountain climbers about to cross a plateau

THIS is a thought for seniors about to set forth on the world's biggest climb — their careers.

Educators tell us that mental growth, if diagrammed, would show a succession of mountains and plateaus. Progress in industry, too, has its plateaus—the periods when you seem merely to be marking time.

But is it time lost? Older graduates, now executives in industry, say "No." They recall this as really a chance to find one's self, to get one's second wind for the next climb ahead.

And they recall the fact that this whole journey, up the mountain and across the plain, is a great adventure with each man blazing his own trail, working out his own individuality in the various technical and commercial activities of modern business.



Published for the Communication Industry by

Western Electric Company

Makers of the Nation's Telephones

Number 60 of a Series

... a. points ...
... ts for fifty ...
... ief activity in th...
... the winter, the ...
... clude snowshoein...
... ng Freshmen, pa...
... pperclassmen are ...
... these sports. Th...
... offering excellen...
... ecoming acquainte...
... ew girls, also are ...
... all who go. ...
... adership of El...
... embership and ...
... creasing.

For reserves Garrupy and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The back... field is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson ... ch. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

... of the men who qualified as ri... marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynol... 215; William M. Lockwood, ...; B... ham J. Humphrey, 196; ... Nye, 194; Rose L. Clark, 190; ... D. Marshall, 187; and Lawr... Averill, 186. The require... qualification ... 186 po... possible 250. The ... were 200 yard... kneeling and ... prone. The ...

208 Degrees Conferred at 2nd Largest Commencement

(Continued from page 3)

Special Honors in French

Marjorie Parkhurst
Thesis: The Philosophy of Anatole France as Expressed Through the Characters of his Novels.

Constance Weaver
Thesis: The Influence of Cartesian Philosophy on the Classicalization of the Tragedies of Corneille.

Special Honors in Latin

Thesis, Emma Mathewson
Thesis: The Uses of the Genitive Case of Cause, "Bellum Gallicum"

Special Honors in Mathematics

Ernest Ivey Butterfield
Thesis: On the Conformal Transformation Defined by the Equation $w = \frac{1}{2}(z + \frac{1}{z})$

Clara Bradley Crowe
Thesis: A Study of Two Transformations With Special Application to the Ellipse

George H. Walker Prize in Agriculture

Harry Samuel White

Philo Sherman Bennett Prize

Marshall Ellis Mower

The Fred T. Kidder Medal

Awarded for character and leadership

Ernest Ivey Butterfield

HONORS IN MEDICINE

Cum Laude

Charles Coniff Joyce, B. S.
John Brennan Horner, B. S.
Edgar Franklin Stone, A. B.
Charles Theodore Schechtman
Frank Lawrence Fletcher

Prizes for Special Merit in Medicine

First Prize—Charles Coniff Joyce, B. S.

Second Prize—John Brennan Horner, B. S.

Woodbury Prize for Greatest Proficiency in Clinical Work

Stanley Carroll Pettit

The Doctor Kidder Memorial

Given in honor of Dr. F. T. Kidder for highest standing in the four years in the College of Medicine.

Charles Coniff Joyce, B. S.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS

First Lieutenants of Medical Reserve Corps, United States Army

Egbert James Bailey, Orange, N. J.
Paul Hemingway Brown, East Haven, Conn
Donald Miller Clark, Rutland
Paul Dennison Clark, Woodstock
Weston Chadwick Hammond, Rutland
John Brennan Horner, West Pawlet
Charles Coniff Joyce, Proctor
Horace Page Marvin, Essex Junction
Richard Sargent O'Connell, Middlebury
Stanley Carroll Pettit, Underhill
Charles Theodore Schechtman, New Britain, Conn
Roland Leonard Smith, Holyoke, Mass
Edgar Franklin Stone, Los Angeles, Calif

First Lieutenants of Medical Reserve Corps Who Will Receive Commissions at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., on July 22, 1926.

Jeremiah Lawrence Buckley, Saranac Lake, N. Y.
Simeon Louis Hebert, Rochester, N. H.
Francis Joseph McEvoy, Bellows Falls
Walton Bruce Smith, Manchester, N. H.

Second Lieutenants of Infantry in Reserve Corps, United States Army

Edward Carlton Abbott, Woodstock
Frank Edgar Bartlett, Richmond
Bernard Bates Bosworth, Bristol
Howard Westgate Chellis, Meriden, N. H.
Nathan Dauchy, Townshend
James Norton Follett, Townshend
Raymond Smith Gates, Morrisville
Russell Abram Gray, Derby Line
Maurice Franklin Goodrich, Richmond
William Joseph Herron, Saranac Lake, N. Y.
Ben Maurice Johnson, Jericho
Myer Katz, Burlington
Thomas Jefferson Ketchum, Pittsford
John Henry Lewis, Boylston, Mass.
Charles Delwin Lord, St. Johnsbury
Edward William Moreton, Brattleboro
Henry Robbins Norton, Proctor
Frederick Joseph O'Brien, Burlington
Paul Lisle Rider, Bellows Falls
Maurice John Robertson, Passumpsic
Rudolph Walter Sikora, Burlington
Russell Buck Sinclair, Johnson
Gordon Walter Southall, Bennington
Robert Lucius Thompson, Proctor
Edward Lawrence Tracy, Rutland
Arthur Knox Tudhope, Grand Isle
Rupert Remi Valley, St. Albans
George Frederick Ward, Rutland
William Murray Wilbur, Wells River
Grenville Spear Wilcox, Newport

To Receive Commissions

Daniel Richard Casey, Richmond
Henry Clinton Conlin, Winooski
Joseph James O'Connell, Jr., Saranac Lake, N. Y.
Adelard Romeo Beaulieu, Burlington

TEACHER TRAINING COURSE

Diplomas for Two Years Course

Awarded by the State Board of Education

Edna Marie Bartlett, Underhill
Blandine Bernadette Beauchemin, Stowe
Thelma Christina Browe, Burlington
Theresa Elizabeth Burritt, Bristol
Marie Rose Francis Charbonneau, Vergennes
Florence Ethel Cocroft, Burlington
Mary Alice Conlon, Burlington
Helen Margaret Dullahan, Burlington
Esther Ursula Fletcher, Chester
Gertrude Mary Gilligan, Middlebury
Lydia Esther Goss, Moretown
Elsie Maud Gray, Burlington
Bernice Evelyn Hatch, Wallingford
Edna Lucile Hill, Bur...
Marguerite Mae Hu... Depot
Grace Edna Kimball, ...
Helen Anne Laduke, ...
Ann Charlotte Lafayette, ...
Elsie Eleanor Ma... Haven
Linna Mae Patterson, ...
Vaun Carr Pierce, Wa...
Margaret Elizabeth ...
Helen Mary Ranson, ...
Margaret Belle Sears, ...
Ethel Pearle Symes, ...
Virginia Adelaide Thomas, ... stock
Rae Agnes Tobias, Grand ...
Clara Edna Whitney, ...
Florence Martha Williams, ...
Ruth Lander Willis, ...
Ruth Goddard Young, ...

Correct Shoe Repairing
AT LOWEST PRICES
J. A. Sikora 188 Bank St

Graduation Presents?
Come in and see us for suggestions
CENTRAL DRUG CO.
Cor. Church and College Sts.

P. A. throws pipe-peeves for a loss

AND the bigger they are, the harder they fall, as Shakespeare or somebody said. You can prove this beyond question with a jimmy-pipe and a tidy red tin of Prince Albert. Any time. Anywhere. As a matter of fact, tackling pipe-grouches is P. A.'s regular business.

Cool and sweet and fragrant, P. A.'s wonderful smoke comes curling up the pipe-stem, filling your system with a new brand of pipe-pleasure. You smoke—and smile! For the first time in your life, you've found the one tobacco that scales to your blueprint of bliss.

Slow or fast, no matter how you feed it, P. A. never bites your tongue or parches your throat. Those important items were taken care of in the original plans by the Prince Albert process. Get yourself a tidy red tin of this friendly tobacco today.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926 R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company Winston-Salem N. C.

ADVANCED DEGREES

Masters of Science

BOTANY

[illegible] ford B S

[illegible] Cytology and Sporo [illegible] F. Violet Hybrids.

[illegible] White. B. S

[illegible] Sexual Reproduction in a [illegible] Forest

DAIRY HUSBANDRY

[illegible] ester Bond. B. S

[illegible] A comparison of the Bac[illegible] Count and the Methylene [illegible] Test and Some Fac[illegible] the Quality of Fresh [illegible]

[illegible] Leonard McBirney, B. S.

[illegible] Calcium and Phosphorus [illegible] Dairy Cows.

[illegible] Schneider, B. S

[illegible] The Effect of Certain Fac[illegible] Digestibility of Feed Nu[illegible] the Dairy Cow.

[illegible] David Aplin, B. S.

[illegible] The Value of Cocoa Meal [illegible] Constituent of Livestock Rations.

PHYSICS

[illegible] Lee Walbridge, B. S

[illegible] Volta-Electric Property of [illegible]

Masters of Arts

EDUCATION

[illegible] W Thomas, A. B.

[illegible] School Publicity in the [illegible] Community.

[illegible] Cook Weaver, A. B.

[illegible] The Consolidation of City [illegible] Management.

FRENCH

[illegible] Mary Cyril, A. B.

[illegible] The Tradition of Molière [illegible] French Comedy of the Eight[illegible] Century.

GERMAN

[illegible] Christina Myhrberg, A. B.

[illegible] Das Romantische in den [illegible] Dramen Gerhart Haupt[illegible]

POLITICAL SCIENCE

[illegible] Arthur Y. Sargent, B. S.

[illegible] Reorganization of State [illegible] Administration in Vermont.

DEGREES HONORIS CAUSA

Master of Science in Medicine

George Riley Anderson, M. D., Sur[illegible] Brattleboro

Master of Arts in Music

William Warren Shaw, C. E., [illegible]cher of Voice, New York City

Doctor of Science

[illegible]liam Stuart, Specialist in Plant [illegible]breeding, Washington

Doctor of Humane Letters

[illegible]harles Reynolds Brown, Author [illegible]nd Preacher, New Haven, Conn.

Doctor of Laws

William Wheelock Peet, Financial [illegible] and Diplomatic Agent of Mis[illegible] in Turkey, Constantinople

COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

Doctors of Medicine

Robert James Bailey, Orange, N. J.

Robert Francis Bradish, A. B., St. [illegible]

Paul Hominway Brown, East Haven, [illegible]

Jeremiah Lawrence Buckley, Sara[illegible] Lake, N. Y.

Bertha Alice Chase, Burlington

Michise Anthony Cirillo, Troy, N. Y.

Donald Miller Clark, Rutland

Paul Dennison Clark, Woodstock

Raymond Kellogg Farnham, A. B., [illegible]ham

Frank Lawrence Fletcher, cum [illegible] Burlington

Estelle Julia Foote, A. B., Middle[illegible]

Weston Chadwick Hammond, Rut[illegible]

Simeon Louis Hebert, Rochester

Arthur Morgan Hill, Winooski

Leon Brennan Horner, B. S., cum [illegible] West Pawlet

Charles Coniff Joyce, B. S., cum [illegible]er, Proctor

Francis Joseph McEvoy, Bellows [illegible]

[illegible] Page Marvin, B. S., Essex [illegible]n

Richard Sargent O'Connell, A. B., [illegible]sburg

Stanley Carroll Pettit, Underhill

Robert Frank Rich, Ph. B., Burling[illegible]

[illegible] Theodore Schechtman, cum [illegible] New Britain, Conn.

Ronald Leonard Smith, Holyoke, [illegible]

Walton Bruce Smith, Burlington

Sam Sparhawk, Jr., A. B., Burling[illegible]

Edgar Franklin Stone, A. B., cum laude, Los Angeles, Calif

CANDIDATES FOR GRADUATION
1926

College of Agriculture

BACHELORS OF SCIENCE IN AGRICULTURE

William Jarius Clark, Craftsbury
Ransom Graves Dunning, Burlington
James Norton Follett, Townshend
Russell Abram Gray, Derby Line
Philip Boswell Hodgdon, Cabot
Dimitry Timofeyevich Petruchuk, Buffalo, N. Y
Arthur Ladd Stone, Williamstown
Ranald Boyles Turner, Montpelier
George Philip Tuxbury, West Newbury
Harry Ross Varney, Bristol
George Russel Ware, Irasburg
Harry Lemuel White, Burlington
Arthur Brickett Wilder, Jr., Woodstock

BACHELORS OF SCIENCE IN HOME ECONOMICS

Nellie Elizabeth Clogston, Bradford
Velma Marieta Coburn (as of 1925), Milton
Miriam Laura Dailey, cum laude, Derby
Helen Marguerite French, cum laude, East St. Johnsbury
Gertrude Alice Hurst, Newport
Agnes Jean Innes, Thomaston, Conn
Kathryn Ellsworth Lang, Cambridge
Harriet Wilma Leach, New Haven
Florence Elizabeth Lewis, Poultney
Ann Catherine McGee, Natick, Mass
Etta Mae Parsons, Bethel
Gladys Merrill Read, Burlington
Marcia Doane Sisco, Coventry
Carolyn Jameson Strong, Northfield

College of Engineering

BACHELORS OF SCIENCE IN ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

Walter Irving Barrows, South Royalton
Daniel Richard Casey, Richmond
Robert Nelson Emerson Cass, Burlington
Howard Westgate Chellis, Meriden, N. H.
Olney Walton Hill, Burlington
John Henry Jackson, Burlington
Ben Maurice Johnson, Jericho
John Henry Lewis, Boylston, Mass
Perry Pember Nichols, Randolph
Frederick Joseph O'Brien, Burlington
Rudolph Walter Sikora, Burlington
Rupert Remi Valley, St. Albans
Cyril George Velnott, cum laude, Burlington
Clifford Merrill Wallis, Waitsfield

BACHELORS OF SCIENCE IN MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

Robert Penniman Barnes, West Windsor
Edwin Isaac Drury, Essex Junction
Raymond Smith Gates, Morrisville
Clifford Carleton Hronek (as of 1925), Springfield
Roswell John Osborn, Mr. Vernon, N. Y.
Ellis Adams Wheeler, Barkhamsted, Conn
Grenville Spear Wilcox, Newport
Frederick Beebe Winslow, Ypsilanti, Mich.

BACHELORS OF SCIENCE IN CIVIL ENGINEERING

David Brewer Hall, cum laude, Burlington
James Lawrie Hibbard, Newbury
Thomas Jefferson Ketchum, Pittsford
Charles Harmon Kimball, cum laude, Essex Junction
Charles Delwin Lord, St Johnsbury
Russell Buck Sinclair, Johnson
Robert Lucius Thompson, Proctor
Edward Lawrence Tracy, cum laude, Rutland

College of Arts and Sciences

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN CHEMISTRY

Alfred Edward Brooks, Burlington

BACHELORS OF SCIENCE IN COMMERCE AND ECONOMICS

Allene May Bertholf, Brooklyn, N. Y.
James Aloysius Bradley, Freeland, Pa.
Doris Atwater Dodds, Burlington
Anthony Joseph Dougherty, Audenried, Pa.
Julia Frances Fassett, Enosburg Falls
[illegible] Margaret [illegible] Smith, Hero
William Burnett Gannon, Springfield, Mass.
Maurice Franklin Goodrich, Richmond
Fred William Guild, Lebanon, N. H.
Catherine Belle Harris, Stowe
William Joseph Herron Jr, Saranac Lake, N. Y.
Barbara Jane Howe, Burlington
Chauncey Clifford Jaynes, Johnson
Myer Katz, Burlington
Mary Elizabeth Killelea, Leominster, Mass
Donald Fraser Kimball, Enosburg Falls
Raymond George Kinsler, Springfield, Mass.
Arland Damon Lamb, Randolph Center
Frank Jason Lillie, Montpelier
Vivian Pauline Mongeon, Winooski
Edward William Moreton, Brattleboro
Henry Robbins Norton, Proctor
Joseph James O'Connell, Jr., Saranac Lake, N. Y.
Paul Lisle Rider, Bellows Falls
Chester Bradley Russell, Springfield, Mass.
David Edwin Salmond (as of 1925), Perkinsville
Gillette Duncan Stephens (as of 1925), White River Junction
Joseph Thomas Tarpey, Fitchburg, Mass.
Rachel Matilda Virta, Proctor
Ruth Mary Wright, Vergennes

BACHELORS OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION

Pearl Marquis Aldrich, Burlington
Bertrand William Chapman, Springfield
Archibald Gladstone Gates, Manchester, N. H.
William Allen Newton, West Somerville, Mass.
Grace Hilda Norton, Bristol
*Clara Ethel Salls (as of 1925), Essex Junction
Rhoda Leona Smith, Greensboro Bend
*Margaret Ann Stuart (as of 1925), Manchester
Hilda Allen Walker (as of 1925), Burlington
William Murray Wilbur, Richmond
Abel John Mason Wyman, Starksboro
Waldo Ward Yarnall, Swarthmore, Pa.

BACHELORS OF SCIENCE

Robert Theodore Allen, Post Mills
Frank Fay Atwood, East Hardwick
Velma Mildred Connal, Newport Center
Frank E. Cormia, Milton
Robert Emmett Cox, St. Johnsbury
William Louis Deignan (as of 1925), Orange, N. J
Arthur Malcolm Guild, Waterbury Center
Arthur Gustav Harms, Flushing, L. I., N. Y
Dorothy Mary Hunter, Rutland
Robert Irving Lamson, Randolph
Frederika Brigham Northrop (in education), Burlington
Carl Albert Ottley, Seneca Castle, N. Y.
Marden Grant Platt, Riverside, R. I
George Frederick Ward, Rutland

BACHELORS OF PHILOSOPHY

Edward Carlton Abbott, Woodstock
Alma Isabel Anderson, East Craftsbury
Kathryn Beatrice Atherton, St. Albans
Ruth Mabel Bacon, Burlington
Frank Edgar Bartlett, Richmond
Frances Marie Bates, Morrisville
Arthur George Beach, Jr., Bristol, Conn
Frances Smith Burditt, Pittsford
Katherine Anna Burke, Burlington
Dexter Day Butterfield, cum laude, Burlington
Henry Clinton Conlin, Winooski
Harriet Elizabeth Elliott, Barnet
Myra Helen Elwell, Bennington
Henry William Farrington, East Peacham
Jennie Fibish, cum laude, Montpelier
Ruth Eddy Frost, Middletown Springs
Dorothy Adelene Gray, Worcester, Mass
Dorothy Mayo Harvey, Montpelier
Margaret Paddock Hasen, Richmond
Seymour Burton Heath, Groton
Grace Elizabeth Killam, Burlington
Charlotte Helen Leach, New Haven
Bessie Levin, Burlington
Lois Bond Martin, Essex Junction
James Arthur Mason, Arcade, N. Y
Anna Josephine Mitchel, Jericho
Marshall Ellis Mower, cum laude, Burlington
Lois Eleanor Robinson, cum laude, South Hero
Emma Sawyer Slack, Northfield
Elizabeth Sprague, Barre
Ruth Helen Stewart, Morrisville
Marion Estella Symonds, Waban, Mass
Agnes Beatrice Towne, Burlington
Constance Weaver, Bradford
Lynford Lloyd Wells, Bakersfield
Elizabeth Haley Wilson, Bethel
Carl Clifford Withrow, Island Pond
Arlie Ruth Wright (in education), Stowe
Alice Mary Young (in education), North Craftsbury

BACHELORS OF ARTS

Harley Armstrong, Bennington
Mildred Minnie Bigelow, Middlesex
Cecelia Marguerite Bliss (in education), West Rutland
*Natt Bryant Burbank (as of 1925 in education), Danville
Alice Bradley Crowe, cum laude, Randolph
Gladys Ella Hapgood, Richmond
Alice Josephine Hayes, Barre
Beatrice Leone Herberg, cum laude, Burlington
Carolyn Maude Hill, Waterbury Center
Dorothy Magdalen Leboux, Bridgewater
George Arthur Mason, Burlington
Thelma Evora Mathewson, Essex Junction
Marianne Esther Parkhurst, Taftsville
Leslie Ricker Rowe, Peacham
Josephine Rita Smith, Burlington
Harold Fisher Wilson, cum laude, Bethel
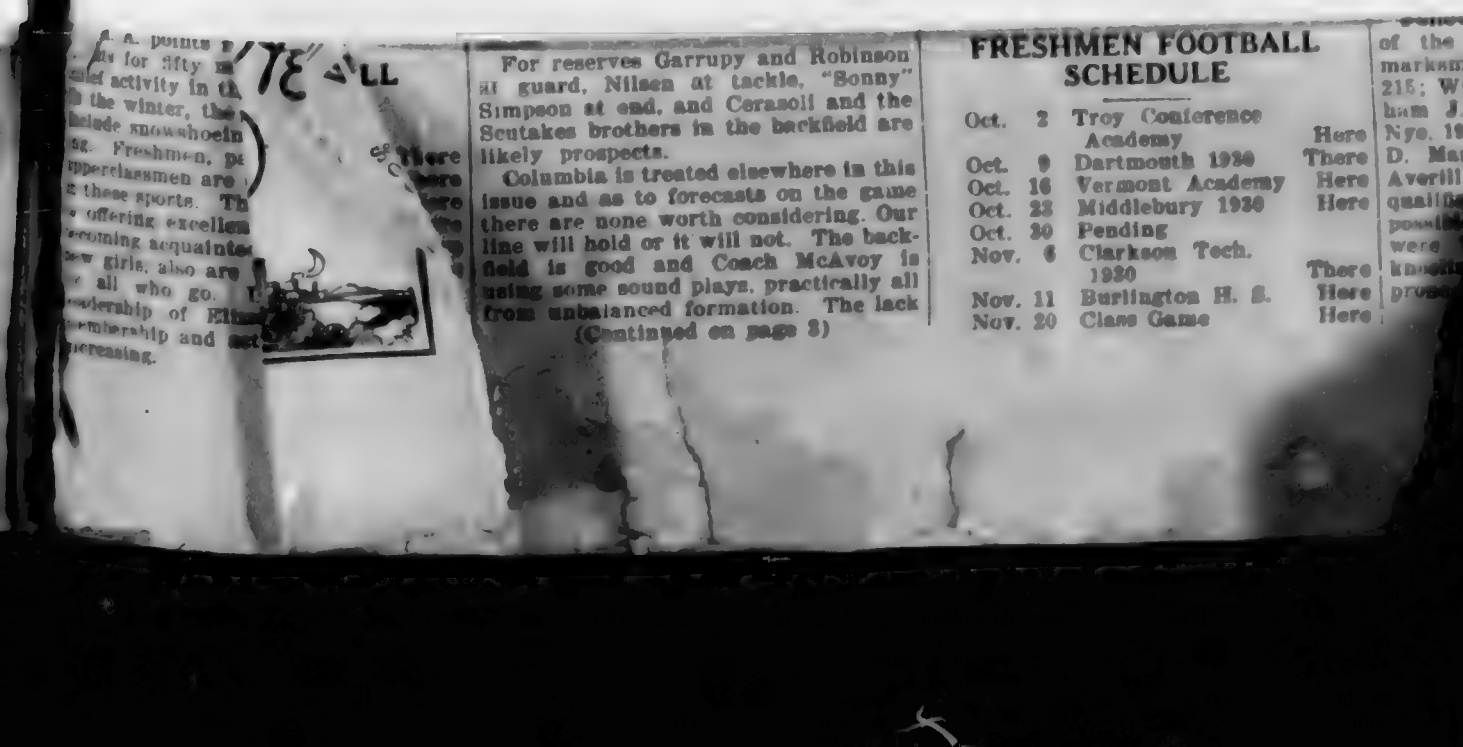
Alice Agnes Wright, Burlington

*Diploma awarded on completion of work, August, 1925



R. W. STILL Phone 2073-W
HOFFMAN
CLEANING AND DYEING
MEN'S SUITS PRESSED AND CLEANED
Free Auto Delivery
145 Elmwood Ave. Burlington, Vt.

Fords Cheap
Run fine, look fine, and are fine.
Just what you want for fun
CHAS. P. SMITH, Jr., INC.
87 ST. PAUL ST.
Vermont's Largest Dealer

HENRY'S DINER
QUICK SERVICE
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices
155 BANK STREET

BAILLARGEON'S BARBER SHOP
Nuff Said
25 Church St.

NEW YORK LIFE INS. CO.
a purely Mutual Institution
A symbol of Strength and Integrity
Make it YOUR Company
"Bernie"

[illegible] A. points [illegible] for fifty [illegible] [illegible]TE [illegible]ALL
[illegible] activity in th[illegible] there [illegible]here
[illegible] the winter, the[illegible] [illegible]here
[illegible]nclude snowshoein[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible]ng. Freshmen, pa[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible]pperclassmen are [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] these sports. Th[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] offering excellen[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible]coming acquainte[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible]ew girls, also are [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] all who go. [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible]adership of Ellis[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible]embership and act[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible]creasing.

For reserves Garrupy and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 8)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

[illegible] the men who qualified as [illegible] marksmen at camp: Lloyd Rey[illegible] 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; [illegible]ham J. Humphrey, 195; Os[illegible] Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 19[illegible] D. Marshall, 187; and L[illegible] Averill, 186. The requ[illegible] qualifi[illegible] were [illegible] possible 250 were [illegible] [illegible] prone[illegible]

ALUMNI GO TO DEFEAT BEFORE THE VARSITY

Saturday, June 19 the Varsity defeated the Alumni 6-5. Fogg held the batting honors with Red Harris second batting in the ninth was the first man to reach first base.

The Alumni played excellent ball and batting was effective but wild and fielding errors accounted for the Varsity's runs.

The box score:

Alumni	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
[illegible]	4	0	0	1	1	0
[illegible]	3	0	0	4	1	0
[illegible]	3	0	1	4	6	0
[illegible]	3	0	0	3	0	0
[illegible]	3	0	0	1	0	0
[illegible]	3	0	0	2	2	0
[illegible] rf	2	0	0	1	1	1
Ready c	2	0	0	11	2	1
[illegible] p	3	0	0	0	1	0
*Harris	1	0	1	0	0	0
Maxfield	1	0	0	0	0	0
Total	28	0	1	24	5	2

*Batted for Patrick in 9th.
Batted for Ready in 9th

Varsity	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
[illegible] ss	3	1	2	2	0	0
[illegible] 2b	3	0	2	1	0	0
[illegible] lf	4	0	2	1	0	0
[illegible] cf	4	0	0	3	1	0
[illegible] p	4	0	1	1	7	0
[illegible] 1b	3	1	0	13	1	0
[illegible] rf	4	0	1	0	0	0
[illegible] 3b	3	1	0	0	3	0
[illegible] rf	3	1	0	1	0	0
Total	31	4	8	27	12	0

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Alumni	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Vermont	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	4

VT. TEAM OUTPLAYED BY BROOKLYN GIANTS

Saturday, June 12, the Brooklyn Royal Giants took the Green and Gold into camp 13 to 4.

The colored team is one of the best aggregations outside of the majors, and showed its strength in batting scores in the second and eighth, getting five runs in each inning. Smith batted best for them with a triple, a double and a single.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Giants	0	5	0	0	0	0	3	5	0	13
Vermont	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	4

WILLIAMS VICTORIOUS 6-5 ON HOME DIAMOND

Thursday, June 17, Vermont was defeated by Williams, on the enemy's field. The Brown and Blue rallied in the ninth to win.

The game was fast and close but was marred by several costly errors on both sides.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Williams	0	0	0	3	0	0	0	0	3	6
Vermont	0	1	0	0	1	1	0	0	2	5

TENNIS TEAM TIES ETHAN ALLEN CLUB

On Saturday afternoon, June 12, the Vermont Tennis team tied the Ethan Allen Club Team at 2-all. Owing to the time only four single matches were played. Capt. Guild trimmed Louis Dow but was forced to three sets to do so. Nye lost a hard-fought match to Meyers, runner-up in the Ethan Allen Tournament, this match also going to three sets. Baldwin lost to Coach Carpenter in straight sets while Taylor made the score 2-all, by trimming Oscar Edlund, who, several years ago, was Vermont's No. 2 man along with Capt Campbell, Earl Roberts and Freddie Guild. This quartette was one of the best which has ever represented Vermont. The summary is as follows:

Singles only:

Guild (V) beat Dow (E) 6-1 12-14, 6-2

Meyers (E) beat Nye (V) 6-1, 6-8, 6-4

Carpenter (E) beat Baldwin (V) 6-2, 6-4

Taylor (V) beat Edlund (E) 6-1, 16-14

Phi Beta Kappa held a meeting in South College on Alumni Day.

LOCAL SIGMA PHI CHAPTER ENTERTAINS CONVENTION

The Ninety-ninth Annual Convention of Sigma Phi Fraternity is being held here at the University of Vermont, Friday and Saturday, June 18 and 19. The last to be held here was in 1914 since which, owing to the war, two years have gone by without the usual convention. Delegates from each of the ten chapters—Union, Hamilton, Hobart, Williams, Lehigh, Colgate, Michigan, Wisconsin, California and Vermont—are present.

The first convention session took place at two o'clock Friday afternoon and following this at four o'clock there was an oratorical contest. At 8:30 in the evening a dance and reception was held in the Billings Library. Activity this morning began at 9:30 with a convention session, and at twelve noon a group photograph will be taken in front of the fraternity house. The afternoon will be given over to recreation—the boatride, golf, motoring etc., and in the evening there will be a convention banquet.

Over one hundred people are attending and are being lodged at Robinson Hall[illegible] and two of the fraternity houses. All meals are being served at the Ethan Allen Club.

George P. Auld '02 of the Vermont Chapter and formerly of this city is the presiding officer. Among the prominent speakers at the convention are Judge A. C. Barnes of the Appellate Court, Chicago; James D. Benedict of New York City; Howard Chadyke of Schenectady, N. Y.; Edward S. Sanderson of Waterbury, Conn., and William Bristol of New York City.

JAMES AND SIMPSON ARE CHOICE IN TRACK VOTE

The following men have been elected to have charge of Track work for the coming year: Manager, F. M. James '27 of Hardwick; Captain, C. G. Simpson '27 of Lyndon Center; Assistant Managers, J. J. Curran '28 of Florence, Mass., J. A. Miller '28 of Palisade, N. J., and K. R. Stevens '28 of White River Junction.

James is a member of Sigma Phi fraternity and of Boulder Society. He has served on the Football and Sophomore Hop Committees, was on the Board of the 1927 Ariel, a member of Student Senate and played in the band.

"Sonny" Simpson is a member of Phi Mu Delta, Boulder, and Pi Delta Rho. He has been active in Track work for the past three years, was captain for the past year, and holds State records in the Javelin and Discus throws. He was Business Manager of the 1927 Ariel.

Curran is a member of Alpha Tau Omega and of Key and Serpent, and is generally active in college activities. Miller is a member of Sigma Nu and is an assistant cheer leader. Stevens is a member of Sigma Phi and is on the staff of the 1928 Ariel.

The Boulder Society held a reunion breakfast last Saturday morning at the Ethan Allen Club.

PROFESSOR GIFFORD TO BE ASSISTANT DEAN

Prof. Swift Has Sabbatical Year —George Dykhuizen of Chicago To Become Asst. Professor of Philosophy

Professor Asa Russell Gifford will serve as Assistant Dean in the College of Arts and Sciences for the coming year when Professor Swift will be absent on his sabbatical year.

Professor Gifford received his A. B. degree from Wesleyan, Magna cum Laude, in 1904. For two years he was General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Middletown, Conn., and then going to the Yale Graduate School received his M. A. in 1907. After teaching at Bryn Mawr he came to Vermont where he has taught for seventeen years. Professor Gifford is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Philosophical Association, and the American Association of University Professors.

Next year, owing to his increased duties, Professor Gifford will be assisted by George Dykhuizen, in the capacity of Assistant Professor of Philosophy. Mr. Dykhuisen graduated from the University of Indiana in the class of 1921. He has taught in high schools for two years and comes to Vermont from the University of Chicago where he was an assistant in the Department of Philosophy.

PROFESSORS PLAN NOVEL SERIES OF LECTURES

As a result of the activities of a group of Vermont professors, a distict innovation in college life will occur next year in the form of a series of eight lectures by men of world fame and of exceptional prominence in various lines of work. The aim of the series is not so much to present the student body with information, as to give it the benefit of first-hand contact with some of the great and outstanding personalities of the day.

The committee in charge of this project includes Professor Gifford, chairman, and Professors Bassett, Burroughs, Moore and Swift. So far, the efforts of the committee to interest men of prominence in the project have met with very gratifying success.

Roy Chapman Andrews, explorer for the American Museum of Natural History, will be one of the speakers, and also Professor James T. Shotwell of Columbia and Major George Haven Putnam, veteran publisher and author, have been secured. It is hoped that Professor Emeritus Samuel F. Emerson will be able to deliver an address.

President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard has shown a good deal of interest in the plans for the lectures, has offered encouragement, and will appear as a speaker if possible.

It is hoped to arrange a lecture with Professor Millikan, Director of the Norman Bridge Laboratory of Physics and winner of the Nobel Prize, in connection with an eastern trip next season which he is contemplating.

TOWER WOULD HAVE BEEN SOUND, SAY ENGINEERS

Engineers who have [illegible] pleted an examination [illegible] Chapel declare that the [illegible] would have been perfectly [illegible] pleted as it was originally [illegible] Rumors to the effect that [illegible] would have to be torn down [illegible] built with steel instead of [illegible] proved unfounded by this [illegible]

H. G. Balcom of New [illegible] was one of the engineers [illegible] been engaged in the investigation [illegible] the safety of the tower. Mr. [illegible] was consulting engineer on [illegible] struction of the Grand Union, the new buildings of the [illegible] of business administration at the University, and many other [illegible] construction jobs of recent years.

Acting in behalf of the [illegible] in the investigation was W[illegible] Weston whose home is in [illegible] tion and who graduated from [illegible] versity of Vermont in [illegible]. Mr. Weston has been employed by [illegible] ing & Garrigues of New York [illegible] and has been employed by [illegible] western railroads in various [illegible] ties.

Mr. Balcom stated that if the [illegible] had been completed as it was [illegible] there was very little chance that [illegible] would not have lasted for years. However, he recommended that [illegible] enforced as an added precaution.

Plans are being made to [illegible] interior of the wooden columns [illegible] concrete and to fill in the [illegible] the top of the open arches with [illegible] enforced concrete.

Both engineers agreed as to the reenforcement and stated that with this strengthening nothing short of an earthquake could disturb the structure. The reenforcement plans will be inexpensive and short and it is expected that further construction on the tower will begin again soon.

SENIORS RECEIVE ADVICE AT PROFESSORS' HOMES

The second day of Commencement was devoted to several traditional exercises among them the class walk to the homes of the professors.

In spite of threatening weather the class met in the morning to visit Dean Perkins, Professor G. H. Perkins, Professor Tupper, Professor Mower, Dean Swift and Dean Hills. According to the course taken in college the students were divided into groups the Literary-Scientific group going to Professors Bassett, Myrick and Williams; the Commerce and Economics to Professors Carrol, Metcalf, Spaffard and Nulty; the Agricultural group to Professors Ellenberger and Cummings; the Home Economics to Professors Terrill and Blundell, while the Engineers met Professors Yates, Buchanan, Eckhard, Butterfield and Williams.

Refreshments of candy and cigarettes were served at the several homes and each professor responded to the class cheers, led by Robert Thompson, with a few words of advice and farewell. The majority emphasized the need in the present-day world for personal initiative, individuality, breadth of interest, as well as personal influence. This is especially typified in the words of Dean George H. Perkins: "Be yourselves. You can be what you want to be."

E. C. MOWER TO HEAD DEBATING SOCIETY

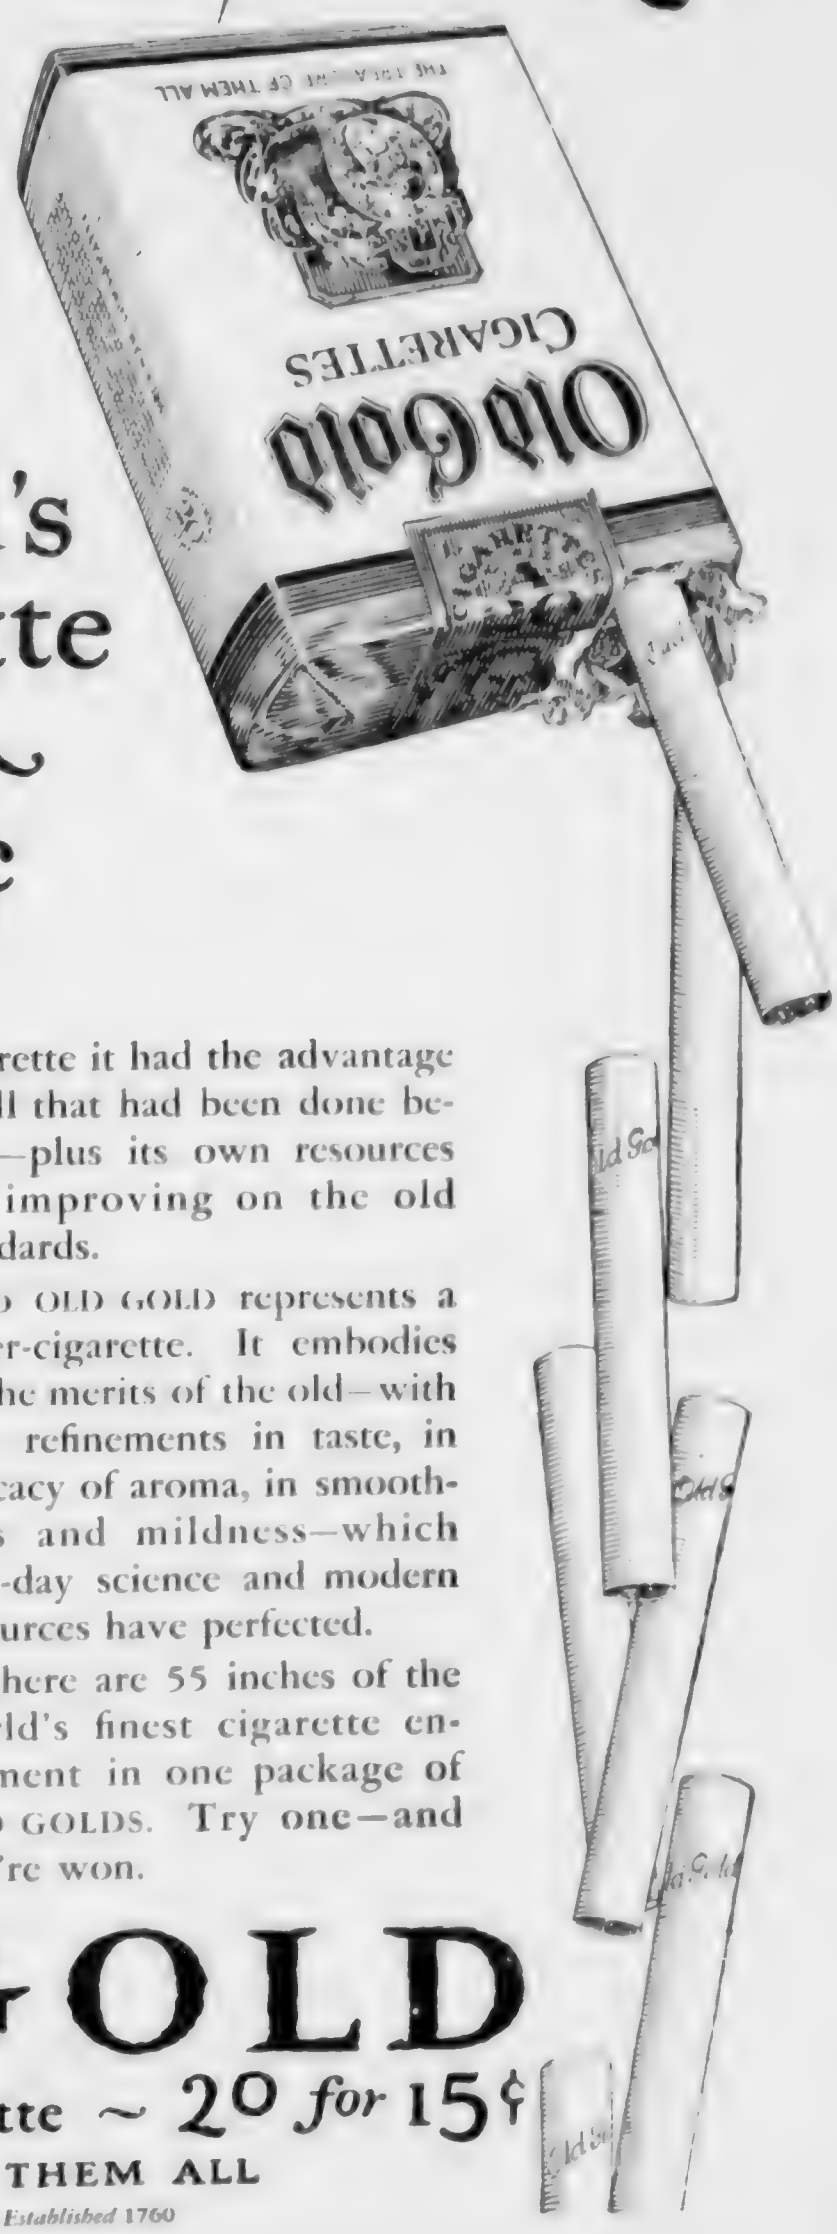
The honorary debating society, Tau Kappa Alpha, initiated E. C. Mower '26 of Burlington and F. W. Dean '26 of Lebanon, N. H., at a meeting held at the Sigma Alpha Chi House, June 7. Following the initiation E. C. Mower was elected president of the society for the following year. F. W. Dean '15 was made secretary and treasurer, while E. C. Mower was also chosen manager of debating.

The Alumni luncheon was served in the gymnasium annex last Saturday and a twelve-piece orchestra furnished music.

Alumni of the College of Medicine and of the College of Agriculture met and had a banquet at the Sherwood Hotel on Alumni Day.

D. P. KINGSLEY PRESENTS UNIVERSITY WITH PORTRAIT OF MRS. COOLIDGE

Among the many joyful events of Commencement there were few to rival in enthusiasm the demonstration at the presentation of De Laszlo's portrait of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, the gift of Darwin P. Kingsley '81, president of the New York Life Insurance Company. The audience at the Alumni luncheon on Saturday, when the presentation occurred, were fully appreciative of the occasion and frequently during the Alumni luncheon Mr. Kingsley's address was interrupted by moments of applause.



In speaking of Mrs. Coolidge, Mr. Kingsley paid large tribute to the leading lady of the land and loyal alumna of Vermont. In charming phrase and in particularly fitting description the donor praised the qualities of the subject of De Laszlo's inspiring work.

In speaking of Mrs. Coolidge, Mr. Kingsley said, "Vermont can truthfully say that the graciousness, the tact, the simple dignity, the personal charm, which in Mrs. Coolidge inspire and enrich the nation, are not singular to her. They are common to Vermont womanhood. So, too, the courage, the integrity, the hard sense, the fidelity, love and trust of country, which distinguish Calvin Coolidge are not singular to him, but are common to Vermont manhood."

In accepting Mrs. Coolidge's portrait on the part of the University, President Bailey said:

"In behalf of the University of Vermont it becomes my pleasant duty to accept this portrait of Mrs. Coolidge and with this acceptance to convey to you, Mr. Kingsley, our sincere and heartfelt thanks not in any degree because of the financial element involved but rather because of the intrinsic worth of the portrait, a worth that cannot, and should not, be estimated in terms of money."

The Dawn of a Better Cigarette

55 inches of the world's finest cigarette enjoyment ~ 15¢

THE world moves. This year's motor car is better than last year's. There were good radio sets on the market three years ago—but they can't keep company with the sets they're making today.

The inventor, the scientist, or the chemist who begins his work today—builds on the discoveries of yesterday and improves on them.

For many years there have been a number of good popular-priced cigarette brands on the market.

But when Lorillard started to create and perfect a new 15c cigarette it had the advantage of all that had been done before—plus its own resources for improving on the old standards.

So OLD GOLD represents a super-cigarette. It embodies all the merits of the old—with new refinements in taste, in delicacy of aroma, in smoothness and mildness—which new-day science and modern resources have perfected.

There are 55 inches of the world's finest cigarette enjoyment in one package of OLD GOLDS. Try one—and you're won.

OLD GOLD

The New and Better cigarette ~ 20 for 15¢

THE TREASURE OF THEM ALL

The Product of P. LORILLARD CO., Established 1760

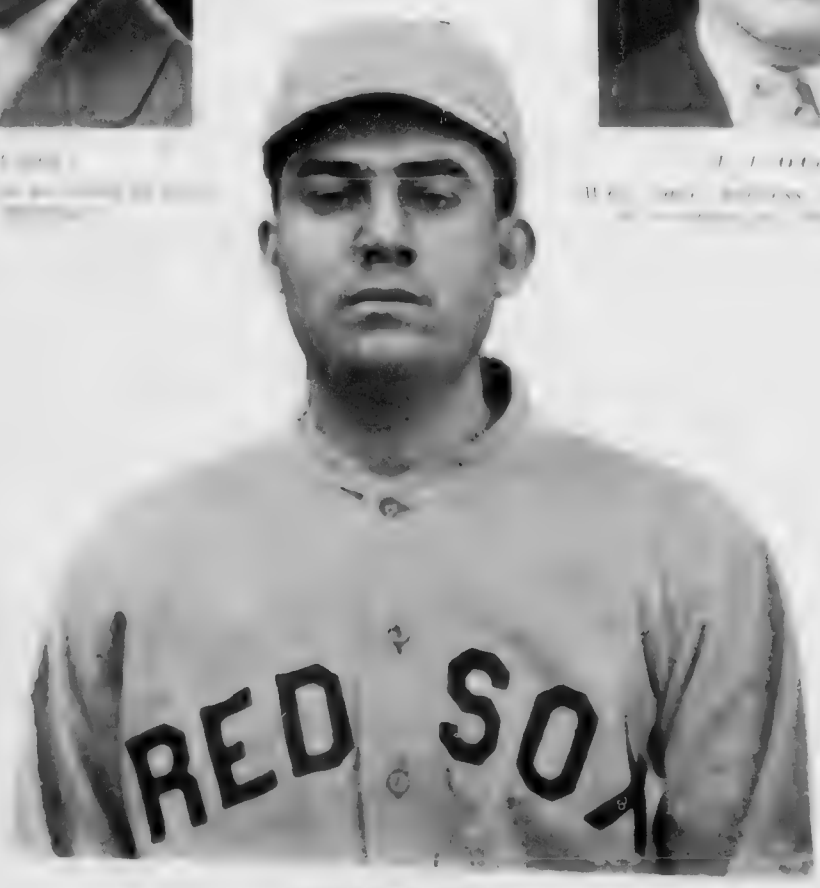
For reserves Garrupy and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct. 2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct. 9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct. 16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct. 23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct. 30	Pending
Nov. 6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov. 11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov. 20	Class Game	Here



RED SOX

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., SEPTEMBER 24, 1926 — NUMBER 1

FRATERNITIES HOLD FIRST OPEN HOUSE WED., SEPT. 29

House to Be Kept 5 Evenings by Fraternal Organizations—Rushing Dates Given Oct. 18—Bidding, Sunday, Oct. 24

CHANCE FOR FROSH TO GET ACQUAINTED

At a meeting of the Interfraternity Conference, Wednesday night, at the Alpha Sigma House, the dates for open house nights, rushing, and bidding were definitely settled.

Open House

The open house nights will last from nine until ten o'clock on the following dates. Wednesday, September 29; Monday, October 2; Wednesday, October 6; Wednesday, October 13; and Saturday, October 16. On these nights all Freshmen and new students will be welcome at any of the fraternity houses, they may wish to visit. The dates are held so that the upperclassmen and Freshmen may get acquainted with one another.

Rushing

On Monday, October 18, following the first open house night, the Freshmen shall assemble in the Chapel in the Old Mill to receive date cards from representatives of the fraternities setting rushing dates with them.

The rushing dates will fall on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday October 20, 21, 22, and 23. The rushing dates are for the purpose of acquainting Freshmen with fraternity matters which are not allowed to be mentioned during open house dances.

The bids will be given out on Sunday, October 24 in the Old Mill. After this date fraternities may rush and pledge men in any way they may desire.

Rules

The attention of all parties concerned is called to the following rules, number one and two of the rushing rules which apply most specifically during the present period:

1. Beginning with the opening of college no fraternity or fraternity man shall entertain, discuss fraternity matters with or extend invitation to membership to any Freshman or new student until the end of the neutral period after regular bidding time, except at open house nights or rushing parties as explained below. (The word entertain is interpreted as meaning, accompanying at movies, dinner engagements, out of town athletic contests etc.)
2. No Freshman or new student shall be allowed in any fraternity house between aforesaid dates, except on open house nights and rushing parties.

Another of the rules will be printed later.

Directory

A directory showing the locations of the various fraternities has been prepared for the benefit of nowcomers and is printed below.

The Owl House (Lambda Iota) is a building with the large white pillars on the corner by the Medical College. Sigma Phi Place is on College Street at the corner of Williams, a gray building with four white pillars in front. Delta Psi is next to Grasse on Williams Street, at the northwest corner of Maple Street.

The gray building of marble, second house on the south side of College Street is Phi Delta Theta, and going down the street will be found Alpha Tau Omega. (Continued on page 3)

...ALL

...A. points for fifty m... relief activity in th... the winter, the... include snowshoeing... Freshmen, p... upperclassmen are... these sports. Th... offering excellen... coming acquaintan... new girls, also are... for all who go. ... leadership of Miss... membership and ac... increasing.

Have You Received Your Cynic?

If not, the manager requests that you leave your name and address in the Cynic Office. Do this at once. Every regularly enrolled student in the University is entitled to receive the Cynic. Cooperate with us by letting us know where you are.

MEN AND WOMEN HOLD MIXER THIS EVENING

The Annual Freshman Mixer, the first social event of the year will be held tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the gymnasium. H. C. Sherwin, chairman of the committee appointed by Scabbard and Blade, is to have charge of the affair.

A varied program has been arranged. The R. O. T. C. Band will be in attendance to furnish music during the evening. Cheerleader Emory Mower is to lead the students in songs and yells for the football team which is scheduled to leave during the evening for New York to play Columbia. A royal send-off is planned for the Vermont gridsters.

An orchestra composed of members of the R. O. T. C. Band will furnish music for dancing. Freshmen will not be charged an admission, but all other students will asked to pay a small fee for every other dance. All money collected will be turned over to Scabbard and Blade to finance the Band's trip to the Middlebury game.

Freshmen

All men of the class of 1930 who desire to try out for the Cynic Board are asked to report to the editor Monday afternoon, September 27, at 1:30 p. m. in the Cynic Office, at the north end of the Old Mill, to receive assignments and preliminary instruction.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE LATE IN STARTING

About 35 Candidates Out for Practice to Date—Face Hard Game With Columbia Tomorrow

In accordance with the new retrenching policy of the Athletic Department, there was no football camp this fall and practice started Monday, September 20. About thirty-five candidates were issued uniforms, and this number has increased very little up to the present writing. However, there are three teams and substitutes on the field every night.

Coach McAvoy has had such a short time to drill his team that he has had to concentrate on the first eleven leaving Coach Dresser to take care of the second and third teams. But considering the short practice period available, the regular Varsity coaching staff, augmented during the first week by Captain Rattan, the Freshman coach, has done remarkable work in teaching the squad fundamentals and plays.

At first the prospect was rather dreary. All the veterans that weren't under warning were on probation but at the recent meeting of the Committee on Studies some relief was afforded.

Now the first team lines up about as follows: O'Keefe, center; Mitiguy and Kropper, guards; Captain Denning and Winchenbach, tackles; Leary and Morse, ends; Conway, quarterback; Candon, fullback; and Smith and Thorn, halfbacks.

The above line-up sounds good but the center of the line and the halfback are dangerously weak. Thorn may come through but there are holes in that line.

Last year's Freshman players compose most of the rest of the squad with a few new men.

Tuesday was the first scrimmage and things did not go especially well but Wednesday the first looked much better.

For reserves Garrupy and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack (Continued on page 3)

GO-TO-CHURCH DAY TO BE HELD NEXT SUNDAY

At a meeting of the Church Relationships Committee of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. with the ministers of the various churches of the city, plans were made for next Sunday, which is "Go to Church" Sunday for all students in the University.

It will be remembered that an "All Out to Church" Sunday was held for the students shortly after mid-years last year. The occasion was very successful, church attendance for the day increasing two hundred per cent in some churches.

At a meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the downtown Y. M. C. A. rooms, the possibility of forming more student Bible Discussion Groups within the churches was discussed. The University Christian Associations are planning to encourage discussion groups among students.

FIRST MASS MEETING OF YEAR ATTENDED BY LARGE NUMBER OF MEN

Student Senate Starts Year With Lively Program of Speeches, Songs and Cheers

At a mass meeting held last Saturday in the gymnasium, Captain Lammons and several prominent football players gave the male students spirited talks in regard to the coming football season. The speakers were introduced by William Lockwood '27, president of the Student Senate, who promised that mass meetings of the students would be held at least once a month throughout the year.

Captain Lammons in his speech declared that last year the splendid spirit of the college won the state championship in football for Vermont. This year just because several veterans are ineligible to play the students should not lose heart before the season has begun, the Captain declared. He urged the students to be optimistic and to show their spirit by attending football practice.

"Speed" Denning, captain of football, was given a long applause as he arose to speak. He called for men to play football regardless of whether they had experience or not. "Chick" Conway, diminutive quarterback, reiterated several times, "we can beat Norwich and Middlebury any day of the week, if the students are behind us." "Winkie" Winchenbach, mainstay of the line for the past two years, asked for the backing of the college. He assured the assembly that the football season would be successful, if the students gave the team their wholehearted support.

"Mose" Moore, Varsity cheerleader last year, in the absence of cheerleader Emory Mower, who was returning from Europe, lead the assemblage in several songs and yells. The meeting broke up after the singing of "Champlain." The mass meeting proved to be invigorating and a very optimistic spirit was noticeable among the men students as they left the gymnasium.

RIFLE TEAM NOTES

Preliminary work on the range for upperclassmen will start soon after December. This will give plenty of time for drill in the fundamentals of rifle shooting in preparation for the spring matches.

The Frosh will have an opportunity at this time to acquaint themselves with range work in their regular military classes. The best material from this classwork will then be eligible for the team.

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

University Opens 136th Year With Record Enrollment

President Guy W. Bailey Addresses Opening Convocation—"Life An Asset or Liability"—Fresh Enrollment in Neighborhood of 400

SIMPSON AND WHITTEN ATTEND CANADIAN MEET

"Sunny" Simpson '27 and W. L. Whitten, M '27 attended and took part in a track meet held at Montreal on September 4 to determine the Provincial Championships of Quebec. Both men gave good accounts of themselves. Simpson, who is captain of the Vermont track team, took first place in both the javelin throw and shot put, as well as third in the discus event. Whitten took first place in the pole vault. The teams of the Montreal A. A., McGill University, and the Montreal Harriers A. A., were three of the formidable aggregations present.

Sophomores

The Ariel Board wants scrubs from the Class of 1929 for the editorial, business, and women's departments. Names should be handed in at once to either J. O. Phelps, editor, at the Sigma Alpha Chi House, W. F. Reagan, manager, at the Phi Mu Delta House, or to Miss Elizabeth A. Billings, women's editor, at the Campus House.

Pursuant to the system now in force, several scrubs will be recommended in each department at the end of the year, from whom the officers of the 1929 Ariel will be elected by the Sophomore class.

SENIORS TAKE COURSE IN PRACTICAL WORK AT DEVENS DURING SUMMER

Baseball Cup Back Here for Third Season—Lockwood and Parody Win Efficiency Awards

Twenty-seven men from the class of 1927 attended the R. O. T. C. Infantry Camp held from June 17 to August 1 at Camp Devens, Mass., for the six weeks course of practical work which is required of all advanced military students. About 125 students representing R. O. T. C. units at the Universities of Boston, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Yale were in attendance.

The Vermont men won the camp baseball championship, making this the third successive season in which the cup has come to this college. It was necessary to play two games with New Hampshire in the finals, to get possession of it, the first being a tie, and the second going to extra innings. Vermont's success was due largely to the able coaching of Captain Rattan. The following men made up the team: L. A. Reynolds, c.; G. S. Talcott, p.; O. F. Parody, 1b.; E. J. Moodie, 2b.; J. J. Candon, 3b.; O. B. Nye, ss.; H. C. Sherwin, l. f.; H. Averill, and G. H. Sloane, fielders; W. M. Lockwood, Mgr.

New Hampshire took her revenge by winning the track meet with 48 points to Vermont's 32. Rhode Island was a close third with 30 points. "Sunny" Simpson won 19 points and was high scorer of the meet.

The Vermont boys showed themselves to be as good soldiers as they were athletes. O. F. Parody and W. M. Lockwood were awarded the medals for being the most efficient students in the First and Second Platoons, respectively. The college men were divided into three platoons, each with its own barrack building.

Following are the names and scores of the men who qualified as rifle marksmen at camp. Lloyd Reynolds, 215; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne B. Nye, 194; Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187; and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting, and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot (Continued on page 2)

ONE-PIECE TERM BILL EXPEDITES PAYMENT

The college year 1926-27 opened officially, with the payment of bills and enrollment, on Tuesday, September 14.

The opening exercises took place in the gymnasium Wednesday morning. President Guy W. Bailey delivered the address, "Life An Asset or a Liability." President Bailey said in part: "The founders of the University visioned an institution marked by clean living, clean thinking and the advancement of morality, virtue and happiness.

"Each student, in the Freshman year, enters one human life on the asset side. Many permit their account to depreciate—though none have the moral right to fritter away their life's chances.

"Education seeks to make men reason—and life is made up of decisions. Your acts, based upon reason, will fit you for such a life. Emotion may be such a guide, but reason is more likely to prove satisfactory.

"The ideals of the state are the reflection of the ideals of its people. The State of Vermont has established the University to aid youth. Her interest should be appreciated. A student's collegiate record is exceedingly important. It will be referred to frequently. It is an unchangeable guide post. The ledger is open—the answer rests with the students."

The academic procession was followed by the scripture lesson and prayer by the chaplain, Prof. Evan Thomas. The hymns, "America the Beautiful," and "Come Thou Almighty King" were sung. Announcements by the president, singing of the college song, "Champlain," and the benediction by the chaplain, concluded the program.

Although no definite figures are as yet obtainable, the enrollment this year promises to break all previous records. The Freshman class has already exceeded all former figures with more to come. Many upperclassmen are yet to be heard from also.

A new feature this year is the one-piece term bill of $140. This includes tuition for the first semester and the student activity tax. The student activity tax upon examination breaks up into the following items: athletic tax and tickets, Cynic subscription for the year, and allotments for class taxes, Key and Serpent, Vermonters Club, both men's and women's Student Unions, Debating and the Musical Club.

FROSH TO COMPETE FOR CYNIC POSITIONS

The Cynic is adopting a new system for the selection of board members from the Freshman class. A series of competitions of from eight to ten weeks in duration will be held beginning Monday, September 27. All Freshmen so desiring may enter these competitions and will be given assignments regularly during the prescribed periods. The Freshmen will be judged as are other members of the Board on promptness in turning in material assigned to them to gather, and on their ability to get all the facts and write them up into a connected and grammatically correct news story. The men who show themselves best qualified in these respects will be given places on the Cynic Board, at the end of the competition.

Men who make the most of this opportunity and earn places on the Board will find opportunities for advancement to editorships open and will also find that their Cynic work has brought them into close touch with the different phases of college life.

All Freshmen interested are urged to come out for the w...

...ly

A minor improvement... grounds has been ... concrete walk le... Row to Morrill ... wade through th... called South ... because they ...

Number 61 of a Series

RED SOX

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 BURLINGTON, VT., SEPTEMBER 24, 1926 NUMBER 1

TERNITIES HOLD IRST OPEN HOUSE WED., SEPT. 29

House to Be Kept 5 Eve- by Fraternal Organiza- —Rushing Dates Given t. 18—Bidding, Sunday, Oct. 24

CE FOR FROSH TO GET ACQUAINTED

the Interfraternity Wednesday night, at the house, the dates for rushing, and bid- settled.

Open House

nights will last from o'clock on the follow- Wednesday, September 29; October 2; Wednesday, Wednesday, October 13; October 16. On these Freshmen and new stu- welcome at any of the they may wish to are held so that the and Freshmen may get with one another.

Rushing

October 18, following house night, the Fresh- assemble in the Chapel in to receive date cards representatives of the fraternities dates with them. dates will fall on Thursday, Friday, and October 20, 21, 22, and 23. dates are for the purpose Freshmen with frater- which are not allowed during open house will be given out on Sun- 24 in the Old Mill. After fraternities may rush and men in any way they may attention of all parties con- called to the following rules, be and two of the rushing which apply most specifically present period:

Rules

Beginning with the opening of fraternity or fraternity man obtain discuss fraternity mat- or extend invitation to mem- to any Freshman or new stu- the end of the neutral after regular bidding time, ex- open house nights or rushing as explained below. (The word is interpreted as meaning, going at movies, dinner en- this out of town athletic con- Freshman or new student allowed in any fraternity between aforesaid dates, except- open house nights and rushing of the rules will be printed

Directory

showing the locations of fraternities has been pre- for the benefit of newcomers below.

(Lambda Iota) is the large white pil- by the Medical Col- Place is on College of Williams, a four white pillars next to Grass- Street, at the Maple Street. of marble, second side of College Theta, and going finds Alpha Tau

continued on page 3)

ARSITY FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

25	Columbia	There
2	Syracuse	There
9	Clarkson Tech.	Here
16	Providence	There
22	Tufts	There
30	Norwich	There
6	Rensselaer	Here
13	Middlebury	There
25	Springfield	There

Have You Received Your Cynic?

If not, the manager requests that you leave your name and address in the CYNIC Office. Do this at once. Every regularly enrolled student in the University is entitled to receive the CYNIC. Cooperate with us by letting us know where you are.

MEN AND WOMEN HOLD MIXER THIS EVENING

The Annual Freshman Mixer, the first social event of the year will be held tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the gymnasium. H. C. Sherwin, chairman of the committee appointed by Scabbard and Blade, is to have charge of the affair.

A varied program has been arranged. The R. O. T. C. Band will be in attendance to furnish music during the evening. Cheerleader Emory Mower is to lead the students in songs and yells for the football team which is scheduled to leave during the evening for New York to play Columbia. A royal send-off is planned for the Vermont gridsters.

An orchestra composed of members of the R. O. T. C. Band will furnish music for dancing. Freshmen will not be charged an admission, but all other students will asked to pay a small fee for every other dance. All money collected will be turned over to Scabbard and Blade to finance the Band's trip to the Middlebury game.

Freshmen

All men of the class of 1930 who desire to try out for the Cynic Board are asked to report to the editor Monday afternoon, September 27, at 1:30 p. m. in the Cynic Office, at the north end of the Old Mill, to receive assignments and preliminary instruction.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE LATE IN STARTING

About 35 Candidates Out for Practice to Date—Face Hard Game With Columbia Tomorrow

In accordance with the new retrenching policy of the Athletic Department, there was no football camp this fall and practice started Monday, September 20. About thirty-five candidates were issued uniforms, and this number has increased very little up to the present writing. However, there are three teams and substitutes on the field every night.

Coach McAvoy has had such a short time to drill his team that he has had to concentrate on the first eleven leaving Coach Dresser to take care of the second and third teams. But considering the short practice period available, the regular Varsity coaching staff, augmented during the first week by Captain Rattan, the Freshman coach, has done remarkable work in teaching the squad fundamentals and plays.

At first the prospect was rather dreary. All the veterans that weren't under warning were on probation but at the recent meeting of the Committee on Studies some relief was afforded.

Now the first team lines up about as follows: O'Keefe, center; Mitiguy and Kropper, guards; Captain Denning and Winchenbach, tackles; Leary and Morse, ends; Conway, quarterback; Candon, fullback; and Smith and Thorn, halfbacks.

The above line-up sounds good but the center of the line and the halfback are dangerously weak. Thorn may come through but there are holes in that line.

Last year's Freshman players compose most of the rest of the squad with a few new men.

Tuesday was the first scrimmage and things did not go especially well but Wednesday the first looked much better.

For reserves Garrupy and Robinson at guard, Nilsen at tackle, "Sonny" Simpson at end, and Cerasoli and the Scutakes brothers in the backfield are likely prospects.

Columbia is treated elsewhere in this issue and as to forecasts on the game there are none worth considering. Our line will hold or it will not. The backfield is good and Coach McAvoy is using some sound plays, practically all from unbalanced formation. The lack

(Continued on page 3)

GO-TO-CHURCH DAY TO BE HELD NEXT SUNDAY

At a meeting of the Church Relationships Committee of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. with the ministers of the various churches of the city plans were made for next Sunday which is "Go to Church" Sunday for all students in the University.

It will be remembered that an "All Out to Church" Sunday was held for the students shortly after mid-years last year. The occasion was very successful, church attendance for the day increasing two hundred per cent in some churches.

At a meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the downtown Y. M. C. A. rooms, the possibility of forming more student Bible Discussion Groups within the churches was discussed. The University Christian Associations are planning to encourage discussion groups among students.

FIRST MASS MEETING OF YEAR ATTENDED BY LARGE NUMBER OF MEN

Student Senate Starts Year With Lively Program of Speeches, Songs and Cheers

At a mass meeting held last Saturday in the gymnasium, Captain Lammons and several prominent football players gave the male students spirited talks in regard to the coming football season. The speakers were introduced by William Lockwood '27, president of the Student Senate, who promised that mass meetings of the students would be held at least once a month throughout the year.

Captain Lammons in his speech declared that last year the splendid spirit of the college won the state championship in football for Vermont. This year just because several veterans are ineligible to play the students should not lose heart before the season has begun, the Captain declared. He urged the students to be optimistic and to show their spirit by attending football practice.

"Speed" Denning, captain of football, was given a long applause as he arose to speak. He called for men to play football regardless of whether they had experience or not. "Chick" Conway, diminutive quarterback, reiterated several times, "we can beat Norwich and Middlebury any day of the week, if the students are behind us." "Winkie" Winchenbach, mainstay of the line for the past two years, asked for the backing of the college. He assured the assembly that the football season would be successful, if the students gave the team their wholehearted support.

"Mose" Moore, Varsity cheerleader last year, in the absence of cheer leader Emory Mower, who was returning from Europe, lead the assemblage in several songs and yells. The meeting broke up after the singing of "Champlain." The mass meeting proved to be invigorating and a very optimistic spirit was noticeable among the men students as they left the gymnasium.

RIFLE TEAM NOTES

Preliminary work on the range for upperclassmen will start soon after December. This will give plenty of time for drill in the fundamentals of rifle shooting in preparation for the spring matches.

The Frosh will have an opportunity at this time to acquaint themselves with range work in their regular military classes. The best material from this classwork will then be eligible for the team.

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct.	2	Troy Conference Academy	Here
Oct.	9	Dartmouth 1930	There
Oct.	16	Vermont Academy	Here
Oct.	23	Middlebury 1930	Here
Oct.	30	Pending
Nov.	6	Clarkson Tech. 1930	There
Nov.	11	Burlington H. S.	Here
Nov.	20	Class Game	Here

University Opens 136th Year With Record Enrollment

President Guy W. Bailey Addresses Opening Convocation—"Life An Asset or Liability"—Frosh Enrollment in Neighborhood of 400

SIMPSON AND WHITTEN ATTEND CANADIAN MEET

Sunny" Simpson '27 and W. L. Whitten, M '27 attended and took part in a track meet held at Montreal on September 4 to determine the Provincial Championships of Quebec. Both men gave good accounts of themselves. Simpson, who is captain of the Vermont track team, took first place in both the javelin throw and shot put as well as third in the discus event. Whitten took first place in the pole vault. The teams of the Montreal A. A., McGill University, and the Montreal Harriers A. A. were three of the formidable aggregations present.

Sophomores

The Ariel Board wants scrubs from the Class of 1929 for the editorial, business, and women's departments. Names should be handed in at once to either J. O. Phelps, editor, at the Sigma Alpha Chi House, W. F. Reagan, manager, at the Phi Mu Delta House, or to Miss Elizabeth A. Billings, women's editor, at the Campus House.

Pursuant to the system now in force, several scrubs will be recommended in each department at the end of the year, from whom the officers of the 1929 Ariel will be elected by the Sophomore class.

SENIORS TAKE COURSE IN PRACTICAL WORK AT DEVENS DURING SUMMER

Baseball Cup Back Here for Third Season—Lockwood and Parody Win Efficiency Awards

Twenty-seven men from the class of 1927 attended the R. O. T. C. Infantry Camp held from June 17 to August 1 at Camp Devens, Mass., for the six weeks course of practical work which is required of all advanced military students. About 125 students representing R. O. T. C. units at the Universities of Boston, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Yale were in attendance.

The Vermont men won the camp baseball championship, making this the third successive season in which the cup has come to this college. It was necessary to play two games with New Hampshire in the finals to get possession of it, the first being a tie and the second going to extra innings. Vermont's success was due largely to the able coaching of Captain Rattan. The following men made up the team: L. A. Reynolds, c.; G. S. Talcott, p.; O. F. Parody, 1b.; E. J. Moodie, 2b.; J. J. Candon, 3b.; O. B. Nye, ss.; H. C. Sherwin, L. H. Averill and G. H. Sloane, bobbers; W. M. Lockwood, Mgr.

New Hampshire took her revenge by winning the track meet with 48 points to Vermont's 42. Rhode Island was a close third with 39 points. "Sunny" Simpson won 19 points and was high scorer of the meet.

The Vermont boys showed themselves to be as good soldiers as they were athletes. O. F. Parody and W. M. Lockwood were awarded the medals for being the most efficient Students in the First and Second Platoons, respectively. The college men were divided into three platoons each with its own barrack building.

Following are the names and scores of the men who qualified as rifle marksmen at camp: Lloyd Reynolds, 203; William M. Lockwood, 201; Bingham J. Humphrey, 196; Osborne P. Nye 194, Ross L. Clark, 190; Edward D. Marshall, 187, and Lawrence H. Averill, 186. The requirements for qualification were 186 points out of a possible 250. The slow fire positions were 200 yards standing, 300 yards kneeling and sitting and 500 yards prone. The rapid fire record was shot

(Continued on page 2)

ONE-PIECE TERM BILL EXPEDITES PAYMENT

The college year 1926-27 opened officially, with the payment of bills and enrollment, on Tuesday, September 14.

The opening exercises took place in the gymnasium Wednesday morning. President Guy W. Bailey delivered the address, "Life—An Asset or a Liability." President Bailey said in part:

"The founders of the University visioned an institution marked by clean living, clean thinking, and the advancement of morality, virtue and happiness.

"Each student, in his Freshman year, enters one human life on the asset side. Many permit their account to depreciate, though none have the moral right to fritter away their life's chances.

"Education seeks to make men reason—and life is made up of decisions. Your acts, based upon reason, will fit you for such a life. Emotion may be such a guide, but reason is more likely to prove satisfactory.

"The ideals of the state are the reflection of the ideals of its people. The State of Vermont has established the University to aid youth. Her interest should be appreciated. A student's collegiate record is exceedingly important. It will be referred to frequently. It is an unchangeable guide post. The ledger is open—the answer rests with the student."

The academic procession was followed by the scripture lesson and prayer by the chaplain, Prof. Evan Thomas. The hymns, "America the Beautiful," and "Come Thou Almighty King" were sung. Announcements by the president, singing of the college song, "Champlain," and the benediction by the chaplain, concluded the program.

Although no definite figures are as yet obtainable, the enrollment this year promises to break all previous records. The Freshman class has already exceeded all former figures with more to come. Many upperclassmen are yet to be heard from also.

A new feature this year is the one-piece term bill of $140. This includes tuition for the first semester and the student activity tax. The student activity tax upon examination breaks up into the following items: athletic tax and tickets, Cynic subscription for the year, and allotments for class taxes, Key and Serpent, Vermont Club, both men's and women's student Unions, Debating and the Musical Club.

FROSH TO COMPETE FOR CYNIC POSITIONS

The Cynic is adopting a new system for the selection of board members from the Freshman class. A series of competitions of from eight to ten weeks in duration will be held beginning Monday, September 27. All Freshmen so desiring may enter these competitions and will be given certain duties to perform during the [illegible] periods. The Freshmen will be judged as are other members of the Board as to promptness in turning in material assigned to them to rewrite, and on their ability to get all the facts and write them up into a connected and grammatically correct news story. The men who show themselves best qualified in these respects will be given places on the [illegible] Board at the end of the competition.

Men who make the most of the opportunity and earn places on the Board will find opportunities for advancement to editorships open and will soon find that their Cynic work has brought them into close touch with the different phases of college life.

All Freshmen interested are urged to come out for the [illegible]

A minor improvement [illegible] has been concrete walk [illegible] Row to Morrill [illegible] made through it [illegible] called South [illegible] because [illegible] He [illegible]

Number 61 of a Series

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] Assistant Manager

September 24, 1926 No. 1

WELCOME

It is a pleasure to welcome the large number of newcomers into our midst at the beginning of the 126th year of the university.

The things will in a month or two [illegible] you, who are just entering [illegible] as taken in a hundred other classes. We will let you share our [illegible] our troubles, and our gains [illegible] alone enough for you [illegible] what we have, but it is for [illegible] a bit, however little or [illegible] what each class preceding [illegible] of spirit, ideals, institutions, or improvement. College life is the cumulative product of the generations that have trod its passages.

[illegible] among your books and in extra curricula pursuits, may be very pleasant for you if you will give [illegible] yourself to them, in order that you may become interested in them. It is an old adage that one gets out of college only what he puts in [illegible] as much as it does any whole.

There are many openings in our activities for your efforts to be both [illegible] and productive. Our final word is to [illegible] in your choices.

THE WEEKLY CYNIC

The [illegible] starts its [illegible] weekly issue. It [illegible] with the previous [illegible] of this paper that [illegible] at further advance [illegible] made. Since last the [illegible] University have put [illegible] it has passed [illegible] stages of a month[illegible] biweekly, and weekly [illegible] at all unreasonable [illegible] the growth of this [illegible] should attract [illegible] measure at the [illegible].

The [illegible] and chief [illegible] Cynic is the [illegible] [illegible] is the one [illegible] [illegible] was paid this [illegible] [illegible] we were to get my efforts [illegible] [illegible] confidence in me and [illegible] [illegible] later in the year [illegible] [illegible] responsibility.

[illegible] position to give lengthy [illegible] to freshmen, for most of [illegible] here two and three days [illegible] things started and received [illegible] the various phases of [illegible] about to enter. There [illegible] two suggestions we [illegible]

[illegible] are laid down [illegible] guidance and [illegible] of a

Sophomores are alone in this. They are but following the traditions [illegible] quality of interest and [illegible] many Vermont men have [illegible] through the same experiences [illegible] the freshmen girls. Sophomores [illegible] initiating their class, the [illegible] attempt to help and [illegible] adjustment of [illegible] to [illegible] to be observed.

Freshmen, meeting and upon becoming acquainted with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Co-ed's Corner

A Story in Descending Discords

[illegible] WINSTEN, PRINCETON 1926

[illegible] cheers, no pigskin [illegible] goal posts, no crisp [illegible] pleasant bells ringing [illegible] twilight. But the [illegible] collegiate one, and [illegible] Christopher Morley [illegible] gave the decision to [illegible] other words, the "game" [illegible] annual literary contest [illegible] students. The [illegible] manuscript, "A Story in [illegible]" was written by [illegible] of New York City, a [illegible] of the class of 1926 at Princeton [illegible]. His story was published in the August number of Harper's. Second honors were [illegible] by Mary Lispenard [illegible] of Flushing, Long Island, a [illegible] at Vassar in the class of 1926, [illegible] by Walter D. Edmonds, Jr., of [illegible] York City of the class of 1926 at [illegible] University.

[illegible] was the favorite vehicle of [illegible] Some essays were submitted and there was a scattering of [illegible] plays.

"Descending Discords" was one of [illegible] few stories not discordant to the [illegible]. Too many wrote of situations [illegible] unfaithful, and of characters [illegible] whose feelings and reactions they [illegible] could not understand. Kings and [illegible] duchesses and old men seemed to [illegible] the delight of the majority of young [illegible] writers. Along came Mr. Winsten's [illegible] almost formless story, told in letters [illegible] from a Princeton Frosh to father, [illegible] other the girl and his chum. In [illegible] spite of his lack of technic, he made a [illegible] good story. He, too, was a Princeton [illegible] man and he, too, had been a Princeton Frosh.

The letters are written in the style [illegible] a prep school boy, and they would [illegible] be crisscrossed with an English prof's [illegible] red ink. The passionate [illegible] letters to Louise, written in September, are forgotten in December. There [illegible] the usual demand on the exchequer [illegible] Father. After a series of minor discords, the final thundering crash comes [illegible] with the last letter to his chum, especially its conclusion: "Here's to [illegible] and Christmas."

Your old friend,

Ed.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB TRY-OUTS NEXT WEEK

The Women's Glee Club will open [illegible] season with try-outs at the Music [illegible] house next Tuesday and Wednesday evening. Della Martin '28, manager [illegible] the co-ed glee club looks forward to [illegible] very successful season and requests [illegible] that all women students, who can sing, [illegible] try out for the club. An arrangement [illegible] has been made whereby all candidates [illegible] whose names begin with A through M [illegible] will be given an opportunity to try out [illegible] Tuesday evening from 7 to 8 o'clock [illegible] at the Music House on South Prospect [illegible] street. Other candidates should appear Wednesday evening at the same [illegible] hours. The dates of the try outs for [illegible] the women's sextette will be announced later.

MORTAR BOARD

Last Thursday afternoon Mortar [illegible] Board held a picnic at North Shore for [illegible] the women students of the University. This afforded the Freshman [illegible] women an opportunity to become [illegible] better acquainted with each other in [illegible] informal gathering.

Miss Cummings explained rushing [illegible] and the "Big Sister" period to [illegible] freshmen and new students.

[illegible] class presented a stunt and the [illegible] evening came to an end as the girls [illegible] sang Vermont songs around the bonfire.

Mortar Board has established a precedent in drawing up a Vermont code [illegible] for Vermont women and distributing [illegible] it among the women students.

OUTING CLUB

[illegible] Outing Club will begin its activities [illegible] this week with, probably, a three [illegible] mile hike. The girls are given [illegible] W. A. points for these hikes—fifty [illegible] points for fifty miles of hiking. The [illegible] emphasis in the fall is hiking, but [illegible] later the field is enlarged to [illegible] include horseshoeing, skiing and skating [illegible] on the [illegible], particularly, but also [illegible] freshmen are urged to participate [illegible] in these sports. The hikes, in addition [illegible] to offering excellent opportunities for [illegible] getting acquainted with both old and [illegible] new girls, are very much enjoyed [illegible] by all who go. Under the capable [illegible] leadership of Elizabeth Pingree the [illegible] membership and activities are rapidly increasing.

Sorority Notes

Alpha Xi Delta

The marriage of Miss Ruth Flint '27 to Melburne Gallup '24, Phi Mu Delta has recently been announced. The bridal couple are sojourning in Porto Rico.

Miss Evelyn Davis 28 is studying this year at Stetson College, Deland, Fla.

Alpha Chi Omega

Mrs. Fanny Peabody Woods '24 spent the week-end in town.

The engagement of Miss Doris Sprague '27 to Arthur Hill '27, Sigma Alpha Chi was announced Saturday evening.

Sigma Gamma

Miss Edith Start announced the engagement of Miss Doris Sprague '27 to Arthur R. Hill '27, a member of the Sigma Alpha Chi Fraternity.

Miss Mary F. Northrop '21 of this city was married to Everett S. Wallis '21 of Annapolis, Md., on June 26th. Mr. Wallis received his Master of Arts Degree in 1923 from Princeton University and the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1925. Dr. and Mrs. Wallis are living in Annapolis where Dr. Wallis is teaching in St. John's College.

Miss Kathryn A. Recor '24 of Stowe became the bride of Mr. Charles W. Knickerbocker on June 26th.

Miss Dorothy M. Norris ex '28 of this city was married to John W. Mulford of Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Mulford are attending Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery.

W. A. A.

Although it is pretty early in the year to give any definite news of the W. A. A. yet what tentative plans there are may be put forth. Of course the big rally will be October 30th and it is well to start working right away for that rally. One of the first things the Freshmen can do is to start to keep a health card. For every health card, you get twenty-five points.

Class teams in hockey will be picked as soon as there has been practice enough to determine the outstanding players. Then the inter-class game will be played off, the points gained to go towards the all-sports cup. Twenty-seven has held the cup for three years, now—give them a little competition this year.

Horseback riding classes are conducted in connection with the gymnasium work. This counts as out-of-door exercise toward your points just as much as anything else and every one wants to be able to ride well, too.

So there is plenty of exercise and plenty of things girls can do to win their numerals, emblems and sweaters. Everyone should come out this year, working for class and for herself.

Statistics at the University of Ohio show that any student wishing to take every course in the curriculum would graduate at the end of 2190, providing he did not flunk in any course. The regular run of courses seems sufficient to keep us here for some time.

CORONA

THE PORTABLE TYPEWRITER

that is equal to all office machines.

PRICED AT

$60.00

Terms if desired.

L. P. WOOD

Sporting Goods Store

78 CHURCH STREET

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS CAMP FOR FRESHMEN AT ABNAKI

Freshman Camp was held at Camp Abnaki, North Hero Island, for three days beginning September 10. Its design was primarily to have the men of the Freshman class come to know each other and to learn what they would be facing, on their entrance at the University.

Ralph Maxted, college secretary, lead open discussions bringing out many interesting questions that confront the beginner in his college career. Upperclassmen explained the different college activities and answered questions. Bishop Booth gave talks on morals and the many activities that attract the college man from his main purpose, the gaining of a higher education. More interesting and beneficial advice was given by Mr. Roy Coombs. He appealed to the men to live clean lives and work toward a definite goal. Mr. Jacob Fam, an Egyptian student, spoke on International Relationships. The freshness of his ideas could not fail to broaden his hearers views and understanding of this great question.

The afternoons were devoted to baseball, basketball, swimming, boating, tennis and other sports. By the time camp broke up those present had thoroughly absorbed the spirit of the place and sincerely wished that the three days allotted might be prolonged to a week.

HOWARD'S APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP

Phone 3171 43 Church St.

Students' Trade Appreciated

Football Practice Late in Starting

(Continued from page 1)

of reserve strength is a serious problem as well as the poor physical condition of the squad

The probability is that the Green and Gold team will emerge from the fray crippled more or less seriously Prospects for the rest of the season depend on just how seriously it is crippled.

Two Princeton students who called for their Junior Promenade dates in a horse and buggy found the ride more successful than they had expected it to be. Many boys on bicycles acted as a whooping escort during the drive and many motorists solemnly fell in behind.

Cap: You remind me of the wild sea waves.

Kid: Oh-h-h, because I am restless and unconquered?

Cap: No. Because you're all wet and you make me sick.—Columbia Jester.

SCHEAFFER

Lifetime Pens and Pencils

▲ ▲ ▲

F. J. Preston & Son

JEWELERS

17 Upper Church St.

The tuition at Williams College has been increased to $400.00, to be effective next year. The board of trustees report that the cost of educating the student will be $285.00 more than the paid tuition.

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP

97½ Church St.

1 FLIGHT UP

Excellent service for Ladies and Gents

Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says

Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

$25 00	$ 5.00	$ 2 00
30 00	6 00	2 40
35 00	7 00	2 80
40 00	8.00	3 20
45 00	9 00	3 60
50 00	10 00	4 00
55 00	11 00	4 40
60 00	12 00	4 80
65 00	13 00	5 20
70 00	14.00	5 60
75 00	15 00	6 00

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS

Turk's

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

TO-DAYS BILL

2:15 Comedy Team
2:30 Ventriloquist
2:50 Trained Seals
3:00 Orchestra
3:15 "A Night in Jail"
3:45 Lightning Artist
4:00 Song & Dance
4:15 News Reel
4:30 "A Hot Dog's L
5:00 Grand Finale

Why not—a vaudeville manager for "faculty adviser"?

NOBODY understands the principle of a balanced program better than the manager of a vaudeville house.

That's a thought to you men now making out your study programs. Balance the chemistry with English literature; balance your calculus with economics.

It all gets down to the fact that in industry today, electrical communication included, you will find men well-grounded in their specialty but broad in human sympathies—men of the "all-around" type who can shoulder big responsibility in a big organization.

Published for the Communication Industry by

Western Electric Company

Makers of the Nation's Telephones

Number 61 of a Series

SCABBARD & BLADE ELECTS

Blade society held ... of the year in the ... mission of officers took ... following result: Cap ... Sergeant Elliot ... Assistant ... Sergeant Elliot ... 3. The meeting ... of the pep rally and ... Plans were discussed ... the ... that which is to take ... place on the ... on 11th of November.

SOPHS BAG HORDES OF FROSH IN FIRST WEEK

Heading ... and of the wilds and ... fact that the open season ... the verdant Frosh had ... Sophomores gathered ... in the college town of ... wise fools were in ... about the town from ... the ... of the week. Clad in ... class clothes which had ... discarded by some ... the Sophomores ... appearance which ... them from all other ... the town. Riding about ... their dilapidated char... which made noises similar to the ... of a battery of heavy artillery ... inspired awe and many ... men who scurried when ... the fierce steeds of the Sopho... bore down upon them. Dur... Monday and all day ... the class of 1929 chased ... merrily through the ... streets of the peaceful town. ... doubled fists of the ... which were laid hard and ... against the ugly ... monstrosities called ... Frosh also gathered to... purpose of maintain... well-being, but the ... morons stalked their ... and when the herds were suffi... they attacked the Frosh ... force to commit assault ...

... residents of the Sopho... hunt may be re... space is not available. ... was the hard day on the ... The "wise men" ... several specimens of the ... and placed them on exhibition ... of a mail box, that the ... could have their fill ... contemplating the funny ... ludicrous attitudes.

... day dawned fair and ... rain coming down in large ... The day was an ideal one ... the verdant enormities. The ... clambered on their sturdy ... with the aid of lassoes ... as many as a hundred speci... of the Frosh. The captives were ... fraternity collars and were later taken out in the coun... to be ... in their natural en... to propagate. Most of the Frosh were lured by the town and came back for more punishment.

About the end of the hunting season when ... were to meet by the Howard Fountain to drink their fill, the least said the better. A gentle... pulled the trigger of his Mauser ... and the drinking party ended after ... three minutes. Few ... aided the Frosh in gulp... the ... water. After a short ... Sophomores will have a chance to ... the Frosh in the Cane ... which comes October 9, at ...

News Briefs

The ... entrance to College Row ... lights remodeled. A ... will ... directly in the middle of the ... has been cut down and the ... widened ... its re... moval.

... Commons has moved from ... Howard Street and is now located in the ... on Henry Street.

The ... Band held their first meeting ... Tuesday evening at which time ... Thayer announced the ... that ... be ... this year ... band ... paid. The ... has ... attention in the ... Wednesday ... to arrange ap... dates for ... for individual ... to ... in a ... ... from White's Studio, who will be ... from nine days September 28, to ...

... Juniors have enrolled ... the ... military class to date.

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
... Church and Pearl Sts.
... P. M.
... to be made for ...

SPEAKING OF SPORT

Jess B Hawley, famous Dartmouth ... coach, whose team last year ... time and again through ... opposing lines, winning every ... pilloried says that the secret of ... ... Green successes has ...

... more than anything ... is the factor responsible for such ... as I have had as a football coach ...

... an engineering fact, he points out, that seven men, within their mo... tions with an exactness that enables the eleven to hit the opposing line as ... man can smash through much heavier opponents with an ease that would be utterly impossible if the shock of attack were untimed, unsynchronized, without rhythm.

... means in thinking and not ... eleven eager men on a foot... ball team an almost irresistible advan... over another eleven that has not ... to coordinate the actions of ... into team rhythm. It is ... of the most essential qualities of a successful football team, both as an offensive and as a defensive measure.

Probably almost any coach could in ... a team if he had a ... army of assistants. Jess Haw... ley ... the only coach who realizes the value of a concerted charge.

Coach Latty expects to start track ... with the Annual Fall Interclass Track Meet. This will give him a chance to look over the newcomers whom are expected to fill the shoes of last year's State Champions who grad... uated. There may also be a Cross Country run.

Coach Latty will again favor with a series of articles on "Track Dope." These will start soon and will prob... ably be run in every Friday's issue.

As soon as the courts are available the Annual Fall Tennis Tournament will be run off. This will give Coach Carpenter an opportunity to look over the yearling aspirants for the team. Four letter men remain from last year's team, Captain Guild having graduated and Shaw having left col... lege. There is a possibility of a fall match with Middlebury soon, but Manager Egan has not definitely ar... ranged a date.

The physical examinations for Freshman men were held in the exam... ination rooms of the gym this week.

The ... of another prosperous year for the band are bright. About sixty five students have already re... ported for practice of which number nearly thirty are Freshmen. With "Joe" Lechnyr again leading the Band, he should present a record performance this year.

The Student Senate will have its first meeting of the year Saturday at 10 o'clock in the morning at Room 1 South College. All members are ... to attend.

At a recent meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet the following men were added for the year: Jasper Knox, M '29, Peter Brikiatis '29, and Delbert Merrill '28.

A ... and a mosquito have so much in common. Both of them can ... and sting, and both are very fond of the great open spaces. Ex

The men at the University of Minne... sota have agreed that the perfect wom... an must have these qualities: Be a brunette, with blue eyes, plump, must ... smoke or use liquor, and must be ... and intellectual. Girls, take ...

When the students at Lafayette Col... ege tried to raid a show, the police threw tear bombs in their midst. When the smoke of battle cleared away, 70 unfortunates found themselves in the ... of the law.

Tel. 607-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

HONOR LIST INCLUDES FIFTY-SEVEN NAMES

There are more women honor stu... dents than men honor students ac... cording to the figures recently pub... lished by the Registrar. Seven per... cent of the men were on the Honor List for the second semester of the ... 1928-1929 as against 14 per cent ... of the women for the same period. Out of 336 men students in the classes of 1927, 1928, and 1929, 23 found a place on the List. Out of 258 women in the same classes 36 were placed on the List. The men were distinctly out... classed in the race for scholastic honors.

The Honor List as announced is as follows:

1927

G. J. Alfred, Dorothea Baker, Mar... garet C. Barrows, Ralph H. Blodgett, ... Brobank, Eleanor Chapman, ... Cutler, Gladys Ford, Doris Harbour, J. L. Kimball, W. M. Lock... wood, Virginia Margie, Imelda E. Mor... rissette, Milton B. Ricker, Edna Rowell, Anna P. Ward, Mrs. Elizabeth Warner Morrill, Carl H. Wedell.

1928

Faith P. Baldwin, Alma E. Batten, Laura P. Bliss, Frances M. Dimick, Lucy E. Galli, L. M. Humphrey, Mar... guerite Margie, Della E. Martin, U. R. Merikangas, G. R. Perry, Marjorie A. Purington, Theodore F. Rich, Muriel Richardson, Mildred Roberts, R. L. Stevens, Eleanor Taft, Ruth E. Westin, Elizabeth White, Cedric Wolfe.

1929

Alice Bellmore, Lucille Brunelle, Dorothy Claflin, Charlotte Cleveland, Margaret A. Durick, Wallace M. Greene, P. D. Hammond, S. G. Hanson, Genevieve Hook, Gladys Kone, Esper... ance L. Lanpher, Mollie Levin, J. G. Medlar, Francis F. O'Keefe, C. B. Orton, C. H. Overly, Bruce E. Palmer, Abraham Poverman, Allen E. Sargent, J. Scutakes, Dorothy Small, Irene O. Witkus.

FRESHMAN GRID MEN TURN OUT IN FORCE

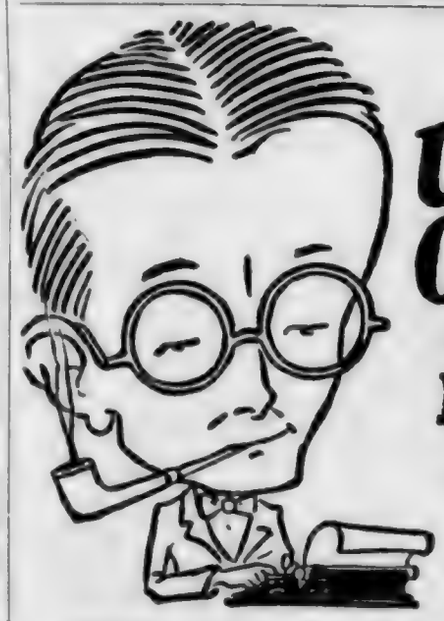
About forty candidates for the Freshman Football Team turned out last Saturday to Captain Rattan, who will coach the yearlings this season. The first few days were given over to the fundamentals of the game only, such as blocking, passing, etc. There was no signal drill nor scrimmage dur... ing the first few practice sessions. The material is very good this year and a well balanced fast and heavy team ought to be picked before the first game with Troy Conference Academy. All positions are open however and there is plenty of chance for new... comers. Manager Moodie has com... pleted the following schedule:

A debate was recently delivered en... tirely in French by American born students of Boston and Holy Cross Colleges.

The Old Bee Hive

WELCOME TO
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
Silk Stockings that Wear
$1.85, $1.95,
$2.25 or $2.50 Pr.

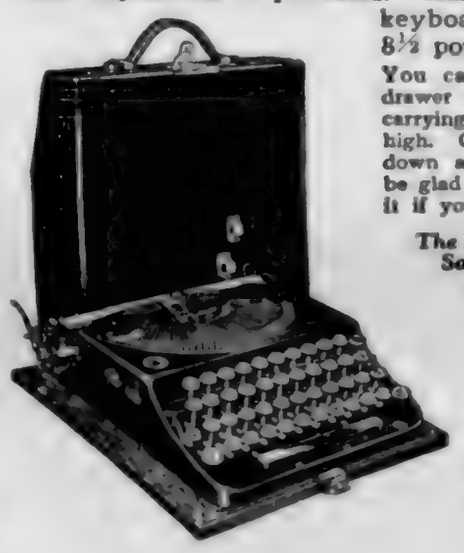
Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need



A course in etiquette was recently ... for Tufts College, with a ... that the men and women of ... such a democratic institution must ... among them students who lack ... both the knowledge and the practice ... of proper dress, speech, and personal ...

Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)
There are a number of ... books for the first ... here. The Shoppe will ... second-hand texts for ... the year.
Telephone 2155

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50



BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1896

Use the Old Bean of course — but use the Remington Portable too!

YOU can't get through college without using your head, but you can lighten the drudgery of writing long reports and theses by using a Remington Portable. This handy typewriter is "made to order" for students. It is the lightest, most compact, simplest to operate, and most dependable of portables. Has four-row standard keyboard. Weighs only 8½ pounds, net.

You can tuck it away in a drawer when not needed—the carrying case is only 4 inches high. Can be bought for $10 down and $5 monthly. We'll be glad to tell you more about it if you'll let us.

The Recognized Leader in Sales and Popularity

W. H. SHERMAN
104 Church St.
Burlington, Vt.

CARL B. STRONG
72 North Willard St.
Burlington, Vt.

REMINGTON TYPEWRITER COMPANY
Howard National Bank Bldg.
186 College St.
Burlington, Vt.

College Directory

... leading Ver... organizations is published below for the benefit of new students:

... Denning, M
... Manager ... '27.
Baseball: Captain W. J. Morse '27,
Manager L. H. Marvin '27.
Basketball: Captain L. H. Marvin
Manager L. H. Averill '27.
... Captain C. G. Simpson '27,
Manager F. M. James '27.
Tennis: Captain Osborne Nye '27,
Manager T. M. Egan '27.
... Captain L. A. Reynolds
... S. Denning, M
... '27.
... President F. H. Sears
Glee Club: President F. H. Sears
Cynic: Editor J. B. Phelps
... Lockwood '27.
... Phelps '28, Man-
... W. F. Kenyon '28.
Freshman Handbook: Editor G. R.
... '28, Manager M. I. Gould '28.
... Manager D. M. Rockwell
Y. M. C. A.: President C. H. Wedell
(resigned), C. M. Quad '28.
Student Senate: President W. M.
Lockwood '27.
Vermont Independents: President
... '27.
... Conference: Presi-
... C. H. Blackall '27.
Delta Zeta: President H. Aronson
Pi Delta Rho: President J. B.
Phelps '27.
Wig and Buskin: President O. F.
Parody '27.
Beta Kappa Alpha: President E. C.
Mower '27.
Press Club: President S. R. Bryan
'27.
Aggie Club: President H. A. Aron-
son '27
Senior Class: President C. G. Simp-
son.
Junior Class: President C. H.
Stevens.
Sophomore Class: President E. C.
Thorn

Honorary Societies

Builder (Senior): R. S. Aronson, Proctor; L. H. Averill, Malone, N. Y.; ... M. Egan, Underhill; B. J. Hum... Proctor; F. M. James, Hard...; W. M. Lockwood, Burlington; ... E. Lyon, St. Albans; E. J. Moodie, ...sbury; A. T. Post, Burlington; ... Simpson, Lyndonville.

Cap and Skull (Senior Medic): O. J. ...mero of Barre, R. J. Catlin of ...nton, A. O. Godfrey of Burlington, and W. M. Judd of Enosburg Falls.

Hubbard and Blade (Senior Military): H. A. Aronson, Proctor; L. H. ...erill, Malone, N. Y.; C. H. Blackall, ...Bristol, Conn.; E. L. Boyce, Waits-...; A. R. Hill, Winooski; W. M. ...wood, Burlington; E. J. Moodie, ...sbury; O. F. Parody, Peekskill, ... Y.; H. C. Sherwin, Wells River; ... Simpson, Lyndon Center; G. S. ...lcott, Williston

Key and Serpent (Junior): S. C. ...ell, St. Albans; H. C. Collins, ...ensboro Bend; J. T. Conway, New ...dford, Mass.; J. J. Curran, Florence, ...; R. T. Holden, Bennington; ... H. Marvin, Essex Junction; A. W. ...ew, New York, N. Y.; J. A. Smith, ...ham, Mass.; C. H. Stevens, Win...; G. S. Talcott, Williston; M. V. ...ylor, Jr., Richford; R. M. Whitcomb, ...ex Junction.

Tau Mu Epsilon (Senior Engineering): A. R. Hill, Winooski; D. C. ...den, Burlington; S. H. Martin, ...thlehem, Pa.; J. R. Morton, Mont...; N. J.; O. B. Nye, Highgate ...; C. G. Simpson, Lyndon Center; ... E. Southworth, Post Mills.

Gold Key (Sophomore): L. M. ...n, Barre; H. D. Elmer, Claremont, ... H.; P. M. Fitch, St. Johnsbury; ... Goldman, Brooklyn, N. Y.; W. S. ...l, Bennington; A. G. Mackay, ...ham; C. C. Macomber, Fairfax; ... M. Martinetti, Barre; H. R. Matti... Bennington; B. R. Morse, Burling...; F. J. O'Neill, St. Albans; A. W. ...son, Springfield, Mass.; J. R. Pike, ... Johnsbury; K. L. Price, Burling...; M. C. ...ng, Cambridge; L. E. ...n, E. Barre; F. E. Robbins, Brat...boro; L. R. Robinson, Pittsford ...; R. M. ... Rutland; G. B. R. ... Island, N. Y.; R. E. ... Jackson, Jr.

... coeds at the Uni... of ... have formed an ... which they hope ... other colleges. One of ... league is that no ... kissed unless she is ... Among the women who ... of the most popular ... campus. It is hoped ... spread to women ..., since they the in-

Let us show you how
BOSTONIANS
... feel on your feet
at Boynton's
65 Church St.

The Hot Box

Another illusion gone! From Vanity Fair and the movies we had gleaned the information that really spiffy gentlemen habitually wear silk pajamas of a tender blue or throbbing lavender, with a monogram, coat of arms or perhaps the ducal coronets embroidered on the pocket. So when the Gold Key rules for Freshmen were announced we said to ourselves, 'Aha! Now we shall see if Vermont men really measure up. Can they qualify for Vanity Fair?" And we awaited the test with mingled fear and hope.

Well, you know what we saw! Flannelette! O my Lord! Flannelette! With pink and blue stripes! That noise you just heard was our illusions getting shattered.

With brutal realism the Hot Box prints a song of the

SCHOLAR'S RETURN
(As It Really Is)

No! I had a rotten summer.
You know I'm not looking fine.
No, I didn't go to Europe
And I didn't go over the line!

You know I'm not looking fine.
I've lost at least ten pounds,
And this "isn't it great to be back" stuff
Isn't half as good as it sounds.

No, I didn't go to Europe.
I'm no blooming millionaire.

I worked on the trails this summer
In the hungry sun and rain

And I think I'm over-worn
What what have I brought with me?
...

I've learned six Indian songs and
One would make your hair turn gray!

A young Chinaman native of Nome
Went Uptown to Loew's one later.
Some time after dinner
Said a loss, the straw
"Get a doctor! I want a taxidermist"

Aunt Deborah wishes to announce that in the next few issues she will conduct a special course in Manners for Freshmen and so will not be able to take care of her usual correspondence once until the course is concluded.

STATIONERY,
MAGAZINES,
NEWSPAPERS
• • •
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

ALL MEDICAL SUPPLIES AND TEXTBOOKS
sold at
THE MEDICAL BOOK STORE

LUNCHES A SPECIALTY
at the
COFFEE CORNER
$5.00 book of 5c tickets for $4.50

Special College Merchandise
sold at
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Classified to represent different phases of college life
Necessities of a Student's Life
TEXTBOOKS NOTEBOOKS FOUNTAIN PENS
PAPER PENCILS INK
FURNISHINGS FOR A STUDENT'S ROOM
BANNERS PILLOWS BOOK-ENDS
CRESTS PAPER WEIGHT CALENDAR
WEEKLY DOZEN WRITTEN OF COLLEGE LIFE
STATIONERY
SPIRIT OF COLLEGE LIFE
PENNANTS JEWELRY NOVELTIES
MEMORIES OF COLLEGE DAYS
KODAKS, FILMS, MEMORY BOOKS

THEY'RE

Smoothest

That's why YOU CAN SMOKE THEM MORNING, NOON and NIGHT

Here's a cigarette you can smoke from cock's crow to curfew—without regret or after-effect. It took many years to discover the OLD GOLD way to mellow fine tobaccos so as to take all the harshness out and leave all the satisfaction in. Now you can enjoy this discovery in a few minutes or less, by stepping to the nearest cigarette counter and asking for OLD GOLD.

OLD GOLD

IT'S THE SMOOTH(EST) CIGARETTE 20 for 15 cents

The Product of P. LORILLARD CO., Est. 1760

SCABBARD & BLADE ELECTS

[illegible] Blade [illegible] ing of the year in the [illegible] of officers and [illegible] following names [illegible] Sheppard [illegible] The meeting [illegible] of the old cadet [illegible] which is to be [illegible] Those men elected [illegible] the Military Society

SOPHS BAG HORDES OF FROSH IN FIRST WEEK

[illegible] of the wilds and [illegible] fact that the open season [illegible] ing the verdant Frosh had been [illegible] Sophisticates gathered [illegible] in the college town of [illegible] wise fools were in [illegible] bout the town from the first [illegible] of the week. Clad in garments [illegible] Chase clothes which had been [illegible] discarded by some [illegible] ante, the Sophomores presented a appearance which distinguished them from all other inhabitants of the town. Riding about the streets their dilapidated chariots with [illegible] noises similar to the roar of [illegible] of heavy artillery the Frosh inspired awe and many were the [illegible] who scurried when they saw [illegible] steeds of the Sophomores bearing down upon them. During [illegible] Tuesday and all day Wednesday the class of 1929 cleaved the [illegible] merrily through the [illegible] of the peaceful town. Many [illegible] doubled fists of the [illegible] which were laid hard and [illegible] against the ugly [illegible] monstrosities called [illegible] Frosh also gathered together for the purpose of maintaining their [illegible] well-being, but the [illegible] Sophomores stalked their [illegible] the herds were sufficiently [illegible] they attacked the Frosh with sufficient force to commit assault [illegible]

[illegible] incidents of the Sophos' picturesque hunt may be recounted, as space is not available [illegible] was the hard day on the Frosh [illegible] The "wise men" [illegible] several specimens of the Frosh and placed them on exhibition on the top of a mail box, that the [illegible] could have their fill of [illegible] contemplating the funny [illegible] in their ludicrous attitudes.

[illegible] the day dawned fair and [illegible] rain coming down in large [illegible] The day was an ideal one to [illegible] the verdant enormities. The [illegible] clambered on their sturdy [illegible] and with the aid of lassoes [illegible] as many as a hundred specimens of the Frosh. The captives were [illegible] in various fraternity cellars and were later taken out in the country to be [illegible] in their natural environments to propagate. Most of the Frosh were lured by the town and came back for more punishment.

About the end of the hunting season when the stags were to meet by the Howard fountain to drink their fill the least said the better. A gentleman pulled the trigger of his Mauser [illegible] and the drinking party ended after lasting only three minutes. Few Sophomores found the Frosh in quipping the [illegible] water. After a short respite the Sophomores will have a chance to [illegible] the Frosh in the Cane Rush which comes October 9, at [illegible]

News Briefs

The [illegible] entrance to College Row has been slightly remodeled. A tree which was directly in the middle of the [illegible] has been cut down and the road has been widened by six to seven [illegible]

Zeta [illegible] fraternity has moved from 59 [illegible] Street and is now located in its [illegible] on Henry Street.

The [illegible] Board held their first meeting [illegible] Sunday at which time Kenneth [illegible] Phipps outlined the work that [illegible] to make this year's book the best ever published. The [illegible] has [illegible] afternoon in the Williams [illegible] Field for arranging appointments [illegible] sittings for individual portraits [illegible] by a representative from Wilson Studio who will be here [illegible] days September 22, to [illegible]

Twenty-nine Juniors have enrolled in the advanced military class to date.

THE [illegible]DEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
[illegible] Church and Pearl Sts.
11:00 A. M.—7 P. M.
[illegible] arrangements can be made for [illegible] and Parties

SPEAKING OF SPORT

Jess F Hawley famous Dartmouth football coach whose team last year [illegible] over and again through [illegible] opposing lines winning every game played says that the secret of the spectacular Green successes lies in [illegible]

Rhythm more than anything else is the factor responsible for such success as I have had as a football coach he states

It is an engineering fact he points out that eleven men pulling their weight with an exactness that enables the eleven to hit the opposing line as one man can smash through much heavier opponents with an ease that would be utterly impossible if the shock of attack were unaligned unless executed without rhythm

Timed unison in thinking and action gives eleven eager men on a football team an almost irresistible advantage over another eleven that has not learned to coordinate the actions of individuals into team rhythm It is one of the most essential qualities of a successful football team both as an offensive and as a defensive measure

Probably almost any coach could in time produce out of a team if he had a small army of assistants Jess Hawley isn't the only coach who realizes the value of a concerted charge

Coach Latty expects to start track soon with the Annual Fall Interclass Track Meet This will give him a chance to look over the newcomers whom are expected to fill the shoes of last year's State Champions who graduated There may also be a Cross Country run

Coach Latty will again favor with a series of articles on "Track Dope" These will start soon and will probably be run in every Friday's issue.

As soon as the courts are available the Annual Fall Tennis Tournament will be run off. This will give Coach Carpenter an opportunity to look over the yearling aspirants for the team Four letter men remain from last year's team Captain Guild having graduated and Shaw having left college There is a possibility of a fall match with Middlebury soon, but Manager Egan has not definitely arranged a date

The physical examinations for Freshman men were held in the examination rooms of the gym this week

The prospects of another prosperous year for the band are bright About sixty-five students have already reported for practice of which number seventy-three are Freshmen With Jos Lecluse again leading the Band, he should present a record performance this year

The Student Senate will have its first meeting of the year Saturday at 10 o'clock in the morning at Room 1 Science College All members are requested to attend

At a recent meeting of the Y M C A cabinet the following men were elected for the year Jasper Knox, M '29 Peter Brikratis '29, and Delbert Merrill '28

A cowboy and a mosquito have so much in common Both of them can ride and stock and both are very fond of the great open spaces—Ex.

The men at the University of Minnesota have agreed that the perfect woman must have these qualities Be a brunette with blue eyes, plump must not smoke or use liquor, and must be refined and intellectual Girls take notice

When the students at Lafayette College tried to raid a show, the police threw tear bombs in their midst When the smoke of battle cleared away, 70 undergraduates found themselves in the clutches of the law

Tel. 597-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

HONOR LIST INCLUDES FIFTY-SEVEN NAMES

There [illegible] men women honor students [illegible] being this year Latest students are according to the figures recently published by the Registrar Seven per cent of the men were on the Honor List for the second semester of the year 1926-1927 as against 11 per cent of the women for the same period Out of the total students in the classes of 1927 1928 and 1929 57 found a place on the List out of 18 women in the entire classes 39 were placed on the List The men were distinctly outclassed by the men for scholastic honors

The Honor List as announced is as follows

1927

G J Alfred Dorothea Baker, Margaret C Barrows Ralph H Blodgett Lois Burbank Eleanor Chapman, Claire Cormier Gladys Ford, Doris Harbour J L Kimball W M Lockwood Vincenzia Marzec Imelda E Morrissette Milton B Ricker, Edna Russell Anna P Ward Mrs Elizabeth Warner Morrill Carl H Wedell

1928

Faith P Baldwin Alma E Batten, Laura P Bliss Frances M Dunick, Lucy E Gove L M Humphrey, Marguerite Marzec Delia E Martin, U R Merikangas G R Perry, Marjorie A Pierrepont Theodore F Rich, Muriel Richardson Mildred Roberts, R L Stevens Eleanor Taft Ruth E Westin, Elizabeth White Cedric Wolfe.

1929

Alice Baltimore Lucille Brunelle, Dorothy Claflin, Charlotte Cleveland, Margaret A Durick, Wallace M Green, P D Hammond, S G Hanson, Genevieve Hook, Gladys Kone, Esperance L Lanpher, Mollie Levin, J G Medlar Francis F O'Keefe, C B Orton, C H Overly, Bruce E Palmer, Abraham Poverman, Allen E Sargent, J Scutakes, Dorothy Small, Irene O Wilkins

FRESHMAN GRID MEN TURN OUT IN FORCE

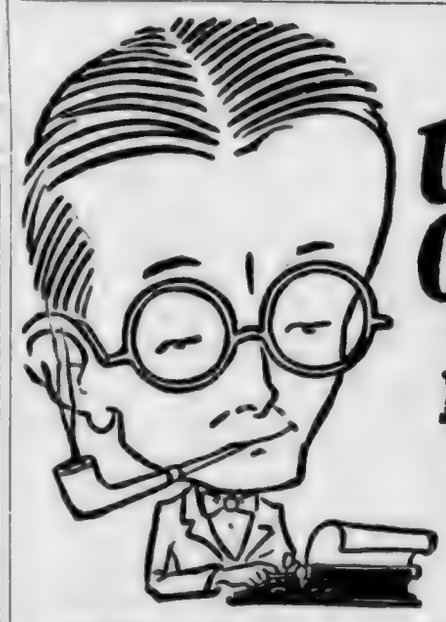
About forty candidates for the Freshman Football Team turned out last Saturday to Captain Rattan, who will coach the yearlings this season. The first few days were given over to the fundamentals of the game only, such as blocking, passing, etc. There was no signal drill nor scrimmage during the first few practice sessions. The material is very good this year and a well balanced fast and heavy team ought to be picked before the first game with Troy Conference Academy. All positions are open however and there is plenty of chance for newcomers Manager Moodie has completed the following schedule:

A debate was recently delivered entirely in French by American born students of Boston and Holy Cross Colleges

The Old Bee Hive

WELCOME TO
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
Silk Stockings that Wear
$1.85, $1.95,
$2.25 or $2.50 Pr.

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need



A course in etiquette was recently proposed for Tufts College, with a statement that the men and women of such a democratic institution must have among them students who lack both the knowledge and the practice of proper dress, speech, and personal conduct

Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
Opposite Dormitories
There are a [illegible] books for the [illegible] here. The Shoppe [illegible] ond-hand texts [illegible] the year.
Telephone [illegible]

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1898

Use the Old Bean of course — but use the Remington Portable too!

YOU can't get through college without using your head, but you can lighten the drudgery of writing long reports and theses by using a Remington Portable. This handy typewriter is "made to order" for students. It is the lightest, most compact, simplest to operate, and most dependable of portables. Has four-row standard keyboard. Weighs only 8½ pounds, net.

You can tuck it away in a drawer when not needed—the carrying case is only 4 inches high. Can be bought for $10 down and $5 monthly. We'll be glad to tell you more about it if you'll let us.

The Recognized Leader in Sales and Popularity
W. H. SHERMAN
104 Church St.
Burlington, Vt.

CARL B. STRONG
72 North Willard St.
Burlington, Vt.

REMINGTON TYPEWRITER COMPANY
Howard National Bank Bldg.
186 College St.
Burlington, Vt.

College Directory

...t the leading Ver... organizations is ... the benefit of new ...

...ain W. S. Denning, M ... Aronson '27.
...n W. J. Morse '27, ...Marvin '27.
...ptain L. H. Marvin ... Averill '27.
...n C. G. Simpson '27. ...James '27.
...n Osborne Nye '27, ...an '27.
...tain L. A. Reynolds ...

...in W. S. Denning, M ... M. Egan '27.
President F. H. Sears ...

... Editor J. B. Phelps ... M. Lockwood '27. ... J. O. Phelps '28, Man... ...th '28.
...dbook: Editor G. R. ...er M. I. Gould '28. ... Manager D. M. Rockwell ...

... President C. H. Wedell ... M. Quad '28.
...s: President W. M. ...
...pendents: President ... '27.
...Conference: Presi... H. Blackall '27.
... President H. Aronson ...
...Phi Delta Rho: President J. B. ...
...and Buskin: President O. F. ...
...Kappa Alpha: President E. C. Mower '27.
Press Club: President S. R. Bryan ...
Annie Club: President H. A. Aron... '27.
Senior Class: President C. G. Simp...
Junior Class: President C. H. Stevens.
Sophomore Class: President E. C. Thorn.

Honorary Societies

Boulder (Senior): R. S. Aronson, ...land; L. H. Averill, Malone, N. Y.; ... M. Egan, Underhill; B. J. Hum...phrey, Proctor; F. M. James, Hard...wick; W. M. Lockwood, Burlington; R. E. Lyon, St. Albans; E. J. Moodie, ...tsbury; A. T. Post, Burlington; ... Simpson, Lyndonville.

... and Skull (Senior Medic): O. J. ...zzero of Barre, R. J. Catlin of ...wanton, A. O. Godfrey of Burlington, and W. M. Judd of Enosburg Falls.

...bbard and Blade (Senior Milit...): H. A. Aronson, Proctor; L. H. Averill, Malone, N. Y.; C. H. Blackall, Bristol, Conn.; E. L. Boyce, Waits...; A. R. Hill, Winooski; W. M. Lockwood, Burlington; E. J. Moodie, ...tsbury; O. F. Parody, Peekskill, N. Y.; H. C. Sherwin, Wells River; ... Simpson, Lyndon Center; G. S. ...lcott, Williston.

... and Serpent (Junior): S. C. ... St. Albans; H. C. Collins, ...nsboro Bend; J. T. Conway, New Bedford, Mass.; J. J. Curran, Florence, Mass.; R. T. Holden, Bennington; L. H. Marvin, Essex Junction; A. W. ... New York, N. Y.; J. A. Smith, Dedham, Mass.; C. H. Stevens, Winooski; G. S. Talcott, Williston; M. V. Taylor, Jr., Richford; R. M. Whitcomb, ... Junction.

Kappa Nu Epsilon (Senior Engineering): A. R. Hill, Winooski; D. C. London, Burlington; S. H. Martin, ...lehem, Pa.; J. R. Morton, Montchair, N. J.; O. B. Nye, Highgate ... G. Simpson, Lyndon Center; ... Southworth, Post Mills.

... Key (Sophomore): L. M. ... Barre; H. D. Elmer, Claremont, ... P. M. Fitch, St. Johnsbury; ... Brooklyn, N. Y.; W. S. ... Burlington; A. G. Mackay, ... C. Macomber, Fairfax; ... Martinetti, Barre; H. R. Matti... Burlington; B. R. Morse, Burling... P. J. O'Neill, St. Albans; A. W. ... Springfield, Mass.; J. R. Pike, ...sbury; K. L. Price, Burlington; M. C. Lang, Cambridge; L. E. ...ark, E. Barre; F. E. Robbins, Brattleboro; L. R. Robinson, Pittsford ... M. Tracey, Rutland; G. B. R. ... Staten Island, N. Y.; R. E. ... Falls.

...nd co-eds at the Uni... California have formed an ...ague which they hope ... other colleges. One of ... the league is that no ...d be kissed unless she is ... Among the women who ... some of the most popular ... campus. It is hoped ... will spread to women ...leges, since they the in...eds.

Let us show you how
BOSTONIANS
... feel on your feet
at Boynton's
65 Church St.

The Hot Box

Another illusion gone! From Vanity Fair and the movies we had gleaned the information that really spiffy gentlemen habitually wear silk pajamas of a tender blue or throbbing lavender, with a monogram, coat-of-arms or perhaps the ducal coronets embroidered on the pocket. So when the Gold Key rules for Freshmen were announced we said to ourselves, "Aha! Now we shall see if Vermont men really measure up. Can they qualify for Vanity Fair?" And we awaited the test with mingled fear and hope.

Well you know what we saw! Flannelette! O my Lord! Flannelette! With pink and blue stripes! That noise you just heard was our illusions getting shattered.

With brutal realism the Hot Box prints a song of the

SCHOLAR'S RETURN
(As It Really Is)

No! I had a rotten summer,
You know I'm not looking fine.
No, I didn't go to Europe
And I didn't go over the line!

You know I'm not looking fine.
I've lost at least ten pounds,
And this "isn't it great to be back" stuff
Isn't half as good as it sounds.

No, I didn't go to Europe,
I'm no blooming millionaire.
I worked on the roads this summer
In the lovely sun and air.

And I didn't go over the line—
Well, what have I brought with me?
Say!
I've learned six Italian cuss-words
That would make your hair turn gray!

A young Christian maiden of Nator
Was thrown to lions; but later,
Some time after dinner
Said a lion, the sinner,
"Get a doctor! I ain't gladiator!"

Aunt Deborah wishes to announce that in the next few issues she will conduct a special course in Manners for Freshmen and so will not be able to take care of her usual correspondence until the course is concluded.

STATIONERY,
MAGAZINES,
NEWSPAPERS
• • •
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

ALL MEDICAL SUPPLIES AND TEXTBOOKS
sold at
THE MEDICAL BOOK STORE

LUNCHES A SPECIALTY
at the
COFFEE CORNER
$5.00 book of 5c tickets for $4.50

Special College Merchandise
sold at
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Classified to represent different phases of college life
Necessities of a Student's Life
TEXTBOOKS NOTEBOOKS FOUNTAIN PENS
PAPER PENCILS INK
FURNISHINGS FOR A STUDENT'S ROOM
BANNERS PILLOWS BOOK-ENDS
CRESTS PAPER WEIGHT CALENDAR
WEEKLY DOZEN WRITTEN OF COLLEGE LIFE
STATIONERY
SPIRIT OF COLLEGE LIFE
PENNANTS JEWELRY NOVELTIES
MEMORIES OF COLLEGE DAYS
KODAKS, FILMS, MEMORY BOOKS

THEY'RE

Smooth est
That's why YOU CAN SMOKE THEM
MORNING, NOON and NIGHT

Here's a cigarette you can smoke from cock's crow to curfew—without regret or after-effect. It took many years to discover the OLD GOLD way to mellow fine tobaccos so as to take all the harshness out and leave all the satisfaction in. Now you can enjoy this discovery in a few minutes or less, by stepping to the nearest cigarette counter and asking for OLD GOLD.

OLD GOLD

IT'S THE SMOOTH(EST) CIGARETTE 20 for 15 cents

The Product of P. LORILLARD CO., Est. 1760

VERMONT CATAMOUNTS WILL MEET SEVERAL VETERAN AGREGATIONS

Dope From Columbia, Syracuse and Norwich Indicates Strong Teams

Columbia Line Up Nearly Settled

Head [illegible] Columbia Coaches of the [illegible] football squad [illegible] has five [illegible] line up which will oppose [illegible] and Good graduates [illegible] a big opening [illegible] contest [illegible] The team is expected [illegible] an [illegible] Furey and Ira [illegible] Kerrigan and Roy [illegible] Shaw and Allen [illegible] guards [illegible] center Kaplan, [illegible] quarterback [illegible] captain Madden and Scott [illegible] and Empringham [illegible] fullback

Cy Th[illegible] who was kept out of the [illegible] of the games last year because [illegible] ties will handle the leading [illegible] game. Other good kickers [illegible] Capt. Madden. There [illegible] the latter a member of the F[illegible] squad last year.

Mount [illegible] substitute fullback last year [illegible] the squad last week and the [illegible] the Lions another tripped [illegible]s of no mean ability. Kaplan [illegible]ter last year under Coach [illegible] useful eye makes him the first [illegible] for quarterback. Mike Scott will [illegible]ing his third year as a Varsity [illegible] while Captain Madden will be [illegible] second Mount Norris the [illegible] rookie star will also be [illegible] second year on the Varsity.

Brady and Furey will have an end job [illegible] year. Last year Ray Wagner [illegible] own the right wing position [illegible]ady and Furey alternating [illegible] other wing position. Wagner [illegible] lost by graduation. Ross [illegible] his second year of Varsity [illegible] and holding one of the [illegible] be remembered as being [illegible]ng star on the Lions good [illegible] encounter with the Aggies [illegible] although he is only 18 years [illegible]

Coach [illegible] and his assistants have [illegible] experimenting with the backfield [illegible] this year but they are undecided [illegible]ther to use it.

Syracuse Has Old Team Back

With the Vermont Catamounts [illegible] this year they will be meeting [illegible] a veteran line-up. The shifting [illegible] Whitman, substitute center [illegible] to the position of running [illegible] and Harvey Levy from tackle [illegible] guard makes this possible.

Levy [illegible] played tackle and guard alternately [illegible] his Sophomore year and is [illegible] in either position. He plays [illegible] center on defense.

[illegible] and Jimmy Bayley will be the [illegible] Captain Vic Hanson and Joe [illegible]ska the ends and Gus Preedin [illegible] center position. Gotch Carr will [illegible] full instead of right half [illegible] Ray Barbuti the [illegible] quarterback. Wells Clark [illegible] fullback while Charlie Cook will [illegible]

Norwich Has Promising Squad

Coach [illegible] Graham the new coach at Norwich has a very promising squad [illegible] the cadet eleven from this [illegible] There are a large number [illegible] and about a dozen [illegible] of the veterans Ross Sherman [illegible] bunch of last year's backfield [illegible] showing up well and with [illegible] away their old battle [illegible] Graham has no good [illegible] of the state squad of over [illegible] men. [illegible] and Sherman are [illegible] the backing and the latter [illegible] to the most promising [illegible] are counted on to do some [illegible] work in the backfield [illegible] year. Among the new candidates [illegible] is Donnelly an old Montpelier [illegible] star and one of the best [illegible] interscholastic football [illegible] According to Coach [illegible] he plenty of weight in the [illegible] and several men who would [illegible] the Coach Graham expects a good [illegible] out of Hamel [illegible] a man who ups the [illegible] Among veterans [illegible] who are showing up [illegible] Dave Lamb Ken [illegible] Hamel [illegible] last year's [illegible] who seem for the past three years [illegible] to all positions again. Kohn [illegible] and Mike are showing well [illegible] Pete and Cass Frost [illegible] seven letter Ward and Mann seem to be good prospects.

Middlebury Promises Fast Eleven

The Middlebury squad although [illegible] gives promise of a fast [illegible] the competition for positions [illegible] this year. The team will be [illegible] this year by five [illegible] veterans. Among the veterans who [illegible]

Fraternities Hold First Open House Wed., Sept. 29

(Continued from page 1)

Omega located on the southwest corner of Willard and College Streets. The Kappa Sigma House stands at the head of Williams on Pearl Street and [illegible] next on the west side of Williams is Sigma Nu Lodge.

Phi Mu Delta House is on the north side of College Street just above Willard, diagonally across from the Alpha Tau Omega. Tau Epsilon Phi is located at 16 Wilson Street which is the first street north of Pearl and parallel to it to the east of Prospect. Zeta Psi is newly located at 62 Henry Street which is the third street north of and parallel to Pearl Street and running from Willard Street to Manhattan Avenue.

Sigma Alpha Chi House is on the east side of Summit Street just north of Major. Sigma Alpha Chi and Delta Tau face one another. Sigma Delta House is on the north side of Main Street second below Willard.

IRA ALLEN CHAPEL TO BE DEDICATED DURING COMING COMMENCEMENT

Work on New Building Is Progressing Slowly as it Nears Completion

Upperclassmen returning to the campus this fall notice the great advance which has been made in the work on the Ira Allen Chapel during the summer. Although the building is still several months from completion the exterior is practically finished and the staging will probably be removed soon. The interior work is also well started. Many of the clerestories have been hung already. Although most of the chandeliers are still swathed in paper, the large one directly in the dome has been unwrapped displaying its hundreds of long prisms of glass.

To stand in the center of the floor and look up into the dome is, in itself, a great experience. The delicate tinting is beyond description.

The chapel tower is a landmark, from the Green Mountains to the Adirondacks. It can be seen from the top of Mount Mansfield, and is even visible from the train, well beyond Essex Junction. Although of course, work is not entirely finished in the tower, visitors are tolerated and the climb of 135 stairs is well rewarded by an even finer view than that from the Old Mill tower.

The Chapel Dedication will probably take place at Commencement, although the interior may be finished and the organ installed sometime before.

Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association held a sing at Redstone last Sunday afternoon which gave the Freshmen an opportunity to become better acquainted with both the song and the upperclasswomen.

Lives of students all remind us
We can make our lives sublime
And if we crib in our exams
We may pass sometime.

—Ex

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said
Lessons be damned,
I'm going to bed.

—Ex

[illegible] busy showing up well at the daily workouts are Captain Wiley Jones, Wallace Keem, Whittemore Branch and Custance Sinclair. Ladore Hinman and Barbuti. Wortley and Whittemore who started against Vermont last year are counted on to make a good showing this season. From the ranks Freshman team "Doc" Wright, Ethel Ransom, Spooner Cowee, Sherrill, Gustafson, Allen, Skinner, Gingras, Nylen and Helmeder are looking promising. The Wells River, St. Albans High star, Fur[illegible] a star last year's veteran who lost part of the season because of an in[illegible] will be available this season as well. Swede Hedstrom, a big fullback

Russell W. Parish
Jeweler & Optician
Burlington, Vermont

1926 SUMMER SCHOOL LARGEST IN HISTORY 813 STUDENTS ATTEND

The summer session of 1926 was the largest and most successful of any thus far held at the University. The attractions offered are constantly making a stronger appeal to students both in Vermont and in other states. The [illegible] for the past few years as shown in the table below indicates a consistent growth.

Year	Enrollment
1920	442
1921	532
1922	616
1923	558
1924	646
1925	711
1926	813

The geographical distribution of students attending the session of 1926 indicates that students of other states are coming to have greater interest in the opportunities offered here. During the session of 1926 the enrollment was distributed as follows:

California	1
Connecticut	32
Columbia, District of	3
Florida	3
Georgia	2
Kansas	2
Maine	8
New Hampshire	9
New York	91
New Jersey	37
Michigan	2
Massachusetts	67
Maryland	2
Nova Scotia	1
Ohio	5
Oregon	1
Pennsylvania	18
Rhode Island	15
South Carolina	1
Texas	1
Virginia	1
Vermont	511
Total	813

There were thirty-six members of the faculty including eighteen from the regular faculty at the University.

The courses offered included Biology, Economics, Education, English, Expression, Fine Arts, French, German, Greek, History, Latin, Mathematics, Music, Public School Art, Geography, Secretarial Subjects, Social Science, Physical Training and Spanish.

Plans are already under way for the summer session of 1927. It is expected that the offerings will be somewhat increased by the addition of courses.

The dates tentatively fixed for the session of 1927 are July 5 to August 14.

J. B. PHELPS NEW CYNIC EDITOR

At a meeting of the Cynic Board last Friday afternoon, September 17, J. Benham Phelps '27 was elected to succeed Raymond A. Lyon, resigned, as Editor-in-Chief of the Cynic. At this time some details concerning the semi-weekly paper were explained.

The reorganization of the staff is now practically complete with the exception of the Freshmen who are to be called out next week. Laura Bliss '28 is the new Humor editor and Whitney Safford '28 will act as Feature writer.

Emory Mower returned last Tuesday from Europe where he went after the R. O. T. C. camp at Camp Devens.

Ode.

[illegible]
Early and late [illegible]
Just as a hair [illegible]
Honor bright [illegible]
How I love you [illegible]

The contract [illegible] Harvard housing [illegible] houses for graduate [illegible] married.

Phone 3056-W.
For Sweets
SEE CANDYLAND
101 Church St.

THE BEST SODA
AT
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

When peg-tops were in flower

PRINCE ALBERT has been the campus favorite since the days of long-haired fullbacks, high button shoes, turtle-neck sweaters, and hand-painted dormitory cushions. This same wonderful tobacco is even more popular in these days of plus-fours.

And no wonder. Throw back the hinged lid of the familiar red tin and release that rare aroma of real tobacco! Tuck a load into your pipe and pull that fragrant P. A. smoke up the stem! That's Prince Albert, Fellows! Nothing like it anywhere.

When problems press and your spirits slip over into the minus column, just get out your jimmy-pipe and load up with this really friendly tobacco. P. A. is so kind to your tongue and throat and general disposition. Buy a tidy red tin today.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

arade to Centennial Field, Thursday Afternoon, at 4 P. M., From Gym—
Support Your Team With Your Presence!

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 BURLINGTON, VT., SEPTEMBER 28, 1926 NUMBER 2

ATERNITIES TO HOLD PEN HOUSE NIGHT FOR NEW MEN WEDNESDAY

ek Letter Societies Will ntertain Newcomers Four Nights in October evening from seven to the first of the open house held. All Freshmen are make the rounds of the houses.

e will be four more such eve- during October, which should every new man a chance to visit fraternity. The dates come every and Saturday evening up including October 16. The open night of Saturday October 9, has decided as the Freshman team be out of town at the time for game with the Dartmouth year-

e last two rules governing the ties of fraternity men and new regard each other were published the last issue of the CYNIC. Follow- are the remainder of these regula-

The Interfraternity Council will ablish five evenings in September October when fraternities may e Freshmen at their houses or ms from seven to ten in the eve- Entertainment shall be limited ngs and no fraternity matters be discussed at these meetings. cial invitations to open house may supplement the general ation to all students.

on the Monday following the last the open house nights, Freshmen assemble at 4 p. m. in the Chapel the Old Mill to receive date cards m representatives of different ernities, filling out the same as last, customary. A member of faculty who is a disinterested and yet competent shall be desig- by the Conference to meet the men as a body and to make such nations to them as are necessary on they go through the line.

During the same week, rushing five in number, will be held on dnesday, Thursday, Friday, and urday evenings, and Saturday noon. Evening dates will last m 6-12 p. m. and the afternoon e will be from 12-6 p. m. No frater- shall make more than two dates any one Freshman, only one of ch shall be an evening date.

From 12 p. m. Saturday, after last rushing date, until 6 p. m. day shall be a strictly neutra d during which time no active or associate member of an organization onging to the conference shall hold communication whatsoever, with w students.

(Continued on page 3)

ATAMOUNT YEARLINGS ROUNDING INTO SHAPE FOR BATTLE WITH T. C. A.

The Freshman Football Team is fast rounding into shape for its opening game with Troy Conference Academy on Centennial Field next Saturday. Practice has consisted mainly of tack- ing dummy, charging machine, punt- ing, passing and signal practice. The first scrimmage was held last Satur- day afternoon.

For quarterback, Dorey and Bray are showing up in good form. For halfbacks, Mitchell, DeRose, Car- penter and Donaldson are showing up well with speed and force. DeRose is showing nice form in punting and passing. At center Bloomstrom and Hall are both showing the ability of varsity stars.

Backfield: Soloff, Burnstein, Love, Nagy and Eddy are waging a great battle for the guard and tackle posi- tions. Saurson, Saia, the Wood- ruffs, Donnelly and others are engaged in a heated free for all for the end positions.

Coach Clark is assisting Coach Rat- terman with the line work. The coaches have in mind any measure decided on for the line-up and as the saying goes there are "eleven positions open" for the team of 1930.

All men in college interested in spring or fall track or cross-country (interclass and var-sity) are requested to gather at the gym Saturday, October 2, at 10 to 10:30 to meet Coach Latty, who will outline the plans for the year's track work.

TO INSTILL HABIT OF ENGAGING IN ATHLETICS AIM OF PHYSICAL DEPT.

Dr. Aldinger Would Have Every Man Fitted to Take Part in Sports If He Desired To

Dr. Aldinger's big objective in the work of the Physical Education Department this year is to get men in the habit of taking part in athletic sports so that if any man desires to enter a certain field of sport he may be able to do so.

The fundamentals of each sport will be taught so that everyone may be able to really understand a football, basketball or baseball game when he sees it.

The Physical Education program will take the form of seasonal activi- ties. Regular classes will commence Monday, September 27. The past week was spent in giving physical examina- tions to all Freshmen. Football funda- mentals will be taught until the first week in November. From November to April, basketball, fencing and track will replace football. Then baseball will take up the rest of the time until the end of the school year.

A few lessons in boxing will also be given during the winter season. Regu- lar classes in boxing will not be a reality until next year, owing to the financial difficulties of the Athletic Council.

PARADE TO FIELD THURS. TO WATCH TEAM PRACTICE

The Boulder society is sponsoring a parade to the Centennial Field Thurs- day afternoon to watch football prac- tice. The time is 4 p. m. It is hoped that arrangements can be made with the Military and Physical Education Department to omit the regular morn- ing classes and take attendance at this time instead of at the morning meet- ings.

ENROLLMENT OF NEW STUDENTS OVER 400

The latest figures on enrollment show a total of 419 new students at the University. Of this number 203 are women and 216 are men, which gives the men a very narrow majority to date. 282 of this number come from Vermont. If it were not for the contributions of neighboring states the co-eds would soon outnumber the male element. Of the 282, 167 are women and 115 are men.

The following table gives the locali- ties from which the entering class is drawn:

Locality	Women	Men
Vermont	167	115
Massachusetts	9	37
Connecticut	4	18
New York	8	22
Maine	1	2
New Hampshire	4	3
Delaware	1
Pennsylvania	3	2
Rhode Island	1
Maryland	1
New Jersey		5
West Virginia		1
Ohio		1
District of Columbia		5
Illinois	3
Georgia		1
Florida		1
Arkansas	1
Canal Zone	1
Total	203	216

RESULTS OF FOOTBALL GAMES SATURDAY

Columbia 14, Vermont 0
New York University 34, Niagara 0
Dartmouth 59, Norwich 0
Syracuse 78, Hobart 0
Colgate 19, Hamilton 0
Brown 14, Rhode Island State 0
Penn State 82, Susquehanna 0
Holy Cross 24, Newport Naval Tor- pedo 0.
Lafayette 35, Muhlenberg 0.
Rutgers 8, Manhattan 0.
Providence College 19, Williams 7
Amherst 33, Rochester 0.
Wesleyan 7, Middlebury 0
Bowdoin 6, Boston University 0.
Union 0, St. Lawrence 0.
Georgetown 42, Drexel 0
Catholic U. 39, Norfolk Navy Yard Marines 0.
Lebanon Valley 30, Villanova 12.

TWO NEW INSTRUCTORS ADDED TO STAFF OF MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Elizabeth Bradish to be In- structor of Singing—Miss Mariam Marston Instruc- tor of Piano and Public School Music

The Department of Music announces the appointment of Miss Mariam Mars- ton of East Northfield, Mass., as In- structor of Piano and Public School Music, and of Mrs. Elizabeth Bradish of Burlington, as Instructor of Sing- ing. Instruction in piano and singing is being given in the front portion of the Music Building, 85 S. Prospect St. the back portion being used for classes in the history of music, harmony, and public school music.

Miss Marston is a graduate of Bos- ton University, College of Liberal Arts, and holds certificates in public school music and piano teaching from that University, also a certificate from the Institute of Musical Pedagogy of Northampton, Mass. She has had ex- tensive training in piano, organ, and voice, studying with E. Tarbell and Arthur Bassett of Worcester, William Hammond of Holyoke and Prof. John P. Marshall and Gertrude Edmonds of Boston. Several years she assisted Professor Marshall of Boston Univer- sity as pianist in his lectures on the Appreciation of Music. She taught piano in the vicinity of Boston for several years; later she taught piano, organ, harmony and theory at North- field Seminary.

Mrs. Bradish studied singing in New

(Continued on page 3)

FROSH MIXER IS WELL ATTENDED BY STUDENTS

The andual Freshman Mixer and pep meeting held last Friday evening in the gymnasium heralded the opening of another social season at Vermont. The festivities were opened with sev- eral selections by the R. O. T. C. Band while the Freshman girls seated themselves on one side of the floor from whence the long suffering Frosh men were subjected to their scrutiny.

Cheers and songs provided the spirit attendant on our smokers. The mem- bers of the football team which left for the game with Columbia on Satur- day, received wholehearted support and an enthusiastic send-off from the crowd of students.

The social side of the Mixer began with a grand march with music by the band and was followed by dancing to Lechnyr's Orchestra. One purpose of the Mixer was to raise money to send the Band along with the team to the Middlebury game this fall. Scabbard and Blade assisted by Boulder Society managed the affair.

Columbia Held by Varsity Eleven to Two Touchdowns

Catamounts Hold New Yorkers Until Last of Fourth Quarter, When Columbia Took Advantage of Breaks to Tally Twice. Intense Autumn Heat Handicap to Players

The combination of Columbia and mid-summer heat proved too much Vermont Saturday, in the season's augural.

Eight thousand spectators attended the début of both teams. It was ac- cidedly anything but a day for football and the players burdened by the heavy uniforms were so affected by the heat that it was necessary to call time out several times.

The score was 14-0, all of the scoring coming in the last few minutes of the final quarter.

Coach Crowley along with every one else greatly under-rated the Green and Gold. With its offensive power of course embryonic, and its tackling uncertain, the team's success is all the more cause for optimism in the home camp.

Both elevens played careful football taking advantage of the breaks when they appeared. Two of them Columbia converted into touchdowns.

Vermont threatened early in the game when Conway, who is not so diminutive after all, broke through the line, and galloped to the 30 yard line before being downed. An attempt at a field goal was blocked.

Again in the second, Captain Den- ning sponsored a possible score when he recovered a fumbled punt on the 12-yard line. The kick for field goal was hurried and went away.

Here the Columbia attack began to assert itself, but traditional last ditch stands by the Green and Gold, held the Morningriders till the shadows began to creep in on Baker Field. Ralph Furey, left end, followed down a punt and grounded when it was a short dis- tance from crossing the goal line. (A one inch is called a short distance.) Then Smith's punt was run back to the 20-yard marker and straight line rushes by Madden, Kumpf and Ber- pringham relieved the tense feelings of Columbia's followers, and put a figure in the scoring column.

More was to follow, short as the time yet to elapse. Smith could not get his punt away, and the Blue and White made short business of scoring.

Vermont followers have many reasons

(Continued on page 4)

BASEBALL PRACTICE TO LAST TWO WEEKS

Fall baseball practice commenced yesterday under the direction of Coach Collopy. Only three members of last year's team are missing, Guild and Thompson having graduated and Ran- dall having left college. This leaves Morse and Valenti at third, Conway and Smith at short and second respec- tively, and Prentice at first, all of whom saw service last year. "Bill" Morse is back for one field position while Fogg, Schoppe, and Roark are all back as pitchers. Winchenbach, Macomber, Price, Young, all members of Coach Collopy's second team will be available and with what Freshman material which should develop, the prospects are exceedingly bright for a fine season. Practice will be continued for two weeks.

Manager Marvin has issued a call for scrubs and all those wishing to try out are asked to see him at once.

ORMSBEE COLLECTION FROM SAMOA UNIQUE SECTION OF MUSEUM

Cynic Reporter Finds Interesting Story of Samoan Life in Col- lection of Articles Made by Late Governor

An interesting section of the Ver- mont museum is the Ormsbee collec- tion of Samoan articles. These articles were collected by Governor Ormsbee while he was the land commissioner to that island, under President Har- rison, and presented to the University by his daughter.

One unique feature of the collection is the Lava Lava cloth made by inter- weaving leaves. This cloth is decor- ated with feathers and made into shawls which are passed down from generation to generation.

Another cloth used widely in Samoa is the Tappa, a somewhat cheaper material made from the bark of the paper mulberry tree. This is often printed in varied colors. As the costume of Samoa is quite light, the consumption of any cloth is quite limited.

An unusual intoxicating liquor pro- cess may be followed in the display of utensils used to make Kava, the national drink of Samoa. The manu- facture is accompanied by much cere- mony. The mixer is seated in the center of a large circle of men of the village, only one of each family being allowed to be present. The Kava root is passed to each one who chews it in such a manner that no moisture is present. It is then placed in the mixing bowl, moistened, pressed through a strainer of leaves, and allowed to stand.

The rope of Samoa is manufactured from cocoanuts. This is used entirely in place of nails to hold the houses together.

A peculiar, black, barbed spear catches one's eye in glancing through the case. The barbs are pieces of human bones inserted in slots on each side of the spear.

The daughter of the village chief has the title of the "Village Maid." It is her duty to entertain any prominent

(Continued on page 2)

MIDD AND CADETS ARE DEFEATED SATURDAY

Vermont's Rivals Lose First Contest of Season to Wesleyan and Dartmouth

In the opening games of the foot- ball season all three of the competi- tors for the Vermont state football title were beaten. While Vermont was holding Columbia 14 to 0, the Black Panther was succumbing to the attack of Connecticut Wesleyan at Middle- town, Conn. and the Horsemen from Northfield were receiving a drubbing from the powerful Big Green at Han- over to the tune of 59 to 0.

According to reports Middlebury out played their opponents, although they failed to score. The Blue and White aggregation made 11 first downs to Wesleyan's five. Of the three forward passes completed during the game two were made by Middlebury. The Black Panthers moved up near their oppo- nent's goal posts twice during the game, only to lose the ball.

Norwich made a poor impression at Hanover. The Big Green machine scored at will. Norwich's line was an easy mark for the Green linesmen. The cavalrymen made only one first down during the game. An interest- ing light on the game is that both teams used 27 men in all during the contest.

From all indications Vermont has at least an even chance of retaining the football championship which has rested in Burlington since 1921, with the exception of 1924 when the title took a brief respite in the village of Middlebury.

Have You Received Your Cynic?

If not, call at the CYNIC Office and leave your name and address. It is impossible to send you the paper until you have done this. Cooperate with us in this matter so that we may give you service.

The Vermont Cynic

STUDENT NEWSPAPER
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the
INTERCOLLEGIATE
PRESS ASSOCIATION

Published every Tues
during the college year

Communications should be
Business Manager 124 Ma
Subscription Price $2.00 a Entered at Postoffice Burl mailing at special rate section 1103 Act of October of October 19, 1920

Editors

News Editor
News Editor
Women's Editor
Sporting Editor
Intercollegiate Editor
Editor
Editor

Frank G. Rhodes '29

Business Staff

Business Mgr
Advertising Mgr
Assistant Manager
Assistant Manager
Assistant Manager

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily
All communications
by the writer, whose name if so desired. They should the Editor in Chief. Any should be handed in or telebefore 6 p. m. Monday and Wednesday

Issued this issue

News Editor
Assistant Manager

Vol 46 September 28, 1926 No. 2

HELLO!

It is a common men's custom of greeting [illegible] with a friendly "Hello" when they meet each other on the campus [illegible] into disuse.

Many Vermonters are apparently unconcerned with anybody other than themselves and their acquaintances. Many Vermonters upon meeting on the campus [illegible] each other with a cold indifferent glance or turn their head to one side to avoid seeing each other.

When a man has matriculated at the college, he is a Vermont man and is subject to the traditional privileges and duties of the University. He is not an "outsider" as long as he stays here.

According to the ancient custom, Vermont men under the common roof erected by Ira Allen in 1791 need not be formally introduced to greet each other but to each other.

Of course it is obvious that when the campus is filled with students hurrying hither and thither, strict adherence to the custom would lead to the [illegible]. But on other occasions it should be respected.

Complaints are being made that Freshmen are not paying attention to the upperclassmen. Not all the blame is imputed to the new men. After greeting several upperclassmen and being ignored by them as if he did not exist, the freshman begins to think [illegible] is honored more by [illegible] than by observing it.

THE YEAR

The coming year from now on will find the various seasons of the different activities pass off the campus. The period of getting settled is pretty well over and the second semester is on its down grade with the Spring Recess the latter. Tomorrow [illegible] the beginning of the Homecoming activities. Following this will come the Military Ball, the Junior and Sophomore Prom and [illegible].

Then soon we [illegible] the Christmas recess which will be followed by a session of feverish study in preparation for mid-years interspersed with frequent basketball games. This in turn will give way to Kake Walk preparations, spring, Easter and Commencement.

The main events to be drawn from this enumeration of activities is that [illegible] pass off until a less busy time will [illegible] completed.

To the Class of 1929

I sing a little song to you.
The present Soph'more class;
I'd like to have you hear me through
Ere you your verdict pass.
Tis for the class of '30 that
I sing this little song,
And to the class of '31
I pass the air along.

CHORUS

The Soph'more class, the Soph'more class,
Is a bunch of lousy crooks.
They take the dough for paddles and canes
That we'd ought to have for books.
They think that they are Darwins,
Who study how monkeys go,
But this they want to remember,
They were the monkeys not long ago.

And when the class of thirty shall
Become the "Soph" so dread,
And every little freshman wishes
All its members dead.
That class might be joy in living
For the harmless little frosh,
As it may bear upon our campus broad
This selfsame song, by gosh!

CHORUS

The Soph'more class, etc.

And still in 1980 when
The frosh are old and gray.
When some of us are doddering fools,
And some have passed away
We may hear upon our campus sung,
In accents loud and free,
A serenade from '84
To the class of '83.

CHORUS

The Sophomore class etc.

—1930

RUSHING

It is not such a far cry from the present to the time when all incoming trains at the beginning of the college year were boarded by members of the various fraternities in search of recruits for their organizations. Once a likely man was spotted, he was carried off the train by force and initiated into the fraternity, not from choice, but because it was his fortune or misfortune to have been spotted first by that society.

Changed is all that. Now college men rush like gentlemen.

According to the spirit of the rules every freshman has an opportunity to get acquainted with the men of every fraternity if he will take advantage of the open house nights. On the other hand no fraternity can if the rules be followed say that it has not had a fair chance at any man in whom it has an interest.

It is contrary to the best interests of any man to allow himself to be rushed illegally. He is not fair to himself if he allows this. There is a clause in the rules which provides punishment for the candidate as well as the fraternity. Charges if made and it is not beyond reason to believe that they would be, while they may not be proved, yet cause embarrassment and hard feelings.

The freshman who takes advantage of this season of visiting, which is offered him will find himself equipped with a much better knowledge of collegiate customs even if he does not go fraternity. He may undergo a critical examination in the eyes of his hosts but his examination of them should not be less critical. It is not a one-sided game which is being played. We would offer every encouragement to the freshman to come out.

Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)

There are a number of second-hand text [illegible] for the first term still available [illegible]. The Shoppe will buy and sell second hand texts for all courses throughout the year.

Telephone 8195

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

Last year we experienced a taste of the new régimé in athletics. Many new branches were inaugurated and several innovations introduced and a rather pretentious schedule of activities was approved for this year. That was all very fine! Yes, excellent!

We understand that the new additions to the gymnasium are going to be dedicated next June along with the new chapel. We are going to have rooms for boxing, wrestling, fencing, tiddledywinks and so forth. These new sports will in all probability provide recreation for some who are too lazy or too yellow to go out and fight for their college in some established sport in which we have or did have before athletics at Vermont degenerated to their present state, a reputation of sorts to uphold. Yes, they will probably accomplish this enviable achievement but meanwhile the varsity football team dresses in the Freshman dormitory without even decent facilities. No lockers, nor anywhere nearly adequate showers. The tennis courts all but three are in sorrtful shape, not even kept marked and no prospect of the new ones that the team needs if it is to have sufficient opportunity to practice. The main floor of the gym, the floor of the basketball court is in a deplorable state. For that matter we could go on for some time suggesting matters that need attention and do not get it. There is the proposed gate house at Centennial Field which would largely eliminate the necessity of showers for the varsity teams in the gym and so on and so forth.

But are these matters given any consideration? No! The already insufficient funds devoted to athletics are spent without any practical return. What sort of administration is it that allows such things to be?

The answer is easy. It is the same sort of administration that has sent athletics at Vermont onto the rocks. Some of us can still remember the palmy days of old when the Big Green bowed before the Green and Gold on the gridiron and when all New England could not boast a better or as good a basketball team, and when our baseball nine played on a par with any college team in the country and so on. There is a difference so wide between the situation then and the situation now that the mind of one who ponders on it becomes lost in bewilderment as one who attempts to conceive parasangs and what not.

One may well ask "Why?" And it is entirely possible that one who knew could tell many things but if he be a Vermont student and he be wise he will not. It should, however, be a matter of concern to any loyal alumnus of Vermont who is not in so precarious a position as the poor student.

Ormsbee Collection From Samoa Unique Section of Museum

(Continued from page 1)

white people visiting their village. Her costume is entirely represented in one corner of the collection. Her dress consists of Lava Lava cloth and her girdle is a heavy straw effect, made from tree fibres. Rings of tortoise, inlaid with silver and gold, decorate her fingers, and her necklaces are of wood and shells. The combs are long objects of wood, with hand carving at the top.

Even telephone operators are now demanding an occasional tip—ask the student who uses a pay-station telephone.

Clothing For College Men

Adler Collegian Suits and Overcoats.

We also carry a complete line of furnishings for university trade.

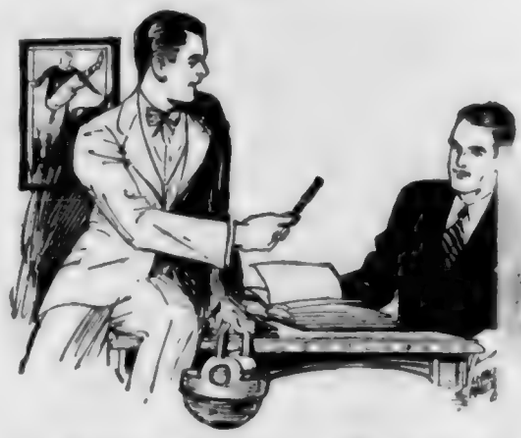
Hayes & Carney
107 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

NEW HAMPSHIRE LOSES UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel has resigned his position as president of the University of New Hampshire, to accept the presidency of the Pennsylvania State College, whose trustees elected him at a special meeting held in Philadelphia. The vote was unanimous in his favor.

Dr. Hetzel is only forty-three years old and has been at his Durham post nine years, during which time the University of the neighboring state has advanced by leaps and bounds in numbers, physical plant, and educational value. The new president of Penn State will take up his duties there in January. He is a graduate from the University of Wisconsin in the class of 1906, and was [illegible] State College [illegible] New Hampshire [illegible].



Just as ever [illegible] ney fans after [illegible] student [illegible] mont had a [illegible] the news of the [illegible] received. [illegible] they were [illegible] Vermont's [illegible]

THE BEST SODA AT CHURCHILL'S Drug Store
85 CHURCH ST.

EARN MONEY!
WITH OUR CHRISTMAS CARD ALBUM

Would [illegible] money for [illegible]
You can [illegible] beautiful [illegible]
Write at once [illegible] and we will [illegible] catalog of gifts.

BERTHA STUDIOS
Dept. 12
P. O. Box 113 Springfield, Mass. P. O. Box 1061 Kansas City, Mo.

A Pen You Can Lend without a Tremor

For its point yields to any [illegible] yet resumes its original s[illegible]

Its "Permanite" barrel and cap will

THE Parker Duofold point combines what you get in no other point—durability and flexibility.

This point yields to any style of writing yet retains its original shape. It is guaranteed for 25 years not only for mechanical perfection but for wear.

And Parker Duofold's barrel and cap will not break, though you drop it a hundred times. For they are now made of Permanite—Parker's non-breakable material that has withstood such gruelling tests as a 3,000 foot drop from an aeroplane.

This combination—the Parker Duofold Point and the Parker "Permanite" Barrel and Cap—makes the world's greatest writing instrument.

You cannot get such value in any other pen, at any price. Stop at the nearest pen counter today and try your size and point in a Parker Duofold.

"Permanite"—the new Non-Breakable Material of which all Parker Pens and Pencils are now made—is lustrous, light-weight, and does not break, fade or shrink.

Parker Duofold Pencils to match the Pens:
Lady Duofold, $3; Over-size Jr., $3.50
"Big Brother" Over-size, $4

THE PARKER PEN COMPANY, JANESVILLE, WIS.
OFFICES AND SUBSIDIARIES: NEW YORK · CHICAGO
ATLANTA · DALLAS · SAN FRANCISCO
TORONTO, CANADA · LONDON, ENGLAND

Parker Over-size Duofold $7

Parker Duofold OVER-SIZE $7
Lucky Curve Feed and 25 Year Point
Duofold Jr. $5 Lady Duofold $3

Parker Duofold Junior $5

Red and Black Color Combination—Reg. Trade Mark U. S. Pat. Office

Co-ed's Corner

FRESH FRESHMEN

[illegible]honored appellation [illegible] Fresh Freshmen! [illegible] it is a secret, I wonder they think they are the [illegible] earth, I wonder? But [illegible] when the obvious is so [illegible]

[illegible]es have done their [illegible] and the rest of the [illegible] and vainly hopes for [illegible] this new phenomenon. [illegible] not sit back very long. [illegible] much-quoted worm will [illegible] when he does—let him or [illegible] who has cause to merit [illegible] of upperclassmen.

STUDENT UNION

[illegible] Student Union meeting Saturday it was announced that [illegible] to be a new women's [illegible] to take the place of Lillian [illegible] who did not return to college. Tryouts for song leaders will [illegible] Student Union meeting next [illegible] morning. Be thinking of [illegible] for a song leader, and [illegible] out.

Voting for new vice-presidents of Student Union, of Vermonters' Club, [illegible] treasurer of Vermonters' [illegible] Junior representative for [illegible] Women's Athletic Association Council will take place this week. [illegible] bulletin boards! Since the [illegible] did not vote for these offices last spring and do not know [illegible] as well as the upperclassmen [illegible] sophomores do, the entering class will be allowed to vote this time. [illegible] amendments to the Constitution of Student Government were passed. These will be posted on the [illegible] board this week and will be voted on at meeting Saturday morning.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB HOLDS TRYOUTS TONIGHT

Tryouts for the Women's Glee Club will be held tonight and Wednesday at the Music House on [illegible] Prospect Street. Everyone interested whose name begins with the letters from A to M, should try out tonight at seven o'clock, while all others should come at the same hour on Wednesday night.

Fraternities to Hold Open House Night, Wednesday

(Continued from page 1)

7. At 2 p. m. on the Sunday following the last rushing date the members of the Conference shall meet and bring their invitations in sealed and addressed envelopes, said meeting to be held in the room in the Old Mill designated by the President of the Conference. Within each envelope shall be only the printed form of the invitations properly filled out and an unsealed envelope with the address of the inviting fraternity upon it. The invitations shall then be delivered by the respective representatives of the different fraternities in conference assembled to the Freshmen presenting themselves before said Conference. In a room adjoining the Conference room each Freshman shall fill out the blanks "I accept," or "I do not accept your invitation to membership"; and shall then put each invitation in the envelope addressed to the inviting fraternity and return same to the Conference room.

8. On the day of pledging, when the invitations are being given out, fraternities will remain in their houses. Every invitation shall be in writing and upon printed forms furnished by the Secretary of the Conference; [illegible] not accepted shall be returned. This does not apply after [illegible]

9. Every pledge shall be valid for a period of seven months unless released by the pledging fraternity.

10. Any fraternity directly concerned with a Freshman who is pledged at another college but before being initiated at the University of Vermont, must ratify the pledging of such pledge within ten days after the arrival of said pledgee. The fraternity may ratify or disclaim [illegible] reporting same to the Secretary of the Conference.

11. All pledgees shall wear buttons, and pledging shall be declared irregular by the Faculty Council, they shall be strictly honored by all fraternities. It is herewith expressly ruled that the Faculty Council alone shall have power to declare a pledge irregular or unlawful.

10. Penalties for the infraction of the Rushing Rules will be administered by a Faculty Council, comprised of five members of the faculty who are members of fraternities which do not have chapters here.

In dealing with a violation, the Faculty Council shall sit as a court with the offending fraternity as the defendant and the President of the Council (Faculty) as a judge. All the evidence shall be presented to the court by both defending and prosecuting fraternities, and then a decision will be made by the court alone in secret session. A majority vote of the court will convict. The names of persons bringing charges will be withheld.

11. The punishment for infraction of the Rushing Rules shall be suspension from the Conference for a period of one year, and prohibition from all interfraternity contests. These shall include all interfraternity athletics and Kake Walk. In cases of extremely minor infractions the sentence may be cut to one-half a year from the time the offense was committed. If a fraternity is suspended the knowledge of such and the reasons shall be distributed to the Freshmen of the next year through the Freshman Handbook and it shall be published in the CYNIC. Any Freshman or new student involved in an infraction of the rules may be suspended, i. e., prohibited from accepting a bid from any fraternity even in the Conference for a period of not less than half a year or greater than one year from time infraction was committed.

Sorority Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

Thelma Edward, Mrs. Martha Wheeler Keeler, and Muriel Smith were recent visitors at the chapter house.

Pi Beta Phi

The marriage of Ruth Frost '26 and Hugh Sinclair, Phi Delta Theta, has been announced.

The announcement of the marriage of Ruth Dillingham ex-'29 and Frederick Winslow, Phi Delta Theta, was made recently.

Alpha Xi Delta

Madeline Gates '24 was a recent visitor in town.

BLUE STOCKINGS

At a recent meeting, Eleanor Barrell '27 was elected president to fill the vacancy of that office, when Ruth Flint did not return to college. Margaret Durick '29 was elected new vice-president.

The plans for the year include many interesting things, with the journalistic element playing a strong part.

W. A. A. NOTES

All sports started yesterday, with the usual number of people out for their favorites.

Horseback riding is again in vogue. Miss Cummings is sponsoring the activity, and all arrangements are made through her.

Canoeing may be had by appointment. Those desiring it should sign on the W. A. A. board in the Y Room. Aspirants must be able to swim sixty yards, and have filed in the Dean's office the written consent of parents.

Trinity College of Hartford, Conn. has abolished mid-year examinations by faculty action. One more act of the same kind and the goal of many an undergraduate dream will be realized. However, the joyous news will be decidedly clouded to the Trinity students by the substitution of two short examinations, one before Christmas recess and one at the end of January. So after all [illegible] looked like heaven was merely h[illegible] pre[illegible]

CO-EDS PRESCRIBE FOR THEIR YOUNGER SISTERS

The Freshman men have done their best for a week to entertain the college in obedience to one of the most original sets of rules yet seen on the campus, but it looks as if the Co-eds were about to go them one better with the creation of a most imaginative mind or set of minds, which we are printing below. These apply to the present week.

Greetings
Green Gawky Goslings

Ye puny, parasitic pestilences, attend the pearls of wisdom which thy illustrious superiors the SOPHOMORES have deigned to let fall. Prick up thy oral appendages, prepare thy inadequate intellects for the reception of these mandates.

In General

1. Upon thy scrawny neck thou shalt wear a band of brightest green of width not less than two inches.

2. Thou shalt wear upon thy loathsome head a covering, commonly called hat, sufficient to hide at least a part of thy cavernous cranium, and besock thyself in snowy hose.

3. Never allow thy bulky brogans to tread the sacrosanct sidewalks on the north side of College or Pearl Streets, nor yet upon the pleasant east side of Prospect Street.

4. Within ten blocks of the Old Mill, dare not allow thyself to be conveyed in any sort of vehicle.

5. Venture not to appease thy ravening hunger with anything sweet, while on the campus.

6. Since ye are infantile and hold fresh memories of kindergarten, fashion thyself each a goose, at least ten inches high, on which shall be written in ample letters, thy atrocious appellation. Bear this in full sight, wherever ye tread.

7. Daily shalt thou bear, each a handkerchief in a hat-bag full blown. When commanded by Upperclassman or SOPHOMORE, "WEEP" take out the handkerchief and obey, uttering in saddened voice the words, "I am hopeless!"

8. Above all, never, as long as ye are Freshmen, precede Upperclassmen or SOPHOMORES through any portals whatsoever but wait and hold open said portals. Never seat thyselves until all older classes are seated.

In Particular

Monday. Wherever thy wayward feet wander, stop every ten steps and curtsy.

Tuesday. Thou shalt don thy outer vestments in a backward manner to be more symbolic of themselves. On this day ye must wear coats and hats.

Wednesday. Drape thy bowed head in veil of snowy white, that thy thatch may be hidden, and to make thy prominent proboscis less conspicuous, cover it with rouge of brightest tint.

Thursday. To aid thee in thy long trek to classes, wear fastened to thy trilbys with thongs of toughest cord, snowshoes of cardboard at least two feet long and one foot wide. Wear these not indoors but drape them as gracefully as ye know how upon thy shoulders.

Friday. On this day consecrated to the lowly fish, thou must carry one such in a pail, and fish for him with rod and line upon command of the SOPHOMORES.

Saturday. Rise ye early, every gawky gosling, to sing matins under the windows of every women's dormitory at seven o'clock. Mark ye well, dire will be the penalty to any who know not the songs of Vermont.

As tradition dictates, you shall carry five pennies in thy handy pail, to the Inner "Y" Room bring thy lucre and from thy tasks be acquitted.

Know ye that upon anyone who shall disobey these rules in the spirit, or letter, shall fall an awful and disastrous fate! Revere and honour thy superiors, for thy fate lies in the hollow of their hands on the impending day of judgment.

FRESHMEN PERFORM STUNTS THROUGH WEEK

The stunts performed by the Freshmen during the week were unusually humorous. Throughout the past week, the new men were forced to wear copies of the 1930 rules promulgated by Gold Key. The Frosh also carried pebbles and were required to walk in single file on the campus. When a Sophomore or upperclassman called Beans the Frosh began reading the rules on the back of the Frosh in front of him.

On Monday and Tuesday, pajama pants were worn and a trouser leg was rolled over the knee to show the distinguishing black hose and garters worn during the Freshman year at Vermont. The Frosh were asked to walk with their left foot always preceding their right foot.

Wednesday and Thursday queer specimens appeared on the campus with dunce caps, with trousers reversed and with a green and gold cane. Upon the order "Measure," the verdant Frosh was forced to bend over and measure 10 paces with his stick.

Friday and Saturday the Gold Key edict was as follows: Thou must stand in front of the entrance of the building where thy class is, carrying a coat under thy arm. When a co-ed attempts to pass, kneel, spreading out the coat before her, and repeat the following: "Tread on this cloak, proud maiden, from one called (thy name) who is not fit to shine the shoes of the most dreaded Sophomores."

This week the Freshman women will make the campus look like an insane asylum according to advanced reports.

Butler University has abandoned final examinations and has substituted a series of quizzes throughout the year to determine final grades.

In line with the recent increase of tuition at various colleges, the chief institution devoted to the popular "movie" course announces an increase in fees beginning the coming month.

Two New Instructors Added to Staff of Music Department

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] York with Wilfred Klamroth, Valeri, Esperanza Garrigue, and Fenner Hill. She coached with [illegible]ard Hageman and Alberto Bi[illegible] of the Metropolitan Opera Co[illegible] Maurice La Farge and Lina Coe[illegible] has also studied piano with W[illegible] H. Sherwood of Chicago, and C[illegible] Lee Tracy and Theodor A. Ho[illegible] New York, harmony and analysis [illegible] Mrs. A. J. Goudrich of Chicago [illegible] Dr. Penfield of New York, G[illegible] with Leo Stern of the Stern [illegible] New York, and Albrecht Pasche[illegible] Burlington. Italian with Edoardo [illegible] of the Metropolitan Opera schools, French with Mme. Aujette Fore[illegible] others. For four years she was assistant teacher to Jessie Fenner Hill in New York, and for the past [illegible] has taught singing in Burlington where she is well known as a singer and teacher.

The rates for instruction in [illegible] and voice are as follows. $[illegible] per semester for one lesson a week, $[illegible] per semester for two lessons a week, $5 per semester for the use of practice room and piano one hour a day. These rates apply to University students only. Lessons are 25 minutes in length. No lessons will be given during mid-year and final examinations.

Within the past year the department acquired several important items of equipment, including two grand and two uprights Steinway rebuilt pianos, the uprights to be used as practice pianos, a Duo-Art reproducing piano, a large size Brunswick Panatrope and over three hundred rolls and records illustrating the literature of music from the 13th century to the present and including many complete symphonies and rarely heard imported records.

At Stanford University a student must demonstrate that he can swim 220 yards on the surface and 40 yards under water and dive for a week before he is permitted to have a canoe on the lake.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

The Old Bee Hive

WELCOME TO
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
Silk Stockings that Wear
$1.85, $1.95, $2.25 or $2.50 Pr.

Phone 3056-W.
For Sweets to the Sweet
SEE CANDYLAND
101 Church St.

SCHEAFFER
Lifetime Pens and Pencils
▲ ▲ ▲
F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

Russel [illegible]arish
Jewele[illegible]cian
[illegible]ynic
Burlin[illegible]irs. If y[illegible]mont
[illegible] name and [illegible] enrolled s[illegible]

University Gymnasium, Saturday, Oct. 2.
Arthur Dow Attraction
Sousa
And His BAND
100 MEN
Matinee: 75c $1.10 $1.65. Night: 75c, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20. These include tax.
Sale starts Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 10 a. m. American Phonograph Co., 187 Pearl St. No phone orders.
Special Note: STUDENT DISCOUNT TICKETS ON SALE NOW at the President's office. Apply to Miss Clough. $1.10 for any $2.20 or $1.65 seat in the house for evening performance.

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] OF VERMONT

[illegible] every Tues[illegible] ...ge year

[illegible] Editors

[illegible] Editor

[illegible] Editor

[illegible] Editor

Business Staff

[illegible] Business Mgr.

[illegible] Advertising Mgr.

[illegible] Assistant Managers

[illegible] Manager

[illegible] Assistant Manager

[illegible] graduates are heartily ... so desired. They should ... Any ... of this issue:

[illegible] News Editor

[illegible] Assistant Manager

Vol 4[illegible] ...ember 28, 1926 No. 2

HELLO!

The [illegible] men's custom of greeting [illegible] with a friendly "Hello" when [illegible] each other on the campus [illegible] into disuse.

Many [illegible] upperclassmen are apparently unacquainted with anybody other than themselves and their acquaintances. Many [illegible] upon meeting on the campus [illegible] each other with a cold indifference or turn their head to one side to avoid seeing each other.

When [illegible] has matriculated at the college [illegible] a Vermont man and is subject [illegible] to traditional privileges and [illegible] of the University. He is not an "outsider" as long as he stays here.

According [illegible] to the ancient custom, Vermont [illegible] under the common roof erected [illegible] Allen in 1791 need not be formally introduced to greet each other and speak to each other.

Of course [illegible] it is obvious that when the campus [illegible] is filled with students hurrying [illegible] and thither, strict adherence [illegible] to the custom would lead to the [illegible]. But on other occasions [illegible] should be respected.

Complaints [illegible] are being made that Freshmen [illegible] are not paying attention to the [illegible]. Not all the blame is inherent [illegible] in the new men. After greeting [illegible] upperclassmen and being disregarded [illegible] by them as if he did not exist, [illegible] the Freshman begins to think that [illegible] is honored more by disregard [illegible] than by observing it.

THE YEAR

One [illegible] quarter from now on will the [illegible] and seasons of the different [illegible] activities pass off the calendar. [illegible] The period of getting settled [illegible] over and the social [illegible] season [illegible] its debut with the Sophomore [illegible] dinner. Tomorrow [illegible] the beginning of the [illegible] Following this will [illegible] season with some of the [illegible] interest the Military [illegible] the Prom and Sophomore [illegible] and others.

[illegible] Next [illegible] to the Christmas [illegible] will [illegible] be followed by a season of feverish study in preparation for mid-years interspersed with frequent basketball games. This in turn will give way to Kake Walk preparations, spring Easter and commencement week.

The only moral to be drawn from this chattering of activities is that during [illegible] of until a less busy time will never be completed.

To the Class of 1929

I [illegible] little song to you
The present Soph more class.
I'd like to have you hear me through
[illegible] your verdict pass
[illegible] the class of '30 that [illegible] this little song,
[illegible] to the class of '31
I pass the air along.

CHORUS

[illegible] Soph'more class, the [illegible] more class
Is a bunch of lousy crooks
Busy [illegible] the dough for paddles and canes
That we'd ought to have for books.
They think that they are Darwins
Who study how monkeys go,
But they want to remember
They were the monkeys not long ago.

And when the class of thirty shall
Become the "Soph" so dread,
And every little freshman wishes
All its members dead,
That there might be joy in living
For the harmless little frosh,
We may hear upon our campus broad
This selfsame song, by gosh!

CHORUS

The Soph'more class, etc.

And still in 1960 when
The frosh are old and gray,
When some of us are doddering fools,
And some have passed away
We may hear upon our campus sung,
In accents loud and free,
A serenade from '84
To the class of '83.

CHORUS

The Soph'more class, etc.

—1930.

RUSHING

It is not such a far cry from the present to the time when all incoming trains at the beginning of the college year were boarded by members of the various fraternities in search of recruits for their organizations. Once a likely man was spotted, he was carried off the train by force and initiated into the fraternity, not from choice, but because it was his fortune or misfortune to have been spotted first by that society.

Changed is all that. Now college men rush like gentlemen.

According to the spirit of the rules every freshman has an opportunity to get acquainted with the men of every fraternity if he will take advantage of the open house nights. On the other hand no fraternity can if the rules be followed say that it has not had a fair chance at any man in whom it has an interest.

It is contrary to the best interests of any man to allow himself to be rushed illegally. He is not fair to himself if he allows this. There is a clause in the rules which provides punishment for the candidate as well as the fraternity. Charges if made and it is not beyond reason to believe that they would be, while they may not be proved, yet cause embarrassment and hard feelings.

The freshman who takes advantage of this season of visiting, which is offered him will find himself equipped with a much better knowledge of collegiate customs even if he does not go fraternity. He may undergo a critical examination in the eyes of his hosts but his examination of them should not be less critical. It is not a one sided game which is being played. We would offer every encouragement to the freshman to come out.

Ye College Bull Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)

There are a number of second hand text books for the first term still available here. The Shoppe will buy and sell second hand texts for all courses throughout the year.

Telephone 8195

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the [illegible]

Last [illegible] we experienced a taste of the new regime in athletics. Many new branches were inaugurated and several innovations introduced and a rather [illegible] program of activities was approved for this year. That was [illegible] Very excellent.

We understand that the new additions to the gymnasium are going to be completed [illegible] along with the new chapel. We are going to have courts for boxing, wrestling, tenting, [illegible] and so forth. These new sports will no doubt provide recreation for many who are too [illegible] or too yellow to go out and fight for their colleges in some established sport in which, as have or did have before athletics at Vermont degenerated to their present state, a reputation of sorts to uphold. Yes, they will probably accomplish this enviable achievement but meanwhile the varsity football team dresses in the Freshman dormitory without even decent facilities. No lockers, nor anywhere nearly adequate showers. The tennis courts and our [illegible] are in fearful shape, not even kept marked and no prospect of the new ones that the team needs if it is to have sufficient opportunity to practice. The main floor of the gym, the floor of the basketball court is in a deplorable state. For that matter we could go on for some time suggesting matters that need attention and do not get it. There is the proposed gate house at Centennial Field which would largely eliminate the necessity of showers for the varsity teams in the gym and so on ad infinitum.

But are these matters given any consideration? No! The already insufficient funds devoted to athletics are spent without any practical return. What sort of administration is it that allows such things to be?

The answer is easy. It is the same sort of administration that has sent athletics at Vermont onto the rocks. Some of us can still remember the palmy days of old when the Big Green bowed before the Green and Gold on the gridiron and when all New England could not boast a better or as good a basketball team, and when our baseball nine played on a par with any college team in the country and so on. There is a difference so wide between the situation then and the situation now that the mind of one who ponders on it becomes lost in bewilderment as one who attempts to conceive parasangs and what not.

One may well ask "Why?" And it is entirely possible that one who knew could tell many things but if he be a Vermont student and he be wise he will not. It should, however, be a matter of concern to any loyal alumnus of Vermont who is not in so precarious a position as the poor student.

Ormsbee Collection From Samoa Unique Section of Museum

(Continued from page 1)

white people visiting their village. Her costume is entirely represented in one corner of the collection. Her dress consists of Lava Lava cloth and her girdle is a heavy straw effect, made from tree fibres. Rings of tortoise, inlaid with silver and gold, decorate her fingers, and her necklaces are of wood and shells. The combs are long objects of wood, with hand carving at the top.

Even telephone operators are now demanding an occasional tip—ask the student who uses a pay-station telephone.

Clothing For College Men

Adler Collegian Suits and Overcoats.

We also carry a complete line of furnishings for university trade.

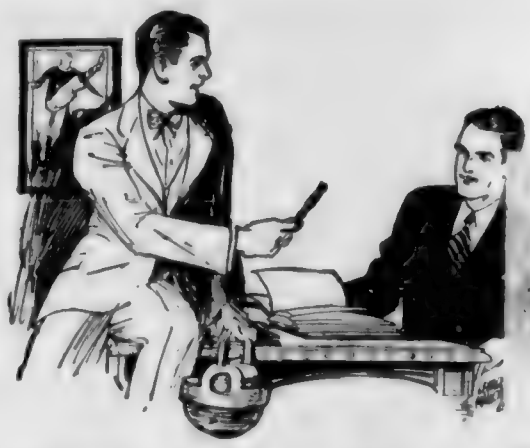
Hayes & Carney
197 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

NEW HAMPSHIRE LOSES UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel has resigned his position as president of the University of New Hampshire, to accept the presidency of the Pennsylvania State College, whose trustees elected him at a special meeting held in Philadelphia. The vote was unanimous in his favor.

Dr. Hetzel is only forty-three years old and has been at his Durham post nine years, during which time the University of the neighboring state has advanced by leaps and bounds in numbers, physical plant, and educational value. The new president of Penn State will take up his duties there in January. He is a graduate from the University of Wisconsin in the class of 1906, and was [illegible] State College [illegible] New Hampshire.



Just as everybody [illegible] ney fans after [illegible] student seems to [illegible] mont had a capa[illegible] the news of the [illegible] received. Few [illegible] they were [illegible] Vermont's cl[illegible]

THE BEST SODA AT CHURCHILL'S Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

EARN MONE[illegible] WITH OUR CHRIST[illegible] CARD ALBUM

Would [illegible] money for [illegible] You can [illegible] beautiful [illegible] Write at once [illegible] and we will [illegible] catalog of gif[illegible]

BERTHA STUDIO[illegible]
Dept. 12
P. O. Box 112 P. O. Bo[illegible]
Springfield, Mass. Kansas Ci[illegible]

A Pen You Can [illegible] without a Tre[illegible]

For its point yields to any [illegible] yet resumes its original s[illegible]

Its "Permanite" barrel and cap will [illegible]

Parker Over-size Duofold $7

THE Parker Duofold point combines what you get in no other point—durability and flexibility.

This point yields to any style of writing yet retains its original shape. It is guaranteed for 25 years not only for mechanical perfection but for wear.

And Parker Duofold's barrel and cap will not break, though you drop it a hundred times. For they are now made of Permanite—Parker's non-breakable material that has withstood such gruelling tests as a 3,000 foot drop from an aeroplane.

This combination—the Parker Duofold Point and the Parker "Permanite" Barrel and Cap—makes the world's greatest writing instrument.

You cannot get such value in any other pen, at any price. Stop at the nearest pen counter today and try your size and point in a Parker Duofold.

"Permanite"—the new Non-Breakable Material of which all Parker Pens and Pencils are now made—is lustrous, light-weight, and does not break, fade or shrink.

Parker Duofold Pencils to match the Pens: Lady Duofold, $3; Over-size Jr., $3.50 "Big Brother" Over-size, $4

THE PARKER PEN COMPANY, JANESVILLE, WIS.
OFFICES AND SUBSIDIARIES: NEW YORK · CHICAGO ATLANTA · DALLAS · SAN FRANCISCO TORONTO, CANADA · LONDON, ENGLAND

Parker Duofold $7 OVER-SIZE
Lucky Curve Feed and 25-Year Point
Duofold Jr. $5 Lady Duofold $5

Parker Duofold Junior $5

Red and Black Other Combinations—Reg. Trade Mark U. S. Pat. Office

Co-ed's Corner

FRESHMEN

honored appellation
Fresh Freshmen!
it is a secret, I won-think they are the
. I wonder? But n the obvious is so

have done their
and the rest of the
and vainly hopes for new phenomenon.
not sit back very long.
much quoted worm will n he does—let him or who has cause to merit
wrath of upperclassmen.

STUDENT UNION

At the Student Union meeting Saturday it was announced that [illegible] to be a new women's [illegible] to take the place of Lillian [illegible] who did not return to college. Tryouts for song leaders will [illegible] Student Union meeting next [illegible] meeting. Be thinking of [illegible] want for a song leader, and [illegible] try out.

Voting for new vice-presidents of Student Union, of Vermonters' Club, secretary-treasurer of Vermonters' Club, and of Junior representative for Women's Athletic Association will will take place this week. Watch the bulletin boards! Since the freshmen did not vote for these officers last spring and do not know [illegible] as well as the upperclassmen and sophomores do, the entering class will not be allowed to vote this time. The new amendments to the Constitution of Student Government were passed. These will be posted on the bulletin board this week and will be voted on at meeting Saturday morning.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB HOLDS TRYOUTS TONIGHT

Tryouts for the Women's Glee Club will be held tonight and Wednesday night, at the Music House on South Prospect Street. Everyone interested, whose name begins with the letters from A to M, should try out tonight at seven o'clock, while all others should come at the same hour next Wednesday night.

Fraternities to Hold Open House Night, Wednesday

(Continued from page 1)

At 2 p. m. on the Sunday following the last rushing date the members of the Conference shall meet and bring all their invitations in sealed and addressed envelopes, said meeting to be held in the room in the Old Mill designated by the President of the Conference. Within each envelope shall be placed the printed form of the invitation properly filled out and an unsealed envelope with the address of the inviting fraternity upon it.' The envelopes shall then be delivered by the respective representatives of the different fraternities in conference assembled to the Freshmen presenting themselves before said Conference. In a room adjoining the Conference room each Freshman shall fill out the blanks 'I accept,' or "I do not accept your invitation to membership"; he shall then put each invitation in the envelope addressed to the inviting fraternity and return same to the Conference room.

On the day of pledging, when the invitations are being given out, fraternities will remain in their houses. Every invitation shall be in writing and upon printed forms furnished by the secretary of the Conference; invitations not accepted shall be returned. This does not apply after pledging day.

Every pledge shall be valid for a period of seven months unless released by the pledging fraternity. The fraternity directly concerned with a man who is pledged at another college but before being initiated at Vermont, must ratify such pledge within ten days after arrival of said pledgee. They may ratify or disclaim by reporting same to the Secretary of the Conference.

All pledgees shall wear buttons. Any violation shall be declared irregular by the Faculty Council, they will be honored by all fraternities [illegible] herewith expressly ruled that the Faculty Council alone shall have power to declare a pledge irregular or unlawful.

10. Penalties for the infraction of the Rushing Rules will be administered by a Faculty Council, comprised of five members of the faculty who are members of fraternities which do not have chapters here.

In dealing with a violation, the Faculty Council shall sit as a court with the offending fraternity as the defendant and the President of the Council (Faculty) as a judge. All the evidence shall be presented to the court by both defending and prosecuting fraternities, and then a decision will be made by the court alone in secret session. A majority vote of the court will convict. The names of persons bringing charges will be withheld.

11. The punishment for infraction of the Rushing Rules shall be suspension from the Conference for a period of one year, and prohibition from all interfraternity contests. These shall include all interfraternity athletics and Kake Walk. In cases of extremely minor infractions the sentence may be cut to one-half a year from the time the offense was committed. If a fraternity is suspended the knowledge of such and the reasons shall be distributed to the Freshmen of the next year through the Freshman Handbook and it shall be published in the CYNIC. Any Freshman or new student involved in an infraction of the rules may be suspended, i. e., prohibited from accepting a bid from any fraternity even in the Conference for a period of not less than half a year or greater than one year from time infraction was committed.

Tel. 807-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

Sorority Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

Thelma Edward, Mrs. Martha Wheeler Kesler, and Muriel Smith were recent visitors at the chapter house.

Pi Beta Phi

The marriage of Ruth Frost '26 and Hugh Sinclair, Phi Delta Theta, has been announced.

The announcement of the marriage of Ruth Dillingham ex-'29 and Frederick Winslow, Phi Delta Theta, was made recently.

Alpha Xi Delta

Madeline Gates '24 was a recent visitor in town.

BLUE STOCKINGS

At a recent meeting, Eleanor Barrell '27 was elected president to fill the vacancy of that office, when Ruth Flint did not return to college. Margaret Durick '29 was elected new vice-president.

The plans for the year include many interesting things, with the journalistic element playing a strong part.

W. A. A. NOTES

All sports started yesterday, with the usual number of people out for their favorites.

Horseback riding is again in vogue Miss Cummings is sponsoring the activity, and all arrangements are made through her.

Canoeing may be had by appointment. Those desiring it should sign on the W. A. A. board in the Y Room. Aspirants must be able to swim sixty yards, and have filed in the Dean's office the written consent of parents.

Trinity College of Hartford, Conn., has abolished mid-year examinations by faculty action. One more act of the same kind and the goal of many an undergraduate dream will be realized. However, the joyous news will be decidedly clouded to the Trinity students by the substitution of two short examinations, one before Christmas recess and one at the end of January. So after all what looked like heaven was merely hokum

Russel W. Parish
Jeweler & Optician
Burlington, Vermont

CO-EDS PRESCRIBE FOR THEIR YOUNGER SISTERS

The Freshman men have done their best for a week to entertain the college in obedience to one of the most original sets of rules yet seen on the campus but it looks as if the Co-eds were about to go them one better with this creation of a most imaginative mind or set of minds which we are printing below. These apply to the present week.

Greetings
Green Gawky Goslings

Ye puny, parasitic pestilences, attend the pearls of wisdom which thy illustrious superiors the SOPHOMORES have deigned to let fall. Prick up thy oral appendages, prepare thy inadequate intellects for the reception of these mandates:

In General

1. Upon thy scrawny neck thou shalt wear a band of brightest green of width not less than two inches.

2. Thou shalt wear upon thy loath some head a covering, commonly called hat, sufficient to hide at least a part of thy cavernous cranium, and besock thyself in snowy hose.

3. Never allow thy bulky brogans to tread the sacrosanct sidewalks on the north side of College or Pearl Streets, nor yet upon the pleasant east side of Prospect Street.

4. Within ten blocks of the Old Mill, dare not allow thyself to be conveyed in any sort of vehicle.

5. Venture not to appease thy ravening hunger with anything sweet, while on the campus.

6. Since ye are infantile and hold fresh memories of kindergarten, fashion thyself each a goose, at least ten inches high, on which shall be written in ample letters, thy atrocious appellation. Bear this in full sight, where ever ye tread.

7. Daily shalt thou bear, each a handkerchief in a hat-bag full blown. When commanded by Upperclassman or SOPHOMORE, "WEEP" take out the handkerchief and obey, uttering in saddened voice the words, "I am hopeless!"

8. Above all, never, as long as ye are Freshmen, precede Upperclassmen or SOPHOMORES through any portals whatsoever but wait and hold open said portals. Never seat thyselves until all older classes are seated.

In Particular

Monday. Wherever thy wayward feet wander, stop every ten steps and curtsy.

Tuesday. Thou shalt don thy outer vestments in a backward manner to be more symbolic of themselves. On this day ye must wear coats and hats.

Wednesday. Drape thy bowed head in veil of snowy white, that thy thatch may be hidden, and to make thy prominent proboscis less conspicuous, cover it with rouge of brightest tint.

Thursday. To aid thee in thy long trek to classes, wear fastened to thy trilbys with thongs of toughest cord, snowshoes of cardboard at least two feet long and one foot wide. Wear these not indoors but drape them as gracefully as ye know how upon thy shoulders.

Friday. On this day consecrated to the lowly fish, thou must carry one such in a pail, and fish for him with rod and line upon command of the SOPHOMORES.

Saturday. Rise ye early, every gawky gosling, to sing matins under the windows of every women's dormitory at seven o'clock. Mark ye well, dire will be the penalty to any who know not the songs of Vermont.

As tradition dictates, you shall carry five pennies in thy handy pail to the Inner "Y" Room bring thy lucre and from thy tasks be acquitted.

Know ye that upon anyone who shall disobey these rules in the spirit, or letter, shall fall an awful and disastrous fate! Revere and honour thy superiors, for thy fate lies in the hollow of their hands on the impending day of judgment.

Phone 3056-W.
For Sweets to the Sweet
SEE CANDYLAND
101 Church St.

FRESHMEN PERFORM STUNTS THROUGH WEEK

The stunts performed by the Freshmen during the week were unusually humorous. Throughout the past week, the new men were forced to wear copies of the 1920 rules promulgated by Gold Key. The Frosh also carried saddles and were required to walk in single file on the campus. When a Sophomore or upperclassman called Rides the Frosh began reading the rules on the back of the Frosh in front of him.

On Monday and Tuesday pajama pants were worn and a trouser leg was rolled over the knee to show the distinguishing black hose and garters worn during the Freshman year at Vermont. The Frosh were asked to walk with their left foot always preceding their right foot.

Wednesday and Thursday queer specimens appeared on the campus with dunce caps with trousers reversed and with a green and gold cane. Upon the order "Measure," the ardent Frosh was forced to bend over and measure 10 paces with his stick.

Friday and Saturday the Gold Key edict was as follows. Thou must stand in front of the entrance of the building where thy class is carrying a coat under thy arm. When a coed attempts to pass kneel spreading out thy coat before her and repeat the following: 'Tread on this cloak proud maiden, from one called (thy name) who is not fit to shine the shoes of the most dreaded Sophomore.'

This week the Freshman women will make the campus look like an insane asylum according to advanced reports.

Butler University has abandoned final examinations and has substituted a series of quizzes throughout the year to determine final grades.

In line with the recent increase of tuition at various colleges, the chief institution devoted to the popular "movie" course announces an increase in fees beginning the coming month.

SCHEAFFER
Lifetime Pens and Pencils
▲ ▲ ▲
F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

Two New Instructors Added to Staff of Music Department

(Continued from page 1)

York with Wilfred Klamrot Valori, Esperanza Garrigue, a Fenner Hill. She coached w ard Hageman and Alberto of the Metropolitan Opera Maurice La Farge and Lina has also studied piano with H. Sherwood of Chicago, and Leo Tracy and Theodor A. H New York, harmony and analy Mrs. A. J. Goodrich of Chic Dr. Penfield of New York, with Leo Stern of the Stern New York, and Albrecht Pau Burlington, Italian with Eduar of the Metropolitan Opera Sch French with Mme. Aujette Fo others. For four years she sistant teacher to Jessie Fenn in New York, and for the pa has taught singing in Bur where she is well known as a and teacher.

The rates for instruction in and voice are as follows: $ per semester for one lesson a we per semester for two lessons a $5 per semester for the use of p room and piano one hour a day. rates apply to University s only. Lessons are 25 minu length. No lessons will be giv ing mid-year and final examin

Within the past year the depar acquired several important item equipment, including two gran and two uprights Steinway rebuilt the uprights to be used as pianos, a Duo-Art reproducing a large size Brunswick Panatrope over three hundred rolls and illustrating the literature of from the 13th century to the and including many complete phonies and rarely heard imported records.

At Stanford University a student must demonstrate that he can 220 yards on the surface and 40 under water and dive for a weight before he is permitted to have a on the lake.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

The Old Bee Hive

WELCOME TO
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
Silk Stockings that Wear
$1.85, $1.95,
$2.25 or $2.50 Pr.

University Gymnasium, Saturday, Oct. 2.
Arthur Pew Announces
Sousa
And His BAND
100 MEN
Matinee 2:... $1.10 $1.65 Night 7:... $1.10 $1.65, $2.20 Plus tax
Sale starts Wednesday, Sept. 29, at 10 a. m. American Phonograph Co., 187 Pearl St. No phone orders.
Special Note. STUDENT DISCOUNT TICKETS ON SALE NOW at the President's office. Apply to Miss Cornish. $1.10 for any $2.20 or $1.65 seat in the house for evening performance.

SEVERAL PROFESSORS SPEND SABBATICAL YEAR ON CONTINENT

Others Doing Work in American Universities—Dean Perkins Begins 57th Year of Teaching

Professor and Mrs. Howard Robinson have returned from their summer's tour [illegible] spent most of his leave between [illegible] Switzerland and the Netherlands. [illegible] various parts of America. The rest of the time he visited France, Italy and other European countries. [illegible] time to assist in the initial [illegible] Summer School. He has visited France, [illegible] Geneva and England. While in England he attended several large [illegible] conferences.

Dr. Fred [illegible] Jackson has just sailed from [illegible] for Europe where he will spend his sabbatical year. Dr. Jackson is Professor of Physiology in the [illegible] and has previously had charge [illegible] in the Home [illegible]. During his absence [illegible] Jackson will have charge of his work in the College of Medicine.

Professor [illegible] who last year acted as Assistant Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, is away on his sabbatical year. During his absence Professor [illegible] is acting as head of the Mathematics Department, and Professor Gifford is acting as Dean.

Dean Perkins has begun his fifty seventh consecutive year of teaching. For continuous teaching in one place this record is without equal. He teaches Anthropology, his classes being held in the greenhouse adjoining his home. Dean Perkins began teaching in [illegible] while Mr. Angell was president of the University.

Professor Eckhard of the College of Engineering is away on his sabbatical year.

Early in September Professor and Mrs. Alfred H. Gilbert left for Wisconsin where Professor Gilbert expects to complete [illegible] work for a Doctor's degree. Professor Gilbert is in the Botany Department. He is a graduate of the University of Vermont, and took his Master's Degree at the University of Wisconsin. Professor and Mrs. Gilbert started on their trip in a Ford car.

NEW FROSH HANDBOOK HAS NOVEL FEATURES

The [illegible] edition of the Vermont [illegible] or "Frosh Bible" appeared [illegible] on the opening day of college. The little green book, which serves as the guide for the freshmen during the first few months of college is larger than any of its predecessors. The book is well edited and contains several new and valuable additions.

Among the contents which are peculiar to the issue of the Handbook is the [illegible] used by R. F. Joyce 17, a description and an explanation of the significance of the Vermont seal. Articles entitled, "Suggestions to Freshmen," "Your First Week at Vermont" and "Study Hints," should prove helpful to newcomers. A "Brief History of Vermont," somewhat more fully developed than in previous [illegible] contains much important matter which it is safe to say few upperclassmen and sophomores generally know. Under a heading, "Traditions," are found [illegible] accounts of the development and significance of the Old Mill [illegible] Walk the Cane Rush, the [illegible] Fight and other traditions. The remainder of the booklet is much the same of past years, only developed and expanded slightly more for the sake of clarity.

As has been the custom the work of editing the handbook has been under the direction of the College Y. M. C. A. George E. Terry '28 of Springfield was editor of the booklet. He was assisted by [illegible] D. Safford '28 of Burlington and Albert D. Pingree '28 of White River. Maurice L. Gould '29, of Burlington was business manager. Freshmen who have not yet secured a copy of the booklet may apply for one at the Y. M. C. A. office in the Old Mill.

When three are not a crowd—when you are taking an exam.

Teacher's pet. Teacher's pet!
How I know they do.
—Pub. Chronicle.

Let us show you how
BOSTONIANS
look and feel on your feet
at Boynton's
48 Church St.

BEST IDEA OF STUDENT OR PROFESSOR WINS $1,000

[illegible] national [illegible] and business administration [illegible] students to solve practical business problems is to be measured this fall by Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, and a group of business experts.

Senator Capper, author of a bill to end destructive price wars, heads a committee seeking the best solution of the price-cutting evil. Suggestions are being sought from students and professors of colleges in all parts of [illegible]. The student or professor who presents the suggestion of most practical value will not only receive a money prize of $1,000 for his [illegible] but will have the satisfaction of [illegible] accepted as the basis of action by business men and legislators.

The special prize of $1,000 has been offered by Dr. Edward Plaut, New York manufacturer, specifically for the best college plan for the maintenance of standard retail prices.

"What we are after," said Dr. Plaut, in sponsoring the competition, "is a real solution to this trade problem [illegible] answer is vital to the future success of American industry. The method of presenting the plan is unimportant. We are seeking ideas, not rhetoric. A large number of men in wholesale and retail trade have already submitted their plans. They are thinking clearly and constructively on this important question and show good business judgment. I am interested to see how the winning college plan compares with the best suggestions from business men."

Dr. Plaut is a graduate of Princeton and received his doctor's degree from Columbia. As both a college and a business man, he is interested in seeing whether the better plans come from American colleges or from the ranks of trade itself.

Details of the contest, which closes November 1, have been sent to professors of economics and business administration. The jury of award, headed by Senator Capper, includes Mrs. J. Bordon Harriman, chairman of the National Consumers' League; Dr. Melvin T. Copeland, Harvard School of Business Administration; Nelson B. Gaskill, former Federal Trade Commissioner; O. Barret Moxley, ex-president of the National Association of Wholesale Druggists; A. W. Shaw, publisher of System; Dr. Frank T. Stone, president National Association of Retail Druggists; and Herbert J. Tily, president National Retail Dry Goods Association.

MASS MEETING SATURDAY MORNING

The second Mass Meeting of the year will be held under the auspices of student senate in the gymnasium at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning. The freshmen must know their songs and cheers better than they have heretofore. Freshman attendance will be taken at the door.

FRESHMEN ATTEND PARTY AS GUESTS OF GOLD KEY

The Gold Key Society held its first party of the season Saturday morning on the back Campus. The guests were freshmen, who had received their invitations through the medium of the bulletin board. Instead of the usual single receiving line there was a double one, composed of sophomores and upperclassmen. The frosh ran between them and no discrimination was used as to where the flying belts struck. Thus the youngsters got their first taste of what disobedience to rules means. Gold Key intends to hold these gatherings regularly throughout the year, according to the president of that esteemed society.

1st Athlete: Congratulations kid, that was a beautiful punt you made just [illegible]. Thanks old man, I get quite a kick out of it myself.—Princeton.

Attendant: There's a man outside who wants to know if any of the patients have escaped lately.

Inspector of Insane Asylum: Why does he ask?

Attendant: He says someone has run away with his wife.—Ex.

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

JUDGE MOWER RETURNS FROM EUROPEAN TRIP

Professor of Political Science Visits Centers of International Activities

As a member of the European conference of American professors teaching international relations, Judge E. C. [illegible], professor of [illegible] spent the summer in Europe at various international bureaus, conferences and institutes. The party of professors [illegible] the conference visited Paris, The Hague, and Geneva.

The party inspected practically all the centers of international activities. Among the places visited were the Quai d'Orsay in Paris, the International Bureau of Weights and Measures at Sevres, the Carnegie Peace Palace at The Hague, the League of Nations buildings at Geneva and many other places of interest to teachers of international relations.

About 50 professors were members of the conference, the objects of which were to enable them to acquire information and material concerning the problems of international association and co-operation, to allow them to go to the sources of documentation relating to international associations; and to assist them in their effort to keep in touch with the international cooperative movements.

The conference sailed for the United States from Le Havre on September 12.

Columbia Held by Varsity Eleven to Two Touchdowns

(Continued from page 1)

for optimism now. The team's greatest weakness Saturday was its lack of coordination which comes only from practice. Directly out of the line of precedent none of the players are hors de combat from the first encounter.

The line-up follows, for those who must have the particulars.

COLUMBIA (14)	VERMONT (0)
Furey, l. e.	l. e., Morse
Kerrigan, l. t.	l. t., Denning
Shaw, l. g.	l. g., Kropper
French, c.	c., O'Keefe
Alkoff, r. g.	r. g., Robinson
Reynolds, r. t.	r. t., Winchenbach
Glenn, r. e.	r. e., Leary
Empringham, q. b.	q. b., Conway
Sesit, l. h.	l. h., Thorne
Madden, r. h.	r. h., Candon
Rieger, f. b.	f. b., Smith

SCORE BY PERIODS

Columbia	0	0	0	14—14
Vermont	0	0	0	0— 0

Touchdowns — Empringham, Sesit. Points after touchdown—Madden 2 (both placement kicks).

Substitutions—Columbia: Kumpf for Rieger, Kaplan for Empringham, Davenport for Reynolds, Reiger for Kumpf, Empringham for Kaplan, Adler for French, Cuneo for Alkoff, Kliegman for Furey, Reynolds for Davenport, Kaplan for Empringham. Vermont: J. Scutakes for Thorne, Thorne for Scutakes, Palmer for Denning, Williamson for Robinson, Denning for Williamson, Nelson for Winchenbach, Shaw for Leary, P. Scutakes for Candon, McGinley for O'Keefe, Thorne for P. Scutakes.

Referee—Victor A. Schwartz, Brown. Umpire—L. O. Kerberger, Harvard. Linesman—Howard Cann, N. Y. U. Time of quarters—10 and 12 minutes.

News that the Ira Allen Chapel is not to be dedicated until next Commencement was welcomed with a sigh of relief by many undergraduates, who had visions of being forced to give up their "beauty sleep."

Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says
Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down.	You pay per week for 10 weeks.
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS
SUITS and TOPCOATS
Turk's
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS UNDERGO REPAIRS AND EXTENSIVE ALTERATIONS

The renovation and repairing of several University buildings which was commenced during the summer is now fast nearing completion. The gymnasium and Converse Hall are being extensively renovated; the Old Mill is receiving a coat of paint on its exterior woodwork and Commons Hall is being arranged for the College of Engineering.

Extensive alterations have been made in the south wing of the gymnasium. The changes will greatly increase the facilities of the Department of Physical Education and the athletic teams. The toilets have been removed from the western part of the wing and are now reached by a stairway leading from the vestibule of the gymnasium to the basement. The lockers have been removed from the first floor excepting in the women's dressing room. Dr. Aldinger's office is a large room located in the western end of the wing near the office of the Graduate Manager. A large room for boxing, wrestling, and fencing adjoins Dr. Aldinger's office. The women's dressing and locker room and the storage room in the eastern side of the south wing have been but slightly altered.

In the basement of the gymnasium, the toilets are located in the south wing just at the bottom of a new stairway which leads from the southern end of the vestibule. A large locker room is to the east of the lavatory and the shower baths are housed in a room adjoining the athletic teams' dressing and locker room, which is located in its original place. By these alterations, much space has been created which has long been needed by the Department of Physical Education.

Middle Converse Hall, which is undergoing its first major alteration since being built about forty years ago, will be opened to students in the near future. The building is undergoing a complete change. The walls are being plastered and painted. The ceilings are to be of tin composition artistically stamped. All fireplaces have been blocked and new electric fixtures are to be installed. As soon as Middle Converse Hall is finished, the administration intends to com-

HOWARD'S APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP
Phone 3171 48 Church St.
Students' Trade Appreciated

STATIONERY,
MAGAZINES,
NEWSPAPERS
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

Sporting Comment

Vermont's defense [illegible] be its strong departure [illegible] the 1925 varsity. [illegible] game seems to hinge [illegible] way, although S[illegible] signs of an aggressive [illegible] develop into a strong [illegible].

The work of Kro[illegible] Leary at end was [illegible] Saturday's contest [illegible] gave the spectators [illegible] with his long [illegible] undoubtedly gain [illegible] Green and Gold [illegible] son.

S. Burton He[illegible] with the Associated [illegible] Haven, Connecticut [illegible] editor-in-chief of the [illegible] senior year here.

Hugh R. M[illegible] Hill over the [illegible].

mence work on South [illegible].

The cafeteria at [illegible] been discontinued [illegible] used by the College of [illegible]. Part of the Hall has been [illegible] a drawing room, to [illegible] the room on the fourth floor [illegible] Old Mill which has been [illegible] fore. The historic Old Mill [illegible] having its ancient exterior [illegible] carefully finished in brown [illegible] cept for the window frames which [illegible] being painted black.

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA
Corner Church and Pearl
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
Special arrangements can be [illegible] all kinds of Parties.
PHONE 2265

CORON[illegible]

THE PORTAB[illegible]
TYPEWRITE[illegible] that is equal t[illegible] office machine
PRICED AT
$60.00
Terms if desir[illegible]
L. P. WOO[illegible]
Sporting Goods St[illegible]
78 CHURCH STR[illegible]

ALL MEDICAL SUPPLIES AND TEXTBOO[illegible]
sold at
THE MEDICAL BOOK STO[illegible]

LUNCHES A SPECIALTY
at the
COFFEE CORNER
$5.00 book of 5c tickets for $4.50

Special College Merchandise
sold at
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Classified to represent different phases of college life
Necessities of a Student's Life
TEXTBOOKS NOTEBOOKS FOUNTAIN PENS
PAPER PENCILS INK
FURNISHINGS FOR A STUDENT'S ROOM
BANNERS PILLOWS BOOK-ENDS
CRESTS PAPER WEIGHT CALENDAR
WEEKLY DOZEN WRITTEN OF COLLEGE LIFE
STATIONERY
SPIRIT OF COLLEGE LIFE
PENNANTS JEWELRY NOVELTIES
MEMORIES OF COLLEGE DAYS
KODAKS, FILMS, MEMORY BOOKS

University of Vermont

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 BURLINGTON, VT., OCTOBER 1, 1926 NUMBER 3

FRESHMEN OPEN THEIR SEASON AGAINST T. C. A. AT CENTENNIAL FIELD

Captain Rattan Has Large Number of Men From Whom to Pick His Team Tomorrow —Game Has Been a Tie Past 2 Years

The Vermont Freshman Football team will make its initial bow to the public Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. when they lock horns with the fighting eleven of Troy Conference Academy. For the past two years the two teams have deadlocked in their annual struggle and Saturday's game should bring the best in each team to the fore in an attempt to settle a score of two years' standing in one afternoon. The Vermont Frosh have excellent prospects for the future but as much of their preliminary work has been in the fundamentals of the game it is probable that they will not be welded into a compact well-oiled machine, but they will make up for this deficiency with fight and close following of the ball.

The starting line-up will probably be chosen from the following group:

Ends: Sirois, Slate, Gourson and Griffith.

Tackles: Eddy, Love, Cohn and Bernstein.

Guards: Bloomstrom, Knapp, Bachman and Soloff.

Center: Levin and McFadden.

Quarterback: Dorey and Bray.

Backs: Bernstein, Mace, DeRose, Donaldson, Mitchell and Carrigan.

Other members of the squad are showing great improvement and the so-called regulars' positions are in jeopardy and many changes are to be expected before mid-season is reached.

Harwood, the big hard-hitting back is again running signals with the team but his game ankle, injured in the first scrimmage of the season will probably keep him on the sidelines.

Love, a husky tackle candidate is also limping from a scrimmage injury and his starting in the initial game remains a question that will not be decided until the referee's whistle sounds.

DOCTOR MUST HAVE PRODIGIOUS MEMORY

As an encouragement to those who after a brief sojourn in the College of Arts and Sciences intend to transfer their labors to the College of Medicine, here is an extract from an article which recently appeared in the Liberty Magazine. "A Doctor requires familiarity with the names of 707 arteries, 271 bones, 79 convolutions, 433 muscles, 895 nerves, 84 plexuses, and 103 veins. There are too 300 bacteria, 224 eponymic diseases, 500 pigments, 295 poisons, 88 eponymic signs and symptoms of diseases, 744 tests, and 109 tumors, or a total of 4,968 subjects relating to the profession alone. In addition there are the names of about 25,000 chemicals and drugs of which he must have adequate knowledge, making a total of 14,968. The average doctor's vocabulary contains 25,000 words, whereas the vocabulary of the average person only contains about 2,000."

GLEE CLUB TO START SOON

No plans have been formulated definitely as yet for the work of the Men's Glee Club this year. However, rehearsals will start soon, and a call for men will be issued in the near future. All men interested in singing for the club are assured a hearty welcome and it is hoped that many will compete for places. Dates for the tryouts will appear in the CYNIC at an early date.

DOCTORS COMING HERE

On October 13 and 14 there will be the annual meeting of the Vermont Medical Society. This Society is one of the oldest in the United States, and this year will be the 113th year of its existence. The meetings are held in Burlington every other year. The first of these meetings, which are to be held in the buildings of the Medical College, will begin at 9 a. m. and will be opened by the president of the society with an address of welcome. The rest of the sessions will be given over to business and to the reading of different papers. It is expected that there will be some noted out of state speakers present at the meetings. Thursday evening a banquet will be held in the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont.

CLASS PICTURES WILL BE TAKEN SATURDAY

Pictures of all classes in the Academic Colleges will be taken Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in front of the Billings Library. Everyone should be on hand at the appointed time, as these pictures are taken only once during the year and they are used in the Ariel. The mass meeting of men which was scheduled for this time has been postponed. The pictures will be taken by a local photographer and will go on sale within a day or two after they have been taken.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT AND MATCH WITH MIDD ON FALL NET PROGRAM

Carpenter, Nye, Baldwin and Mower Seeded Entries—Tennis Squad to Hold Round Robin Series

Drawings for the Annual Fall Tennis Tournament were made last Wednesday with thirty-one entries. Professor Carpenter, Captain Nye, Baldwin and Mower were the seeded players and were placed in the list according to the Official Rule Book of 1926. Players must pay their entry fee of twenty-five cents to "Ted" Egan before their first match. All first round matches must be played by Monday, October 4, weather permitting. Scores must be placed on the bulletin board schedule as soon played. If unable to place scores on the list, communicate with Manager Egan or Professor Carpenter immediately. The drawings in order are as follows: Professor Carpenter drew a bye, Taylor vs. F. H. Woodward, Bassow vs. Pouch, Goddard vs. Blodgett, Mower vs. Macomber, Rowe vs. James, Bernstein vs. Griffith, Pingree vs. Perry, Nye vs. Heinbach, Chaffee vs. Frable, Santoire vs. Aronson, Shedd vs. Wheeler, Baldwin vs. Albee, A. E. Woodward vs. Towne, Graves vs. Borkland, Crump vs. Gray.

Match With Middlebury

In preparation for the fall tennis match with Middlebury, Saturday, October 16, on the home courts, Coach Carpenter will put his men who were on last year's squad through one of his games called "Round Robin." In this game, each participant must play every other and then the averages are taken and the four highest will make up the team to face Middlebury. The six men will probably be Captain Nye, Baldwin, Mower, Taylor, Shedd and Goddard. The first four saw service last year and are letter men. This will give fully two weeks for the team to round into shape and they should give a good account of themselves. The matches are to be the best two out of three, and will begin as soon as the first round of the tournament matches are over with.

FRESHMAN PRIZE ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

The Freshmen Prize Entrance Examination in Greek, Latin, and Mathematics, will be held on the following Saturdays: October 2, 9, and 16. A prizes of twenty dollars is awarded to the man or woman who passes the best examination in each of these subjects. The money for these three prizes comes from the income of $1,200 willed to the University by Mrs. Hannah T. Howard. The requirements on which the examinations will be based are to be found on the following pages of the University Catalogue: Greek, 106; Latin, 164; and Mathematics, 110.

CANE RUSH WILL FOLLOW CLARKSON GAME— ROPE PULL THURSDAY

The Sophomore-Frosh annual rope pull will occur at four o'clock on Thursday, October 7, behind the Old Mill. In former years this event has followed the cane rush after the football games, but it has usually been the case that by the time the crippled were carried off the field after the cane rush, it was so dark that the spectators' view of the rope pull was spoiled. The new time should allow all present a good view of the Frosh's defeat.

The annual cane rush will be held after the Clarkson game Saturday, October 9. This year the event will take place on the gridiron between the stands thus allowing the spectators to keep their seats instead of moving to the baseball stands as has been necessary in former years. Frosh, wear your old clothes!

The Freshmen will form at the gym at 1:15 p. m. to march down in a body to Miles and Perry's Clothing Store on Church Street to get the canes. They will then march back to the gym and over to the field with the rest of the student body. Each Frosh will be required to pay 25 cents for his cane the price which was paid by Boulder. The Cane Rush will be compulsory for all Frosh and attendance will be taken by Gold Key.

All Sophomores and Freshmen will wear tennis shoes during the fight. In regard to broken canes, the one having possession of the crook will be declared the winner of the cane.

Boulder will supervise the scrap. Floyd James '27 is in charge of the arrangements.

SENIOR DEBATERS TRY THEIR WINGS IN SCI HALL NEXT FRIDAY

Members of the class of 1927 will no doubt be overjoyed to receive notice that the much anticipated Senior debates are soon to eventuate. The CYNIC has it on the best of authority that the opening event of what should prove an unusually interesting series will actually take place no later than the sunny day of October the eighth. On that day we will be favored with a startling discussion conducted by the well known lecturers Mr. G. J. Alfred heading one side of the momentous question, and Mr. H. T. Aplin leading the opposition. Mr. G. J. Alfred will be seconded in his efforts by the Messrs. A. A. Allen and R. S. Aronson. For the opposition, ladies and gentlemen, we offer for your applause the Messrs. L. H. Averill and E. L. Boyce.

The debates will be held at two week intervals, when the identical audience will be favored with the opportunity to hear (October 18)

C. N. Blackall, S. R. Byran and W. B. Clapp vs. R. H. Blodgett, R. L. Clark and J. H. Davies.

(October 22)

T. M. Egan, F. S. Devine and W. R. Doane vs. H. A. Dimick, N. Dauchy and G. H. Sloan.

ABOUT TWENTY-FIVE MEN OUT FOR FALL BASEBALL

About twenty-five candidates appeared at Centennial Field Monday night, when the first fall diamond work out was held. The fall baseball practice was tried out last year and proved a success. The practice is under the direction of Coach Jim Callopy. Most of the men who have already shown up are Freshmen although there are several veterans. Among the veterans who have shown up are Prentice, Cogswell and Roark. Coach Callopy is giving the new men a close scrutiny as there is probably some good material among the yearlings. The weather is considerably better for practice than it was at this time last year. In case the cold weather comes on quickly the work outs will be held in the cage for a time.

Two momentous announcements were recently made at Boston University. Military Science, until now compulsory, has been made elective. The student now has his choice between this and physical hygiene. The other ruling states that B. U. girls are no longer allowed to smoke. A questionnaire was sent to the mothers of the B. U. girls, and only one mother from the whole number was in favor of girls smoking.

NEW LOCKERS IN GYM NOW BEING ASSIGNED

The new lockers in the gymnasium are now being given out. There are 110 full length lockers for Varsity men in the lower basement and 600 of half length in the main basement, all new thoroughly up-to-date and sanitary.

The rental fee is one dollar and the combination lock will be one dollar. The latter may be sold at the Book Store at the end of the college year for 75 cents if the owner so desires.

No doubling up in lockers as have been necessary in the past, will be allowed.

ENROLLMENT IN 1901 ONLY 285—CADET MAJOR HEAD OF MILITARY DEPT.

President Buckham Calls Attention to Large Number Forced to Drop Out of College— Football Schedule Contained Some of Present-Day Rivals

The University paper of 1901 has some interesting features to be noted. It was a bi-weekly in magazine form and its title was the University Cynic. The paper was about 8" x 11" in size and almost evenly divided between advertising and written articles, there being 15 pages of advertisements and 20 pages of reading matter. Many of the ads are from firms which were not local. The editor of the paper was G. P. Auld '02 and J. M. Wheeler '02 was the business manager. Mr. Auld is now with an accounting firm in New York. Dr. Wheeler is a noted eye specialist and a trustee of the University.

The particular copy mentioned was published October 12, 1901. This being near the opening of the year the issue gave some idea of the size of the University and the entering class. An article entitled "Largest Class Yet" gave the number of Freshmen as 107 and the total enrollment was somewhat larger than 285.

President Buckham Gives Opening Address

President Buckham in his opening address called attention to the large casualty list during the year. He pointed out that the majority of the delinquents who fell by the wayside suffered from carelessness and lack of restraint. The assassination of President McKinley was also mentioned. Mr. Buckham speaking feelingly on the subject.

The names and addresses of the class of 1904 are in the paper, this probably taking the place of the present-day directory.

In the corner of one of the pages

(Continued on page 2)

Scrubs Wanted

Freshmen who desire to scrub for managerships on the business staff of the Cynic Board are requested to meet in the Cynic Office at 1:30 p. m. Monday, October 4.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT SELECTS CORPORALS

The following Sophomores are announced by the Military Department as corporals in the R. O. T. C. Battalion: G. Aiken, R. Averill, G. Batchelder, H. E. Barter, L. P. Barnard, L. M. Bjorn, G. E. Bond, B. F. Clark, L. G. Cowles, R. H. Curtiss, D. E. Damon, R. T. Davis, D. C. DeWolfe, C. J. Douglass, L. C. Duryea, J. S. Estabrook, P. M. Fitch, M. R. Frechette, W. Griffith, B. W. Gustafson, W. S. Hall, P. D. Hammond, H. C. Hooker, C. E. Harwood, M. W. Hill, P. B. Hopson, S. S. Kilby, E. W. Knapp, A. J. Kropper, R. H. Lockwood, A. A. Luciani, A. G. Mackay, C. C. Macomber, H. R. Mattison, J. G. Mellar, B. R. Morse, H. E. Noon, F. F. O'Keefe, P. J. O'Neil, F. R. Otto, C. H. Overly, C. S. Paine, D. A. Paul, J. R. Pike, A. D. Poverman, K. L. Price, G. S. Rand, L. R. Robinson, E. L. Rowe, N. I. Samuelson, A. E. Sargent, W. Shaw, G. W. Skiff, S. C. Towne, L. S. Turner, G. R. Van Name, H. G. Williamson, H. B. Whiting, N. C. Wood, and R. E. Wood.

VERMONT A CHANCE FOR GOOD SHOWING AGAINST SYRACUSE

Report From Former Vermont Football Star Gives Conditions as He Saw Them in Syracuse-Hobart Game—Change in Vermont Line

Syracuse, Vermont's next opponent will line up with a veteran line and backfield and the experience of one victory already tucked away in their boots. Hobart, Syracuse's victim proved much stronger than they expected and the latter were forced to use all they had in turning out an 18 to 0 win.

Vermont's line which is the weak spot on the team has been greatly strengthened by the shifting of Captain Denning to guard, replacing him with Palmer, star end of last year's Freshman team. The rest of the line will line up the same as last week with Morse and Leary, ends; Winchenbach, tackle; Kropper, guard and O'Keefe, center. The backfield will line with Conway, quarterback; Smith, fullback and Candon, Thorne or Scutakes, halfbacks.

Captain Vic Hanson of Syracuse will probably give the Green and Gold backfield plenty of trouble as his defensive work in breaking up the plays of the Hobart team was the sensation of the game. His gaining ability via the forward pass route will also give the halfbacks plenty of work.

Probable line-up:

VERMONT	SYRACUSE
Leary, l. e.	l. e., Archoska
Palmer, l. t.	l. t., Lee
Kropper, l. g.	l. g., Levy
O'Keefe, c.	c., Freidman
Denning, r. g.	r. g., McNamara
Winchenbach, r. t.	r. t., Bayley
Morse, r. e.	r. e., Hanson
Conway, q. b.	q. b., Cook
Thorne or Scutakes, l. h. b	l. h. b., Clark
Candon, r. h. b.	r. h. b., Barbuti
Smith, f. b.	f. b., Carr

Former Vermonter Sends Dope

"Ed" Johnson '24 a former Vermont football star, gives encouraging dope concerning tomorrow's opponent in the following letter to Mr. Mayforth:

Sept. 27, 1926.

Dear Mr. Mayforth

Knowing that Vermont will be down here next Saturday to play Syracuse I am sending along a little dope which I picked up at the Syracuse-Hobart game in hopes that it may give some idea of your next opponent.

(Continued on page 4)

OUTING CLUB PLANS HIKE TO MANSFIELD

The first hike of the season, which was to be held last Saturday, the twenty-fifth, was postponed on account of adverse weather conditions. It will be taken at the first favorable opportunity. The plan was to climb Mount Mansfield Saturday, staying at Taft's Lodge Saturday night and coming home Sunday afternoon.

Everyone is asked to watch the bulletin boards carefully for notices of an Outing Club meeting, which will be held in the near future. At this meeting the President will seek the opinion of the club on several plans that he has in mind. A canoe trip down Lake Champlain for ten or fifteen miles is planned, providing weather conditions are suitable. If enough are sufficiently interested, a ski and snowshoe club will be organized. Practice in running on skis and in using poles will begin as soon after November 1, as snow permits. Short hikes in the afternoons will be another feature of this year's program.

All Freshmen, who do not understand fully the purpose and meaning of the Outing Club, and who are interested in such an organization, can find out all they may desire to know from F. H. Sears '27, president of the Outing Club.

MISS RUTH BALL ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

Miss Ruth Jane Ball, assistant professor of zoology, announced her engagement to Walter Thomas Bigger at a bridge dinner party at the home of Mrs. Cora Chapin, 74 Buell Street last Tuesday evening. Mr. Bigger is branch manager of the Fuller Brush Company with headquarters in Burlington.

You Need The Cynic

In order to keep posted on college affairs. If you have not yet received a copy please leave your name and address in the CYNIC Office now. Every regularly enrolled student is entitled to receive the paper.

The Vermont Cynic

THE [illegible] NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the NEW [illegible] INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

[illegible] Published every Tuesday [illegible] college year.

Subscription [illegible] $1.00 a year delivered anywhere in the United States. Single copy ten cents.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, 330 So. Williams [illegible] other correspondence to the Editor-in-chief at 101 Colchester Ave.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate provided for in Section 1103 Act of October 3, 1917 [illegible] October 10, 1919.

Editors

J. Bonham Pierce '27 ..... Editor-in-Chief
Herbert [illegible] '27 ..... News Editor
Eve A [illegible] '28 ..... News Editor
Vina B [illegible] '27 ..... Women's Editor
Mahlon [illegible] '28 ..... Sporting Editor
George [illegible] ..... Interchange Editor
Laura P [illegible] '29 ..... Humor Editor
Whitney [illegible] '28 ..... Feature Editor

Associate Editors

Charles B [illegible] '29 — Robert M Tracy '29
George H [illegible] '29 — Frank G Rhodd '29
Anthony [illegible] '29 — Iola Bagley '27
Charles [illegible] '29 — Kunito Cook '27
[illegible] '29 — Margaret [illegible] '29
Leighton A Peaslee '29 — Virginia Margie '28

Business Staff

William H [illegible] '27 ... Business Mgr
Stoddard H Hazlin '27 .. Advertising Mgr
Robert T Holden '28 .. Assistant Manager
Charles H [illegible] '26 Assistant Manager
Arthur [illegible] '28 .Assistant Manager

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited [illegible]. All communications must be [illegible] the writer whose name will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Any brief [illegible] should be handed in or telephoned to 611 J before 9 p. m. Sunday and Wednesday.

In charge of this issue:

Herbert [illegible] ..... News Editor
Robert T Holden ..... Assistant Manager

Vol 45 October 1, 1926 No. 3

Our friend who wrote the Campus Comment last week was not only misinformed but his grasp of the situation was positively rudimentary.

The same day that his outburst appeared announcing that the improvements in the gymnasium would not be in use till next spring they were thrown open for use.

But that of course is a minor matter and the major fault with his ideas is that he apparently is reasoning from a basically warped viewpoint.

One would naturally assume that any college activity supported by funds drawn from the student body would be endeavoring to take advantage of the student body but he seems to have forgotten this rather obvious fact.

In the issue that he refers to as "the palmy days of old" athletes were offered every inducement to come here, the condition was that they won games but of what avail was that to the student body as a whole. Many students undoubtedly experienced a pleasurable sense of vicarious exhilaration over the victories of the men on the team but [illegible] comparatively colorless feeling [illegible] being of as much benefit to them as though they had been on the field themselves getting the benefit from the exercise and enjoyment of actual participation in the game. We ask you!

There is another phase which we should [illegible] to consider and that is the [illegible] of the amateur spirit which [illegible] the practice of encouraging athletes [illegible] about. A man used to be offered a scholarship to induce him to enter [illegible] and possibly he would be given [illegible] easy means of earning [illegible] and if he made the football team he [illegible] at the training table [illegible] There was nothing that reflected on the character of the athlete but it put the college practically in the position of [illegible] professional teams [illegible]. The larger colleges [illegible] it necessary to do [illegible] but if they do they [illegible] well. Could the [illegible] Three have grown up around openly professional teams? We rather think it. The essence of the spirit which is evinced at intercollegiate contests is supposed to be a direct result of love for the old Alma Mater, but when a man has been persuaded to attend a college for financial rather than other reasons it is logical to doubt if he has a deep-seated love for it. And can one get enthusiastic over the spectacle of a man making an end run for his bread and butter. We for one can't conceive of doing it.

At any rate the athletic policy of today at Vermont is eliminating these evils and giving the formerly submerged student a desire to participate in athletics, a chance to satisfy his craving and benefit himself into the bargain.

Enrollment in 1901 Only 285—Cadet Major Head of Mil. Dept.

(Continued from page 1)

is the heading "Commerce and Economics." The article was concerned with the expansion of this course which was started the year before. Two men handled the instruction in these courses then. There were three courses added: stenography, typewriting and accounting open to Juniors and Seniors.

It was noticeable that Europe was as popular with the faculty and students as now, there being three students and several of the faculty abroad.

Among those abroad were President and Mrs Buckham, Professor Jacobs and Professor Tupper. Professor Tupper was having a year's leave of absence and studying in Europe. He met and entertained some of his colleagues at Oxford.

There was military drill as there is now, but it was carried on under somewhat different conditions. A United States officer was awaited and the cadet officer had charge until such an officer was secured. Don M Rice '02 was the cadet major. Rice is now Exchange Fundamental Plan Engineer in the Department of Operation and Engineering of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Considerable space was given to the discussion of the Rev Herbert William Workman a distance runner from Cambridge. The idea of having a large parish and then coming across the ocean to compete in athletics was strange to them. He was quoted as having noticed a great difference in the systems of training employed in the two countries. In England an athlete was "on his own" to see that he gave himself the proper training. Here a coach laid out all the training for his men.

Norwich Beaten (56-0)

Norwich was beaten in football, 56-0. Dr David P. McMahon was the head coach, but he came somewhat late. He was well known in the football world as a halfback on the Pennsylvania team. Until he came R. S. Morse '01 coached the team. The football schedule included Montpelier Seminary, Norwich, Middlebury, Tufts, St. Lawrence, Wesleyan, Dartmouth, Union, Syracuse and Cornell. There was a training table at which 15 of the men ate. Two tennis courts were built so as to be in use in 1901. The gym was also being completed. It was expected that gym classes would be held later with a medic in charge. The gym equipment was to be completed as fast as finances permitted. At this time there was some difficulty over an athletic field. The campus was suggested but fortunately was not used.

FRATERNITY COLUMN

The Cynic will run a fraternity column for the next few weeks and if the experiment meets with success, for longer.

Any news of the fraternity which carries interest for the general campus will be printed whether dealing with alumni, dances or other activities.

Such items should be placed in the Cynic box in the Old Mill or given to members of the staff.

"Freshman Night" will be observed
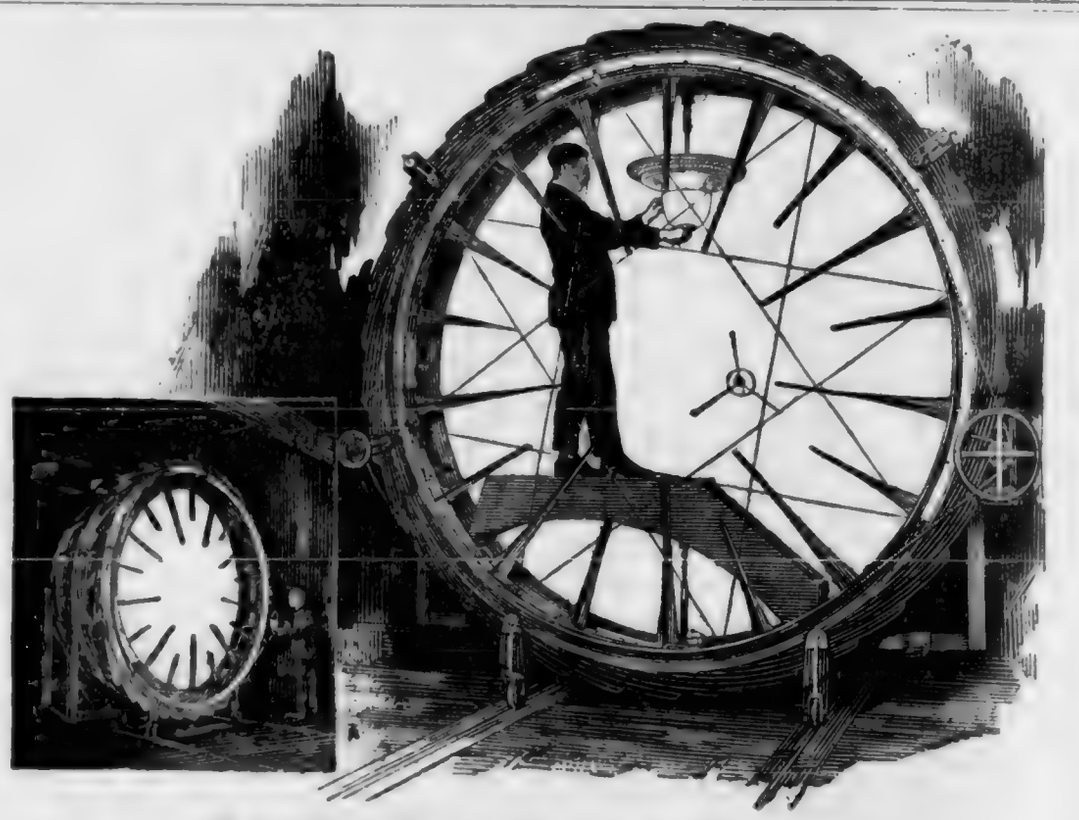
SUNDAY EVENING
at the
First Baptist Church
Saint Paul St.
7:30 o'clock
"Are College Years Wasted?"
as H. G. Wells asserts.
Mr. Oxley will address students and townspeople on the subject.
Soloist will be
HILDRETH MARTIN,
U. V. M. '23
of New York City.

IDEA FOR A JOKE

Setting—Girl alighting from a car surrounded by a cloud of mosquitoes.
Title—"Thanks for the Buggy Ride!"
This idea is patented, copyrighted and trade-marked. Any artist wishing to draw the necessary picture may inquire for terms between three and four on Monday afternoon.

"Boys will be boys," beamed the doting mother, as her five-year-old dropped father with an axe.—Ex.



ALL MEDICAL SUPPLIES AND TEXTBOOKS
sold at
THE MEDICAL BOOK STORE

LUNCHES A SPECIALTY
at the
COFFEE CORNER
$5.00 book of 5c tickets for $4.50

Special College Merchandise
sold at
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Classified to represent different phases of college life
Necessities of a Student's Life
TEXTBOOKS NOTEBOOKS FOUNTAIN PEN
PAPER PENCILS INK
FURNISHINGS FOR A STUDENT'S ROOM
BANNERS PILLOWS BOOK-ENDS
CRESTS PAPER WEIGHT CALENDA
WEEKLY DOZEN WRITTEN OF COLLEGE LIFE
STATIONERY
SPIRIT OF COLLEGE LIFE
PENNANTS JEWELRY NOVELTIES
MEMORIES OF COLLEGE DAYS
KODAKS, FILMS, MEMORY BOOKS

Russel W. Parish
Jeweler & Optician
Burlington, Vermont

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

With the hemispherical integrator the illuminating engineer measures light intensities and distribution. These laboratory findings are practically applied to improve our everyday illumination.

When the sun goes down

More than 350,000,000 incandescent lamps, with combined light of nine billion candlepower, ma city streets, stores, and homes brighter than ev before.

In bungalow or mansion, workshop or factor dormitory or auditorium, there is no excuse poor illumination. We have cheaper and bet lighting in the electric lamp than ever before; the dollar that bought 1,115 candlepower-hours light with the carbon-filament lamps of 18 now buys 16,200 candlepower-hours of light w the MAZDA lamps.

Not only more light, but correctly applied light, is the order of the day. The electric lamp, with its flameless yet highly concentrated light source, lends itself ideally to reflectors, shades, and screens. It is controlled light—safe light. And illumination becomes an exact science.

During college days and in after life, correct lighting must ever be of paramount importance to the college man and woman. Good lighting is the worthy handmaiden of culture and progress.

The General Electric Company is the world's largest manufacturer of incandescent lamps. And behind the G-E MAZDA lamps are vast research laboratories dedicated to cheaper and better electric illumination, and to the conservation of eyesight.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

Co-ed's Corner

Try Out For The Cynic

Sophomore women, who desire to scrub for the woman's department of the Cynic are asked to meet in Room 3, North College at 4:30 p. m. on Monday, October 4. Those who do the best work will be elected to the Board at Thanksgiving time.

Sorority Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

The engagement of Miss Ruth Jane ... 16 to Mr. Walter P. Biggar was announced Monday evening.

The Misses Thelma Edmunds '24 and Mariel Smith ex-'26 were in town for the week-end.

Delta Delta Delta

Miss Ola Keith ex-'28 was in town for the week-end.

Sigma Gamma

Helen Dean '29 of North Ferrisburg, was initiated Saturday.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Go-to-Church Sunday for Students was observed last Sunday. Figures are not available on the number of students at the various churches, but a good attendance was noted.

The membership committee, chairmaned by George Bond '29 is effectively doing its work on the campus. No drive for membership is to be launched, but prospective members will continue to be challenged to accept the Association purpose for their daily living. The purpose of the Association membership is as follows:

To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.

To lead them into membership and service in the Christian Church.

To promote their growth in Christian faith.

To promote growth in Christian faith, especially through the study of the Bible and prayer.

To influence them to devote themselves in united effort with all Christians to make the will of Christ effective in human society, and to extending the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

GRAD OF '22 TO SING AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Hildreth Farnham Martin, U. V. M. '22, now of New York City will sing at the Baptist Young People's Meeting Sunday night.

Martin is a native of Barre, was a brilliant Latin student, taking the Kirby Flower Smith Prize, and was active in music throughout his college career. He sang in the Chapel choir, the Glee Club and the College quartette as well as doing solo work.

Tel. 597-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P.-O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

CORONA

THE PORTABLE TYPEWRITER
that is equal to all office machines.
PRICED AT
$60.00
Terms if desired.

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

W. A. A. NOTES

Saturday afternoon there will be a bacon bat at Red Rocks. Everyone is urged to attend. Watch the bulletin board for definite plans and save Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Perkins has over twenty fine saddle horses at his stables located on King Street about a block and a half below Church. He has both English and Army saddles. The horses are a dollar an hour without instruction and a dollar and a quarter with instruction. Points for W. A. A. are given for riding. A point an hour. Permission from home is necessary.

There is an important announcement on the bulletin board concerning health cards. The girls are all strongly urged to keep these health cards.

The classes are all practicing hockey and some very fine material seems to have turned out. As soon as the coaches are able, the teams will be chosen and interclass games played off.

Key and Serpent will hold a regular fifth at Kappa Sigma House at seven meeting Tuesday night, October the o'clock.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

The expression "thanks for the buggy ride" is no joke at the University of Oklahoma. The college rules there prohibit students from operating automobiles and just to rub it in they are not even allowed to have airplanes.

Director—Terrible! What can I do to make you put more expression into the kissing scene?

Would-be—Pull down the curtain, get everyone out of here, and leave me alone with that blonde over there.
Black and Blue Jay

Motorcycle Cop—I just stopped you to get your number.

Girl in Roadster—You state men sure work fast. I just gave it to a chap twenty miles down the road, but in case he didn't tell you, it is 123 R.
Penn State Froth

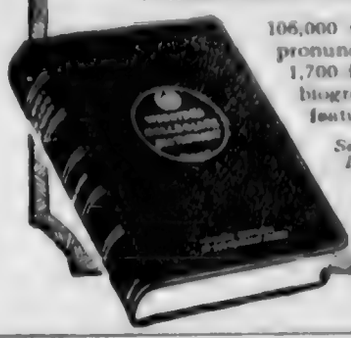
Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says

Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay per week for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00



Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the Students come from — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

A Short Cut to Accurate Information

Here is a companion for your hours of reading and study that will prove its real value every time you consult it. A wealth of ready information on words, people, places, is instantly yours in

WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE

The Best Abridged Dictionary—Based upon
WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL

106,000 words with definitions, etymologies, pronunciations and use in its 1,256 pages. 1,700 illustrations. Includes dictionaries of biography and geography and other special features. Printed on Bible Paper.

See It at Your College Bookstore or Write for Information to the Publishers.

G. & C. MERRIAM CO.
Springfield, Mass.

THEY'RE Smooth*est

That's why YOU CAN SMOKE THEM MORNING, NOON and NIGHT

If you are an early morning smoker, light up your first OLD GOLD Cigarette with the morning paper. And keep 'em going all day until pajama time . . . You can't get a tongue-bite or a throat-scratch out of a carload of them . . . but you'll get a world of satisfaction out of every cigarette.

OLD GOLD

IT'S THE SMOOTH(EST) CIGARETTE
The Product of P. LORILLARD CO. Established 1760

20 for 15 cents

Manners For Freshmen

BY DEBORAH

To [illegible] there is no [illegible] wants [illegible] to know [illegible] to [illegible] up the [illegible] Makes [illegible]

To [illegible] need a [illegible] yellow [illegible] best [illegible] acquaintance [illegible] at least [illegible] drifts around. I was [illegible] that [illegible] taken [illegible] of various [illegible] to [illegible] and will. I hope [illegible] that by all who are [illegible]

After [illegible] have procured your silvers the [illegible] to decorate it. If you haven't a big Vermont or a series of [illegible] inviting friends on the [illegible] sticker you are just as [illegible] A few tasty mottoes such as [illegible] the [illegible] "There's no place like home" will add a lot to the whole [illegible]

Besides the slicker there are few things that will be absolutely necessary for [illegible] college existence. You will of course have to have a ragged grouch [illegible] turned inside out, and an [illegible]ble, never-gets-dirty, never-gets-pressed." grey flannel shirt, but [illegible] case in the line of clothing is [illegible] regarded as non-essential and a [illegible] rough-hatism in the wearer [illegible] to bring plenty of ties, that your roommate and the upperclassmen in your house may be able to find [illegible] that will match their respective [illegible]. Remember that it is a lot more blessed to give than to receive as in relation to generosity via a Sophomore's belt. And with that happy thought I will close my message for today.

P S Be sure to bring plenty of aspirin and a hot water bottle. The aspirin will come in handy during [illegible] nine days' fast called Kake-Walk, and the hot water bottle will be useful cold night trips into Canada.

Note Next week Aunt Deborah continues her Advice to Freshmen with an article on "How to Pick your [illegible]"

Vermont a Chance for Good Showing Against Syracuse

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Syracuse was particularly impressive in their last Saturday game especially so when you take into consideration that Hobart had neither offense nor defense. They went [illegible] with a bang and scored [illegible] in straight rushes. After [illegible] Hobart had and Syracuse spent [illegible] of the game in open work and [illegible] In their open game Syracuse [illegible] some very nice passes getting a total pass with no safety [illegible] They worked one against Hobart [illegible] time were [illegible] being intercepted which would have meant a score for Hobart. They used a long pass to Hanson on right end and got away with it several times. Hanson, of course is the star and they depend quite a bit on his pulling down these long passes. Archoska on the other end is pretty near as good and plays an excellent defense game.

After the first period the line, which is a fairly heavy one, seemed to take things easy and several times Hobart wormed through them for substantial gains. On the defense most of them played a standing game.

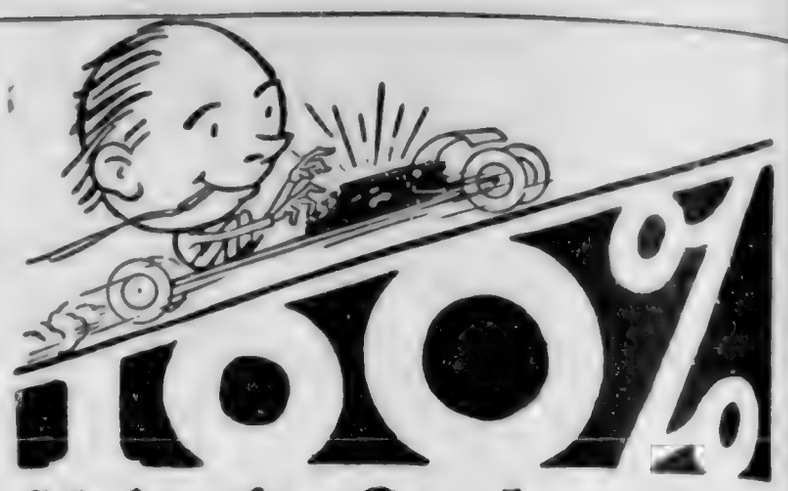
Carr is a fine halfback and is a dangerous man in the open. The fullback, close to 200 pounds, comes through the line with his head down. He bores quite a hole but once through loses much ground in raising his head to find out where he is. The formations used were simple, using chiefly kick formation, long and short, and tandem right and left. From kick formation they hit mostly off tackles rarely bucking the center of the line. End runs they played mostly from kick formation long and the tandem. They tried passes from all formations and even tried one from a fake place kick. Their punting was fair but the ends were down every time and got their man in his tracks. Syracuse's strength seem to be in their off tackle plays and their long pass to Hanson.

I will be looking for you all next Saturday and with the best wishes for a successful season I am

Sincerely yours,
ED. JOHNSON '24.

SOCIAL CALENDAR IN HANDS OF COUNCIL

At a meeting of the Faculty Council held last Monday the events of the Social Calendar were discussed and in special the problem of dances coming on both Friday and Saturday nights. This it is thought interrupts dormitory life to too great an extent.



The matter will be further discussed at a meeting of the Council on next Monday. The social calendar when published will give the dates of all college dances and other scheduled events, for the year ending in June, 1927.

ETA SIGMA PHI MEETING

The first meeting of the honorary classical fraternity, Eta Sigma Phi, Iota Chapter was held at the residence of Professor and Mrs. Bassett, September 28, at 8 p. m. Professor Kibbey spoke of the Classics at Oxford, where he has just taken his degree.

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

SWEATERS
The popular Crew Necks in Black and also Vermont Green.
Black Sweaters $6.50
Vermont Green 8.50
Hayes & Carney
197 Bank St. Near Majestic
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

100%
Make the Grade with a Remington Portable

STUDENTS everywhere have found the Remington Portable Typewriter indispensable in their college work.

You can't get away from the fact that neatly typewritten reports and theses get better attention from the profs, and very often mean better marks.

The Remington Portable weighs only 8½ pounds, net. It is the smallest, lightest, and most compact portable with standard keyboard. The machine can be tucked away in a drawer when not in use, for the case is only four inches high.

This handy helper, which takes all the drudgery out of college work, can be bought for as little as $10 down and $5 monthly.

The Recognized Leader in Sales and Popularity
W. H. SHERMAN, 104 Church St., Burlington, Vt. CARL B. STRONG, 72 No. Willard St., Burlington, Vt.
REMINGTON TYPEWRITER CO., Howard National Bank Bldg., 186 College St., Burlington, Vt.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1890

HAVE A CAMEL

Camels add the charm of living

WHETHER through the tasks of every day, or in life's moments of crisis and great reward, the comfort and understanding of Camel cheers us on our way. For no other cigarette was ever so friendly, so loyal as Camel. The unfathomed goodness, the deep underlying quality of Camel tobaccos is ever-dependable.

The world's largest tobacco organization buys the best of everything for Camels. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. The kind of blending that only such a group of experts could give. Regardless of what you are willing to pay, there is no other cigarette like Camel; there can be no better cigarette made than Camels. Camels never tire the taste, no matter how indefatigably you smoke them, never leave a cigaretty after-taste.

If you don't yet know Camel enjoyment, just sample the most exquisite fragrance that ever came from a cigarette. Have a Camel!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

© 1926

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 BURLINGTON, VT., OCTOBER 5, 1926 NUMBER 4

FALL SESSION FINDS SEVERAL NEW MEN ON UNIVERSITY FACULTY

New Instructors and Professors Represent Many American Colleges—Several Have Done Work Abroad

The opening of the college year [illegible] number of new professors and instructors filling the chairs [illegible] those who have left for [illegible] or are taking their [illegible] years.

[illegible] departments which have [illegible] but only one man giving all [illegible] now have one or two additional helpers. The departments of [illegible] Music, and Government [illegible] increased their scope by the [illegible] one or two new men. Some [illegible] men are doing advanced [illegible] with their teaching.

[illegible] K. Pratt will visit the [illegible] this fall. His work [illegible] another article in this [illegible] Miss Laura Parker '17 and Dex[illegible] '26 are two recent grad[illegible] back to their Alma Mater [illegible] Several students are [illegible] themselves of the opportunity [illegible] last year to take special [illegible].

The additions to the different departments are printed below.

Romance Language Department

[illegible] Benjamin Franklin Ladd, A. B., [illegible] newcomer in the Romance [illegible] Department and is Assistant Professor of German. He is a [illegible] New York University and [illegible] of Pennsylvania. He [illegible] received in the Yale Graduate [illegible] As a teacher Mr. Ladd has had [illegible] not only in the United [illegible] but also abroad. After he com[illegible] separation, Mr. Ladd was [illegible] in the University of [illegible]burgh and later in Yale Univer[illegible] From 1914 to 1917, Mr. Ladd [illegible] abroad, in Denmark and as an [illegible] in the University of Kiel, [illegible]rmany.

Professor Savage, has resumed his [illegible] as Assistant Professor of [illegible] after a leave of absence of one [illegible] which he spent travelling in the [illegible].

Mr. Livingstone de Lancey (brother [illegible] Professor De Vaux de Lancey who [illegible] a member of the Faculty two [illegible] ago) is working for his Master's [illegible] specializing in French and [illegible]ish. Mr. de Lancey received his [illegible] from Harvard.

There are also three candidates for [illegible] honors in French this year, the [illegible]es Beane, Ford, and Morrissett.

The course in Italian I is not offered [illegible] year not enough having signified [illegible] intent of electing the course. Sec[illegible] in French and Spanish are about [illegible] as those of the previous year.

Department of English

Three new members have been added [illegible] to the English Department this [illegible].

Mr. Jesse M. Watkins, Jr. who graduated [illegible] from Amherst in 1924 and after [illegible] of graduate work at Harvard [illegible] a position reporting and doing [illegible]ial work on the Chicago Daily [illegible] during 1924 and 1925. Mr. Wat[illegible] has charge of five classes of [illegible] English.

[illegible] Moore is filling the place [illegible] Wordsworth and is in charge [illegible] freshman [illegible]ing. Mr. Moore is a [illegible] of Swarthmore College, Mich[illegible] and has been coach of the [illegible] there.

[illegible] Parker, a Vermont [illegible] of 1917, has been teaching [illegible] schools and is now back [illegible] Alma Mater working for a [illegible]. She is conducting [illegible] English classes.

Education Department

[illegible] member has been added to [illegible] Department, Miss Nelle [illegible] a graduate from Ohio State [illegible]. Miss Alexander has [illegible] work at Columbia and [illegible] two years has been a [illegible] Miami County Normal [illegible] East Milton, Ohio.

[illegible] Frankhuizen to be Assistant [illegible] during P. Orens, a research [illegible] Philosophy.

Department of Philosophy

The Department of Philosophy has added two [illegible] men to its staff: George [illegible] who will be the Assistant [illegible] of Philosophy, and Irving P. [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

FRESHMEN ELECT THEIR CLASS OFFICERS

The first Freshman class meeting of the year was held last Friday afternoon, October 1, at four o'clock. Before the regular meeting commenced, a talk, concerning fraternities, was given by Professor Carroll to the Freshman men. He proffered some very good advice about selecting a fraternity, after which he explained fully the Rushing Rules.

Following the address by Professor Carroll the election of officers was held. Charles Mace, Jr., of Mittinegue, Mass., was elected president by a scant majority over Frank Beckley of Great Neck, New York. The number of ballots cast was 145. The office of vice-president was required to be held by a woman. Miss Harriet Woodruff of Troy was elected by a fair majority. The number of votes cast was 140. Miss Evelyn Pierce of Cambridge was elected secretary and Robert Buckley of Burlington was elected treasurer.

UNIVERSITY ENTERTAINS EDITORS AND MANAGERS OF HIGH SCHOOL PAPERS

The conference of the high school papers of Vermont will be held at the University, October 31, 1926. The first session will be held in the Chapel in the Old Mill at 10:45. The meeting will be opened by an "Address of Welcome" by President Bailey, followed by an "Outline of the Purpose of the Conference" by Mr. Walter H. Crockett, lecturer in journalism. Then Professor Frederick Tupper, head of the English Department of the University will speak. "Problems of the High School Editor," and "Business Problems of High School Papers" will be discussed.

The delegates will be the guests of the University at a luncheon on the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont at twelve forty-five. After the luncheon Miss Laura Parker of the English Department of the University, and formerly a teacher in Vermont schools will speak on "The Relation of School Journalism to the Work of the English Department." A general discussion of the subject will follow.

The afternoon exercises will close early to allow visitors to leave on an early train.

The University expects each paper to send two delegates, preferably the editor-in-chief and the business manager. The English teacher who cooperates in preparing the paper, high school principals and other members of the staff are welcome.

New Men Enrolled in the University

Harry Adams of Burlington, Everett Allen of St. Albans, Archambault Armand of Barre, John Armstrong of Brooklyn, N. Y., Marshall Armstrong of New Haven, Reginald Arnold of Hartford, Arnold Aronson of Proctor, Foscolo Ambrosini of Hardwick.

Arthur Bachman of Bridgeport, Conn., Paul Bacon of Burlington, Philip Baker of Burlington, Edward Ball of Barre, Carlton Bassow of Athol, Mass., Carl Beane of Middlebury, Roy Beck of Chelsea, Frank Beckley, Jr., of Great Neck, N. Y., Francis Bean of Fitchburg, Mass., William Benson of Burlington, Dwight Bernstein of Hartford, Conn., George Bertrand of Barre, Edward Berjor of Vergennes, William Bicknell of Haydenville, Mass., Edison Bigelow of Shrewsbury, Mass., Robert Billings of Rutland, Frederick Bird of Bristol, Conn., Bertil Bloomstrom of Worcester, Mass., Aleck Bloomenthal of Burlington, Herbert Barkland of Longmeadow, Mass, Raymond Bostwick of Burlington, John Bradish of Washington, D. C., Henry Bray of New Britain, Conn., Harry Bruce of Lynbrook, N. Y., Robert Buckley of Burlington, Benjamin Bullock of Beverly, Mass., Everett Bundy of Sutton, Warren Bunn of Barre, Richard Burbank of Chelsea, Harold Burstein of Bridgeport, Conn., Alfred Butterfield of North Troy, Llewellyn Button of Colchester.

Charles Capron of Bellows Falls, Alba Cardazzo of Waterbury, George Carr of Boston, Edmund Carrier of Barre, John Carrigan of Pittsford Mills, Robert Casey of Waltham, Mass., Newman Chaffee, Jr., of Rutland, Perley Chamberlin of East Ryegate, James Chilson of Franklin, Mass., Angus Clain of Worcester, Mass., John

(Continued on page 3)

EIGHT FIRST ROUND MATCHES PLAYED OFF

Preliminaries End Today If Courts Permit—Finals Must Be Played Off Friday

When the Cynic went to press eight of the preliminary first round matches of the Annual Fall Tennis Tournament had been played off. Because of wet courts, the limit of time for the first round matches has been extended to Tuesday P. M. If the courts should be wet Monday, Wednesday will be the last day to play. All second round matches should be played by Friday night, October 8, 1926.

To Goddard '28 went the honor of winning the first match of the Tournament from Bledsett 2-7, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4. Rowe '27 won from James '29 6-0, 6-4. Towne '29 beat one of the Woodward twins '30, 5-7, 6-0, 6-1, and Taylor '28 trimmed the other 6-0, 3-6, 6-0. Mower '27 a seeded player, lost to Macomber '30, 3-6, 8-6, 6-1. Pingree '28 beat Perry '28, 6-1, 9-7; Shedd '29 beat Wheeler '30, 6-4, 6-3 and Baldwin '28 won from Albee '28, 6-4, 9-7. This leaves seven more first round matches to be played.

As a consequence of the first round, Professor Carpenter will meet Taylor, Goddard will meet the winner of the Pouch-Bassow match, Macomber will face Rowe, and Pingree opposes either Griffith or Bornstein; Shedd will meet either Aronson or Santoire and Baldwin will have Towne for an opponent.

Contestants are urged to play as soon as possible so that the courts will be available for the use of the Varsity squad in preparation for the Middlebury match. If unable to find your opponent, communicate with Manager Egan at the Kappa Sigma House, for the addresses of the players. Also don't fail to pay the entrance fee of twenty-five cents before playing.

AID IN ADJUSTMENT TO COLLEGE LIFE OFFERED BY DR. GEORGE K. PRATT

George K. Pratt is at present the assistant medical director of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, New York City. Before this he held the position of medical director of the Massachusetts Society of Mental Hygiene. He is the author of "Your Mind and You," and lectures extensively on mental hygiene.

The work he is doing here and has been doing in other colleges is consultation with individuals who have any of quite a wide variety of personal problems. Sometimes the difficulty lies in the choice of vocation. Sometimes he helps clear up worries or anxieties caused by personal experiences or home conditions. The trouble may be a student's difficulty in adjusting himself to college life. In a few cases the problems relate to nervous disturbances or mental difficulties.

Dr. Pratt is a trained psychiatrist with considerable experience. He and his training are well adapted for helping individuals with nervous or mental difficulties. The great part of his work with college students is along the line of helping the individual to adjust himself more effectively to college conditions and companions. There are many problems which the individual can solve more readily on the basis of confidential conference with an older and more experienced person who specializes in work of analyzing personal difficulties and effecting more satisfactory adjustments.

BAPTIST CHURCH GIVES WELCOME TO STUDENTS

A large number of freshmen and other college people attended the freshmen welcome service at the Baptist Church last Sunday evening. "Are College Days Wasted" was the subject of the Rev. Chester J. Oxley's sermon.

Enjoyment of the evening was made certain by Hildredth F. Martin of New York City, bass soloist, who gave the following selections: "Thus Saith the Lord," from Messiah; "Hear My Cry, Oh Lord," by Wooler; and "Jehovah, Great Jehovah," by Mozart.

Mr. Martin graduated from the University of Vermont with the class of '22, doing solo work in the college quartette during his four years here. Since graduation he has been studying voice with L. A. Torrens, former associate conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and has been singing in the Church of the Incarnation, New York City.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU GIVES OUT 47 JOBS

The week ending October 2 makes fifteen days that the Y. M. C. A. Employment Bureau has been functioning. In this time forty-seven jobs have been given to thirty-one men. Fourteen of these jobs were steady. The records for these jobs show that they have netted the men 160 dollars. Besides this a summer's job was given to one student which paved him $15.00 a month.

Some of the different jobs were picking corn, caring for lawns, chauffering, janitor work, office work, engineering work, supply clerk, member of a church choir, moving furniture, cleaning house, moving ashes, setting out bulbs, working with radios, and getting subscriptions for magazines.

TWO-THIRDS OF THE VERMONT MEN TAKE MILITARY SCIENCE

Major Stanley To Take Place of Major Davis On Medical Dept. —Band Positions to Be Determined by Competition

The enrollment in the Military Department gives the following figures:

For the infantry there are 191 Freshmen, 132 Sophomores, 30 Juniors and 28 Seniors. For the Medical unit there are 25 Freshmen, 24 Sophomores, 14 Juniors, and 12 Seniors. This gives a total enrollment of 456 students out of approximately 700 male students in college.

All the old military instructors are back this year with the exception of Major Davis of the Medical Department. Major Oramel H. Stanley, Medical Department, U. S. A. has taken his place. Major Stanley is a graduate of Bowdoin and University of Maine, holding an A. B. in 1909 from the former and his degree of M. D. from Maine in 1912.

Classes Arranged

The Freshman section of Military will hold drill every Monday and Wednesday morning, the Sophomores alternating on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The combined units drill on Fridays.

Uniforms for the new students will be delivered during the last week in October, so that by the first of November the whole battalion will be uniformed.

Band Limited To 60

The band is limited to 60 pieces this year and at present the enrollment is in excess of this number. There will be keen competition for places this fall.

Practices are held each Tuesday and Friday in preparation for games and other functions. The band will accompany the football team to Middlebury, November 13.

New Women Enrolled in the University

Cornelia Allen of Bethel, Rosena Allen of Barnard, Ruth Andrews of Richmond, Doris Arnold of Burlington, Dorothy Arnold of Burlington, Lorraine Asselin of Burlington, Madeline Atkins of Burlington.

Doris Barrett of Montpelier, Florence Barry of Burlington, Rose Barry of Burlington, Esther Barton of Vergennes, Lelia Bates of Richmond, Jeanette Beucher of Burlington, Annie Bennetti of Burlington, Ariel Benway of Richmond, Winifred Blondin of Burlington, Esther Bloomfield of Windsor, Doris Boardman of Burlington, Cecile Boiven of Berlin, N. H., Louise Bosley of Newport, Georgia Bostwick of Hinesburg, Barbara Brown of Williston, Edna Brown of Baltimore, Md., Gertrude Bump of Clarendon, Huldah Burbank of Burlington, Pauline Burridge of Randolph, Elizabeth Butler of Danvers, Mass.

Dorothea Cameron of Winooski, Priscilla Campbell of Peterborough, N. H., Grace Cannon of Burlington, Mary Casey of Cambridge, Florence Childs of Burlington, Belle Church of Richmond, Edith Church of Bradford, Ruth Churchill of White Plains, N. Y., Thelma Cilley of Colchester, Elizabeth Clark of Providence, R. I., Florence Cochran of Stowe, Lillian Cohen of Burlington, Catherine

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN SEND TROY CONFERENCE ACADEMY TO A 34-0 DEFEAT

Mitchell Stars While Entire Backfield Play Excellent Game and Line Remains Almost Unbroken—Second Team Makes Good Showing in Second Quarter

Coach Rattan's yearlings were [illegible] to form and won from the Troy Conference eleven last Saturday by a score of 34-0. It was the Frosh's game all the way, making 23 first downs to four of the visitors. All the Vermont backfield men were going strong and the visitors were unable to stop them. The first team backfield with Bray, DeRose, Mace and Mitchell were replaced in the second quarter with a quartet almost as strong, Bernstein, Dexter, Carrigan and Donaldson making [illegible] gains for the second team. The line with Levine, Soloff, Bloomstrom and Bachman held up like a stone wall. The yearlings main strength lies in their ability to furnish a second team equally as strong as the first.

Immediately after the opening of the game, the Frosh scored their first touchdown, Bray going over for the score. Slate came back from the line and kicked goal.

In the second quarter, the Frosh scored twice, the first a pass Mitchell to Strois and Slate again kicked goal. Soon after DeRose went over the line but the try for goal was missed. Score first half, Vermont Freshmen, 20, T. C. A., 0.

The second team which played the third quarter failed to score but when the first team went back into the game Bernstein and Bray went over and Slate again kicked both goals. Final score Vermont 34, T. C. A. 0.

The line-ups are as follows

Freshmen	Troy
Strois, r. e.	r. e., Roberts
Soloff, r. t.	r. t., Mullen
Bloomstrom, r. g.	r. g., Davis
Levine, c.	c., Allen
Bachman, l. g.	l. g., Brophy
Bernstein, l. t.	l. t., Lawson
Slate, l. e.	l. e., Perez
Bray, q. b.	q. b., Schmitt
DeRose, r. h. b.	r. h. b., Cook
Mace, l. h. b.	l. h. b., Brassel
Mitchell, f. b.	f. b., Hutchinson

Substitutions—Vermont: Schechtman, Griffith for Slate, Perry for Bernstein, Cohen for Bachman, McNalley for Levine, Knapp for Bloomstrom, Perkins for Soloff, Donnelly, Carson, Olmstead for Strois, Dorey for Bray, Bernstein for DeRose, Donaldson for Mitchell, Carrigan for Mace. T. C. A.: Dutcole for Roberts, Jones for Brophy, Jensen for Mullins, DeWitt for Perez.

Touchdowns—Bay 2, DeRose, Bernstein, Strois. Points after touchdowns: Slate 4.

Referee—Desautels. Umpire—Carney. Head Linesman—Mangan. Time—8-10-8-10.

SOUSA CONCERTS MEET GREATEST EXPECTATIONS

Two concerts were given last Saturday in the gymnasium by John Philip Sousa and his band, and were attended by large and enthusiastic audiences. Many encores were requested and granted.

Miss Marjorie Moody, soprano, had no trouble in keeping her tones above the instruments of the one hundred players and was greeted with unusual applause. John Dolan with his cornet and Howard Goulden at the xylophone proved their ability, and the saxophone group were in high favor.

It is noteworthy that a large part of Sousa's selections are from American composers. Arthur W. Dow of this city was local manager of the concert.

THE PARADE

The first parade of students to Centennial Field was held last Thursday at 4 P. M.; the parade formed at the Gym and marched to the field with the band in the lead. At the field cheers and songs were practiced. Those present had a chance to see the varsity run through a signal drill first, and then watch a scrimmage between the second varsity and Coach Rattan's Freshman eleven.

Manners For Freshmen

BY DEBORAH

To [illegible] year little miss there is no [illegible] your Aunt Deborah wants to [illegible] you need that you need to [illegible] to know where or we will first take up the [illegible] of The Apparel That Makes Man.

To [illegible] you desire you will need a [illegible] The slicker must be yellow [illegible] not be dirty. You had best [illegible] hand one from some fisherman of your acquaintance. [illegible] your summer vacation [illegible] but be has worn it for at least [illegible] reasons or it won't be dirty [illegible] I am sorry to notice that [illegible] be "dandies" have taken [illegible] colored stickers of various [illegible] of even clean cut one this is an affectation and will I hope be frowned upon by all who are true [illegible]

After [illegible] procured your slicker the next [illegible] to decorate it. If you have [illegible] Vermont or a series of [illegible] from loving friends on the back [illegible] your slicker you are just as apt [illegible] A few tasty mottoes such as [illegible] the hottest thing since the [illegible] or "There's no place like home" will add a lot to the whole [illegible]

Because the slicker there are few things that will be absolutely necessary for your college existence. You will of course have to have a ragged green [illegible] turned inside out and an [illegible] ible, never get-at-able, never-get-washed" grey flannel shirt but [illegible] else in the line of cloth [illegible] regarded as non-essential and [illegible] ugh-hatism in the wear [illegible] to bring plenty of ties [illegible] roommate and the upper [illegible] ar house may be able to [illegible] will match their respective [illegible] Remember that it is a lot more blessed to give than to receive so be generous to generosity via a Scotch-plaid belt. And with that happy thought I will close my message for today.

P. S. Be sure to bring plenty of aspirin and a hot water bottle. The aspirin will come in handy during [illegible] the hot water bottle will be useful on [illegible] trips into Canada.

Next week Aunt Deborah [illegible] her Advice to Freshmen [illegible] on "How to Pick your [illegible]

Vermont a Chance for Good Showing Against Syracuse

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] but think Syracuse was [illegible] impressive in their last Saturday's game especially so when you take into consideration that Hobart had better offense per defense. They [illegible] the game with a bang also scored a touchdown in straight success. After [illegible] Hobart and Syracuse spent the rest of the game in open work and end runs. In their open game Syracuse took some very long chances using a lateral pass with no safety men. They worked one against Hobart which would have meant a score for Hobart. They used a lateral pass to Hanson on right end and got away with it several times. Hanson of course is the star and they depend [illegible] on his picking down [illegible] long passes. Archenka on the other end is pretty near as good and plays an excellent defense game.

After the first period the line which was fairly heavy [illegible] seemed to take things easy and several times Hobart worked through them for substantial gains. On the defense most of them played a standing game.

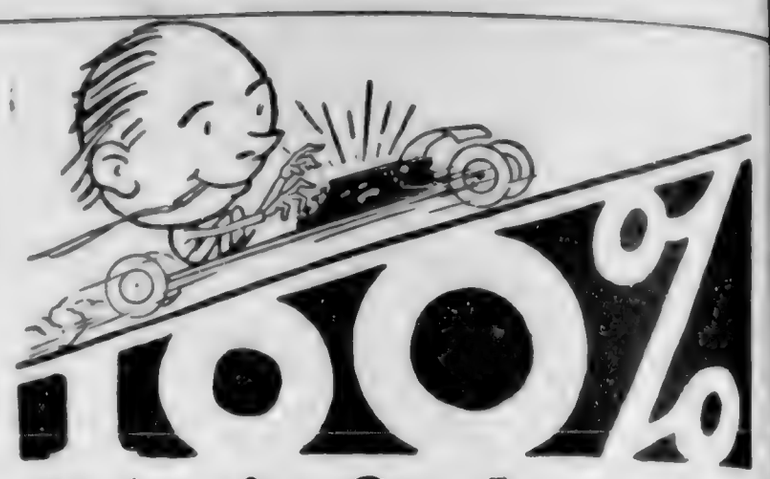
Carr is a fine halfback and is a dangerous man in the open. The fullback [illegible] close to 200 pounds comes through the line with his head down [illegible] quite a hole but once through loses much ground in raising his head to find out where he is. The formations used were simple using chiefly kick formation long and short and tandem right and left. From kick formation they hit mostly off tackles [illegible] backing the center of the line. End runs they played mostly from kick formation long and the tandem. They tried passes from all formations and even tried one from a fake place kick. Their punting was fair but the ends were down every time and got them man in his tracks. Syracuse's strength seem to be in their off tackle plays and their long pass to Hanson.

I will be looking for you all next Saturday and with the best wishes for a successful season I am

Sincerely yours,
Ed Johnson '24

SOCIAL CALENDAR IN HANDS OF COUNCIL

At a meeting of the Farmers' Council held last Monday the events of the Social Calendar were discussed and in spite of the [illegible] coming sports, the problem of [illegible] rights on both Friday and Saturday nights [illegible] This is the [illegible] difficulty to be found at this [illegible]



The matter was [illegible] at a meeting of the Council [illegible] Monday. The main question when [illegible] all [illegible] of all [illegible] dances and [illegible] events for the year ending in June, 1927.

ETA SIGMA PHI MEETING

The first meeting of the honorary classical fraternity Eta Sigma Phi [illegible] Chapter was held at the residence of Professor and Mrs. Bassett September 28 at 7:30 p. m. Professor Kidner Symes of the Classics at Oxford where he has just taken his degree.

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

SWEATERS
The popular Crew Necks in Black and also Vermont Green.
Black Sweaters $6.50
Vermont Green 8.50
Hayes & Carney
197 Bank St. Near Majestic
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

100%
Make the Grade with a Remington Portable

STUDENTS everywhere have found the Remington Portable Typewriter indispensable in their college work.

You can't get away from the fact that neatly typewritten reports and theses get better attention from the profs, and very often mean better marks.

The Remington Portable weighs only 8½ pounds, net. It is the smallest, lightest, and most compact portable with standard keyboard. The machine can be tucked away in a drawer when not in use, for the case is only four inches high.

This handy helper, which takes all the drudgery out of college work, can be bought for as little as $10 down and $5 monthly.

The Recognized Leader in Sales and Popularity
W. H. SHERMAN, 104 Church St., Burlington, Vt. CARL B. STRONG, 72 No. Willard St., Burlington, Vt.
REMINGTON TYPEWRITER CO., Howard National Bank Bldg., 186 College St., Burlington, Vt.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.

Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1849

HAVE A CAMEL

Camels add the charm of living

WHETHER through the tasks of every day, or in life's moments of crisis and great reward, the comfort and understanding of Camel cheers us on our way. For no other cigarette was ever so friendly, so loyal as Camel. The unfathomed goodness, the deep underlying quality of Camel tobaccos is ever-dependable.

The world's largest tobacco organization buys the best of everything for Camels. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. The kind of blending that only such a group of experts could give. Regardless of what you are willing to pay, there is no other cigarette like Camel; there can be no better cigarette made than Camels. Camels never tire the taste, no matter how indefatigably you smoke them, never leave a cigaretty after-taste.

If you don't yet know Camel enjoyment, just sample the most exquisite fragrance that ever came from a cigarette. Have a Camel!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

© 1926

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., OCTOBER 5, 1926 — NUMBER 4

LL SESSION FINDS SEVERAL NEW MEN ON UNIVERSITY FACULTY

w Instructors and Professors Represent Many American Colleges—Several Have Done Work Abroad of the college year number of new professors filling the chairs who have left for or are taking their departments which have only one man giving all now have one or two ad- The departments of Music, and Government increased their scope by the one or two new men. Some are doing advanced with their teaching.

K. Pratt will visit the this fall. His work another article in this Miss Laura Parker '17 and Dex- '26 are two recent grad- back to their Alma Mater Several students are themselves of the opportunity last year to take special tions to the different depart- printed below.

Romance Language Department

Benjamin Franklin Ladd, A. B., newcomer in the Romance Department and is Assist- professor of German. He is a of New York University and University of Pennsylvania. He served in the Yale Graduate As a teacher Mr. Ladd has had not only in the United also abroad. After he com- his preparation, Mr. Ladd was in the University of and later in Yale Univer- from 1914 to 1917, Mr. Ladd abroad, in Denmark and as an in the University of Kiel, Germany

Professor Savage, has resumed his as Assistant Professor of after a leave of absence of one which he spent travelling in the South

Mr. Livingstone de Lancey (brother Professor De Vaux de Lancey who a member of the Faculty two ago) is working for his Master's specializing in French and Mr de Lancey received his from Harvard.

There are also three candidates for honors in French this year, the Misses Deane, Ford, and Morrissett.

The course in Italian I is not offered enough having signified desire of electing the course. Sec- French and Spanish are about as those of the previous year.

Department of English

Three new members have been add- to the English Department this

Mr. Jesse M. Watkins, Jr. who grad- from Amherst in 1924 and after year of graduate work at Harvard position reporting and doing work on the Chicago Daily during 1924 and 1925. Mr. Wat- has charge of five classes of English.

Preston Moore is filling the place Mr. Wentworth and is in charge Public Speaking. Mr. Moore is a of Haverford College, Mich- and has been coach of the there.

Williams J. Parker, a Vermont of 1917, has been teaching schools and is now back Alma Mater working for a degree. She is conducting English classes.

Education Department

One new member has been added to Education Department, Miss Nelle a graduate from Ohio State Miss Alexander has graduate work at Columbia and and two years has been a the Miami County Normal West Milton, Ohio.

George Veenhuizen to be Assistant Irving P. Orens, a research Philosophy.

Department of Philosophy

The Department of Philosophy has two new men to its staff: George who will be the Assistant Professor of Philosophy, and Irving P.

(Continued on page 4)

FRESHMEN ELECT THEIR CLASS OFFICERS

The first Freshman class meeting of the year was held last Friday afternoon, October 1, at four o'clock. Before the regular meeting commenced, a talk, concerning fraternities, was given by Professor Carroll to the Freshman men. He proffered some very good advice about selecting a fraternity, after which he explained fully the Rushing Rules.

Following the address by Professor Carroll the election of officers was held. Charles Mace, Jr., of Mittineague, Mass., was elected president by a scant majority over Frank Beckley of Great Neck, New York. The number of ballots cast was 145. The office of vice-president was required to be held by a woman. Miss Harriet Woodruff of Troy was elected by a fair majority. The number of votes cast was 140. Miss Evelyn Pierce of Cambridge was elected secretary and Robert Buckley of Burlington was elected treasurer.

UNIVERSITY ENTERTAINS EDITORS AND MANAGERS OF HIGH SCHOOL PAPERS

The conference of the high school papers of Vermont will be held at the University, October 31, 1926. The first session will be held in the Chapel in the Old Mill at 10:45. The meeting will be opened by an "Address of Welcome" by President Bailey, followed by an "Outline of the Purpose of the Conference" by Mr. Walter H. Crockett lecturer in journalism. Then Professor Frederick Tupper, head of the English Department of the University will speak. "Problems of the High School Editor," and "Business Problems of High School Papers" will be discussed.

The delegates will be the guests of the University at a luncheon on the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont at twelve forty-five. After the luncheon Miss Laura Parker of the English Department of the University, and formerly a teacher in Vermont schools will speak on "The Relation of School Journalism to the Work of the English Department." A general discussion of the subject will follow.

The afternoon exercises will close early to allow visitors to leave on an early train.

The University expects each paper to send two delegates, preferably the editor-in-chief and the business manager. The English teacher who cooperates in preparing the paper, high school principals and other members of the staff are welcome.

New Men Enrolled in the University

Harry Adams of Burlington, Everett Allen of St. Albans, Archambault Armand of Barre, John Armstrong of Brooklyn, N. Y., Marshall Armstrong of New Haven, Reginald Arnold of Hartford, Arnold Aronson of Proctor, Foscolo Ambrosini of Hardwick.

Arthur Bachman of Bridgeport, Conn., Paul Bacon of Burlington, Philip Baker of Burlington, Edward Ball of Barre, Carlton Bassow of Athol, Mass., Carl Beane of Middlebury, Roy Beck of Chelsea, Frank Beckley Jr., of Great Neck, N. Y., Francis Bean of Fitchburg, Mass., William Benson of Burlington, Dwight Bernstein of Hartford, Conn., George Bertrand of Barre, Edward Berjor of Vergennes, William Bicknell of Haydenville, Mass., Edison Bigelow of Shrewsbury, Mass., Robert Billings of Rutland, Frederick Bird of Bristol, Conn., Bertil Bloomstrom of Worcester, Mass., Aleck Bloomenthal of Burlington, Herbert Barkland of Longmeadow, Mass, Raymond Bostwick of Burlington, John Bradish of Washington, D. C., Henry Bray of New Britain, Conn., Harry Bruce of Lynbrook, N. Y., Robert Buckley of Burlington, Benjamin Bullock of Beverly, Mass., Everett Bundy of Sutton, Warren Bunn of Barre, Richard Burbank of Chelsea, Harold Burstein of Bridgeport, Conn., Alfred Butterfield of North Troy Llewellyn Button of Colchester

Charles Capron of Bellows Falls, Alba Cardazzo of Waterbury, George Carr of Boston, Edmund Carrier of Barre, John Carrigan of Pittsford Mills, Robert Casey of Waltham, Mass., Newman Chaffee, Jr., of Rutland, Perley Chamberlin of East Ryegate, James Chilson of Franklin, Mass., Angus Clain of Worcester, Mass., John

(Continued on page 3)

EIGHT FIRST ROUND MATCHES PLAYED OFF

Preliminaries End Today If Courts Permit—Finals Must Be Played Off Friday

When the CYNIC went to press, eight of the preliminary first round matches of the Annual Fall Tennis Tournament had been played off. Because of wet courts, the limit of time for the first round matches has been extended to Tuesday P. M. If the courts should be wet Monday, Wednesday will be the last day to play. All second round matches should be played by Friday night, October 8, 1926.

To Goddard '28 went the honor of winning the first match of the Tournament from Blodgett '27, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4. Rowe '27 won from James '29, 6-0, 6-4; Towne '29 beat one of the Woodward twins '30, 5-7, 6-0, 6-1 and Taylor '28 trimmed the other 6-0, 3-6, 6-0. Mower '27 a seeded player, lost to Macomber '30, 2-6, 8-6, 6-1. Pingree '28 beat Perry '28, 6-1, 9-7; Shedd '29 beat Wheeler '30, 6-4, 6-3 and Baldwin '28 won from Albee '28, 6-4, 9-7. This leaves seven more first round matches to be played.

As a consequence of the first round, Professor Carpenter will meet Taylor, Goddard will meet the winner of the Pouch-Bassow match, Macomber will face Rowe, and Pingree opposes either Griffith or Bornstein, Shedd will meet either Aronson or Santoire and Baldwin will have Towne for an opponent.

Contestants are urged to play as soon as possible so that the courts will be available for the use of the Varsity squad in preparation for the Middlebury match. If unable to find your opponent, communicate with Manager Egan at the Kappa Sigma House, for the addresses of the players. Also don't fail to pay the entrance fee of twenty-five cents before playing.

AID IN ADJUSTMENT TO COLLEGE LIFE OFFERED BY DR. GEORGE K. PRATT

George K. Pratt is at present the assistant medical director of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, New York City. Before this he held the position of medical director of the Massachusetts Society of Mental Hygiene. He is the author of "Your Mind and You," and lectures extensively on mental hygiene.

The work he is doing here and has been doing in other colleges is consultation with individuals who have any of quite a wide variety of personal problems. Sometimes the difficulty lies in the choice of vocation. Sometimes he helps clear up worries or anxieties caused by personal experiences or home conditions. The trouble may be a student's difficulty in adjusting himself to college life. In a few cases the problems relate to nervous disturbances or mental difficulties.

Dr. Pratt is a trained psychiatrist with considerable experience. He and his training are well adapted for helping individuals with nervous or mental difficulties. The great part of his work with college students is along the line of helping the individual to adjust himself more effectively to college conditions and companions. There are many problems which the individual can solve more readily on the basis of confidential conference with an older and more experienced person who specializes in work of analyzing personal difficulties and effecting more satisfactory adjustments.

BAPTIST CHURCH GIVES WELCOME TO STUDENTS

A large number of freshmen and other college people attended the freshmen welcome service of the Baptist Church last Sunday evening. "Are the Days Wasted" was the sermon of the Rev. Chester I. Ochs's sermon.

Enjoyment of the evening was made certain by Hildredth F. Martin of New York City, bass soloist, who gave the following selections: "Turn Saith the Lord," from Messiah; "Hear My Cry Oh Lord" by Wooler and "Jehovah Great Jehovah," by Mozart.

Mr. Martin graduated from the University of Vermont with the class of '22 doing solo work in the college quartette during his four years here. Since graduation he has been studying voice with L. A. Torrens, former associate conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and has been singing in the Church of the Incarnation, New York City.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU GIVES OUT 47 JOBS

The week ending October 2 makes fifteen days that the Y. M. C. A. Employment Bureau has been functioning. In this time forty-seven jobs have been given to thirty-one men. Fourteen of these jobs were steady. The records for these jobs show that they have netted the men 156 dollars. Besides this a summer's job was given to one student, which paved him $75.00 a month.

Some of the different jobs were picking corn, caring for lawns, chauffeuring, limited work after work on concrete work, supply clerk, member of a church choir, moving furniture, cleaning house, moving ashes, setting out bulbs, working with radios, and getting subscriptions for magazines.

TWO-THIRDS OF THE VERMONT MEN TAKE MILITARY SCIENCE

Major Stanley To Take Place of Major Davis On Medical Dept. —Band Positions to Be Determined by Competition

The enrollment in the Military Department gives the following figures:

For the infantry there are 191 Freshmen, 132 Sophomores, 30 Juniors and 28 Seniors. For the Medical unit there are 25 Freshmen, 24 Sophomores, 14 Juniors and 1 Senior. This gives a total enrollment of 445 students out of approximately 700 male students in college.

All the old military instructors are back this year with the exception of Major Davis of the Medical Department. Major Oramel H. Stanley, Medical Department, U. S. A. has taken his place. Major Stanley is a graduate of Bowdoin and University of Maine holding an A. B. in 1909 from the former and his degree of M. D. from Maine in 1912.

Classes Arranged

The Freshman section of Military will hold drill every Monday and Wednesday morning, the Sophomores alternating on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The combined units drill on Fridays.

Uniforms for the new students will be delivered during the last week in October, so that by the first of November the whole battalion will be uniformed.

Band Limited To 60

The band is limited to 60 pieces this year and at present the enrollment is in excess of this number. There will be keen competition for places this fall.

Practices are held each Tuesday and Friday in preparation for games and other functions. The band will accompany the football team to Middlebury, November 13.

New Women Enrolled in the University

Cornelia Allen of Bethel, Rosena Allen of Barnard, Ruth Andrews of Richmond, Doris Arnold of Burlington, Dorothy Arnold of Burlington, Lorraine Austin of Burlington, Madeline Atkins of Burlington.

Doris Barrett of Montpelier, Florence Barry of Burlington, Rose Barry of Burlington, Esther Barton of Vergennes, Lælla Bates of Richmond, Jeanette Beecher of Burlington, Adele Bennett of Burlington, Astrid Benway of Richmond, Winifred Bloomden of Burlington, Esther Bloomfield of Windsor, Doris Boardman of Burlington, Cecile Bolton of Bolton, N. H., Lesley Bowes of Newport, Georgia Bostwick of Hinesburg, Barbara Brown of Williston, Edna Brown of Baltimore, Md., Gertrude Bump of Clarendon, Hubbah Burback of Burlington, Pauline Burridge of Randolph, Elizabeth Butler of Danvers, Mass.

Dorothea Cameron of Wilmerad, Priscilla Campbell of Peterborough, N. H., Grace Cannon of Burlington, Mary Casey of Cambridge, Florence Childs of Burlington, Belle Church of Richmond, Edith Church of Bradford, Ruth Churchill of White Plains, N. Y., Thelma Cilley of Colchester, Elizabeth Clark of Providence, R. I., Florence Cochran of Stowe, Lillian Cohen of Burlington, Catherine

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMEN SEND TROY CONFERENCE ACADEMY TO A 34-0 DEFEAT

Mitchell Stars While Entire Backfield Play Excellent Game and Line Remains Almost Unbroken—Second Team Makes Good Showing in Second Quarter

Coach Hattan's yearlings were true to form and won from the Troy Conference eleven last Saturday by a score of 34-0. It was the Frosh's game all the way, rolling up 23 first downs to four of the visitors. All the Vermont backfield men were going strong and the visitors were unable to stop them. The first team backfield with Bray, DeRose, Mace and Mitchell were replaced in the second quarter with a quartet almost as strong. Bernstein, Donaldson, Carrigan and Donaldson making the gains for the second team. The line with Levine, Soloff, Bloomstrom and Buchman held up like a stone wall. The yearlings main strength lies in their ability to furnish a second team equally as strong as the first.

Immediately after the opening of the game the Frosh scored their first touchdown, Bray going over for the score. Soule came back from the line and kicked goal.

In the second quarter, the Frosh scored twice, the first a pass Mitchell to Stroia and Soule again kicked goal. Soon after DeRose went over the line but the try for goal was missed. Second half Vermont Freshmen, 20; T. C. A., 0.

The second team, which played the third quarter failed to score but when the first team went back into the game Bernstein and Bray went over and Soule again kicked both goals. Final score Vermont 34, T. C. A. 0.

The lineups are as follows:

Troy	Vermont
Stroia, l. e.	r. e., Robertson
Soloff, r. t.	r. t., Morton
Bloomstrom, r. g.	r. g., Buchman
Levine, c.	c., Nolan
Buchman, l. g.	l. g., Brayden
Bernstein, l. t.	l. t., Lamont
Slate, l. e.	l. e., Perez
Bray, q. b.	q. b., Schmidt
DeRose, r. h. b.	r. h. b., Cass
Mace, l. h. b.	l. h. b., Bruce
Mitchell, f. b.	f. b., Hutchinson

Substitutions—Vermont: Schechtman, Griffith for Slate, Perry for Bernstein, Cohen for Buchman, McNalley for Levine, Knapp for Bloomstrom, Perkins for Soloff, Donnelly, Carson, Olmsted for Stroia, Dorey for Bray, Bernstein for DeRose, Donaldson for Mitchell, Carrigan for Mace. T. C. A.: Dupuis for Roberts, Jones for Brophy, Jensen for Morrison, DeWitt for Perez.

Touchdowns: Bray 2, DeRose, Bernstein. Points after touchdowns: Slate 4.

Referee, Desautels. Umpire, Carter. Head Linesman, Mangan. Time, 4 10-12.

SOUSA CONCERTS MEET GREATEST EXPECTATIONS

Two concerts were given last Saturday on the grounds by John Philip Sousa and his band and were attended by large and enthusiastic audiences. Many encores were requested and granted.

Miss Marjorie Moody, soprano had no trouble in keeping her tones above the audience and was greeted with unusual applause. Herb Dolan with his cornet and Raymond Goodison at the xylophone played their parts and the saxophone players were in high favor.

It is understood that a large part of Sousa's organization are from American communities. Arthur W. Dow of this city was head treasurer of the concert.

THE PARADE

The first parade of students to Centennial Field was held last Thursday at 4 P. M., the parade formed at the Gym and marched to the field with the band in the lead. At the field cheers and songs were practiced. Those present had a chance to see the varsity run through a signal drill first, and then watch a scrimmage between the second varsity and Coach Hattan's Freshman eleven.

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible]

Editors

[illegible]

Business Staff

[illegible]

Entered [illegible] as second class matter under the Act of [illegible]

Vol. [illegible] No. [illegible]

THE SHORT CUT

The [illegible] on the Colchester Avenue [illegible] Campus have been made [illegible] by grading and sodding the [illegible]. The new road has been built [illegible] center of that tract which lies to the east of the several roads [illegible] which formerly crossed it at various angles. Barriers have been [illegible] across the road which formerly ran by the Old Commons Hall [illegible] of the present road. Some [illegible] are apparently unable to keep [illegible] out of this end road but [illegible] due to absent minded ness [illegible] the dreams brethren or sisters must be rudely awakened when [illegible] over the ladders placed [illegible] end of it. College men and [illegible] should be old enough to take [illegible] hint without making it necessary to print the words "Keep Out" [illegible].

The campus of ours is one well known for its beauty and this reputation [illegible] to be considered and carefully [illegible] in our minds against the [illegible] and sometimes deadly necessity of saving [illegible] seconds by a short cut.

LOOKING AHEAD

[illegible] than a [illegible] the large freshman football [illegible] turned out ready for practice in the uniform Saturday was given a chance to play in the game [illegible] Conference Academy. Because [illegible] in spite of this fact [illegible] combination of seven men [illegible] had built at any time proved [illegible] to play at with an [illegible] at any stage. Saturday's [illegible] contained a wealth of good [illegible] and good [illegible] it had been hard to [illegible] the best from [illegible] in fact [illegible] a difficult [illegible] to do, [illegible] with all the [illegible] displayed by the squad.

[illegible] large [illegible] of well trained material [illegible] the freshmen should [illegible] a big [illegible] to the varsity [illegible] of this year. While there [illegible] a strong per cent. who will [illegible] college or are ineligible [illegible] after their first [illegible] enough should be left to fill [illegible] places on next year's varsity squad.

[illegible] enough, however, to take assurance from the fact that the number of men is large enough to allow fifty per cent to fail and still leave plenty of material. All those men who have the spirit to go out and fight on the gridiron for their college should

Speaking of Sport

[illegible] Vermont [illegible] Football [illegible] Was getting a better team [illegible] Football Association.

[illegible] Football [illegible] Coach [illegible] sports [illegible] Saturday. It was indeed a [illegible] next [illegible] Saturday [illegible] Grand [illegible] as I [illegible] your team undefeated.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) R. Jesson"

We may never have gotten such commendation from an opponent [illegible] Are we sure what the situation was at that time [illegible] would have been impossible but today the Green and Gold [illegible] and we are beginning to [illegible] reputation for good sportsmanship [illegible] playing as Coach Crokay's comment in the New York [illegible] He said "It is always a pleasure to have opponents of the Vermont type on our schedule."

Such a reputation as this sort of thing is bound to give Vermont is well worth [illegible] and we may well be proud of the teams that are responsible for it.

Calendar For This Week

Tuesday

7:00 P M — Meeting of the Key and Serpent Society at the Kappa Sigma House. Meeting of the Gold Key Society at the Kappa Sigma House.

Wednesday

7 to 10 P M — Open House at all Fraternities.

Thursday

4:00 P M — Freshman Sophomore Rope Pull on the Back Campus.

Friday

[illegible] P M — First Senior Debate in the Williams Science Hall

Saturday

[illegible] A M — Student Union Meeting in the Chapel and Conferences for Men and Women on Class Pictures taken in front of the Library.

1:15 P M — Procession march to Miles and Perry's Store for their Canes.

[illegible] P M — Varsity Eleven meets Clarkson at Centennial Field in first home game of the season. Following game the Cane Rush takes place between the Grandstands on the Football Field.

FACULTY NOTES

Monday night, September 27, Mr Crockett went to Manchester, Vermont, to attend a state meeting of the hotel men.

Last week Professor Carroll was out of town lecturing.

Last Friday evening Mr Crockett addressed a local gathering in Colchester on Vermont authors.

Abolition of active football captains was effected by the executive committee of the student body at Stanford University. Hereafter the position will be honorary and only awarded at the end of the season. An active team captain will be appointed for each contest by the coaches.

The initiative for this move came from the coaches. They favor the plan because it will give them more freedom in the selection of men to play in each particular game.

A "two dollar limit" has been placed on all parties of an all-university nature at Manoa'a.

Modernist art is the manner of expressing a stomach ache.—Ex.

[illegible] pride enough in themselves and [illegible] same institution to keep them [illegible] in a position to continue their good work. The sentiment of the student body should make itself felt by [illegible] the attainment of that [illegible] standing which is high enough, when he has reached it to allow the attitude to go out and bring [illegible] victories. This is not to say that [illegible] sentiment is not already present, but that it is too passive. It should be strong enough to get action and results.

NEW GOLD KEY MEN

At a meeting of the Gold Key Society held at the Owl House Tuesday evening, September 28, Seeley Estabrook '29, of Brandon, representative of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity in place of Perry Fitch ex-'29, C. E. Harwood '29, of Dorset, representative of Sigma Alpha Chi in place of Hugh Mattison ex-'29, and E. G. Fisk '29, representative of Alpha Tau Omega were initiated.

The Week's Wetness

L. P. B.

Ballad of Reduction

(A song about the good old days)

O weep for us, ye slender ones
Ye maids of toothpick size,
Ye that may go to Churchill's
And fill up to your eyes,
Ye that may eat sweet chocolate cake
And embonpoint still flout,
O, heave a sigh
O'er your custard pie
And weep for us, the stout!

Ye who eat salted almonds
And lose a couple pounds
While we drink lemon phosphates
And gain by leaps and bounds
Ye that can sleep of mornings
While we court Walter Camp.
Does a passing tear
O'er our labors drear
Ever make your pillows damp?

Ye that can find cute dresses
For fourteen ninety-five.
While we shop in sadness
To find anything our size.
"These dresses do run small, dearie,"
The kind-hearted clerk says that.
But we know when we weep
Ourselves to sleep
That the real reason is—we're fat!

Oh, we wish we had lived in the nineties
Though men did have whiskers and curls,
At least they liked "large handsome ladies"
And talked about "big striking girls!"
The day when hips had their inning,
Were things to be proud of at that!
So I offer this rhyme
To that halycon time
When it wasn't a crime to be fat!

Daily Dribble

A frozen look doesn't cut any ice.

Think twice—speak once.

Don't oversleep if you want your dreams to come true.

Digging wells is the only business where you can begin at the top.

A pessimist is one who, of two evils, chooses both.

College Humor

"I didn't raise my shades to be a spectacle."—Grinnell Maltcaser.

We got a paper in our town now. A travelling man left it there.

Beatrice: Marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition.

Ferdinand: Sure, fifty for a new dress, fifty for a new hat.—Goblin.

"Why did you stop singing in the choir?"

"Because one day I didn't sing and somebody asked if the organ had been fixed."—Tiger.

Pessimistic Pete remarks that about the most futile effort he has seen in a long while is a garter ad in a college humor publication.—Okla. Daily.

Pi—I want to call Ellen, where can I get ahold of her?

Phi—I don't know. She's awfully ticklish.—Midd. Blue Baboon.

She—Let's go and sit out this dance.
He—No, I'm afraid you'll catch cold.
She—But it isn't very cold out.
He—No, but I have one.—Voo Doo.

"What did he say to the dean when he fired him?"

"He congratulated the school on turning out such fine men."—Ex.

Teacher—"If I were to give you six rabbits, then six more, and then multiply by six, how many would you have? Answer quickly."

Willie—"Let's use cows. They don't multiply so fast."—Ex.

THE BEST SODA
AT
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

THE ALGONQUINS
Music for FRATERNITY AND COLLEGE DANCES
S. R. BRYAN
Delta Psi House
BURLINGTON, VT.
Phone 741

Tel. 887-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

STATIONERY,
MAGAZINES,
NEWSPAPERS
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

"I'd buy you a [illegible] you'd annoy [illegible]
"Oh, no [illegible] it when you [illegible]

Five [illegible] man and [illegible] bye after a [illegible] ities at Colorado [illegible] lege. How do [illegible]

When bigger [illegible] leges will [illegible]
When buttermilk [illegible] will make it

© 1926 D. A. & S. Co.

Adler Collegian Clothes

Two-pants suits in the [illegible] Adler Collegian line at [illegible] you ordinarily pay [illegible] suits of other [illegible] makes! It's the big, [illegible] ment in the clothes that [illegible] meet the needs of the [illegible]

That is the important [illegible] the two-pants [illegible] ing. They are Adler [illegible] Correct styles, [illegible] smart weaves and patterns, [illegible] work in every detail of [illegible] that distinguishes quality [illegible] Ready now, for your [illegible]

$30.00 to $55.00
ADLER COLLEGIAN OVERCOATS
Hayes & Carney
107 Bank St. Near Majestic
OPEN EVENINGS
"Where Vermont M[illegible]"

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.

Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1806

Co-ed's Corner

Hold It!

...stone ringing Red- ... name of that peppy ...covered? Or has your ... made a date with the

... a vital importance as ... the thought of Livy. ... ones that have to be ... morrow's class.

... that it does in some ... there are others even ... shout world of ours, ... main powers of concentrat- ... ing to such an extent ... in the midst of such wild ... thoughts of Livy remain sanely ... in the fore. That no ... matter how many visitors may invade ... room, assignments are finished ... before the fun begins.

"Nell Gwyn" is at the Majestic, and ... students in the movie course faith- ...ly attend each class. And their con- ...centration is admirable.

Is it as admirable when Spanish ... stares them in the face? Of ... course.

Perhaps it isn't so much a question of concentration. Perhaps it is more a ... question of making a table of values; and then attaching relative importance to each act.

At any rate, there is some food for thought here.

Current Comment

College, A Family and Club

How would you like to go to college ... life stands halfway between a ... family and a small club? Read ... Gaillard Lapsley has to say this ... in the Atlantic Monthly under ... title "Education in the English ... It is a very vivid description ... day life of the boys at Cam- ... and. A system of careful, ... advice is given to each ... dent. He is not left to ... him are explained rules, ... customs and traditions of ... versity; making for progress, ... and a greater knowledge ... appreciation of what college offers.

Uncle Sam, A Shylock

Is it possible that Uncle Sam is a ...? The editor of the North ... Review in the September, ... and November issues states ... the international debt situation ... his statements up with ex- ... from speeches, letters and news- ... giving the causes of the pres- ... critical as well as humorous, atti- ... of the European nations towards ... United States. The article by ... H. Simonds in the American ... of Reviews for September ... the European sentiments live ... gives the basis for that opinion. ... threats are heard in foreign ... papers. Will the forthcoming ... Assembly settle matters? He ... to answer this question.

College by Radio

... if we realize how great an ... radio is. "It rivals press, ... church and platform as a maker ... opinion" says H. V. Kaltenborn, ... the title, "On the Air" in this ... Century. The facts are as ... stated in this article. We ... already having college by radio. ... University has given 144 ... over the air. Gaucher forbids ... to have radios, saying they ... students from study. This ... proves radio is an attrac- ... article proves that the ... is going to be not only en- ... educational.

PROFESSOR BASSETT GIVEN GREEK SOCIETY EMBLEM

... Samuel E. Bassett was pre- ... the emblem of Eta Sigma ... Classical Fraternity, at ... of the local chapter held at ... last Tuesday evening. The ... as a token of the high esteem ... club hold Professor Bas- ... as friend and as teacher, and ... appreciation of the thought, time ... he has given to Eta Sigma ...

At this meeting, the first one of the ... Professor Kidder spoke on his ... as a Rhodes Scholar at ... where he did extensive study ... Latin and Early Philosophy. ... were made for the meetings ... chapter for this year, and it ... decided to present informally ... Greek plays.

VERMONTERS CLUB PARTY IN GYM

Friday night the gym was the scene of festivity when the "Big Sisters" and "Little Sisters," dressed in more or less rural costumes, gathered for a general good time.

Each dormitory delighted the audience with clever stunts. Afterwards there was dancing and refreshments of doughnuts and cider were served.

W. A. A. NOTES

Classes in canoeing have started with a good attendance. In order to take canoeing, the girls must be able to swim sixty yards and have permission from home.

Dr. Sherwood will be here Tuesday and all Teacher Training Sophomores and Academic Sophomores and all upperclassmen who expect to take any form of physical exercise must have a heart and lung examination. Please sign up on the bulletin board for appointments.

The ladders are up for the Fall Tennis Tournament and several matches have already been played off. The campus champion wins points for her classtoward the all-sports sup.

On account of the bad weather, the bacon bat was postponed. Watch the bulletin board for announcement of when it will be held.

MORTAR BOARD DANCE COMING

Mortar Board Dance will be held in the gym Saturday night, October 16.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Vespers were held at Grassmount Sunday. Mr. P. J. Morris who is connected with the State Baptist Sunday School work gave an interesting talk.

Anyone who is interested in doing individual work should sign up on the poster which is posted for this purpose in the "Y" room.

A successful sale of " Kum Agins" was held Saturday morning.

Pi Beta Phi

Frances Burditt '26 was given a miscellaneous shower, Friday, October 1, at 247 Pearl Street, by Belle Randall '27 in honor of her approaching marriage with Healy Randall, Delta Psi. Members of the fraternity and friends were present.

Bluestockings Will Meet Tonight

A very important business meeting of Bluestockings will be held tonight at which time plans for this year will be discussed.

Every member is expected to bring a paper.

A student who had been the victim of many petty thefts—beg pardon, mistakes—in desperation labelled his umbrella as follows: "This umbrella belongs to a man who can deal a blow of 250 pounds in weight. I shall be back in ten minutes." He returned to the rack after class and found the card replaced by another one reading, "This card belongs to a man who can run 12 miles an hour. I shall not be back."

The umbrella was gone.—Ex.

First Chinee—Thy prince is an uncouth blackguard.

Second Chinee—So's your old mandarin.—Wis. Octupus.

By a four to one vote a faculty investigation committee at Ohio State University registered approval of compulsory military drill. This decision is counter to the one rendered by the student body which voted against compulsory drill. Two quarter hour credits toward graduation will be given students in this University, who are in the R. O. T. C. who attend the C. M. T. C., in the summer. This university is believed to be the first to take action of this sort.

The manager of a college debate team recently received a 94 in an examination. After he was exempt from taking the final examinations and was sure of an A for a mark, he went up to see the teacher on the day of the examination and asked if he should not have a ten instead of a nine on a certain question. (Soprano voice: "Get that guy.")

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
We are now open on Sundays.
PHONE 2165

New Women Enrolled in the University

(Continued from page 1)

... Caine of St. Johnsbury, Constance Collins of Richmond, Jessie Day of Randolph, Dorothy Gates of Orleans, Marion Gurney of Bennington, Lila Gross of Cambridge, Grace Godley of Williamstown, Margaret Gilkinson of Arlington, Dorothy Bates of Pawlet, N. Y., Alice Dean of Bennington, Dena Devine of Greensboro, Alice Dodge of Barre, Kathryn Dodge of Orleans, Celeste Domrise of Hyndsburg, Evelyn Downes of Essex Junction, Beatrice Downes of Williamstown, Doris Dupraf of Burlington.

Lois Earle of Chester Depot, Anna Edmonds of Poultney, Constance Fitzsimmons of Burlington.

Anna Farr of Bristol, Louise Farr of Marshfield, Margaret Flynn of Hasburg Falls, Amelia Farrell of Shelburne, Edith Fishman of Hartford, Conn., Delia Flint of Randolph, Phoebe Flint of Groton Pa., Norma Frake of Palmerton, Pa., Marion Freeman of Whiting, Mabel Freeman of Morristown Pa.

Bernice Gibson of Wells River, Grace Gilman of Chelsea, Hazel Goodhue of Craftsbury, Narcissa Goodsell of Swanton, Janice Goodrich of Richmond, Doris Graves of Waterbury, Eila Green of Craftsbury, Geraldine Grenier of Northampton, Mass., Beatrice Griswold of Brandon, Beatrice Grow of Winooski, Dorothy Gurney of Burlington.

Martha Hall of Enosburg Falls, Marion Harron of Burlington, Frances Hazen of Richmond, Margaret Healey of White River Junction, Ethel Heller of Claremont, N. H., Frances Herrick of Pawlet, Irene Heywood of East Middlebury, Beverly Householder of Burlington, Julia Housley of Wellesley, Mass., Harriet Howard of Burlington, Susan Howard of Burlington, Marjorie Huntley of Leicester Junction.

Josephine Imbruglia of Waterbury, Iva Jenks of Springfield, Alice Kaye of Brooklyn, Clara Kellogg of Charlotte, Gladys Kendrew of Williston, Helen Kenyon of Vergennes, Florence Keyes of Bellows Falls, Doris Kibbee of Rockville, Conn., Winifred Killoran of Essex Junction, Dorothy Kimball of Essex Junction, Irene Kimball of Essex Junction, Marion King of Claremont, N. H., Hazel Knight of North Hero.

Hazel Ladd of Richmond Hill, N. Y., Ethel Larkin of Fair Haven, Jeannie Lawrence of Burlington, Kathleen Laythe of Derby Line, Carmelita Le Clair of Burlington, Ruth Leonard of Plainfield, Dorothy Lewis of Burlington.

Cecelia McGarghan of Waterbury, Grace McKee of Passumpsic, Florence McKenzie of Hinesburg, Maude McLaughlin of Worcester, Mass., Ramona McMahon of Stowe, Isabel Manor of Charlotte, Irene Marcotte of Winooski, Genevieve Martel of Essex Center, Helen Martin of Essex Junction, Florence Mercer of McIndoes, Mildred Merkle of Peoria, Ill., Elizabeth Miller of West Newbury, Lauris Miller of Newport, Me., Marion Miller of Wallingford, Cornelia Mould of Morrisville, Lucille Mudgett of White River Junction.

Delta Norcross of Waterbury, Virginia Noyes of Burlington.

Helene O'Brien of Winooski, Madalene Orvis of Bristol, Mabel Owen of Huntington, Myrtle Owen of Huntington, Natalie Owsley of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Constance Palmer of Burlington, Margaret Parry of West Pawlet, Helen Peabody of Brandon, Laurel Pearl of Grand Isle, Barbara Pease of Hartford, Conn., Evelyn Pecor of Essex Center, Clarissa Peters of Bradford, Arlene Pierce of Cambridge, Evelyn Pierce of Cambridge, Florence Poole of Shelburne, Susie Powers of Bradford, Helen Prouty of Marshfield, Harriet Puffer of St. Johnsbury.

(To be concluded)

Corp—Did you hold your femme's paw at the movies?

Ditto—H—— no, he wasn't even along.—West Point Pointer.

HOWARD'S APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP
Phone 3171 42 Church St.
Students' Trade Appreciated

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

New Men Enrolled in the University

(Continued from page 1)

... Craig of Richford, Archibald Cohen of Boston, Mass., Matthew Cohen of Bennington, Conn., Augustus Conlin of Winooski, Durand Council of Proctorsville, Lyman Coleman of Bridgeport, Conn., Claudius Crowell of Northampton, Mass., Avery Crockett of Essex Junction, Thomas Crockard of Port Jervis, N. Y., George Cranmer of Burlington, John Cloud of Newfield.

Henry Darrenkamp of Newark, N. J., Leslie Davis of Richmond, Irving Dane Delaney of New York, Robert DeMund of Rumford, Me., Roger Derby of Burlington, Charles DeRose of North Leominster, Mass., Ray Deslaw of Burlington, Kenneth Dimick of Windsor, Clement Dinneen of New Haven, Conn., Leonard Donahue of Richmond, Donald Donaldson of Burlington, Thomas Donnelly of Bridgeport, Conn., William Donnelly of Atlantic City, N. J., Gerald Dorey of Middlebury, Harold Dow of Cambridge, Mass., Merle Drexel of Barre.

John Eastwood of Brandon, Joseph Eaton of Greenville, N. H., Gregory Edson of Dedham, Mass., John Elliot of Manchester, Benjamin Elowitch of Bayonne, N. J., James Emmons of Bridgeport, Conn.

Gordon Flood of Vergennes, James Foster of Stowe, Aldo Franceschi of Rutland, Alfred Frechette of Berlin, N. H., Solomon Freedman of Mattapan, Mass., Oakley Frost of Middletown Springs.

Russell Gage of Manchester, N. H., Robert Gardner of Tampa, Fla., David Ginsburg of Brooklyn, America Giorla of Barre, Harrison Goddard of Colmes, N. Y., Aaron Goldbaum of New York, Edward Gourson of New Britain, Conn., Philip Gracey of Morrisonville, N. Y., Arthur Graves of Waterbury, Nelson Gray of Burlington, Harold Green of South Royalton, Russell Griffith of Fort Ethan Allen.

Thomas Halligan of Montpelier, Paul Harasimowicz of Gardner, Mass., Henry Harwood of South Ryegate, Rollin Hawley of Essex Junction, Bert Hembach of Palmerton, Pa., Walter Herrschelm of White Plains, N. Y., Hyman Hershberg of Burlington, George Holland of Morristown, N. J., Gunvor Holton of Brooklyn, N. Y., Lawrence Howe of Burlington, David Huggett of Union Village, Israel Huratz of Revere, Mass.

Deep Isaac of Barre.

Horatio Jackson of Burlington, Russell Jeffery of Chester, Major Jenks of Burlington, Walter Kersey of Rumford, Me., Albert King of Essex Junction, Albert Knapp of Wethersfield, Conn., Philip Knight of Burlington.

Melvin Lantsch of East Point, Ga., Wendell Lang of Cambridge, Lionel Langevin of Vergennes, Gerald Laplant of Newport Center, Robert Lawrence of Clinton, Mass., Jack Levin of Burlington, Herman Levine of Burlington, Max Levine of Bayonne, N. J., Richard Lowe of Brooklyn, N. Y., Dennis Lucarelli of Center Rutland, Gerard Lynde of Burlington.

Eugene McBride of Ossining, N. Y., Charles Mace Jr. of Middlebury, Mass., James McFeeters of Sheldon, Robert Mann of Natick, Mass., Herrick Manchester of Burlington, James Madden Jr. of Burlington, Harry Manning of Hyde Park, Philip Emerson Manning of Worcester, Mass., Julius Marcus of Revere, Mass., Alfred Martin of Brattleboro, Odino Martinetti of Barre, Evangeline Masse of St. Johnsbury, Joseph Maynard of Palmerton, Pa., Frank Mazol of Burlington, Edward Menard of Winooski, Arthur Merrill of Wallingford, John Mo... of East Peacham, Clifford Morse of Wethersfield, Conn., Jeremiah Moriarty of Chateaugay, N. Y., James Musgrove of Pittsfield, Mass.

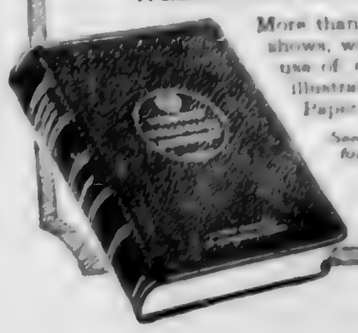
Seymour Nathanson of Fitchburg, Mass.

Thomas Olson of Brattleboro, Maxwell Orr of Champlain, N. Y.

(To be concluded)

"Move or I'll crown you," said the chess player.

Russel W. Parish
We Solicit the Students' Trade
Jeweler & Optician
Burlington, Vermont



CORONA

THE PORTABLE TYPEWRITER
that is equal to all office machines.
PRICED AT
$60.00
Terms if desired.
L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

The Old Bee Hive
Women's and Misses
FANCY WOOL SPORT HOSE
$1.50 pr.
Offered in the smartest new checks and plaids
SILK AND WOOL HOSIERY
$.95 and $1.15 pr.
Two splendid values in all leading color combinations.

Do You Puzzle Over New Words?
...over exact definitions or pronunciation of words?—over the identity of historic characters?—over questions of geography?—over points of grammar, spelling, punctuation or English usage? Look them up in
WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE
The Best Abridged Dictionary—Based upon
WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL

More than 106,000 entries. A special section shows, with examples, rules of punctuation, use of capitals, abbreviations, etc. 1,700 illustrations. 1,256 pages. Printed on Bible Paper. A desk book for every student.
See It at Your College Bookstore or Write for Information to the Publishers.
G. & C. MERRIAM CO.
Springfield, Mass.

LARGE NUMBER OF TRACK ENTHUSIASTS REPORT

[illegible] attended the track [illegible] Last [illegible] Association [illegible] a brief talk [illegible] track team for [illegible] Monday at [illegible] A [illegible] as soon as pos- [illegible] be had out [illegible] and [illegible] Impr[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 | BURLINGTON, VT., OCTOBER 8, 1926 | NUMBER 5

TAMOUNTS TACKLE CLARKSON GRIDSTERS TO OPEN HOME SCHEDULE

handicapped by Injuries the atire Green and Gold Varsity Seems Certain to Start a Successful Season Tomorrow

...Vermont opens its first ... on Centennial Field with ... Clarkson Tech gridsters. ... Green and Gold had little ... back the Tech boys ... to 0 score. While Vermont was ...king a bad beating from Syracuse, ... was being snowed ... the strong Colgate eleven. ...with her two hardest games ... of the way and with nobody seri... ... stands a good chance of ... the rest of the schedule under ... belt. Here's hoping that she ...arts in on the Tech eleven.

Thorn, regular halfback, will be ...ck in the line-up after being laid ...p for the Syracuse game on account ...d head injuries received in the Co...mbia game. Scutakes, who ably ...lled his place in the Syracuse game, ...ill be on hand to take his place if ...ything should happen. The rest of ...e Vermont backfield will line-up the ...me as in the Syracuse game with ...mith at full, Candon at the other half ...d Conway calling signals. Palmer, ...st years Freshman star player, was ...fted into Captain Denning's place ...ackle in the Syracuse contest where ...e showed up fine. He will undoubtedly be seen at this position tomorrow. ...th the shifting of Palmer to tackle ...aptain Denning took Robinson's position at guard thus filling up the only ...al weak spot in the line. Morse and ...ary will fill in the wings with Krop... at the other guard and O'Keefe at ...

...ch McAvoy has plenty of good ...s in Mitiguy, Robinson, Williamson ...e Simpson on the line, and J. Scu...kes and P. Scutakes along with Esta...ok and Donnelly in the backfield.

Probable line-ups:

VERMONT		CLARKSON TECH
Morse, l. e.		l. e., Rutherford
Palmer, l. t.		l. t., Bennett
Cropper, l. g.		l. g., Keib
O'Keefe, c.		c., Wallbel
Denning, r. g.		r. g., Coughlar
Auchenbach, r. t.		r. t., Anderson
Geary, r. e.		r. e., Hale
Conway, q. b.		q. b., Gormano
Condon, r. h. b.		r. h. b., Petria
Thorn, l. h. b.		l. h. b., Haskell
Smith, f. b.		f. b., Bucher

EXTENSION SERVICE NEWS

Mr. J. E. Carrigan, '14, Assistant ... Agent Leader in Addison County, spent Monday and Tuesday of this week in Middlebury, supervising the extension work being undertaken by Mr. R. W. Blakely, County Agent in Addison County.

Home Demonstration Agents of Vermont were at Morrill Hall Monday and Tuesday for a conference. At this conference the fall and winter programs were outlined.

Mr. E. H. Loveland, the Extension specialist in Dairying was in Bennington on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week cooperating with the County Agent and County Club Agent of Bennington County.

The Experiment Station of the University of Vermont is engaged in a study of the supply of Vermont milk and the factors which tend to increase or decrease that supply. Mr. A. R. ... who won the intercollegiate ... championship in his class, last ... at Pennsylvania State College, is assisting in this work.

All fruit growers take heed! The ... Mouse, so states M. B. Cummings, ... of Horticulture at the University of Vermont, has been found in ... and may spread to become ... pest.

Professor J. H. Frandsen, Head of ... Dairy Department at the Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst ... will lecture at the University during the week of October ... Professor Frandsen was formerly ... of the Dairy Department at ... University of Nebraska, and has ... knowledge of western con...

The University of Maine awards ... each semester a cup to that school ... represented by three or more men in the Freshman class whose representatives obtain the best grades.

Cynic To Have New Delivery System

Beginning with the issue of next Tuesday, the CYNIC will be delivered on Tuesday and Friday at all fraternity houses and dormitories.

Students who do not live in those places will find their copies waiting for them on Tuesday and Friday mornings in the University Bookstore. Medics may get their copies at the Medical Bookstore at the same time.

The excessive postal cost of delivering a semi-weekly paper in the city has forced this method of delivery. The pound rate which the CYNIC was formerly allowed as a weekly is no longer available. The new method of delivery is successfully used in many larger colleges. It has the advantage of affording an earlier appearance of the paper and should for this reason make the CYNIC a more valuable news organ.

PROF. THOMAS DECLARES PRESENT AGE IS NOT RELIGIOUSLY INCLINED

At a meeting of the Brotherhood of the first Church last Sunday, Professor Evan Thomas was the speaker. He took for his topic, "The Religion of the Modern Age." He said that in this modern age there is a loss of interest in the affairs of religion and the church, this being evident in the smaller attendance at church and in the attitude of some people toward religion. The great inventions of the last hundred years have so diversified the interests of man that their minds are being turned away from religion and the church.

Professor Thomas believes that the age in which Plato, Aristophanes and Aristotle lived; the century in which the wheel was invented; the ages during which glass and the alphabet were invented were all greater ages than that in which we now live.

The increase in membership which some churches report is due, Professor Thomas thinks, to the lowered standards of membership. People do not take church membership as seriously as they used to. The idea of individual responsibility for sin is being lost, and the responsibility is blamed on society and is said to be due to the influence of environment and heredity.

Class Pictures Tomorrow

Photographs of all classes in the academic colleges will be taken tomorrow at 10:00 A. M. in front of the Billings Library. All students should be present.

The pictures are taken to be used in the 1928 ARIEL. Prints will be on sale at the college book store in the near future.

KEY AND SERPENT PLANS FOR COMING ACTIVITIES

At a meeting held Tuesday evening at the Kappa Sigma house, the Key and Serpent, honorary junior society, considered plans for a Key and Serpent week-end. October 29 and 30 have been tentatively chosen as the dates for the affair. According to present plans, a smoker will be held Friday, Oct. 29. This smoker will serve to bring the men together before the Norwich game which takes place the following day. On Oct. 30 the society expects to have a college dance in the gymnasium, which will serve as the end of the Key and Serpent activities for the week.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The sophomore class will hold a meeting in the near future to elect officers for the coming year.

The floor of the new chapel is now in the last stages of completion. The sandpapering and staining is now nearly finished and the staining has been started. The gilding of the main dome has been delayed by bad weather but tomorrow should see the finish of this work. Protective coverings still conceal the electric light fixtures which have been installed.

A meeting of the Interfraternity Conference was held Thursday evening, for the purpose of choosing members of the faculty to serve on a committee which will judge the guilt of fraternities charged with breaking the rushing rules, when such cases may arise.

Charles W. Waterman, Vermont, '85, a prominent lawyer in Colorado, is a candidate for United States senator from that state, having won the primary elections for nomination. Mr. Waterman, who is a trustee of the University of Vermont, was appointed by the President of the United States to handle the recent oil investigation, and is still acting in that capacity.

Professor Carroll recently addressed a local gathering on "The Direct Primary System."

Professor Groat spoke on "The Labor Conditions in Europe" at a recent meeting of the Rotary Club.

VERMONT YEARLINGS TO MEET BIG GREEN FRESHMEN SATURDAY

Catamount Frosh Expected to be a Match for the Hanoverian

This week Saturday, while the Varsity is playing its first home game with Clarkson Tech at Centennial Field, the Vermont Frosh will face the Dartmouth 1930 Team at Hanover. This will probably be the yearlings hardest game of the season and they have spared no efforts to bring home the bacon. Those who saw the T. C. A. game realize what these men will mean to the varsity next year. The backfield, with Bray, Dorey, DeRose, Mitchell, Bernstein, Mace and Donaldson alternating were found hard to stop while the line with Soloff, Bloomstrom, Levine, and Bachman held like a stone wall.

It is possible that Love, a husky tackle and Harwood, the hard hitting back will be back with the team and should strengthen it a great deal.

Last Saturday, the Dartmouth Frosh trounced Phillips Andover Academy by the score of 16-0. Marsters, a half back, formerly on the Exeter Team, is the big ground gainer for the Hanover Team, and will bear watching.

The probable lineups are as follows:

VERMONT '30		DARTMOUTH '30
Sirois, r. e.		r. e. Fraser
Soloff, r. t.		r. t. Armstrong
Bloomstrom, r. g.		r. g. Bregner
Levine, c.		c. Adams
Love, l. g.		l. g. Phinney
Bernstein, l. t.		l. t. A. Coule
Slate, l. e.		l. e., Colucci
Bray, q. b.		q. b. McDonough
DeRose, l. h. b.		l. h. b. Marsters
Mitchell, r. h. b.		r. h. b. Booma
Mace, f. b.		f. b. Hanin

ENROLLMENT FIGURES INDICATE GAIN OVER THE PREVIOUS RECORD

Preliminary figures of the enrollment in the several colleges of the University have been announced by the Registrar. The University has recovered from the temporary slump which was suffered last year due to the placing of a limit on entering medical classes and a slight falling off in the teacher training department.

A table of enrollment for the past three years as given below, shows that this year's attendance is 17 greater than in 1924, the previous record year. Final figures for the first semester will be compiled soon.

	1924	1925	1926
Seniors	165	170	161
Juniors	196	190	223
Sophomores	262	271	254
Freshmen	368	345	356
Medics	122	105	107
Teacher Training	118	78	14
Specials	19	22	22
Total	1,250	1,181	1,267

SENATE DISCUSSES TRIP OF BAND TO SPRINGFIELD

The Student Senate met Wednesday afternoon in Room 1, South College. C. H. Blackall, chairman of the committee to provide funds for the band to use on the Springfield trip reported. The motion of A. T. Post that the Senate give financial aid for this trip was adopted. Mr. Blackall was instructed to investigate further sources from which contributions towards the $600 needed may procured. The Athletic Department values the presence of the band at the Springfield game highly, and will furnish $300 if the students will furnish the rest. $100 will be asked from the Women's Student Union and $25 from each of the classes. Secretary Stevens was requested to draw up a budget for the expenditures of the organization so that it may be known just how much money will be available from its treasury for the use of the band.

R. M. Whitcomb reported for the committee appointed to arrange the social calendar.

The report of the committee in charge of Mountain Day was delayed one week.

It was agreed to have the class pictures taken Saturday morning.

Cane Rush Rules

1. The scrap shall be of six minutes duration.
2. The canes will be placed half way between the classes, which will be forty yards apart, with the crooks of the canes as they happen to fall.
3. On a signal both classes shall rush for the canes and struggle for possession of them.
4. There shall be only as many Frosh as there are Sophomore men enrolled in college. These will be chosen directly before the contest.
5. No men shall wear anything on their feet but rubber soled shoes or moccasins.
6. A warning whistle will be given one minute before the end of the rush. A pistol shot will be given at the end, when all struggle shall cease.
7. Canes in the hands of men from more than one class shall be given to one class or another upon decisions of members of the Boulder Society, according to the number of hands nearest the crook.
8. The crook of the cane with a foot or more stub shall count one point. A whole cane shall count two points.
9. At the close of the rush, each class shall join together, and the men with canes shall line up in company front with a yard between each man for the computation of their scores.

GOLD KEY FORCED TO BORROW PADDLES

Gold Key was faced with a scarcity of paddles at a meeting held at the Kappa Sigma house Tuesday. Several freshmen appeared before the society to answer charges of breaking Frosh rules. After being arraigned, the offenders were sentenced to receive as their punishment a paddling. So fiercely did the husky members of Gold Key smite the offenders that the complete arsenal of paddles available at the Kappa Sigma house was destroyed. It is reported that many good paddles were broken in one blow. At a late hour several members of the sophomore society were forced to go to several other fraternity houses to secure a sufficient supply of paddles with which to complete the punishment of the freshmen.

WHITE PHOTOGRAPHERS TAKE ARIEL PICTURES

Sittings for individual pictures of members of the Junior class to be used in the 1928 Ariel were finished last week. The work was done by a photographer from White's Studio, New York City. Those Juniors who did not have their pictures taken at this time must hand them in before the Christmas vacation if they are to go in the year book.

The women's editor is making out a list of grind assignments. Every Junior woman will have someone assigned to her to write a grind for. These are due on or before November first.

In answer to a questionnaire sent out by The Clarion of the University of Denver, only nine women students out of 200 who answered, stated that they had not been kissed.

CANE RUSH WILL BE HELD AT CENTENNIAL FIELD SATURDAY

Annual Class Scrap Undergoes Interesting Changes in 30 Years

The class of 1929 and 1930 meet Saturday for final manifestation of hostilities as groups. The traditional Cane Rush which marks the end of the Frosh-Sophomore "scraps," will take place after the Clarkson game at Centennial Field.

All Freshmen will meet at the Gymnasium early Saturday afternoon. From the place of assembling, the Frosh will march to the Miles and Perry store, where each man will receive a cane upon payment of 25 cents. From Miles and Perry, the Frosh will march to Centennial Field, arriving there shortly before the football game. During the Clarkson contest, the yearlings will be allowed to hold on the canes—this probably will be the last time most of the men will hold a cane until their senior year.

At the conclusion of the game, the Sophomores and Frosh will line up on the baseball diamond. All canes will be placed in a row in the middle of the rival forces. At the blast of the whistle, the opponents will run toward the canes and a spirited fight for their possession will last until the shot of a pistol announces the end of the fight. A minute before the end of the combat, a whistle will be blown to warn that the time is nearly up. Members of the Boulder Society will be in charge of the rush. The committee in charge rules that all participants shall wear rubber soled shoes only. Further rules will be announced.

History of the Rush

The Cane Rush, which takes place today has a long history. This event developed out of the underclass scraps which have a history nearly as old as the U. V. M. itself. In 1897 Prexy Buckham ruled that the cane rush was to be a thing of the past. There was much rivalry between the two lower classes, nevertheless. A fight was barely avoided when a messenger from the President arrived and read the University Riot Act. The fight was averted on Saturday, but the following Tuesday afternoon, after military drill the Frosh went downtown to get the canes a Mr. Chase had procured for them. The Sophomores learned of the Frosha' activity and started off to frustrate the freshmen. Several new men came out of the store with canes a free for all fight occured and all canes were broken. The fighting was so severe that police had to be called to clear the street. The cane rushes

(Continued on page 3)

ETA SIGMA PHI MEETS TUES AT PROF BASSETT'S

Eta Sigma Phi, honorary fraternity for classical students, will hold its second meeting of the semester at Professor and Mrs. Bassett's home on South Prospect street Tuesday evening, October 12. The members are to present a series of readings and interpretations from the Greek and Latin drama this year, and will give the first of these readings Tuesday evening. At this meeting there will be read a mime of Herondas, entitled "The Schoolmaster, or, The Bad Boy."

CHEERLEADING SCHOOL HOLD SECOND SESSION

The cheerleading school, which has for the past three or four years furnished material for the cheering squad held its second session of the year Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock in the gymnasium, under the leadership of Emory Mower, '27, the varsity cheerleader. Four candidates for cheering jobs were put through the gymnastics which every successful noise raiser must be able to do.

The organized cheering school was inaugurated by D. W. Gannon, '25, and has been carried on since by the cheerleaders, who have succeeded him. By means of it more men are given a chance to develop their talents and show their wares to the student body. The squad officiates at all home contests. The cheerleader is elected from the upperclassmen on the squad by popular vote of the men at a mass meeting held in the spring. He is awarded a white sweater with the "V" set inside a circle.

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] NEWSPAPER [illegible] OF VERMONT

[illegible] of the [illegible] BROTHERHOOD

[illegible] Published every Tuesday [illegible] during the college year. [illegible] $3.00 a year, delivered [illegible]

[illegible] Editor

[illegible] Business Staff

[illegible] Business Mgr
[illegible] Advertising Mgr
[illegible] Assistant Manager
[illegible] Assistant Manager
[illegible] Assistant Manager

[illegible] desired. They should [illegible] Chief. All [illegible] to be handed in at the [illegible] by 5 P. M. on Monday and [illegible]

[illegible] of this issue

[illegible] Editor
[illegible] Associate Manager

Vol. [illegible] October 8, 1926 No. [illegible]

CLASS FIGHTS

With the [illegible] Rush tomorrow the [illegible] facilities for the year [illegible] a close. Thus far no [illegible] have marred the [illegible]. The participants in the [illegible] have been sportsmanlike but [illegible] not made physical injury [illegible] opponents an aim.

[illegible] members of the upperclasses and [illegible] loyally together with some [illegible] Burlington barely tolerate the [illegible] Freshman fights. What is the use of this display of [illegible] they ask. Rivalry of [illegible] has been discarded by most [illegible]. It is childish and [illegible] college men," say the [illegible] institution. Some people even think the Freshman rules [illegible] Rut most of the men who have been baptized in the fountain or who have had their clothes torn off in the Cane Rush disdain the idea of abandoning the fights. It is in these combats that the new men first realize that they are Vermont men. The excellent esprit de corps of this University has its foundation in the rivalry between the lower classes. Loyalty to the group of students which comprises the University of Vermont springs partly from the cooperation in the lower classes during the fights. From class loyalty to University loyalty is a short step.

Frankly speaking, a good interclass fight will do more to weld Vermont men together than a hundred editorials on college spirit. Without detracting from the benefits of chapel exercises, we are safe in saying that the rivalry between the lower classes creates more of a university consciousness than peaceful meetings of all students at chapel.

Manners For Freshmen

BY AUNT DEBORAH

I have just received this letter from a [illegible] newcomer to our lovely little [illegible]

What shall I do? I am very anxious to make a hit here at college and re[illegible] that the kind of girls I [illegible] a great deal to do with it. [illegible] Monday, while I [illegible] at [illegible] Mercy, [illegible] told me to get my [illegible] and [illegible]. It doesn't [illegible] to [illegible] here for ob[illegible]. What [illegible] I do.

We [illegible] that to get the kind of [illegible] Aunt Deborah. Does [illegible] to [illegible] help her puzzl[illegible] Dear Cynic. You are quite right [illegible] best at college in the [illegible] atmosphere of this great [illegible] heart alone is a very [illegible] goods. No indeed there are [illegible] than that and one of the [illegible] below the crowd. If [illegible] to dating a certain girl [illegible] does do the same you are [illegible] safer in taking out an admitted [illegible] girl than in going out into [illegible] paths and picking out a [illegible] lady who has nothing especial to recommend her but the fact that you like her. How are you to know [illegible] constitutes a good date, you who [illegible] back with such a short time? Much better for you to follow the paths laid down by your older and [illegible] wiser upperclassmen who know what is best and if they say a girl is a good dancer and lots of fun she is, without question and your own personal opinion has little to do with the matter. The same rule [illegible] the other way. In your mis[illegible] guided innocence you may squander a lot of the old allowance on a maiden who, though minus a fur coat and a car is to your untutored mind "pleasant to be with." In nearly every case you will find that the great gods of the campus "never heard of her" and that is the end of her. If you wish to retain any social standing say farewell to the lady as soon as possible for you are socially damned if you don't!

I hope this will help you to clear up your difficulty, my dear young friend. In conclusion I will give you my short list of DON'TS that has helped many a college freshman meet such difficulties as confront you.

DON'T

Date a girl who wears [illegible] stockings

Or rubbers

Or wooden goose in cold weather

DON'T

Date a girl who seems preoccupied on the campus. It is probable that since you are a newcomer a lookout to see what men are in view she is a man-hater for every man knows that every really up-to-date girl is always eager to talk to any representative of his sex.

DON'T

Date a girl who knows her lessons, she's probably just trying to show off, and anyway if she studies as much as that she wouldn't have any time for dates.

DON'T

Ever date a girl without a line, it's a very dangerous and radical thing to find out what people really think.

And above all remember what I have told you about what we literary people call "the sanction of the majority," in other words "what the brothers think." It is all important.

Helpfully yours,

AUNT DEBORAH.

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

Student's Accounts Solicited
This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.
Turk Says
Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready
[illegible] purchase amounting to | [illegible] down | [illegible] per week
$25.00 | $ 5.00 | $ [illegible]
30.00 | 6.00 |
35.00 | 7.00 |
40.00 | [illegible] |
Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the Budget comes from
Turk's
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 Colchester Ave.
Opp. Engineering Bldg.
Home Cooking Our Specialty
Lunches to Take Out

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

list this under
"major sports"

THERE'S no other sport on the calendar to compare with smoking a jimmy-pipe packed with P. A. Indoors and out. Any season. You win even when you draw, if you get what we mean. And how you will draw, once you know the wonderful taste of Prince Albert!

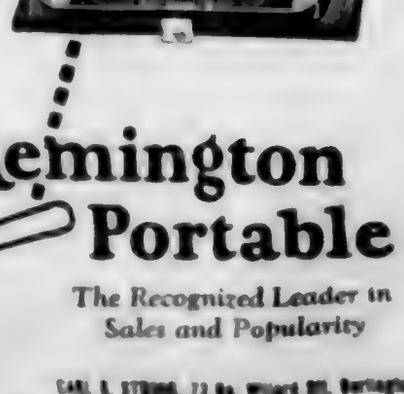
Cool as an over-cut notice from the dean. Sweet as the thoughts of a holiday. Fragrant as woodland flowers after a spring shower. P. A. never bites your tongue or parches your throat. The Prince Albert process fixed that the day P. A. matriculated.

Come out for this major sport. Get yourself a tidy red tin at that nearby smoke-shop where they hand out P. A. sunshine. You and Prince Albert are going to be great buddies right from the start. Because there just never was another tobacco like Prince Albert!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.



It's a hit
You can bat out lots of good stuff with a Remington Portable Typewriter

IT is surprising how the Remington Portable helps with college work. Long reports, theses, and transcriptions of lectures simply roll out of this machine. You don't have to be an experienced operator to speed up your composition to an unbelievable degree.

Even themes and reports look better, as their quality naturally create a more favorable impression on the professors when they are written on the Remington Portable.

This machine weighs 8½ pounds, net, and is the handiest, fastest, simplest to operate, and most dependable of all portables. It is the lightest and most compact machine with a keyboard portable.

$1 down and $5 monthly

Remington Portable
The Recognized Leader in Sales and Popularity

W. E. SHERMAN, 196 Church St., Burlington, Vt.
CARL E. STRONG, 72 So. Willard St., Burlington, Vt.
REMINGTON TYPEWRITER CO., Howard Johnson Coal Bldg., 188 College St., Burlington, Vt.

Co-ed's Corner

MEMBERSHIP OF GLEE CLUB IS COMPLETED

[illegible] the tryouts held last [illegible] women have been [illegible] Club

[illegible] Evelyn Bower, [illegible] Hazel Burnap, Eliza[illegible] Cilley, Margaret [illegible]is, Faith Edmunds, [illegible] French, Eileen Good[illegible]nson, Marion King, [illegible] Little, Marion Mil[illegible] Peters, Joyce Richard[illegible]nor Smith, Edith [illegible] Theresa Walsh.

[illegible]

[illegible] Catherine Bassett, Ruby [illegible] Carter, Velma Coch[illegible]in, Dorothy Cot[illegible] Dodge, Frances Hazen, Miriam Idleman, Marion Lawrence, [illegible] Lawrence, Irene Marcotte, Lil[illegible] Mildred McLeod, Annette [illegible] Ruth Strong, Doris Terry, [illegible] Wallace, Fern Westover, [illegible] Wentworth.

[illegible]

[illegible] Burbank, Katherine Eckley, [illegible] Lawrence, Constance Palmer, [illegible] Pease, Rena Sawyer, Helen [illegible] Helen Spaulding, Marian Tifft.

[illegible]

[illegible] Baldwin, Katherine Griffith, [illegible] Howe, Eleanor Hubert, Caro[illegible] Hyde, Gladys Kone, Delia Martin, [illegible] Sargent, Myrtle Start.

[illegible] of the large number of applicants, many good voices, especially first sopranos, could not be included. It is hoped therefore, that no one not [illegible] will on that account hesitate to apply at future try-outs.

DRAMATIC CLUB

Dramatic club meeting was held Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Theta house. Plans for the coming year were discussed.

Kappa Delta

Alice Crowe, Alice Wright and Cecile Bliss, all of the class of '26 [illegible] visitors in the city.

RIFLE TEAM

The call for candidates for the rifle team will not be issued until October 15. Practice will start a few days later.

Manager Lynch is arranging a schedule of about 30 matches to be played with the leading women's teams in the country. Although it is still too early to make any definite forecast, the nucleus of last year's team, together with new material from the Freshman class makes the prospect of a winning team exceedingly bright.

The recent changes in the gym have made it impossible to use the range formerly used. However, with Dr. Bolinger aiding in the search for a new range, no delay is expected to interfere with the beginning of practice.

It is suggested that those who intend to try out for the team, and who have not had their eyes examined recently, do so in the near future.

The girls will be interested to know, that although no definite plans are as yet made, in all probability, Coach Lynch will continue to coach the team.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Monday evening three discussion groups were organized. Two of them were in the two wings of Converse Hall now occupied. The remaining group was organized at Doane's rooming house on Colchester Avenue. These groups met for the first time Thursday evening from seven to eight under student leadership. These meetings will continue on Thursday evenings for the rest of the term. They will discuss campus and student problems of vital interest. The Discussion Group Chairman is Jasper Knox, '29, M.

Following the usual custom of the Y. M. C. A. the Y. M. C. A. Intercollegian (October issue) has been distributed in the Fraternity Houses and rooming places. If you have not received your copy—get one.

Russel W. Parish

[illegible] the Students' Trade

Jeweler & Optician

Burlington, Vermont

Cane Rush Will Be Held at Centennial Field Saturday

(Continued from page 1)

were resumed as an annual affair despite the fact that the administration was known to be against the institution. Only one class, the class of 1901, abided by the "prexy's" wishes and refrained from the customary rivalry. This action called forth very unfavorable comment, even from the class of 1902.

In the early part of the twentieth century, the cane rush seems to have been unorganized. In 1901, the freshmen were met at Miles and Perry's. A group of sophomores appeared, but decided not to attack the freshmen. Later a larger group of the second year men rushed upon the freshmen broke canes, and stole some. That year the scraps seem to have been indecisive so wrestling matches between individuals from the two classes were arranged. The Frosh proved to be the better wrestlers.

In the year 1903, Miles and Perry were requested to give out no canes. In place of the rush 12 heavyweights from each of the two lower classes were chosen to fight over a stick. The freshmen won over their opponents 16 hands to 12 hands. The next year lightweights were chosen to scrap over a stick, the side having most hands on at the end winning.

The cane rush in which the whole of the two underclasses participated was resumed after the apparent failure of the innovation of having a few men fight for the whole class.

After baffling generations of Italian scholars, that philological riddle, the Etruscan language, is at last being deciphered by Signor Antonio Cavalazzi

Lackawanna Anthracite

The coal that makes Home Happy

Try it

Elias Lyman Coal Company

206 College St

Christmas Greeting Cards

For discriminating people who would avoid busy stores, soiled, handled and ordinary cards. Clover Studios publish an unique assortment of 12 steel engraved and hand colored Christmas greeting cards, beautiful and different with fancy lined envelopes. Value $1.50 up. The assortment $1.00 each. Postpaid, money back guarantee. Agents wanted. Wonderful seller.

CLOVER STUDIOS

General P. O. Box 548 New York

Tel. 507-W.

Tailoring of all Kinds

CLEANING, PRESSING

T. P. O'HARA

170 BANK STREET

He's Still Telling the Judges

C. M. Laffoon

"The speaker for the affirmative, ladies and gentlemen, will be Mr. C. M. Laffoon." That line was not unfamiliar to student groups at the University of Missouri a few years ago.

Now the undergraduate debater of other days is the Design Engineer in the Turbo-Generator Section of the Power Engineering Department. He is in his eleventh year at the Westinghouse Company.

Laffoon today is the builder of the fastest things that go, electrically. For those intricate high-speed machines, he must not only act as designer, but must often assist in selling, and must look after the service when problems arise in operation. Because the designer is the man who knows, he is the "speaker for the affirmative." "Honorable judges" are fact-seeking engineers of electric light and power companies.

The question sometimes is asked: Where do young men get when they enter a large industrial organization? Have they opportunity to exercise creative talents? Or are they forced into narrow grooves?

This series of advertisements throws light on these questions. Each advertisement takes up the record of a college man who came with the Westinghouse Company within recent years after graduation from his university.

Out of a clear sky one day Westinghouse called for a high-speed generator for use in commercial transmission of radio messages. There was no such machine. Laffoon designed one. Then, through an unexpected change in a trade situation, the machine was not used. Did it go to the scrap heap? Read and see.

Industry had been seeking a better way to melt expensive metal of high heat resistance—aluminum, platinum, certain alloy steels, and the like. Ordinary smelting methods couldn't be used. Properties had to be kept unchanged; and the great heat liquefied the ordinary crucible as well as the metal. Laffoon's discarded radio-generator was found to offer an ideal application to a new high-frequency induction furnace for melting those special metals; and so Laffoon designed that machine.

You can measure the advance in high-speed turbo-generator apparatus by comparing the models of 1918 (when Laffoon entered the particular field to which he has contributed), with those of 1926. Then 25,000 KVA was some machine. Now, at 62,000 KVA, no limit is set on the future.

High-speed machines must be fitted to the individual needs of customers. After understanding what the customer wants, the design engineer must determine the size, weight, dimensions and performance, depending on voltage, frequency and speed of the installation. Then he must "follow through."

Men who "follow through" in any phase of electrical engineering may have confidence in their careers at Westinghouse.

Westinghouse

COLLEGE TOURNAMENT NOW IN SECOND ROUND

Courts Are in Poor Shape Due to Rain. But Matches are Close

[illegible] with the Annual Tennis Tournament [illegible] the first round [illegible] all second round [illegible] be played by Saturday at the latest.

The second first round matches [illegible] last edition of the [illegible]

[illegible] 6-4 from Hussey, 6-4, 6-4 from [illegible] won from Cowles 6-0, 6-0 won [illegible] by default.

[illegible] played matches Ma[illegible] to Rowe the match [illegible] 6-1, 4-6, 6-2. Powers [illegible] expected to play but the [illegible] on account of [illegible]

[illegible] matches are as fol[illegible] Carpenter vs Taylor [illegible] Macomber vs Rowe [illegible] vs Gould. Nye vs [illegible] vs Allison vs Shield [illegible] vs Lucas and Cleaves vs [illegible]

CONWAY GETS CONTRACT OF TOQUES FROM BOULDER

The Boulder Society held a meeting Wednesday evening at the Delta [illegible] house. The contract for furnishing the Frosh toques was let to Jack [illegible] Those toques are of better quality than any that have been seen [illegible] on campus for a long time, judging from the sample. It was decided to have a water fight in place of the [illegible] which was scheduled to take [illegible] yesterday between the freshmen and sophomores. An attempt will be made to arrange a parade to the field before the Clarkson game.

RADIO CLUB TO OPERATE STATION IARY THIS YEAR

All men interested in radio are asked to hand their names to J R Morton or J L Sweeney at the Alpha Tau Omega house. These men are at the head of the University Radio Club.

It is expected that the University broadcasting station IRAY, will go on the air again this year, but there is considerable work to be done in preparation. The station is housed in the Annex building back of the Williams Science Hall.

Speaking of Sport

While the Vermont Frosh were trimming Troy Conference Academy here last Saturday, Vermont Academy, which plays the yearlings here October 16, was busy shutting out the Norwich Frosh by the score of 19-0. If Coach Rattan's Team should win from Vermont Academy they should have little trouble in taking the State Championship in their class.

The Burlington High Team which plays the Frosh here Armistice Day surprised local fans by playing Spaulding High of Barre to a scoreless tie. This ought to make the Frosh sit up and take notice as Spaulding High is noted for its football teams. Last year the High School lost to the Frosh by the score of 13-6 while the two previous years they played two scoreless ties.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

HOW MUCH ARE YOU WORTH?
You can Capitalize part of your earning power NOW.
Let me show you—
"BERNIE" '25

COMING TO BURLINGTON
Oct. 12th GLASGOW ORPHEUS CHOIR
Nov. 16th REINALD WERRENRATH
Jan. 10th LOUISE HOMER
THE UNIVERSITY STORES
OFFER FACULTY, STUDENTS and EMPLOYEES COURSE TICKETS AT THE FOLLOWING REDUCTION.

REGULAR PRICES			COURSE PRICE
1st	2nd	3rd
$2.20	$2.20	$3.30	$5.50
2.20	2.20	2.75	4.95
1.65	1.65	2.20	3.85
.75	1.40	1.65	3.30

Fraternity Notes

Phi Delta Theta

[illegible] has been repledged

Phi Mu Delta

[illegible] was recently [illegible] fraternity

Lambda Iota

The [illegible] orthochemic party [illegible]

Sigma Nu

[illegible] has returned from [illegible] There will be a dance at [illegible] evening with the [illegible] attendance.

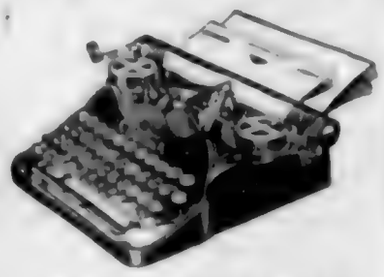
Sigma Alpha Chi

[illegible] who recently re[illegible] a tour of Europe is on [illegible]

Kappa Sigma

[illegible] a dance at the house [illegible]

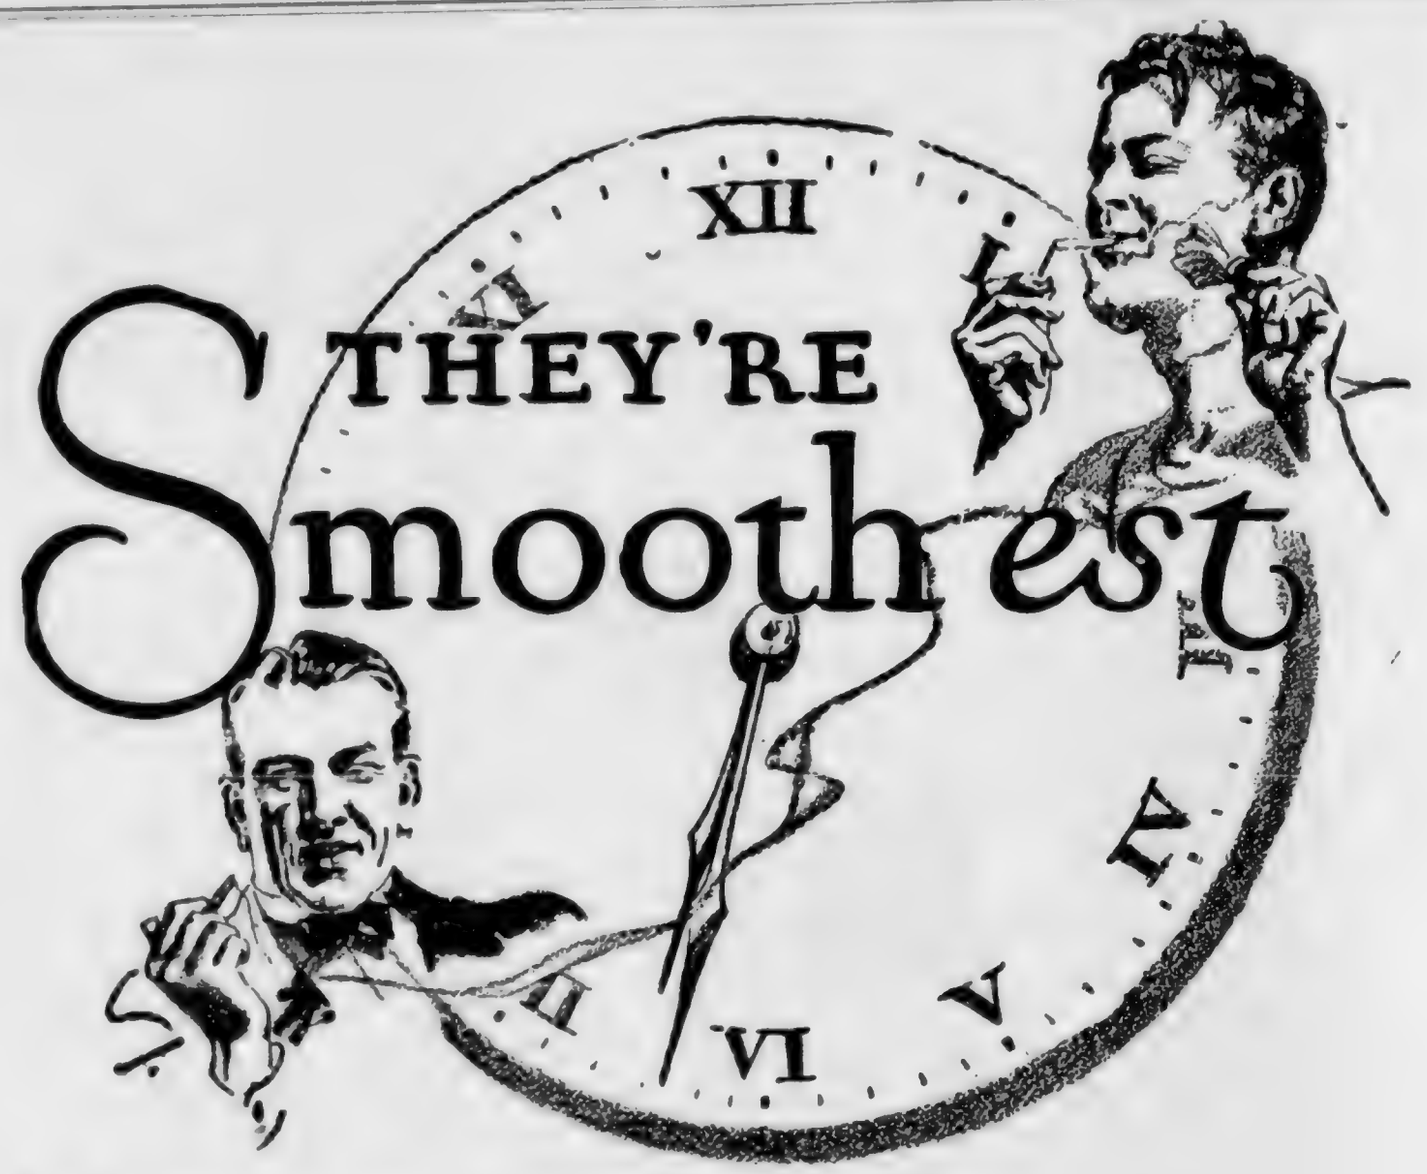
Delta Psi



[illegible] members of the fraterni[illegible] the church wedding of [illegible] and Frances Burditt [illegible] at Pittsford. B. J. [illegible] and L. B. Marvin, '28 [illegible] ceremony.

[illegible] Peach, '30 of Wells[illegible] has been repledged.

[illegible], ex-'28, of St. Albans [illegible] yesterday.



[illegible] is making his [illegible] house, while teaching [illegible] High School.

CORONA

THE PORTABLE TYPEWRITER
that is equal to all office machines.
PRICED AT
$60.00
Terms if desired.

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

"That's why YOU CAN SMOKE THEM ALL THE WAY AROUND THE CLOCK

A coarse cigarette is like the town bully. It tries to appear strong, but it's merely bad-mannered. Real champions deliver the goods in a gentlemanly way . . . That's OLD GOLD—the new miracle blend in cigarettes . . . Every draw packs a might of satisfaction—delivered with kid gloves. That's why you can smoke OLD GOLD from sunup to sundown—without penalty to tongue or taste.

The Product of P. LORILLARD CO., Established 1760

OLD GOLD

IT'S THE SMOOTH(EST) CIGARETTE

20 for 15 cents

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., OCTOBER 12, 1926 — NUMBER 6

EW CYNIC DELIVERY SYSTEM WILL BE USED DUE TO POSTAL RATE

ditions of the Paper to Be Delivered at Dormitories, Fraternity Houses and Book Stores

The CYNIC will be delivered today [illegible] in accordance with [illegible] was announced in [illegible] It was intended to be [illegible] under the new system [illegible] readers were in- [illegible] notice in the last week's [illegible] This attention was thwarted [illegible] by the refusal of the [illegible] post office authorities to accept [illegible] local mailing. There [illegible] some delay in getting the paper to the Book Stores. [illegible] copies will be left for [illegible] who do not live in fraternity [illegible] and dormitories, at the Uni- [illegible] stores in the Old Mill and the [illegible] Building, on Tuesdays and [illegible] of the college year. Copies [illegible] delivered in numbers equal to [illegible] at each fraternity or [illegible] building on the same day. [illegible] new system will greatly expedite [illegible] handling of the paper. Formerly [illegible] paper was delivered at the post [illegible] in the mornings of the days [illegible] it was supposed to appear. Often [illegible] local office was not able to handle [illegible] papers until the next day, making its appearance often a day and sometimes two days late. Now those [illegible] are entitled to the paper can be [illegible] sure of getting it within 24 [illegible] of the time the last news went [illegible] press. This is six to twelve hours [illegible] better than has been possible this [illegible] and from 24 to 36 hours better [illegible] than last year when the CYNIC was [illegible] a weekly.

The immediate reason for the change [illegible] the postal regulations which will [illegible] nothing appearing oftener than [illegible] weekly to be delivered at the low [illegible] per pound formerly made use of [illegible] the CYNIC in the city. In view of [illegible] excessive cost of delivering the [illegible] weekly by mail, and the fact that [illegible] never assured prompt de- [illegible] the CYNIC is doubly justified in [illegible] the new method. McGill, Tech, [illegible] many other colleges have found it [illegible] economy, and it should prove successful here as practically everyone [illegible] to go by the Old Mill or Medical [illegible] building at some time during the day.

SE OF AUTOMOBILES INCREASES ON CAMPUS

Pedestrians are fast becoming a rare [illegible] at Vermont. During the past [illegible] years the increase in automobiles [illegible] make-shift vehicles used by Ver- [illegible] students has doubled and tripled. [illegible] prominent alumnus who attended [illegible] here a few years before the [illegible] War, states that in his day, only [illegible] professors used motor cars on the [illegible] campus. Today according to a census [illegible] Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, [illegible] 50 cars were parked in the road [illegible] back of the Old Mill. About the same [illegible] number were located at other parts of [illegible] the campus. In all over 100 cars were [illegible] used by students to come to classes [illegible] Saturday morning.

Which car is preferred by the Ver- [illegible] student? According to statistics [illegible] compiled Saturday, the car made by [illegible] Ford of Detroit is the most popu- [illegible] 28 of the make being counted. [illegible] open car is the preference of the [illegible] average student although 32 use en- [illegible] closed models. Registration plates [illegible] bear the Vermont label, but Massachusetts and New York licenses are far [illegible] from being a rarity. The converted [illegible] road racer, which is cluttering up [illegible] many campuses is not much in favor [illegible] here, only 10 of these "road menaces" [illegible] being noted.

JUNIORS NOTICE!

The final date when all individual [illegible] portraits of the members of the [illegible] junior class should be in the hands [illegible] the Editor of the Ariel should have [illegible] been the Thanksgiving recess [illegible] instead of before the Christmas vacation as announced in the Friday issue [illegible] the CYNIC.

Prof. R. C. Douglass, head of the De- [illegible] partment of Education, was at Swamp- [illegible] scott Mass., the latter part of last week [illegible] attending a conference of leading New [illegible] England educators.

TRADITIONAL LANDMARK BACK ON U. V. M. CAMPUS AFTER LONG ABSENCE

The golden cupola on top of the Ira Allen tower was unveiled to public view last Thursday. Workmen had completed the laying of the gold leaf and the tearing down of the staging about the tower was commenced. The canvas cover under which the work of laying the gold leaf had been progressing for the past few days, was taken away and the gracefully shaped cupola became an artistic addition to University Row.

Hemispherical in shape and surmounted by a spike which points in the heavens, the cupola is a distinctive feature of the campanile. The architects of the chapel, Messrs. McKim, Mead and White of New York could chose no better ornament with which to surmount the tower. For the larger part of the existence of the University, the Old Mill building has had a golden cupola, which was a feature to the landscape which could be seen for miles in the vicinity. In 1883, the Old Mill was remodelled and the golden cupola removed despite the many protests of alumni and students who could not conceive of a U. V. M without the Old Mill cupola. The new cupola brings back to the Champlain sky-line once more a landmark which has been traditionally associated with the University of Vermont.

FROSH LOSE CANE RUSH BY FEW POINTS AFTER HARD BATTLE

Sophomores Greatly Outnumbered Win the Fight by Narrow Margin of 71 to 63

The annual Sophomore-Frosh Cane Rush which took place Saturday afternoon on the gridiron at Centennial Field was as usual, won by the Sophomores. The score was 71 to 63.

The freshmen formed at the gym at 1.15 p. m. and marched down in a body to Miles and Perry's Clothing Store where each one bought his cane. The group then returned to the gym and marched over to the field.

Immediately after the football game the two classes lined up at opposite ends of the gridiron. The freshmen marched to the center of the field, dropped their canes and marched back to line up at the 20-yard line at the east end of the gridiron. The sophomores arrayed themselves on the western end of the gridiron.

Both classes were shouting and jumping around as if they were just aching to tear each other to pieces. The freshmen, greatly outnumbered their opponets. It appeared as if the traditional sophomore prestige was to be lost at the hands of the frosh hordes.

At the crack of a gun both teams surged forward, met squarely, picked up a few canes, and then started back to their own sides of the field. It was at this point that the fighting began in earnest. Several groups soon formed; and the man with the cane was usually on the bottom. Many canes were broken in the press of battle.

The spectators had an unusually fine view of the fight from their seats in the grandstand, and the continual cracking of the canes gave them proof of the intensity of the rush.

At the end of seven minutes, which seemed more like an hour to most of the freshmen, the crack of the gun sounded again, this time not to begin a fight, but to stop a grim battle.

The two classes were lined up and the score was taken. A whole cane counted for two points; a crook and one foot thereof, for one point.

GYM KHARNA HELD FOR MARY FLETCHER BENEFIT

"Gym Kharna," the fair for the benefit of the Mary Fletcher Hospital was held last Friday and Saturday in the gymnasium and the cage. The affair was in charge of the Mary Fletcher Hospital Auxiliary. The attractions included about a dozen booths—candy, fortune telling, books and magazines, flowers, and other forms of entertainment and novelties. A tea bridge party, a supper and an entertainment was given on Friday. On Saturday dancing was enjoyed from 9 to 12 o'clock at night. Many students attended the "Kharna."

SOPHS DUCK THE FROSH AND WIN HOSE FIGHT

Boulder's latest contest between underclassmen took place Thursday, on the back campus, in the form of a water fight. The Burlington Fire Department consented to pump the water in two powerful streams, which were directed by six men at each nozzel.

The first fight was won by the Sophomores, pursuing the vearlings all of their feet, by advancing their well directed stream to close quarters. The second contest was won by the Sophomores, after quite a struggle, due to the inability of either groups to direct their stream to perfection. The final contest was gained by the Frosh after quite a long struggle.

The water fight will probably be continuud next year and pass into tradition as has the fountain fight and the cane rush.

ELIGIBILITY DEPT. ORGANIZES FOR YEAR

The elegibility department is organizing for the years work. The present activity consists of bringing the files of the players in the major and minor sports up to date. These will include the freshmen football men and the prospective baseball, basketball and track men. The names of athletes from the other classes are taken from last year's lists.

The department hopes to carry out its work more effectively than in past years. Athletes that are low in their studies are tutored, and if they are willing to work their grades are generally improved.

For the department to carry on its work effectively it is absolutely necessary that students volunteer their services as tutors. Last year the department was held back from lack of tutors, a few doing most of the work. Reports of needed help are already coming in.

The name of anyone who wishes to scrub for the eligibility department, or who wishes to tutor should be handed to Manager T. M. Egan or Assistant Managers Robbins and Fogg.

The eligibility department is a recognized college activity, and the man who makes the managership during his junior or senior year is awarded a letter.

FRESHMEN BEATEN BY DARTMOUTH YEARLINGS

A heavy Dartmouth Freshman team outclassed a lighter Vermont yearling eleven to win by three touchdowns. The hard running of Marsters, former Exeter captain featured for the Green freshmen. The end play of Sirois and the work of Levine and Love of the Vermont yearlings were the outstanding performances of Captain Rattan's team.

The line-up:

VERMONT 1930		DARTMOUTH 1930
Slate, l. e.		l. e., Coinedi
Bernstein, l. t.		l. t., Cole
Bachman, l. g.		l. g., Phinney
Levine, c.		c., Poehler
Bloomstrom, r. g.		r. g., Bregner
Love, r. t.		r. t., Armstrong
Sirois, r. e.		r. e., Fraser
Bray, q. b.		q. b., McDonough
Mitchell, l. h. b.		l. h. b., Marsters
Mace, r. h. b.		r. h. b., Booma
De Rose, f. b.		f. b., Hamm

Touchdowns—Booma, Fraser, Marsters. Goal after touchdowns—Booma, Jeremiah.

Umpire—Swarthfield, Brown. Referee—Crowley, Bowdoin. Headlinesman—McGrath, Boston College.

Time— Five 12-minute periods.

ARIEL ASSUMING FORM SCRUBS WANTED NOW

Plans for the 1928 Ariel are fast assuming definite form. Several meeting to scrub for the Ariel Board is new plans and innovations have been discussed.

The photographer from White's Studio has finished his work here, and has returned to New York City.

To date but four scrubs have reported for the editorial end of the work, and only three or four for the business side. Any Sophomore wishing to scrub for the Ariel Board is asked to hand in his name and a schedule of his free hours to either Julian O. Phelps, Sigma Alpha Chi House, or Walter F. Reagan, Phi Mu Delta House. From these scrubs next year's Board will be elected.

The advertising campaign is being planned now and a canvass will soon be under way. Advertisements and subscriptions are solicited.

SECOND SEMESTER HONOR LIST

An Honor List based on the grades for June 1926 has been recently compiled at the Registrar's office. Five members of the classes of 1928 and 1929 received all A grades the last semester and 27 members of the same classes received no grade below B. The list as announced is as follows:

Group A (No grades below A)
Class of 1928 T. F. Rich, C. Wolfe.
Class of 1929, Genevieve Hook, Margaret Durick.

Group B (No grades below B)
Class of 1928 C. M. Adams, Faith Baldwin, Anna Batten, Frances Dimick, R. B. Gile, Marguerite Margle, E. R. Merikangas, D. E. Packard, Marjory Purinton, Muriel Richardson, Eleanor Taft, P. R. Wheeler. Class of 1929 Dorothy Claflin, W. M. Greene, Beatrice Hoskins, S. G. Hanson, Gladys Kane, Esperance Lamdner, Alice Miller, F. F. O'Keefe, C. H. Ostrom, C. H. Overly, B. E. Palmer, A. O. Powerman, A. E. Sargent, Dorothy Small, Irene Witkus.

FROSH ATTEND THREE OPEN HOUSE NIGHTS IN LARGE NUMBERS

Two Nights, Wednesday, October 13 and Saturday, October 16 Remain for Frosh to Look Over Fraternities

The social fraternities on the Hill have observed three open house nights of the five preliminary to the rushing season. There was no entertaining Saturday night, since a large number of men were at Hanover to witness the game between the Catamount Cubs and the Big Green Freshmen.

Wednesday and Saturday evenings of this week are the two remaining chances for Freshmen to get further acquainted and visit at the chapter houses where they have not yet been. Rushing dates will be given out Monday, Octber 18 at the chapels; dates for rushing are October 20, 21, 22, and 23. Bids will be given out October 24.

A census taken recently by CYNIC reporters shows that in general more Freshmen are turning out in larger numbers than last year. Of the 12 fraternities holding open house nights, seven report an increase in visitors over last year; three state that about the same number of Freshmen attend; and two show a falling off in attendance. In the first group, increases range from 10 to over 100 per cent, of the latter class one fraternity reported a 25 per cent decrease and the other a 50 per cent decrease. One fraternity avers that 200 Freshmen and new men entertained at its house during the three nights. Others have registrations from 8 to 175.

PROF. JACOBS ATTENDS GEOLOGISTS' FIELD DAY

E. C. Jacobs, professor of geology and mineralogy, left last Thursday to attend the New England Inter-Collegiate Geological Field Day at New Haven, Conn. Members of the geology departments of the various New England colleges and universities attended the meeting which was held October 8 and 9. The purpose of the annual Field Day is to make a study of some of the interesting geological features in different parts of New England. This year the geologists looked over the Triastic, trap-ridges and faults in southern Connecticut.

New Men Enrolled in the University

(Continued from Oct. 5 issue)

Wilbert Patton of Richford, Joseph Pekala of Amherst, Mass., Glen Perkins of Rutland, Anthony Perrotta of Burlington, Philip Perry of Newton, Mass., Edward Powell of Burlington, James Puffer of St. Johnsbury.

Carl Ramm of New Britain, Conn., Frederick Reed of Burlington, Frank Rich of Burlington, Philip Robbins of Plymouth, Mass., Redmond Roche of Burlington, Samuel Rothman, of Burlington.

John Saia of Barre, Francis St. Denis of Owls Head, N. Y., Harold Schechtman of New Britain, Conn., Isidore Schwartz of Bronx, N. Y., Franklin Sears of Brattleboro, Richard Seed of Norwich, Conn., Gardner Shu-

(Continued on page 4)

VARSITY GETS FIRST WIN OF SEASON FROM CLARKSON GRID MEN

Vermont Wins in Spite of Heavy Penalties and Being Out-weighed—Jack Smith Star of Game

Saturday afternoon at Centennial Field Vermont defeated Clarkson Tech 14-7 in a loosely played game of football. The game was marred by a number of penalties, Kropper, Catamount right guard, being responsible for 5 yards of them and over 75 yards in penalties was presented to the New York team by the referee. The visiting aggregation tipped the scales at considerably more than the locals, but in spite of this and the heavy toll of penalties the offensive of the McAvoy men proved effective at nearly all times and the defense was good except against forward passes and this weakness gave the Tech men their only score.

Jack Smith was the star of the game. His off tackle plunges netted gains of from three to seven yards consistently and his punting was beautiful. Conway was running back punts from the toe of the opposing quarterback as well as he could with only one man interference and the ends well down on him almost every time. Scutaker, a last year's freshman player made good gains through the line and carried the pigskin over for both of the Vermont touchdowns. He looks promising as a line plunger but apparently needs experience to be effective on the defense and also on the offense when his line does not open the hole he expects. Clarkson made a few substantial gains on end runs but many attempts on both sides failed miserably. Scutaker in particular was nailed several times behind the line of scrimmage. Capt. Denning at tackle played a heavy game, taking advantage of all the breaks and recovering fumbles twice.

Vermont's scores came in the first and third periods. A completed forward pass and line plunges by Smith and Scutaker netted the first tally. Straight football with the green reserved backs carrying the ball alternately brought in the second six points. Conway kicked both goals. He also kicked a field goal from a difficult angle in the last period but somebody was offside and threw away the three points.

Clarkson's lone touchdown came in the third period and was the result of three completed forwards in a row. Some one failed to cover the loser's right end on the last pass and he was able to trot across the goal line and catch an easy pass without difficulty. It was the old play of leaving an end off on the side lines and trusting no one will notice him.

Vermont came within inches of another touchdown in the last few minutes of play when Kropper recovered a fumble on the 20-yard line. Line plunges by Smith brought the ball up to the one-yard line but here the whistle blew and the game was over.

Score by Quarters	1	2	3	4	T
Vermont	7	0	7	0	14
Clarkson	0	0	7	0	7

MCALLISTER TAKES TWO GROUP PHOTOS SATURDAY

McAllister, the local photographer, appeared Saturday on the campus for the purpose of taking the pictures of the students of the University, who assembled at 10 o'clock in front of the Billings Library. Later he took a photograph of the freshman class.

For several years "Mac" as the veteran photographer is known to all Vermont students, has taken group pictures of the classes and students at the University. "Mac" specializes in the photographing of groups and is in wide demand. Perched in his ladder near his large revolving camera which rests on a very high tripod, "Mac" cautions yearly, "Steady boys" as he starts the camera revolving. Every year several men manage to get into the group pictures two or more times by rushing along the back of the rear row bobbing up occasionally as the revolving camera swings slowly about a semi-circle. "Mac" used to protest at these tactics, but now smiles good naturedly at the peculiar whim.

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] BOARD

[illegible] should be addressed to the Business Manager [illegible] all other correspondence to Editor-in-Chief at 207 Colchester Ave.

[illegible] Entered at special rate [illegible]

[illegible] Editor
[illegible] Sporting Editor
[illegible] Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] Feature Editor

[illegible] Editors
[illegible] '29 Robert M. Tracy '29
[illegible] '29 [illegible]
Willmot Fisher '29 [illegible]
Leighton A. Sanders '29 Virginia Margie '28

Business Staff

William M. Lockwood '27.... Business Mgr
Stoddard N. Martin '27.. Advertising Mgr
[illegible] '28 Assistant Manager
Charles H. Stevens '28 Assistant Manager
Arthur C. Unsworth '28 Assistant Manager

[illegible] are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Any business communications may be handed in or telephoned to the office [illegible] p. m. Monday and Wednesday.

In charge of this issue:

Eleo A. Lechnir .....News Editor
Arthur C. Unsworth.....Assistant Manager

Vol. 45 October 12, 1926 No. 6

BULLETIN BOARDS

The member of the class of '28, whose letter appears in Campus Comment this week has in attacking the cluttered condition of the bulletin boards in the Old Mill, chosen a subject which is most worthy of attention. Not only does he censure this disgraceful condition but offers some constructive criticism which if followed ought to remedy the weakness. Our bulletin boards have been cluttered up all the fall with notices which might well be in the waste basket. If one man were responsible for keeping them clear, it would be only a moment's work to look at the board each day and remove all antedated notices. '28 is to be congratulated on being the first out of the many who profess a real desire for better conditions at Vermont, to voice his disapproval in this matter which can be so easily remedied. We do not doubt that some solution will be forthcoming from those responsible organizations which have solved more difficult problems for the social welfare of this University. We will not always have to look twice to distinguish the news boards from the rubbish containers which stand near them.

CANE RUSH

While we do not retract our opinion given last week as to the value of underclass scraps, in our opinion the Cane Rush Saturday, was not the kind of a fight we had reference to at that time. The water fight which was supposed to be an affair of minor importance as compared with the Cane Rush was a more interesting spectacle to witness and a better sample of what we had in mind.

At the end of the first minute after the gun had sounded there remained only a handful of sound to be fought over. Even after the longer scrambles had been completed with shirts and the canes which the Freshmen fought were held out as the only thing secured to be a prize. But scrambling the cane was off, the remainder what of said got as many as they could before the opposing classes came together. Those of the contesting wing were lucky enough to get to the canes first, grabbed as many as they could and ran for the sidelines where their booty was left with Neutral friends. Assured of a cane they returned to the fray.

By this time there were so many contestants to every cane that some not being able to get in sight of a cane resorted to scraps with beloved pals over nothing at all.

Daily Dribble

[illegible] don't go among the doers unless you want to be did.

[illegible] they are told, others can[illegible]

[illegible] is merely intensive [illegible] of the mind

[illegible] of experience always [illegible]

When a man is wrapped up in himself he makes a mighty small parcel.

It would seem that if rules could not be devised whereby the canes could be kept in the fray, some other kind of scrap should be indulged in which would at least justify the name given.

If fifty per cent. of the sophomores [illegible] present, we would have considered the affair more of a success. Some of them may have had a legitimate excuse for their absence, but there were more who did not. That however is none of our business. If one of the principals in a fight did not show interest enough to appear, certainly no one would make tradition the basis of holding it regularly.

THE BAND

The University is particularly fortunate in having for one of its organizations the R. O. T. C. Band. Under the direction of Mr. Lechnyr, 60 men are practicing regularly several times a week. Mr. Lechnyr is one of the best-known musicians which this section of the country boasts. He coaches many musical organizations in this locality, and the orchestras which he heads have a high reputation.

The members of the band are to be complimented on their spirit in staying out for the band, although it no longer excuses them from physical training and various other things. Those who like music and are proficient in playing some instrument would probably work for the band even if they were not excused from P. T. Yet in view of the time required for practice and attendance at various functions, we would not blame them if it did make a difference. Time at college is much too short for everything.

In view of the spirit of the members, the splendid coaching of "Jo" Lechnyr, and last but not least the sponsorship of Captain Lammons, which has made it a going organization, the college should not be wary of giving the band support in those activities which it may wish to undertake.

Lack of money is one of the handicaps which it faces most consistently. The benefits to be derived from existence of the band are many. Everyone who has attended games when there is music present and at other times when it is absent notices the difference. It not only adds to the spirit of the student spectators and team, but it helps to draw paying crowds from outside the college. Our smokers would be barren without it. The trips which are taken to various places help advertise the college. These excursions are also a reward deserved by the players for the effort they put in. Trips keep up the interest among the personnel of this organization which we would sorely miss.

It is contemplated taking the full sixty pieces to Springfield for the Thanksgiving Day game. If the plans for raising the needed funds are successful, Vermont will have a sixty-man rooting section which will make plenty of noise as well as furnish melody. Its presence will be advertised by a parade in the city and should help to attract a crowd to the game, especially since there are many friends of the University in and near Springfield.

Therefore we believe that the cost of the Springfield trip will be repaid in many ways and that the students as individuals and organizations should not hesitate when asked to contribute for such a worthy undertaking.

Are our home-made candies delicious?
Come and See
CANDYLAND
101 Church St.
Phone 3056-W.

Campus Comment

The Bulletin Boards

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

Why are our bulletin boards always cluttered up with a mass of notices and announcements of things which have already come to pass? Notices of meetings of various kinds and of social functions are left tacked on the boards for weeks after the occurrence of these events. They serve no useful purpose after the event they are announcing takes place. There are also numerous notices of articles lost put upon the boards. I don't think anyone ever takes the trouble to remove one even though the article may have been found.

Boards cluttered up with so many old notices defeat the purpose of the bulletin. They are supposed to be used to make announcements or to bring anything relative to the student body or parts of it to the attention or cognition of that body. If the boards are cluttered up with notices two and three deep, how can we readily observe any new notices which are posted. In order to determine if there be anything of import upon it we must stand and look at it rather closely and at the same time more or less block the passage of our fellow students. From an economic standpoint the efficiency of the bulletins becomes very low for much good time is lost in scrutinizing them and often class meetings or other things entirely escape the attention of some.

No one seems to be responsible for the bulletins as perhaps no one should considering that they are for the use of everyone. I wonder why the student senate could not appoint some one to remove such as was no longer of import and perhaps to arrange what was left in an orderly fashion. Better still than having to arrange it would be to have the boards sectioned into three or four parts, each part for particular types of notices.

Everything about the college and campus reflect upon and have some influence upon the student body. Let's have our bulletins revised a bit. Such disorderly and slovenly sights do not speak well for us or to us.

'28

Fraternity Notes

Lambda Iota

Mahlon V. Taylor '28 visited his home in Richford over the week-end.

Delta Psi

Gordon Batchelder ex-'29 is a bonds salesman for a firm in Utica, N. Y.

Alpha Tau Omega

William Herron and Joseph O'Connell, both of the class of 1926, were in the city Saturday for the Clarkson game.

Phi Mu Delta

Lynford Wells '26 who is teaching in Johnson, visited the chapter house recently.

Richard Aplin '24 was a visitor last week. He is now doing commercial work for the government in Canada.

Nelson Hooper '21 who is employed in Youngstown, Ohio, was in town last week.

Sigma Alpha Chi

Five members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Chapter at Worcester Polytech. were entertained over the week-end.

John Colton '26 and Floyd Taylor '26 returned to Orleans after staying at the house over Sunday.

Sigma Delta

B. B. Bosworth '26 of Bristol was at the chapter house over Saturday.

The light was dim, they were so close to each other, oh, so close—these two peanuts in that peanut shell.—Scarlet Saint.

THE BEST SODA
AT
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

Let us show you how
BOSTONIANS
look and feel on your feet
at Boynton's
68 Church St.

Ten Years Ago—1916

The summer session was attended by 261 students, of whom 56 were college graduates.

Military science was extremely popular. Nearly all the men and even some faculty members composed the four companies of the battalion.

President G. P. Benton sent a message to President Woodrow Wilson stating that the University would willingly assist in the preparedness program.

A course in Journalism was added to the curricula.

The late General Rush Hawkins, a benefactor of the University gave $100,000 to the University with the provision that $200,000 more be raised by the University.

PROF. ELLENBERGER TO ATTEND DAIRY MEETING

Professor H. B. Ellenberger of the dairy department of the University of Vermont, and Mrs. Ellenberger, left Friday by automobile for Detroit, Michigan, where he is to speak at the annual meeting of the American Dairy Science association. He will serve also on two national committees and will remain to attend a series of national dairy meetings which are to be held to discuss problems of commercial interest, and of particular interest to experiment station workers. Before returning to Vermont in about three weeks, Professor and Mrs. Ellenberger will visit relatives in Canada.

"Oi, Abie, your watch fell into the gutter out!"

"Leave it lie, Benny. Ve Harvard men gotta uphold the traditions of indifference."—Ex.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

WEATHER HAMPERS PROGRESS OF TENNIS TOURNEY

Because of the [illegible] matches of the [illegible] have been played off [illegible] tion of the [illegible] follows:

First round: Chaffee '25 [illegible] Frable '30, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

Second round: Graves beat [illegible] 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, and [illegible] Aronson, 6-0, 6-1.

Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)
Why not drop in for tea after your lessons? Special arrangements for parties can be made. [illegible] maple syrup will be served.
CALL 3125

Russel W. Parish
WATCH and JEWELRY REPAIRING
We Solicit the Students' Trade
Jeweler & Optician
Burlington, Vermont

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 Colchester Ave.
Opp. Engineering Bldg.
Home Cooking Our Specialty
Lunches to Take Out

A Time Saver In Study Hours
Those questions about words, people, places, that arise so frequently in your reading, writing, study, and speech, are answered instantly in the store of ready information in
WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE
The Best Abridged Dictionary—Based upon
WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL
Hundreds of new words like dactylogram, electrobus, flechette; names such as Cabell, Hoover, Smuts; new Gazetteer entries such as Latvia, Vimy, Monte Adamello. Over 106,000 words; 1,700 illustrations; 1,256 pages, printed on Bible Paper.

See It at Your College Bookstore or Write for Information to the Publishers.
G. & C. MERRIAM CO.
Springfield, Mass.

COMING TO BURLINGTON
Oct. 12th GLASGOW ORPHEUS CHOIR
Nov. 16th REINALD WERRENRATH
Jan. 10th LOUISE HOMER
THE UNIVERSITY STORES
OFFER FACULTY, STUDENTS and EMPLOYEES COURSE TICKETS AT THE FOLLOWING REDUCTION.

REGULAR PRICES			COURSE PRIC
1st	2nd	3rd
$2.20	$2.20	$3.30	$5.5
2.20	2.20	2.75	4.9
1.65	1.65	2.20	3.8
.75	1.40	1.65	3.3

Co-ed Page

The Objection to the Modern Co-ed

[illegible] of artificiality in out- [illegible] not in thought. As [illegible] way along the crowded [illegible] of Broadway, he is con- [illegible] ted with "painted-up [illegible] lips, pencilled eye- [illegible] white complexions or [illegible] ones - that is the twen- [illegible] type! And as we ad- [illegible] toward the year 2000, [illegible] of the period will either [illegible] outrageous form, or repeat [illegible]

[illegible] a small town, the girl—whom [illegible] will readily recognize as Friend [illegible] Co-ed wishes to impress the con- [illegible] co-ntrified folk with her [illegible] of city mannerisms, at once [illegible] both conspicious and dis- [illegible]. The latter feeling is displayed [illegible] by men because they are always [illegible] by something new and start- [illegible] by women, because they have [illegible] the center of the stage for the [illegible]. Now let's study this femi- [illegible] specimen in a co-ed college located [illegible] a town, or a small city; for there [illegible] finds a diversified student-body, [illegible] therefore, the comparison and [illegible] trast of types becomes more defi- [illegible]

First of all, let us see what objec- [illegible] there are to this imitated Broad- [illegible] exemplar She is usually cute [illegible] slender, whether she once was or [illegible] she wears chic, form-fitting [illegible] modeled à la mode parisienne [illegible] New York; her dresses are knee- [illegible] length, inavoidably displaying a nerv- [illegible] ankle and goodly leg enveloped [illegible] sheer hose, if her dresses happen to [illegible] above the knee, she reveals, now [illegible] then, rolled stockings adorned [illegible] miracles of upholstered garters [illegible] perhaps a jingling bell attached [illegible] to attract the attention of the [illegible] "Ed" when time to take the [illegible] home. Perhaps she has a boyish [illegible]—wherein the only danger lies [illegible] if she be standing with her back [illegible] Phil, he may democratically ap- [illegible] and whack friend co-ed on the [illegible] with a "Glad to see you 'ol man." [illegible] then apologies are in order. Co- [illegible] smoking has been strenuously for- [illegible]den. I wonder whether the men [illegible] any hand in that! Smoking rooms [illegible] no longer contain privacy for [illegible] "Eds" objection number one. An [illegible] essential part of young Romeo's make- [illegible] would be subordinated in contrast [illegible] with the Chesterfield daintily poised [illegible] the Co-ed's lily-white hand—objec- [illegible] number two—Co eds are supposed [illegible] be a brainless lot, anyway. Men [illegible] don't want them to think. They want [illegible] do the thinking for them and cock [illegible] their plumes a-glow with glory at the [illegible] slightest achievement.

What do you readers think about it? [illegible] that all there is to the modern [illegible] ed?

To be answered next week.

A Co-ed's Diary

(COVERING FIRST FOUR WEEKS OF COLLEGE 1926)

My goodness have four weeks passed so soon? And I haven't written in my diary since I left home—hereby I re- solve to write regularly once a week [illegible]—an indefinite period. I landed safely, otherwise I wouldn't be writ- ing and Guy Bailey's speech was real good too. What a mob of Freshmen! Say ain't those twin boys cute—but that tall kid with light hair and glasses just takes the cake. The boys rules were fair but those girls they were terrible it must have been a relief [illegible] not to have to powder their faces for a day. That Mixer—weren't some of our classmates bashful, and some were real speedy, one thing those [illegible] girls know how to make [illegible] and that's no joke either. The [illegible] party, what a scramble! [illegible] your little sister? I want [illegible] mine. Can you lead? I [illegible] but I'll try anything once, [illegible] Work is getting serious [illegible] can you imagine anything mean- [illegible] springing an hour test in [illegible] "Stella Dallas" was some [illegible] "The Green Hat," Oh boy! [illegible] the loving couples in the bal- [illegible] poor boys—guess they [illegible] many rules when Gold [illegible]nd, hard lessons are easiest [illegible] Mr Aiken with his Jameses, [illegible] know the name was so popular [illegible] his Miss Millers besides, if we [illegible] look out the poor man's hair will [illegible] This weather is beastly [illegible] ducks but strangely enough all [illegible] have left the campus. My wasn't Sousa grand? And the boy with curly hair that played the sax looked so homesick. Would that French would end on time, anyway we get our money's worth in that course, trust Professor Myrick for that. And now for the football game—next week little Diary I'll tell you all about it, and about other things, too; for to- night—well tests have begun!

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
We are now open on Sundays.
PHONE 2268

Sorority Notes

Kappa Delta

Alpha Theta of Kappa Delta announces the pledging of Rosalie White '29 of Yonkers, N. Y.

Supper was served at the rooms before the business meeting Thursday evening, and bridge was played after the meeting.

Alpha Xi Delta

Muriel Cleveland has been elected Junior member of W. A. A.

Alma Batten '28 was elected vice-president of Student Union. She was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the former vice-president, Della Martin, becoming president owing to the resignation of Elizabeth Warner Merrill.

At the meeting on October 6 a progressive bridge party was given with the city alumni as guests.

Pi Beta Phi

The Seniors are giving a tea for their patronesses next week.

W. A. A.

There are eleven girls taking horseback riding regularly twice a week.

Canoeing has started with a larger number than ever before. Adelaide McLaughlin, who has passed the life-saving tests, is assisting Miss Cummings with the coaching. As soon as weather permits, canoeing will be enjoyed every Friday afternoon.

Work is still going on at the tennis courts on the new athletic field.

There are large squads of Juniors and Seniors in both hockey and volley-ball this year, which shows an increasing interest in sports among the upperclassmen.

More girls are keeping health cards than usual. Sport slips and health cards may be obtained anytime at the gym office.

Y. W. C. A. NEWS

A "Sing" was held at the Home Management House Sunday, October 10. Mrs. Bennett gave a little talk on the history of various songs, after which these songs were sung.

There is to be a barn dance given on Thanksgiving Day from 4 to 8 o'clock. Lots of stunts have been planned and supper will be served.

Vesper services are to be held at the different dormitories every Sunday evening. Watch the bulletin board for notices.

OUTING CLUB

On account of the game last Saturday there was no organized hiked.

PRESS CLUB TO HOLD BI-WEEKLY MEETINGS

The first meeting of the Press Club was held at the home of Dorothy Cottrell on Wednesday afternoon. It was voted to have regular bi-weekly meetings, one business and one social. There is a notice on the bulletin board in the "Y" room where an opportunity is given those who wish to sign up for work in the Club.

Tel. 597-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

Current Comment

An assistant professor in a Western University in this month's Scribner's writes about going to the games, in quite a humorous dialogue His buoyancy, his descriptions of pennants flying, cheerleaders and their contortions, the youthful expectant throng and the college band in uniform will make you thrill with eagerness to see the next home game. Go, by all means. After you return enjoy it all over again by reading about this game and what leads up to his question, "Why in the name of seven devils does higher education have to be advertised?"

This is for professors only and for professors of modern languages in particular. It is written by a teacher of modern languages, Frederick Bliss Luquiens in the Yale Review for October "Wot aggrawates" him is that there is not more learning of modern languages. There are many teachers and many pupils but as for learning there is very little of it. He admits it is very difficult to teach modern languages. He offers some friendly advice to teachers. 'An incentive is what the student needs today" He suggests a powerful one. He emphasizes the fact that "teaching literature too early makes learning to talk impossible."

Think of playing football barefooted and winning' That is what Indians do. When India is mentioned, heathens or bedecked elephants pop into mind, but Sir Arthur Yapp, K B E in the article "Youth in the Indies" in the Living Age for this month, "feels the pulse of educated Indian youth" "Youth in India is of three main kinds British, Anglo-Indian and Indian," of which the latter may roughly be divided in literate and illiterate. There follows some surprising figures of the number of educated and uneducated. After the recent active opposition in India against colleges had passed, they were fuller than ever Sending selected Indian students to one of the great universities has been advised. Opportunity has knocked at their door and they are welcoming it with open arms. They are even interested in the national games. His description of the youth of the city of Burma is colorful Even elephants have trade unions, which shows how far-reaching on civilization is. "Malaya is essentially the land of the youth." The author is interested in Y work there and tells how all religions commingle to benefit from what Y offers. He sees a marvelous future for Indian youth.

DRAMATIC CLUB

At a meeting Thursday evening, held at the Theta House, it was decided that a meeting should be held the first Friday of every month. The members also plan to put on a play named "Why the Chimes Rang," just before the Christmas vacation.

Going home this week-end? Take a book—get one in the 'Y' office.

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
97½ Church St.
1 FLIGHT UP
Excellent service for
Ladies and Gents

STATIONERY,
MAGAZINES,
NEWSPAPERS
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

O! La! La!

No longer may the woman of fashion look up to her masculine companion. Now he must do the upward gazing for Vogue decrees that the smart woman or girl should wear heels at least eight inches in height and at the most half an inch in width while her chapeau adds from six to twelve inches to her natural height

Brimless Hats

And speaking of hats—the materials formerly used for brims are what make the crowns so chimney like for a hat with a brim is absolutely démodé, while one with feathers is seen about as often as the proverbial hen's tooth However, Dame Mode is lenient in one respect, for if perfectly perpendicular lines are not becoming one may form as many creases resembling hills and waterfalls as she pleases, and so that everyone will know her name she often wears her initial directly above her nose

New Extremes in Shoes

As for shoes, the name in its original sense no longer exists The covering for our lady's foot is as dainty as her handbag. The favorite leather is alligator skin dyed in contrasting colors to match the dress of one's choice The toes form true Vermont V's, almost as long as the heels are high, while in order to find the straps we need a microscope For evening the really well dressed lady should wear slippers covered with brilliants and finished with tiny diamond buckles

New Women Enrolled in the University

Helen Redmond of Burlington, Rose Riccio, Bristol, Conn., Joyce Richardson of Springvale, Me., Elizabeth Robelen of Claymont, Dela., Evelyn Robinson of Stowe, Margaret Rooney of St Albans, Annette Rosenberg of Burlington, Ina Rosenthal of Winooski, Ada Ross of Colchester, Laura Rounds of Richford.

Myrtle Sadleir of Norton, Loretta St Francis of Burlington, Cora Sargent of East Thetford, Rena Sawyer of Torrington, Conn., Helen Sears of Hyde Park, Mass., Mary Shakshober of Bennington, Christine Shaw of Burlington, Helen Spaulding of Poultney, Dorothy Spear of Hartland, Elizabeth Stebbins of Shelburne, Ruth Strong of Pedro Miguel, Canal Zone, Ruth Sullivan of St. Albans Bay, Georgiana Swan of Essex

Lois Taylor of Earlville, Ill., Alice Tellier of Little Rock, Ark., Elizabeth Templeton of Irasburg, Doris Terry of South Ryegate Beatrice Thabault of Winooski, Laura Thorpe of Brandon, Marion Tifft of Bennington, Lucy Todd of Plattsburg, N Y., Helen Towne of Northfield, Evelyn Trask of West Royalston, Mass., Ardelia Tricell, Middlebury

Ida Ubertalli of Northampton, Mass. Mary Van Cor of Hinesburg.

Mary Weddell of Burlington, Helen Warmuth of Brooklyn, Julia Waterman of Vergennes, Myrtle Watson of Peakville, N. Y., Elsie Watters of West Pawlet, Ruth Wedell of Lynn, Mass., Elizabeth Westwood of New York, Florence Whitcomb of Springfield, Winifred White of Westminster, Barbara Whitney of Jericho, Catherine Wilcox of Hudson, Mass., Eunice Wilder of Franklin, Marjorie Willard of Richford, Bernice Willey of Montpelier, Pauline Willis, Waterbury, Helen Wilson of Leicester, Eleanor Wood of Wattsfield, Harriett Woodruff of Troy, Dorothy Wright of Burlington, Evelyn Wright of Montpelier, Julia Wright of Williston

NOTICE TO ALL JUNIOR WOMEN

Each Junior Girl is expected to write two grinds, one about a girl whose name is assigned to her, the other about anyone she chooses. You can find your assignment in the sealed envelope which bears your name, in a box in the Y room. See the notice in the Y room for further instructions.

ALL GRINDS ARE DUE BY NOVEMBER FIRST.

Lackawanna
Anthracite
The coal that makes Home
Happy
Try it
Elias Lyman Coal Company
230 College St.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1900

Vermont Rhodes Scholar Tells of Customs at Wadham College, Oxford

George V. Kidder, U. V. M. '22, who as a Rhodes Scholar recently took his degree at Oxford and is now an instructor at the University, has given the following interesting information concerning [illegible] England's universities:

[illegible] Land of Oxford, of the [illegible] universities, of its [illegible] tasks of hard [illegible] and four terms a [illegible] and what they [illegible] a college [illegible] is all [illegible] a [illegible] of [illegible] The student [illegible] to his college [illegible] and supports [illegible]

The Pass Schools

There [illegible] at Oxford [illegible] the [illegible] and the Honor [illegible] Pass school students [illegible] A [illegible] and would compete [illegible] offer [illegible] Preparatory [illegible] of a Pass [illegible] considerations of [illegible] If these [illegible] the Pass student [illegible] in reading for [illegible] A [illegible] successful candidate [illegible] at the University [illegible] through [illegible] appropriate for [illegible] [illegible] fees and the [illegible] To take a degree [illegible] in residence at Oxford [illegible] terms, three [illegible]

The Honor Schools

[illegible] are more advanced [illegible] and have a higher [illegible] Honor moderations [illegible] to eighteen three [illegible] on successive half [illegible] and two thirds [illegible] These completed [illegible] Honor student is [illegible] and one third years [illegible] ration for the honor [illegible] three hour papers [illegible] on successive half days and [illegible] ed by an oral examination which [illegible] from five minutes to an hour and a half. If examinations and course work have been satisfactory the student may receive first, second, third or fourth class honors. Often when he has done passing work, but has not material one of the honors he is given a 'satisfecit examinatoribus' which is equivalent to a Pass school degree.

The Tutor System

In all preparatory work at Oxford, and especially in the Honor schools of the Classics, Latin and Greek are stressed. Honor moderations are followed by two main groups, Ancient History and Ancient and Modern Philosophy. Under the tutorial system the student has a tutor, usually in his own college, for each group. This tutor supervises all work, giving out reading assignments and suggesting or designating lectures. Much of the reading assigned is in the original Greek and Latin texts. Each week the student is expected to write an essay on the material covered. Once a week at an appointed hour he reads this essay to his tutor, and discusses it with him. Usually during vacation the student reads the texts prescribed for all students reading for his Honor [illegible] During the term he is kept busy with wider reading assigned by his tutor as material for his weekly essays.

An Oxford student must study on an average of six hours a day during terms, and four hours a day during vacations. During his spare time at Oxford he finds diversion in a lecture or two, a bit of athletics, a tea party or a bit of socializing.

Only One Degree Given

Only one degree is granted at Oxford for the usual course of study: the Bachelor of Arts degree. A student (in any) of the Honor schools, may, however, take his B. A. in: History, English Literature, Modern Languages, Law, Theology, Forestry or Agriculture. The Pass schools offer many, though not all, of these courses. Advanced degrees as, Bachelor of Letters and Bachelor of Civil Law in one year, and Doctor of Philosophy in three years, are also offered.

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate will meet [illegible] afternoon at 1:30 at 1 [illegible] The regular meeting [illegible] Saturday on account [illegible] class pictures which were being [illegible] at the same hour as when the [illegible] was supposed to meet.

[illegible] on Texas trains in [illegible] conformed fast with the full [illegible] of the railroad commission [illegible] last. The decision comes as [illegible] of a petition from a woman [illegible] that men be prohibited [illegible] their shoes, boots, or [illegible] on trains.

More than a million pounds of tea is required to supply the people of Great Britain with each day's beverage.

Calendar For This Week

Tuesday, October 12

8.00 p. m.—Arthur Dow presents the Glasgow Orpheus Choir in the Gymnasium.
Meeting of Epsilon Sigma Phi (Greek Society).

Wednesday, October 13

1.00 p. m.—Student Senate meeting in Room 1, South, Old Mill.
7 to 10 p. m.—Open House at all Men's Fraternities.

Thursday, October 14

7.00 p. m.—Interfraternity Conference will hold regular meeting at the Delta Psi House.

Friday, October 15

3.00 p. m.—Regular Senior Debate in the Williams Science Lecture Hall.
4.00 p. m.—Regular Meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet in the Office.

Saturday, October 16

10.00 a. m.—Women's Student Union in the Old Mill Chapel.
2.30 p. m.—Freshman Football Team meets Vermont Academy at Centennial Field.
8.30 p. m.—Mortar Board Dance in the Gymnasium.

The only difference we can see between an Arabian sheik and a baby is the space where style dictates turbans shall be worn.—W. Va. Moonshine.

New Men Enrolled in the University

(Continued from page 1)

feldt of Burlington, Alfred Sirois of Andover, Mass., Albert Slate of Indian Orchard, Mass., William J. Slavin of Horseheads, N. Y., George Smead of Rochester, Walter Smith of Huntington, W. Va., Max Soloff of Bridgeport, Conn., Alex. Solomon of Burlington, Ivan Stanhope of Winooski, Arthur Stearns, Jr., of New York, Charles Steele, Jr., of Gloucester, Mass., Waldemar Sternberg of Cleveland, O., Robert Stewart of Hardwick, Ralph Stone of White River Junction, Joseph Sudgen of Worcester, Mass.

Ralph Thomas of Poultney, John Tomasi of Barre, John Toohey of Fall River, Mass., Clarence Tapping of North Creek, N. Y., Raymond Tryon, Jr., of Winchendon, Mass.

Max Valiquette of Rutland, Daniel Vignone of Franklin, Mass.

Arthur Wardwell of Chittenden, William Watson of Bridgeport, Conn., Edwin Wetmore of Rochester, N. Y., Allen Wheeler of Holyoke, Mass., Phillip Wheeler of Jonesville, Alfred Wilder of Barre, Ralph Wilson of Richford, Robert Wilson of Greensboro, Addison Woodward of Fitchburg, Mass., Frederick Woodward of Fitchburg, Mass., Cecil Young of Barre.

HOWARD'S APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP

Phone 2171 — 48 Church St.

Students' Trade Appreciated

HENRY'S DINER

155 BANK STREET

You eat well when you eat at Henry's

Where they serve the best at popular prices

Fall Clothing

We are showing [illegible] of Adler [illegible] Overcoats in the latest styles and shades.

$30.00 to $55.00

Hayes & Carney

107 Bank St. — Near Main

OPEN EVENINGS

"Where Vermont Men Meet"

The Old Bee Hive

GIRL STUDENTS

will like these

SMART FANCY WOOL STOCKINGS AT $1.50

Plaids, Stripes, Checks, Fancies

SILK and WOOL STOCKINGS $1.00

Offered in the leading plaid colors, and exceptional values

Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says

Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	... per week for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS

Where the Styles come from — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

Gifts in Jewelry

DANCE FAVORS and PROGRAMS

F. J. Preston & Son

JEWELERS

17 Upper Church St.

U. V. M.

We will paint or imprint FREE any school, fraternity or your own initials on that slicker or raincoat you buy from us.

WORK DONE BY AN EXPERT

PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE

29 Church Street

Camels made cigarettes the popular smoke

THROUGH sheer quality, through a never before known smoking enjoyment, Camels won the world to cigarettes. Camel was the first and only cigarette that combined all the goodnesses of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos, and Camel became the greatest smoke word of all ages. No tobacco name compares with Camel.

Camel won and holds its overwhelming preference through indomitable tobacco quality. Only the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are rolled into Camels. These fine tobaccos receive the skilful blending that only the world's largest tobacco organization could give. Nothing is too good or too expensive that will make Camels, regardless of price, the utmost in cigarettes.

If you have never yet tried Camels, a new sensation in smoking pleasure awaits you. The sensation of the choicest, the most perfectly blended tobaccos that money can buy. Have a Camel!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

© 1926

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 BURLINGTON, VT., OCTOBER 15, 1926 NUMBER 7

IZES OFFERED FOR BEST DRAWINGS TO BE USED IN YEAR BOOK

iel to Conduct Three Week's Contest Open to Students and Faculty Members

ar contest will be conducted by Ariel board in the next three ks is to be open to the whole student and faculty. The prizes will con- of a first prize of five dollars, a nd prize of three dollars, and three l prizes of one dollar each. he prizes will be announced in the issue of the CYNIC.

he material acceptable will be divi- pages cartoons, cover designs, and ters. The subjects for division s include administration, faculty, ses (one for each), teacher train- medics, fraternities, sororities, ches football, baseball, basketball, k minor sports, women's athlet- military, music, drama, press, and rary societies.

Cartoons should be on subjects con- ted with the college. The styles of over designs and the page borders be left to the individual.

The rules of the contest are as fol-

1. All work must be original and ique
2. Contributions must be placed in Ariel box in the north corridor of Old Mill or mailed to Delbert J. rrill at 62 S. Union St., or Gloria ung at the Campus House, before day, November 7.
3. Any number of drawings will be epted from each contestant.
4. Drawings should be 10" x 8" in

OCIAL CALENDAR STILL UNDER CONSIDERATION

The social calendar is still under nsideration. Next Monday certain dents will meet with the council for rther consideration.

As it now stands, there will be no re dances on Friday night after e Akraia dance.

RANCES BURDITT AND HEALEY RANDALL MARRY

Miss Frances Smith Burditt, a grad- e of last year's class at the Univer- of Vermont and a daughter of and Mrs. D. D. Burditt of Pitts- d, Vt., and Healey Akley Randall, '27, of Waterbury, Vt., were mar- d on Saturday, October ninth, at the gregational Church in Pittsford, Reverend C. C. Claris officiating. y people from Burlington and the versity of Vermont attended the ding. The church was very pretti- decorated with hydrangens and ever- ns, and a short organ recital was dered before the ceremony.

he maid of honor was Miss Belle dall and the bridesmaids were s Grace Killam of Burlington, Florence Lewis of Poultney, Miss Lois Martin of Essex tion, and Mrs. Hugh Sinclair of ington. Clare Cayward, M. '29 of ca Castle, N. Y. was best man, and ham Humphrey of Proctor, L. H. n of Essex Junction, and How- Prentiss of Burlington were rs.

LITARY DEPARTMENT ISSUES NEW UNIFORMS

he new uniforms of the Senior officers of the battalion arrived week and most of them were to fit very well. The freshmen receive their suits next week, will complete the outfitting of ion for this year.

he seniors have received their boots are now going through the agonies ing and the refitting at the boot- s and the uncertainty as to er not they look well in them rations: spurs, collar orna- eagles, shirts, and ties, will ued before long. After a few mornings they will be ready on the floor at the Military without looking uncomfortable nsciously.

That a man should have an income at least $2,200 before he marries the opinion of women students in Department of sociology at Denver versity

LIBRARY PRESENTED WITH AUTOGRAPHS OF DICKENS AND OTHERS

Some photographs and autographed letters which were formerly the property of Reverend John Henry Hopkins and his sister, Mrs. Zira Fay Pierce, have been recently given to the Billings Library. The letters were written to an uncle of Joseph Hopkins by such famous men as Charles Dickens, the author, Franz Lizt, a great German musician, and Ector Birlios. There are photographs and autographed letters of each person. These are in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library. The letter written by Dickens is the only one in English.

Reverend John Hopkins, a graduate of the University of Vermont, and his sister, are grandchildren of Bishop Hopkins, formerly well known in this state as a prelate of the Episcopal church.

MIDDLEBURY TENNIS MEN MEET GREEN AND GOLD TEAM HERE SATURDAY

Six Ranking Players Hold Round Robin as Rain Hinders Tournament—Midd Frosh Net Men Good

Rain becomes more plentiful and weather in general more disagreeable as the date for the tennis match with Middlebury draws nearer.

Saturday on the home courts the Green and Gold net men meet the Middlebury quartet. The coach of the Blue and White team claims that there is much court talent in the freshman class of the downstate college and tomorrow Captain Nye and his cohorts intend to take the measure of anything the visitors may have to offer.

Just what the composition of the Vermont team will be is as yet undecided but the six ranking players of last year's squad are battling fiercely in a round robin to determine their new order. So far Baldwin has beaten Nye two sets and Shedd and Taylor were interrupted by rain in the middle of the first set. If the weather permits, the above and also Goddard and Mower will each play every other man of the six before Saturday. This arrangement insures that the strongest possible combination will oppose Middlebury on the courts tomorrow.

Captain Nye appears to be off form and Baldwin is erratic. Goddard has improved considerably and may do well while Taylor and Shedd are playing mediocre tennis. Mower was eliminated in the first round of the tournament and will have to stage a big comeback to make one of the first four places.

MR. FRANK O. FORBUSH, A GRADUATE OF 1886, DIES IN DETROIT, MICH.

Mr. Frank D. Forbush, a graduate of the University of Vermont in the class of 1886, and for the past quarter of a century a resident of Detroit, Mich., died in Grace Hospital in that city on October fifth after an illness of more than a year.

Mr. Forbush was born in Springfield, Vt., on March 21, 1863. He went to St. Johnsbury Academy, Williams College, transferring to the University of Vermont during his freshman year where he graduated. While at the University he was prominent in social circles, and was manager of baseball during his senior year.

After his graduation he went to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he was engaged in the furniture business. Eleven years ago, after a varied business career he founded the Detroit Land Contract Company, of which he became the president and manager.

Mr. Forbush served on the Alumni Council six years ago and returned for the 24th reunion of the class of '86 as well as several other reunions.

DR. FRANK E. QUINN WEDS

Dr. Frank E. Quinn of Castleton, Vermont, and Miss Emily Lochowicz, daughter of Mrs. Antoinette Lochowicz of Brooklyn, N. Y. were married at the Church of Saint Savior on Saturday, the ninth of October. Dr. Quinn received his training in medicine at the University of Vermont, and for the last few years has been practicing in Rutland County. The couple plan to reside in Castleton.

MISS RUBY PHILLIPS A GUEST OF Y. W. C. A.

A Graduate from Wellesley in '22 and for Three Years Teacher and Instructor to Girls of India

Miss Ruby Phillips of Wellesley, Massachusetts and Ahmednager India is to be the guest of the Y. W. C. A. this coming week-end. Miss Phillips was graduated from Wellesley College in 1922 and has just returned from a three year term as teacher and athletic coach in a school for Indian girls. Incidentally, she studied the Marathi language and successfully passed her first government examinations.

The position which she now holds is in itself a witness of her speaking ability, for she is doing the speaking part of the work of the tied-down Home Secretary of one of the larger Foreign Missionary Boards. She is peculiarly adapted to talking to college groups because she herself has been out so short a time and in that short interval has been working with girls who, in America, would be college age.

MEDICS FEEL THEY ARE PAYING UNJUST TAXES

Following the example set by many of the Medical schools of other universities, the Medical students of the University of Vermont have started a movement to sever some of their relation to the Academic side.

The U. V. M. Medics have sent a petition to the University Council requesting that the Council relieve them from what they term as "unjust and exorbitantly high taxation."

The petition requests that the Student Activity Fee and the Athletic Fee be refunded, making optional the purchase of season athletic tickets and subscribing to the CYNIC.

The Medics' main contention is that, as in other universities, the Medical College is in the nature of a post-graduate school and that the expense of a medical education is sufficiently high without the addition of extra fees.

NOTABLE SPEAKERS TO COME TO UNIVERSITY

Arrangements have been made this year for a series of lectures by notable men from other universities. These are for the benefit of the student body, for its enjoyment and at the same time for its culture, and it is hoped that each individual will respond. The lectures will be given in the gymnasium at four o'clock in the afternoon with the exception of December thirteenth when they will be given in the evening.

October twenty-ninth, the Dean of Chester, and November fifth, Mayor George Putnam, the veteran publisher and writer, will speak. December third, Professor S. F. Emerson, formerly in connection with this University, will address us, and on the thirteenth, Roy C. Andrews will be here with moving pictures of his Mongolian expeditions. Professor James T. Shotwell of the Department of History, Columbia University, will speak January fourteenth.

Other lecturers and the dates on which they will be here, will be announced at a later date.

FROSH BREAK BUT ONE PADDLE AT SOPH PARTY

The Society of Gold Key held a meeting at the A. T. O. house Tuesday evening, October 12. About a dozen frosh were ordered to report, and their cases were the main business transacted during the meeting.

Gold Key took great care that the paddles for this meeting were so constructed that they would not break. Only one paddle was broken during the evening. Several of the frosh have noticed that they are not yet out from under surveillance.

These College Comics

Of late years, several magazines have sprung up, containing for their reading matter jokes and humorous sayings which they borrowed from college magazines. Not only have such magazines devoted their entire selves to the printing of this material, but numberless other substantial magazines and newspapers have had their column of so-called college wit. The country has been flooded with this form of humor, and it is doubtless true that the majority of such expressions as "So's your old man," "Banana Oil," etc. have originated in some collegian's fertile brain. This robbing and commercializing of college wit has done two regrettable things: It has detracted from the college comic and it has given the average citizen of this country a wrong impression of what really goes on behind college walls. Here is what the Massachusetts Collegian says about it.

"The day of the college comic is done."

FRATERNITY STANDINGS FOR SECOND SEMESTER SHOW MARKED CHANGE

The scholastic standings of the different men and women's fraternities for the second semester of the year 1925-26 have been recently released and are published in order of rank below: Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Alpha Theta, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Delta Kappa, Delta Phi, Mu Delta, Alpha Xi Delta, Sigma Nu, Sigma Gamma Delta, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Psi, Sigma Alpha Chi, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Delta Theta, Lambda Iota, and Zeta Chi.

A thing which is readily noticeable when one reads the list is the number of women's fraternities ranking lower than men's organizations. Formerly the women have all occupied positions at the top with no competition from the men.

Alpha Chi Omega again wins the Mabel Nelson Jacobs cup which they held last semester. This cup is awarded to the fraternity standing at the head of the list.

GLASGOW ORPHEUS CHOIR RECEIVES MANY ENCORES

Burlington was included in the first American tour of the Glasgow Orpheus Choir on Tuesday night. Hugh S. Roberton is the director and also creator of the choir composed of sixty mixed voices.

This was a chance to hear the songs of the Scotch home and understand the life of the Scotch a little better. The music rendered ranged from folk song arrangements to the most advance type of choral song. The Scottish psalm tunes and folk songs were given not only because they were Scottish but also excellent pieces.

All of the singing of the choir was unaccompanied while the soloists from the choir itself were accompanied by another member. Boyd Stevens and George Muir were good. One could see why Miss Boyd Stevens is famous as a singer in Scotland and England. The choral numbers were given in such a manner that the whole audience appreciated them. The applause was hearty at all times and even though the program had a large number of selections six encores were given.

Many of the selections were made up of Burns' poetry. Also the arrangement of several of the selections was by Hugh Roberton, the conductor.

CAMPUS HEALTH COUNCIL ORGANIZED AMONG WOMEN TO COMBAT ILLNESSES

W. A. A. has organized a new department this year by the creation of a campus Health Council. The members of this council include one girl from each dormitory, a representative from the town girls, and a chairman. It is the purpose of this council to awaken public interest in the betterment of individual health. A health meeting is planned to take place in the future and there are to be weekly articles in the CYNIC emphasizing the importance of good health and the rules which bring it about.

The first work of the council has been a survey of the illnesses for the past college year. A statistical account follows:

Colds	38%
Indigestion	18%
Headaches	10%
Grippe	8%
Miscellaneous	26%

It may be seen by the above that the chief cause of illness is the common cold. If we should include grippe under this account the percentage of illnesses from this cause would be almost 50%. Indigestion and headaches also take a much too large toll. Miscellaneous includes chiefly cases of overtiredness, eye, ear, and teeth troubles, and contagious diseases. In consideration of this survey, the council will endeavor to post current literature concerning the prevention and cure of the most numerous illnesses and endeavor to lower these statistics during the coming year. Watch for future notices by the Health Council both in the Y room and in the CYNIC.

PROVIDENCE IS NEXT FOOTBALL OPPONENT OF VT. CATAMOUNTS

Vermont Victor at Last Meeting But Neither Team Has the Strength Then Possessed —Chances Even

Tomorrow the Green and Gold eleven lines up against one of the heaviest teams it has met this season when the Vermonters play the strong Providence eleven. The last time these two teams met Vermont came out of the fray with a 13 to 0 victory. But that was in the days of Beck and Gooch, and although Vermont has no such combination this year neither has Providence got such a strong team as she had that year and so it looks as if the chances of the Green and Gold were about even.

The past week has been spent in ironing out the mistakes of last Saturday's game. The tackling of the team which was miserable in Saturday's game has undergone a great improvement and the boys in Providence will probably stop when they are hit. Vermont's forward passing game which did not show up so good in the Clarkson has also been greatly improved and will probably be the line of attack used against the heavier Providence eleven.

Vermont will enter the game with full strength as nobody was seriously hurt in last week's game. Smith, whose all around work was the sensation of the Clarkson game will be in at fullback and can be depended on to gain ground both by his line bucking and punting. Conway at quarter can also be depended on to gain ground on his fast end runs and also via the forward pass route. "Johnny" Candon, will be playing half and anybody who thinks he is slow should have seen him run back one of the kick offs last Saturday and we won't be surprised if he gave the Providence backs something to think about. Either Scutaker or Thorn will fill in the other half back position. Kropper, Vermont's giant guard whose work has been very noticeable this season will be on the line with Captain Denning playing the other guard. Palmer and Winchenbach will hold down the tackle positions, with Morse and Leary filling in the wings.

NEXT WEEK MAY SEE FINISH OF TOURNEY

Recent matches in the Annual Fall Tennis Tournament are as follows: First round—Chaffee '28 beat Frable '30, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3. Second round: Carpenter won from Taylor, 6-2, 6-1; Goddard beat Pouch 1-6, 6-3, 6-1. Pingree beat Griffith, 6-2, 6-3. Nye beat Chaffee 6-4, 6-2. Shedd won from Aronson, 6-0, 6-1. Graves beat Gray, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2. Baldwin beat Towne, 6-2, 6-3.

Third round matches are as follows: Carpenter vs. Goddard, Pingree vs. Macomber, Nye vs. Shedd, and Baldwin vs. Graves.

MIME—THE BAD BOY— PRESENTED BY ETA SIGMA PHI

Eta Sigma Phi held their regular meeting Tuesday evening. A mime entitled "The Bad Boy" was presented under the management of Miss Margaret Durick with Misses Baker, Durick and Dwyer and Messers. L. I. Turner and H. D. Crandall taking parts.

The mime was translated from the Greek by Professor Bassett and is the first of a series which members of the club will present.

FIRST AKRAIA DANCE

The Akraia Chapter of Mortar Board, the senior women's honorary society, will hold its annual dance Friday evening. Doctor and Mrs. Morrill will act as host and hostess, and arrangements have been made to secure the Algonquin Orchestra. The dance will begin at seven forty five and last till eleven. Refreshments will be served.

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the INTERCOLLEGIATE ASSOCIATION

Published every Tuesday during the college year ... $3.00 a year delivered ... United States. Single copy ...

Subscriptions should be ... Business Manager. All communications ... correspondence to ... Winchester Ave. ... at special rate ... 1921 Act of October ... October 19, 1920.

Editors

... Editor-in-Chief
... News Editor
... News Editor
... Women's Editor
... Sporting Editor
... Intercollegiate Editor
... Humor Editor
... Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

... Robert M. Tracy '29
... Frank S. Rhodd '29
... Dudley '27
... Margaret Durick '29
... Virginia Morgie '28

Business Staff

... Business Mgr.
... Advertising Mgr.
... Assistant Manager
... Assistant Manager
... Assistant Manager

... graduates are heartily ... All communications ... the writer, whose name ... as earnest. They should ... Editor-in-Chief. Any ... be handed in or tele... 9 p m Sunday and ...

... of this issue:

... News Editor
... Assistant Manager

... Vol. 6 ... ber 15, 1926 No. 7

... CRITICS

In a ... of the New Student ... an editorial, much of ... taken from Thoreau. This ... a while it may be somewhat ... in its statements gives us plenty ... for thought. We cite the ... quotation

"Often we have wondered aloud what might be the true inside feelings of the ... speakers as they deliver themselves upon the riches of wisdom and the delight of service, knowing all the while that college as she exists is meant equally to serve as a place of good light entertainment. With every serious hunter after ideas college serves ten people to whom any idea is a high-brow amusement, but who love a good show."

Further on Thoreau is quoted as if to corroborate the statements of the editor. "The noted thinker and great exponent of simple living says: 'Those things for which the most money is demanded are never the things which the student most wants.' He goes on to say that while tuition is the main item on the term bill, 'for the far more valuable education which he gets by associating with the most cultivated of his contemporaries no charge is made.' He would have the student set out and learn how to live by facts at first hand instead of playing or studying life and letting the community 'pay' him at what he calls 'this expensive game.' If a young man is really desirous of studying, says Thoreau he learns only political economy, while the economy of living is not taught nor practised in our colleges. So while he studies Smith, Ricardo and Say he runs his father into debt ... which he never recovers.

... these questions it would seem that ... education was just an excuse ... enables a college man to enjoy other benefits for which he does not pay, while his fond parents foot the bills which make the excuse possible. Is the ... we pay for tuition just a sort of tax assessed on the other ... which we sometimes allow to interfere with 'class work'? How many would say that they came to college so that they could join a select fraternity, take part in athletics and other activities and enjoy the events on the social calendar? Yet do we not value them often to the exclusion of other things? These questions are not for us to answer but for each individual.

If some of the present-day editors and writers who have so much to say about the lack of seriousness in the average student should visit the class sessions of upperclassmen in any college, we believe there is a possibility that they would have more hope for him. There they will find that some of the lightmindedness which they observe on the street and at the movie shows disappears in something which shows a desire on the student's part to have and express ideas which he may call his own. Of course a large number of those who enter college never reach the ranks of the upperclassmen, but before they drop out there are enough of them around to convince the critics that college is just an extended furlough from the difficulties of living and this is all the graduate has for his time and trouble.

The Week's Wetness

L. P. B.

Rush 'Em Boys

What's the rush? Why the whispered and secret conclaves all over the campus? Why is that husky senior walking with those two freshmen? He is rushing them. Why does he rush them? Because they are athletes and besides he has heard that the "Sky Siquets" are after them. Have you had your rush today? Four out of five have it. May the best man win.

Every body hurries
Every body scurries
The house must be clean
The boys must be clean
No dust may be seen
Every one's polite
It's open-house night

Every one behaves
Every body shaves
No dirty clothes around
No papers thrown around
No débris must be found
The things must look right
On open-house night

Every body meets 'em
Every body greets 'em
To laugh at feeble jokes
To tell some feeble jokes
To pass around the smokes
It's an old college rite
This is open-house night
Damn open-house night!

If the campus sheik should waver
He'd never win a Co-ed's favor
He must be resolute, devoid of any fear
If the Co-ed, though should waver
No act of fate can save her
For in wavering she makes herself more dear.

Hymn To My Type-writer

Thou pesky child of Satin.
Thou imp evolved in hell.
Why, in the name of creation,
Won't you spell as you ought to spell?

I never won any prizes
Still I manage to get along
Till the minute I touch your grinning keys,
Then something goes radically wrong.

You mix the b's and p's up,
You don't know j from i.
And the things that you do to o and q
Would make the angels cry.

I take the most beautiful care of
Your innards, from a to z,
But just when you know that I'm busy
You lie down and die on me.

In the midst of a soul-stirring sonnet
You quit with a horrible crash! You,
Doggonit'
Oh, wouldn't I like to smash you'

With the Elite

"Lock up your bath tub, Earl Carroll's in town" It was the battle cry last week and some of the boys haven't gotten over it yet. The Phi Delts were there in the boxes, the Kappa Sigs chartered the whole first row, the Sigs were in the balcony, and the Owls crashed the gate. Rumor has it that certain of our faculty enjoyed a moment's respite from the more serious things in life and applauded with the rest. How do I know? I saw them.

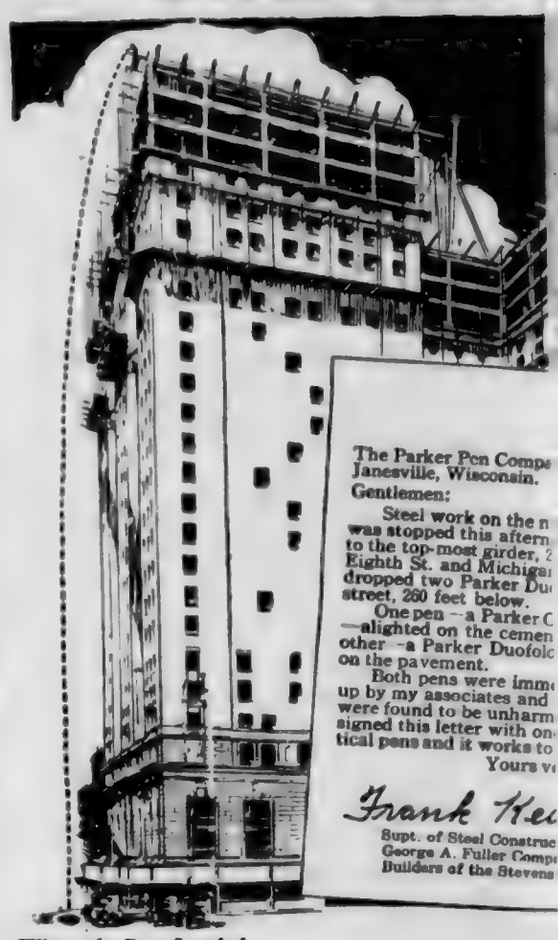
Note: Owing to an error last week's wetness was omitted.

Soldiers must be very dishonest, for there is hardly a night that a sentry is not relieved of his watch.—Punch Bowl.

DO YOU WANT
$5.00?

SEE THE ARIEL NOTICE ON PAGE 1

77TH ANNIVERSARY
FESTIVAL
at TURK'S



Beginning Thursday, October 14, 1926
WITH EVERY SUIT OR
OVERCOAT

Purchased, we present you with your pick of any HAT in our store up to $5.00 or any articles in FURNISHINGS up to the amount of $5.00.

USE TURK'S BUDGET PLAN
1-5 down and balance in ten weekly payments. COAT and SLIP ON SWEATERS at Birthday Prices.

Where the Students Trade — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York
Turk's
156-158 COLLEGE STREET
Phone 604

Hurled 25 Stories to Cement—Picked Up Unbroken

The Parker Pen Compa... Janesville, Wisconsin.
Gentlemen:
Steel work on the n... was stopped this aftern... to the top-most girder, ... Eighth St. and Michiga... dropped two Parker Du... street, 200 feet below.
One pen—a Parker D... —alighted on the cemen... other—a Parker Duofold... on the pavement.
Both pens were imm... up by my associates and ... were found to be unharm... signed this letter with on... tical pens and it works to...
Yours v...
Frank Ke...
Supt. of Steel Constru... George A. Fuller Comp... Builders of the Stevens...

Where the Pens Landed

Traffic stopped to watch this test of the Parker Duofold Non-Breakable Barrel

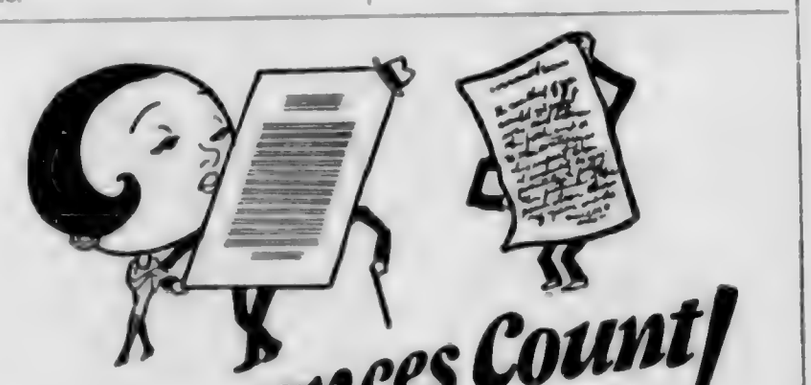
Point Guaranteed 25 years for mechanical perfection and wear

TRAFFIC stopped as big Frank Ketcheson, Supt. of Steel Construction for the George A. Fuller Co., hurled two Parker Duofold Pens from his perilous foothold on a slender steel girder atop of the new Stevens Hotel, Chicago.

One pen struck on asphalt, the other on cement—away they bounded into the air, then landed in the street—unbroken!

We wanted to give the public proof more convincing than any guarantee. So we have shown by a series of heroic tests that the new Parker Duofold Pen with Permanite barrel does not break. Be sure no fall on corridor or classroom floor can harm it.

Get this sturdy black-tipped lacquer-red beauty at any good pen counter.



["Permanite"—the new Non-Breakable Material of which all Parker Pens and Pencils are now made—is lustrous, light-weight, and does not break, fade or shrink]

Parker Duofold Pencils to match the Pens: Lady Duofold, $3; Over-size Jr., $3.50; "Big Brother" Over-size, $4

THE PARKER PEN COMPANY, JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN
OFFICES AND SUBSIDIARIES: NEW YORK, CHICAGO, ATLANTA, DALLAS, SAN FRANCISCO • TORONTO, CANADA • LONDON, ENGLAND

Parker Duofold $7
Lucky Curve Feed and 25-Year Point
Duofold Jr. $5 Lady Duofold $5

PARKER DUOFOLD Pens and Pencils carried in Burlington by
F. J. PRESTON & Son
Jewelers
17 Upper Church Street
All makes of pens repaired

Appearances Count!
Well-dressed reports are like well-dressed people

Remington Portable
The Recognized Leader in Sales and Popularity

DON'T make any mistake about the part appearance plays in your college work. Neatly typewritten reports, lecture transcriptions and theses create a favorable impression on the "powers that be."

Get a Remington Portable and dress up your work. Your professors will appreciate the clean-cut, legible writing and the chances are this appreciation will be reflected in the marks you get.

Remington Portable is the portable. It is the smallest, lightest, and most compact machine with four-row standard keyboard. Handiest, fastest, most dependable, and simplest to operate. Weighs 8½ pounds net. Can be bought for as little as $10 down and $5 monthly.

W. H. SHERMAN, 104 Church St., Burlington, Vt.

REMINGTON TYPEWRITER CO., Howard National Bank Bldg., Burlington, Vt.
186 College St.

Co-ed's Corner

Gross Anatomy

(Co-ed's Protest)

...ever stood at the top of ...steps and looked down? ...f he has. Now, if you ... have you ever walked ...he steps with your eyes ...ust you stumble? Ask ...nows. Every discrim- ...is focused on one lone, ... who exercises every bit ... to skirt the assembled ... come up in the midst ... has had the "once-over," ...tely descends upon the ...ckless creature who as- ...venerable portals of the ... of Medicine.

... Medic desires to ac- ...quaint himself with "external" anato- ...my before the gong sends him within ... crammed full of "internal" anato- ...my.

They expect to stand as King Solo- ...mons the rest of their days—I sup- ...pose—while the girls up and down ... the advance, head lowered, before ... scrutinizing gaze above— ... made the butt of a discus- ... as they nervously slip ... those opaque doors with a ... of relief.

Oh! La! La!

Evening Gowns Grow Briefer While Skirts Grow Longer

ACCESSORIES FOR EVENING WEAR

The evening gown is becoming very different from the day-time dress, perhaps this is due to the Charleston which is fast becoming a ball room art. Now to dance these intricate designs one needs freedom of movement so our lady of fashion wears her evening gowns scarcely below her knees though often a loose fringe or uneven chiffon panels will hang below to give a weird and floating effect. These gowns are either of velvet or of chiffon and are, contrary to the fads of the last few years, heavily beaded. The neck line which has since the war been rather high and often oval in shape is now extremely low and runs into two long V's—the one in front is almost twelve inches deep while that in back extends almost to the waist line. So, Lady Mode, to have a truly stylish dress do not by any means purchase more than a yard of material! With the gowns which I have described the well groomed woman must be particularly fastidious about her jewelery—by all means wear pearls, five or six strings of them and ear rings set with diamonds and reaching to the shoulders. And rings—Oh Would Be Fashionable Girl, if your desire is to be absolutely à la mode wear one on every finger and two on some digits of your right hand. And fully one half of the charming baby bracelets should contain sparkling diamonds and the others should be set with stones matching your gown in color.

But beware of one thing—do not have your other skirts too short for as I will explain in lesson number three the day-time dress is fast growing in length and soon will reach half way to the ankle.

Sorority Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

Margaret Hazen '26 who is teaching in Newport Center, was in town over the week-end.

Delta Delta Delta

Wednesday night the actives gave a supper and entertained the alumnæ.

Pi Beta Phi

Lois Martin and Miriam Daly, both of the class of '26, were in town over the week-end.

The fraternity went to Pittsford Saturday to attend the wedding of Frances Burditt '26 and Healey Randall.

Alpha Chi Omega

Priscilla Salls '23, was married Saturday, at her home in Essex Junction, to Max Davison '24.

Alpha Iota won the cup given to the best all-round chapter in the National Fraternity.

Lois Palmer, Alma Gutterson and Agnes Towne were in Burlington over the week-end.

Clara Salls gave a reunion dance at her home in Essex Junction, Monday the 11th.

Sigma Gamma

Miss Eleanor Davison gave a bridge party at her home Monday evening. Refreshments were served.

A man was arrested for hitting his wife with an umbrella. He shouldn't have used an umbrella.—Columbia Jester.

Important Dates on Y. W. C. A. Calendar

October 16—Tea at Kappa Alpha Theta House from 2:30 to 5 for all college women. Every one is invited to come to meet Miss Ruby Phillips who has just returned from a three year term as teacher in a school for Indian girls at Ahmednager, India.

October 17—Vespers at four o'clock at Redstone with Miss Phillips as leader.

October 18 to 30—Membership Drive.

October 24—Sing at Rand House. All those who attended the sing at Redstone the first Sunday of the college year will want to come to this one and bring their friends.

October 31—Recognition Service for all members and friends of Y. W. C. A. will be held at Redstone.

Bluestockings

There will be a very important Blue stockings meeting, Saturday evening, October 16th at seven-thirty at Redstone. All members are urged to be present and to bring papers.

Ruth: Do you still run around with that little blonde?

Ted: She's married now.

Ruth: Answer my question.—Lehigh Burr.

Tel. 887-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

Turk Says
Incontestably Correct

Distinction

WHO among us does not secretly aim to be distinguished—to be different from others?

John Shannon's English Coats

add just that touch of distinction which all well-dressed men seek. They are "Incontestably Correct".

Illustrated Booklet, showing three Fall Models, sent on request

Cavendish Raglan

Turk's
MAGNUS IMPORTS, Ltd.
Sole Selling Agents
208 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Wholesale Only

John Shannon's English Clothes

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

Be the First to Display Your College Mascot

FOBS PINS
CHARMS BANNERS
PILLOWS
STATIONERY

WITH THE CATAMOUNT SEAL SPECIAL FEATURES

at the

University and Medical Book Stores

FALL FAVORITES
at the
COFFEE CORNER
SWEET CIDER
AND APPLES

Take a tip from the triple-threat man

HE keeps them guessing, does the back, because when he gets the ball he can pass, kick or run—a triple threat.

Men preparing for industry or commerce can put themselves in an equally strategic position. It all gets back to the simple idea of being broad and versatile.

An engineer should be well up on his specialty, of course, but he should also keep an open mind for questions of finance, law and public relations if he aspires to a high place in the councils of his organization.

Such "all-aroundness" typifies in particular men who have brought the electrical communication industry to what it is today, and who will carry it to still greater development in the years to come.

Published for the Communication Industry by

Western Electric Company
Makers of the Nation's Telephones

Number 62 of a Series

Track Dope

E. R. L.

[illegible] is perhaps the most [illegible] sport the way it is [illegible] in the United States at the present time. The early season of [illegible] are [illegible] three or four weeks after the athlete has started training but the distance is usually [illegible] or six miles. It is also the best exception athlete who can [illegible] a team without injury to the athlete had two which to train, it is [illegible] the average college [illegible] the regulation cross-country [illegible] without endangering the health.

In most [illegible] facts, the poll[illegible] of the future will not be [illegible] over a course longer [illegible] miles. In the first place [illegible] unusual runner can run [illegible] that distance in a race [illegible] jogging for miles is [illegible] injurious, for the runner will [illegible] up if he is pained. In this [illegible] place in this latitude [illegible] more than a month or six weeks to [illegible] to train and it is [illegible] over a short distance [illegible] that amount of training.

For the boy who aspires to be a middle or long distance runner anyway [illegible] quarter mile to the two mile Cross-country practice is the greatest [illegible] developer. Especially if the practice is over a course of a trifle less than three miles, as it is here at Vermont. Even practice over a five mile course is a great developmental [illegible] running five miles to which [illegible] is opposed. It is [illegible] for [illegible] in a meet. Cross-country [illegible] wind muscle stride [illegible] and endurance. Many of our best middle distance men have been developed by cross-country practice.

Therefore, I say to the Freshman who has middle or long distance ambitions come out for cross-country, especially as we are going to have a Freshman cross-country team.

EXTENSION SERVICE NEWS

Another pest arrived! "The European Red Mite," says Professor M. B. Cummings "seems to be migrating in a northerly direction from Southern New England and it must be wiped out."

Boys' and Girls' Clubs of the state, under the direction of E. L. Ingalls, '26 of the University of Vermont and State College of Agriculture, sent representatives to the Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, Massachusetts this year. Vermont made an excellent showing in the various contests which were held. The training school, which was held before the fair, was attended by W. E. Lapierre, of Greensboro, a senior at the University of Vermont and Dorothy Crandall, of Essex Junction a junior at the University. These two were the sole representatives of Vermont at the school and they stayed through to assist the Vermont delegations in the work of the fair.

Dr. Ernest Van Alstine, Assistant Professor of Agronomy at the University addressed a meeting of the Windsor County Crop Bureau last Wednesday evening, October 13th, which was held at Woodstock, Vermont.

Athletic Supplies

Suits and Supplies for Gymnasium

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

LOCAL CHAPTER OF A. S. M. E. HOLDS REGULAR MEETNG

A regular meeting of the local chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was held last Saturday evening at the Sigma Alpha Chi House. At this meeting D. F. Scribner, '28 spoke on the "Development of All Electric Locomotives." M. J. Robertson, '27 talked on the "System of Indexing Drawings in the Draft Room." A committee has been appointed to arrange for speeches by members at each meeting. This organization which was only recently added to the list of activities is proving of value to those who belong, through its attacking of practical problems at its meetings.

VERMONT REPRESENTED AT GEOLOGISTS' MEETING

At the New England Geological Field Day, which was held last Friday and Saturday at New Haven, Connecticut, representatives totaling 60, from the University of Vermont, University of Maine, Tufts, Harvard, Yale, Brown, and Holyoke, were present. One and one-half days were spent within a radius of 30 miles from New Haven, studying geological phenomena. Also considerable time was given to studying the new Peabody Museum at Yale, one of the finest in the country, which was dedicated in December, 1925. Professor E. C. Jacobs was the University's delegate.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church St.
Six First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON R. DICKSON, Prop.

Daily Dribble

Many a man has the eyesight of a hawk, but the vision of a clam.

The reward of a thing well done is to have done it.

The man who both wins the world's respect and keeps his own has learned how to walk over people without walking on them.

Throw away your wishbone, straighten up, your backbone, stick out your jawbone and go to it!

Russel W. Parish
WATCH and JEWELRY REPAIRING
We Solicit the Students' Trade
Jeweler & Optician
Burlington, Vermont

U. V. M.

We will paint or imprint FREE any school, fraternity or your own initials on that slicker or raincoat you buy from us.

WORK DONE BY AN EXPERT

PEOPLE'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
29 Church Street

HOW MUCH ARE YOU WORTH?
You can Capitalize part of your earning power NOW.
Let me show you—
"BERNIE" '25

Here's what I like in a cigarette-plenty of punch without any punishment!

"I don't like
namby-pamby cigarettes.
Nor a T. N. T. smoke.

"I like 'em strong and able,
but not rough . . . if you get what I mean.

"A two-fisted cigarette with a college education.

"That's what I found in O. G's.

"As gentle to the throat
as a miser to his ducats.

"But, Oh, boy! what a wallop of satisfaction it packs behind its gentle ways!"

20 for 15¢

The Product of
P. LORILLARD CO
Est. 1760

OLD GOLD
It's the Smoothest Cigarette

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., OCTOBER 10, 1926 — NUMBER 8

SPECIFIED HOTELS TO GIVE INTERCOLLEGIATE ALUMNI UNIQUE SERVICE

Vermont One of 80 Colleges Represented in Movement to Give Service to Graduates in Cities

The latest issue of the Vermont Alumni Weekly contains an article on the new Intercollegiate Alumni Hotel Movement. It should be of great interest to all college students to know that a movement is on foot to start Intercollegiate Alumni Hotels. The University of Vermont is one of the eighty universities throughout the country cooperating in a movement to establish intercollegiate alumni hotels in some forty cities throughout the United States. John O. Baxendale, Alumni Secretary of the University of Vermont, has spent a great deal of time trying to put this proposition through.

Result of Year's Effort

The Intercollegiate Alumni Hotel Movement is the result of a year's effort on the part of the committee, the members of which have long been identified with alumni work. The steps necessary to insure the success of this movement are being advanced by the designated hotels, all of which have been selected after a careful study of their fitness for participation. The organization, the activities of which are controlled by a special group of the members of the Alumni Magazines Associated, has incorporated a non-profit corporation known as the Intercollegiate Alumni Extension Service, Inc., which will direct the policies of the Intercollegiate Alumni Hotel Movement and serve as a coordinating unit between the hotel organizations and the designated hotels.

Hotels Will Serve Functions of Alumni Club

What will be the value of such hotels? They will be centers of activity for college alumni, giving special service in the way of rosters of the colleges, information about alumni in the city, and furnishing rooms where alumni can assemble and have most of the privileges which are usually associated with the alumni club. From the standpoint of the hotels, this will be a highly satisfactory proposition because the hotels can appeal to the college men, a high grade of patrons; college men throughout the country will have a much better opportunity to meet one another. Some features of the plan are outlined below.

Interested alumni can secure from a room clerk desk of each Intercollegiate Alumni Hotel an information leaflet which describes in detail the Intercollegiate Alumni Hotel Movement.

At each Intercollegiate Alumni Hotel there will be maintained a card index of names of all the resident alumni of all participating institutions. This will be of especial benefit to traveling alumni in locating classmates and friends.

The current issues of the alumni publications of all the participating institutions will be on file at each Intercollegiate Alumni Hotel.

Reservation cards will be available at the clerk's desk in each designated hotel and at the alumni office in each college or university. These reservation cards will serve as a great convenience to travelers in securing satisfactory accommodations.

The managers of all Intercollegiate Alumni Hotels are prepared to cooperate with individual alumni to the fullest extent and are also prepared to assist in the creation of new local alumni associations and in the development and extension of the activities of those already formed.

The following have been designated as Intercollegiate Alumni Hotels: Roosevelt, Waldorf-Astoria and University Club, in New York City; Copley Plaza and University Center in Boston; Racquet Club, Windemere and University Club in Chicago; Benjamin Franklin in Philadelphia; the Willard, in Washington; the Radisson in Minneapolis; the Los Angeles-Biltmore, in Los Angeles; the Palace, in San Francisco; the Olympia, in Seattle; the Seneca, in Rochester; the Claremont, in Berkeley, California; the Onondaga, in Syracuse; the Sinton, in Cincinnati; the Statler, in Detroit; the Multnomah, in Portland, Oregan; the Sacramento, in Sacramento; the Californian, in Fresno; the Lincoln, in Lincoln.

(Continued on page 4)

PROFESSORS TUPPER AND PRINDLE PUBLISH BOOKS WITH M. B. OGLE

In a recent issue of The Classical Weekly, there was announced that a new series of Latin texts, to be called "The Century College Latin Series" would be edited by Marbury B Ogle, Professor of Classical Languages at Ohio State University. Professor Ogle will be remembered as head of the Latin Department of this University from 1907 to 1924.

Among the volumes of this new series is "English and Latin" by Professor Ogle, assisted by Professor Prindle, head of the Latin Department here. This volume is an innovation in Latin composition manuals and augurs great success. Another volume is called "Anglo-Latin Literature before and after the Conquest," by Professor Tupper, head of the English Department at Vermont and Professor Ogle. The series is published by The Century Co. of New York City.

SOPHOMORE RUSHING IS SENIOR DEBATE SUBJECT

Seniors Debate Question Often Discussed—Audience Opposed to Reform

The Seniors held their third debate of the year Friday afternoon in the Williams Science Lecture Hall. The question debated, "A man shall not be a member of a fraternity until his sophomore year," was a popular one and the debate proved the most interesting of the season to date.

Carl Wedell as leader of the affirmative used considerable speaking time in making the audience laugh. Oxide Parody led the opposition and showed that he was dealing with a subject with which he was well acquainted. The other speakers on the affirmative were H. L. Woodard and J. H. Davies. Davies dealt with the question from the fraternity's standpoint and Woodard from the standpoint of the college. Stuart Briand and William Clapp were able to give Parody backing enough to enable the side to win by a scant majority. The gestures and stage motions of the speakers were a feature of the debate.

Reasons Pro and Con

Dartmouth was used by both sides to prove their case, one claiming that Sophomore bidding was successful there and the affirmative pointing to the fact that the custom was used there.

The negative showed what a great help the fraternities were to the college, furnishing dormitory space and eating places for students.

The affirmative made much of the point that the fraternity would not find itself after mid-years with so many men who were either out of college or so low in their standing as to be useless. This side claimed that a year would furnish a better opportunity for the fraternities to look after the essential points in a man instead of picking him out for athletic or prep school record, which do not vouch for keeping him in college.

Many of the audience had their copies of the CYNIC just off the press, and were able to amuse themselves when the speakers proved boring.

MILITARY NEWS

On Armistice Day the R. O. T. C. Band will play for a concert and dance at Randolph under the auspices of the American Legion. The music for the ball wil be furnished by a representative orchestra from the band.

This is the opening concert of the battalion band this year. Practice has been going forward steadily and the band is again in its old time form.

The entire battalion took a short practice march in rear of the band down Main Street, over South Willard, and back up College Street, Friday morning.

Following this drill in the manual of arms under the leadership of the cadet officers, who appeared for the first time in their new uniforms was held.

The Freshmen are looking very soldierlike in their drill after a short month's practice.

The Seniors are studying the 37 millemeter gun in their class hours.

STATISTICS DETERMINE THE AVERAGE FRESHMAN

In Last Six Years Average Age Has Gone Down Nearly a Year and a Half

The process of sizing up the Frosh which the fraternities do to the best of their ability is being aided this year by the more scientific methods of the intelligence tests and the physical examinations. From the statistics of the physical examination it has been possible to determine some of the dimensions of the average Freshman.

To measure up to the standard this year's Freshman must be 18 years, one month and 24 days old. He must weigh 148 pounds, be five feet six inches tall, and have a chest expansion of three and one-half inches. He has the choice of being blond or brunette.

The greatest individual extremes show the following interesting results. The oldest member of the class is Carl H Ranum of New Britain, Conn., being twenty four years old. There is competition for the honor of being the youngest member of the class between M B Jenks D J Bernstein, E Bundy and L W Button all four being 16 years old. L. W. Button of Colchester, Vt., is 22 days younger than his nearest rival, M. Jenks of Burlington.

M E Mills can puff out his chest to the greatest advantage, having a chest expansion of five and one fourth inches.

Arnold Aronson of Proctor, Vt. is the class telegraph pole, although he is but six feet one inch tall. His opposite is B H Reinbach of Palmerston Pa., who surveys the world above him from the height of five feet two inches.

A large part of the class of thirty is represented by Max Sollof of New York City. At 226 pounds he is easily the viest member of his class. M. G

Orr of New York has the distinction of being the lightest Freshman, weighing only 107 pounds.

Not since 1920 have the class statistics been published and there are some interesting comparisons to be found. For instance, the average age was at that time 19 years and six months while the extreme ages were just what they are this year. The tallest man was two and one-half inches taller than this year and the shortest man was two inches shorter. The heaviest man weighed 183 pounds and the lightest weighed but 93 pounds.

Although no conclusion can be reached from these figures it is absolutely certain that the Freshman class grows better every year in the opinion of the Frosh.

FRATERNITIES SELECT MEMBERS OF COURT

The Interfraternity Council held a meeting Thursday evening, October 14 at the Delta Psi House and decided on the following professors, all of whom have consented to serve on the Faculty Court: Professors Carroll, Grout, Wallace, Dean and Jenks.

The Faculty Court is composed of faculty men who belong to fraternities which do not have affiliations with local chapter. The purpose of the court is to sit in judgment on all cases of infraction of the rushing rules which may be brought.

The last open house night was held Saturday evening. Yesterday in the Chapel the rushing dates were given out. These dates come on the evenings of Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, from six until twelve o'clock. The Interfraternity Council decided at its last meeting to abolish the Saturday afternoon date.

This holding of dates in the evening should permit all Freshmen to keep those which they have signed up for without much difficulty. When the dates were held in the afternoon, classes or other duties often left fraternities waiting for men whom they had planned to entertain.

Press Club

A meeting of the Press Club will be held at four o'clock in the afternoon, Friday, October 22, at the Delta Psi House, to discuss plans for the coming year. All members and all Freshmen, who are interested in this work, please do not fail to attend.

HULBURD '20 DIES FROM CHLOROFORM ACCIDENTALLY TAKEN

News of the death of Lloyd Hulburd, U. V. M. '20 from an over-dose of chloroform, administered by himself accidentally, was received in the city Thursday from Los Angeles California.

Lloyd Hulburd was the son of Dr George B. Hulburd of Jericho and was born in that place October 9, 1896. He received his early education in the Jericho public schools and prepared for college in the Connecticut Literary Institution at Suffield Conn. He was graduated from the University of Vermont in the class of 1920 with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemistry.

Mr Hulburd left for Orange California in 1922. For one year he taught chemistry in the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons in Los Angeles and afterwards took up the study of Osteopathy, which he followed for three years. He would have graduated next June.

Mr Hulburd was a member of Delta Psi Fraternity.

FRESHMEN ROMP AWAY WITH VERMONT ACADEMY

Mitchell and Mace Big Ground Winners for Frosh—Every one Plays Good Game

Saturday at Centennial Field the U V M Freshmen walked over Vermont Academy 27-0. The yearling aggregation played brilliantly throughout. There were no outstanding stars as every man played an excellent game.

In the first quarter Mitchell gained about forty yards in two runs and when he failed to take the ball over De Rose took it over for the score and Slate kicked the goal.

The second touchdown of the period came when Mitchell ran thirty five yards and grounded the pigskin over the goal line. Slate dropped back again to kick.

The third quarter saw the third spectacular touchdown when Mace crossed up the Academy team and went through the weak side of the line without interference for a fifty five yard run.

Pray scored in the last quarter knocking off tacklers right and left for twenty yards.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

By Saturday afternoon, only one of the third round matches was left to be played. The semi-finals will probably be played on Tuesday of this week. The results are as follows.

Third round: Professor Carpenter won from Goddard 6-2, 6-4; Baldwin won over Graves 6-3, 6-3; Shedd won from Nye 6-2, 6-4.

The semi finals are as follows. Carpenter vs. Macomber or Pingree, and Shedd vs. Baldwin.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The meeting of the State Medical Society was held at the Medical Building, October 14 and 15. Several members of the Medical faculty of the University of Vermont read papers.

The pews are being put in the new chapel and it is expected that the installation of the clocks will be begun soon.

The National Society of Grangers and the State Dairymen's Association will hold their annual meetings here during the fall or winter.

Due to a mistake it was announced in a recent number of the CYNIC that the High School Editors Conference would be held on October 31. The meeting will be held on October 23, at ten fifteen in the Chapel in the Old Mill.

Tuesday evening at a social gathering in the College Street Church Professors Robinson, Jacobs and Grout told about their experiences while abroad on their sabbatical years, mentioning the relations and attitudes of the countries they visited toward America.

Seven hundred men died in New York last year from poisoned liquor.

PROFESSOR ROBINSON TOURS EGYPT, EUROPE AND WESTERN STATES

Engineering Professor Visits American College and Travels in Europe During Leave of Absence

Professor Robinson, after a prolonged vacation is again teaching in the College of Engineering. Professor Robinson spent his sabbatical year in study, observation and travel, in both the New World and the Old World. From Burlington he went on a flying trip through the Middle West, visiting various mechanical engineering schools and industrial plants en route. After some time devoted to research he sailed from New York in early January on a Mediterranean cruise. The passage was quite free from storms and the liner had no difficulty in passing Gibraltar into the "Mare Nostrum" of the ancients. The ship touched at various ports and points of interest, circumnavigating the Mediterranean. The passengers disembarked in Marseilles in "Sunny France" from which city they went to the capitals of the larger Continental countries, to London, which was the base of operations for sight-seeing tours through the English downs and countryside. From London the tour led back to Switzerland and the Alps, and finally to Cherbourg, where the party took passage for New York City.

Professor Robinson has a wealth of anecdote reminiscent of his cruise. For instance, he relates how in February they were in a land of sun and flowers, with not even a suspicion of winter; later, in August however, when the party was in Switzerland, snowshoeing and skiing were rather more in vogue than a daily dip.

In Egypt the excursionists had many interesting experiences. Professor Robinson tells of visiting the Pyramids, the Valley of Kings and the Sphinx. At this latter spot, he describes the excavations then under way. While he was there the back and forefeet of this colossal memorial had already been uncovered. Between the outstretched forefeet was discovered a stone tablet setting forth the uses of the Sphinx which was built for religious purposes. Just in front of the paws an enormous temple was being excavated. This was in the style of Egyptian temples of the early dynasties, with great, tall columns hewn from solid rock. The roof was formed of great slabs of stone, some being sixteen feet long five feet wide and two feet thick. To put these "slates," as Professor Robinson naively calls them, into place was an engineering operation wonderful even in our own age of inventions.

VERMONT LOSES MATCH WITH MIDD. NETMEN

Last Saturday afternoon, on the home courts, the Vermont tennis team lost to the team from Middlebury by the score of 5-1. The Blue men took all matches but the No. 2 doubles. The Vermont team was composed of Captain Nye No. 2, Baldwin No. 1, Taylor No. 3 and Shedd No. 4. In the doubles Mosier and Nye played No. 1, and Baldwin and Taylor No. 2.

The scores are as follows. Singles: Wolfshead (M) beat Baldwin (V) 6-2, 6-4; Seymour (M) beat Nye (V) 6-4, 7-5; Hinden (M) beat Taylor (V) 6-1, 7-5; Hammersley (M) beat Shedd (V) 6-2, 10-12, 7-5. Doubles: Wolfshead and Seymour (M) beat Nye and Mosier (V) 6-0, 6-0; Baldwin and Taylor (V) beat Thayer and Woodbury (M) 6-1, 8-6.

PROFESSOR OGLE TO SPEAK IN NEW YORK

Professor Marbury B Ogle, from 1907 to 1924 head of the Latin Department of the U V M is to speak at the November meeting of the New York Classical Club. Professor Ogle's subject will be "Virgil and Some Problems of the Present."

Professor Ogle is at present head of the Department of Classical Languages of Ohio State University.

Vernon Loveland ex '29 of Rutland is attending the Albany Law School at Albany, N. Y.

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] NEWSPAPER
[illegible] VERMONT

[illegible] Published every Tuesday [illegible] year [illegible] delivered [illegible] single copy [illegible] should be [illegible] Manager 150 [illegible] correspondence to [illegible] Ave. [illegible] special rate [illegible] of October [illegible]

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] News Editor
[illegible] Editor
[illegible] Editor
[illegible] Editor
[illegible] Editor
[illegible] Feature Editor

[illegible] Editors
[illegible] M. Tracy '29
[illegible]

[illegible] Staff
[illegible] Business Mgr.
[illegible] Advertising Mgr.
[illegible] Assistant Manager
[illegible] Assistant Manager
[illegible] Assistant Manager

[illegible] readers are heartily [illegible] communications [illegible] matter whose name [illegible] they should [illegible] Chief. Any [illegible] handed in or tele- [illegible] in Sunday and

[illegible] of this issue:
[illegible] News Editor
[illegible] Assistant Manager

[illegible] 19, 1926 No. [illegible]

[illegible] DEMOCRACY

[illegible] football gasped, [illegible] that Harvard had [illegible] first football game [illegible] the Geneva College [illegible] big colleges are not so [illegible] defeat at the hands [illegible] in the opening [illegible] schedule. Opponents in [illegible] supposed to be [illegible] against which a coach [illegible] number of substi- [illegible] get a line on the [illegible]

[illegible] years past, [illegible] an aristocracy of [illegible] no matter how [illegible] turn out a team [illegible] will rank with the best. Former- [illegible] Harvard, Yale and Princeton at- [illegible] stars, and con- [illegible] out champion- [illegible] consent, they [illegible] position of national grid [illegible] themselves.

[illegible] hold the places [illegible] not indicate that [illegible] Princeton have de- [illegible] quality of their foot- [illegible] to win that charac- [illegible] Nowadays it is [illegible] outcome of a game. [illegible] college has stars from [illegible] 'experts' are likely to [illegible]

[illegible] by no means alone in [illegible] supposedly below [illegible] Within a few [illegible] Dartmouth, West Point [illegible] have experienced [illegible] Many of us may [illegible] great football team [illegible] Stein Bock. "Swede" [illegible] were in the [illegible] and Wieland. Margolski, [illegible] were in the [illegible] going to Spring- [illegible] the same game by the [illegible] traveled down [illegible] won from the "Big [illegible] the score of 6-3. All [illegible] made as the result [illegible] the last few min- [illegible] this game the Green and Gold [illegible] took to the goal line [illegible] the Dartmouth backs [illegible] was almost certain. [illegible] the close of the game, Dartmouth [illegible] had been within eight inches of [illegible] goal line.

There is nothing really humiliating [illegible] defeat at the hands of a stronger [illegible] To be beaten is no disgrace [illegible] when one loses heart and [illegible] and quitting is rarely charged against the American football team.

Football aristocracy no longer exists. Certain teams may be dominant for two or three seasons, but the competition is too keen for them to stay at the top, year after year as the "Big Three" used to. In the last decade, Dartmouth, Cornell, Michigan, Notre Dame and California, at one time or another have risen above the crowd. The next few years may witness the emergence of colleges, the names of which today are familiar only to a few.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

During our time we have seen considerable disrespect of the "V" and while it is never pleasant to have abuse of the award of honor of our college brought to our attention, still if the offense is minor and perhaps merely careless and unintentional, we are all more or less inclined to let the matter slide and say nothing about it.

But we have seen something recently which causes us deep indignation. One day last week a girl walked down Church Street with a football sweater and "V" on.

How is a loyal son of Vermont going to react to this? Are we to stand by passively and see awards of our Alma Mater passed around as freely as [illegible] pins? The man who was given that sweater was supposed to have earned it on the athletic field and no human being who has not thus earned it is supposed to wear it. If a man has not enough respect for his alma mater to observe the usage and rules pertaining to it, he is not entitled to retain the possession of the award.

This matter should be investigated and whoever was originally given the sweater should have it taken from him in accordance with the ruling of the Athletic Council which provides for just such cases.

If the letter of our college is to be respected this sort of cheapening of it must be stopped.

'28.

The Football Code

Holding

is prohibited by the rules because it does not belong in the game of football. It is unfair play. It eliminates skill. The slowest man in the world could make a forty-yard run in every play if the rest of his teammates would hold their opponents long enough. The game is to advance the ball by strategy, skill and speed without holding your opponent.

Perhaps a good game could be invented the object of which would be to advance the ball as far as possible with the assistance of holding your opponents, but it would not be football. It would probably become a team wrestling match and, unless drastic rules rigidly enforced, prevented it, a free fight. If your coach cannot show you how to gain distance without holding your opponents, get another coach. It is fair to assume that he does not understand the strategy of the game.

Side Line Coaching

is prohibited in the rules because it is considered an unfair practice. The game is to be played by the players using their own muscles and their own brains. If an onlooker, having seen all the hands in a game of cards, undertook to tell one of the players what card to play, the other players would have just cause to object.

The Committee by its ruling has endeavored to prevent as far as practically possible the sending in of substitutes for the mere purpose of giving information as to the following play, which removes the chief incentive for sending in information.

Beating the Ball

by an unfair use of a starting signal is nothing less than deliberately stealing an advantage from the other side. An honest starting signal is good football, but a starting signal which has for its purpose starting the team a fraction of a second before the ball is put in play, in the hope that it will not be detected by the officials, is nothing short of crookedness. It is the same as if a sprinter in a hundred-yard dash had a secret arrangement with the starter to give him a tenth of a second's warning before he fired the pistol.

Talking to Your Opponents

if it falls short of being abusive or insulting is not prohibited by the rules, partly because it ought not to be necessary and partly because no rules can make a gentleman out of a mucker.

No good sportsman is ever guilty of cheap talk to his opponents.

Talking to Officials

When an official imposes or makes a decision, he is simply doing his duty as he sees it. He is on the field representing the integrity of the game of football, and his decision, even though he may have made a mistake in judgment, is final and conclusive and should be so accepted. Even if you think the decision is a mistaken one, take your medicine and do not whine about it. If there is anything to be said, let your captain do the talking. That's his business. Yours is to keep quiet and play the game.

You may meet players, and even coaches, who will tell you that it is all right to hold or otherwise violate the rules if you do not get caught. This is the code that obtains among sneak thieves and pickpockets. The crime in their code is getting caught.

The Foot Ball Code is Different.

The football player who intentionally violates a rule is guilty of unfair play and unsportsmanlike tactics, and whether or not he escapes being penalized, he brings discredit to the good name of the game, which it is his duty as a player to uphold.

RULES COMMITTEE.

Rules Governing Students in 1811 Decided Contrast With Present Day

More than a century ago, on July twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred eleven, Royal Tyler and William Bradly, submitted a set of rules to govern the student body. At this time the enrollment at Vermont numbered around thirty-five men.

Moral Character Necessary to Admission

The first rules pertained to the admission of would be students. Among other requirements those desiring admission had to submit proof of good moral character, to have a thorough grounding in Greek and Latin grammar, and to be well acquainted with the first books of the Anead and Cicero's four orations against Catiline. Tuition was twelve dollars a year, and the use of the library and chambers free except in case of damage. If the student chose to live in some room of his own choosing, rather than in the one assigned to him by the college authorities, he was fined twenty-five cents for every twenty-four hours spent in such chambers.

Latin and Greek were at all times stressed, though the curriculum offered other courses as: physical geography, English, vulgar arithmetic, and for seniors, 'a reveiw of the most necessary courses'. Precedent for our public speaking, argument and debate classes is to be found in the fact that on every Wednesday afternoon the students of each class had to declaim before an officer of the college, and one or more of the upperclassmen, in rotation, had to declaim in chapel immediately after prayers every evening.

Less Recitation—More Chapel

Recitations do not seem so hard at first glance. The three lower classes had to attend all collegiate exercises and two recitations a day—the seniors one or two classes a day, at the discretion of their tutors, and all collegiate exercises, until within thirty days of public commencement, when they received a leave of absence. But—all students were required to attend morning and evening prayers in the chapel. Study hours were from eight A. M. to noon, from two P. M. till after prayers, and from seven P. M. on. These hours were in effect from the Autumnal to the Vernal Equinoxes. Any student violating these rules had to appear before the president, faculty or trustees or perhaps all three. Examinations were held at the close of each term and, to quote, "Those found to be peculiarly deficient in classical knowledge may be degraded to the next inferior class." There were two vacations each year—the first for a period of four weeks beginning immediately after commencement, the second beginning on the second Wednesday of December and lasting for nine weeks.

No Bartering of Books without Permission

The authority of the president at this time seems to have been rather personal and all powerful. Any and all offenders were hailed before the president or his assistants, the faculty and trustees. In many instances the president's permission was required always—the parent or guardian's, usually. For example: no student was allowed to go out of town without the president's permission. No student could go 'to an tavern or victualling house in the town of Burlington' without the president's consent or unless in the company of parents or guardian. Any bartering of books and the like among students without the express permission of president, parent, guardian or tutor was illegal and the president might nullify such bargain. Guns, pistols, and gun powder could be kept only by permission. Likewise there was to be no skating over deep waters without presidential acquiescence.

Theatre Going Tabooed

Scholars were absolutely forbidden to associate, within a period of three years, with any one expelled or rusticated from college. Any infringement of this rule made the student liable to expulsion. No scholar was allowed to leave his room unless decently clothed. (These may have been pre-frosh-rule days, or the interpretation of the rule has perhaps changed.) To conclude this extract from the don'ts, "No scholar shall be an actor or spectator at any stage plays or theatrical entertainments in the town of Burlington."

Personal supervision of the student body by the president is not the only bit of college life to have suffered radical changes. Sunday and chapel observance has also undergone rather marked variations. To quote the rules again. "The evening preceding and the evening following the Lord's day must be kept with religious respect. Unnecessary business, visiting, walking in the streets, being in the fields, or any diversions or disorderly conduct are considered as profanations of this holy day." Every student was adjured to seasonably and constantly attend morning and evening prayers in the chapel. A sufficient reason was required for all absences from places of worship on the Lord's day, fast days and on Thanksgiving.

While there is no record that Vermont was co-educational at this time, the rules expressly state that, "No undergraduate shall resort to the place of worship before the tolling of bell, nor tarry there after public worship is finished."

And yet we must remember as we read these rules of over a century ago that our University was in its infancy, that times have changed greatly, and that the student enrollment probably did not exceed thirty-five.

Uncle: I proposed to Arbella by mail.

Sam did she accept?

Uncle: Yes, but she was so dumb that she married the postman.—Penn. Punch Bowl.

Calendar For This Week

Tuesday, October 19

4 P. M. Meeting of [illegible] class in Old Mill Chapel to elect officers.
7 P. M. [illegible]
8.15 P. M. [illegible] will meet [illegible] Omega [illegible]

Wednesday, October 20

1.30 P. M. Student [illegible] meet in [illegible]
6-12 P. M. [illegible]

Thursday, October 21

6-12 P. M. Second [illegible]

Friday, October 22

4 P. M. Meeting of the [illegible] Cabinet [illegible]
6-12 P. M. [illegible]

Saturday, October 23

10 A. M. Women's [illegible] in the [illegible]
2.30 P. M. Norwich plays varsity at Centennial Field.
6-12 P. M. Fourth [illegible]

Sunday, October 24

2 P. M. Fraternity bids will be given out [illegible]
7.30 P. M. [illegible] at the Unitarian [illegible]

1930 HOLDS MEETING MAKES APPROPRIATIONS

The class of 1930 held a meeting in the Science Hall last Saturday morning with President Charles Mace presiding.

The main business transacted was the appropriation of twenty-five dollars to defray the expenses of the band to Springfield on Thanksgiving Day, and twelve dollars to buy numerals for the Freshman football team.

In closing, President Mace announced that the Frosh winter caps were now on sale.

BURLINGTON HIGH TAKES DEFEAT FROM N. Y. TEAM

Burlington High School met Plattsburg High on Centennial Field and was defeated in a very one-sided game of football, the score being 190. Jack Conway of Vermont, referee.

After the game the Vermont Freshman team went through a stiff signal practice in preparation for the Vermont Academy game on Saturday.

STATIONERY,
MAGAZINES,
NEWSPAPERS
♣ ♣ ♣
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

77TH ANNIVERSARY
FESTIVAL
at TURK'S
Beginning Thursday, October 14, 192[illegible]
WITH EVERY SUIT OR
OVERCOAT
Purchased, we present you with y[illegible] pick of any HAT in our store up [illegible] $5.00 or any articles in FURNISHIN[illegible] up to the amount of $5.00.
USE TURK'S BUDGET PLAN [illegible] 1-5 down and balance in ten we[illegible] payments. COAT and SLIP [illegible] SWEATERS at Birthday Prices.
Where the Badges come from
Turk's
156-158 COLLEGE STREET
Phone 604

Tel. 897-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 Colchester Ave.
Opp. Engineering Bldg.
Home Cooking Our Specialty
Lunches to Take Out

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
We are now open on Sundays.
PHONE 2845

Gifts in Jewelry
DANCE FAVORS and PROGRAMS
▲ ▲ ▲
F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

HOWARD'S
APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP
Phone 3171 48 Church St.
Students' Trade Appreciated

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, V[illegible]
Printing for every student need

Co-ed Page

The Objection to the Modern Co-ed

(Concluded from last issue)

[illegible] wholly obnoxious as [illegible] week's issue. But, is [illegible] is to the co-ed? The [illegible] prejudiced about this [illegible] will immediately an- [illegible] so." One who is a [illegible] as to his stand upon [illegible] fear of offending the [illegible] with a questioning look [illegible] mance, "If you have [illegible] ick than you have out [illegible] bring it out--I'll look [illegible] feminist, who was in- [illegible] the start at any seem- [illegible] treatment of the fair [illegible] with glee to perceive [illegible] entirely finished with [illegible] He will say, "Go ahead [illegible] what's in the store-

The [illegible] after her formidable ex- [illegible] roved, astounds people. [illegible] She can talk and be [illegible] She is vivacious, spasmodic, [illegible] ewildering! Men adore [illegible] sonalities. I mean real [illegible] they have something to [illegible] em worth solving. This [illegible] eration, we are told, is too [illegible] bold, and too forward. [illegible] meritorious qualities [illegible] reputable? We should [illegible] old the truth, even if it [illegible] or distressing. Boldness [illegible] men do things—why should [illegible] men not achieve great ends also? [illegible] wardness is a great time-saving [illegible] It knocks off a false exterior [illegible] and reveals the true cos- [illegible] of the individual. Young women [illegible] today are not afraid to broach any [illegible] whatever and, by doing so, be- [illegible] to know men better, place them- [illegible] on a common footing, and actu- [illegible] become great friends. From an [illegible] owledge of the other sex [illegible] nds more fully the kind [illegible] he wants when tying [illegible] knot.

Many [illegible] complain, "What has be- [illegible] of the 'S S. and G' type—'sweet, [illegible] girlish'?" Who wants [illegible] anyway? They should have [illegible] buried long ago in fathomless [illegible] depths, never to return again. A [illegible] innocent conversation, [illegible] and simple—but what's under- [illegible] neath? The hottest temper and irri- [illegible] disposition Pluto ever put forth! [illegible] they don't lose their tempers— [illegible] they just display them. Whereas little [illegible] Highty Flighty, who talks unre- [illegible] mindedly about anything at all, does [illegible] nothing at all, and looks the part of [illegible] "Good for nothing"—wouldn't have [illegible] heart to freeze a man cold just [illegible] keep her worshipful place on the [illegible] old pedestal. Of course, man's [illegible] blame for put that pedestal there [illegible] the first place. First, he enslaved [illegible] man then put her on the pedestal, [illegible] of his way, to look at her when [illegible] so desired, but has never allowed [illegible] a common footing. You can have [illegible] slave chains and your pedestals! [illegible] woman wants equality—not in vot- [illegible] or politics (I'm not a lost suf- [illegible] gette)—but in self-expression. She [illegible] deserves that much.

The modern co-ed, through her in- [illegible] dependent spirit, will made a mark [illegible] for herself in this world. She will [illegible] give to humanity a better and wiser [illegible] people. By doing the very things men [illegible] do she will shame them into suppres- [illegible] sion of demoralizing habits. Our co- [illegible] ed is worthwhile. She is a valuable [illegible] asset in her natural state. We must [illegible] "let her be!" As the leading psy- [illegible] chologist tell us, "learn to face real- [illegible] ity." The co-ed has started the ball [illegible] rolling.

A Co-ed's Diary

(COVERING FIRST FOUR WEEKS OF COLLEGE 1926)

[illegible] I? Oh I remember—the [illegible] game of the year. And [illegible] it was. We didn't have to [illegible] much football to see how good [illegible] was but what in the world [illegible] all the penalties for? That cane [illegible] for me! Oh my! Seemed as [illegible] there was an over abundance of [illegible] no, I mean Freshmen but [illegible] looked alike from the stands. [illegible] a great week for the men— [illegible]" and don't you hope that [illegible] you know where! My but [illegible] are doing—poor Frosh don't [illegible] what they mean— all those high [illegible] clubs that litter up the "Y" [illegible] their meeting announce- [illegible] for girls! They do want to [illegible] the right thing and the question [illegible] should they look studious or [illegible] coy? A little of both, dears—the [illegible] truth is always best. Judge [illegible] wanted his lectures to be in- [illegible] guess they were—so much [illegible] they fell asleep. Outside read- [illegible] ing'. How to keep up with [illegible] it is the question—or rather how to catch up to it, for it surely runs away from us as soon as we try to imbibe it. The Mortar Board dance—who are you bringing and can you give me the fifth—no that's a waltz. How about the seventh? And some party it was. And Friday's inspection and band concert—sometimes it pays to get up early, eh?

HEALTH COUNCIL NOTES

At this time of the year it seems as if exercise were the most appropriate health topic. The recent pleasant weather, even giving us variety from warm to cold, has provided a wonderful opportunity for out-door sports of all description. How about horseback riding? Have you joined the class that is being sponsored by the physical education department or, better yet if you are experienced, have you been getting in some peppy rides with your friends? ? There are attractive bridal paths in Holt's Woods and around Red Rocks. Try them out, the snappier the weather the more both you and the horse will enjoy it. The riding class is increasing every day, don't put off signing up.

Then too the next three weeks are about the last time that you can play tennis for a long time. Make the most of it; learn that serve that you have been trying all summer for. If you get it now you will have it already for next spring and save a lot of time then.

Or maybe you play golf. This year there is a splendid opportunity to play on the course just beyond Robinson Hall. It costs only a dollar and think of the fun you could get from an afternoon's golf, especially on a new course!

But whatever sport you prefer, get at it now. There is enough cold and stormy weather coming when you can't get out so store up a little exercise now and it will help you fight off the cold and the colds of winter.

Sorority Notes

Delta Delta Delta

A dinner and bridge party was given for the alumni by the active members Wednesday evening, October 13.

A rummage sale was held at the W. C. T. U. rooms Saturday afternoon.

Pi Beta Phi

Vermont Beta announces the pledging of Elsie Mutch '29 of Barre.

STUDENT UNION

An interesting talk about educational conditions in India was given by Miss Ruby Phillips, an India missionary worker at the Student Union meeting Saturday morning.

Announcement was made of a moving picture show to be given at the Unitarian Church next Saturday.

THE INTERCOLLEGIATE WORLD

(A Magazine Published by Thompson-Williams Company, 516 North Charles Street, Baltimore, Maryland.—$3.00 for Scholastic Year.)

Introducing a "high hat" College Humor, the Intercollegiate World! Figuratively speaking, the magazine is one of interest to the whole family of University students. Every phase of college life is reflected for every type of student. A fine medium of exchange it is, where products of intercollegiate workmanship may be obtained; a mart, when leader meets leader and poet meets poet.

In each issue, one profession is frankly discussed by an able representative. William Cabell Bruce United States Senator from Maryland, has written an article of especial interest to politicians-in-the-making. William Preston Beazell, assisting managing editor of the New York World, has extolled his "darling profession" to the skies.

The departments of educational news, general news and athletic news are well edited. And there is humor, the best humor of the Lampoon and the Tiger and so on, ad infinitum of wit.

Short stories, verse and sketches, representative of the work of college students in writing, are selected from college publications. In the April issue a poem is reprinted from the Goucher Kalends. It is a merry song, in reproof of "lamps that make so bold." From the Fordham Monthly comes a verse about "ships that die." Empty houses are lonesome places. There, no longer do hearth-fires burn or does love hover around. But "what is so sad as a ship's disgrace?" The poem is no mere artisan's.

The Intercollegiate World is a newcomer on the magazine counters. The October issue is the tenth of Volume 1. In spite of its youth, let the venerable scholastic halls look with favor upon it.

Current Comment

Asia seems a long way off to most of us but some magazine articles this month bring it interestingly and vividly to our senses. We smell the flowers and see the gorgeous colors, while looking at the beautiful large photographs of the marriage of a Chinese Prince, the first of their kind ever taken and while reading the article in the November issue of Asia, entitled "The Hour of Glamour." Wherein the last of the empire is quite pathetic, the author treats more of the daily life, queer habits and unique customs of Chinese nobility. The information given goes to prove that "China is quick to respond to a foreign gesture."

Along the same Asiatic interest, but in respect to Japan, where kissing was considered highly immoral comes "Americanization of Japan" by Henry J. Reilly in October's World's Work. A Japanese is quoted, "As you have considered it necessary to stop physical invasion of your country by the Japanese, so we are concerned with finding a way to keep not Americans but American ideas out of Japan." Our customs even our crimes, bedtime stories, strikes, and caricatures of statesmen are being imitated. "The movies are changing their moral standards." The military leaders are anxious whether the recent "Revolt of Youth" will extend to the service in the army and navy, which has hitherto been compulsory. Mr. Reilly has no fear of "Bolshevism getting a real foothold in Japan" as the mass of people still hold to feudalism."

To come a little nearer home, Quebec and Canada, as a whole, are being boomed by two magazines. "Province of Quebec" is described and criticized as to its Social and Economic Conditions by William Wallace Goforth, its "Liquor Law and How It Works" by W. W. Goforth and Stephen Leacock in the American Review of Reviews for October. The accompanying article "Harnessing Saguenay's Power" by E. E. Free is also of the series. The articles abound in photographs, valuable information and discussions of current problems. In the National Geographic Magazine for October are 77 illustrations with the article "Canada from the Air" by J. A. Wilson, Secretary, Royal Canadian Air Force. This gives a very fine idea of the industries, beauties and natural resources of the country North of us. As a demi-tasse read the poem "Hometown" by Badger Clark in Scribner's for October.

Every year, here at the University of Vermont, Prize Entrance Examinations are held in Greek, Latin, and Mathematics. During the past two weeks the exams in Greek and Latin were held; there were only a few who took either examination. The one in Mathematics will not be given until the first part of the November. The results of the Greek and Latin exams will be announced in about a month.

LARGEST SNAKE IN THE WORLD!

Those students wishing to buy or sell second-hand text books may do so at

Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)

Sometime when you are at the shoppe ask to see the largest snake skin in the world among other rare and interesting trophies.

FOR SODA AND CANDIES
Go to
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
86 CHURCH ST.

Let us show you how
BOSTONIANS
look and feel on your feet
at Boynton's
86 Church St.

W. A. A. NOTES

All hockey and volley ball teams will be chosen this week. First selection to occur on October 18 and 19; the second selection on October 20 and 21.

The juniors and Seniors played an exhibition hockey game for the benefit of the Sophomores and Freshmen last week.

A health council consisting of one member for each dormitory and one town girl, has been organized and will start meetings soon.

Miss Jeanette Hays is in charge of Field Day, which is to be held Friday, October 29.

MASQUE AND SANDAL

Masque and Sandal held a meeting at the Theta house Thursday evening.

Glee Club

Through an error last week, the name of Edna Shaw, first alto, was omitted in the list of Glee Club members.

Old cars, new cars, big cars and small,
Flashy paint, dull paint and no paint at all.
Cars that limp about a bit, other cars that stall
Where'd they ever resurrect these campus cars this Fall?
(Above all where'd the Phi Delts ever find that chariot of theirs?)

Great men see, where small men sigh.

Take a book home with you—get one at the 'Y' office.

If Plato could Charleston, could Aristotle?—Wabash Caveman.

Fall Clothing

We are showing a complete line of Adler Collegian Suits and Overcoats in the latest styles and shades

$30.00 to $55.00

Hayes & Carney
107 Bank St. Near Majestic
OPEN EVENINGS
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

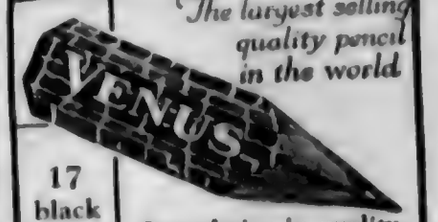
GLEE CLUB NOTES

Miss Edith Start has been elected leader to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Martin.

Regular rehearsals throughout the year will be held each Tuesday and Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

Sextette tryouts will be held in the near future.

AKRAIA DANCE HELD FRIDAY EVENING



Last Friday evening the Akraia Chapter of Mortar Board, girls' honorary society, gave a dance in the gymnasium. This was the first college dance of the year and at the same time the last one that will be held on a Friday evening. Due to its coming on this night the dance was compelled to stop at eleven o'clock instead of the usual hour.

The Algonquin orchestra played and Professor and Mrs. Dean chaperoned.

Never ask a girl how to get to her house, she is liable to tell you all the taxi drivers know the way.—Bison.

WANTED
PART-TIME SALESMEN FOR A NON-COMPETITIVE ECONOMICALLY PRICED, HIGH-GRADE PRODUCT EVERY HOME A PROSPECT! EXCELLENT CHRISTMAS ITEM. GOOD REMUNERATION. T. D. M. S. 402 LITTLE BLDG. BOSTON

The largest selling quality pencil in the world

17 black degrees
3 copying

Superlative in quality, the world-famous
VENUS PENCILS
give best service and longest wear.

Plain ends, per doz. $1.00
Rubber ends, per doz. 1.20
At all dealers
American Lead Pencil Co.
220 Fifth Ave., N. Y.

Buy a dozen

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order

ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.

Charter House

Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE

Charter House
OF BURLINGTON

The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.

MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1900

Professor Ladd, Three Years in Germany, Tells of Student Life

[illegible] of Mr. R. F. Ladd, professor of German at Vermont, [illegible] of the German universities [illegible] Engish for three [illegible] at the [illegible] at the same [illegible]. As a result [illegible] and customs of the [illegible]

The Preparatory Schools

[illegible] school is equivalent to [illegible] years [illegible] work. There are [illegible] schools [illegible] which [illegible] such as Greek and [illegible] the "Real Schule" [illegible] are stressed [illegible] of the preparatory [illegible] the term Gymnasium [illegible] used. At the end [illegible] period a student [illegible] exam which [illegible] its nature and results [illegible] college entrance [illegible] one who has graduated there. The training [illegible] very exact in [illegible] attendance. A [illegible] of conduct is also [illegible] differences between [illegible] and life at [illegible] that at the [illegible] and academic [illegible] students. For instance [illegible] you get "consequently" [illegible] given at the lectures [illegible] an interesting often [illegible] of lectures to [illegible] especially on a hot summer [illegible]

Migratory System

[illegible] the Migratory System [illegible] The student is [illegible] his education travels [illegible] to another. The [illegible] usual way of educating [illegible] The best professors [illegible] respective lines [illegible] the different universities [illegible] the country. In order [illegible] get the best teachers [illegible] he must go about [illegible] before the Master's [illegible] system is used in [illegible] Next to the selection [illegible] certain fields for [illegible] student who wishes [illegible] Berlin universities [illegible] Theological West [illegible] Philosophical but the [illegible] famous in the Philosophical [illegible] is 15. There are [illegible] courses in this faculty [illegible] M. A. The student [illegible] a degree after about [illegible] semesters the average [illegible] for the subject. However before he [illegible] he must have [illegible] a written examination [illegible] submitted an original [illegible] in the form of [illegible] second is the less serious [illegible] who cares not for [illegible] and who attends only [illegible] value and for a good [illegible] select a university on [illegible] In the winter [illegible] where it is warmer [illegible] he will go north [illegible] where it is cooler. He usually attends [illegible] seven semesters before [illegible] The result of this Mi[illegible] is that it broadens [illegible] one a better planned [illegible] country and acquaints [illegible] various habits and customs [illegible] different parts of his country.

Student Immune from Arrest

As soon as a student qualifies to the University by passing his Abiturient exams he comes under the jurisdiction of the Senior Matriculated and is supposed to have an understanding of the University regulations and to be governed by law. He is given a student matriculation card which enables him to enjoy certain privileges in [illegible] such as reduced rates, and credit among the merchants. But most important of his rights is that he is [illegible] from arrest. He can be put in the town jail but cannot be put in jail by the police authorities. All that a policeman can do to him is to take his name and report him to the University Syndic (judge). Then he is brought before the "Syndic" and his [illegible] and is given a trial. If he is [illegible] guilty he is sentenced to the [illegible] prison for a day and a night. While there he passes away the time by carving his initials on the [illegible] of a table where former occupants had left their initials immortalized. If he can get hold of a brush and some paint he paints grotesque figures on the walls to relieve his morbid [illegible]. This imprisonment is respected by the students as a joke and almost everyone has spent at least one day and night there he is not considered to have been initiated into the University life.

Clubs

The German universities have no intercollegiate sports due to the "Migratory System." They have no campus life and no hazing except that which is carried on at the fraternities. A fraternity is called "Eine Verbindung" the most important of which are those that emphasize dueling.

Their literary organizations, which are very highly developed, are conducted in the language of the country of which they are studying. For example if it is an English club only English is spoken and they try to have a native address them. As Professor Ladd was the only Englishman at the University of Kiel he was frequently called on to deliver speeches at the meetings.

A Student Duel

An "Eine Mensur" is usually held among the students of the same fraternity. It is mainly a matter of tradition to settle some real or imaginary difference. The eyes, throats and chests of the duelists are protected, but the cheeks, which bear the brunt of the attack are exposed. They are allowed to use only a short, snappy [illegible] movement with their rapiers which are about one foot long. When the officials think the duel has gone on long enough it is stopped. Immediately physicians rush in and bandage their cheeks. The following day finds them going around with their faces [illegible] in bandages and with black [illegible] caps on their heads. A foreign observer thinks that the scars left by the duel are hideous. In the eyes of a German student, however, they are signs of merit and the more scars a fellow has the more he is admired.

Cafe Life

The cafe is a highly organized institution among the students. At these cafes the students gather in groups around tables and partake very mildly of their glass of beer. Their chief diversion is conversation and singing songs from a standard student song book. When they meet at the café in a formal manner to celebrate some particular event they sit at a long banquet table with their steins of beer before them. They converse about serious things covering various fields in art literature and politics. To an outside observer the cafe seems to be a very important adjunct to the lecture room. It is with such groups that a foreign student at the University can obtain a more profound insight and a broader knowledge of the customs habits and manners of the Germans.

Social Position of Student High

A student's social position is very high. He is approved of by the whole community and is a regular pet, everyone believing that he can do no wrong! His general department and demeanor is that of a man of a world. They have no dorms so he lives where he pleases. Often he comes to the University in a cutaway and always carries a cane! He has a courtly manner is well behaved, well-bred and very polite in social activities.

Presidency, Honorary Office

The president of a university is elected each year from the faculty of the respective universities and is in addition to honorary position of [illegible] he acquires the title of "Herr Magnifizenz" and is seated among all the students and faculty [illegible] once a month whether she requireth it or not.—Contemporary Writer.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

At a meeting of the Scabbard and Blade which was held last Thursday afternoon it was decided to sponsor the presentation of the flag at all home football games. The Scabbard and Blade will hold its next meeting Wednesday evening, October 27.

Queen Elizabeth hath built herself a bath where she doth bathe herself

The Wetness

The German word for hat (hut) is pronounced to rhyme with "don't shoot."—Gleaned from my grammar.

Now who would want to be a German Maiden
Who when she goes outside a hut that can call
Must hear the neighbors cry
As she goes walking by,
"Oh, isn't Gretchen's hat a perfect hut!"

Song in Time of Tests

Why did I take this course?
Why, oh why, oh why?
I thought it was a cinch—
Easy to get by.
I needed a soft one
To make up my sleep.
Now the prof has sprung a test,
Read it, boys, and weep!
I'd like to catch the guy
That called this course a pipe;
To mop the floor with him
Would be a sheer delight!
I'm guessing that and all because I'm dumb! And I what I thought he was.
Why did I take this course?
Why, oh why, oh why?

(Short poem proving that a cold in the head is worse than typhoid fever)

I've got a cold.
An awful cold.
In fact I feel perfectly rotten.
I've got a headache,
And a sore throat,
I'm quite sure that I have a fever.
I feel terrible!
But nobody has any sympathy for me.
They think it's funny when I sneeze!
(It isn't.)
They tell me my nose is red and then they laugh.
They don't need to bother to tell me.
I know it's red by the feeling.
But I have to go to classes just the same.
Can't have a day off,
Oh, no!
'Cause I've "only got a cold."
Wish I had something serious.

Once I had typhoid fever.
I had a lovely time.
They gave me ice cream,
And alcohol rubs,
And sometimes sweetbreads.
Folks sent me flowers,
And called up to see how I was.
They cared how I felt then.
But now they don't care at all.
Won't even listen when I tell 'em how bad I feel.
'Cause I've "only got a cold."
I feel as if I might be getting pneumonia.
But I know I won't.
That would be too much good luck.
I'll just go on sneezing and coughing the rest of my life.
And never have a clean handkerchief again.
Wish I could break a leg!

Specified Hotels to Give Intercollegiate Alumni Unique Service

(Continued from page 1)

Nebraska; the Oakland, in Oakland, California; the Lycoming, in Williamsport, Pennsylvania; the Mount Royal, in Montreal; the King Edward, in Toronto; the Coronado, in St. Louis; the Bethlehem, in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania; the Urbana-Lincoln, in Urbana-Champaign, Illinois; the Saint Paul, in Saint Paul; the Savannah, in Savannah; and the Schenley, in Pittsburg.

Officers of Association

The officers and directors of the Intercollegiate Alumni Extension Service, Inc., are as follows: President, Levering Tyson; vice-president R. W. Sailor; secretary, E. N. Sullivan; treasurer, J. O. Baxendale; Directors, J. O. Baxendale, University of Vermont; Daniel Grant, University of North Carolina; Marion E. Graves, Smith College; R. W. Harwood, Harvard; Eric F. Hodgins, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; John D. McKee, Worcester College; Helen F. McMillin, Wellesley; J. L. Morrill, Ohio State; W. R. Oakson, Lehigh; R. W. Sailor, Cornell; W. B. Shaw, University of Michigan; Robert Sibley, University of California; E. N. Sullivan, Penn State; Levering Tyson, Columbia.

VERMONT LOSES TO PROVIDENCE COLLEGE

Saturday at Providence the Green and Gold lost to Providence College by a score of 21-0.

Near the end of the first period Adair blocked Conway's punt on the Vermont 21 yard line. A tackle play and a pass to Bride carried the ball over for the touchdown.

In the second period line plays interspersed with long forwards gave the Rhode Island team their second six-tally.

In the final period Karlywo recovered a fumble on Vermont's 11-yard line and another pass, Bourdeau to Allen, netted the Dominicans their third touchdown.

The Rhode Island team has been winning consistently and playing brilliant football. For them, Allen played very well, kicking all three goals after touchdowns and doing much of the gaining as he carried the ball, passed and received.

The defensive work of Winchenbach and Candon featured for the McAvoy men.

PROVIDENCE		VERMONT
Murphy (capt.)	(C. Murphy), l. e. r. e.,	Simpson (Leary)
Kenyon	(Nawrocki), l. t. r. t.,	Winchenbach (Robinson)
Adair	(Koreywo), l. g. r. g.,	Palmer (Williamson)
Conners	(Watterson), c. c.,	O'Keeke (McKinley)
John Russo	(Ritter), r. g. l. g.,	Kropper (Mitiguy)
Faning	(Baeszer), r. t. l. t.,	Denning (capt.)
Smith	(Joe Russo), r. e. l. e.,	Morse (Donnelly)
Bride	(Dalton), q. b. q. b.,	Conway (Davies)
Allen	(Novakoski), l. h. b. r. h. b.,	J. Scutakes (Thorn)
Willard	(Dalton, Bourdeau), r. h. b. l. h. b.,	Candon (Damon)
Lewis	(Dubienney), f. b.	f. b., Smith

Score—Providence 21. Touchdowns—Allen, Bride 2. Points after touchdowns—Allen 3 (dropkicks). Referee—E. G. Hapgood. Umpire—G. T. White. Linesman—W. E. Jamieson. Time—Four 12-minute periods.

"I see you just returned from Paris. Did your wife go with you?"

"Do you take sandwiches to a banquet?"—Rutgers Chanticleer.

Fraternity Notes

Lambda Iota

Dick Allen is now [illegible] Westford after a we[illegible] Fanny Allen Hospita[illegible] taken a week ago [illegible] his Ford ruce[illegible] there are no se[illegible] probably return [illegible] week.

Zeta Chi

Lieut. Edward J [illegible] passed a few days [illegible]

Bernard M. Law[illegible] end at his home [illegible] recently.

Paul Newton, Law[illegible] Harold Nourse, [illegible] following a years [illegible]

Sigma Delta

F. H. Lawrence '25 [illegible] algebra and geometry [illegible] High School

Paul Rider '26 [illegible] fraternity house [illegible] "college orchestra" [illegible] winter social season.

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
97½ Church St.
1 FLIGHT UP
Excellent service for Ladies and Gents

Russel W. Parish
WATCH and JEWELRY REPAIRING
We Solicit the Students' Trade
Jeweler & Optician
Burlington, Vermont

The Old Bee Hive
GIRL STUDENTS
will like these
SMART FANCY WOOL STOCKINGS AT $1.50 Pr.
Plaids, Stripes, Checks, Et[illegible]
SILK and WOOL STOCKINGS $1.00 Pr.
Offered in the leading [illegible] colors, and exceptional value

Lackawanna Anthracite
The coal that makes Home Happy
Try it
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College St.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

Did You Ever Try University Nut Delight or Fig Claiser?
VISIT CANDYLAND
101 Church St.
PHONE 3056-W

SALE
Closing out a few numbers of
UNIVERSITY SEAL STATIONERY
at a big reduction
SPECIAL SALE DAY
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22
A bargain not to be missed
AT
The University Stores

FALL FAVORITES
at the
COFFEE CORNER
SWEET CIDER
AND APPLES

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1926 — NUMBER 9

DEAN OF CHESTER TO ADDRESS STUDENTS IN GYM COMING FRIDAY

English Clergyman Who Will Speak Here Is Author of Several Psychology Books

On Friday afternoon, October 29, at 4 p. m. the students of the University will be assembled to hear the Reverend W. F. S. Bennett, Dean of Chester Cathedral, England, who will be the guest of men whom the faculty have made arrangements with to address conventions held at various times during the year. This man is one of the most distinguished English preachers of the day and is being brought here by Bishops Booth and Hall of the Episcopal Church. He is to address several meetings on the one day that he is in town and has been invited to the University for the four o'clock convocation. The Y. M. C. A. have also arranged for an open forum to be held following this meeting at which everyone will have an opportunity to hear the visitor.

Cathedral Built in 1492

He has been Dean of the Cathedral at Chester for six years. The Cathedral, which was begun in 1100 A. D., and was not finished until 1492, the year America was discovered, has been gradually on the decline during the last century. But thanks to Dean Bennett, this old beautiful Gothic church has been built up and saved from complete ruin. Not only has he been active in building the church physically but at the same time he has made it the most live church in England. He also has made the services more attractive than they have ever been before.

Was Friend of Coue

He has obtained money to aid him in his reconstruction in various ways. One way has been the sale of a book entitled "Modern Psychology" of which he is the author. He was an intimate friend of Monsieur Coué, the famous French psychologist, who had done a great deal of mental healing by the method of auto suggestion. Dean Bennett has written a book "Coué and his Gospel of Health" in which he adapts the principle of auto suggestion to the New Testament teachings, at the same time making a strong appeal for healing through mental and spiritual processes. Another book of Dean Bennett's has to do with the development of personality and is a strong presentation of modern psychology in terms of the building up of personality rather than the analysis.

The Dean has helped many people through a sort of correspondence school that he maintains. It is maintained through the influence of those with whom he has come in contact by correspondence that he has been invited to come over here. His chief interest is in the National Cathedral at Washington, the Canon of which Cathedral, Bishop Freelander, was the one who invited him over.

His son is traveling with him and it is expected that they will not return to England until Christmas.

PHI CHI FRATERNITY INITIATES FIVE MEN

Alpha Chapter of Phi Chi, Medical Fraternity held its banquet and formal initiation Monday evening, October 18 at the Chapter rooms on Main Street. The following, all members of the Freshman class of the Medical College were initiated: Robert C. Nichols, Northampton, Mass.; Michael [illegible] Barre; Daniel O. Chamberlain, Springfield; Charles E. Stafford of Montpelier; P. I; and Roise S. Russell of Swanton.

Following the initiation, a banquet was served at Sally's Restaurant. Music at the banquet was furnished by the Phi Chi Orchestra. Short addresses were made by Drs. J. B. Wheeler, James D. Tanner, Seth Martin, H. A. Marcy and C. R. Murch. Several active members of the fraternity gave impromptu addresses.

The Phi Chi of McGill University of Montreal was represented by H. A. Marcy, H. A. McNaughton, R. L. McLeod, P. A. Fletcher and M. S. Magee.

MILITARY BALL TO BE HELD ARMISTICE EVE

Scabbard and Blade is making plans for the Military Ball which will be held on November 10, the evening preceding Armistice Day which comes on Thursday this year. This will be the first formal dance of the season as well as one of the first dances of any type to be held this year.

It is at this time that the freshmen and seniors blaze out in their brand new uniforms and trappings. The sophomores and juniors have to make the best of their somewhat faded ones or else wear tuxedos.

The Scabbard and Blade dances are noted for their decorations, the best music to be obtained in this section of the country, and the quality of their refreshments.

The tickets this year are selling for three dollars a couple which is very reasonable for this type of dance and the good time which it promises.

YOUNG CATAMOUNTS MEET PANTHER CUBS AT CENTENNIAL FIELD

Tomorrow afternoon, while the varsity is playing Tufts at Medford, Coach Rattan's yearling eleven will take on Middlebury Frosh at Centennial Field. This game will probably decide the Frosh State title. Last year the down state eleven took the locals into camp by a score of 27-0, and tomorrow the Green and Gold plebes are out for revenge.

Last week-end, while the Vermont Frosh were trimming Vermont Academy, the Middlebury Frosh were losing their first home game of the season to the St. Anselm's Prep School team by a 32-7 score.

The probable line-ups are as follows:

VERMONT '30	MIDDLEBURY '30
Sirois, r. e.	r. e., Guarrancia
Soloff, r. t.	r. t., Huntington
Bloomstrom, r. g.	r. g., Wilson
Levine, c.	c., Sun
Love, l. g.	l. g., McNary
Bernstein, l. t.	l. t., Lavine
Slate, l. e.	l. e., Goltry
Bray, q. b.	q. b., Cort
DeRose, r. h. b.	r. h. b., Mayer
Mitchell, l. h. b.	l. h. b., Cook
Mace, f. b.	f. b., Balkers

The strong point of the Frosh this year is their ability to send in a second team, nearly as good as the regulars. Mace will probably start at full, but Harwood will no doubt get a chance to show his wares, as well as Bernstein, Donaldson, Carrigan and Dorey. The line will probably remain as above unless a last-minute change is made.

SEMI-FINAL MATCHES FOR TENNIS CROWN TO BE FINISHED SOON

Because of the cold weather and the the match with Middlebury last Saturday, only one match in the semi-finals of the Tennis Tournament has been played off, Baldwin '28 defeating Shedd '29 by the score of 6-1, 6-1. The finals will be played off soon. Professor Carpenter won his way to the semi-finals by beating Taylor and Goddard and now faces either Macomber or Pingree. Baldwin, who played No. 1, in the match with Middlebury last Saturday, took out Albee, Towne, Graves, and Shedd in order and is now waiting for a chance at the title that "Freddie" Guild won last year.

MEDICS FORM GOVERNING BODY OF THEIR OWN

The members of the Medical College held a meeting Monday, October 11, to consider the question as to whether or not they should elect a Student Senate to direct the affairs of the Medical College, just as the Student Senate does on the academic side. By an unanimous vote, a motion was passed to have a Student Senate to consist of two members of Cap and Skull and two members elected from each of the other three classes of the Medical College. It was decided to hold the election of the members of the senate at a meeting to be held very soon.

One hundred years ago, the year's expenses of a student at Williams were estimated at $100.

RESULTS OF FRESHMAN INTELLIGENCE TESTS ARE NOW AVAILABLE

The intelligence test given the freshmen this year was a standard test put out by the American Council on Education. This same test is being used in over fifty colleges and universities. It is made up of seven separate tests, each composed of a number of questions related as to subject matter. The seven divisions are headed as follows: Opposites, Proverbs, Arithmetic, Artificial Language, Number Completion, Completion, and Analogies. The total score was based on the grades made on these items. Individual rated scores covered a wide range, the highest being several times the lowest.

Tests of this character have been given the entering classes for the past six years. Though they have been changed each year, they are of the same general type. The results of these tests have been found to bear an interesting correlation to the record of the individual throughout his college life, both in scholarship rating and in student activities. In nearly all cases, a high intelligence rating secured on this test marks the good student in later years. This correlation is more and more marked as the years pass, and in the last two years becomes very high.

The results of the test are now recorded, and Freshmen may obtain their grades by applying to the Psychology Department.

Four hundred and twenty students were tested in all, three hundred and fifty in the first group, and seventy more late arrivals two weeks after.

NEW MUSIC TEACHERS WILL GIVE A CONCERT IN CHAPEL WEDNESDAY

Elizabeth Bradish, Soprano and Miriam Marstone, Pianist to Give Interesting Program

A concert will be given Wednesday evening, October 27, in the Old Mill Chapel under the auspices of the Music Department by Miss Miriam Natalie Marston, pianist and Mrs. Elizabeth Bradish, dramatic soprano. The admission is free and the public is cordially invited.

Both of these musicians came to the Music Department this fall and have had a great deal of training and experience in their respective lines. Miss Marston is a graduate of Boston University and the Institute of Musical Pedagogy of Northampton, Massachusetts. She has studied with E. Tarbell and Arthur Tarbell of Worcester, William Hammond of Holyoke, and Professor John P. Marshall and Gertrude Edmunds of Boston. She assisted Professor Marshall of Boston University for several years, and has taught piano at Boston and at Northfield Seminary a number of years.

Mrs. Bradish studied with Wilfred Klamroth, Delia Valeri, Esperanza Garrigue, and Jesse Fenner Hill. She coached with Richard Hageman and Alberto Bimboni of the Metropolitan Opera Company, also Maurice La Farge and Lina Coen. She has studied piano with many noted musicians in New York and Chicago. She was four years teacher to Jesse Fenner Hill in New York, and has taught the past year in Burlington where she is well known as a singer and teacher.

With two such exceptional musicians on the program, music lovers, both on the Hill and in the City are promised a rare treat.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU JOBS PAY $437 TO DATE

The employment bureau has continued to give out jobs at about the same rate as for the first two weeks. In the second two weeks, students having work from the employment bureau have earned $282.00. This makes a total of $437.00 for the college year thus far. The number of jobs given out to date is 100 of which 23 are steady. These jobs have been given out to 55 men. There are 81 names filed at the office for work.

Last year at this time 35 jobs had been given of which about one-third were steady.

NEW MEN ARE GIVEN MANY RUSHING DATES

Rushing dates have already been given out and are being kept by all fraternities. Freshmen are reminded of the fact that bids will be given out on Sunday, October 24, at 2 P. M. in the Chapel in the Old Mill.

About three hundred twenty rushing dates were given out last Monday. As usual, football men were much in demand. Indeed, so great was the competition that sometimes eight or nine fraternities sought rushing dates with a single man. Inasmuch as there are but four nights allowed for rushing (Wednesday to Saturday, October 20) some fraternities were forced to forego the pleasure of rushing some of the class of 1930.

JAPANESE SWORD HILTS GIVEN TO MUSEUM BY MR. EDWARD SHEQUIN

The University Museum has been fortunate this year in having several gifts added to its collection, and considerable work done on the paintings in the art gallery.

Soon after the presentation of the unique Samoan addition spoken of in an early issue of the Cynic, Edward Shequin gave the museum seven bronze sword hilts beautifully inlaid and engraved which his son acquired while in Japan. In that country these hilts are made special objects of interest. Although no provision has yet been made for the display of this elaborate gift plans are being formulated so that the public may see this interesting collection in the near future.

The art gallery in the museum has been brought up to first class condition by the work of Mr. Scott Carbee, director of the Art Department in the summer school. Mr. Carbee restored many of the paintings which had been damaged in some way, or had faded with the time.

KEY AND SERPENT HOLD FESTIVITIES NEXT WEEK

The Key and Serpent Society met Tuesday evening at the Alpha Tau Omega House. Plans for the coming Key and Serpent Week-end were discussed. A lively program is being planned for the smoker which will be held next Friday evening in the Gymnasium. Many popular speakers and the band will be on hand to arouse pep for the Norwich gamewhich comes a week from tomorrow.

The Society will hold its first dance of the season Saturday evening, October 30, at which time it is expected that many Norwich men will be present.

DEPUTATION FROM "Y" GOES TO CHARLOTTE

Vermont Students Conduct Services and Discussion Group Last Week-end

A University Y. M. C. A. Deputation composed of John F. McColl, '27, Edwin A. Davis, '28, Maxwell G. Orr, '30, Ruby Blaine and Hazel Ladd attended Saturday evening a church social in Charlotte. The Sunday morning service of the Congregational Church was conducted by the deputation. Miss Ladd presided and the musical program was in charge of Miss Blaine, cellist, Mr. Davis, clarinetist. McColl and Orr spoke upon the subject "The Christian Life is a Normal Life." In the discussion of the subject, Christ was referred to as the normal man living the normal life. The youth of the college today as a whole could be regarded as having greater morality than in the past generations. It was also brought out that the college man or woman today at the end of his University career goes into the world better equipped to lead a normal Christian life and to be of service to humanity.

The object of the deputation was to establish a better understanding in regard to the Christian life of the college student, the influence of the University upon the church and to deepen the spiritual life of the community as much as possible.

VARSITY MEETS TUFTS IN THE MEDFORD OVAL TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Medford Team as Yet Undefeated—Vermont Men at Full Strength—None Hurt

With the first half of 1926 schedule already out of the way the Catamounts will start a drive to clean up the remaining games. Although the scores of the first half are far from being very impressive, the fact that Vermont has been playing teams out of her class, with the exception of Clarkson Tech, must be taken into consideration. Should Vermont take all the remaining games, which are with teams in her own class, the Green and Gold gridsters will have the satisfaction of having completed a successful season.

Tomorrow the Green and Gold eleven plays one of the few undefeated teams in the East, when she lines up against Tufts at the Medford Oval. Last Saturday the Jumbo men turned in an impressive victory over the strong Bowdoin eleven. Coach Sampson of Tufts stated that he was very much satisfied with the way his charges worked against Bowdoin last week, but figures that there is a great chance for improvement in the defensive game and especially in the breaking up of the enemy's aerial attack. Carey Brown, the most powerful back that Coach Sampson has, will return to the line-up tomorrow and will give a great added strength to the Jumbo eleven.

Vermont will go into tomorrow's fray with her full strength, nobody having been seriously hurt in last Saturday's scrap with Providence. The new backfield combination which Coach McAvoy used against Providence in the last quarter proved very successful and the team will probably line up with Donnelly at quarter and Conway at one of the halfback positions. Smith will be at full and Candon will take care of the other halfback position. O'Keefe will hold down the center job with Captain Denning and Kropper at guards. Winchenbach and Palmer at tackles, and Morse and Leary or Simpson at the wings.

MEMORIAL PORTRAIT OF PROF. GOODRICH HANGS IN BILLINGS LIBRARY

Many students have seen the window portrait of John E. Goodrich in the Billings Library numerous times, but probably few know the history of it.

This portrait was painted from life and presented to the library as a memorial to Professor Goodrich by the Phi Beta Kappa Society at Commencement time.

Professor Goodrich was greatly interested in the library for many years, acting as librarian part of the time, and it was due to this great interest that the memorial was made. Besides library work, Professor Goodrich had other interests. He held an office in the Phi Beta Kappa Society, and was a professor of Latin.

The window portrait in the library, however, is but a copy of the original one which is kept at the Delta Psi House.

Scrubs for Wetness

The editor of the "Wetness" will appreciate contributions at any time. These will reach her if left in the Cynic box in the Old Mill. Scrubs for this department are wanted and should leave their names at the Cynic office. All contributions must be signed. Names are withheld from publication if desired.

CHEERLEADING SCHOOL TRAINING 5 FRESHMEN

There will be cheerleading practice in the gymnasium Wednesday and Friday of this week. At present there are five candidates for the position, showing so far, highly promising ability. There exists a fine opportunity for men with the stuff to work up quickly, since there are no Juniors out. Some snappy leading will doubtless be shown at the Norwich game.

The supreme thrill: The electric chair.

The Vermont Cynic

THE STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the
NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION

Published every Tuesday and Friday during the college year. $3.00 a year, delivered anywhere in the United States. Single copy five cents.

All communications should be addressed to Business Manager 330 So. Willard St., and other correspondence to the Editor at 19 Colchester Ave.

Entered at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103 Act of October 3, 1917, authorized October 19, 1920.

Editors

Editor-in-Chief
News Editor
News Editor
Women's Editor
Sporting Editor
Intercollegiate Editor
Humor Editor
Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

Robert M. Tracy '29
Joseph Rhodd '29
Ina Bagley '27
Margaret Lovett '29
Virginia Margie '28

Business Staff

Business Mgr.
Advertising Mgr.
Assistant Manager
Assistant Manager
Assistant Manager

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, though names will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Any news matter should be handed in or telephoned to 681 before 9 p. m. Sunday and Wednesday.

In charge of this issue:

News Editor
Assistant Manager

Vol. 45 Oct. 22, 1926 No. 9

EMPTY COMPLAINTS

There has been much discussion among the campus of late regarding the early closing hour of dances held on Friday night. The cause of it all was the Mortar Board dance, which was held last Friday evening between seven-forty-five and eleven o'clock, hitherto unheard of hours. This gave rise to the rumor that all dances must follow the same schedule. But it appears now that Mortar Board intended to set a new precedent and decided on these hours of its own volition. As is often the case our complaints turn out to be based on nothing at all. It's a good idea to learn the facts of the case before beginning to vent irate passions at rumors of unjust interference with a freedom so little cherished when everything as one wants it.

STUDENT COUNCIL

In this issue is announced the formation of another student governing body. The men have formed a student council. They formerly had representation on the Student Senate which represents all the academic colleges, the members of Cap and Skull being members or officers of this body since its founding in 1925 with the same powers as the representatives of the other colleges. Due to the pressure of work in the Medical College these men find little time to engage in the activities of which this body has charge, to say nothing of attending meetings. There are problems which arise in that department and which should have the attention of a body that is on the scene all the time. The new council will be able to cope with these problems more expeditiously than a body which has to look after the affairs of the whole University as does the Student Senate.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION

If our crowded conditions of our hallways always breed such congestion as was seen one morning recently it will be necessary to hire a traffic cop to keep those going to and from classes in motion or lengthen the interval between classes five minutes. Following a ten-thirty class there were so many gathered at the foot of the south stairs leading from the Chapel that there was not room to move in any other direction than in that which the crowd was going and the crowd was standing still. The stairs were full of people, one line headed up and one down, yet neither could move for a full minute. Finally someone must have finished a conversation and moved on for the hundred or so persons were able to get in motion again. Whoever this person was who held the key to the situation it is impossible to say, but there are better places than the door of the Y. W. C. A. to stop for reflection or conversation.

Business Man Prefers H. S. Grad— But Forced To Take College Man

The Atlantic Monthly published in a summer number an article by Mr. A. W. Armstrong entitled, Are College Men Wanted? The title is rather startling especially to the college man who has always been told that the future of the nation and of the world rested with him and that all business, all opportunity was eagerly waiting to seize him. Mr. Armstrong first presented the situation from the standpoint of Big Business.

High School Graduates Preferred

Big Business at the present time wants not college graduates, but bright, capable high school graduates. But it looks in vain, for the high school graduate possessing the desired qualifications will not enter any life-work without a college education. Business must therefore take the college man.

Desire for Too Rapid Promotion

One of the greatest of the objections raised against the college man is his desire for too rapid advancement. True he has spent four, five, or more years in college in preparation for just such progress. Yet, from the business man's standpoint no amount of college training can take the place of two, three or more years of actual working experience. The college man expects to become, after a brief preliminary period an executive, a director at the very least. He wishes to direct whether or not he has had sufficient experience to make him capable to command. Often a man is under observation. He may be slated for a position of importance, but his superiors cannot give him such a position without first assuring themselves of his capability. To inform him too soon of such plans might ruin all his chances for advancement.

College men entering business life are too apt to think only of what they are to receive, not what they are to give, what they are able to give. They expect much but think little of giving. Men who have recently graduated are frequently in debt. Often, to complete their college education, they have been forced to borrow money. They have acquired tastes that call for money: golf, the Ford, the club, the theatre, and all the rest. Quite frequently they are engaged. They want money enough to enable them to marry and to live and enjoy the same kind of life that they have lived and enjoyed while at college.

Executives Belong to Old School

The executives, the chiefs of today's Big Business, are largely men of the old school, men who never received a college education, who worked hard, from lowest position to highest. It is seldom that such men can appreciate the college man's viewpoint. To them rapid advancement is folly, is not to be thought of. The recent graduate frequently lacks the tact and courtesy needed to make a favorable impression for executives, whether college educated or not, whether believing in a college education or not, do expect courtesy from a college graduate.

Period of Adjustment

Graduation throws men into the world with a jolt. They are used to the carefully prepared curriculum, to tests and assignments, to the apron strings of college. Life throws them off their balance. They spend a certain amount of time in floundering and in adjusting themselves to their new surroundings. As an aftermath of their college life these recent graduates ask and expect far too many special privileges.

One of the graduate's biggest jolts comes when he discovers that Big Business is really very unbusinesslike, and that loyalty to the firm is a myth. Much disloyal talk soon discourages the inexperienced man, often causing him to throw up a god job for one at least no better. Mr. Armstrong suggests that a Big Brother Association on the part of Big Business might do much in aiding the discouraged young graduate and might materially assist in adjusting many existing misunderstandings.

There is a certain equipment which, to succeed, every college graduate must have. He should be able to present plans or suggestions in a convincing and pleasing manner—he must be able to talk forcefully without offending. He needs courage, endurance, inventiveness; but above all he needs initiative and tact. To think of others, to show proper courtesy, and to act when action is necessary is to be successful according to this article.

Daily Dribble

Don't you know it takes push to get pull!

Don't talk behind your enemy's back that's the place to kick him.

The drummer in the band holds the only job where one can beat time and get paid for it.

It is easier to keep up than to catch up.

The man of the hour never wastes a minute.

Dean F. S. M. Bennett of Chester Cathedral, England will be here the 29th. Don't fail to hear him.

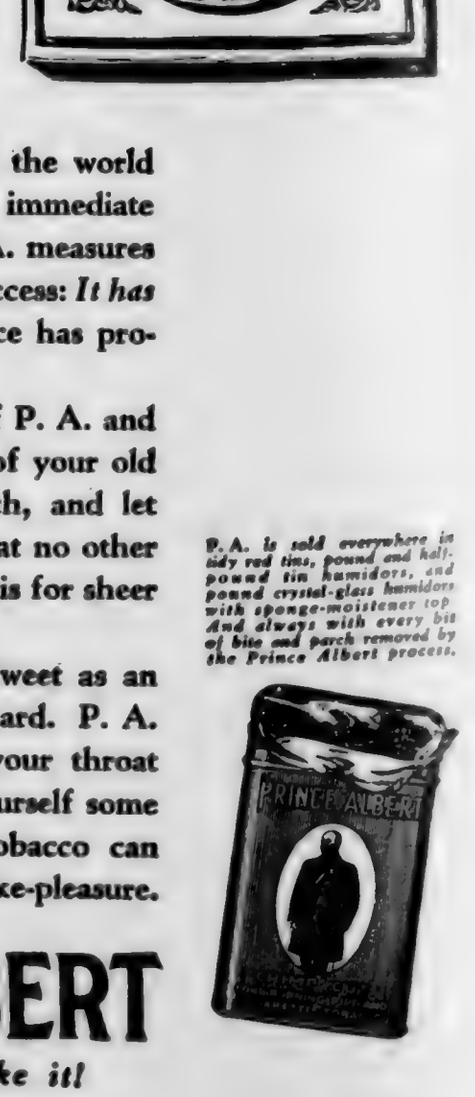
Heebe: Did you know that women were in politics many thousands of years ago?

Jeebe: No, where did you get that?

Heebe: Well, it is stated that Salome's motion was received by the house with loud applause.—Oregon Orange Owl.

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
97½ Church St.
1 FLIGHT UP
Excellent service for Ladies and Gents

SALE



Closing out a few numbers of
UNIVERSITY SEAL STATIONERY
at a big reduction
SPECIAL SALE DAY
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22
A bargain not to be missed
AT
The University Stores

Tel. 407-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

FALL FAVORITES
at the
COFFEE CORNER
SWEET CIDER
AND APPLES

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

an Old Grad of the Class of '07

PRINCE ALBERT stepped out into the world nearly twenty years ago. Success was immediate . . . and outstanding. Because P. A. measures up to the first and greatest rule for success: It has the goods! The school of experience has produced no finer tobacco than this.

Just buy yourself a tidy red tin of P. A. and tamp a load flush with the muzzle of your old jimmy-pipe. Connect with a match, and let that first wonderful drag tell you that no other tobacco can come within a mile of this for sheer pipe-quality.

Cool as a dormitory radiator. Sweet as an extra cut. Fragrant as a peach-orchard. P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat—another important detail. Get yourself some Prince Albert today. No other tobacco can bring you so much downright smoke-pleasure.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Co-ed's Corner

Sorority Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

... a dinner of the alumnæ was ... Chamber House yesterday ...

Alpha Xi Delta

... is being given this afternoon ... Marion Way in honor ... province president, Mrs. ... Ketch, who is a guest of ... this week-end.

... Whitcomb '25 is at the ... Hospital, following an ... appendicitis.

CTIVE YEAR PLANNED BY BLUESTOCKINGS—NEW MEMBERS WILL BE TAKEN

... will be a paper posted in the ... which all girls who are in- ... Bluestockings may sign. ... Bluestockings is the women's liter- ... society and membership may be ... in two ways: First, by writ- ... an article and presenting it for the ... approval; and second, by be- ... elected to the CYNIC staff. Two ... a month are held, the first ... a business meeting at which ... member presents a paper, and the ... a social meeting. The club is ... this year with the coopera- ... of the English department to have ... good speakers such as Dorothy ... Fisher and Margaret Widde- ...

All interested are requested to watch ... bulletin board for further an- ... cements.

W. A. A. NOTES

Hockey and volley ball teams were ... this week. The line-ups will ... posted on the board early next ...

Monday, the 25th, will be Point Day, ... Marian Everest in charge. The ... Physical Education bulletin ... is to be devoted to this. Lists ... points won already will be posted, ... as different insignias and the ... of earning these insignias. ... watch this board on Monday, ... Freshmen.

The Health Council had its first ... Tuesday. Different articles ... to be posted each day in the "Y" ...

CO-ED LITERARY SOCIETY PLANS FOR HALLOWE'EN

Bluestockings held a short business ... at Grassmount Tuesday eve- ... Plans for a Hallowe'en party ... be held at the Vermonters' Club ... were discussed. It was voted to ... all students interested in the ... as well as members.

The Love Game

[Tennis court in the rear of college ... Verdun Gunner and Stenny ... are toiling carelessly to one an- ... Both are dressed in collegiate, ... colored, sporting-apparel. Stenny ... just learning to play. Verdun is ... some easy balls for her to hit. ... are talking, and happen to be ... interested in their conversation ... in returning the balls. Conse- ... many roll off the court and ... has to chase them. Instead of ... them over the net to her, he ... across. There they stand ... a few minutes.]

... How about a little drive, ... Anywhere you say.

... No, I don't want to go rid- ... you—I've got a date with ... not especially fond of him, ... simply got to make me under- ... Socrates is saying—before ... I'm a "goner."

... Stenny, you don't mean to ... going to give me the jilt ... fogy, Plato? Come, you're ...

... I was never more serious ... Here, smash this ball.

... leaping into action): You ...

... That was a nice pick-up, ... you pick up co-eds as easily ...

... the ball an angry swat. ... above the court, bounds and ... near the gym. Stenny looks ... with an amused pucker ... lips. She calls out to him.]

... score, Verdy? Are you in ... I?

... approaching with ball on ... Deuce the score! I'm in ...

... (eyeing him meditatively): ... of scoring is beyond my ... sion, Mr. Gunner. Oh, dear, Verdy, I'm dead! Let's not play any more.

Verdun (settling down upon the grass): I'm game.

[Stenny sits down at quite a distance from Verdy. He pushes himself up near her. She looks out across the fields. He looks up into her face. She stares back into his. His lips move. he murmurs: What a glorious day'

[And they both burst out laughing.]

CO-ED HEALTH COUNCIL RECOMMENDS SLEEP TO PREVENT AILMENTS

It is a well-recognized fact that one of the underlying factors of health is sufficient sleep. This item is often too lightly regarded by college students. It would appear as if they thought there was something in their course of study or in their many outside activities which took the place of this formerly necessary sleep. And it is precisely such people who provide us with our large list of absences for over-tiredness and for colds. For it is a well-known fact that any person who is enjoying good health and not in a run-down condition has a very slight chance of contracting a cold. Therefore, if there are any such misinformed students in Vermont, let them change their habits while the college year is still young. The harder your course, the more outside activities you engage in, the more you have on your mind, then by all means the more sleep you need. You are not a perpetual machine, there is not such a thing in existence. And if there were man would be about the farthest thing from it. Get your sleep and give yourself a fair chance!

Current Comment

Poetry

In the Century for October there are three pleasing bits of verse, well worth reading. "Youth," by Brooke Maury expresses the time in every man's life when knowledge seems to reveal to him the beautiful vistas of nature and "to steady him in truth." "Song of the Wave," by Ralph Emerson Hackett is quite salty as it swings with the freedom of the sea. A little selfish prayer completes the whimsical, airy lines. "Corn Shocks," by Clay Crawford is a vivid description of

"Something of a steeple, something of a tree, Something of a wigwam, old and dear to me."

"Cretan Tear Jar," by Joseph Auslander in the North American Review for October recalls Keats' "Ode to a Grecian Urn." Where the former has not the imagery and expression of the latter yet it possesses a rare allusion to the present which is sad and tearful.

Now for something that will arouse ire and righteous indignation in the heart of every honest co-ed and put both to rout after you have finished reading "Eve Blamed Again for Evil in Eden" in the Literary Digest for October 9, which has caused contemporary commotion. W. O. Cross, the "critic of co-eds," the "denouncer of demons," is rightfully refuted. Quotations of his and of his enemies are freely given, making perusal pleasing. The caricature makes one's heart swell with joy and one's mind unrestrainedly proclaim the drawer, an artist of clever portraiture, marvelous in his detail and hidden meanings.

Exhilarating books! That is what we are seeking! They are to be found on the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. shelf in the library. They lift the reader above the every-day life of lectures, lessons, learning and place him in a higher realm of fundamentals. Some titles reveal the depth and breadth covered "Christianity and the Religious of the World."

"Religious Perplexities."
"Ideals and Realities in Europe."
"Christianity and the Race Problem."
"The Enrichment of Prayer."
"Life Principles."

They are well-worth delving into.

VERMONT ENTERTAINS ITS ALUMNI TEACHERS

The University of Vermont gave a dinner for all the alumni teaching in the state, at five-thirty yesterday afternoon, in the National Life Insurance building at Montpelier, during the State Teachers Convention. Among the distinguished guests were: Governor Franklin S. Billings; F. W. Ballou, Superintendent of Schools at Washington, D. C.; Mayor E. H. Deavitt; and the Honorable C. H. Dempsey, Commissioner of Education of Vermont.

BOULDER PLANNING FOR COMING GAMES

The Boulder Society met Tuesday evening to discuss plans for activities in the near future. The possibility of running a special train to the Middlebury game is to be looked up and if it is found feasible, it is likely that an attempt will be made to carry as many of the student body as will go in this manner.

A large sign is to be posted as has been the custom for two or three years on the front of the gymnasium with, "Beat Norwich" printed on it, as part of the program to arouse interest in next week's game.

Last year an attempt was made to form the letter "V" in the stands by using small flags set at specified positions and held by spectators who sat in those places. An attempt may be made to do this again this year.

The Wetness

By Way of Explanation

The Editor frowned a frown,
The Editor groaned a groan,
Looked over the next week's CYNIC
And called me up on the phone

"Why isn't your colyum done?
Doggone your lazyness!
Here you haven't written a thing,
And the CYNIC's going to press!"

"Oh, Editor dear," said I,
"I'm sorry, Editor dear
But I can't write a colyum this week,
'Cause I haven't a single idea!"

The Editor said to me,
"You certainly make me hot!
Go write your stuff. No matter,
If you have ideas or not."

Though my mind was a perfect blank,
Still the Editor sounded peeved,
So I opened the old Corona,
And here is what I achieved

The Dean's Influence

The students went to the movies
In the days of long ago
They let their studying go to hang,
And went to the movie show.

The Dean got a little worried
To Mr Majestic he said,
"If you raise your rates a little,
The boys might study instead."

They raised the rates at the movies,
They jacked them up a dime,
To make the students stay at home,
And study, some of the time.

* * * * *

The students go to the movies,
They pay with grief and woe,
But still their studying goes to hang,
And they go to the movie show.

Tea Dances

Mortar Board tea dances starting at six,
For our co-eds must be careful at night
About those on the hill, with whom they may mix
After dark, late. It sure is a fright!

Co-eds shake off your old-fashioned ways,
Come up to date in your social ties,
Closing dances in early evening pays,
Cause your hour of sleep rapidly flies

Go to bed early, get up early too,
Study hard but always take care
Not to intentionally over-do
Make your conscience your dare!

At the University of Utah, henceforth, corduroy pants are the exclusive symbol of the Junior class. Members of other classes are forbidden to assume this dignity.

An organization which has already become strong at Syracuse University is the Eskimo Club, the famous campus club, for membership in which only defeated managerial candidates are eligible. This organization is becoming so powerful that candidates are hesitating to accept the assistant managerships such is the desirability of membership in this order. A case in point is that of one man, who, eligible in having lost a race, became ineligible in having accepted an assistant managership, but rather than lose out on Eskimo, threw over the manager's job.

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

HOW MUCH ARE YOU WORTH?
You can Capitalize part of your earning power NOW.
Let me show you
"BERNIE" '25

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

U. V. M.
We will paint or imprint FREE any school, fraternity or your own initials on that slicker or raincoat you buy from us.
WORK DONE BY AN EXPERT
PEOPLE'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
29 Church Street

Student's Accounts Solicited
Turk Says
Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready
This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay per week for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Turk's
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

College life's the life for me

My Remington Portable does all the work

THE Remington Portable is almost human in its adaptability to your problems. Maybe you are on the track team—possibly you are out for crew—and you need all the spare time you can get. That's where the Remington Portable shines. It speeds up your work and gives you more time for other activities.

It is the handiest, fastest, most dependable and simplest to operate of all portables. It weighs only 8½ pounds, net, and since the carrying case is only 4 inches high, you can put it away in a drawer when not needed.

Smallest, lightest, and most compact of standard keyboard portables, is it any wonder it is the recognized leader in sales and popularity?

Terms as low as $10 down and $5 monthly.

The Recognized Leader in Sales and Popularity

W. H. SHERMAN, 184 Church St., Burlington, Vt.
REMINGTON TYPEWRITER CO., Howard National Bank Bldg., Burlington, Vt.
186 College St.

ENTER THE MISSING HEADLINE CONTEST . . . SEE OPPOSITE PAGE

"Friend, _____

_____"

"You like a strong he-man's cigarette.

"So do I. But that's no reason why you should pay for it with a parched tongue or throat.

"Pick a brand that gives you all the punch you want without any punishment.

"Switch to OLD GOLDS . . . and get all the sweet without any bitter; all the pleasure without any penalty.

"They're smoothest—that's why!"

Some men have the mistaken notion that a real he-man's cigarette must be harsh and coarse. That's "all wet." A fine full-bodied cigarette, like a fine full-bodied Havana, is smooth and mellow. OLD GOLDS are mellowed by a new method that takes out all the bite and leaves in all the "kick." That's why you can smoke them without "throat-tickle"; why you can smoke and enjoy them morning, noon and night—without regret or after-effect.

PLENTY OF PUNCH · · BUT NO PUNISHMENT

OLD GOLD

THE SMOOTH*EST* CIGARETTE

20 for 15 cents

CAN YOU SUGGEST THE CLEVEREST WORDS TO COMPLETE THE HEADLINE IN THE ADVERTISEMENT ON OPPOSITE PAGE?

$2,000.00 in CASH PRIZES

FIRST PRIZE
$1,000.00
for the best suggestion

SECOND PRIZE $500.00
for the next best suggestion

50 PRIZES $10.00
for the 50 next best suggestions

JUDGES

GEORGE McDEVITT . . . New York Representative Boston Herald-Traveler

MORTON S. RUTSKY . . . President, Collegiate Special Advertising Agency, Inc.

JULIUS MATHEWS . . . Representative of 48 New England Newspapers

ROBERT W. ORR . . Lennen & Mitchell, Inc., Advertising Agency

THE P. Lorillard Company plan to publish the advertisement opposite for OLD GOLD Cigarettes in a list of important publications.

In order to secure the most effective headline, they are inviting the men and women of New England to read the text of the advertisement carefully, study the picture and then submit their headline suggestions—each headline suggestion to start with the word "FRIEND" and to contain not over ten words all told.

Perhaps, one of the men in the picture is telling his friend how to get rid of his "tickling throat." He might be saying "FRIEND, DON'T KEEP THAT THROAT-TICKLE; SWITCH TO OLD GOLDS!" Or he may be saying something entirely different pertaining to the excellence of OLD GOLD Cigarettes. You can write your own ticket!

52 prizes totalling $2,000 will be awarded for the 52 headline suggestions which most cleverly get over the point of this advertisement—in the opinion of the judges.

CONTEST RULES

(1) Contest opens October 18th and closes November 1st. All replies must be mailed to reach the Lorillard Company by or before midnight of November 1st. Winners will be announced the week of November 15th

(2) Anyone—of either sex—may compete, excepting employees of the P. Lorillard Company, or their affiliated companies.

(3) Read the text of the advertisement carefully. Study the picture. Then submit the most appropriate headline starting with the word "FRIEND" and using not over ten words all told. The shorter the headline, the better, if it gets over the point.

(4) Originality, clearness, brevity, neatness and legibility will count.

(5) Send your suggestion on the coupon in this advertisement, or a sheet of paper, written on one side of sheet, only. Sign your full name and address. You may submit as many suggestions as you like, but each must be on a separate sheet of paper, or a separate coupon with your name and address in full

(6) In the event that several persons submit the same winning headline, with equal neatness and equal respect for the above conditions, the prize for that headline will be divided equally among them.

(7) The P. Lorillard Company will have the right to use as it pleases any or all headlines suggested, whether they secure a prize or not.

ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT, Division 134
P. LORILLARD CO., 119 W. 40th St., New York City

My suggestion for the headline of the OLD GOLD advertisement (Contest No. 1) is as follows:—

"FRIEND,_____

_____"

NAME.....

STREET.....

DATE..... TOWN.....

Another $2,000 HEADLINE CONTEST NEXT WEEK [WATCH NEXT WEEK'S PAPERS]

26 FRESHMEN ENJOY SUPPER AT CITY Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Warner for 22 Years in Brazil Tells of Association's Work There

[illegible] host from the Freshman [illegible] supper at the city Y. M. [illegible] at 5:45

[illegible] for the past twenty- [illegible] been in Brazil doing [illegible] for the national Y M [illegible] address immediately following the supper. He told briefly [illegible] the Christian Association was do- [illegible] in Brazil. He said [illegible] out in the budget [illegible] this year was put [illegible] three secretaries [illegible] that if this should [illegible] remaining secretaries [illegible] to carry on the work. [illegible] people are just begin- [illegible] interest in the associa- [illegible] curtailment in Y [illegible] would prove dis-

[illegible] during the supper an [illegible] several selections, and [illegible] in singing songs under [illegible] of Gordon Flood, [illegible] secretary. After the [illegible] with Dr. C. C. [illegible] adjourned to another [illegible] conference. Two men [illegible] class told what [illegible] was trying to do for [illegible] hill. Dr Adams [illegible] of some experiences he had [illegible] students. He also [illegible] necessity of keeping up [illegible] college. He showed [illegible] to have a Supreme [illegible] we may look for help. [illegible] have these suppers at [illegible] month.

Speaking of Sport

Last week it was announced that Norwich would play on Centennial Field Saturday but it was all a mistake. The game was to be held a week from next Saturday.

In regard to the matter of non-athletic persons wearing the "V" we certainly agree with "26" that immediate and drastic action should be taken in any such case.

[illegible] in making up last [illegible] issued an erroneous statement in the [illegible] story of the Providence [illegible] put by the editor. We [illegible] at this time. The only [illegible] Vermont ever played [illegible] Providence was three years ago in 1924 and Heck's last year here was '22. [illegible] played only a year after [illegible] serves it was [illegible] Rhode Island College [illegible] and they were de-

[illegible] to laud each year's [illegible] as great prospective [illegible] next season's varsity [illegible] yearlings are actu- [illegible] great prospective [illegible] they can stay in col- [illegible] experience under [illegible] and a year's extra [illegible] should be a won- [illegible] 1927 varsity

EXTENSION SERVICE NEWS

[illegible] E. Storey ex '09, Manager [illegible] Worcester County Extension [illegible] Massachusetts, ad- [illegible] annual meetings of the [illegible] County Farm Bureau Asso- [illegible] boro, Vermont, Octo- [illegible] Orange County Farm [illegible] at Chelsea, October [illegible] Washington County Farm [illegible] at Montpelier, [illegible] Orleans County Farm [illegible] at Coventry, Octo- [illegible] Lamoille County Farm [illegible] at Morrisville

[illegible] Great, of the Depart- [illegible] addressed the an- [illegible] Franklin County [illegible] at Enosburg [illegible] and will address the [illegible] Farm Bureau As- [illegible] October 22.

[illegible] Buehler is address- [illegible] the Grand Isle County [illegible] Association at North [illegible]

A [illegible] tract of land, lying [illegible] of Essex Center, is under [illegible] of F M Callward Ex- [illegible] Forester of the University of [illegible] and State College of Agri- [illegible] and will be used for actual [illegible] practices.

Mr. Joseph E Parker, in charge of [illegible] Testing Association Work for the [illegible] Division of the United States [illegible] Department of Agriculture, and Mr [illegible] Allen N Crissey, Eastern Extension Representative of the Holstein Friesian Association of America, will give addresses at the meeting of the Vermont Dairymen's Association to be

STUDENT SENATE VOTES BAND $100—CALENDAR OUT IN NEAR FUTURE

No meeting of the Student Senate has been held to date this week, but at the meeting held last week it was voted to give the band one hundred dollars to be used to pay the expenses of the Springfield trip.

Mountain Day was discussed. It is getting so late in the season that this pilgrimage to Mt. Mansfield, the highest part of Vermont's Greater Campus will probably not be held this year because of the inclement weather. For the past two or three years this trip has been patronized by a considerable number of students, and the Council has granted a holiday for the purpose, but because of the smaller and smaller number which takes advantage of this opportunity each year it would be difficult to get the day again.

The social calendar has not yet appeared on the Campus, but a number of representative students attended the meeting of the Faculty Council last Monday, where the matter was discussed fully. A program, which although somewhat different from that of former years, is conceded by all to have advantages and will be offered to the Senate in the near future by the Council, for any suggestions which they may have for its improvement.

The rumor which has been rampant on the Campus for the last few weeks to the effect that all Friday night dances will be forced to end at eleven o'clock is unfounded as no regulations of this nature have been passed.

IONA IRISH '19 WEDS H. E. TOMLINSON '25

Miss Iona V. Irish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving A. Irish of Underhill, and Dr. Herbert Ellsworth Tomlinson of Washington, D. C., son of Mrs. E. R. Davis of Albany, N. Y., were the first couple to be married at the newly dedicated Brides' altar in the Church of the Transfiguration, better known as the "Little Church Around the Corner" 1 East 29th Street, New York City, on Sunday, October 3 at 2 P. M. Rev. Rowland Ray, rector of the church, read the ceremony.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. George Morgan of Glenbrook, Conn. The bride's dress was of pearl gray velvet trimmed with gray fur. She wore a picture hat of tangerine velvet and carried a bouquet of orchids and lillies-of-the-valley. The matron of honor wore a tan crepe de chine gown, pale green hat, and carried white roses and lillies-of-the-valley.

The wedding took place on the 78th Anniversary of the founding of the famous church where more than 60,000 weddings have taken place. The altar is the gift of brides who have been married in the church.

A wedding luncheon was given at the grill room of the McAlpin Hotel. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. George Morgan of Glenbrooke, Conn., Mrs. Fred Cowperthwaite of Stamford, Conn., grandmother of the bride, and Mrs A. W. Jones of 924 North Avenue, Burlington, Vt.

After spending a few days in Connecticut and New York, Dr. and Mrs. Tomlinson went to their home in Washington, D. C., where Dr. Tomlinson is employed at the Walter Reed General Hospital in the Army Medical Center. Mrs. Tomlinson is a graduate of the University of Vermont in the class of 1919 and of the School of Journalism at the University of Wisconsin in the class of 1922. During the last four years she has been at the Central High School in Tulsa, Oklahoma where she was director of publications.

Doctor Tomlinson is a graduate of the University of Vermont College of Medicine in the class of 1925, of the New York Lying-in Hospital, and the Norwegian Hospital of Brooklyn.

Dr and Mrs. Tomlinson are at home at 1304 Floral Street, N. W., Washington D. C.

"ART" HARMS SEEN IN THE "QUARTERBACK"

Followers of the movies were treated to a pleasant surprise on Monday and Tuesday at the Majestic, when they saw "Art" Harms '26, captain of last season's Varsity football team, playing on the screen with Richard Dix in the "Quarterback." Harms is now playing with the New York Giants. In the picture he was a guard on the winning team.

Held in the gymnasium of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College, October 26 27 28.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

MRS. TAGGART AGAIN TO DIRECT COLLEGE PLAY

Mrs. C. Ives Taggart, who has successfully coached the University Players for the past few years, has again been secured to direct the college play which will be produced in December. Mrs. Taggart has been instrumental in presenting such outstanding successes as "Tweedles," "Milestone," "Her Husband's Wife," "The Goose Hangs High" and "The Saving Grace." With an unusually good wealth of material which has been used in plays for the past two years, the coming play has all indications of being up to the high standard set by Mrs. Taggart.

A committee from the Wig and Buskin, and the Masque and Sandal dramatic societies, was elected to choose the college play at a meeting held last Tuesday night at the Delta Psi House. Charles Blackall '27, is chairman; the other members are Misses Eunice Cook, Elizabeth Johnson, Eleanor Chapman, and R. J. Albee and E. C. Mower. Tryouts for the play will be held in the near future. Dates for the trials will be announced in the Cynic.

FACULTY NOTES

The first meeting of the Faculty Club will be held Saturday evening at the home of President Bailey. Professor Groat will speak on English Coal and English Industry.

Judge Moore spoke recently before a gathering in the Unitarian Church.

On Saturday evening, October 16, at the weekly dinner of the Ethan Allen Club, Walter H. Crockett spoke on the "Life of General Ira Allen."

Professor Joseph Wiseltier, of Columbia University is going to speak on October 23 at the Unitarian Church under the auspices of the Burlington Art League. His lecture, illustrated by stereopticon and moving pictures will be entitled "Art for You and for Me."

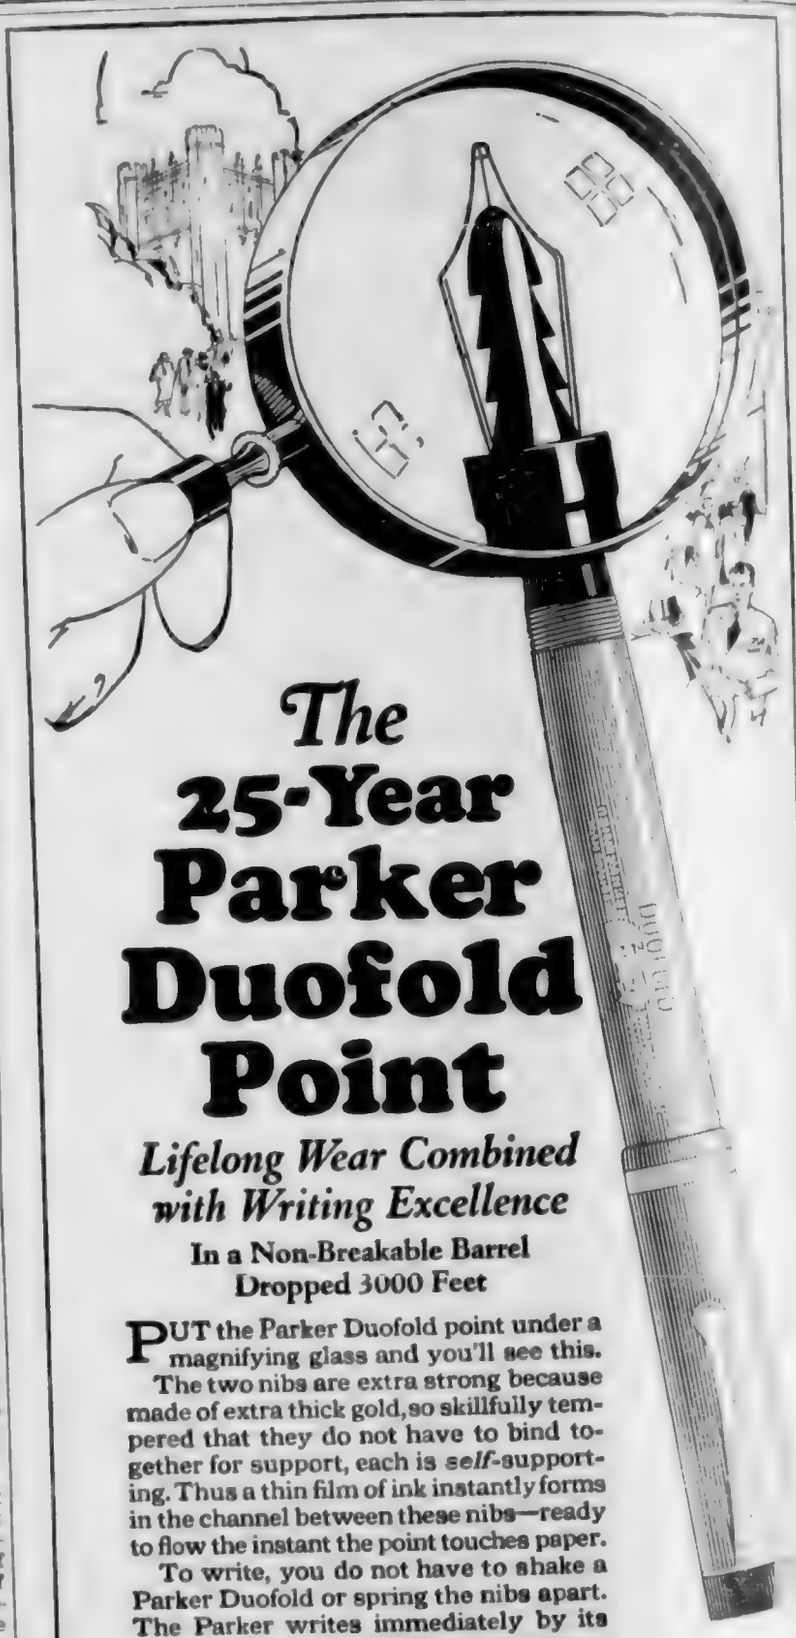
John A. Newlander, instructor in animal and dairy husbandry at the University has written a book entitled "Testing Dairy Products." The book, just off the press, is being published by the Olsen Publishing Company of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

NATIONAL STUDENT FEDERATION TO REPORT SOON ON LIQUOR POLL

The Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Act are again called to the attention of readers of student publications by a follow-up letter received from the National Student Federation of America regarding their survey of student opinion on the prohibition question started last spring. The Cynic conducted a prohibition ballot at that time which showed the majority clearly in favor of it.

The Federation was formed last winter at a Princeton Conference at which representatives from many colleges were present. The purpose of the organization is the formulation of American student opinion. The report of the prohibition survey will be ready November 15 and will represent the first effort of the Federation to get a student census of opinion on any question.

Athletic Supplies
Suits and Supplies for Gymnasium
L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET



DEBATING SCHEDULE BEING ARRANGED

Work on the debating schedule is going forward rapidly. There seem the best prospects for a full schedule and a good season, both at home and away. Tryouts for the team will be held within the next week or two.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

"Do you know ma[illegible]"
"Yes, we sleep in [illegible]"

TASTEFUL JEWELRY
for the woman of [illegible] is what you will [illegible] Parish's. We [illegible] latest and best [illegible] and our precious [illegible] the uttermost ends [illegible] Come and see them.
Russel W. Parish
97 Ch[illegible]

The 25-Year Parker Duofold Point
Lifelong Wear Combined with Writing Excellence
In a Non-Breakable Barrel Dropped 3000 Feet
PUT the Parker Duofold point under a magnifying glass and you'll see this.
The two nibs are extra strong because made of extra thick gold, so skillfully tempered that they do not have to bind together for support, each is self-supporting. Thus a thin film of ink instantly forms in the channel between these nibs—ready to flow the instant the point touches paper.
To write, you do not have to shake a Parker Duofold or spring the nibs apart. The Parker writes immediately by its own weight alone—without pressure, without effort.
A point tipped with an extra large pellet of pure native iridium that defies a generation of wear.
And we can guarantee it for 25 years not only for mechanical perfection but for wear!
Step in to the nearest pen counter today and try your favorite point in a Parker Duofold—Extra Fine, Fine, Medium, Stub, Broad or Oblique.
Non-Breakable Permanite Barrel
Parker [illegible] point [illegible] Black [illegible] queer [illegible] "Permanite" [illegible] trous [illegible] weight [illegible] does [illegible] shrink [illegible] 3[illegible] [illegible] aeroplane [illegible] breaking.
Parker Duofold Pencils to match the Pens: Lady Duofold, $3; Over-size Jr., $3.50 "Big Brother" Over-size, $4
THE PARKER PEN COMPANY, JANESVILLE, WIS.
OFFICES AND SUBSIDIARIES: NEW YORK · CHICAGO ATLANTA · DALLAS · SAN FRANCISCO TORONTO, CANADA · LONDON, ENGLAND
Parker Duofold $7 OVER SIZE
Lucky Curve Feed and 25 Year Point
Duofold Jr. $5 Lady Duofold $5
Red and Black Outer Cover Design Reg. Trade Mark U. S. Pat. Off.
PARKER DUOFOLD Pens and Pencils carried in Burlington by
F. J. PRESTON & Son
Jewelers
17 Upper Church Street
All makes of pens repa[illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1926 — NUMBER 10

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT HIGH SCHOOL EDITORS' CONFERENCE SATURDAY

Morning Session Addressed By President Bailey, Professor Tupper and Mr. Crockett—Luncheon at Hotel Vermont

Over 80 delegates representing 22 Vermont cities and towns attended the annual conference of High School Editors held in Burlington under the auspices of the University, Saturday. This is the largest attendance in the records of this conference's history.

The first session was held at 10.15 A. M. in the Old Mill Chapel. President Guy W. Bailey delivered the address of welcome. Walter H. Crockett who had charge of arrangements and was leader of the Conference, outlined the purpose of the Conference. Professor Frederick Tupper, head of the English Department taking for his topic "The Problem of the High School Editor." delivered an address which was of great practical value to the school journalists.

Following the speeches an open forum was held in which everyone entered and much helpful exchange of ideas took place.

At 12.45 P. M. a luncheon was served on the Roof Garden of the Hotel Vermont. Following this, Miss Laura Parker '17, for the past year teacher in Hoboken, N. J., formerly a teacher in Proctor and now a member of the University English Department spoke on "The Relation of School Journalism to the Work of the English Department." One of her suggestions was to replace the irregular and widely separated issues of the school paper that predominate in most schools by a four-page sheet which could be put out much oftener. After her address different teachers present were called on by Mr. Crockett to say a few words. Any problems which had not been brought up before were discussed at this time. The program closed in time to allow the representatives present to go home in the middle of the afternoon.

A large number of High School teachers were present. One of the aims of the Department of Journalism is to foster closer relations between

(Continued on page 2)

COLLEGE DIRECTORY

The College Directory is fast nearing completion and the Registrar's Office expect to have it in circulation the first or second week of November. The first proof has been passed but it will be retarded in coming out sooner owing to the forgetfulness of some students to hand in their information cards.

The Directory will appear in the same form as last year.

SENIORS WOULD ABOLISH DIRECT PRIMARY FOR NOMINATING OFFICIALS

The fourth Senior debate of the year was held at 3 p. m. Friday in the Old Mill Chapel. The question was "Resolved, that the direct primary system should be abolished." The affirmative received the almost unanimous vote of the audience.

The subject proved as uninteresting to the listeners as it must have been to the speakers. T. M. Egan led the affirmative to their victory aided by J. S. Devlin and H. L. Woodard. H. A. Dimick led the affirmative with W. R. Doane and G. S. Sloan second and third speakers.

The main features of the debate were the [illegible] exclamations and the facial [illegible] executed by some of the

UNIVERSITY RECEIVES BEQUEST OF $51,000

A bequest of $51,000 was left to the University of Vermont by the late Mrs Emma H. Slade of New York City. An appraisal of the estate of Mrs Slade shows gross assets amounted to $91,745 and net assets of $[illegible]. The Massachusetts General [illegible] is also a beneficiary of $11,-

Among the bequests made by Chief Justice James M. Tyler of Brattleboro [illegible] for the University. A like [illegible] bequeathed to Middlebury.

Seats at Norwich Game

All students who intend to be at the Norwich game should take their athletic tickets to the Old Mill Chapel on Wednesday or Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m. and procure reserved seat tickets. If this is not done students will be forced to pay the regular price for their seats in the grandstand.

FLAG GUTTERSON WON AT STOCKHOLM IN 1912 COMES TO UNIVERSITY

An Olympic games flag has been received by the University recently. The American Olympic Association presented the flag for the victories won by "Al" Gutterson '12 at the games held in Stockholm in 1912. Gutterson broke the world's record for the broad jump at that time. The flag is of white with fine circles intertwined in the center. The circles represent the five continents in unity.

11 MEN'S FRATERNITIES PLEDGE 78 MEN AS RESULT OF RUSHING

Sunday afternoon ended the formal rushing season with bidding in the Old Mill. As a result of the week's activity among the fraternities 78 men had been pledged at that time. Last year only 55 men took bids at the bid table, while the year before about 90 chose their fraternity in the Old Mill. While the number pledged at the start in recent years is not so large as once it indicates a spirit of deliberatness among the yearling which is to be considered favorable.

Lambda Iota announces the pledging of Joseph Eaton of Grosmore, N. H.; James McNally of Lawrence, Mass.; Walter C. Smith of Huntington, W. Va.; and Harry Slate of Indian Orchard, Mass.

Sigma Phi announces the pledging of Francis Beerd of Bristol, Conn.; Robert Billings of Rutland; Benjamin Bullock of Beverely, Mass.; Charles Capron of Bellows Falls, Charles Cary of Waltham, Mass.; Wendell Lang of Cambridge, Charles Mace, Jr., of Mittineague, Mass.; and Ivan Stanhope of Winooski.

Delta Psi announces the pledging of Arnold Aronson of Proctor; Frank Beckley, Jr., of Great Neck, L. I.; Raymond Bostwick of Burlington; Robert Buckley of Burlington; John Bradish of Washington, D. C.; Harold Dow, Major Jenks, Herrick Macomber and Henry Powell all of Burlington; Philip Perry of Newton, Mass.; Allen Wheeler of Holyoke, Mass.; and George James of Hardwick.

Phi Delta Theta announces the pledging of Herbert Borkland of Longmeadow, Mass.; Roy Deshaw of Burlington; Charles Blair of Buffalo, N. Y.; Russell Griffith of Fort Ethan Allen; Horatio Jackson of Burlington; Charles De Rose of Northampton, Mass.; Richard Love of Brooklyn, N. Y.; James Madden of Burlington; Laurence Miller of Newport, Me.; Glen Perkins of Rutland; Frederick Reed, Gardner Shufelt, Nelson Gray and Philip Knight, all of Burlington; Rollin Hawley of Essex Junction and Oatley Frost of Middletown Springs.

(Continued on page 2)

ARIEL SUBSCRIPTIONS TAKEN IN DRIVE TO BE HELD THIS WEEK

A special campaign to secure subscriptions for the 1928 Ariel is to be conducted the latter part of the week. According to an announcement made by Robert Holden, circulation manager of the year book, subscriptions will be solicited at the Key and Serpent Smoker Friday and a desk will be placed in a corridor of the Old Mill Saturday morning where students may sign up for their copy of the annual.

About 100 copies of the 1928 Ariel have been signed for by the students to date. A much larger number must subscribe to make the year book a success. The Ariel is published annually by the Junior class of the University. However, it is not essentially a class book, but the year book of the college. It presents the events of the year, the traditions of the University and is well illustrated by photographs of the campus and activities.

The subscription price is four dollars, a price which only partly covers the cost of the book. No better souvenir of the college year can be obtained than the annual which covers by means of pictures and well written articles every phase of activity on the campus.

FRESHMEN SWAMP THE YOUNG PANTHERS IN BRILLIANT GAME

Failing to Score in First Period Yearlings Come Through for 55 Points in Last Three Quarters

The Vermont Freshmen made a day of it for U. V. M. when they waded through the Middlebury yearlings 55-0.

The Green and Gold Frosh displayed their wares before an extraordinarily large crowd and their wares were worth looking at. Coach Rattan has made the most of the good material available and the Vermont first-year men showed remarkable strength. They were good in the line and behind it. The backfield made pretty runs, time after time, the interference practically perfect. Middlebury was set back with a crash every time she tried to hit around tackle and was unable to hold the ball, making many costly fumbles. The center of the line was no less disastrous to the Blue and Whiters except on one or two plunges for short gains. Neither team had an effective aerial attack although the locals made twelve of their points on forwards.

In the first period the Green and Gold failed to get going but in the second quarter they started. Mitchell tore off a 45-yard run for touchdown. Passes to Slate took the ball to the visitor's 3-yard line and Mace carried it over. Bray then scored after a 35-yard gallop. De Rose intercepted a forward and Capt. Rattan's charges started a march down the field which ended in a tally by a pass from De Rose to Gorson.

Near the beginning of the second half after Midd had made two first downs, Mace intercepted a forward and speeded down the side line sixty yards for touchdown. On the next kickoff after much fumbling on both sides, Mitchell carried the ball 50 yards for the sixth touchdown of the game. In the last quarter Middlebury fumbled again and Bray ran 35 yards pivoting out of several tackles and shifting nicely through half the opposing team and scored. On the next kickoff, Mace received and ran from his 15-yard line to the Blue and White's 10 yards. A pretty pass to Corson gave the last big tally.

Slate, Vermont left end, kicked six out of the seven goals he attempted and Mitchell kicked one over.

Mace proved himself the most powerful long-distance carrier that has graced the Freshman team at Vermont for some years and Bray and Mitchell were shifty and clever. In fact the whole Green and Gold yearling team was a revelation of strength.

Injuries to Middlebury men were frequent. Cook was rather seriously hurt and McNary had to be taken out in the third quarter because of injuries.

Score by quarters:

	1	2	3	4—T
Vermont '30—	0	27	14	14—55

Touchdowns—Mace, 2, Mitchell 1, Gorson 2, Bray 3.
Referee—Desautels.
Umpire—Carney.
Linesman—Mangan.

CATAMOUNT GRIDSTERS WILL TACKLE HARVARD

Among the colleges which are included in the tentative schedule for the 1927 football season are Columbia, Syracuse and Harvard. Both of the New York teams have appeared against Vermont before. Harvard is a new comer in football, although contests in other sports have taken place between the Crimson and Vermont. According to the tentative schedule Harvard will meet Vermont at Soldiers' Field, Cambridge, on October 1, 1927.

Sophomores' Notice

There is still an opportunity for a few Sophomores to try out for the managerial staff of the Ariel. From the Sophomores trying out for the staff one will be elected manager of the 1929 Ariel, next spring. All men who desire to scrub for the staff should report at once to Walter F. Reagan, business manager of the 1928 Ariel, at the Phi Mu Delta House

PRESS CLUB FURNISHES COLLEGE NEWS TO HOME TOWN NEWSPAPERS

A short session of the Press Club was held at the Delta Psi House last Friday afternoon at four o'clock. There were several scrubs out, and a short history of the club and its purposes was given by the president, Stuart Bryan '27. However, there is plenty of chance for many more scrubs, if there are any who are interested in the work but who were unable to attend the meeting last Friday. Plans for the year were discussed and formed. Plans to provide publicity for the band's trip to Springfield are already under way.

The main purpose of the Press Club is to send out items to small town newspapers in Vermont, and to a few outside of Vermont. It handles personal items only, and these items are sent to the home town of the student concerning whom the item is about. The Press Club operates under the supervision of the Department of Publicity, at the University, and has to report, monthly, to this department.

CONCERT BY MEMBERS OF MUSIC DEPARTMENT POSTPONED TO THURSDAY

The concert by Miriam Nattlee Marston, pianist, and Elizabeth Bradish dramatic soprano, new members of the Department of Music, has been postponed to Thursday evening, October 28, at 8 o'clock, and will take place in the Old Mill Chapel. The program follows:

Gavotte in B Minor ..... Bach-Saint-Saëns
Romance in F Sharp Major ..... Schumann
Valse Brilliante, Op 34, No. 2 ..... Chopin

Miss Marston

Romance ..... Debussy
Mandoline ..... Debussy
Therese ..... Brahms
Von Ewiger Liebe ..... Brahms

Mrs. Bradish

Granada from "Suite Espanola" ..... Albeniz
The Swan ..... Palmgren
Mouvement Perpétuel ..... Poulenc
Lotus Land ..... Cyril Scott

Miss Marston

The Last Hour ..... Kramer
The Bird ..... Fiske
Slow, Horses Slow ..... Jalowicz
The Sleep That Flits on Baby's Eyes ..... Carpenter
On the Steppe ..... Gretchaninoff

Mrs. Bradish

Polonaise in E Major ..... Liszt

Miss Marston

There will be no admission charge. The public is cordially invited.

SOPHOMORES NOMINATE OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The nominating committee of the class of 1929 met last Wednesday and prepared a list of candidates for class officers. A meeting of the class for the election of officers will be held during the week. Nominations are as follows: President, F. E. Robbins of Brattleboro; W. S. Hall of Bennington; and F. S. Estabrook of Brandon. vice-president, Marian E. Everest of Plattsburg; Charlotte Cleveland of Glendale, Calif.; Alice Fiske of Lancaster, N. H.; treasurer, A. G. Mackay of Peacham; B. J. Morse of Burlington; W. F. Rogers of Vergennes; H. C. Williamson of Ashland, Mass.; secretary, Lucy Bracken of Elmhurst, N. Y.. Dorothy Stone of Hyde Park; Lenore Aldinger of Burlington

Louis B. Hopkins, Dartmouth '08, director of personnel work at Northwestern University, was recently elected president of Wabash College. He is the brother of Ernest M. Hopkins, President of Dartmouth College, and both are native Vermonters, passing their boyhood days in a little town in southeastern Vermont.

TUFTS GETS FIRST SETBACK OF SEASON BY VERMONT ELEVEN

Coach McEvoy's Fighting Charges Crashed Through the Much Heavier Tufts Team in a Hotly-contested Battle Winning 14-13

CONWAY MAKES WIN POSSIBLE WITH 45-YARD RUN

This was the first defeat of the season for the Jumbo team. Tufts seemed to have things their own way during the first half and were leading 6-0, but in the second half the Green and Gold came back strong and took their opponents off their feet, scoring two touchdowns in rapid order.

The first quarter the game was about even with the advantage, if any, going to Tufts, but the second quarter saw the Green and Gold losing ground and gradually letting the Medford team score. The try for goal was missed as the Vermont tackles broke through and blocked the kick, and this play eventually gave the northerners the decision.

At the beginning of the second half Vermont kicked off and Tufts fumbled immediately afterward, Morse of Vermont recovering in Tufts' 33-yard line. Vermont, however, lost the ball when a drop-kick went wild and Conway received a punt on his 20-yard line and ran it back 45 yards. In a few plays the ball was put within scoring distance of the Tufts goal line. J. Scutakes was sent in to replace Thorpe, and on the next play Scutakes crashed through for a score and Conway added another point, making the score 7-6 in favor of Vermont. Soon afterward Vermont completed a series of passes, Smith to Conway, Simpson and Leary, bringing the ball to the 20-yard line. Then Smith hurled another pass to Conway, who made a spectacular catch just over the goal line for the second touchdown. He then kicked for the extra point, bringing the score up to 14-6, Vermont leading.

The fourth quarter saw the Tufts team score another touchdown and another point, making the score 14-13, which was the final result. Tufts opened up a wonderful passing game but to no advantage. Near the close of the game Vermont had the ball on

(Continued on page 2)

ENGLISH DEBATING TEAMS VISIT U. S.

Intercollegiate debating on an international scale receives further development in the current forensic season. Since 1923 visiting English teams have become the accepted thing, and now Australian debaters are matching wits with American collegians. On October 12, three University of Sidney debaters met a University of California team on the subject "Resolved, that Democracy has failed." From California the Australians will proceed to many colleges in the West and Middle West.

Cambridge and Oxford teams in the meanwhile are facing collegians of the South and East. The former visiting New England and Canada, the latter the South and Southwest. Each year the visitors travel through different sections of the country. Last year Oxford debated Eastern colleges while Cambridge toured the Middle West.

Oxford's most important debate will undoubtedly be the clash with Bates, October 21. Bates has an exceptional team that has come off with honors in many international events. A new method of debate promotion is being engineered. Instead of meeting on the Bates campus the opposing teams are scheduled to debate in Portland, Me. Elaborate preparations are under way for a large audience.

The local debate season is swinging into action. At Chicago the Mid-West Debate Conference chose appropriately enough the question "Resolved, that the essential features of the McNary Haugen Bill be incorporated into law." Debate coaches from college debate teams of both sexes in the states of Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin were present. For the women a more academic subject was chosen, "Resolved that the jury system should be abolished."—The New Student

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] STUDENT NEWSPAPER
[illegible] UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the
[illegible] INTERCOLLEGIATE
[illegible] ASSOCIATION

[illegible] Published every Tuesday [illegible] the college year
[illegible] $3.00 a year delivered
[illegible] United States. Single copy 10c

[illegible] communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, 350 So. Willard. Other correspondence to [illegible] Winchester Ave.
[illegible] Entered at special rate [illegible] Act of October 3, 1917, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized October 19, 1920.

Editorial Staff

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] News Editor
[illegible] News Editor
Women's Editor
[illegible] Sporting Editor
[illegible] Editor
[illegible] Editor
[illegible] Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

[illegible] '29 Robert M. Tracy '29
Frank G. Rhodd '29
[illegible] 29 Dale Bagley '29
[illegible] '29
[illegible] '29
[illegible] '29 Virginia Margin '29

Business Staff

[illegible] '27 . . . Business Mgr.
[illegible] '27 . . . Advertising Mgr.
[illegible] '28 . . . Assistant Manager
[illegible] '28 Assistant Manager
[illegible] '28 Assistant Manager

[illegible] undergraduates are heartily [illegible] contribute. All communications [illegible] by the writer, whose name will be [illegible] required. They should be [illegible] to the Editor-in-Chief. Any [illegible] must be handed in or telephoned [illegible] before 9 p. m. Sunday and [illegible]

In charge of this issue:

[illegible] News Editor
[illegible] Assistant Manager

Vol. [illegible] October 26, 1926 No. 10

RUSHING

[illegible] rushing season is over and every [illegible] who didn't go fraternity is [illegible] game for anyone who wants him. The form of rushing followed here is one which allows the keenest kind of competition. When a man has reached the ages of 19 and 20, as have many of the freshmen who enter here as freshmen, it stands to reason that if they are pumped for six hours by four different organizations, they will be able to form a fairly correct opinion as to how they will be affected if they accept a bid from any one. The process of forming from that opinion is of much interest to the respective fraternities who set the favorable points of each organization are drilled into the new men. Most anybody can by using their best talkers convince a man that they have the best bunch. But this [illegible] place late in the evening and as the rushing rules prevent getting the pin on him, the freshman has a chance to sleep over the matter and if he has been entertained by other fraternities to make comparisons in the end it is what he has observed with his eyes and ears and not what he has been told that affects his decision.

This is perhaps the greatest advantage of a rushing schedule such as we have here. It allows the freshman a reasonable time which he can consider the conversations rushing him, instead of being fairly deaf, dumb and blind, [illegible] mental capacities deadened.

Record Attendance at High School Editors' Conference Sat.

[illegible] (Continued from page 1)

[illegible] departments and the [illegible] of the schools.

This [illegible] has formerly been held at [illegible] time but due to the fact that [illegible] is so near the end of the [illegible] terms that the [illegible] practice the things learned, it was held earlier this year, but soon enough so that everyone had had a chance to get out at least one paper. This gives them something on which to base their questions and discussions.

The places represented were Rutland, Montpelier, Burlington, St. Johnsbury, Vergennes, Hardwick, Stowe, Randolph, Bennington, Cambridge, Lyndon, Essex Junction, Enosburg Falls, Richmond, Winooski, Barre, Bristol, Morrisville, Montpelier Seminary, Huntington, Brattleboro, and Hartford.

Ivan Hills welcomed the state meeting of the Grangers for the University at their opening meeting.

Some flappers are like trees. They acquire a new ring each year!—Pitt Panther

Campus Comment

Engineering Economics

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

Why is it that a class of engineers who have withstood two years of college classes and who as a class are in good standing cannot do better in the economics course? At first we thought that by a little more effort and study satisfactory results might be obtained but they have not, as yet come forth. There is a growing dissatisfaction among us and I think that we are due an explanation of the system of grading.

As we learned in the beginning, economics is not an exact science but only a study of past experience and present conditions. Because of this few questions asked can have but one wording of the answer which is correct. A definition is only an attempt to explain or describe something. Every definition can be replaced by another which will in most cases be equally as good. Certain things have to be memorized but this is only a mechanical operation of the mind. Memory is very necessary but the exercise of memory alone is not the aim of a college or ought not to be. Progress is made possible by thinkers, individual thinkers, men and women who observe facts of past and present and from them derive new ideas and new principles.

Because of this I think the principles and not the details should be stressed. No two people think exactly alike and who can say who should be the absolute dictator as to the rightness or wrongness of a wording. The idea is the essential thing. Individuals vary and to quote, "The students natural mode of approach may clash habitually with that of the text or teacher and the estimate of the latter should not be assumed as an absolute basis of estimate."

Some believe that low marks are given out in an effort to make the Engineers realize that the so-called C and easy is not as see and easy as we make it out to be. Whether this is the case or not, I do not know, but I do know that we are beyond the kindergarten stage and do not appreciate kindergarten methods any longer. Of those left, out of the number that started two years ago, I think most of them fully appreciate their reason and purpose for being here. We are, or at least ought to be far enough along in life to be trusted a little bit in realizing that it is our own neck that is being stretched when we fail to study the assigned work. Perhaps D's and F's are conscientiously given out in an attempt to have us get more out of the course. If they are I believe the principle wrong and the act defeating the purpose. I for one have become discouraged and disgusted in trying to receive a decent grade.

Grades may perhaps sometimes be given out on the basis of the best paper being perfect or may be given out on the basis of the amount correct in proportion to the amount asked for. However we are graded, I think it a gross injustice to establish a system such that practically no one can feel that he is getting on in the course.

I do not know whether this will be published or whether our instructor in economics reads the CYNIC. If he does and reads this I trust he will not take this as any insult or grudge on my part, but merely my conception of right and wrong. I don't know how many engineers would back this but I am sure it expresses the sentiment of some of them.

'28.

Tufts Gets First Setback of Season by Vermont Eleven

(Continued from page 1)

the one-yard line, but failed in four downs to score, and Tufts punted from behind their own goal line out of danger.

Conway played a great game at quarter and his 45-yard run in the third quarter made the winning touchdown possible.

The summary:

Vermont: Morse, Leary, l. e.; Winchenbach, l. t.; Denning, l. g.; O'Keefe, c.; Kropper, r. g.; Palmer, r. t.; Simpson, r. e.; Conway, q. b.; Thorne, Scutakes, r. h. b.; Candon, l. h. b.; Smith, f. b.

Tufts: Fitzgerald, Bolger, r. e.; Hanson, Soule, r. t.; Brown, Spofford, r. g.; Brehaut, Appiani, c.; Nussbaum, Austin, l. g.; Grady, Fitzgerald, l. t.; Bowker, l. e.; Ellis, q. b.; Clausault, r. h. b.; Schroder, Phillips, l. h. b.; Marshall, f. b.

Touchdowns, made by Schroder, Scutakes, Conway, Clausault. Points after touchdown, made by Conway (2).

Did You Ever Try
University Nut Delight
or
Fig Claiser?
VISIT CANDYLAND
161 Church St.
PHONE 3056-W

University Expenses Increase 850 Per Cent in a Century

A recent study of the old catalogues of the University at the Billings Library reveals that tuition has increased 1,100 per cent since 1822. Board and room have taken jumps of 500 per cent. Taking $600 as the amount necessary for fees, tuition, room rent and board, which is a conservative figure, the investigation shows an average increase in these items of nearly 850 per cent over 1822. No attempt has been made to allow for the depreciation of the dollar during the century, neither have the improved curricula and equipment of the University been taken into consideration. When all the factors have been weighed, it seems there has been an absolute, but not a relative increase in the expenses of a college education.

College of Medicine

When the Medical College was opened in 1854, the college fees were as follows: public lectures $50, matriculation $3, graduation $18, dissecting room $3. The course in agriculture given in 1866 had a tuition charge of $15 and a laboratory fee of a like amount. Students were privileged persons in the eighties; the railroad allowed all students half fares. This practice was discontinued soon after its inception.

Commons Hall

In 1892 Commons Hall was built. Board at the Commons cost from $2.50 to $3. Converse Hall was in use in 1896. Bed rooms were furnished with hair mattresses, bolster, pillow, and blankets. The rooms were cared for by colored servants and the rent ranged from $15 to $80.

The following table shows the steady increase of expenses since 1822:

Year	Tuition	Board per Week	Room per Annum	Fees
1811	$12.00
1822	$20.00	$1.25
1835	$25.00	$1.25	$2.00	$6.00
1843	$25.50	$2.00	$4.00	$6.00
1854	$30.00	$2.00	$4.00
1862	Scholarships given for tuition	$2.00	$6.00-$12.00
1866	$45.00	$2.25
1883		$2.50	$12.50-$30.00
1887	$60.00	$2.75	$12.50-$30.00
1892		$3.00	$15.00-$80.00
1900	$75.00	$3.50	$18.00-$80.00	$10.00
1906	$110.00			$20.00
1916	$140.00		$50.00-$100.00
1920	$175.00	$200-$250
1922	$200.00		$100.00-$125.00	$25.00

11 Men's Fraternities Pledge 78 Men as Result of Rushing

(Continued from page 1)

Alpha Tau Omega announces the pledging of Carlton Bassow of Athol, Mass.; Mark Branon, Bertil Bloomstrom of Worcester, Mass.; Thomas Halligan of Montpelier; Richard Costello, Robert Lawrence of Clinton, Mass.; Francis McBride of Ossining, N. Y.; and Joseph Sugden of Worcester, Mass.

Kappa Sigma announces the pledging of Harry Adams of Burlington; Edson Bigelow of Shrewsbury, Mass.; G. Philip Creaser of Burlington; Frederick Bird of Bristol, Conn.; John Eliot of Manchester; James Puffer of St. Johnsbury; Arthur D. Stearns, Jr., of New York; Addison Woodward of Fitchburg, Mass.; Frederick Woodward of Fitchburg, Mass.

Sigma Nu announces the pledging of Henry Bray and Mortimer Couvert of New Britain, Conn.; Lyman Corcoran of Bridgeport, Conn.; James Emmons of Bridgeport, Conn.; Walter Hernsheim of White Plains, N. Y.; Kenneth Mitchell of Hull, Mass.; William Slaygon of Horseheads, N. Y.; and Arthur Birchard, '29.

Phi Mu Delta announces the pledging of R. H. Arnold of Burlington; Theron Crawford of Port Jervis, N. Y.; Charles Cowan of Northampton, Mass.; F. M. Ambrosini of Hardwick.

Zeta Chi announces the pledging of Russell Gage of Manchester, N. H.; Anthony Luciani, '28, of Proctor; James Foster of Stowe.

Sigma Alpha Chi announces the pledging of Edward Ball of Barre; Warren Burr of Barre; Arthur Merrill of Wallingford, John Moore of Springfield, Clarence Topping of North Creek, N. Y.; and the repledging of Howard Thompson.

Sigma Delta announces the pledging of Peter Brikiatis, '29, of Maine.

Fitzgerald. Referees, J. H. Kehoe and F. H. Lewis. Umpire, W. E. O'Connell. Linesmen, F. H. Lewis and E. McNaughton. Time, 4 12-minute periods.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Fall Clothing
We are showing a complete line of Adler Collegian Suits and Overcoats in the latest styles and shades.
$30.00 to $55.00
Hayes & Carney
107 Bank St. Near Majestic
OPEN EVENINGS
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

A certain country minister posted this notice on the church door: "Brother Smith departed for heaven at four-thirty A. M." The next day he found written below: "Heaven, nine A. M. Smith not in yet. Great anxiety."—Mugwump.

Let us show you how
BOSTONIANS
look and feel on your feet
at Boynton's
66 Church St.

EPSILON SIGMA

Epsilon Sigma, teacher training sorority, announces [illegible] Racheal Albee, Dorothy [illegible] Chasse, Doris Colt, Linna Edwards, Henrietta Hoyt, Grace Perry, Alice Styles.

Tel. 597-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

Star Restaurant
Chinese and American Foods
Regular Dinner 45c
From 11 A. M. to 2:30 P. M.
A la Carte Service All Day
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
Tables Reserved for Parties
All Orders Put Up in Good Condition to Take Out.
144 Church Street
Burlington, Vermont
Phone 1613

Lackawanna
Anthracite
The coal that makes Home Happy
Try it
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College St

Gifts in Jewelry
DANCE FAVORS and PROGRAMS
▲ ▲ ▲
F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

FRESHMEN
Rushing will soon be over and we hope you will be pledged to
The Fraternity
LET
The University Stores
help you show the world with a banner and pillow that it is the Only Frat

Co-ed Page

WELYN MAGNER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Miss Evelyn Dorothy Magner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magner of North Prospect Street died Tuesday after a long illness.

Miss Magner was a member of the class of twenty-six at the University but was unable to finish on account of ill health. While here she was prominent in many activities, being a member of the Glee Club, the Newman Club, the Dramatic Club, Delta Delta Delta, Masque and Sandal, and of the judiciary board. She was also an accomplished musician.

STUDENT UNION

Lois Pratt was chosen as chairman of the social calendar for the coming year.

Next week a vote will be taken on the question of appropriating money to help send the R. O. T. C. Band to Springfield for the Thanksgiving Day game.

A Co-ed's Diary

(The events of the sixth week of college)

It certainly was too bad that the Mortar Board dance had to end so soon but it was better for the freshmen as they could have their eight hours sleep and still make classes! Miss Phillips visited at our beloved college and told the girls about her work in India—so enthusiastic was she that many of the coeds would like to leave at once. Professor Metcalf sprang an intelligence test on his divisions—judging from the results his classes were possessed with unusual brilliance, we wonder (?). The girls' teams were posted this week—many were disappointed and some think that "if she made the team I surely should have"—such a nice spirit! The new women take their Student Union tests Wednesday we heard the groanings and the oft-repeated question "Why?"—because it is right that you should—and judging from past actions it will do no harm for you to learn the rules. These kolleje kars—some beauties. I think that at least one of them would take first prize in a junk parade. Boys' invitations came out Monday. Sunday was a busy day and the girls were busy, too. The logic of our generation is to be questioned. During the week the girls have appeared on campus clad in fur coats and carrying tennis rackets—and the courts feel hard, too! Hour tests have been raining down on us too—why must they all come at once? And Professor Myrick dismissed his class twenty minutes early—must be the world is about to end. Teachers' conference called some of our dear professors this week-end—we hope they have a splendid time. Middlebury is having the day off for their Norwich game and Norwich for their game with us; wonder if we'll get a holiday when our team and the rest of us visit Middlebury? Y. W. C. A. membership drive is on—this organization is on trial this year and I for one hope it succeeds. Members of Prose Club are heard inquiring for girls' addresses—if the Directories come out soon it will help them and just a few of the rest of us, too. Chemistry I students are repeating the yearly X course—and as usual the first tests bring results averaging in the forties. We learn from Professor Tupper that "fish stories' aren't as modern as we thought. Two Latin tests in one week mean some will be kept busy—shall we get to work now?

Sporting Song

Love is just like a Race-Ground it is
To my soul,
Where losses or gains may betide us;
We men are the Racers, and marriage
the goal
And Cupid the Jockey to ride us.

The wisest and best in this dangerous course
Have oft been detected in tripping;
For the curb of discretion oft fails in its force
When the passions are spurring and whipping.

There remains but one point of resemblance to trace
Which ladies oft find in a lover;
He's eager and warm whilst he strives in the race
But the heat, when he wins it, is over.

The drug habit is not prevalent among jellyfish.—Ga. Tech. Yellow Jacket

HEALTH COUNCIL NOTES

Perhaps you remember that 38 per cent of all absences last year were caused by colds. And it is certainly up to this year's co-eds to lower these figures. In the first place how to prevent a cold—get enough sleep, keep out-of-doors as much as possible, and stay away from people who have colds. But if you do contract one, then do you know what to do? In the first stages, and everyone knows how to recognize them, go to bed and catch up on your rest. Never mind if there is a particularly good movie; perhaps if you go to this one you will have to miss all the rest for a week. Get in this rest and in the majority of cases it will either enable you to throw off your cold or at least to check it. Also refrain from overtaxing your system in any way. Don't eat a quantity or rich food to overload your stomach, you are going to need all your extra resistance to attack the cold and any thing else which saps your resources is an additional hindrance. Be sensible, you had to have a certain amount of knowledge to get into college, why not give proof of it in proper care of your own health?

W. A. A.

The W. A. A. Field Day will be held on November 2 at 4 o'clock at Grassmount.

Hockey interclass games will be played on Wednesday at 4 o'clock and volley ball at the same time on Thursday.

Is the Fashion of the Day Outrageous?

Men ask everywhere, "What will the women do next?" They are right. No one knows. But a change in routine is good—we must not forget that. In an article I just read by Stephen Wynan, a clever suggestion was proffered. Whenever one finds a sentence with "woman" in it, substitute the word "man," and see what sense or nonsense it makes. For the moment, take the sentence above, "Men ask everywhere, 'What will women do next?'" Make the proper substitutions. "Women ask everywhere, 'What will men do next?'" Is that true, or is it not? Egoists all, we would not commit ourselves.

Street Cleaners

A short time ago, women wore dresses the length of their bodies, including all appendages. These were called "graceful"—a return of the Old Crinoline Days. Men sometimes secretly wondered whether the women were consipiring to put the street cleaners out of work. "And how did she ever manage to untangle her feet from the spacious skirts going up trolley car steps?" A season was all the women could stand of it—and the quick return to shorter models caused much relief on all sides.

Then regrets were expressed for the waste of so much material in the shortening of the frocks, the awful job of doing it, and the shocking reappearance of the legs—for six, long, months concealed. Materials became expensive; dresses grew still shorter. They are at that stage now. Is this new vogue outrageous or vulgar?

Women Know What to Wear

I was interested in a remark made to me the other day by an elderly lady. She said, "Our girls have sense. They dress with much more gracefulness and simplicity now, than they ever did."

We are becoming more civilized as to what is good design, and how to obtain artistic effect. The only test of a thing is time. And when we have seen the many styles preceding our arrival, we ought to be able to see what we like and what we don't—and, with slight, creative ability, invent a new model.

Those who radically overdo a fad, are not the majority, by any means. Their conspicuousness does make them appear so, perhaps, but that is where women, as a whole are misjudged.

I really believe the woman of fashion to be one of the "few" who really knows what is becoming to her, whether it is the particular feature in vogue or not. If she dresses well—that is, looks well all the time—she is the woman who "knows how."

CO-EDS DEBATE ATHLETIC RELATIONS NEXT SPRING

Whether women's teams should compete in intercollegiate games is a question that will come before the Athletic Association of American College women next spring. College women the nation over are divided on the question, some referring to continue the rule now in force prohibiting competition while others would encourage Varsity games.

Western colleges generally support the present rule, while the Eastern institutions, especially Cornell University, are for a change.

Already the Western schools are preparing "constructive" equivalents for women from intercollegiate competition. On October 30, Mills College Stanford University and the University of California will meet for a play day. The nature of play day games has not been divulged, but its proponents insist that they will be "more in keeping with the ideals of the National Athletic Association than Varsity competition because of their social values, because they do not neglect the masses, and because the competition is not sufficiently intensive to be physically harmful." The New Student

Current Comment

Easy to Learn Chinese

Henry C. Emery in Harper's for October tells the reader how easy it is to learn Chinese. He points out the fact that, like many European languages, the Chinese language shows the same psychological effects of a parent language. They say "a terribly good-looking girl" is a "good-looking terror," just as the French say "une terriblement belle," thus is shown the use of the noun or adjective terror or terrible for a superlative. Prepositions and particular forms of the verbs do not play as important a part for "there is only a single form of the pronoun and a single form of the proper verb." The greatest difficulty is the number of meanings given to a single phonetic sound. "Tone" is another difficult but important instrument of the Chinese language. However, "it has, far better than any other language a symbol which indicates a fairly exact meaning." Logic and psychology seem to have played an important part in the formation and building up of the language; which is what Professor Myrick would have us know of the French language. He has even suggested writing a French Grammar following the psychological sequence. Though the author says Chinese is easy to learn, nevertheless it has its intricacies as have all languages. But we must not laugh at the seeming eccentricities of a foreign language until we have completely obliterated the ambiguity and incongruity of our own.

"Can Education Increase Intelligence"

Speaking of debating, there is a question answered in The Forum for October. "Can Education Increase Intelligence" is the title and two well-informed men, William McDougall and I. A. Richards take not precisely opposite views but slightly contrary opinions on this subject. Sound definitions of "Education" and "Intelligence" are given, though both parties do not hold to these. Practically all the arguments are based on the meaning of words. These studious men are deep and strenuous in their arguments which are well worth reading to point out to us the true goal of our college education.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. held a sing at Rand House on Sunday afternoon.

The membership campaign is now on and will continue until Sunday, October 21.

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

FOR SODA AND CANDIES
Go to
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 Colchester Ave.
Opp. Engineering Bldg.
Home Cooking Our Specialty
Lunches to Take Out

HOWARD'S APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP
Phone 8171 48 Church St.
Students' Trade Appreciated

The Old Bee Hive
Headquarters for GIRLS' GYM AND SPORT TOGS
WIND BREAKERS
SWEATERS - BLOOMERS
SPORT HOSE
Complete Stocks featuring the smartest styles for gym and out-of-door wear

STATIONERY, MAGAZINES, NEWSPAPERS
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

Student's Accounts Solicited
Turk Says
Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready
This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

$35.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	4.00	2.00
35.00	7.00	3.50
40.00	8.00	3.50
45.00	9.00	3.50
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.50
60.00	12.00	4.50
65.00	13.00	5.50
70.00	14.00	5.50
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Turk's
150-158 COLLEGE STREET

AVOID DISAPPOINTMENT!
Sign up for your 1928 ARIEL this week
Desks at Smoker Friday night and in Old Mill Sat. A. M.
SHOW YOUR COLLEGE SPIRIT BY YOUR SUPPORT TO YOUR TEAM AND YOUR YEAR BOOK THIS WEEK

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1858

CONTEST CONDUCTED BY 1928 ARIEL WILL END IN TWO WEEKS

Contributions to Art Contest Accepted Up to November 7—No Limit to Number of Drawings by Individual

The [illegible] contest still has two weeks [illegible] Contributions will be accepted up to Sunday [illegible] contestants should remember [illegible] is no limit to the number of drawings that each one can [illegible] as they are all engraved [illegible] the more drawings the better the chance of winning.

The [illegible] wants material suitable for [illegible] cartoons, cover designs and [illegible] borders.

[illegible] will be used for the following [illegible] administration, faculty [illegible] teacher training, [illegible] sororities, athletics [illegible] basketball, basketball, track, [illegible] women's athletics, military [illegible] drama, press, and honorary societies.

A first prize of five dollars, a second prize of three dollars, and three other prizes of one dollar each will be given to the winners of the contest.

Contributions must be given to Gloria [illegible] at the Campus House, to Dorothy [illegible] at 62 S. Union St. or left in the mail box in the North Corridor of the Old Mill.

The judges will be Miss Elizabeth V. Colburn, instructor in art, and the art staff of the year book.

[illegible] time that such a [illegible] of [illegible] at

CANADIAN UNIVERSITIES HAVE UNIQUE DEBATE

Subscribers of student papers in Dalhousie University and the University of Alberta will compose the audience for a printed intercollegiate debate. The debaters have been selected for [illegible] debating ability and [illegible] with the text of the debates appearing simultaneously in both college papers.

Alberta debaters will open this curious [illegible]. When their "speech" reaches Dalhousie both papers will print it. Then a Dalhousie man replies followed by a second Alberta and another Dalhousie man. Rebuttals will follow in the order. Judges in the contest will possibly be editors of Canadian publications.

The debate subject will be "Resolved, that compulsory attendance at University lectures is in the best interests of the student body."—The New Student.

It was [illegible] certain after a conference [illegible] between Harvard and Princeton officials that these historic rivals will meet on [illegible] as usual.

Following Harvard talk of dropping Dartmouth in order to make room for an intercollegiate contest with the University of Michigan a conference was called to [illegible] the matter over.

The [illegible] agreement between the "Big Three" [illegible] appears to be of a binding [illegible] and probably insures a continuance of the meetings between [illegible] has been a consistent [illegible] in several seasons past and [illegible] between the two [illegible] are none too amicable.—Ex.

A [illegible] on Freshman Rules at [illegible] University disclosed a [illegible] in favor of black caps and [illegible] for the beginners.

The [illegible] was held because of [illegible], the public hazing of freshmen. A [illegible] ear in the correspondence [illegible] The Spectator followed. The [illegible] lost.

"[illegible] many of the freshmen [illegible] abolished as the result of [illegible] agitation against them. Apparently the student body is unwilling to [illegible] further the frosh regulations.

At the same time New York University has done away with hazing by faculty edict. This action followed arrests by the New York City police in connection with recent hazing.—Ex.

[illegible] have their own opinions [illegible] get married.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

The Wetness

Man is but a worm of the dust—he comes out of his hole, wiggles about for a while and in the end some chicken gets him.

It All Depends on the Point of View

Her Version

I'm a co-ed, I'm a co-ed,
Short of hair and short of skirt;
Listen to my mournful story
Of the man that done me dirt.

I met him at Freshman Mixer
Handsomest that e're wore pants.
As the girls said, "Bet he takes you
To his first fraternity dance."

So I saved my little pennies,
Dollar, twenty-five, my hord,
And I took him to the jig that
Was put on by Mortar Board.

Now I ask you, is this cricket?
That big bum I'd rushed all fall
When it came time for his house dance
Never called me up at all!

I don't care about the dance, much.
'Tisn't that that makes me sore
It's those ten bits that I'm missing.
Lost and gone forevermore!

And His

With downcast eye and lowered head
He walked the hill with fait'ring tread.
He neither looked to right or left
His haggard features seemed bereft
Of all that man holds dear.

He spoke no word to any man
As though the corridors he ran
For days, quite dazed he stalked about.
When friends a cheery greeting shout
He doesn't seem to hear.

Why downcast college lad, why blue?
What bad luck may have come to you?
What blow has broke your spirit, man?
Answer, fellow, if you can!

With choking sob and lowered head
He stared at me, and trembling said,
"A shame like mine must needs come out.
I am that man you've heard about—"
"What he?" I cried! "Yea, God forbid,
I'm the Man Who Got No Akraia Bid!"

MOVIES SUBJECT OF TALK BY COLUMBIA PROFESSOR AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

Professor Joseph Wiseltier of Columbia University spoke under the auspices of the Burlington Art League at the Unitarian Church Sunday evening. His subject "Art for You and for Me" was illustrated by one of the films used in the campaign of the Metropolitan Art Museum to give the people of New York the finest in movies.

Professor Wiseltier centered his talk around the moving pictures, which appeal to everyone, young and old, those who are interested in art and those who care nothing about it but enjoy a good movie; and the conservatives who see only the evil side of the movies, avoiding them as a rule, but are coming to realize the great power of the movie for influencing right living and right thinking.

STUDENT COOPERATIVES IN TROUBLE

Whether or not the University Co-op which supplies Wisconsin students with text books at low rates is truly a cooperative will be disclosed at a coming investigation. The Gatewood Book Company a competing firm brought charges. The business practices of the Co-op will be aired in the coming investigation by Harry Klentor state official responsible for the enforcement of cooperative laws.

Meanwhile the cooperative girls dormitory at Ohio State University was temporarily discontinued, though its sponsors report it a workable plan. The dormitory is offered for sale and its supervisor is looking for another place to carry on the idea.

Under this plan the students were able to secure room and board for $85 a quarter. Each girl works for two weeks, caring for rooms or assisting with the cooking.—The New Student.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under
Free Press Building

TASTEFUL JEWELRY
for the woman of discrimination, is what you will always find at Parish's. We comb the world for latest and best ideas in jewelry, and our precious stones come from the uttermost ends of the earth. Come and see them.
Russel W. Parish
97 CHURCH

Calendar For This Week

Tuesday, October 26

7.15 P. M. Meeting of representatives from all organizations to draw up a social calendar.
8.15 P. M. Meeting of Key and Serpent Secrets at the Phi Mu Delta House.

Wednesday, October 27

7.00 P. M. Gold Key meets at Phi Delta Theta House.
7.30 P. M. Scabbard and Blade meeting.

Thursday, October 28

8.00 P. M. Concert in Old Mill Chapel by Miss Marston and Mrs. Bradish.

Friday, October 29

3.00 P. M. Senior Debate in Lecture Hall.
4.00 P. M. Dean of Chester speaks in Gymnasium.
4.00 P. M. Meeting of Y. M. C. A. Cabinet.
7.45 P. M. Key and Serpent Smoker in Gymnasium.

Saturday, October 30

10.00 A. M. Women's Student Union in Old Mill Chapel
2.30 P. M. Norwich vs. Varsity at Centennial Field
8.30 P. M. Key and Serpent Dance in Gymnasium

BASKETBALL TEAM TO COMPETE AT YALE TOURNEY IN DECEMBER

The Yale tournament is included in the basketball schedule recently released by Manager "Larry" Averill. This will be the first time Vermont has appeared in a tourney. Other colleges which have entered teams are Yale, Holy Cross and McGill.

Vermont's court team is almost intact only "Mike" Katz, stellar guard having been lost through graduation. With a veteran team, the prospects for a successful season are good.

The schedule as announced is as follows:

Dec. 15—Montreal A. A. A. here.
Dec. 28—Yale Tourney at New Haven.
Dec. 29—Yale Tourney at New Haven.
Dec. 30—Yale Tourney at New Haven.
Jan. 7—Crescent A. C. at New York.
Jan. 8—R. P. I. at Troy.
Jan. 11—St. Michael's at Winooski.
Feb. 7—Norwich at Northfield.
Feb. 9—Middlebury here.
Feb. 10—St. Michael's here.
Feb. 12—Conn. Aggies here.
Feb. 22—Springfield at Springfield.
Feb. 23—Harvard at Cambridge.
Feb. 25—Springfield here.
Mar. 1—Norwich here.
Mar. 3—Mass. Aggies here.
Mar. 11—Interscholastic Tourney here.
Mar. 12—Interscholastic Tourney here.

LARGEST SNAKE IN THE WORLD!
Those students wishing to buy or sell second-hand text books may do so at Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)
Sometime when you are at the shoppe ask to see the largest snake skin in the world among other rare and interesting trophies.

OUTING CLUB

As there will [illegible] opportunities for [illegible] snow comes, every [illegible] tend as many [illegible] Notices of these [illegible] Physical Education [illegible] time to time. Watch [illegible]

He: "When I was [illegible] was left an orphan."
She: "What did [illegible]"

Be our agent at the University of Vermont and be independent. Big money in pennants, pillows, banners, etc. Every student buys. A big line and a bigger demand. Liberal proposition. We finance you. Write for free details to-day.
BRADFORD & COMPANY, INC.
St. Joseph, Michigan

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
We are now open on Sundays.
PHONE 2311

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

The most welcome call to smoke ever sounded

NEVER was there a smoke invitation that could compare with "Have a Camel!"

On swirling city streets. In the roadster as it bounds over the hills. In the study or by the fireside, no other smoking phrase is so provocative of enjoyment and friendship. In its realization comes a boundless sense of gratitude and contentment.

That is because Camels are the favored smoke of millions of experienced and successful men. To ever-increasing millions who have tried them all, who could well afford to pay more, Camels are the first and only choice. Since the dawn of smoking, there has never been a success like Camel's.

Camel preference is the inevitable expression of Camel quality. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No other smoke was ever so smooth and mellowy mild. For your own high pleasure, we invite you to rise to the world's most celebrated smoke call. Have a Camel!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

© 1926

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1926 — NUMBER 11

KEY AND SERPENT WEEK-END STARTS TONIGHT WITH SMOKER IN GYM

Popular Speakers Appear on Program This Evening—Dance Tomorrow Night—Cadets Expected to Attend

This week-end the Key and Serpent [illegible] in charge of social affairs [illegible] and the way things are [illegible] it seems that everyone will [illegible] enjoyable time.

Tonight comes the big pep-raiser at the gymnasium. "Beat Norwich!" will be the watchword of the evening and everyone is going to be right there ready to make lots of noise and boost the team. There will be talks by Dr Aldrich, "Micky" McMahon, Captain Lockerbie, Manager Aronson, and "Speed" Denning. Refreshments of cider and doughnuts will be provided and there are also rumors that there will be something special by way of entertainment.

That Middlebury game last year showed what real cheering can do for the team, and with the whole crowd back of them, they will get in and fight with a spirit that can not lose. Friday night is the time to get out and show the spirit, and the old gym is going to see a lot of it at the Key and Serpent Smoker! Every good yell on Friday night is a yard gained Saturday.

Tomorrow evening in the gymnasium the Key and Serpent Dance will furnish a fitting climax for an eventful week-end. A large crowd is anticipated and after the afternoon's game it should be a very joyous gathering! The Algonquin Orchestra assures live-ly music.

Posters have been sent to Northfield in the hope that some of the Norwich visitors will stay over for the dance.

E. A. VINCENT SPEAKER AT A. S. M. E. MEETING

A meeting of the A. S. M. E. was held last Saturday at the Sigma Alpha Chi House. A talk on "Common Sense in Practical Engineering" by E. A. Vincent '27 emphasized the necessity of using one's head instead of theory in some engineering problems. Much interest has been shown in the A. S. M. E this year, nearly every meeting having a perfect attendance.

FACULTY AND GRADUATES IN THEATRE CLUB CAST OF "POLLY WITH A PAST"

The Theater Club presented "Polly With a Past" at the Strong Theatre last Wednesday evening. Among those who took part were several who are connected in one way or another with the University of Vermont. Mrs. Tagg, who is the coach of dramatics in the University, and Dexter Butterfield who graduated from the University last year and is teaching mathematics this year took the leading parts. Professor Jones of the Agricultural College, Mrs. Bassett wife of Professor Bassett of the Greek Department; Ruth Sinclair who made a name for herself in dramatic work here five or six years ago, Evelyn Metcalf, a graduate student of English; and Richard Gleason, business manager, who is also a graduate of the University, were among those taking other parts. The play was coached by Mrs. Helen Stiles Bigelow a graduate of the University of Vermont.

PUBLICATIONS BY MEN OF AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

The Orange Publishing Company of Madison, Wisconsin, has recently published a new book, written by A. Newcomer, instructor in Animal Husbandry at the University of Vermont. This book is carefully prepared and is to be used as a text and laboratory manual in the agricultural colleges of the country. The matter is devoted entirely to the judging of dairy products.

It is estimated that about one-fourth of the total forest land in the state of Vermont is lying idle on farms which ought to be made into forest crops. F. M. Callward, Extension Forester of the University of Vermont State College of Agriculture, has prepared a circular which gives, in brief form, many of the principles governing the planting of forest trees on the farm.

Parade Saturday

There will be a parade to Centennial Field Saturday at 1:30 p. m. starting from the Gymnasium. Everybody is expected to be there. Boulder is in charge. Come and show your spirit. "Beat Norwich."

SENIORS SLATED TO WIN IN INTER-CLASS CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

The inter-class cross-country run will take place on Friday, November fifth, at four-thirty.

This year the teams will consist of four men each instead of five men, due to lack of candidates. The Senior team appears to have the best outlook, with A. T. Post, J. H. Davies, Dean Rowe, and A. K. Tudhope, all veteran distance men.

S. M. Martinetti of the Sophomore team at present is showing the best time for the course, and is consistently beating the oldtimers. Wood, Albee, and Suitor of the Juniors form a strong combination and should give the Seniors plenty of competition.

The Freshman team is rather an unknown quantity although L. Davies who did good work on the Burlington High school team can push any man on the cross-country squad according to Coach Latty.

A cross-country meet with the Middlebury Freshmen was suggested but as the Middlebury team has not been organized this year the meet could not be arranged. However, Coach Latty has made arrangements for a freshman meet to be run next fall.

INSTALLING OF CLOCK IN CHAPEL TOWER TO BE COMPLETED SOON

It is safe to say that carpenters will be leaving the Chapel in ten days and painters in about two weeks. The body of the auditorium and the transepts are completed including the installation of the pews and the final touches to the beautiful white ceiling. The chancel is yet unfinished. A grand concert organ is being installed on the left side.

The balcony is nearly completed and men are still working on the stairs leading to it, decorating them with delicate scroll work. There are ten flights of zig-zag stairs in the tower which lead to the clock and first landing of the campanile. Workmen are now putting on the lead scroll work around the faces of the clock. This is a painstaking process necessitating the drilling of ninety-eight holes through the thickness of the wall on each side of the tower. It is estimated that this will be finished in a week and the clock installed. Then the tearing down of the staging and the cleaning up around the outside will be begun.

PLANS FOR MILITARY BALL RAPIDLY FORMING —LARGE CROWD PROMISED

Plans for the Military Ball which is to be held Wednesday, November 10, the night preceding Armistice Day, are going on apace. The tickets are expected to go on sale within a week. The price this year is only three dollars per couple and should help to make for a record-breaking attendance.

The Military Ball is the first formal dance of the year. It will last until one o'clock in the morning and as the next day is a college as well as a legal holiday studies will not keep anyone from going.

The Freshman uniforms have arrived and will be nicely broken in by November 10. The Seniors' boots are still rather stiff but two more Friday mornings will soften them up. Everything points to the largest attendance yet on record.

Of all the sad sights in ocean travel the saddest of all is to see a whale blubber.—Utah Humbug.

RIFLE TEAM MAY SHOOT IN BOSTON THIS WINTER

The first call for candidates for the rifle team will be made soon after the close of the football season, late in November.

Work on the schedule is being done through the military department and the names of the opposing teams will be announced soon. Plans are being laid to send the rifle team to Boston next February to take part in the Intercollegiate Rifle Matches which are to be held in that city.

FRATERNITIES PLEDGE 10 MEN SINCE SUNDAY

Ten men have been pledged by the fraternities, whose new men appeared in Tuesday's issue, since Sunday. Kappa Chapter of Tau Epsilon Phi announces the results of its pledging, which did not appear in the last issue. The names of Alfred Sirois of Lawrence, Mass., and Earl Robinson of Burlington, pledged Sunday to Sigma Nu, were also omitted.

Lambda Iota announces the pledging of Gregory J. Edson of Dedham, Mass.

Sigma Delta announces the pledging of Russell H. Jeffreys of Chester and Daniel A. Huggins of Thetford.

Alpha Tau Omega announces the pledging of Francis Herrick of Pawlet, Gerald Dorey of Middlebury, and Allen Donnelly of Atlantic City, N. J.

Sigma Phi announces the pledging of Clifford Morse of Wethersfield, Conn.

Kappa Sigma announces the pledging of Harry Bruce of Lynbrook, N. Y.

Sigma Nu announces the pledging of Walter Kersey of Rumford, Me., and Arthur Birchard '29 of Springfield, Mass.

Kappa Chapter of Tau Epsilon Phi announces the pledging of the following new men: Harold M. Burstein of Bridgeport, Conn.; Theodore Bornstein of Brookline, Mass.; Harold Dinniman of New Haven, Conn.; Benjamin Elowitch of Bayonne, N. J.; Solomon Freedman of Roxbury, Mass.; Hyman Levine of Burlington; Max Levine of Bayonne, N. J.; Seymour Nathansin of Fitchburg, Mass.; Jack Rosenthal of Burlington; Harold Schechtman of New Britain, Conn.; Max Soloff of Bridgeport, Conn.

ALPHA KAPPA KAPPA HOLDS BANQUET AND INITIATES SIX MEN

The annual initiation of the University of Vermont Chapter of Alpha Kappa Kappa, medical fraternity, was held Saturday evening in the fraternity rooms in the Y. M. C. A. building, and the banquet was held at the New Sherwood Hotel. The following were initiated:

Frederick J. Fanning, '28; Philip B. Daniels, Frank A. Cormia, Angelo M. Garassi, Lester E. Judd and Louis Kingston, all members of the class of 1930.

Dr. H. A. Durfee of this city was toastmaster at the banquet, which was attended by many alumni, including a number from outside towns. Delegations from McGill University and Dartmouth were present.

OUTING CLUB MEETS TOMORROW TO PLAN FOR WINTER SPORTS

The Outing Club will hold its first meeting of the year Saturday, October 30, at 10.00 A. M. in the large lecture room in Williams Science Hall.

All who are interested in hiking and winter sports such as skiing and snow shoeing should be present as the program for the year will be drawn up.

Special arrangements have been made by President Sears with the Physical Education Department to give a two weeks course in the fundamentals of skiing, to be taught by Richard Bragg, '29, of Bellows Falls. The course will be offered during the winter months, the date to be announced later.

Bragg is a skier of note, having won several trophies and taking part in the annual Skiing Tournament held at Brattleboro each year.

CORRECTION IN BASKET BALL SCHEDULE

Two corrections should be made in the Basketball schedule published in the last issue of the Cynic. The game with Middlebury on February ninth will be played at Middlebury instead of at Burlington, and on February twenty-eighth the return game will be played here.

'Beat Norwich' Slogan Which Promises Cadets a Struggle

Norwich Already Has One Leg on State Championship But Expects Opposition in Getting Final Limb—Has Not Won From Vermont Since 1920

PASSING GAME IS PROMISED TOMORROW

BEAT NORWICH is the battle cry and slogan on the hill this week. Norwich already headed toward the State Championship by virtue of their win over the Black Panther eleven last Saturday by a 14-0 score, is coming here confident of winning. The Norwich game will be the big home game of the season and plans are being made to accommodate the large crowd that is expected. The entire Cadet student body as well as the band will be on hand to support their team.

Norwich Paper Record Good

On paper, Norwich appears to have the upper hand but on the field we believe that Coach McAvoy's Team is superior. The season scores of the two teams are as follows:

Norwich
Norwich	0,	Dartmouth	59
Norwich	0,	Rensselaer	0
Norwich	14,	Union	3
Norwich	32,	Fort E A	0
Norwich	14,	Midd.	0.
Vermont
Vermont	0,	Columbia	14
Vermont	0,	Syracuse	62
Vermont	14,	Clarkson	7
Vermont	0,	Providence	21
Vermont	14,	Tufts	13

Both teams have played five games, Vermont winning two and losing three, while Norwich has won three, tied one and lost one. Norwich has scored 60 points against her opponents 62, while Vermont has scored 28 points against 117 of her opponents. But Dartmouth is the only strong team that Norwich has played. While Vermont has faced such strong teams as Columbia, Syracuse and Providence.

Opponents Not Overconfident

"It came out just as I expected," Captain Molter, Norwich leader, declared after the Middlebury game, but don't be too overconfident next week. The U. V. M. game will be a hard one." Wiley, the Middlebury captain, was heard to assert after the game. "Your chances against Vermont are wonderful."

1920 Last Time Cadets Won

Norwich has not won from Vermont since 1920. In that year, the Horsemen, led by Captain Dannie Steele, vanquished both Vermont and Middlebury. Last year, Vermont won by a scarce three points, that a field goal by Conway. Out of twenty games played between Vermont and Norwich, the Cadets have won six and tied one. The worst defeat administered to Vermont by the Horsemen was a 17-0 trimming in 1910. The no-decision game was an 11-11 affair in 1907.

Passing Game Promised

Tomorrow's game should see the passing game used to a large extent. Norwich has been using the aerial game all season, while in the Tufts game, all the scores came as a result of passes. The Vermont lineup will probably remain the same, no injuries occuring in the last game. Rice, Norwich fullback was injured in the Middlebury game but is expected to be back in the game by Saturday.

The probable line-ups are as follows:

Vermont		Norwich
Morse	le.	le. Andrews
Winchenbach	lt.	lt. Molter, Capt.
Denning, Capt	lg.	lg. Reirdon
O'Keefe	c.	c. Crowley
Kropper	rg.	rg. Tansey
Palmer	rt.	rt. Hourin
Simpson	re.	re. Dunlap
Conway	qb.	qb. Sherman
Scutakes	rhb.	rhb. O'Donnell
Candon	lhb.	lhb. Kane
Smith	fb.	fb. Rice or Garrity

QUESTION BOX TO FOLLOW CONVOCATION WITH DEAN BENNETT THIS AFTERNOON

Students Will Be Given Opportunity to Settle Questions of Religious Doubt in Informal Meeting of Those Especially Interested

This afternoon at four o'clock the Reverend S. M. Bennett, Dean of Chester Cathedral, England, will address a University convocation.

The Dean is a thorough student both of religion and of psychology and is in a position to aid students in clearing up difficulties of adjustment. He was a friend of Dr Coué and advocates the use of auto-suggestion in connection with the New Testament. He has written several books on Psychology, particularly with reference to the development of personality, and has the art of combining psychological and religious doctrines.

Following the lecture, members of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will conduct a question and answer period, lead by Dean Bennett and directly concerning his address. It is hoped that this may clear up any questions in the minds of students on religious problems, and it will furnish an opportunity to meet the Dean in a more intimate way.

MEMBERS OF SOCIETIES MEET TO DISCUSS A TENTATIVE CALENDAR

At the meeting of the delegates from the different fraternities, which was held in the Marsh room in the Billings Library Tuesday evening, to discuss the social calendar for this year, no definite agreements were reached. The problem of cutting down the number of nights, on which the dances are held, was discussed and some progress made. The question of holding the interfraternity dances on different nights than the dances sponsored by college organizations the purpose of the dances being, primarily, to obtain money, was talked over but resulted in no concrete plan. The general opinion was that these organizations should have no competition on the nights of their dances. Only a out one-half of the delegates, that were supposed to be present were there. Another meeting will be held in the near future and it is hoped that the entire number of representatives will be present.

HOCKEY ASSURED FOR COMING WINTER; LIST OF CONTESTS PREPARED

Manager Egan has completed the Hockey schedule and arrangements are being made for a successful season. Dr Desautels of Winooski, who has coached for the past two seasons, will continue in that capacity this year. "Speed" Denning will captain the team. The assistant managers are A. C. Unsworth, C. H. Stevens, and M. I. Gould. The schedule which is published below is the longest that has been drawn up in the two years history of this sport at Vermont. The prospects for a successful season are much better than at any time before as most of the veterans are back and hockey is a certainty, which has not been the case until late in past years due to lack of funds. Last year nothing definite was possible and it was only due to the work of "Chet" Russell, '26, manager, that the sport was on the list of activities at all. The schedule follows:

Feb 2	Middlebury	Here
Feb 5	M A C	Here
Feb 9	Middlebury	There
Feb 16	Army	There
Feb 17	Union	There
Feb 18	R P I	There

ETA SIGMA

The Greek play which was to have been given Tuesday evening, has been postponed until the next meeting.

The Vermont Cynic

THE [illegible] STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE [illegible] ASSOCIATION

[illegible] Published every Tuesday [illegible] during the college year. Subscription price $3.00 a year, delivered anywhere in the United States. Single copy [illegible]

[illegible] communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, 136 Buell Hall. All other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, 161 Colchester Ave.

Entered at the Burlington [illegible] Post Office as second class matter [illegible]

Editors

[illegible] '29 ..... Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] '30 ..... News Editor
[illegible] '30 ..... News Editor
..... Women's Editor
[illegible] '30 ..... Sporting Editor
[illegible] '30 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] '30 ..... Humor Editor
[illegible] '30 ..... Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

[illegible] '30 Herbert M. Tracy '29
Francis O. Shield '30
[illegible] '30 Ione Bagley '29
Florence Cook '29
Margaret Derrick '30
[illegible] '30 Virginia Margie '30

Business Staff

[illegible] '29 ..... Business Mgr.
[illegible] '29 ..... Advertising Mgr.
[illegible] '29 ..... Assistant Manager
[illegible] '29 ..... Assistant Manager
[illegible] '29 ..... Assistant Manager

[illegible] undergraduates are heartily invited to use [illegible] All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Any [illegible] should be handed in or telephoned [illegible] before 9 p. m. Sunday and Wednesday.

In charge of this issue:

[illegible] ..... News Editor
[illegible] ..... Assistant Manager

Vol. [illegible] October 29, 1928 No. 11

"BEAT NORWICH"

Tomorrow the first of the two annual contests with our two most ancient rivals, Norwich and Middlebury takes place. It has been six years since a Vermont eleven has won from one of our football teams either here or at Norwich, although there have been times when our escape was narrow. Last year was one of those times.

It was the fighting spirit of the college and the team that brought the state title to Burlington last year and it is the same fighting spirit that will do it this year if it is done.

According to all accounts the Norwich team is strong, but that does not make them overconfident. The Cadets are coming down here with a large number of followers as they always do, and in spite of their superiority on paper will not let down their guard one inch.

Our own team has come through the season without any disabling injuries and has been welded into a strong aggregation displaying a team work, which showed itself last week at Medford to be a valuable asset.

Tomorrow we can count on seeing some fast football played and the game will not be a walk away for either team.

The cheering section also will have a big proposition to face. The student body will not only have a chance to show up at the Key and Serpent Section tonight but to a much greater extent tomorrow on the field. The team will have a cheering section which is not to be despised and their cheers have been built up on the drill field. Every man who comes away from the game tomorrow without a sore throat will not be a true Vermonter. Let those who are down there realize that we know that they have the support and confidence by making the welkin ring with cheers which comes from the opposite stand sound insignificant beside our own. Let the cheering tonight be but a work out. Practice those cheers against tomorrow. Remember the slogan "Beat Norwich."

CAMPUS COMMENT

The Campus Comment column on this page is for the use of the students and faculty members at any time when they may feel inclined to use it. Everyone has one time or another, opinions and grievances, which are not common to him alone but which interest the crowd in general. What better way is there of letting that opinion be known and making itself effective for getting corrective measures if such are needed, than by broadcasting it to several hundreds through the medium of this page.

The Cynic is the organ of the student body and as such stands ready to publish any opinion which appears to have any basis at all. The only stipulation is that these communications shall be signed by the writer, the name to be withheld unless he or she wishes otherwise.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

I would like to express my opinion and that of many others concerning the foolish idea of "Changing Tickets." I would like to know the reasons for such a practice. Is this the way they do in other colleges?

It is nothing more than a "bushel of red tape," and the spending of money. It is ridiculous. The athletic department knows how many students there are in college. Why not reserve a section for us, and do away with this galloping over the entire campus to "exchange our tickets?" It costs money to have a set of tickets made as the athletic department is in need of money, why not do away with the idea of exchanging tickets?

We, who are on the Medical side have to do the same galloping over the campus to exchange tickets after late classes, and it's a matter of taking what is left. The athletic department can incorporate a good idea, if such a process is to continue, by having the boys come over to the Medical Building and give us a chance.

It is apparent that the system is a foolish mess of red tape, and good for nothing. Those who look after such affairs can do away with such conservative ideas, be more liberal and still have the athletic department function. They surely won't go on the rocks any more than they are now. We have what one might call "one man rule."

We are paying twenty dollars athletic fee and ten dollars to see four or five games, which amounts to just about ten dollars too much, after we traverse the campus to patronize such a foolish idea as has been set forth. Of course we are not all perfect, and are entitled to our own convictions, so that's probably the reason why such a brilliant idea was evolved.

I must close, Mr. Editor, for I fear I am taking up, or already have done, too much space, for which I want to thank you. I hope that Mr. Mayforth and others concerned will take heed and do away with the idea of exchanging.

A Student.

THE CHAPEL

If predictions are true, a short time from now will see the new clock installed and the staging removed from the tower of the Ira Allen Chapel.

In beauty the new building promises to be one of the brightest spots on our campus. The glistening white paint of the portico and the tower, and the guilded domes make a most decided contrast with the drabness of the other buildings beside it.

One feature of the new structure which everyone will appreciate is the clock in the tower. If this is run in conjunction with the other clocks of the college this will prove a most decided boon to the students and especially to the professors, who hate to have their classes interrupted by late arrivals. Those coming up from down-street will be able to hasten their steps or to enjoy their walk in a more leisurely fashion according to the tale of time which it tells.

Another boon which the presence of the chapel will confer, goes to the athletic department which is often harnessed by the necessity of vacating the gymnasium and postponing most needed practice sessions for convocations which are held from time to time.

Whatever the uses that it will be put to or the ones forbidden, the University is to be considered most lucky to have a benefactor, who would donate a building which is such an addition to its campus.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT OF 1929

Due to an error the name of Francis F. O'Keefe '29 was omitted from the list of candidates who were nominated by the nominating committee of the class of 1929 for election to class offices at the meeting which will be held in the near future. O'Keefe is a candidate for the presidency of the class.

The Wetness

Smells

Some people like Coty's "Paris"
And orange pekoe tea,
Or at the odor of gasoline,
Will sniff ecstatically.
Hugs Hall, they say, likes ether
With a dash of formaldehyde
While the Phi Delts claim the king of them all
Is an onion, nicely fried
Do you thrill at the odors from "Henry's"?
Or is "Narcisse Noir" more your style?
No matter, I know an aroma
That has 'em all beat by a mile
One that's so far ahead of the others
That it has 'em all tied to the wharf—
The smell of the other guy's cigarette
When you've laid off.

What College Ain't

If college was as college ain't! The reason for this outburst is the latest subject in Movies 13, namely "The Campus Flirt." Since unfortunately, the picture will be no longer with us by the time this Cynic comes out we don't get our usual advertising rates. But, honestly, wouldn't education be nice if it were only as painless as in the "Colton" of that picture, where gymn is positively a pleasure what with black satin running-trunks and thr-r-rilling blonde coaches, where the entire masculine contingent turns out for a girl's track-meet (that's so typical of Vermont), where all dormitory rooms are twice the size of the chapel, and where janitors are good-hearted "comic relief" instead of the grim-faced, turners-off of heat that we know. What a delightful innovation among colleges is this where no one ever has to study, because classes are never held, and where wild-eyed students meet one at the train. (We did so enjoy the huge mob and brass band that met us last fall.)

Perhaps it is the notorious New England climate that makes our Alma Mater so devoid of these charming college customs; black satin running-trunks are more practical in California than Vermont. Or it may be that the movie magnates never went to college. Poor dears, let's hope they never do; think how a course in Ec. 1. would shatter their illusions.

Ballad of John Jenson

John Jenson, simple country lad,
Gave to life the best he had.
The best he had was none too good;
John Jenson died as failures should.

John Jenson in a wormy bier
Laid in peace for year on year.
Till rotting in his pauper's bower,
John Jenson fertilized a flower.

The flower bloomed, as flowers will,
It grew to monstrous size, until
An Aggie prof came by one day
John Jenson's flower took away.

In Plummer's lab the flower grew,
To teach a student all he knew.
The student passed the course, they tell.
John Jenson served his purpose well.

Daily Dribble

To improve your age improve your time.

He who can bottle up his temper is a corker.

Things that never happen worry us most.

Dean Bennett of Chester Cathedral speaks at 4:00 in the gymnasium.

Don't miss it. A period for questions and answers will be given following the address.

Don't walk under a ladder—climb it.

AN ATHLETE'S PRAYER

God make me a man
Give me the strength to stand for right
When other folks have left the fight
Give me the courage of the man
Who knows that if he wills he can Teach me to see in every face
The good, and kind and not the base
Make me sincere in mind and deed
Blot out from me all sham and greed
Help me to guard my troubled soul
By constant acting self-control
Clean up my thoughts, my speech, my play
And keep me pure from day to day
Oh make of me a man.

Now that would-be football heroes have been getting iceman jobs in the summer, will it follow that would-be pugilistic champs will in future join the marines?

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

TOMAS

(BY CHARLES E. STAFFORD M'29)

It was hot, sticky, sultry in that little clearing. From out of the surrounding jungle there came that indistinct hum of millions of creatures. A behucco vine hanging in a twisted gnarled knot from a tree that was half brush swayed as a parrakeet landed lightly on a branch near it. A dragon fly skirted from one flower to another. A butterfly, himself a myriad of colors, flitted through the air in its irregular course. A beetle with a shiny, greenish back lost its hold on a blade of grass, skidded, and tumbled down to another blade. Leaves of strange plants, speckled with different hues of red and white, shuddered slightly as a hot, damp breeze lazily passed over them. Everywhere were colors set in a background of green and yellow. It was sticky, sultry, hot in that little clearing.

There was a terrible squak, a disgruntled scream, and a flash of green, red, blue and yellow marked the departure of the parrakeet. The dragon fly stopped his skirting; the butterfly landed on a leaf, closed his wings, and remained silent, his tiny eyes looking in the direction of the disturbance. From out of the tangled mass of jungle appeared a brown glistening body. Clothed only in a gee string, with a bolo stuck through it, and a heavy pack over his shoulder, Tomas stepped into the clearing and stopped. He had travelled far that day, and his way was still long before him, but he remembered what was in his pack, a bag of salt. He had gone far to get it, but that did not matter, for now no longer would he and his wife and her relatives and his relatives and his relatives' relatives have to suffer from the lack of salt. There is no salt lick in his "burro."

He took off his pack, leaned it against a tree, and squatted placidly beside it. From out of the thick tufts of his hair he took a brass pipe, and from out of the lobe of his ear he took a roll of tobacco, stuck it in the bowl, like one would stick a cigar, found a sulphur match somewhere in the folds of his gee string, lit it, and puffed in silence. The pungent odor of home dried tobacco filled the air around him like a heavy, soggy, dense fog, while down at his feet a score of ants were struggling with a grain of something that they had found and were taking home. The butterfly continued its zigzag course, the beetle had found something else to climb clumsily on, the dragon fly resumed his busy humming. And still Tomas smoked.

Out over the tangled mass of jungle, trees, hills and mountains went his mind, way out to a little "burro" nestled in a quiet valley, in a land that was free of dense jungle, a land where the pines grew tall and straight. True, not far away there was plenty of jungle, but where his hut was grew the pines. His own hut, built of wood hewn by himself, and with a roof made of grass which he had chosen and cut. And what were those tiny naked bits of human beings running around, laughing, or gathered with others in army formation and throwing rocks at the opposing forces? They were his, three of them. Stalwart youngsters they were, with scrawny gee strings trying to hide their atrocious pot bellies. There, most likely, seated on a board was his wife, weaving a cloth of many colors, while its strands were attached to the framework of the hut. He smiled, took out his pipe from his mouth, found that it had gone out, and stuck it back in his hair.

It was time to go, for already he had rested too long. In a moment he had slung the heavy pack over his shoulder, adjusted the head band to his forehead, and started off, his flat feet padding silently over the [illegible]. The parrakeet [illegible] darted away. The [illegible] through the air and landed on a behucco vine. The butterfly [illegible] closed his wings and watched, [illegible] lessly.

Tomas stopped [illegible] had instinctively warned him that [illegible] him there was danger. Maybe it was the way the parrakeet [illegible] maybe it was [illegible] had sought refuge [illegible] at the edge of [illegible] whirled around [illegible] time to hear the [illegible] it flew past where [illegible] There in front of him stood a warrior armed with a shield and head ax. What chance had he [illegible] fight with? He had left his "burro" a week ago, assured that there was a feud between his tribe and the Kalingas. He did not know that since then there had been already four heads taken.

The Kalinga rushed his shield in front of him, his head ax glistening in the sun. Tomas had no time to remove his pack. In a second he had his bolo out and met the attack the best he could. The head ax flashed through the air. Tomas ducked and jumped aside, striking at the other only to be met with the shield. They jumped apart and slowly circled each other. The Kalinga rushed again, his shield slightly tipped forward and three wooden prongs aimed straight for the throat of the other. Tomas saw the move, but could not jump out in time. The heavy pack on his shoulders was retarding his movements. He felt the shield crash against his chest and dimly saw the head ax sweeping down toward his back. There was only one chance. His bolo. Could it wound him? He struck blindly and felt the blade stick into something soft. He did not know that the head ax had cut him. He did not know what had happened to the other. Everything seemed to turn hopelessly black around him. It seemed as though nothing mattered. He felt no pain, yet, for some reason or other he had that tired feeling. His hands seemed powerless, his legs too weak to move. Then everything went far, far away and he knew no more.

* * *

In the "burro" called Mayinli [illegible] say that there is a woman with three children. She is old now, old, and her children are no longer young. Many, many years ago people used to call her Itao, meaning "Wise one," but today she is called "Wise Salao"—"the salt-less" for she will never use salt with her food, nor she nor her children who are no longer young.

Among the tribe of the Kalinga is a "burro" that has a strange tale which is now almost a legend. They speak of a young warrior who went, many, many moons ago, went out on the path of war to get a head from the tribe of the Bontocs. He has never returned, nor have they been able to find out how he died, for there were no heads taken after he had left, by the Kalingas or by the Bontocs.

* * *

It was hot and sultry in that little clearing. A dragon fly skirted from one flower to another. A butterfly himself a myriad of colors, flitted through the air in its irregular course. A beetle with a shiny, greenish back lost its foothold on a blade of grass, skidded, and tumbled down to another blade. A parrakeet perched on a branch of a tree, ruffled his feathers, one, a red one, flew lightly and landed on some [illegible] and hard.

NO FRATERNITIES AT OTTAWA

Social life at Ottawa University, Kansas, moves along without the aid of Greek-letter fraternities. The substitute is "Social Groups." The student body is divided into sections of thirty-five or forty for social purposes. The division is "not arbitrary," but along the lines of natural congeniality and of friendship already existing. No rituals or insignias are permitted, and there are no intercollegiate affiliations.—The New Student.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER &
112 Church Street

STUDENTS ATTENTION
For the Best [illegible] Service in the City
DICKSON'S BARBER [illegible]
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers
No Long [illegible]
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington,
Printing for every student need

Co-ed's Corner

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO SAVE BULLETIN SPACE

As a ... of an article in the ...me ago, a list has been ... Y" room of all articles ... Anyone wishing to ad... articles is asked to put ... this list rather than on ... et. The purpose of this ... notices being scattered ... far, not many seem to ... vantage of this. It is ... to do her part.

W. A. A.

Soccer ... hiking classes will start ... permitting.

Field Day ... takes place November 2 at ... Grasshopper.

OUTING CLUB

There were nine girls who went on the 5-10 mile hike Saturday afternoon. Everyone is welcome on these hikes and a larger attendance is hoped for

Oh! La! La!

SHIRTS VARY IN LENGTH—COATS, BLOUSE, SLICKERS NO LONGER A NECESSITY

Skirts

More and more is the stylish woman designing her gowns to fit the occasion and one noticeable movement illustrating this is the varying lengths of skirts. Now afternoon dresses, since they are worn at times when the heaviest lifting is a cup of tea and the hardest work is conversation, are being worn rather noticeably longer—in fact about half way 'twixt knee and ankle. Perhaps this is to emphasize the idea of tallness or maybe it is to feminize women's dress—or perhaps the reason is to make the storekeeper's purses fuller as more cloth is required! On the other hand, the boyish skirt with creased sides and hip pocket is extremely masculine in appearance and is above the knees in length—however, this costume is to be used for sports wear and active sports wear only. To appear elsewhere in these skirts is to commit a social crime and the well-dressed women will treat such an offender as an outcast. The worning dress is a cross between the evening gown and the tea dress and hangs about sixteen inches from the floor at the shortest 'tho it often comes to from five to ten inches above ground at its longest.

Coats

The new coats are quite different and are causing the reappearance of the waist line. They are made to blouse in back and to have straight lines in front 'tho the sport coats, made of tweeds for the most particular women as plaids are a little too common, give the blouselike appearance in front also, due to the wearing of a narrow leather belt which is tightly fastened about the waist. These last, like the boyish skirts, are for sports wear only 'tho they are sufficiently long to be worn at football games and on hasty trips to classes. No longer does the ultra-fashionable woman wear a slicker—they are fast becoming demodé and their place is being taken by sort of heavy tweedlike sisters which are worn with jaunty tam-o'-shanters of the same material and a kind of leather zipper made in a harmonizing color. These make very neat outfits and are preferable as the colors do not seem likely to clash with the bright colors of my ladies' dress.

Individuality of Bobs—Ear Rings to Suit the Occasion

In these days of sameness in style and conformity to rule as far as clothes go, it seems strange that the mode for bobbed hair remains and does not change so very different. The fashionable "Miss" will not cut her hair the way her friend does but the way that is most becoming remembering only two things—first that it give a simple stylish effect, and second that it be close to the head. The cut may be long or short, straight or curled, boyish or strictly feminine, parted on the side or in the middle but it must be bobbed. At present the prevailing mode is a short cut but it comes far from being the rule. The ultra fashionable are, whenever possible, wearing their hair straight but if it is not becoming, a deep marcel is employed. By no means should a modern à la mode allow her hair to be trained curled or to be turned under at the ends. The hair is practically never worn with bands or fancy barretts though occasionally for evening wear a daring woman will place some one stunning ornament at one side of her head.

Now that the head has become so outstanding ear rings are playing a most important part—these are worn on almost all occasions and are ever growing in length so that for evening they barely escape the shoulder and for afternoon reach as far as the chin—but never—never should a woman of refined taste be seen adorned with such ornaments in the morning or down town.

Sorority Notes

Delta Delta Delta

Eta Chapter gave a tea Wednesday afternoon at the rooms.

Pi Beta Phi

A tea was given Monday at the rooms for the town mothers of the active girls. Belle Randall poured.

Alpha Xi Delta

Mrs. Edward H. Dench, of Philadelphia, the fraternity province president, was a visitor of Upsilon Chapter over the past week-end.

Upsilon of Alpha Xi Delta announces the initiation of Dorothy Weller '29 of Brandon, Vermont, on October 23 at the rooms.

The fraternity held a dinner party Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Dench, the province president. The following alumnæ were present: Annis Barney, Eunice Bayliss, Alida Fairbanks, Elizabeth Kimball Kidder, Anna Smith, Marion Vogler of Burlington; Dorothy Gilbert of Newport, Thelma Mathewson and Louise Morgan of Richmond; and Madeline Taylor of St. Albans.

Miss Martha O'Neil entertained all the Upsilon seniors at a dinner party at her home on Monday evening.

Kappa Delta

The pledges entertained the fraternity after the business meeting Thursday evening.

BLUESTOCKINGS

Everyone interested in Bluestockings is asked to sign up on the poster in the "Y" room.

There is going to be a Hallowe'en party, and much fun and entertainment has been planned by the committee in charge.

Current Comment

South Africa As a Winter Resort

Since many are considering where to spend the winter, we might as well select a place. South Africa has never experienced a boom that I know of, still H. A. Boyden in his article "South Africa as a Winter Resort" in The Fortnightly Review for October makes it fascinating to the ear as well as to the eye. The climate, the vegetation, the fruits, nature lavish in her ornaments, he portrays in delightful style. Comfortable hotels and lodgings are found midst beautiful flower gardens. The swish of hundreds of trout eager to be caught and eaten is music to the fisherman. Magnificent roads minus lions south of the Orange river are a pleasure to the motorist. Cape Town has its antiques and also its enjoyment places. Sea bathing is one of the best of sports while riding is a close second. The Cape Peninsula abounds in splendid beaches, suitable for meditation. Most everything that is wild has disappeared leaving habitable cities unique in their many attractions.

Africa as a Scene of Endeavor

After we have seen how lovely it would be to spend a winter in South Africa let us turn to "The White Man's Task in Tropical Africa" by Sir Frederick D. Lugard in Foreign Affairs for October. He outlines in a direct manner what our work is, in helping the country make the most of its raw materials as well as its people. He observes that the "railways in Africa are generally constructed by the state.....The importation of Indian labor has raised difficulties greater than those of the problem it was hoped that it would solve.....The mining companies generally make large profits." Education, as it is handled at present is not thriving though he admits that "habits of obedience to authority on the one hand and of responsibility and initiative on the other hand, have already been acquired in a greater or lesser degree." That statement proves the worth and hidden ability of the natives who need not so much the religious help as medical aid and educational instruction.

"WORLD TOMORROW" TO PAY STUDENT THOUGHT; $500 IN CASH PRIZES

Five hundred dollars in prizes is now available for young authors with a tendency to think and learn what others are thinking. The World Tomorrow, of New York City, edited by Kirby Smith is offering eight cash prizes for the best articles, written by young people on the subject "What Youth is Thinking."

The World Tomorrow wishes to find out what present day problem or problems loom as the most challenging in the opinion of youth. Some suggestions are: war, industrial autocracy, race prejudice, crime, ignorance, though these are merely queries. The writers are given the widest range and greatest freedom in their selection of topic. The magazine's only desire is to discover what social and individual problems are the most important to the younger generation, what it thinks will be its greatest contribution to civilization.

The prizes are as follows: Class One open to any person under twenty-five years of age—First prize $100; Second prize $75; Third prize $50; Fourth prize $25. Class Two open to any person from twenty-five to thirty years of age—First prize $100; Second prize $75; Third prize $50; Fourth prize $25.

The judges of the contest are: Emily G. Balch, Director of Policies of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom; Henry Raymond Mussey, Professor of Economics, Wellesley College; Kirby Page, Editor of the World Tomorrow; Beatrice Price, General Secretary of the Fellowship of Youth for Peace; Henry P. Van Dusen, of the Student Department of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Rules of Contest

1. Manuscript must be typewritten on sheets approximately 8½ x 11 inches, and unsigned. Name, address and age of the writer and the name of the manuscript submitted should be enclosed in a sealed envelope. (It is suggested that each contestant retain, for precaution against possible loss in transmission, a copy of his manuscript.) Manuscripts will be returned only when accompanied by return postage.
2. Articles must be between 1,500 and 3,000 words in length.
3. The Editorial Staff reserves the right to reduce the length of any article.
4. The right is reserved to purchase any article for publication in a future issue.
5. Manuscripts must reach the office of the World Tomorrow by November tenth. The judges will be glad to have manuscripts available for consideration as much earlier as possible.

The winning essays will be published in the January issue of the World Tomorrow.

FACULTY NOTES

Professor H. H. Ellenberger, head of the dairy department at the University of Vermont and Mrs. Ellenberger returned to Burlington on Monday evening. Professor Ellenberger lectured at the meeting of the American Dairy Science Association in Detroit, and then went to Toronto and Hamilton Canada. They made the trip by automobile.

Monday noon Professor Jacobs told the Exchange Club about his trip to Hawaii and about the eruptions of Mauna Loa.

At a meeting of the Faculty Club Saturday evening Professor Grout spoke on English Coal and English Industry.

Mr Tsoong, formerly a student at the University of Vermont Summer School is now at the head of the bureau of finance of the Province of Canton, China. At the present time he is engaged in an effort to stabilize the currency of Canton.

Compulsory physical education at McGill University, Montreal, has been suspended for lack of space to hold gymnasium classes.

MILITARY AND BAND NOTES

At last the uniforms for the Freshman section of the R O T C Battalion have arrived. The Frosh made their first appearance in uniform this morning on the back campus. By Armistice day they will have become used to the angles of their new clothes and will have thoroughly outgrown all their self consciousness.

Tomorrow, the band will play for the Norwich game in regular uniform, form

The Juniors are making a sand table sketch this week.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE!

Working your way through school is not so difficult, when selling Salem Products. A combination of three of the following articles Vegetal Lilac, Van de Quinine Hair Tonic, Bay Rum, Florida Water, each a 75c item; Magnesia Dental and Comfort Shaving Cream, each a 50c item, any three for $1.00. Your profit 35c on every $1 sale. Each man uses and buys them. Send $1. for sample combination to suit yourself. Money refunded if not satisfied.

SALEM PRODUCTS, INC.
18 Union Square, New York City

TOWER'S FISH BRAND COLLEGE COATS
SNAPPY, SERVICEABLE WATERPROOFS
All the go with College men

Varsity Slickers (YELLOW OR OLIVE)
Sport Coats (YELLOW OR OLIVE)
TOWER'S FISH BRAND
"The Rainy Day Pal"
A.J. TOWER CO.
BOSTON MASS.

A sure bait for Big Marks!

THE chances are, everything else being equal, that the neatly typewritten report or thesis will be marked higher than hand-written work. The profs, like every one else, appreciate clearly legible work, and unconsciously it creates a better impression.

The Remington Portable is always ready to help you get the best marks you can. It is the simplest, fastest, and easiest to operate of all portables. Weighs but 8½ pounds, net, and the carrying case is only 4 inches high, so that the machine can be put away in a drawer when not in use. All these features plus the four-row standard keyboard

The Recognized Leader in Sales and Popularity

Terms as low as $10 down and $5 monthly

Remington Portable

W. H. SHERMAN, 104 Church St., Burlington, Vt.

REMINGTON TYPEWRITER CO., Howard National Bank Bldg., Burlington, Vt.
186 College St.

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
97½ Church St.
1 FLIGHT UP
Excellent service for Ladies and Gents

Hart Schaffner and Marx
SUITS and OVERCOATS
for
MEN AND YOUNG MEN
New Low Prices
$29 $34 $39
Peoples Department Store

NEW YORK LIFE INS. CO.
B. G. LEMIEUX '25

MIDDLEBURY OFFERS STRONG OPPOSITION IN CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

[illegible] meet between Ver- [illegible] harriers will [illegible] the Middlebury game [illegible]

[illegible] that it is practical- [illegible] Middlebury will with- [illegible] the fact that this [illegible] the strongest cross [illegible] has had for years [illegible] the lack of per- [illegible] entirely. At [illegible] Reece O T Wood R I Allen, all vet [illegible] as well as [illegible] year's sensation [illegible] training for the [illegible] season of the coach [illegible] have one of the best [illegible] in Northern New [illegible] candidates put in two [illegible] training. As yet [illegible] country tradition is [illegible] and needs careful nurs- [illegible]

[illegible] Middlebury is the best [illegible] team and is expected [illegible] The rest of the [illegible] is composed of [illegible] showing above the [illegible] who will give keen [illegible] the Vermont veterans. [illegible] is now consistently [illegible] timers who at pres- [illegible] records Post is [illegible] the state record in the [illegible] the two-mile record. [illegible] record for the mile [illegible] by Post and Dean [illegible] the record for the Middle- [illegible] course until Don [illegible] last year.

FOOTBALL LEARNED IN PHYSICAL TRAINING TO AID FUTURE TEACHERS

Since the beginning of the school year the work in the Physical Education classes has been given over to the teaching of the fundamentals of football. The work on offensive tactics was completed last week, including the backfield positions and start, the line-men's position and start, the flail, the sidestep, the block and the reverse.

The next three weeks will be devoted to work on defensive tactics.

Dr. Arcmagic points out the fact that this work is of special benefit to all and especially to those who are going to teach outside of those who play football. A person rising to the principalship of a school and knowing the fundamentals of all sports, will be in a position to act as a competent coach for his teams.

CHEMISTRY SOCIETY OFFERS PRIZES FOR ESSAYS BY FRESHMEN

Six prizes of $1,000, one for each of the six designated subjects given below, will be awarded to Freshman students of colleges and universities who write the best essays in accordance with the rules.

Rules

1. A contestant may submit only one essay.
2. Essays must not exceed 2,500 words. Any exceeding 2,500 words will not be considered by the judges of the contest.
3. Essays must be confined to one of the following subjects:

1. The Relation of Chemistry to Health and Disease.
2. The Relation of Chemistry to the Enrichment of Life.
3. The Relation of Chemistry to Agriculture or Forestry.
4. The Relation of Chemistry to National Defense.
5. The Relation of Chemistry to the Home.
6. The Relation of Chemistry to the Development of an Industry or a Resource of the United States.

4. Essays must be legibly written in ink or, preferably typewritten, double-spaced, have wide margins, and be on one side of paper 8½" x 11". Each essay must bear the name, home address and name and address of the school of the contestant. The sheets must be numbered and securely fastened together.
5. All quotations must be enclosed in quotation marks and due credit must be given to sources of reference.
6. Duplicates of essays submitted in prior contests will not be accepted.
7. All essays must be in the hands of the Secretary of the Committee on Prize Essays of the American Chemical Society, 85 Beaver Street, New York City, not later than March 1, 1927.
8. The University and College Freshman Contest will be considered a national contest and all matters pertaining to it will be referred directly to the Committee on Prize Essays of the American Chemical Society, 85 Beaver Street, New York City, which will be assisted by designated individuals and committees.
9. Full rights to publish any essay submitted are reserved by the American Chemical Society.

Tel. 207-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

PURPOSE AND WORK OF INDEPENDENTS DEFINED

For the benefit of newcomers at Vermont the purpose and composition of the Vermont Independents are declared.

The Vermont Independents is an organization composed entirely of non-fraternity men in the academic college. Its purpose is to unite all the non-fraternity men in one group, where the interests will be in common, where acquaintances and friendships may be formed easily with others in the same strata socially, and where men who feel lost in the scramble may find they have a place. The membership is open to any man in the academic colleges who is not associated with a fraternity. A small membership fee is charged to defray such expenses as entrance fees into the inter-fraternity basketball and baseball series and other intramural activities.

All non-fraternity men including freshmen are asked to come to a meeting of the Independents which will be held in 3 South College next Monday, November 1 at 7 P M. Freshmen should be there to get the inside dope on the organization. Two Gold Key men will be elected by the sophomores to replace those who have gone fraternity. Upperclassmen should be present to help plan for the dance to be held this fall.

At a meeting held in the Y M C A office last Monday, M E. Weston, '27 was elected treasurer, and the dance proposed.

Sign Up for Special

Boulder society will run a special train to the Middlebury game Saturday, November 13, providing that enough people will sign up for tickets. All fraternities and sororities are asked to take the names of those in their respective organizations, who will go on the special at their Monday night meetings. Any others who are desirous of going should hand their names to a Boulder man.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE VERMONT Y. M. C. A. PLEDGE

What's wrong with the Vermont Y M C A pledge? Is it all wrong or all right or just partly wrong and partly right? This is what the present Y. M. C. A. cabinet would like to find out. Here is the pledge:

To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.

To lead them into membership and service in the Christian Church.

To promote their growth in Christian faith, especially through the study of the Bible and prayer.

To influence them to devote themselves in united effort with all Christians to making the will of Christ effective in human society, and to extending the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

Times do change. If you think this pledge can be or should be so amended or restated that it would better fit in with campus and world needs now, tell the CYNIC or write your opinion to the "Y" office.

TASTEFUL JEWELRY

for the woman of discrimination, is what you will always find at Parish's. We comb the world for latest and best ideas in jewelry, and our precious stones come from the uttermost ends of the earth. Come and see them.

Russel W. Parish
97 CHURCH

Sidelights On Tufts' Game By A Spectator

Harvard wasn't the only team to stage a comeback last Saturday for anyone who had seen Coach McAvoy's charges play against Providence would not have recognized it as the team that lined up against Tufts. The Green and Gold eleven were changed completely from a group of individual men to a team that worked as one. Each man had his part to do and he did it to perfection. The defense was as nearly perfect as could be possible with the exception of breaking up the enemies aerial game. Coach McAvoy will spend the greater part of this week's practice session in drilling his charges in this department.

Game Not So Close As It Read

Even though Vermont only won by one point she came within inches of scoring another touchdown when in the last quarter she brought the ball up to the one yard line by forward passes and off tackle plays with John Candon carrying the ball in most of the latter plays. Here Jack Conway tried to put the ball over on a play that had netted from ten to twenty yards all the afternoon but the play failed and Vermont lost her chance to score.

Fish Ellis Not So Good

Fish Ellis may be the whole show down at Medford but to the few Vermont supporters who watched the game from the sidelines he didn't look so hot. In fact every time he caught one of Jack Smith's punts he made for the sidelines as fast as his feet would carry him to avoid being tackled for during the first half the Vermont secondary defense hit him hard and they weren't playing tag either.

Kropper Wins Game

It may have been Jack Conway's educated toe that booted the points after the touchdowns but it was "Tiny" Kropper who blocked the Tufts try for the point after their first touchdown and this saved Vermont from having the score tied.

Candon at Best

Few of the Vermont fans ever saw Johnny Candon at his best but he sure was showing his stuff Saturday. He picked his holes perfectly and reversed his field several times for long gains besides being a whirlwind on the defense.

Winchenbach There with Interference

Winchenbach also comes in for his share of the glory because of his wonderful work on the defense. Even after he was forced to leave the line and exchange with Candon he was the main stay of the secondary line. Time after time he was down under Ellis' punts to give Jack Conway interference on the run back one of which Jack carried 45 yards. Although the Green and Gold line was a little weak in holding back the Jumbo men on Vermont's punts Jack Smith gained a world of ground on his boots.

Backfield Does Its Share

Although the rest of the Green and Gold line and backfield did not exactly pull off any thrillers they did their share of the work and one of them can very well be praised too much.

And while Vermont was having her own scrap, Norwich was handing Middlebury a 14 to 0 defeat. Reports coming from the soldiers' camp are full of confidence. While Vermont supporters feel that the Green and Gold gridsters will come out on top in Saturday's fray, Norwich was only able to score two touchdowns on the comparatively weak Middlebury eleven which goes to show that their offense is not so strong. In the first quarter the Blue and White held the Horsemen on their one yard line which doesn't look so good.

Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says

Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schednle shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay per week for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the Budget comes from — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York
154-158 COLLEGE STREET

HORTON PRIVATE LIBRARY GIVEN TO UNIVERSITY

1500 Volumes, Some of Unusual Value, to Be Kept Intact within Billings Library

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Perley H Osgood, of Lexington, Mass., the University of Vermont has recently come into possession of the private library of the late Arthur E. Horton, of that town. It was Mr. Horton's wish that his books pass into the custody of a New England Collegiate institution, and in view of the fact that he was of Vermont birth, Mrs Osgood chose the University of Vermont as the recipient.

The library comprises approximately 1500 volumes. It is a general collection but is especially rich in agricultural material- much of which was published in the earlier part and middle of the last century—and in history and general literature. It contains several volumes which were printed in the 17th and 18th centuries, some of which are valuable from the standpoint of the bibliophile. In accordance with the donor's request, the Horton Library will be kept intact as a unit in the Billings Library. It will be catalogued in due time and made available for student uses.

Mr. Horton was for a generation a highway and park engineer in Massachusetts. He was born in Clarendon, Vt., February 25, 1872, son of William P. and Mary E. Mackenzie Horton. He was graduated at the Castleton Normal School but did not receive a college education. His professional training was secured at night school and by practical experience. He was for some years one of the principal engineers engaged in laying out the metropolitan highway system and was active in connection with the landscape architecture of several of the parks in the metropolitan system.

At one time and another during his career he taught in Vermont public schools, lectured at sundry preparatory schools and on landscape gardening and kindred subjects at the Buzzey Institute of Harvard University.

Mr. Horton was a public spirited citizen and active in the town councils of Lexington for many years. He was a lover of good literature, and his books are full of his annotations, showing keen insight and deep appreciation. He was unmarried. He died May 10, 1921.

She (anxiously): Oh Archie, how far is it back to town?

Archie (at the wheel): About two pairs of oxfords.—Virginia Reel.

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

CHOPS AND STROKES

We see by the Norwich [illegible] the cadets may have a [illegible] Major Potter, Norwich [illegible] tor is sponsoring the [illegible] courts will not be used [illegible] surface will be soft [illegible] the sport will start [illegible] basis. The interest [illegible] by the Cadets will [illegible] the game will become [illegible] not.

We read some news [illegible] recent edition of the [illegible] pus. The paper [illegible] racquet wielders [illegible] first match against [illegible] lington on Saturday [illegible] 5-1. The match was [illegible] out against the upstate [illegible] outclassed in all [illegible] Green and Gold [illegible] winning the second [illegible] Freshmen combination [illegible] Woodbury 6-1, 8-6.

"The veterans displayed their former strength and the freshman candidates shaped up [illegible] was woefully weak and shows no promise for the coming season.

We refer especially to the last sentence. Middlebury [illegible] mont three times now and each time by the score of 5-1. [illegible] that showed up well in the Tournament and the veterans that remain we think that when spring comes Vermont will turn out a team that will take the measure of the downstaters. Practice will begin in the cage immediately after the close of the football season, under the direction of Prof. Carpenter.

Good Old Lady: My poor man, why didn't you go straight?

Convict No. 000: I was bent on getting married.—Iowa Frivol.

Corona has the features you want.

You can't get all these advantages in another portable.

Standard keyboard.
12 yards of reversing ribbon.
10-inch carriage.
Margin release on keyboard.
Variable line spacer.
Adjustable paper guide.
Self-spacing carriage return.
100 per cent visibility.
Proved durability.

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

The University Store

offers you a new service.

That certain magazine for which you walk [illegible] downtown—why not have one reserved for you [illegible] issue,

at the

University Store

Leave your name and that of the magazine desired and we will see that you get it promptly.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1926 — NUMBER 18

ONLY ONE MORE WEEK BEFORE CLOSING OF ARIEL ART CONTEST

Contributions Will Be Taken Until Sunday—Premium on Original Ideas As Well As Art Ability

[illegible] week is left for the [illegible] contest to run. Contributions [illegible] in the hands of the art [illegible] by Sunday, November 7, in order to be considered for the prize [illegible]

Several [illegible] aspiring artists of the [illegible] turned in work, but the [illegible] anyone of average talent [illegible] promising.

Wide Field of Subjects

All division page subjects are acceptable, and a list of these was published in the Tuesday, October 26, issue of the CYNIC, along with the rules of the contest. Border and [illegible] designs are wanted, and cartoons [illegible] very much desired.

The judges will be looking, not only for remarkable drawing ability, but for original and unique ideas. These abilities will have equal value in the decision, so that lack of one should hinder nobody from entering the contest.

Entries Unlimited

Because of the short time left, it is imperative that new entrants start work at once. They should also remember that there is no limit to the number of contributions that each contestant can make.

Any information that is desired can be obtained from Gloria Young, Cambria House, phone 99, or from Delbert Merrill, 62 S. Union St., phone 814-J.

To Publish Drawings

The prize drawings will appear in the 1928 Ariel and the winners will be given more opportunities on work of this kind.

It is hoped that a contest of this nature will do much to increase the interest of the year book in this and future years. There is always a great deal of hidden talent to be uncovered, and the staff has tried to strike the best method.

Market for Talent

Students with ability along this line will be able to find markets for their wares elsewhere. Advertisers are constantly looking for such talent and it is always acceptable to them. If one does not care to make a regular business of it, he can pick up considerable money on the side.

Here is a splendid opportunity to find out how one stands, and to acquire the confidence necessary to go on with the work. The contest will be open to everyone connected with the University until next Sunday.

MME. FURNESS-TOUREN LECTURES IN FRENCH TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Mme. Furness-Touren, Professor of French at McGill University, gave a lecture in the Old Mill Chapel last Thursday at 2.45 in the afternoon. The chapel was well filled, there being many town people and a large delegation from the local High School as well as several college students present. Mme. Furness-Touren was a fine example of French vivacity, spoke in clear and perfect French accompanied by delicate but superbly expressive gestures and kept her audience in a charmed state of interest and merriment.

The entire educational system of France was considered, and comparisons drawn with American schools and colleges. Many amusing incidents of school life were given.

Mme. Furness-Touren also outlined the work that is being done by the French department at McGill University particularly during the five-week course of intensive training when the students speak the French language [illegible]

The Freshman man at the University of North Carolina who excels in both scholarship and athletics is to be given a loving cup by the order of the Pan honorary society there.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB UNDER WAY; TRYOUTS THIS WEEK

Preliminary tryouts for the Men's Glee Club will be held at Music House, 85 So. Prospect Street, Wednesday, November 3, 4-5:30 p. m. and 7-8 p. m., and Thursday, November 4, 4-5:30 p. m. These tryouts are for both old and new members. In three weeks tryouts will be held to determine the final make-up of the Glee Club. These will be done by quartets, one man picked from each part, at random.

Any student who wishes to try out as accompanist should arrange with Prof. Bennett for a special try out.

The Glee Club takes at least one trip each year, and gives a concert at the gym in the Spring. This is a fine opportunity, especially for Freshmen, and every man will be welcomed.

NOT PROGRESS BUT RECOVERY IS NEEDED SAYS DEAN BENNETT

English Speaker Stresses Belief in a World to Come That Students Give More Attention To Religious Thought

Last Friday afternoon at four o'clock Dean F. S. M. Bennett of Chester Cathedral, England, was introduced by Professor Tupper to a large convocation. Many town people were in the audience including the clergy from nearly every local parish.

Doubtful Period Common to Youth

The subject of the address was "The Life of the World to Come." As the background of present church conditions Dean Bennett spoke on the Mediaeval period from five hundred to fifteen hundred A. D. when the Monastic orders were flourishing. The thought was crude at that time, but then as now there existed for every individual at some time in life a doubtful period, a period of wondering, of questioning. This is only normal, an accompaniment to the growth of the mind which must be expected, and which, if met in the right way, is highly beneficial. Convictions then come, and intellectual difficulties inevitably follow convictions as more and higher truths are discovered.

Changed from Static to Dynamic Universe

In regard to the differences between the forefathers and this generation, the Dean stressed the fact that while they lived in a static universe we of today are living in a highly dynamic. Accompanying such a change of environment it is not strange that our idea of arriving at a satisfactory status in prayer is entirely different from theirs; in fact, it must necessarily be so.

This is a materialistic country and in it exists a materialistic press, but we must remember that the world cannot be explained either materialistically or mechanically. Such explanation is ever being tried but never yet has been found to truly satisfy man.

Why Believe in World to Come

In answer to his own question, "Why Have I a Conviction of the World Beyond?" Dean Bennett gave the simple yet rather appealing answer that he could not rationally explain the world as it is without such an acknowledgment. Science has a little bit of knowledge, but not enough to go very far in the explanation of worlds.

In urging the students to careful consideration Dean Bennett stressed the thought that the only thing anyone ever creates in this world is oneself, and that one's soul is one's self. All other things are subordinate to this great task and fall in their places when it is accomplished.

Death Does Not Exist

"Death is a horrid abnormality." The speaker could not bear the word death, could not countenance its meaning. Science says that the universe is rational, and if rational, so after death.

One very interesting statement made was to the effect that what we need today is not progress but recovery. We need to get back the faith that our forefathers had, to appreciate God, to know the meaning of prayer, to create a soul worthy of the name.

Dean Bennett urged the study of

(Continued on page 4)

RUSHING RULES TO BE REVISED BY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council held a meeting Thursday evening with President Blackwell presiding. Only a few members were present and another meeting will be held later to consider a change in the Rushing Rules. Bidding will not be allowed on Sunday another year, making necessary a change in the reading of the regulations.

KEY AND SERPENT GIVES DANCE IN THE GYMNASIUM

Saturday evening the Key and Serpent Society gave a dance in the Gymnasium at which there were many guests from Norwich and a large crowd of Vermonters. The room was effectively decorated with banner featuring a large sign arranged on a green background at the end of the hall, "Welcome." Music was furnished by the Algonquin Orchestra from eight-thirty until twelve and refreshments were served.

Chaperones in attendance were Lieutenant and Mrs. Fredericks and Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Jackson.

FACULTY NOTES

Dean Hills of the College of Agriculture attended a meeting of the Weybridge Farmers' Club, Wednesday night, October 20. Supper was served before the meeting after which Dean Hills spoke on the subject "Opportunities in New England Agriculture."

Mr. Crockett, lecturer in journalism, at the University, and Secretary of State A. H. Grout spoke at a Republican Rally in Milton Friday night.

Dean Votey is out of town on business.

Miss Colburn of the Art Department of the University recently spoke in Waterbury.

The Reverend Leo Leonard Twinem of Flushing, L. I., formerly of the faculty of the University of Vermont Department of Expression, visited friends in town last Thursday.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Dairymen's and Maple Sugar Makers' Association was entertained at a reception at the University Practice house, Thursday afternoon. Special music was furnished, and Miss Bertha Terrill of the Home Economics Department spoke.

GALA OCCASION OF YEAR APPROACHES IN FORM OF THE MILITARY BALL

There is at least one time during the year when the more common phrases used by the men to show their delight in military formations are supplanted by comments of a more favorable nature. That particular occasion is the Military Ball, conceded to be the best pre-Christmas formal and certainly the least expensive.

The attendance is always very gratifying which may be accounted for by the fact that Scabbard and Blade has so ably managed the dance for a number of years. Excepting federal inspection, the battalion without doubt presents its best appearance of the year at the Military Ball. The cadet uniforms and appropriate decorations make the atmosphere quite fittingly one of a military nature.

While as yet plans are not definitely completed, the refreshments, as in the past, will probably be served in the cage. For the benefit of new students it might be said that the Military Ball is one of the most enjoyable events of the whole college year.

Don't forget the date, Wednesday, November 10, nine to one. The next day is Armistice Day, a holiday. Get your tickets now from any Scabbard and Blade man.

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate held its regular meeting Saturday morning in Room 7 South College.

The main discussion centered around the social calendar, which will when completely arranged set the dates for fraternity and sorority dances as well as the college dance.

The tallest mountain in the world is thought to be Sunday Island in the Pacific Ocean. It rises two thousand feet out of five miles of water, making it nearly thirty thousand feet from base to summit.

Field Goal By Rice of Norwich Gives State Championship to Cadets

Hard-fought Game Ends With Neither Goal Line Being Crossed—Largest Crowd of Season Fills Stands in Spite of Drizzling Rain

Before one of the largest crowds of the year Norwich captured the State Championship by defeating the scrappy Green and Gold eleven 3 to 0. After six years of continual defeat at the hands of Vermont the soldiers turned out a team that was far above the average for the small college. Again it was the educated toe that won the game but this time the shoe belonged to the fighting back of the Norwich team, Rice. The game was played in a pouring rain thus stopping the aerial game that Vermont has used so successfully this season. Vermont was on the defense most of the time throughout the game and it was only the old Vermont fight that saved them from being scored on several times. Twice Vermont held the soldiers within the five-yard line after they had brought the ball up the field on straight line plunges and wide end runs. Sherman was easily the star on these latter plays tearing off first down after first down on these wide sweeping runs behind splendid interference.

Although Vermont offers no alibis, Norwich obtained more than her share of the so-called breaks. Five times the Vermont backs fumbled the slippery ball and each time the soldiers recovered. Twice these fumbles might have lead to scores.

The only score of the game came in the last part of the second quarter when Norwich gained possession of the ball after an exchange of punts on the 30 yard line. Kane made 4 yards around right end. O'Donnell made first down. Rice passed to Sherman who carried the ball to Vermont's 40 yard line before he was downed. Rice made another first down on an off tackle play. Sherman again took the ball on a wide end run around the right wing and was finally brought down on the 16 yard line. Here Vermont pulled herself together and the soldiers were unable to gain on three successive downs. Rice dropped back and sent the pigskin sailing over the bar for the only score of the game.

For Norwich, Sherman and Rice were the stars. Both of these men pulled off several long runs, Sherman was especially good at running back punts behind wonderful interference.

(Continued on page 2)

DEAN VOTEY SPEAKER AT BANQUET ENDING DAIRYMEN'S MEETING

Friday evening the annual convention of the Vermont Dairymen's Association and the Vermont Sugar Makers' Association closed the last event on the program was a banquet at which Dean J. W. Votey of the College of Engineering was a speaker. He declared to the amazement of the audience, the wonderful life of a farmer as he experienced it. He professed the deepest respect for a good farmer and for a farmer's life but concluded that it was not meant for him.

Other speakers were Judge F. L. Fish, Dr. Wm. Schoenfeld, and Rev. George E. Price. Music was furnished by Mrs. F. B. Jenks and three sons.

FRESHMAN TEAM WILL RECEIVE FOOTBALLS

There was a Freshman class meeting Saturday morning at 10:15, when it was voted to give each member of the class football team a silver football as a token of appreciation, and two dollars was voted for green ribbons for the girls' field day today.

Green and white were chosen as class colors.

A representative of the Outing Club addressed the class and urged its members to take part in the activities of the club.

MILITARY ISSUE OF CYNIC PUBLISHED ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9

Issue Preceding Armistice Day To Be Devoted to Activities and History of Military Dept.

The issue of the CYNIC for Tuesday, November 9, will be a Military Issue. The CYNIC has not published a Military Issue for several years and there is much material for such a publication. It is hoped to secure several cuts of photos taken at summer camps and around the campus.

The month of November is an active month for activities sponsored by the Department. Scabbard and Blade puts on the first big formal of the year, the Military Ball, Wednesday, November 10. The R. O. T. C. Band will play at Randolph for the Armistice Ball. The Band will take the trip to the Thanksgiving game at Springfield, Mass. The Rifle team is also getting under way by the end of the month.

A department which sponsors active and enterprising organizations, such as Scabbard and Blade, the Band, and the Rifle team is considered worth a special issue. The officers of the Department are all men highly respected by the students and who take an active part in their activities. For this reason if no other, this recognition should be given the unit.

While Military news is published regularly the CYNIC does not give space in its regular issues to many things which are well worth while knowing for the students in general.

The Military Issue will contain articles concerning the history of the unit at Vermont, the Land Grant Colleges, summer camps, and war records. It is expected that members of the military faculty will write articles also.

GOLD KEY HOLD INFORMAL MEETING

An informal meeting of the Gold Key Society took place last Wednesday at the Phi Delta Theta house, due to the scarcity of members for a formal one. It was decided to act on the suggestion of the Key and Serpent and publicly punish unruly Frosh at the Key and Serpent Smoker Friday evening.

Nothing. Something the rich man wants, the poor man has, the miser spends, and the spendthrift saves.—Temple University Weekly.

$100,000 NEEDED BY ALUMNI COUNCIL IN THE NEXT FIVE YEARS

The Alumni Council, an organization composed of representatives of graduated classes and existing for the express purpose of stimulating alumni support for the University, held a meeting at the Ethan Allen Club last Saturday morning.

Members present were almost unanimous in the opinion that about a hundred thousand dollars will be required during the next five years in order to carry on the necessary work for the University along the lines of endeavor assigned by the authorities of that institution to the Council. Accordingly the question arose as to whether or not the University should be asked to aid them in finance, and this was not settled.

Printed matter for the information of the members of the Council was distributed and reports from various committees among them the finance committee, were accepted.

The Council advised the finance committee, with the aid of President Bailey with whom they reported that they had an appointment, to devise a plan for presenting to the alumni an exact and detailed statement of what, with the advice, consent and cooperation of the President and Trustees, the Alumni Council wishes to accomplish.

After the customary banquet the meeting adjourned.

HANDICAP RACE FRIDAY

There is going to be an individual handicap race over the short course at the interclass track meet Friday, November 5th 4 p. m.

It is hoped that a date with the Middlebury Freshmen can be secured some time next month.

MIDDLEBURY OFFERS STRONG OPPOSITION IN CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

[illegible] between Ver[illegible] harriers will [illegible] Montpelier [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 BURLINGTON, VT., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1926 NUMBER 12

ONLY ONE MORE WEEK BEFORE CLOSING OF ARIEL ART CONTEST

Contributions Will Be Taken Until Sunday—Premium on Original Ideas As Well As Art Ability

[illegible] week is left for the [illegible] st to run. Contributions [illegible] the hands of the art [illegible] day, November 7, in order for the prize [illegible]

[illegible] aspiring artists of the [illegible] ned in work, but the [illegible] of average talent promising.

Wide Field of Subjects

[illegible] ge subjects are acceptable. A list of these was published Tuesday, October 26, in the Cynic, along with the rules of the contest. Border and [illegible] wanted, and cartoons [illegible] h desired.

[illegible] all be looking, not only [illegible] drawing ability, but [illegible] unique ideas. These [illegible] have equal value in the [illegible] so that lack of one [illegible] nobody from entering [illegible]

Entries Unlimited

[illegible] of the short time left, it is [illegible] that new entrants start [illegible] They should also remember that there is no limit to the [illegible] of contributions that each contestant can make.

[illegible] information that is desired can [illegible] from Gloria Young, Campus House phone 99, or from Delbert [illegible] 95 S. Union St., phone 814-J.

To Publish Drawings

The prize drawings will appear in the Ariel and the winners will be given more opportunities on work [illegible]

It is hoped that a contest of this [illegible] will do much to increase the [illegible] of the year book in this and [illegible] years. There is always a great deal of hidden talent to be uncovered, and the staff has tried to strike the [illegible] method.

Market for Talent

Students with ability along this line [illegible] is able to find markets for their [illegible] elsewhere. Advertisers are constantly looking for such talent and it is always acceptable to them. If one does not care to make a regular business of it, he can pick up considerable money on the side.

Here is a splendid opportunity to find out how one stands, and to acquire the confidence necessary to go ahead with the work. The contest will be open to everyone connected with the University, until next Sunday.

MME. FURNESS-TOUREN LECTURES IN FRENCH TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Mme. [illegible] ness-Touren, Professor of French at McGill University, gave a lecture in the Old Mill Chapel last [illegible] at 2.45 in the afternoon. The [illegible] was well filled, there being [illegible] people and a large delegation from the local High School as well as [illegible] college students present. Mme. [illegible] Touren was a fine example of French vivacity, spoke in perfect French accompanied by [illegible] but superbly expressive [illegible] kept her audience in a [illegible] state of interest and merriment.

The [illegible] educational system of France was considered, and comparisons drawn with American schools. Many amusing incidents [illegible] were given.

Mme. [illegible] ness-Touren also outlined [illegible] that is being done by the [illegible] Department at McGill University, particularly during the five-week [illegible] of intensive training when the [illegible] speak the French language [illegible]

The Freshman man at the University of South Carolina who excels in [illegible] ship and athletics is to be [illegible] a loving cup by the order of the [illegible] honorary society there.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB UNDER WAY; TRYOUTS THIS WEEK

Preliminary tryouts for the Men's Glee Club will be held at Music House 85 So. Prospect Street, Wednesday November 3, 4-5:30 p. m. and 7-8 p. m. and Thursday, November 4, 4-5:30 p. m. These tryouts are for both old and new members. In three weeks tryouts will be held to determine the final make-up of the Glee Club. These will be done by quartets, one man picked from each part, at random.

Any student who wishes to try out as accompanist should arrange with Prof. Bennett for a special try out.

The Glee Club takes at least one trip each year, and gives a concert at the gym in the Spring. This is a fine opportunity, especially for Freshmen and every man will be welcomed.

NOT PROGRESS BUT RECOVERY IS NEEDED SAYS DEAN BENNETT

English Speaker Stresses Belief in a World to Come That Students Give More Attention To Religious Thought

Last Friday afternoon at four o'clock Dean F. S. M. Bennett of Chester Cathedral, England, was introduced by Professor Tupper to a large convocation. Many town people were in the audience including the clergy from nearly every local parish.

Doubtful Period Common to Youth

The subject of the address was "The Life of the World to Come." As the background of present church conditions Dean Bennett spoke on the Mediaeval period from five hundred to fifteen hundred A. D. when the Monastic orders were flourishing. The thought was crude at that time, but then as now there existed for every individual at some time in life a doubtful period, a period of wondering, of questioning. This is only normal, an accompaniment to the growth of the mind which must be expected, and which, if met in the right way, is highly beneficial. Convictions then come, and intellectual difficulties inevitably follow convictions as more and higher truths are discovered.

Changed from Static to Dynamic Universe

In regard to the differences between the forefathers and this generation, the Dean stressed the fact that while they lived in a static universe we of today are living in a highly dynamic. Accompanying such a change of environment it is not strange that our idea of arriving at a satisfactory status in prayer is entirely different from theirs; in fact, it must necessarily be so.

This is a materialistic country and in it exists a materialistic press, but we must remember that the world cannot be explained either materialistically or mechanically. Such explanation is ever being tried but never yet has been found to truly satisfy man.

Why Believe in World to Come

In answer to his own question, "Why Have I a Conviction of the World Beyond?" Dean Bennett gave the simple yet rather appealing answer that he could not rationally explain the world as it is without such an acknowledgment. Science has a little bit of knowledge, but not enough to go very far in the explanation of worlds.

In urging the students to careful consideration Dean Bennett stressed the thought that the only thing anyone ever creates in this world is one self, and that one's soul is one's self. All other things are subordinate to this great task and fall in their places when it is accomplished.

Death Does Not Exist

"Death is a horrid abnormality." The speaker could not bear the word death, could not countenance its meaning. Science says that the universe is rational, and if rational, so after death.

One very interesting statement made was to the effect that what we need today is not progress but recovery. We need to get back the faith that our forefathers had, to appreciate God, to know the meaning of prayer, to create a soul worthy of the name.

Dean Bennett urged the study of

(Continued on page 4)

RUSHING RULES TO BE REVISED BY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council held a meeting Thursday evening with President Blackwell presiding. Only a few members were present and another meeting will be held later to consider a change in the Rushing Rules. Bidding will not be allowed on Sunday another year, making necessary a change in the reading of the regulations.

KEY AND SERPENT GIVES DANCE IN THE GYMNASIUM

Saturday evening the Key and Serpent Society gave a dance in the gymnasium at which there were many guests from Norwich and a large crowd of Vermonters. The room was effectively decorated with [illegible] featuring a large sign arranged on a green background at the end of the hall. "Welcome." Music was furnished by the Algonquin Orchestra from eight-thirty until twelve and refreshments were served.

Chaperones in attendance were Lieutenant and Mrs. Frederick and Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Jackson.

FACULTY NOTES

Dean Hills of the College of Agriculture attended a meeting of the Weybridge Farmers' Club Wednesday night, October 20. Supper was served before the meeting after which Dean Hills spoke on the subject "Opportunities in New England Agriculture."

Mr. Crockett, lecturer in journalism at the University, and Secretary of State A. H. Grout spoke at a Republican Rally in Milton Friday night.

Dean Votey is out of town on business.

Miss Colburn of the Art Department of the University recently spoke in Waterbury.

The Reverend Leo Leonard Twinem of Flushing, L. I., formerly of the faculty of the University of Vermont Department of Expression, visited friends in town last Thursday.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Dairymen's and Maple Sugar Makers' Association was entertained at a reception at the University Practice house Thursday afternoon. Special music was furnished, and Miss Bertha Terrill of the Home Economics Department spoke.

GALA OCCASION OF YEAR APPROACHES IN FORM OF THE MILITARY BALL

There is at least one time during the year when the more common phrases used by the men to show their delight in military formations are supplanted by comments of a more favorable nature. That particular occasion is the Military Ball, conceded to be the best pre-Christmas formal and certainly the least expensive.

The attendance is always very gratifying which may be accounted for by the fact that Scabbard and Blade has so ably managed the dance for a number of years. Excepting federal inspection, the battalion without doubt presents its best appearance of the year at the Military Ball. The cadet uniforms and appropriate decorations make the atmosphere quite fittingly one of a military nature.

While as yet plans are not definitely completed, the refreshments as in the past, will probably be served in the cage. For the benefit of new students it might be said that the Military Ball is one of the most enjoyable events of the whole college year.

Don't forget the date, Wednesday, November 10, nine to one. The next day is Armistice Day, a holiday. Get your tickets now from any Scabbard and Blade man.

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate held its regular meeting Saturday morning in Room 7 South College.

The main discussion centered around the social calendar, which will when completely arranged set the dates for fraternity and sorority dances as well as the college dance.

The tallest mountain in the world is thought to be Sunday Island in the Pacific Ocean. It rises two thousand feet out of five miles of water, making it nearly thirty thousand feet from base to summit.

Field Goal By Rice of Norwich Gives State Championship to Cadets

Hard-fought Game Ends With Neither Goal Line Being Crossed—Largest Crowd of Season Fills Stands in Spite of Drizzling Rain

Before one of the largest crowds of the year, Norwich captured the State Championship by defeating the scrappy Green and Gold eleven 3 to 0. After six years of continual defeat at the hands of Vermont the soldiers turned out a team that was far above the average for the small college. Again it was the educated toe that won the game but this time the shoe belonged to the fighting back of the Norwich team, Rice. The game was played in a pouring rain thus stopping the aerial game that Vermont has used so successfully this season. Vermont was on the defense most of the time throughout the game and it was only the old Vermont luck that saved them from being scored on several times. Twice Vermont held the soldiers within the five yard line after they had brought the ball up the field on straight line plunges and wide end runs. Sherman was easily the star on these latter plays tearing off first down after first down on these wide sweeping runs behind splendid interference.

Although Vermont offers no alibis, Norwich obtained more than her share of the so-called breaks. Five times the Vermont backs fumbled the slippery ball and each time the soldiers recovered. Twice these fumbles might have lead to scores.

The only score of the game came in the last part of the second quarter when Norwich gained possession of the ball after an exchange of punts on the 30 yard line. Kane made 4 yards around right end, O'Donnell made first down. Rice passed to Sherman who carried the ball to Vermont's 40 yard line before he was downed. Rice made another first down on an off tackle play. Sherman again took the ball on a wide end run around the right wing and was finally brought down on the 10 yard line. Here Vermont pulled herself together and the soldiers were unable to gain on three successive downs. Rice dropped back and sent the pigskin sailing over the bar for the only score of the game.

For Norwich, Sherman and Rice were the stars. Both of these men pulled off several long runs, Sherman was especially good at running back punts behind wonderful interference.

(Continued on page 2)

DEAN VOTEY SPEAKER AT BANQUET ENDING DAIRYMEN'S MEETING

Friday evening the annual convention of the Vermont Dairymen's Association and the Vermont Sugar Makers' Association closed the last event of the program with a banquet which Dean J. W. Votey of the College of Engineering was a speaker. He delivered an [illegible] address on the subject, the wonderful life of a farmer, as he experienced it. He professed the deepest respect for a good farmer and [illegible] as a farmer [illegible] but concluded that [illegible] was not cut out for him.

Other speakers were Judge F. L. Fish, Dr. Wm. [illegible]field and Rev. George L. [illegible]. Music was furnished by Mrs. F. L. [illegible] and three [illegible]

FRESHMAN TEAM WILL RECEIVE FOOTBALLS

There was a Freshman class meeting Saturday morning at 10:15 when it was voted to give each member of the class football team a silver football as a token of appreciation, and two dollars was voted for green ribbons for the girls' field day today.

Green and white were chosen as class colors.

A representative of the Outing Club addressed the class and urged its members to take part in the activities of the club.

MILITARY ISSUE OF CYNIC PUBLISHED ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9

Issue Preceding Armistice Day To Be Devoted to Activities and History of Military Dept.

The issue of the Cynic for Tuesday, November 9, will be a Military Issue. The Cynic has not published a Military Issue for several years and there is much material for such a publication. It is hoped to secure several cuts of photos taken at summer camps and around the campus.

The month of November is an active month for activities sponsored by the Department. Scabbard and Blade puts on the first big formal of the year, the Military Ball, Wednesday, November 10. The R. O. T. C. Band will play at Randolph for the Armistice Ball. The Band will take the trip to the Thanksgiving game at Springfield, Mass. The Rifle team is also getting under way by the end of the month.

A department which sponsors active and enterprising organizations, such as Scabbard and Blade, the Band, and the Rifle team is considered worth a special issue. The officers of the Department are all men highly respected by the students and who take an active part in their activities. For this reason if no other, this recognition should be given the unit.

While Military news is published regularly the Cynic does not give space in its regular issues to many things which are well worth while knowing for the students in general.

The Military Issue will contain articles concerning the history of the unit at Vermont the Land Grant Colleges, summer camps, and war records. It is expected that members of the military faculty will write articles also.

GOLD KEY HOLD INFORMAL MEETING

An informal meeting of the Gold Key Society took place last Wednesday at the Phi Delta Theta house, due to the scarcity of members for a formal one. It was decided to act on the suggestion of the Key and Serpent and publicly punish unruly Frosh at the Key and Serpent Smoker Friday evening.

Nothing. Something the rich man wants, the poor man has the miser spends, and the spendthrift saves.—Temple University Weekly

$100,000 NEEDED BY ALUMNI COUNCIL IN THE NEXT FIVE YEARS

The Alumni Council, an organization composed of representatives of graduated classes and existing for the express purpose of stimulating alumni support for the University, held a meeting at the Ethan Allen Club last Saturday morning.

Members present were almost unanimous in the opinion that about a hundred thousand dollars will be required during the next five years in order to carry on the necessary work for the University along the lines of endeavor assigned by the authorities of that institution to the Council. Accordingly the question arose as to whether or not the University should be asked to aid them in finance, and this was not settled.

Printed matter for the information of the members of the Council was distributed and reports from various committees among them the finance committee, were accepted.

The Council advised the finance committee, with the aid of President Bailey with whom they reported that they had an appointment, to devise a plan for presenting to the alumni an exact and detailed statement of what, with the advice, consent and cooperation of the President and Trustees the Alumni Council wishes to accomplish.

After the customary banquet the meeting adjourned.

HANDICAP RACE FRIDAY

There is going to be an individual handicap race over the short course at the interclass track meet Friday November 5th, 4 p. m.

It is hoped that a date with the Middlebury freshmen can be secured some time next month.

The Vermont Cynic

STUDENT NEWSPAPER
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the
INTERCOLLEGIATE
PRESS ASSOCIATION

Published every Tuesday and Friday during the college year. Subscription $1.00 a year delivered anywhere in the United States. Single copy 5 cents.

Communications should be addressed to the Business Manager 110 South Prospect St. All other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, 101 Manchester Ave.

Entered at the postoffice at Burlington, Vt., as second class matter under the act of March 3, 1879.

Editors

Editor-in-Chief
News Editor
News Editor
Women's Editor
Sporting Editor
Intercollegiate Editor
Humor Editor
Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

Robert M Tracy '29
Frank G Shedd '29
Lois Bagley '27
Eunice Cook '27
Margaret Durick '29
Virginia Margie '28

Business Staff

Business Mgr.
Advertising Mgr.
Assistant Manager
Assistant Manager
Assistant Manager

All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Any copy should be handed in or telephoned in before 9 p. m. Sunday and Wednesday.

In charge of this issue:

News Editor
Assistant Manager

Vol. XXXI November 2, 1926 No. 12

SPIRIT

The Norwich game is over and with it the greatest display of spirit which has been seen on the campus so far this year. Not to say that it could not have been better on Saturday, but taking the game as a whole it was highly successful.

The rally Friday evening was attended by practically every male in the University and the Key and Serpent should be congratulated on the success which it sponsored. The speakers were brief in their talks but to the point and very explicit as to the outcome of the game. The meeting closed at an early hour but not without having accomplished its purpose. There was enthusiasm enough that night to have buried Norwich several times.

The sad part of it was that while all undergraduates must have been present Saturday afternoon, many seemed to have exhausted their voices Friday evening. Enthusiasm without means of expression is about as useful as an automobile without a driver. The cheer leaders worked hard but the spontaneity of response from the student section seemed to have departed somewhere. What no cheer leader should have had to do was necessary to provoke a little enthusiasm for that team which would have prevented the cadets from scoring on their long gains.

The members of the team were not called on to fight at any time and never knew under the shadow of their goal posts they stopped the Norwich gridsters who had been steadily advancing on the field. The cadets were given first downs almost at will. Several times they came within five yards of Vermont's goal. Then something seemed to happen. Norwich had reached her limit. They might as well have tried to crack a stone wall as attempt to break through the Vermont line. Coach McAvoy has a team of which he may well be proud. The cadets were surprised them all the time and they refused to recognize them.

What the crowd might have made a little more noise this delinquency may have been due to the drizzling rain which lasted throughout the contest. We can say to everyone's credit that no one left the field before the end. They had good reason to remain and anyone who had awarded the decision before the final whistle would not have taken into consideration the determination of the Vermont Cats-to-be in the face of defeat. Any one who doubts this statement should carry his memory back to the fourth quarter when the pig skin was advanced half way down the field before an unlucky break gave it back to the cadets.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

In a recent issue there appeared an editorial on the new chapel, treating of the gift as a valuable present, a convenience in telling the time, and that was all

After hearing Dean Bennett give his address in the gymnasium I think we can all appreciate the value of the chapel for such occasions. The acoustic properties of the gymnasium are so poor that the side and back seats are useless with any ordinary speaker. The seats are not only uncomfortable but, as has often been said, are actually dangerous. The platform is certainly nothing upon which we are proud to take any man who is kind enough to spend his time and energy addressing us.

Athletic activities were constantly bothering, first with persons who had to go through the gymnasium to gain access to the side rooms then with shouts as the fellows hailed one another in the locker room and finally with piercing shrieks as the showers were encountered. No, it is not the athletes that are to blame; it is their building and they should be free in it and not hampered by such affairs as convocations. Indeed no one is to blame; simply, an unfortunate situation exists.

In a chapel such as we are about to begin using not only will the unhappy situations of the gymnasium be eliminated, but a more full and appropriate meaning will be given such addresses as that of Dean Bennett by adding the right atmosphere. Three cheers for the new chapel.

A. '28.

News in Brief

Sherman Cox, ex-'27, of Woodstock, was in Burlington over the week-end, attending the Norwich game.

Hugh Mattison, ex-'29, of Bennington, was in the city Saturday and Sunday.

Edward, '25, of Boston was in town last week.

John Colton, '25 of Orleans, and Foster Berry, '25 of Montpelier were in town Saturday.

GOOD-WILL EVIDENT

That a most intense athletic rivalry can exist between two institutions along with good-will in other respects was demonstrated in Saturday's exchange of courtesies at Centennial Field. The formation of the letter "N" on the gridiron facing the Vermont stands was a distinct innovation and received a hearty ovation from both stands. The exchange of bands for the singing of the college song of each University was another evidence of good will and a ceremony which helps to foster it.

CADETS ALWAYS WELCOME HERE

We certainly have to hand it to the Norwich men for the spirit they showed here last Saturday. Conditions as they were, they could hardly have been blamed for tearing the town to pieces and making themselves generally bothersome if not even obnoxious. Particularly as the evening was that of Hallowe'en could the men have been safe and in the popular sense of the evening, justified, whatever they did?

However, order was maintained throughout, both on the hill, at the game, and in the town. Furthermore no vaunting or ill spirit was manifested.

Regardless of the outcome of the game which cannot be overlooked and which might seem to influence us otherwise, Vermont will be mighty glad to have the Norwich men in town again

Them: How old are you, my little man?
They: Eight.
Them: And what are you going to be?
They: Nine.—Pitt Panther.

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
87½ Church St.
1 FLIGHT UP
Excellent service for
Ladies and Gents

University Stores Operated For Benefit of Students—Profits Small

In the year 1911 the first semblance of a University Store appeared. A student obtained textbooks from the different publishers and sold them at list price. This enabled a student to earn quite a sum of money during his college career. At graduation he sold the business to another student. However there were several difficulties connected with such a method. The student would not keep a very good system of bookkeeping so that when he graduated he left many unsettled bills behind him, which settled on the the new owner of the store. Consequently this practice had to be discontinued.

First Store In Benton's Regime

The first University Store was operated while President Benton was at the head of the University. The stock, furniture, and fixtures of the store were bought with money loaned by the trustees, who took notes on the store. The store was first located in room 4 in the Medical building. This location proved unprofitable owing to the fact that it was not convenient to the greater number of students. As a result, in 1915, it was moved to its present site in the Old Mill. Up to that time the profit had been consumed in paying off the notes. Only one clerk was retained in contrast to the six employees which the Stores now have. The sales, about the year 1915, amounted to $12,000.

Miss Barney Came in 1922

In 1922 Miss Barney took over the managership of the store. There still remained, at that time, quite a sum of money to pay on the notes, but under her excellent management the notes, together with the interest, were soon settled. Miss Barney has shown herself to have excellent business ability. In the short time that she has been here she has increased the sales from $12,000 per year to $40,000, the gross sales last year. In addition to that the store owns all its stock, furniture, and fixtures.

Finances Student Activities

Since it has been the policy of the store to make the profits before worrying about what to do with them, a certain sum of money has been set aside, on the books, to insure against any business setback in the future. This balance has been voted, when a demand arose, to some particular student use. Contributions are not generally made until the end of the year. Among the organizations that have received money from the Store are: the Glee Club; the Skating Rink project or any activity that the Athletic Associations has been unable to finance. The largest contribution that the Store has made is $1,000, which was given to the University Band, so that it could attend the inauguration of President Coolidge at Washington.

Profits Not Large

The gross sales last year amounted to $40,000 of which, 5 percent was the net profit. The individual sales were: the Store in the Old Mill, $30,300; the Coffee Counter in the Old Mill, $6,300; and the branch store in the Medical building, $7,500. The Coffee Counter and the store in the Medical building were just started last year.

Two thirds of the gross sales last year resulted from the text books. Selling text books is no profitable business proposition. The Store is given 20 percent discount by the publishers, but its overhead amounts to about 16 percent, therefore it is operating at only 4 percent profit, and no one would begrudge them 5 percent.

During the last five years the Store has been operated on a strictly business line. Rent is paid to the University for the space occupied. The Store has accepted overheads comparable to other stores with like merchandise in the city. No effort has been made to undersell the local merchants as that would be the cause of dissatisfaction.

Primarily a Service Agency

The administration of the University recognizes the Stores primarily, as service agencies. To accomodate the students in every way possible and to offer merchandise at prices consistent with good business operations, is its aim. The fact that the profits, periodically, are devoted to interests having general appeal to the students, makes the Stores essentially cooperative.

Constructive criticism is earnestly desired from anyone because the Store is, first and last, for the benefit of the students.

NORWICH BASKETBALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED —CONTAINS 17 GAMES

The Norwich basketball schedule as announced by Manager Galvin includes 17 games with a possibility of another. The schedule calls for a trip into New Hampshire and Massachusetts February 24 and 25. In December the cadets will meet Trinity and Wesleyan in Connecticut, and in January they will invade Massachusetts to engage with Williams, Holy Cross, Springfield, and Clark. Vermont goes to Northfield February 7. The return game is here on March 1.

December 7, St. Michael's in Winooski; 13, Dartmouth in Hanover; 14, Trinity in Hartford; 15, Wesleyan in Middletown; January 6, Manhattan in Northfield; 12, Williams in Williamstown; 13, Springfield in Springfield; 14, Holy Cross in Worcester; 15, Clark in Worcester; February 5, Middlebury in Rutland; 7, Vermont in Northfield; 11, Connecticut Aggies in Northfield; 15, Middlebury in Northfield; 24, New Hampshire in Durham; 25, Lowell Textile in Lowell; 26, pending; March 1, Vermont in Burlington; 5, St. Michael's in Northfield.

FRATERNITIES PLEDGE MORE MEN

Delta Psi announces the pledging of Harold Greene of South Royalton, and Alfred Martin of Brattleboro.

Sigma Delta announces the pledging of Terley Chamberlain of East Ryegate.

Nu Gamma of Phi Mu Delta announces the pledging of Angus Klane and Philip Manning, both of Worcester, Mass.

TASTEFUL JEWELRY
for the woman of discrimination, is what you will always find at Parish's. We comb the world for latest and best ideas in jewelry, and our precious stones come from the uttermost ends of the earth. Come and see them.
Russel W. Parish
97 CHURCH

Lackawanna
Anthracite
The coal that makes Home
Happy
Try it
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College St

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

John Ward Shoes
We are pleased to announce that we have been granted an exclusive agency for John Ward Men's Shoes
Samples on display
Hayes & Carney
107 Bank St. Near Majestic
OPEN EVENINGS
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

School of Nursing of Yale University
A Profession for the College Woman
Interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.
The twenty-eight months course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method, leads to the degree of
BACHELOR OF NURSING.
Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.
The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.
For catalog and information address:
The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN 1 CONNECTICUT

Field Goal by Rice Gives Cats Championship

(Continued from page 1)

while Rice gained [illegible] through the line.

On the whole the [illegible] and Gold was not [illegible] before when she turned back [illegible]. Most of this can be [illegible] weather as Vermont [illegible] open up her passing [illegible] advantage. The [illegible] defense was especially [illegible] Kropper and Captain [illegible] a good game on the [illegible]

The line-up

VERMONT		NORWICH
Leary, l. e.		l. e. [illegible]
Morse, l. e.		[illegible]
Winchenbach, l. t.		l. t., [illegible]
Kropper, l. g.		l. g., [illegible]
O'Keefe, c.		c., [illegible]
Capt. Denning, r. g.		r. g. [illegible]
Palmer, r. t.		r. t., [illegible]
Simpson, r. e.		r. e., [illegible]
Conway, q. b.		[illegible]
Candon, r. h. b.		[illegible]
Smith, f. b.		[illegible]
Thorn, l. h. b.		l. h. b., [illegible]
Scutakes, r. h. b.

	1	2	3	4
Vermont:	[illegible]
Norwich	[illegible]

Referee—Swafield
Umpire—Peach
Headlinesman—[illegible]

Did You Ever Try
University Nut Delight
or
Fig Claiser?
VISIT CANDYLA
101 Church St.
PHONE 3056-W

STUDENTS, ATTENTION
ANDREW CHARL
Barber
New Shop Under
Free Press

HENRY'S DIN
155 BANK STREET
You eat well wh
you eat at Hen
Where they serve the
at popular prices

The largest quality in the
17 black degrees
3 copying
Buy a dozen
Superlative in q
the world-fa
VENU
PENCILS give best service a longest wear.
Plain ends, per doz. $1
Rubber ends, per doz.
at all dealers
American Lead Pencil C
220 Fifth Ave., N.Y.

John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED
$9
Permanent Display
AT
Hayes & Carney
107 BANK ST.
$
John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED
Stores in New York, Boston, [illegible] and Philadelphia
Orders, up Hudson St., New York

Co-ed Page

...NING RUMORS

...tar Board girls are in- ... the editorial in last ... s only natural. So we ... the mistake. It was ... hours of the dance ... by the society in the ... start a precedent. But ... the case. When the girls ... date for the dance and ... that it had to be on ... they naturally object- ... men all had open house ... So the Faculty allowed ... the dance on Friday ... the condition of the time ... Reluctantly the girls were ... their dance under the ... restrictions. Immediately ... that these hours were ... girls. Do you blame the ... being indignant?

Yes, we most certainly advocate ... the facts about a case be- ... rumors are spread.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR WOMEN TO COOPERATE IN HEALTH SURVEY

A survey of the health habits of the ... women is planned from the 8th ... November, inclusive. Health ... be distributed and the girls ... to check up how many of ... requirements they automatically ... during this time. It is hoped ... Juniors and Seniors will co- ... in this survey.

An abstract of the results obtained ... be published in the CYNIC and the ... will be the basis for future ... by the Health Council.

A bulletin board is now being main- ... in the "Y" room by the Council. ... this appear all notices, and in ad- ... a special article or picture on ... health topic. This latter is ... every day and some very ... and helpful suggestions are thus ... made to the women students. ... on the watch for this every day ... how much the suggestion ... to yourself.

A Co-ed's Diary

ONE MORE WEEK OF COLLEGE LIFE)

... a week-end! My but we were ... to Dear of Vermont 14 Tufts 13. ... Freshman game was a walk- ... Vermont-Norwich game will ... I guess—judging from the ... Middlebury score. Hockey ... the Seniors to gain a foot- ... the All Sports Cup—No use ... that is an athletic class. And ... Delta Delta tea—Weren't ... sandwiches dear? And all the ... Made a regular style ... government tests—My that ... a long story in two little ... dal O'ween the night of child- ... is being celebrated on ... by those who still con- ... kids. The first frost ... along with the first snow ... out all the new fur ... owners just couldn't let ... in the closet for another ... We have heard that one of ... was married Saturday.

...ulations Mr. Whitehead! ... A Recognition Sunday was ... service, but really all ... dresses did remind us of ... Blue Stockings is offering ... new members, many have ... if they take everyone that ... to join, it (the organiza- ... now "like Topsy"—but we ... about that. The next ... the Military Ball—already ... mencing to wonder and to ... Holbrook's class in Rural ... begins today, or rather to- ... an interesting group, ... time to go. Government ... n't noticable for their high- ... wonder. And now for the ... ally Come on let's go!

"THE CHASE OF LIFE"

... is a Chase, from the time ... breath,
... nt, the future, and past;
... ll must yield to the grand ... Death,
... is kept up to the last.

... 's a kite, ever bent on his ...
... 's a Magpie, all talk;
... a Muckworm, appears ... nd day,
... Lawyer's a blood-sucking ... House

AFTER COLLEGE, WHAT?

Are you planning to be of real service to the community you are in after graduation? Do you want to know definite things you can do to give a rural community a deeper insight into the true values of life?

Beginning Tuesday, November 2, Miss Holbrook of the Education Department will give a series of talks on the various phases of rural leadership. All girls interested are asked to meet her Tuesday night at 7:15 in the inner Y-room.

Whether you are planning to teach or not, people will look to you, a college graduate, to help in solving some of the problems of a rural community Miss Holbrook has had much experience along social service lines, and these talks promise to be extremely interesting and helpful.

HEALTH COUNCIL NOTES

Yes, this is also about colds. Going to the movies is what gave me the idea. But have you been to the Majestic lately when, during a soft-toned selection on the Wurlitzer, all you could hear were coughs from all directions? Probably among these was the man behind you or the person on your left; or was it you? It seems as if the movies was supposed to be the special retreat for colds and coughs of all descriptions. Perhaps it is generally thought that this is the only place where such afflictions will be less noticed by oneself and one's neighbors. If the picture is particularly good perhaps it is not noticed at the time. But afterwards—the number of colds and coughs has doubled, you don't see where you could possibly have caught yours. You wouldn't have if some kind soul had not gone to the movies to find mental relief for his.

So if you have a cold or cough, stay away from the movies. Or at least buy a box of cough drops!

"Show Boat"

By Edna Ferber

"Show Boat" by Edna Ferber is a novel of contrasting generations. Parthenia Ann Hawks, full of conventions and prejudices; her daughter, the more tolerant and less powerful Magnolia Ravenal, and Kein Ravenal, the modern, are clearly and sympathetically etched in these pages.

Magnolia Ravenal, child of a Mississippi show boat owner, wife of a professional gambler and later, a successful actress of variety, is the link between the different generations presented to us in the scenes. Her childhood is spent on the Show Boat, whose glamour and romance marks some of the best passages of the book. Her life as the wife of Gaylord Ravenal, handsome, unfaithful, and unstable, a gambler, is spent in the young Chicago, blustering, sprawling, full of gamblers and race track characters, but vigorous and alive. Her daughter, Kim, belongs to New York, the self-satisfied and snug city of our own time.

Edna Ferber, who has steadily risen since she started as a small town newspaper reporter sixteen years ago, is one of the cleverest craftsmen and keenest psychologists of our modern novelists. She has not only the penetrating eye but the sympathetic spirit. She does not ticket her puppets and hold them up for our approval or derision; she merely draws them as they stand with their virtues and their faults; passes no judgments or compels us to. This indeed is the function of the novelist.

"The Prude is a Fox, rather crafty and sly,
Pretending aversion to sin;
The Coquette's an Eel, that demands a sharp eye,
And frequently not worth a pin

"The wife, loving wife, is the pride of the Chase,
And life's gloomy evening cheers;
And where is the Hunter can't easily trace,
The sweet-tempered girls are all Deers."

"George, why are all your ancestors so bald?"

"Oh, I guess they got scalp treatment from the Indians."—Columbia Jester.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Current Comment

Beauty of the Home

We are all seeking the beautiful, as some one has said "We must carry it with us or we find it not." To carry it with us we must be able to appreciate what is beautiful and a little about the why. The "House Beautiful" magazine is one which is well worth glancing through. Exquisite small pieces or sets are photographed and described in the front part of the magazine among the higher class of advertisements.

Mosaics

An interesting article this month is "An Architect's Garden in the City" with views of charming spots, possible even in the crowded city, and detailed explanations and plans. Mosaics, pictures done with colored small tiles and enamels, from the English towns are described and their uses commented upon.

Advantage of Flowers and Shrubbery

Expanding a Bandbox Apartment is the title of another bit of charmingly pictured information. "An Alley Reclaimed" shows with diagram, word and illustration what can be made of a common back alley of any large town. The reformation is remarkable when contrasted with the place before it was adorned with gates, shrubbery and flowers.

Beauty of Pewter

There is also an article on "Pewter Revived." It seems that "old designs are now reproduced in this popular ware." Its simplicity and graceful shape will always keep it popular. Its durability will always keep it in use. "A Modern Apartment in Rome" furnished with Italian antiques is the interesting subject of another article which gives both photographer and writer ample opportunity. The dining room is sturdy and magnificent in its heavy Florentine furniture

Country Life

In Country Life even the advertisements are worth careful perusal. The full-length picture of the Californian home by the seaside is a marvel for simplicity and appropriateness to surroundings. At a glance the home seems to have grown there right out of the solid cliffs which it resembles How much better I like it than the picture of the home in Florida patterned after a formal Venetian palace My! I turn another page and, behold, and this more home-like in style but large and spacious in plan. This one is on Long Island and possesses a cozy atmosphere difficult to achieve with such large dimensions. The picture of the home after the style of the French chateau is so well proportioned. It is almost impossible to choose.

An Amusing Skit

Some smaller pictures and writing matter descriptive and historical as well as entertaining completes the finely illustrated article. There is a humorous skit on "Skylines" which is quite amusing, especially to the one who has traveled west and seen the queer monstrosities which cut the sky like a Chinese puzzle.

A Home of Rare Distinction

Two entire pages are devoted to pictures of a Long Island garden. Darling types of small homes follow with diagrams and photographs and it is all so well written, too. Four views of "A Little Home of Rare Distinction" show an architect of fine composition to procure "the cloistral effect of the front entrance" and "the terrace, with the bedroom balcony over the living room door." To complete this survey of the two artistic magazines in our library read H. H. Powers article in The Art Bulletin, entitled "Art and Economics." It will give you the reasons why art should live, what helps it exist and what we can do to help the twentieth century have an art of high order.

A Classical Dirge

An hour with Myrick—
Francais, with its tricks
An hour with Squires—
...re on electric wires
An hour with Prof Bassett—
Greek book lore? He has it
Around to dear Dean
Who just dotes on themes
Then face Mr Prindle
Words kindle and dwindle
Mr Tupper, good sir
Fails to cause any stir
Mr Crockett at last—
The week now is past

Envoi:—
For those who don't know it
This course is no cinch.
And profs care no whit
If you get in a pinch
When books, clubs, and dances,
Conflict all the time
No sweet smile enhances
No good bluff entrances
You have no more chances
A zero sublime!

LARGEST SNAKE IN THE WORLD!
These students wishing to buy or sell second-hand text books may do so at
The College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)
Sometime when you are at the shoppe ask to see the largest snake skin in the world among other rare and interesting trophies.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 Colchester Ave.
Opp. Engineering Bldg.
Home Cooking Our Specialty
Lunches to Take Out

FOR SODA AND CANDIES
Go to
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

Star Restaurant
Chinese and American Foods
Regular Dinner 45c
From 11 A. M. to 2:30 P. M.
A la Carte Service All Day
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
Tables Reserved for Parties
All Orders Put Up in Good Condition to Take Out.
144 Church Street
Burlington, Vermont
Phone 1613

The Wind can't be blamed for lingering about a pair of Gotham Gold Stripe Silk Stockings. Such lustre! Such colors! Such wear! Sheers & regular weight, from $1.85. Chiffons from $1.95.
The Old Bee Hive
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
Silk Stockings for Wear

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1860

Gifts in Jewelry
DANCE FAVORS and PROGRAMS
▲ ▲ ▲
F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

Let us show you how
BOSTONIANS
look and feel on your feet
at Boynton's
68 Church St.

SPEECHES AND CHEERS AT FIRST SMOKER OF SEASON GREAT SUCCESS

"Mushy" McMahon Stirs Enthusiasm While Other Speakers Give Encouragement and Band Plays Vermont Songs

The Speakers

[illegible] surface [illegible]

[illegible] was quite interesting [illegible] men develop the [illegible] and he took a special cheer of encouraging words [illegible] a great deal of pep and en[illegible]

[illegible] stressed the [illegible] and cheering would [illegible] in the game. He [illegible] had its part to do. [illegible] the students had their part [illegible] was cheering.

[illegible] talk ended the program. He stated that Nor[illegible] until the end, and [illegible] also have to put [illegible]

[illegible] speeches were interspersed with songs and cheers. The [illegible] had in the way of [illegible] and inspiring Vermont [illegible] to kindle the spark [illegible] there was a roaring [illegible] throughout the [illegible] the phrase was [illegible]

[illegible] and cider completed the [illegible] every man departed [illegible] a good showing on Saturday [illegible] they were not disappointed.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT NOTES

[illegible] for the Rensselaer game [illegible] out to thirty-five out[illegible] be placed in prominent [illegible] Four thousand [illegible] reserved seats have [illegible] sent to alumni and supporters of the University.

Final [illegible] been made for the [illegible] game with Springfield [illegible] Springfield. The team [illegible] by the band and [illegible] that a number of the [illegible] there the trip. A good [illegible] is expected to see [illegible] at Springfield because of the central location. The team will make their headquarters at the Hotel [illegible].

A [illegible] was taken at the Tufts game which aggregated about one hundred and fifty dollars to be used toward the Walter Camp Memorial at Yale University. The Memorial will cost $150,000. Half the amount will be contributed by Yale and the other half by colleges all over the country.

Another addition to the Varsity football schedule for 1927 is the game with Williams at Williamstown on November 12. The complete Football schedule for 1927 has not been completed yet but will be ready in a short time.

SOVIET RUSSIA AGAIN BROUGHT TO LIGHT BY SENIOR DEBATERS

The regular Senior debate was held Friday afternoon in the Williams Science Lecture Hall. The question [illegible] That the United States Should Recognize Soviet Russia," is one which was uppermost in the popu[illegible] some years ago. It has since then been relegated to a back shelf and it devolved upon the Seniors to bring it forth once more.

H V Greene led the affirmative to [illegible] assignment unanimous[illegible] H McLeod and [illegible] with a great assistance [illegible] the applause and [illegible] the winning arguments. [illegible] with M V Goddard [illegible] creditably for the [illegible]

The Wetness

"BRIGHT COLLEGE YEARS"

[illegible] The very next person who [illegible] to tell us that these are the [illegible] of our life, my dear, [illegible] appreciate them when they're [illegible] going to suffer a horrible [illegible] We have not yet decided [illegible] death by hanging or by Latin [illegible] would be most satisfac[illegible] For once our gentle nature has been goaded too far! We are just [illegible] For years we have allowed [illegible] and supposedly wiser people to [illegible] that we were having a perfectly [illegible] time in college that preparing [illegible] and taking tests was the great[illegible] one could wish for [illegible] though we may not appreciate [illegible] blessings now we will by and by, and so forth and so forth and so forth. We sensed that for years in the greatest meekness though neither our advices or ourselves ever believed a word of it. But we've heard that record just once too often and we hereby declare war on anybody and everybody who dares to make it in our presence.

Well, just why do the old folks think that college is so grand? If you ask them they will tell you that it is because you haven't any responsibilities. (By that they mean family cares, such as six children.) Responsibilities, my eye! That is just what we haven't got nothing else but. "You will be held responsible for the next ten chapters. You are responsible for a two thousand word thesis. You are responsible for five hundred pages of outside reading." Seems as if we had heard those words somewhere before. Six courses may be less work in the matter of feeding and dressing than six children but children will sometimes amuse themselves; six courses never will. They keep you busy from morning to night; they are never satisfied. If you give them a lovely toy in the shape of a perfect lesson one day they won't be content with that, they want another one tomorrow. You can feed a baby, put it to bed and forget it for a while; just try to forget an Ec course.

College is likewise joyful, so they say, because one doesn't have to work as hard as the poor tired business man. We haven't as much faith in the poor tired business man as we used to have. Thinking is the hardest work in the world, hardest to learn to do, hardest to do, and most fatiguing in its aftereffects. There is nothing in this world that makes you feel more like a discarded dish-mop than a few hours of real solid thought. If all the business men in this country put in eight hours a day of the same brand of thought that we expend in a three-hour exam the insurance companies would all go broke. Insurance companies are flourishing and the moral is obvious.

You may have heard of the great C. V. M. murder. We did it. The facts have never been generally known but for the good of the cause we are now making them public. It was like this: We had four tests, a report to write and a debate to prepare, all in one week. We were studying frantically when one of the old folks came in. He said: "Studying?" We said: "Uh-huh." He said: "What for?" We said: "Tests." He said: "Well, I hope you realize your blessings. These are the happiest years of your life." We killed him and put the body in the furnace. We were unanimously acquitted.

Not Progress But Recovery Is Needed Says Dean Bennett

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] as an aid to understanding [illegible] the past but also the world [illegible] In closing he left with us [illegible] common-sense and yet rather [illegible] thought. "We want a satisfying and consistent outlook on the [illegible] not an explanation of every [illegible] showing wherein religion and [illegible] science in our truest need.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS CONCERT GIVEN BY MUSIC DEPARTMENT

A large number attended the concert presented by the music department Thursday evening in the Chapel in the Old Mill. The artists presenting the program were Miss Miriam Natilee Marsden, pianist, and Mme. Elizabeth Bradish, soprano.

The first group was three piano selections played by Miss Marsden. They were the "Gavotte in B Minor" by Bach-Saint Sæns, the "Romance in F Sharp Major," by Schumann, and the "Valse Brilliante" by Chopin, as the first selection. "Granada," from "Suite Espanola," by Albeniz, the "Swan" by Palmgren, the "Movement Perpetual" by Poulenc, and "Lotus Land" by Cyril Scott, as the second selection. The last selection was the "Polonaise in E Major" by Liszt.

Mme. Bradish then sang "Romance" and "Madoline" by Debussy, "Therese" and "Von Ewiger Liebe" by Brahams, "The Last Hour" by Kramer, "The Bird" by Fiske, "Slow, Horses, Slow" by Jalowicz, "The Sleep That Flits on Baby's Eyes" by Carpenter, and "On the Steppe" by Gretchaninoff. As an encore she sang "Ouvres tes Yeux Bleus" by Massenet, playing her own accompaniment.

The audience was very well pleased as was shown by the applause.

After the concert Professor and Mrs. H. G. Bennett of the music department gave an informal reception at their home in honor of Mme. Bradish and Miss Marsden.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY GIVEN AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

Friday evening the Y. P. R. U. of the Unitarian Church entertained some of the college students with a Hallowe'en party. The room was decorated to resemble a barn and games and dancing occupied the evening.

This organization meets every Sunday for supper at six and either religious or social evenings are held afterwards. All students are welcome to come to these meetings.

LIGHT SHINES FROM CHAPEL TOWER

The light in the Ira Allen Chapel tower gleamed brilliantly over Burlington for the first time early Friday evening. To those approaching from a distance it had the appearance of a bright star setting over the tree tops but on nearer approach its real significance dawned on them. This beacon will be visible for many miles around.

Student assent has been given to the proposal to do away with lectures at Rollins College, Florida. The innovation was proposed by President Hamilton Holt, former editor of The Independent.

Instead of coming to classes for lectures the students will attend to study. The usual 60 minute period will be lengthened to two hours. The students will study in classes under guidance of the professor and in constant consultation with him "the purpose being to place academic life on a more practical basis by placing class attendance on a par with the hours and duties of a business office."

A majority of the students were favorably impressed with the idea some objections, however, were raised. The principle doubts were as follows: "Professors who have not adapted themselves to the changed condition and make use of the two-hour period to deliver an extended lecture, outside work continuing as before; the problem of the working student and that of the athlete who suffers from overstuffed schedules; the necessarily doubled number of conflicts, with their attendant inconveniences, as well as the uncomfortable and impractical conditions of some recitation rooms. A more serious point raised was the question of whether or not so radical a change in college procedure would affect the standing of Rollin in academic circles."

Assurance was given by the faculty that these difficulties would be smoothed out as the plan operates.—The New Student.

DOCTOR ALDINGER TO COACH WINTER SPORTS

The meeting of the Outing Club which was due to be held Saturday morning has been postponed. President F. H. Sears, '27, addressed the freshman class meeting which was held at this time. He explained the purpose and work of the club to the new men.

The opportunity of this organization especially in the field of winter sports is a large one at Vermont. Snow will soon be here and if work is started early enough there is no reason why a successful ski and snowshoe team cannot be developed.

Dr. Aldinger is to coach the team this year, which should help a great deal. In former years the team has had only such aid as the veterans on it could offer.

SEVERAL ORGANIZATIONS HOLD DANCES

The Sigma Alpha Chi Fraternity held an informal dance on Saturday evening. The music was furnished by Kenyon's Orchestra from Richmond and Professor and Mrs. Myrick were present as chaperones.

The Sigma Delta Fraternity held a dance Saturday evening, with Captain and Mrs. Lammons and Professor and Mrs. Crockett as chaperones. The music was by Paul Rider's Orchestra.

Sigma Phi Fraternity gave a tea dance Saturday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock, at which men from other fraternities were guests.

Tel. 597-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

STATIONERY,
MAGAZINES,
NEWSPAPERS
* * *
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

Calendar For This Week

Tuesday, November 2

4.00 P. M. Field Day at [illegible] mount.
4.00 P. M. Tryouts for [illegible] Club.
7.00 P. M. Tryouts for [illegible] Club.

Friday, November 5

3.00 P. M. Senior [illegible] ture Hall.
4.00 P. M. Meeting [illegible] Cabinet.
4.30 P. M. Inter[illegible] try Run from [illegible]

Saturday, November 6

10.00 A. M. Men's [illegible] 1 South College.
10.00 A. M. Women's [illegible] Union in Old Mill.
2.30 P. M. Varsity [illegible] at Centennial Field.

"What would you [illegible] were dying for a kiss [illegible] aid."—College Humor.

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
We are now open on Sundays.
PHONE 2365

Student's Accounts Solici[illegible]
This schedule s[illegible] you how the B[illegible] Plan works.
Turk Says
Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down
$25.00	$ 5.00
30.00	6.00
35.00	7.00
40.00	8.00
45.00	9.00
50.00	10.00
55.00	11.00
60.00	12.00
65.00	13.00
70.00	14.00
75.00	15.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURI[illegible]
SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the Budget comes from
Turk's
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, V[illegible]
Printing for every student need

FRIDAY SPECIAL SALE DAY
TOILET ARTICLES
WE ARE STANDARDIZING OUR
TOILET ARTICLES AND AS A RESUL[illegible]
WE HAVE SEVERAL ODD ITEMS
WHICH WE ARE OFFERING AT AN INTERESTING REDUCTION
at the
University Store

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
180 Bank Street

HOWARD'S
APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP
Phone 8171 48 Church St.
Students' Trade Appreciated

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1926 — NUMBER 13

SCABBARD AND BLADE HOLDS MILITARY BALL COMING ARMISTICE EVE

Popular Dance First Held in 1919—Is One of Most Colorful Events of the Year

[illegible] of November 10, will [illegible] gymnasium a blaze of light [illegible] on that night the annual [illegible] takes place. Since the [illegible] balls, owing to their popu[illegible] been staged on a larger [illegible] and without doubt the [illegible] Wednesday will overtop all [illegible] Sports. The Military Ball [illegible] its inauguration as an [illegible] been considered one of [illegible] ular formal dances at Ver[illegible] account in the CYNIC [illegible] elaborate ceremonies [illegible] the second annual ball [illegible]

[illegible] beginning of the dance the [illegible] cut and one of the battalion [illegible] sounded reveille. At the same [illegible] the rays of a spot light [illegible] it, Old Glory was raised [illegible] refreshments were dispensed [illegible] a real army rolling kitchen. [illegible] and machine guns lent [illegible] atmosphere to the oc[illegible] Invitations were sent to Nor[illegible] and Fort Ethan Allen officers. Two hundred and fifty couples attended.

Limit Admission in 1921

In 1921 the attendance reached a peak of three hundred and fifty [illegible] Since that year it has been necessary to limit the sale of tickets [illegible] neighborhood of two hundred [illegible]

[illegible] in 1922 stated the event [illegible] was "the biggest dance success [illegible] year!"

Again in 1923, the CYNIC said [illegible] year's ball that: "The many [illegible] and arrangements made [illegible] the best affair of its kind ever staged at the University." Among [illegible] features introduced that year, was the serving of the refreshments [illegible] baseball cage, and the arrangement of a lounging room in the armory.

The coming of the date of this popular social event is always much anticipated by the student body. Be[illegible] as it is, the first formal of the year, it should prove a highly fitting [illegible] to the formal social season. The Scabbard and Blade Society has spared no effort to make this year's Military Ball fully as brilliant a success as it has proven in every past year. Dancing will be from nine to [illegible]

J. O. BAXENDALE TO SPEAK AT ALUMNI MEETINGS

John O. Baxendale, Alumni Secretary, is to be one of the speakers at the meeting of the National Federation of Catholic College Alumni to be held at Philadelphia, Saturday, November 6. Only two other speakers from colleges outside the organization are to be present. These are from Pennsylvania State and the University of Missouri.

Mr. Baxendale will also be one of the speakers at the fall smoker of the New York Alumni of the University of New York City, November 10. Two other speakers from the University are expected to attend.

DRAMATIC SOCIETIES PICK PLAY TONIGHT

[illegible] and Sandal, and Wig and [illegible] dramatic societies will meet [illegible] next play at the Delta Psi [illegible] tonight at 7:30. At that time [illegible] recently appointed to [illegible] play to be presented by the [illegible] in December, will give its [illegible] Charles Blackall '27 is chairman [illegible] committee.

[illegible] of the tied is often toward the divorce courts.—Temple University Weekly.

[illegible] selections and awards for extra[illegible] activities at Tufts are [illegible] by the Student Council.

[illegible] is what you get when [illegible] looking for something else.—[illegible] News, Brigham Young University.

Middlebury Special

Tickets for the special train to Middlebury are $2.50. They will be on sale today, on the campus. Get them early to insure securing of train.

FROSH WILL DEBATE SOPHS FOR BAILEY CUP

At a meeting of underclassmen interested in debating held last Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Old Mill, it was announced that the Frosh-Sophomore debate would be held November 24. A group of underclassmen turned out for the meeting, and they agreed on the question "Resolved That the United States should cancel the loans made to its associates during the World War." Tryouts for the underclass teams will be held in the afternoon of November 12 at Room 1, North College. All underclassmen who are interested in debating should hand in their names to Mr. Lawton Moore of the English Department and be prepared to give a speech on the subject chosen for debate.

With keen interest in debating among the lower classes, it seems quite probable that a lively contest will be fought for the possession of the Bailey cup. The cup is now in the possession of the class of 1927, which won a debate over the class of 1928 two years ago. Last year no Frosh-Sophomore debate was held. The Bailey cup was presented by Mr. H. Albion Bailey of Winooski, a member of Tau Kappa Alpha and a prominent debater during his undergraduate days at Vermont. The numerals of the class winning the underclass debate are engraved on the cup.

Emory Mower '27 is arranging the schedule for the Varsity debaters. As yet no contracts have been closed. The questions which the Vermont team prefers to debate is the cancellation of war debts by the United States and the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

FRESHMEN VOTE BAND $25

At a meeting of the class of 1930 early in the week it was voted to give twenty-five dollars to help send the Band to Springfield on Thanksgiving day. The band is going to accompany the team if sufficient money can be raised.

NEWS IN BRIEF

According to posters which have been displayed prominently about the campus for the past few days, the Newman Club, the college society for Catholic students, will hold its first reception and dance of the year tomorrow. The event will take place in the C. D. A. rooms at 8 o'clock in the evening.

All arts and science students who have taken algebra for the past two months were given a final examination in the Gymnasium last Monday from 4 to 6 o'clock. Engineering students will take their examination in algebra at the regular mid-year examination period.

Charles Stevens, president of the Junior class, has announced that a meeting of the nominating committee will be held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Billings Library. All organizations which are eligible to be represented on the committee are asked to send their representatives.

Fraternity and other organization grades in the arts college will be given out in the Dean's office on and after November 8, 1926.

FACULTY NOTES

Philip B. Whitehead, assistant professor of Latin and Miss Ruth Cary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cary of Wallingford, were married last Friday at Wallingford. Professor and Mrs. Whitehead are at home at 57 Harrington Terrace.

The Faculty Social Club of the University of Vermont held a Hallowe'en party Saturday evening in the Vermonters' club house.

FACULTY ADOPTS CUT SYSTEM FOR COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Students' pay heed to the new regulations in the cut system this year. No excuses are given for absences which are limited to one day. A student who accumulates cuts amounting to 25 per cent of the hours in which his course meets, will not be allowed to take his exam and he may be excluded from the exam for a less percentage of cuts. The 25 per cent includes both excused and unexcused cuts. If a student has cut five hours in any one course or nine hours in all courses he is called to the Dean's office for explanations.

With the exception of the cut system outlined above, the faculty has answered the students cause for a debate system. Last year the CYNIC published a series of articles and editorials on the subject of a cut system. Student agitation for a cut system has been, as shown by letters to the editor of the CYNIC published last year. With the promulgation of the new cut system a real need of the students has been satisfied.

MAJOR GEORGE PUTNAM ADDRESSES STUDENTS AT GYMNASIUM TODAY

Noted Publisher Will Talk on "England and America: Their Past Relations and Present Obligations to Each Others"

In convocation on Friday the fifth at 4 o'clock the students will have the opportunity of hearing Major George Haven Putnam speak on the subject of "England and America: Their Past Relations and Present Obligations to Each Other."

Major Putnam is a man of wide experience as an author and a publisher. Born in London, he was educated in the Columbia Grammar School of New York. He attended the Sorbonne, Paris, and the University of Gottingen. He has received honors from Bowdoin College, Western University of Pennsylvania, and from Columbia University of New York. He has been president of G. P. Putnam Sons, publishers, in New York City. He was a director of the Knickerbocker Press. He led in organizing the American Copyright League. France decorated him with the Cross of the Legion of Honor in 1871.

Major Putnam has written a number of books concerning authorship and publication; a book on Abraham Lincoln, and several memoirs. He has contributed to the "International Encyclopedia" and to the "Encyclopedia Brittannica." From 1915 to 1916, he was president of the American Rights League and of the Free Trade League in 1916. He is a member of the Century, Authors, City, (New York) and Saville (of London) Clubs.

Major Putnam's lecture is the second of a series of "University Lectures" to be given this year. The relations between the two English speaking peoples are of vital bearing on world affairs. The speaker, as may be seen above, is well qualified to discuss the subject and his talk is expected to be interesting and instructive in the extreme.

KEY AND SERPENT GIVE UP DATE FOR SECOND DANCE TO FRATERNITIES

The Key and Serpent Society met Tuesday evening at the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity House. The chairman of the social committee and the treasurer handed in a report of the recent Key and Serpent week-end. The Society voted not to hold another dance this year, and to give over the Saturday night following Kake Walk to fraternity dances. This evening is generally allotted to Key and Serpent. The interfraternity basketball tournament is to be arranged as soon as possible so that they will be finished by Kake Walk time.

The next meeting of Key and Serpent will be on November 9 at the Sigma Phi Place.

Last Tuesday evening at the first meeting of the Research Club held at Morrill Hall, Professor A. B. Myrick, president of the club, gave a talk on "Saint Simond, a Painter of Courts."

FRATERNITY RIFLEMEN TO MEET INDEPENDENTS

This fall the military department is going to try an experiment to create interest in the rifle team among the various social organizations on the hill. In connection with the regular practice made in December a match between the Independents' team and an all fraternity team will be shot.

Beginning on November 15, the Freshmen will take up shooting as a part of their military work. Those who show ability or promise may try out for the Varsity team.

BURLINGTON ART CLUB OFFERS FOUR COURSES

The Burlington Art League is offering four courses this year. After investigating many requests they are arranging for an evening class once a week. It includes a scholarly study of the great Art Schools of Europe. A leader has been secured and the first meeting will be on Italian Art. Anyone interested in the course may telephone Mrs. L. W. Dean, 2785 W.

The course in Applied Art, given by Miss Elizabeth Colburn is already underway, with classes meeting each Monday morning at 9:00. This course offers many interesting ways of solving the Christmas gift problem and the ten lessons will be completed before Christmas vacation. Those interested in joining may telephone Mrs. Hollis Gray, 1509.

The other two courses, Life Drawing under the direction of Mrs. R. F. Doane, and Poster Design, taught by Mr. H. S. Knight, are held each Thursday evening at 7:30 at the High School in rooms 19 and 20. There is opportunity for more members to join each of these classes by telephoning Mrs. R. F. Doane, 253 W and Mr. Knight at McAuliffe's Book Store.

BOULDER SMOKER TO PRECEDE MIDD GAME

Tuesday night Boulder Society met at the Sigma Phi place and decided to have a smoker the night before the Middlebury game. They also decided to run a special train to the Middlebury game if there are enough students who wish to use it. The question of keeping athletes up in their studies was also considered.

INDEPENDENTS ELECT TWO GOLD KEY MEN AND PLAN CHRISTMAS DANCE

The Vermont Independents held their first regular meeting of the season last Monday night in the Old Mill. There were quite a few non-fraternity men present. Two Gold Key men were elected in place of two others, who had formerly represented the Independents but who went fraternity this year. They were Charles Paine and Thomas Wood. A committee consisting of Bjorn, Thompson, and Bashaw was appointed to get men to sign up for a dance which the Independents are planning to put on before Christmas vacation. This committee is also to arrange for the best date and decide on the place, in which it is to be held.

The next meeting will be on Monday, November 15.

O'KEEFE AND FISKE TO HEAD SOPHOMORE CLASS

In the 1929 class meeting held Monday, the following class officers were elected for the year: President, F. F. O'Keefe; vice-president, Alzada Fiske; treasurer, Burt Morse; secretary, Dorothy Strong.

F. F. O'Keefe, the new president of '29 is a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity. He plays center on the Varsity football team.

Alzada Fisk, vice-president, is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. She is prominent in several branches of women's athletics.

Treasurer Burt Morse is a member of Sigma Phi. Last spring he played third base on the baseball team. Morse is president of the Gold Key Society.

Dorothy Stone, secretary is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

A genius is a fool who succeeds; a fool is a genius who fails.—Temple University Weekly.

YEARLING GRIDSTERS TO BATTLE CLARKSON FRESHMEN AT POTSDAM

Young Catamounts Expect to Win Over Embryo Engineers Next Saturday

Tomorrow morning, the Green and Gold Frosh eleven will leave for Potsdam, New York where they will clash with the Yearling team of Clarkson Tech. Little is known about the New York team, but as a result of the last few games that the locals have played, the engineers will have to travel some to score a win over Coach Rattan's team. About twenty-two players will make the trip accompanied by Coach Rattan and Manager Moodie.

The Catamount Cubs have not been seated upon this season with the exception of the Dartmouth game. This resulted in a 20-0 decision in favor of the "Little" Big Green team. Dartmouth is supposed to have the strongest Frosh team in the East and only last week trimmed the Brown Freshmen to the tune of 60-0. The Frosh have scored 118 points to their opponents 20, so far this season. Bray is the leading scorer with six touchdowns to his credit, while Mace, Mitchell and De Rose have all scored 13 out of 14 tries for goal after touchdown.

Three Games Remain

According to the dope, the locals should come through and win the remaining three games easily. Fort Ethan Allen will appear on Centennial Field, Armistice Day, taking the place of the Burlington High team, which is unusually weak this season. The final game will be with the class of '29. Last year the Sophomores won unexpectedly and last year's Frosh may do the same thing this year. Of last year's stars, Palmer, Kropper, O'Keefe, and Thorne are all playing regular with the Varsity this fall and will be a great loss to the team. Nevertheless "Chuck" Levine, Smith, Van Name, Donnelly, Fiske, Robbins, Gardner and Young will all probably be able to play and expect to surprise the Frosh.

Track Dope

E. R. I.

This afternoon at 4:30 the inter-class cross-country run will be held—maybe. With pessimism born of knowledge of the present cross-country spirit, the writer hesitates to announce for a certainty that the event will take place. But all things considered, the cross-country spirit is better than last year, which in turn was better than the previous year. It's a slow process, this building up spirit. It takes tradition to do it. But even though the four classes have only three men from which to pick a four-man team, there will be some interesting results as far as individual results go. The scratch men will be Wood, Martinetti, Davis, Rowe, Post, Davies, and Tudhope—that is, if they all show up. The race ought to be a fight between the first three mentioned. Wood has shown great improvement the last week, Martinetti has turned in the best time of the year, and Davis, a Freshman, has never yet been beaten over the course. Albee and Freshman Martinetti will probably be given a two-minute handicap, while all other entries get a minute handicap.

The Junior team should have the lowest score if all their men get into [illegible] with Rowe, Post, Davies, Tudhope for a team with Boyce as reserve. The Juniors with Wood, Albee and Suitor have a fair outfit, their weak spot being the fourth man. The Freshmen with Davis, G. Martinetti, Eaton, and Edson seem to be little better off than the Sophomores with S. Martinetti, Ed Rowe, Kelly, Collins, and Hammond.

In any case, if the meet is held it can be considered a Vermont triumph, for it could not have been done in former years.

Wooden heads should produce burning thoughts, but they don't.—Temple University Weekly.

It always makes me laugh.
So wonderful a treat.
To see an athlete run a mile
And only move two feet.

—Salt Shaker

The Vermont Cynic

[NEWSPAPER] OF VERMONT

[publication info] every Tues[day] [during] the college year. Delivered [at] [price] Single copy [price]

[Subscriptions] should be [addressed to] the Manager, 250 Ma[in] [Street]. [All] correspondence to the Editor Add[ress]

[Entered] at the [Burlington] Postoffice as second class matter.

[Board of Editors]

[Editor-in-Chief]
[Managing] Editor
[News] Editor
[Sports] Editor
[Associate] Editor
[Alumni] Editor
[Features] Editor

[Editorial Staff]

[Business Mgr.]
[Advertising Mgr.]
[Assistant] Manager
[Assistant] Manager
[Assistant] Manager

[Contributions] are heartily [solicited]. [Communications] [should be] [signed] by [the] writer, whose name [will not be] published if [he so] desires. They should [be addressed to the] Editor-in-Chief. Any [matter intended for] publication in or [telephoned to the] office before 9 p. m. Sunday and [Wednesday] of [this week]:

[News] Editor
[Assistant] Manager

EDITORIAL

[Comment] on the Campus [appeared] in an earlier issue [of this paper] will be [discontinued] effective [with] this issue. [Instead] we will [print] the editorial [opinion] of the week.

We feel sure [that] every [reader] will be indignant and [disgusted] at any article which [appears] that will give them offense [or] displeasure.

And we feel sure [that] everyone who signs himself [or herself] A [Cynic] reader will [be glad] to have [the] privilege [of] suggesting a longer list of the advantages which the new chapel will bring [to] the students on this campus. [There] was a scarce and full [appreciation] of the intended uses of the [new building] when [working]. Therefore we [acquaint] ourselves with men[tioning only] a few of the things which [every student] may appreciate whether [he or she] is in the habit of attending convocation [and other] exercises or not.

FRATERNITIES, ATHLETES

In this issue is a letter from another member of the Junior class dealing with a topic which is of vital interest to all who have a desire to see [Vermont] rise at the top of the list. [There] are a number of Freshmen [who] have some ability in [sports]. These men are immediately [sought after] by men on the Freshman football [squad] and once in a while, one of them [finds] himself getting behind in [his studies] and stops going out for [practice]. Many of them however and [almost] all are the better men, because [the coach] signals which low [marks] put on playing. Mid[year] [examinations] and they [are] put under warn[ing].

[Fraternities] [now] [pledge] [freshmen] and are rushed [all] [year] in a [keen] fraternities [are] [always] [using] a [body] they are [trying] [to] [get] [as] much [about] [each] asset that [fraternity] [can] [get] [if] [they] [can] [get] [it] [from] [some] group. It would [seem] [that] those fraternities, who [show] a man so [highly] and who [have] taken so much trouble to get him [to] [college] [are] [enough] about him to spend a little effort to keep him in college. The [athletic] department is hindered [by] the scarcity of men who are able and willing to coach those who are [not] in their grades. Who is there who knows these men better and is better [able] to exert effective influence over them than the very organization which has so ardently expressed its desire during rushing to share with them the privilege of everlasting brotherhood.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

The day after the Norwich game, I happened to pick up a Cadet on his way back to Northfield. The conversation drifted to athletics, which was a subject that both of us were interested in. The Cadet was rather enthusiastic about Norwich's athletic prospects. He averred that Norwich would win the state championships in all sports except [one]. In this sport he conceded Norwich's chances will be good.

"How about our teams?" At the Key and Serpent smoker, Coach McAvoy urged the fraternity men to help keep their athletes in good scholastic standing. Coach Dresser asked two Freshman players if they were going to be back next year. One said he would be; the other is not sure. The present Frosh football team would furnish valuable material for the Varsity next year, if the players do not get into scholastic difficulties.

What are we going to do? Are we going [to] [do] our best to keep our athletes [eligible]? Last year most of the fraternities did not do their best to keep their athletic members in good standing scholastically. In too many cases the athletes were given aid outside of their fraternities. The grades of the men were available for fraternities both at the offices of the deans and at the athletic office. Lack of knowledge concerning the grades of athletes cannot be given as a reason for the failure of the fraternities to tutor their own men.

Some of the tutors were not of the best. The best students are not available to tutor the athletes. The good students either do not believe in aiding athletes or are not interested. Men are called for by the eligibility department to act as tutors but very few students report for the call. In fact there were only four tutors available for athletes before mid-years and finals last year.

Does the student body realize that a little help will keep most of these men up scholastically? Do the students realize that moral support helps "green men"? This year in the last game of the football season the Varsity will face a halfback who should have been on our team. He started here, joined a fraternity here, but was not helped in his studies. The athlete became discouraged and gave up until one student worked with him just before mid-years. Needless to say, it was too late and the athlete dropped out. In the Turkey Day game he will give our line plenty of trouble. Why let other colleges have men like that?

If the students at Vermont want to have winning athletic teams, they had better stop bewailing the passing of the grid championship to Norwich and help keep the athletes in a good scholastic status.

'28.

This year there is a greater supply of promising material on the Freshman squad that for a number of years. Now is the time for the fraternities to show some of that college spirit which they are so often accused of destroying. What better chance is there to justify their existence.

CONVOCATION TODAY

The second speaker of those, whom the faculty committee has arranged to have address convocations of students will be here this afternoon. Major George Haven Putnam is a man of fame and well worth listening to. If anyone doubts the great ability of this man as set forth in another article he has but to open "Who's Who" to set those doubts at rest. In bringing such men here as the Dean of Chester, who spoke last week, and Major Putnam, the faculty members have certainly succeeded in their efforts to bring to the University men of outstanding personality. But their whole intention was to give the students first hand contact with these men. In bringing them here this is only half fulfilled. It is up to the student body to show that they appreciate this oportunity by turning out to hear the speakers and thus to do their share.

Major Putnam has a war record that many a younger man could not boast. Those who go to hear him will hear a man who has served his country well. Let's go.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

FATE AND ROSA

MERTA E. MUNRO, '28

(The following story appeared in the Boston Post of October 30, and was awarded third prize in the short story contest which that paper holds weekly.)

Dick Andrews' musing was sharply interrupted by the ringing of the telephone bell. But he only settled himself more comfortably in his big chair. No practical jokers could fool him. Twice before, within the hour, he had been similarly interrupted. He knew, instinctively, that should he answer, her voice would come again. And what a voice! He could still hear the sweet, frightened tones. "Ricardo, help me—oh—" then as he had started to speak, the connection had been cut.

Again came the insistent ting-a-ling of the bell. This might not, of course, be the work of a practical joker. Those in his quiet, rather complacent set would hardly do a thing like that. Well, he'd see, and put an end to the joke, if it was one. He snatched the telephone, in spite of himself somewhat eagerly.

"Yes," he bellowed. He absolutely would not be haunted longer by this strange, sweet voice.

Then he heard again, "Ricardo—"

At least her dire fate, whatever it was, had not yet fallen. She was still safe. In surprise, Dick noted a distinct feeling of relief within himself.

"Ricardo, come at once. I am in grave danger." Then she gave the address of an east side shop. Surely, with its wailing note of despair, this was not the voice of a joker.

Filled now with the excitement of adventure, not heeding any possible danger to himself, he started in his high-powered car.

The city lights were just beginning to twinkle when Dick came to the given address. Through the dirty shop window he could see a motley collection of goods. He did not stop long to look, however, but walked quickly into the badly-lighted store.

Once there, he thought it best to be outspoken with the toothless, crippled old man who was in charge.

"Is a—is there a young lady here?" he asked him.

"Yong leddy? No, jost me an' Rosa here," he said quaveringly. "You want buy somesing, yes? Wait, I show you!"

He led the way to a pair of ancient and battered andirons.

"I was to meet a young lady here at this time. You're sure she hasn't been in?"

"No one comes here now any more. They go buy somewhere else. You buy somesing nice though, yes?"

Resolved to see the thing through, and to play for time, the young man examined the andirons critically. Still no one came. There was no excuse for staying longer, unless he purchased. So, at last, he paid unflinchingly the barbarous price asked by the old shop keeper, prolonging the transaction to its limit. Even then he could not make up his mind to take his departure. He turned reluctantly to the door at last.

Then she came—a young girl, Rosa, presumably, from a back room. She stepped close to him.

"Ricardo," she whispered. "Go—go quickly. Never come here again. I am safe. My danger is over. I fear for your safety. Go—go at once, I beg of you Ricardo."

"But, well—I say—"began Dick.

"Go! Go, I tell you! Go at once. You have saved me already!" cried the girl.

The crippled old man was now advancing, slowly, determinedly, stiletto in hand.

"You best to go, like Rosa says!"

So Dick Andrews went. His exit could hardly be called dignified.

For days after that he thought of the old man, and of Rosa with the sweet, sad voice—of Rosa, saying, "Go, you have already saved me! Go!" But never would he go back, even to claim his forgotten andirons.

Meanwhile, in the little store, when the door had closed after Dick Andrews, there was a mad celebration. The little old man grinned vacuously. Rosa danced joyously about, waving aloft Dick's yellow-backed bill.

"Rosa," shrilled the man, "those American school sure make you a bright girl."

"It worked, padre mio! Our little scheme worked! Now we shall eat!"

And while Dick was sitting alone, and wondering, Rosa and the old man were eating, feasting sumptuously, living comfortably on the money which fate and Rosa had played into their hands.

If talk is cheap and dangerous some fools prove miserly and cowardly as regards this same gift of nature.—The Tomahawk.

3 MILLION STUDENTS WHO HAVE NEITHER ATHLETICS NOR CAMPUS

More students in [colleges] are studying outside [the walls] than within. A student [body] of 3,000,000, without a [football team], colors, registrars [and] [rows] of buildings and stadiums [is] over the country.

Workers who [have] themselves in the [ranks] of workers who would [be] leisured classes, with [the] rich-getting "culture" [of] ambitious high school [graduates] as means for college, graduates of grammar [schools] to gain what they [missed] in years of hard [work] as merchants, shoe salesmen and women [get] the kind of education [they] want either by correspondence, [the] public library guidance, university extension classes, vocation classes, workers' [education] folk schools, institutes [and] classes.

For this huge army [of] new methods of teaching [are] In England and the United States adult education [is] advanced than in America. [The] past two years the Carnegie [Foundation] has been surveying [the] field. For the past two years [the] Foundation has been [surveying] field. As a result [England] being prepared on the [subject] adult education of [the] versity extension to [the]

A clearing house [for] tion movement has [been] East 42nd Street [will] be called the American [Association] Adult Education [Council] ucational meetings [and] tions dealing with [adult] problems. The association will include teachers [of] adult education, as well —The New Student.

Four Ways of Saying It

Freshman: "Huh?"
Sophomore: "What?"
Junior: "Beg pardon, what did you say?"
Senior: "I beg your pardon, Professor, but I failed to understand the purport of the inquiry?"

Senior: "Are late hours good for one?"
She: "No, but they're alright for two."

Holmes: Are you going to that new show at the Forrest? There is a company of 120.
Watson: What has that got to do with it?
Holmes: Nothing except that they carry only one trunk.—Penn. Punch Bowl.

"You the 'stallment man?"
"Yeh."
"Well, mom sent me to stall 'you off again."—Carnegie Puppet.

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

U. V. M.

We will paint or imprint FREE any school, fraternity or your own initials on that slicker or raincoat you buy from us.

WORK DONE BY AN EXPERT

PEOPLE'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
29 Church Street

Incontestably Correct

Distinction

WHO among us does not secretly aim to be distinguished—to be different from others?

John Shannon's English Coats

add just that touch of distinction which all well-dressed men seek. They are "Incontestably Correct".

Illustrated Booklet, showing three Fall Models, sent on request

Turk's
MAGNUS IMPORTS, Ltd.
Sole Selling Agents
398 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Wholesale Only

Cavendish Raglan

John Shannon's English Clothes

Co-ed's Corner

BLUESTOCKINGS HOLDS PARTY TO ACQUAINT WOMEN WITH ITS WORK

The [illegible] a party at Redstone [illegible] November 2, and all [illegible] interested in the Club [illegible] who [illegible] were invited. A welcome was extended [illegible] the President, Eleanor Barrel [illegible] gave a [illegible] on the Club and its significance. Papers were read by Margaret Durick, Florence Smith, and [illegible] Bates to show the guests the type of papers that are read at the business meetings. The guests were urged to try out for the Club, the date November 15 being set as the limit for contributions to be handed in. Refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served and the party ended after some thrilling ghost stories in which [illegible] part.

The next meeting of the Club, a business meeting will be held Tuesday evening, November 16 at Grassmount.

Sorority Notes

Kappa Delta

Alpha Theta of Kappa Delta announces the pledging of Catherine Gurney '27 and Ursula Dwyer '28, both of Burlington, on October 28.

Marion Anker '22 of Barre was in town over the week-end.

Epsilon Sigma

Epsilon Sigma held an informal dance Saturday evening at the Howard Memorial Building. Mr. and Mrs. Dean and Miss Patrick were the chaperones.

HEALTH COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS—PLANS MADE

The Health Council dined with Miss Jennings and Miss Blanchard at Grassmount Thursday evening. Plans for the coming year were discussed. Marjorie Purinton was elected recording secretary and Catherine Bassett corresponding secretary. Each month of the coming year is to be devoted to a different phase of health work.

MIDD REPRESENTATIVES AT Y. W. C. A. MEETING HELD LAST SUNDAY

The recognition service was held on Sunday at Redstone. A large number of new members were taken in as a result of the successful campaign of the previous two weeks. A representative from the Middlebury Y. W. C. A. gave a short greetings from that chapter.

This Sunday, the sing will be held at Campus House. There will be a special program and everyone who was at Redstone last Sunday should be there, and everyone who was not at Redstone last Sunday ought to be there.

Oh! La! La!

Do Not Indulge in Extremes

To the girls how I hope that I have not misled you in any advice I have given! Let me beg you, as modest girls not to indulge in extremes. Remember that your escort when dancing is apt to hold you so as to pull your dress a trifle therefore don't [illegible] dance without allowing a inch or two of freedom in the length of your skirt, and while on this point if you must roll your stockings though the style is now absolutely [illegible] be sure to roll them above and not below the knee; and may I suggest that garters blend with, and not contrast with your frock. Such [illegible] in judgment may easily [illegible] of a woman a social outcast.

Waist Line Appears

The waist line is again appearing above the hips the effect is being [illegible] mostly by the blousing [illegible] portions of the dress; [illegible] the addition of panels [illegible] is much newer; and [illegible] the use of some sort of [illegible] cut in a boyish fashion [illegible] with a mannish buckle [illegible] are varied in style and [illegible] they are of cut steel, [illegible] a fashionable lady wears painted rounded fastenings [illegible] nally odd shapes are [illegible] however these are, for the [illegible] conspicuous for their sim-

[illegible] attracts into the bonds of [illegible] male subject of His [illegible] means of rouge or powder, [illegible] false teeth, false hair, steel [illegible] and petticoats, high heels [illegible] will be prosecuted for [illegible] the marriage will be declared void, if the accused [illegible]"—Old French statute.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS REACH HOCKEY FINALS

In the preliminary hockey games the Juniors won from the Freshmen 3-0 and the Seniors defeated the Sophomores 4-1.

In volley ball, the Sophomores defeated the Seniors 15-4 and 15-6 while the Freshmen defeated the Juniors 15-6 and 15-12.

Regular Soccer and hiking classes were to have started Wednesday but have been postponed on account of the weather. Preliminary instruction in soccer rules was given in place of the regular out-door practice on Wednesday.

PROTECT YOUR WARDROBE AND YOUR HEALTH

The present rainy stretch of weather will probably greatly increase the number of absences due to colds for the next week or so. Is this necessary? It would seem that people who are considered old enough to be allowed away from home should also know how to keep themselves in good health. We are bound to have a certain amount of inclement weather but we are not bound to have an equal amount of illnesses. If it rains wear clothing in keeping; slickers, and either rubbers or shoes with waterproof soles. With such you are protected while if cloth clothing is worn you are obliged to be in class with damp garments which take the entire morning to dry out. Moreover it is very injurious to good clothes and shoes to get wet. Protect both your wardrobe and your health by proper clothing on rainy days.

STUDENT UNION VOTES $15 TO R. O. T. C. BAND

It was voted to contribute $15 towards the expenses of the band on the Springfield trip, Thanksgiving Day.

Charlotte Brown and Della Martin were elected delegates to the Women's Student Union Convention at Trinity College, Washington, November 11-13.

CLASS IN RURAL LEADERSHIP

Through the kindness of Miss Holbrook, Y. W. C. A. is able to offer a six-lesson course in Rural Leadership. This course is open to all women students of the University and will start November 16, in the inner "Y" room. Anyone who is interested is cordially invited and urged to attend.

FRATERNITY ROW

(By Lynn and Lois Montross; G. H. Doran Company, New York; $ 2.00 net.)

Of course you know the boy who went to the State University and who has made himself so famous that the donor of the new stadium cannot hold a candle to him. The four winds of the air carry the name of Andy Protheroe, King of A. O. G., King of slickers, King of women's hearts.

And yet our scrupulous selves condemn Andy. Andy is a scholastic black sheep, and the Dean looks on him more "with probation than with approbation." Andy dislikes realities. He is sulky when he forsees a break in his Dictatorship. He had no serious purpose when he enrolled in the State University. He has none, now. He is determined not to sit down to the feast of college life and rise empty. There is only one thing to say at the horrified cry of the "highbrows" in the orchestra seats: Andy Protheroe should not be criticized. A pained "Why not?" He is just a boy in his hey day, the insouciance of youth itself. And somewhere, sometime, there was a man who said that youth is always right.

Compliments of

C. A. BARBER & CO.

112 Church Street

THE "DRUGLESS" DRUG STORE

Much has been heard of late about the "drugless" drug stores. It seems that a drug store must be equipped to handle miscellaneous and sundry articles, such as stamps, radio batteries, hair nets, matches, and what not. The druggist must also be a veritable information bureau, who can tell off hand when trains leave, where to find every street, which routes are the best, what the prices of oyls pell are, who is the bantam weight champion in Liberia and other interesting questions.

The CYNIC Office puts in its claim of being the only "drugless" drug store on the campus. Although it was never the intention of the CYNIC Board to go into the drug business, peculiar circumstances have forced it to enter the activity. Every day about twenty or thirty students, alumni and wayfarers wander into the CYNIC Office to secure information of all sorts and a large variety of small articles.

This morning a member of the faculty wanted a piece of string and desired to know if the bell had rung, although it rang as he was entering the room. Matches are staple articles much in demand, and some even presume to ask for free postage stamps and stationery. Today a philatist was caught cutting stamps out of a box in the office. Some students desire to look at some particular college paper and are visibly enraged when told that the particular paper is not on the exchange list; they wonder what is the matter with the exchange editor.

The information which members of the CYNIC are called upon to give daily is both prodigious and varied. One innocent student appeared at 5 o'clock the other evening and asked if the business manager thought that the University store was open. The manager did not know whether the student was fooling until he saw the characteristic green cap of a Freshman. Knowledge of the names and life histories of all members of the faculty and of prominent undergraduates is expected of members of the CYNIC Board. Latest reports on road conditions are inquired about.

Some of the greatest football lines in the country are at their best in the drawing room.—The Tomahawk.

Andy is a symbol. Every campus has Andy Protheroes, although the professors do not know them by any such respectable name. Andy stands for all that is absurd and daring and nonsensical in youth.

The tales are sophisticated ones. Some are credible and others not at all. Here and there, Andy fades from the picture to give place to a football hero or to some other person, equally as important. "That Protheroe" only shines the more brilliantly, when he comes dashing back in his blue-green roadster.

In the foreword, the authors point out that a modern legend is being enacted on Fraternity Row. Learned doctors, who can analyze every phrase of Beowulf, walk along the Row, unaware that there is heraldry in these houses as there was in Astoblat. The authors say that Andy is already a tradition. But what could be more impossible! Lose Andy, who lives for frivolities and color and nonsense, and the lighter, sophisticated side of college life is gone! Andy will never graduate. Always as long as youth goes to college, he will be whizzing down Fraternity Row in his blue-green roadster, jamming on his brakes in front of the A. O. G. House with the usual Protheroe impetuosity. Always there will be an awed Freshman or a new pledge to whisper to someone else: "That is Andy Protheroe!"

TASTEFUL JEWELRY

for the woman of discrimination, is what you will always find at Parish's. We comb the world for latest and best ideas in jewelry, and our precious stones come from the uttermost ends of the earth. Come and see them.

Russel W. Parish
97 CHURCH

FOOTBALL STADIUM FOR INDIANS OF HASKELL

The wars of the younger generation of Indians will be fought in their own stadium. On October 27, 5,000 Indians will gather at Lawrence, Kansas to commence the four days the opening of the stadium at Haskell Institute, a school for Indians at Lawrence, Kansas.

The Haskell stadium cost approximately $[illegible]. It was built purely with Indian money, donations by white men were refused.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the celebration. On the evening of October 28, a huge Indian cast will present Hiawatha in the stadium. Dancing contests will occupy the following evening. On the following day the stadium will be dedicated by a football game between Haskell and Bucknell University.—The New Student.

Tel. 537-W.
Tailoring of all Kinds
CLEANING, PRESSING
T. P. O'HARA
170 BANK STREET

Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says

Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works

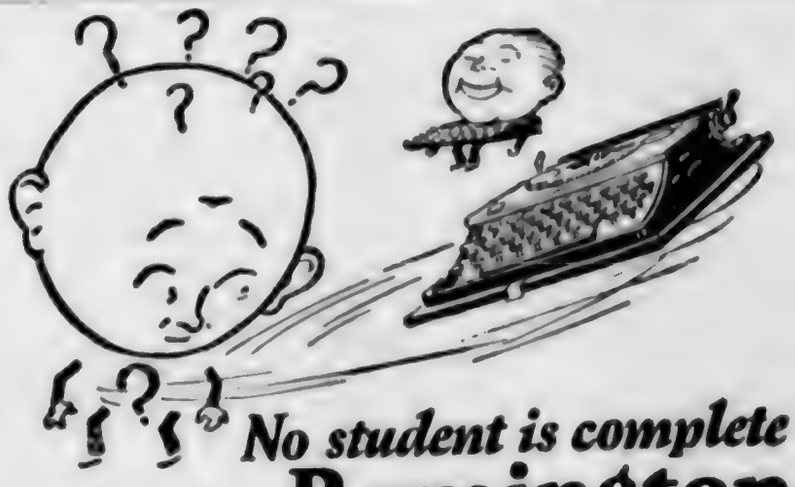
$25.00	$ 1.30	$ 2.00
30.00	1.60	2.40
35.00	1.80	2.80
40.00	2.00	3.20
45.00	2.30	3.60
50.00	2.60	4.00
55.00	2.80	4.40
60.00	3.00	4.80
65.00	3.30	5.20
70.00	3.60	5.60
75.00	3.90	6.00

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS

Turk's

156-158 COLLEGE STREET



Forty-five feet west of the spot where once was located the Catamount Tavern, stands the bronze catamount. It was erected by popular subscription at a cost of $2,000 largely through the efforts of the late H. G. Root and modeled from a living animal in Central Park, New York City.

The Tavern was named from a stuffed Vermont catamount, shot in Bennington, and the largest of its species and stood on the sign board of the Inn facing west and grinning defiance at the State of New York.

This bronze catamount poses as a model for our University Mascot and makes a most interesting subject for stationery, banners and jewelry.

Sold at the

University Stores

No student is complete without a* Remington Portable

THE student who uses a Remington Portable Typewriter will tell you he couldn't get along without it, because it takes the drudgery out of writing up his lectures and preparing his reports and theses. Besides the time it saves, the Portable provides neater work than could possibly be turned out by hand. Profs are human, you know, and they appreciate and reward neat and legible work.

You'll find Remington Portable the handiest, fastest, and simplest to operate of all portables. It is the lightest (6½ pounds, net) and most compact portable (carrying case only 4 inches high) with four-row standard keyboard.

Can be purchased for $10 down and $5 monthly.

The Recognized Leader in Sales and Popularity

W. H. SHERMAN, 104 Church St., Burlington, Vt.

REMINGTON TYPEWRITER CO., Howard National Bank Bldg., Burlington, Vt.
186 College St.

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.

Printing for every student need

ENTER THE MISSING HEADLINE CONTEST . . . SEE OPPOSITE PAGE

"Don't be stubborn, Sir!——"

Solomon was the first wise man who said "Nothing ventured . . . nothing gained."

America was discovered by a man who'd try anything once.

We KNOW that OLD GOLD is a better cigarette.

We KNOW that it is the smoothest and most satisfying cigarette ever parked between a pair of lips.

But the proof is in the smoking.

How can we "make good" our claims if you won't test them fairly with your taste! Here's what a fair tryout of OLD GOLD will prove to you:— That a cigarette can have plenty of punch without any punishment. That it can have all the aroma and fragrance in the world without taxing or tiring your tongue or throat. That you can smoke it morning, noon or night . . . as many as you like . . . with maximum enjoyment and without regret or after-effect. Now we leave it to you, Sir:— Isn't it worth a few cents to make these great discoveries?

PLENTY OF PUNCH · · BUT NO PUNISHMENT

OLD GOLD

THE SMOOTH*EST* CIGARETTE

20 for 15 cents

CAN YOU SUGGEST THE CLEVEREST WORDS TO COMPLETE
THE HEADLINE IN THE ADVERTISEMENT ON OPPOSITE PAGE?

Third $2,000.00 CONTEST

FIRST PRIZE
$1,000.00
for the best suggestion

SECOND PRIZE $500.00
for the next best suggestion

50 PRIZES $10.00
for the 50 next best suggestions

JUDGES

GEORGE McDEVITT . . . . New York Representative Boston Herald-Traveler

MORTON S. RUTSKY . . . . President, Collegiate Special Advertising Agency, Inc.

JULIUS MATHEWS . . . . Representative of 48 New England newspapers

ROBERT W. ORR . . . . Lennen & Mitchell, Inc., Advertising Agency

THIS is the third OLD GOLD headline contest —with another golden pot of $2,000 in prizes. Get on your thinking cap — you may get $1,000 out of that pot!

The Lorillard Company think the advertisement on the opposite page is a dandy for OLD GOLD Cigarettes. But what shall the headline be? A headline makes or unmakes an advertisement.

You are invited to submit your headline idea. The obstinate man in the picture is refusing to try OLD GOLDS. The young lady behind the counter knows that a stubborn man misses a lot of thrills. What is she saying to him, to get him to change his mind?

Your headline must not be over ten words, including the four first words "DON'T BE STUBBORN, SIR!" That gives you a maximum of six words to add.

52 prizes totalling $2,000.00 will be awarded for the 52 headlines which most cleverly get over the point of this advertisement . . . in the opinion of the judges.

CONTEST RULES

(1) Contest opens November 1 and closes November 15th. All replies must be mailed to reach the Lorillard Company by or before midnight of November 15th. Winners will be announced November 29th.

(2) Anyone—of either sex—may compete, excepting employes of the P. Lorillard Company, or their affiliated companies.

(3) Read the text of the advertisement carefully. Get posted on the features of OLD GOLD Cigarettes. Then submit the most appropriate headline starting with the words "DON'T BE STUBBORN, SIR," and using not over ten words all told. The shorter the headline, the better, if it gets over the point.

(4) Originality, clearness, brevity, neatness and legibility will count.

(5) Send your suggestion on the coupon in this advertisement, or a sheet of white paper (written on one side of the sheet only). Sign your full name and address. You may submit as many suggestions as you like, but each suggestion must be on a separate sheet of paper or coupon, separately signed with your full name and address.

(6) In the event that several persons submit the same winning headline, with equal neatness and equal respect for the above conditions, the prize for that headline will be divided equally among them.

(7) The P. Lorillard Company will have the right to use as it pleases any or all headlines suggested, whether they secure a prize or not

ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT, Division 134
P. LORILLARD CO., 119 W. 40th St., New York City

My suggestion for the headline for the OLD GOLD advertisement (Contest No. 3) is as follows:—

"DON'T BE STUBBORN, SIR _____

_____"

NAME . . . . . .

STREET . . . . . .

DATE . . . . . TOWN . . . . . .

The Winners of the FIRST HEADLINE CONTEST will be announced November 15th
(WINNERS of the second contest WILL BE ANNOUNCED November 22nd; the third contest, November 29th)

EUGENICS SURVEY WORK IS UNDER THE DIRECTION OF PROF. H. F. PERKINS

University Is Conducting Investigation of Delinquent Persons and School Children of Vermont

The Eugenics Survey of the University has just brought to a [illegible] conducted [illegible] year 1925-26. It is now [illegible] a survey of a selected [illegible] having the largest number [illegible] Hereditary [illegible]

Outgrowth of Heredity Course

This [illegible] the outgrowth of Professor [illegible] courses in Heredity [illegible] conducted by him. It is [illegible] the auspices of the [illegible] and it is supervised [illegible] Committee of [illegible] one a specialist in [illegible] The survey is financed [illegible] donations from [illegible]

[illegible] the coming year are [illegible] The Survey will [illegible] in the State of [illegible] the existing facilities [illegible] and teaching of the [illegible] it will also contain [illegible] of a list of families [illegible] records of the state [illegible] as the Poor House, [illegible] Minded, and the In- [illegible] Any family heavily [illegible] in these institutions will [illegible] carefully

Work Praised

The work of the Survey is regarded [illegible] as being [illegible] of the greatest importance. The Vermont Conference of Social Work is in [illegible] favor of it. The National Committee for Mental Hygiene in New York [illegible] at the invitation of Governor [illegible] to place a staff of from four [illegible] in Vermont.

[illegible] that in the near future [illegible] practice of registering [illegible] feeble-minded people in the [illegible] be instituted. This is now [illegible] in the most progressive [illegible]

Survey Suggests Remedies

In an interview Professor Perkins [illegible] not all the feeble-minded [illegible] be in institutions but [illegible] them should be in special [illegible] trained teachers. The Survey hopes to bring this about, and [illegible] the fact that the present institutions are inadequate for the people who ought to be in institutions.

The Survey maintains a fully [illegible] at 489 Main Street in the Agricultural Building. It contains a [illegible] material collected in the [illegible] In an investigation [illegible] 2,200 people were included. In one family 476 members [illegible] seven generations are [illegible] in the pedigree chart.

To a Chemistry Book

[illegible] accursed book, I take [illegible] up
With bitter heart I gaze upon your [illegible]
I know full well I know what lies in [illegible]
For me when I have opened to the [illegible]
Where I left off when last I studied [illegible]
With [illegible] mutterings deep and [illegible]
I [illegible] cursed leaflets back and [illegible]
And [illegible] to Hades down [illegible]
[illegible] prompting spirit would [illegible]
[illegible] the fire your curling [illegible]
And [illegible] warm my hands above [illegible]
Then [illegible] your cooling ashes to the [illegible]
With [illegible] I would your implement of [illegible]
How great would be my joy to see [illegible]
Your [illegible] To see your [illegible]
By [illegible] but I must study all the [illegible]
Then turned back from Satan's [illegible]
I [illegible] Myself to study I address

Judge: "Rastus haven't I warned you before about stealing chickens and here you are before me again on the same charge. What have you to say for yourself?"

Rastus: "You all done gave me a mighty little leeway, Judge you know I'm a little hard of hearin."

Judge: "Oh that's all right, you'll get your hearing in the morning."

VARSITY PLAYS LAST HOME GAME TOMORROW

[illegible] the Vermont Catamounts will [illegible] the Rensselaer eleven. Judging from this season's scores, there should be a good battle, the chances of Vermont's winning being favorable. Clarkson, whom Vermont beat 12 to 0, beat Rensselaer 6 to 0. Rensselaer barely held Norwich to a scoreless tie. Rensselaer lost to Springfield 6 to 0. The Green and Gold eleven came through the Norwich game without any serious injuries so that things seem to be in good shape for a victory tomorrow. After tomorrow's game it will be easier to predict the outcome of the Springfield game.

Fraternity Notes

Delta Psi

Delta Psi announces the pledging of Harold A. Greene of South Royalton and Alfred Martin of Brattleboro, both of the class of '30.

Frank Atwood '26, "Lefty" Holway [illegible] and "Satch" Crouter of New York [illegible] were guests over the week-end.

Tau Epsilon Phi

An informal dance was held at the chapter house on Saturday evening, October 30 1926. This dance was in honor of the pledgees who during intermission, entertained with various original offerings.

The gathering was attended by twenty-five couples, under the chaperonage of Professor and Mrs. Benjamin F. Ladd, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rothchild of this city. Music was rendered by Dan Johnson and his Collegians. Visitors from Montreal, Boston and New York chapters were present.

The Wetness

"Poor Vermont's Hearse"

When Norwich boys came to the game
They cried aloud in wild disdain,
"'Tis gross injustice, 'tis not fair
To call us stable boys, beware!"

They brought a car and plied their [illegible]
With words of slander to instill
Their wrath and hatred due to us
Who used a term so infamous.

They called their car "poor Vermont's hearse,"
Parked it on Church Street with its curse
And left it while they strutted off;
It pleased their majesties to scoff.

What naughty boys from off the hill
Saw the doomed chariot of ill,
Took out the thing that made it go
And left it where the tin cans grow?
'Tis known but not published.

Clothes Maketh the Man

There was a man in U. V. M. who took R. O. T. C.
And did he hate it? Oh my Lord, he thought 'twas agony
It also happened, so they say, that this man had a girl
His name I've heard was Archibald; the lady's name was Pearl.
She thought that he was pretty grand; he thought she was the same.
Until, they, went, o fateful day, to see the Norwich game
There's something in a uniform that takes a lady's eye
Pearl fell, alas, for the first Cadet she happened to espy.
When they went to the dance that night the same Cadet was there.
And when he'd danced with Pearl just once, she gave poor Archie the air
Archie reads the "Daily Dribble" so he'd [illegible] grit and pep enough
And when next Monday came, began to [illegible] his stuff
Appeared in his monkey suit, his [illegible] by his side
In spats he [illegible] along the halls; [illegible] looked at him with pride
Took in his buttons and his bars, his [illegible] and spurs and all.
I hear he's going to take her to the Military Ball.

Vermont is noted for its democratic [illegible] symbolized by the cheery greeting of "Hello" on its campus.)

The Freshman Laments

If a body meet a body
And pass a body by,
All the lads they cry to me
"Say! Frosh your hat is high!"

If a body greet a body
And tip a body "hi,"
All the lads they sneer to me
"He's fed you if you try!"

"What's the dope?" 2 "Cocaine"—Campus Humor.

GRIDIRON NEWS

1927 Football Schedule

We hoped that the 1927 Football Schedule would be ready to publish in this issue, but as yet, final arrangements have not been completed. However, the complete revised schedule will appear in the issue of Tuesday, Nov. 9, according to present plans. The reason for the delay in approving the schedule is that unexpected offers of games have been received recently by the Graduate Manager's office.

College Football Games Tomorrow

Harvard vs. Princeton
Yale vs. Maryland
Army vs. Franklin and Marshall
Cornell vs. St. Bonaventure
Columbia vs. William and Mary
Colgate vs. Providence College
Carnegie Tech. vs. New York University
Brown vs. Norwich
Dartmouth vs. Boston University
Navy vs. West Virginia Wesleyan
Pennsylvania vs. Penn State
Syracuse vs. Georgetown
Fordham vs. Holy Cross
Vermont vs. Rensselaer

Another controversy in the college football world has resulted in the temporary suspension of athletic relations between Syracuse and West Point.

Last issue we intended to say something about the Norwich game but our remarks got lost. However it is never too late to repeat that Smith played a great game. He was punting very well under difficulties and then going down under the kick to make tackles himself. He was the mainstay of both offence and defence and but for him the score would have been much worse.

If the coaches who are now in charge of the sport at the three colleges are filling the same positions next year, it was definitely decided to abolish "scouting" among the "Little Three," and also that pre-season practice should be limited to two weeks before the initial game. Williams Record.

Forty-four freshmen were relieved of their clothing and imprisoned in a barn at the annual sophomore-freshman class rush at Western Reserve. They were rescued by the police and other freshmen, who supplied barrels and newspapers to their nude classmates.—Exchange Service.

Corona has the features you want.

You can't get all these advantages in another portable.

Standard keyboard.
12 yards of reversing ribbon.
10-inch carriage.
Margin release on keyboard.
Variable line spacer.
Adjustable paper guide.
Self-spacing carriage return.
100 per cent visibility.
Proved durability.

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

STAR RESTAURANT
CHINESE & AMERICAN FOODS
Regular Dinner 45c
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
From 11 A. M. to 2:30 P. M
A La Carte Service all day
Phone 1613 144 Church St.

NEW YORK LIFE INS. CO.
B. G. LEMIEUX '25

The stag at eve

THIS fellow missed out on a heavy date tonight by the close margin of one phone-call. But don't waste pity on him. He has his jimmy-pipe and a tidy red tin of Prince Albert . . . grand little pals in time of stress.

When that cool, comforting smoke comes curling up the pipe-stem, troubles evanesce with every puff. For P. A. is The National Joy Smoke in fact as well as phrase. Cool as a money-lender. Sweet as a check from home. Fragrant as a pine-grove on a damp morning.

You'll like Prince Albert better than any other tobacco you ever packed into a pipe. You'll like the friendly way it treats your tongue and throat. You'll like the way it helps you over the rough spots. Buy a tidy red tin today and see!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 | BURLINGTON, VT., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1926 | NUMBER 14

R. O. T. C. ISSUE

MILITARY BAND EARNS ENVIABLE NAME DURING FIVE YEARS ON CAMPUS

Organization Took Place in 1922 —Vermont Musicians March At Capital in 1924 Under Lechnyr's Leadership

It sel[dom] happens in college that an organiza[tion] has achieved within four years since its formation a reputation and standing such as the R. O. T. C. Band has acquired. In 1922 Colonel George J. Holden, present Professor of Military Science and Tactics and commandant of U. V. M., realizing the lack of an organization which he knew would contribute much to the welfare and boosting of the University, drew together a group of thirty-five students for a college band. A set of instruments were secured from the government supplemented by those individually owned.

Lechnyr Director of Band

As director, Joseph F. Lechnyr of this city was procured. Mr. Lechnyr is a musician of fine ability and is recognized as the best director in the state. At present he directs the R. O. T. C. Band, the Burlington Military Band, the Burlington Symphony Orchestra, the Cathedral High School Orchestra and choir as well as the Middlebury College Band.

Since 1922 the band has grown from the nucleus of thirty-five pieces until it has had to be limited to sixty pieces. At all inter-collegiate contests and games at the annual Kake Walk, and in all patriotic or civil celebrations the College Band takes a popular and appreciated part. In the spring a concert is given in the gymnasium which is crowded to capacity. Besides these functions the band is especially prominent during Junior Week and the Spring Convocation which includes the "Class Walk."

March in Inaugural Parade

The U. V. M. Band had a great distinction bestowed upon it when it went to Washington in 1925 for the Inauguration celebrations, as representing Vermont in the parade. Each year trips are taken to various towns for concerts, parades and as an inspiration to the football team. This fall trips to Randolph, Vt., Middlebury, Vt. and Springfield, Mass. are scheduled with more planned for in the future.

Every Friday morning when the weather is nice, the band assists in the review of R. O. T. C. Battalion on the back campus. Many of the co-eds are in evidence, even at that early hour, and it is without doubt the band which attracts them. This organization has done tremendous good for the college and receives the hearty support of student body.

The Hawkins Collection of Civil War Books

An interesting collection of Civil War books may be found in the Hawkins Room at the Billings Library. The collection in this room was contributed by General Rush C. Hawkins, and second in size and value of all collections of books on the Rebellion.

The collection contains many biographies of great generals and statesmen of that period. There are several volumes dealing with the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Different campaigns of the war are treated in detail. The records of the Confederate and the Union armies and every regiment on both sides are included in this set. There are also archives dealing with the secret service and spies on both sides.

A program of the play, "Our American Cousin," at which President Lincoln was shot in Ford's Theatre is in the collection. This play was being presented for the first night in Washington at the time of the assassination.

An editorial section from The Daily Citizen, Vicksburg, July 2, 1863, gives an idea of how the people of that besieged confederate city were suffering.

Jefferson Davis' book, "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Nation" is among the volumes. There are also many volumes about every war the United States has participated in.

MILITARY TRAINING AT VERMONT SUBJECT OF FRIDAY'S DEBATE

The question of Friday's senior debate was one which coincides with the present season of the year, when Armistice Day, and the Military Ball put the army in a prominent place in people's minds.

"Resolved that Military Training should be abolished at the University of Vermont" was the topic of discussion. Floyd James, William Lockwood and Albert Johnson upheld the negative, while Lawrence Kimball, Clifton Stafford, and William Lamson dared uphold the affirmative.

The negative won their contention by an almost unanimous vote. Of the six contestants only one is taking military at the present time and he was on the winning side.

The main arguments of the affirmative were that the training developed mechanical obedience which does away thinking, that it develops a militaristic frame of mind in immature minds of men, who are so young as is the present college entrant; and that it was ruinous to anyone's health to have to get up early in the morning for drill after being out late the night before on a date, or attending to some important college activity.

The negative cited the example of Switzerland, which has the largest army for its size of any nation, and yet no nation is less warlike. According to this side the presence of training develops a more democratic spirit by getting together the students at drill which is the only place that so many of them are congregated so often. The last speaker emphasized the value of training to the physical well-being of the student and cited as examples men in the audience who had improved in stature and brawn as a result of their four years in the R. O. T. C.

MAJOR GEORGE PUTNAM VETERAN AND PUBLISHER CONVOCATION SPEAKER

Preacher, Soldier, and Publisher Believes America Should Enter League of Nations—World Wants Peace

Major George Haven Putnam, publisher, who has seen the changes in men with their relations to one another for 83 years, spoke on "England and America," in the second of a series of University lectures in the University gymnasium Friday afternoon.

Major Putnam's life has been full of unusual experiences. He has preached in the Canterbury Cathedral. He fought in the Civil War. He has made addresses in many places. Since the Civil War, with the exception of two years, he has crossed the ocean yearly. His personal friends include the names of many famous men. From his large experience he drew examples and anecdotes to make his address one full of interest, and filled at times with humorous touches.

It is regrettable that there was not a larger crowd of University Students at Friday's convocation. Major Putnam is very well informed concerning the relations of England and America, as his talk on "England and America, Their Past Relations and Present Obligations," proved. He gave a brief history of the early bitterness between England and America which was brought to a climax by the Revolutionary War. He stated that America had borrowed England's law and also that we at first, were dependent on them for our literature.

Major Putnam is a strong believer in America's joining the League of Nations. He said that civilization was advanced only by men having ideals and visions. The League of Nations is one of these visions and America must join it in order to aid in the further advancement of civilization. Today the people want not war, but peace. The purpose of the League of Nations is to see that people get peace. In concluding he said that America had always been looked up to by other nations, and that America must not shatter their ideal by refusing to join the League of Nations.

Owing to unforeseen difficulties cuts were not available for this issue of CYNIC as promised.

NO PARADE ARMISTICE DAY

Owing to the abandoning of Armistice Day exercises by the Burlington Post of the American Legion, the University R. O. T. C. will not join in any parade nor will any convocation be held.

The University will observe Armistice Day by a complete suspension of classes.

FIRST SUMMER CAMP IN UNITED STATES HELD HERE IN 1914

All who sign up for the advanced Military Course have six weeks of training between their Junior and Senior to look forward to. For the past few years this training has been done at Camp Devens, Mass., beginning in the middle of June and lasting until the first of August. Camp Devens is an Infantry Camp and only those college units which have this branch of the service go there. Norwich and other colleges which have cavalry units were at Fort Ethan Allen last summer. The artillery units also have a separate camp. Only six New England Colleges, the Universities of Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Boston, and the Connecticut Agricultural College have infantry units. These made up the R. O. T. C. encampment at Devens last summer.

It is a little known fact that the first summer R. O. T. C. training camp for students in the United States was held at the University of Vermont. This took place from July 6 to August 7, 1914. About 150 men were here at that time. The camp was situated east of the Weather Bureau on land belonging to the University Farm. Captain Edwards of the Fifth Infantry was in command. The students paid $22 each to cover their subsistence while in camp. The training consisted of stiff courses in infantry tactics and rifle marksmanship.

The camps of today cover a much wider field, giving in addition to the above instruction in operating the 37 mm. gun, the machine gun, trench mortar, automatic rifle, and in all the other departments which modern warfare has developed. The fact that Devens is a training center for the regular army gives the student officers an opportunity to watch demonstrations of the work which they are studying.

The following table shows the number of Vermont men who have been to camps since 1919:

1919	5	1923	40
1920	16	1924	33
1921	28	1925	25
1922	55	1926	27

LOCAL SCABBARD AND BLADE CHARTER FOURTH ONE GRANTED IN EAST

Society Aims to Develop Efficient Officers and Correct Public Opinion of Army's Place in United States

Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, established a chapter at Vermont on December 10, 1921. The Vermont company is the fourth chapter of the fraternity established in the eastern states, only Cornell, Johns Hopkins and the University of Maine had chapters in the East when Company F Third Regiment as the local company is known was founded.

This organization is composed of members in the Senior Advanced Course of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, chosen, primarily because of their ability in Military Science and secondly, because of their good standing in collegiate activities. The members are elected by the retiring Scabbard and Blade men. Membership is limited to ten men per annum.

Purposes of Society

The purposes of the society as promulgated in the preamble of the Constitution of the National Society of Scabbard and Blade are: Military Science is considered an obligation of citizenship. The society is formed for

(Continued on page 4)

Tomorrow Evening the Gymnasium Will Be Scene of Eighth Military Ball

Opening Formal Event of the Social Season to Be Held Armistice Eve—Dancers Will Pause at Midnight and Sing National Anthem—Admission to Ball Limited to 250 Couples

Scabbard and Blade will present the first formal dance of the season in the form of the eighth annual Military Ball. The event will take place tomorrow night, Armistice Eve, at the University Gymnasium. The hall is being tastefully decorated with national and university colors and banners. Standards of the United States and the Vermont R. O. T. C. Battalion will occupy a place of honor in the east side of the floor.

The Military Ball is one of the most popular events of the social season. Since its inception in 1919, the dance has proved to be one of the best attended terpsichorean affairs. In 1922 admission was limited to 250 couples. This limitation has remained in force ever since. Tickets may be obtained from members of Scabbard and Blade while they last.

Formal dress is in order for the evening but it is expected that members of the R. O. T. C. will wear their uniforms as has been the custom in former years. The cadet officers will have an opportunity to display their new style uniforms, which are different from those used since the establishment of the Vermont R. O. T. C. unit.

The dance will open at 9 o'clock in the evening and will end at one o'clock on Armistice morning. At twelve o'clock there will be a moment's pause to recognize the advent of Armistice Day. The hall will be darkened and the spotlight will be directed on the national and university colors on the east wall while the dancers will sing "The Star Spangled Banner" accompanied by the bugle corps of the U. V. M. battalion.

Music will be furnished by "The Vermonters," a ten piece orchestra, led by Joseph Lechnyr. This orchestra was selected after much deliberation and is considered one of the best in this section of the country.

The occasion will be chaperoned by the entire official staff, including Colonel and Mrs. Holden, Major and Mrs. Stanley, Captain and Mrs. Lammons, Captain and Mrs. Rattan and Lieutenant and Mrs. Fredricks.

Refreshments consisting of coffee, cake and ice cream will be served in the baseball cage at intermission. Miss Winifred Touchout, of the Home Economics Department, will be in charge.

The committee in charge of the dance consists of Charles Blackall, chairman, Larry Averill and William Lockwood. The entire Scabbard and Blade Society has acted as a committee to see that the dance functions properly.

VERMONT ALUMNI WELL REPRESENTED IN ARMY

A study of the latest issue of the Army List and Directory shows that 45 Vermont alumni are serving in the United States Army as officers. Of the number five hold commissions of colonel among them being Lieutenant Colonel Royden E. Beebe; Colonel Albert S. Cummins, Colonel George J. Holden; Colonel Waite Johnson, Lieutenant-Colonel Howard R. Smalley. Vermont is represented in the army by 10 majors, 14 captains, 12 first lieutenants, and only 4 second lieutenants making a total of 45 officers from the University of Vermont.

CALLS FOR VOLUNTEERS DEPLETED ENROLLMENT OF MALES AT VERMONT

The Military Department of the University of Vermont has an honorable record of active service in the various departments of war work. During the War of 1812 the main buildings of the University were used as a barracks for the Vermont contingents of fighters. In 1861 when the call to arms came from President Lincoln so many of the students answered that the University was nearly depleted of its men.

At the time of the comparatively recent Mexican Border trouble one whole company of 100 men was sent to help out and with it an ambulance unit. It was during the spring terms of 1917 that the call came for men to fight for democracy as the phrase had it. By the time Commencement Week arrived there were but few men left. And after the Commencement exercises were over many more enlisted. 44 per cent of the Medical students in the class of 1917 were into active service. The opening of the following year saw the enrollment so small, as far as men were concerned that it was necessary to suspend all intercollegiate activities. Vermont was one of the five colleges to have five men chosen for work in the aviation corps. On September 25 a signal school was established and in all 730 men were enrolled. Later in the first part of 1918 a special Mechanical School was set up which trained 1,034 men in the various branches of the mechanical side of the war work. 868 graduates, undergraduates and faculty members were in active service overseas of this number 67 per cent were commissioned officers.

115 COLLEGES HAVE R. O. T. C. UNITS

A vast network of wearers of the Khaki is spread over the United States. Systematic and methodical military instruction is now given at R. O. T. C. units of one hundred and fifteen colleges, fifty-nine Military Schools alone with sixty-two regularly listed High Schools throughout the country.

While the Federal Government does not maintain military units in the State colleges and universities but at the colleges and universities but at the request and expense, and must receive one hundred scholarships per year the State pays itself almost 60 per cent of support. It is authorized [illegible] subject to [illegible].

Annually there applications for R. O. T. C. units that are submitted to the Federal War Department few of which have been accepted during the past [illegible] due to the increased expense of establishing and maintaining units and providing equipment.

RIFLE TEAM

At a recent meeting of W. A. A. the Old English V, the insignia of the women's rifle team, was awarded to the following members of last year's team: Constance Weaver, Manager; Lois Tompkins, Arlie Wright, Frieda Tracy; Evelyn Anderson and Marian Everest.

THOROUGH INSPECTION UNDERGONE BY UNIT IN SPRING OF YEAR

Every spring United States Army officers come to inspect the University battalion to determine its comparative rating with other colleges throughout the country. Colleges of high rating are mentioned in the "distinguished list" and all members of the unit so rated are entitled to wear blue stars on their uniforms. The University has had this distinction nine different years.

The rating sheet for Senior divisions units Reserve Officers' Training Corps is used by the federal officers in [illegible] their inspection. The sheet is divided into four sections: 1 Support of R. O. T. C. by Institution, 20 points; 2 Support of R. O. T. C. by student body, 30 points; 3 Efficiency of Theoretical Instruction 28 points; 4 Efficiency of Practical Instruction, 22 points.

College Support

Under the first class support of the institution are seven subheads, dealing mainly with the adequacy of facilities for instruction, facilities for the care of arms, clothing, equipment and instruments, facilities for office recitation, assembly and military laboratory rooms, compulsory training, active sup-

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] NEWSPAPER
[illegible] OF VERMONT

[illegible] of the
[illegible] ASSOCIATE

[illegible] every Tues-
[illegible] the college year.
[illegible] Delivered
[illegible] Single copy

[illegible] should be [illegible] Manager 150 Co.
[illegible] correspondence to [illegible] Ave.

Editors

[illegible]-in-Chief
[illegible] News Editor
[illegible] News Editor
[illegible] Women's Editor
[illegible] Sporting Editor
[illegible] Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] Humor Editor
[illegible] Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

[illegible] M Tracy '29
[illegible] G Shedd '29
[illegible] Hanley '27
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] ginia Margie '28

Business Staff

[illegible] Business Mgr
[illegible] Advertising Mgr
[illegible] Assistant Manager
[illegible] Assistant Manager
[illegible] Assistant Manager

[illegible] are heartily
[illegible] communications
[illegible] the writer, whose name
[illegible] be omitted, they should [illegible] Editor-in-Chief. Any [illegible] reported in or tele-
[illegible] p. m. Monday and

In charge of this issue:

[illegible] News Editor
[illegible] Assistant Manager

[illegible] No. 14

[illegible] HAS PREPARED

[illegible] in 1791 the Uni[illegible] has produced a [illegible] who never fail to re[illegible] to arms. Vermont [illegible] fought in the War of 1812, the Mexican War, the War of the Rebellion, the Spanish American War, the World War. The lives of many [illegible] students have been lost [illegible] field of battle and in the serv[illegible] of the country. Vermont is proud of its war record. While not a military institution, it has for many years trained its students in the fundamentals of [illegible] and consequently when the [illegible] hour arrived Vermont [illegible] were ready to perform their duty.

In [illegible] sections of the college world there has arisen of late a protest against military training. This sentiment has been shaped to a large extent by certain pacifistic groups. The instruction given in the R. O. T. C. is not [illegible] as characterized by some [illegible] papers. The military department does not [illegible] to inculcate an insatiable desire for war in the students. Military science merely presents the fundamentals of a subject in which all [illegible] should be versed.

[illegible] of security has not been [illegible] proved to be a thing of the past.

R. A. L.

A Challenge

In order to create interest in the [illegible] sport this season, the Vermont [illegible] Board challenge one [illegible] of the fraternities [illegible] to shoulder amateur [illegible] in the better position to take [illegible] in the gymnasium [illegible] and shooting season opens, each [illegible] their own ammunition [illegible] the match to be con[illegible] on the same standard as the N R A [illegible] using command targets, long [illegible] with the government [illegible] Any number of men may [illegible] and the highest scores on [illegible] will decide the match. It is [illegible] that the range will be open [illegible] before the match, to be fired [illegible]

THE VERMONT RIFLE CLUB,
L. C. WHITMAN, Pres.

FRATERNITIES MEET WITH ELIGIBILITY DEPT.

A meeting of the Eligibility Department with representatives from all the [illegible] and town [illegible] Aldinger and [illegible] Hatter was held last Friday night at the Kappa Sigma House. Attendance and scholastic standing was the subject discussed.

Medical Unit Established Here in Fall of 1922—Only 20 in Country

The College of Medicine has long been ranked as a "Grade A" medical [illegible] Further recognition of the excellent facilities of the college was given by the War Department of the United States when it granted an R O T C medical unit to the University. President Bailey applied for permission to form a medical branch in February, 1922. By March 20, 1922, the late Dean H. C. Tinkham received word from the Surgeon-General that [illegible] for the establishment of the desired medical unit had gone to the offices of President Harding. The following day March 21, Colonel C. J. Holden was notified that the President had accepted the recommendations and that organization of the unit would be completed in the fall of 1922.

Course Fits Into Medical Curricula

In order to secure the medical branch of the R O T. C. it was necessary for 50 students to signify their intention to join. The unit is connected with the Medical College with a medical officer in charge under the direction of Colonel Holden, commandant of the R. O. T. C. Battalion. The work of the medical unit fits into the regular curricula of the College of Medicine. Students who take the premedic course at Vermont take the two years basic course, then upon entering the medical school they may join the unit. All military work done counts toward the degree conferred by the College of Medicine.

The work of the unit requires four years training, with lectures one hour a week during the college year. Summer camp at the end of the Sophomore year is also required. For the past few years, the local unit has been attending camp at the Carlisle Barracks, Carlisle, Pa. Upon completing the work required, a commission of first lieutenant is offered to the graduates.

It is the policy of the War Department to establish the medical units in colleges where there are the best facilities for the work required. Every college is thoroughly investigated before the establishment of a unit is authorized. There are only 20 medical branches of the R. O. T. C. located in colleges throughout the country.

Major Davis, First Medical Officer

Major Arthur O. Davis, United States Medical Corps, was assigned as the first assistant professor in charge of the medical unit here. Major Davis arrived in Burlington on June 6, 1922, after having returned from Coblenz, Germany only two weeks before. After organizing the unit and serving as its head until June, Major Davis was assigned to a post in San Francisco, Calif., and Major Stanley was sent to head the unit. Major Stanley is the present medical officer of the battalion.

THE MILITANT SPIRIT

Those who accuse the R. O. T. C. of developing a militant spirit are often found to be those who have never taken the course given in our colleges, and thus are not qualified to pass opinion.

The fact is that those who take military in college as a rule have less of the militant spirit when they graduate than they did when they entered as freshmen. No one can fully appreciate what war is until he has engaged in one, but a four year course such as is given in the American colleges today gives the young man a well developed idea of it.

He learns that there is something else besides the heroic deeds and adventure which make many men rush to enlist. He does not see the actual bloodshed, but he comes to realize the enormous amount of energy which must be expended before even one shot is fired. The terrific responsibilities that every officer and non-com must bear begin to dawn on him. An error, however small, may sacrifice many lives needlessly. The great expenditure of nervous energy and strain occasioned by war begin to have a meaning for him.

On the other hand, it probably does give the young officers some satisfaction to stand out in front of a company in boots, spurs, and saber, and give orders. The R. O. T. C. students have not, however, been deluded into believing such display is war. They know the sordid thing that it is and will never rush into a war without plentiful cause.

J. B. P.

WHAT THE R. O. T. C. MEANS

Once again as we approach the anniversary of Armistice Day it seems particularly fitting to pause and consider what this day really means. In our busy life, ever full with daily engagements and appointments, we are prone to accept this holiday as a sort of vacation from the menial tasks of every day occurrence. But it should not be thus. In memory of those who so bravely died that we might not suffer the outrages of institutions opposed to liberty, freedom, and democracy, this day was dedicated. In our respect for them we should not lose sight of the lesson they sought to teach and of the example they so courageously set us.

They died that the ideals of a great nation might live. They were called suddenly and with little preparedness. After a few short months of training many of them were sent into actual combat, where they made the supreme sacrifice. Is it too much to suppose that, had they been longer and better trained, fewer would have fallen? And here is the lesson they, though unconscious of it, sought to teach—that a little basic training in the restful days of peace far surpasses the hurried, frantic efforts at a hit-or-miss training in the excited hours opening a war. Shall we blind ourselves to history and continue to stumble along with a laissez-faire attitude toward the future? We may well adopt the motto of that great organization, the Boy Scouts of America—"Be Prepared." Be prepared for that which may come in the future, but which cannot be foreseen. This program of preparedness is now being carried out by the R. O. T. C. units of the land-grant colleges in the United States of America.

There are those who brand this training as militaristic. In fairness to them it might be said that doubtless they have failed to review all the facts in the case. With the standing army the smallest now that it has been for years and with a tendency to check it in every department, it surely is neither just nor true to say that we are a militant nation.

Now a structure with weak underpinning cannot stand under unmitigated stress, for it is no stronger than its component parts. Thus it is with the defense of a state. The Reserve Officers Training Corps forms a framework upon which national defense can be built in time of need. Men so trained in the principles of war can efficiently instruct the great masses of troops hastily gathered together in time of trouble. Herein lies the main purpose of the R O T C. But there are other advantages.

To the student this military training is beneficial in that its inherent nature is disciplinary. The instructors are the best disciplined, best trained, and most efficient officers in the army. Through the study of military history, the functioning of fire arms, public hygiene and sanitation, the organization of the war department, the student gains a knowledge of practical working value, which is an asset even though he may never be called to war. This understanding of the organization of at least part of our government makes for better citizenship and for more intelligent voting. Many college graduates have not become the successes they might have become because they failed to put into practice what they had mastered in theory. Here military training links theory with practice and teaches the practical application of theoretical knowledge. It is said that some men are born to lead, but it is certain that others can learn to lead. The power of leadership thus attained by the student who has learned to handle men, and the self-confidence gained therefrom are of inestimable value in later life. And so when now our thoughts are turned to war and the sacrifices caused [illegible] let us ever be mindful that the purpose of the R O T C training is to be prepared in order that the horrors of the World War may not be repeated.

W. M. L.

Members of the Military Faculty

GEORGE J. HOLDEN, Colonel, U. S. Army, Retired

Colonel Holden has a record of nearly 30 years service in the Regular Army, during which time he has occupied all grades of rank from Second Lieutenant to Colonel.

His military career began at the University as may be seen from his honor list extracted from the 1899 Ariel: "Burlington High School '93; Class Football (1); Manager (2); Class Treasurer (1); Class Athletic Manager (2); Corporal (2); First Sergeant (3); Chairman Banquet Committee (1); Assistant Business Manager CYNIC (3)."

He left the University in 1898 at the time of the war with Spain, and was stationed as second lieutenant at Fort McPherson, Georgia. He returned to his Alma Mater in the fall of 1918 to assume the duties of Professor of Military Science and Tactics, holding the record for continuous service in that position at the present time.

During his service in the Regular Army he has served in nearly every state in the Union and in Cuba, Porto Rico, Mexico, and the Philippine Islands. He went with the late Senator Redfield Proctor to Cuba in 1899 as his Military Aide. He did engineering work in the Philippines when Chief Justice William H. Taft was governor of the Islands. He was a "Distinguished Graduate" from the General Service and Staff College at Fort Leavensworth, Kansas, in 1904, and was a paymaster for four years.

At the entry of the United States into the World War, he was detailed as an instructor at the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. Later at Camp Sherman, Ohio, he organized and trained the Machine Gun Battalions and Ammunition Train of the 83rd Division. Colonel Holden expanded the Machine Gun School at Camp Hancock to meet war conditions.

He has commanded R. O. T. C. summer camps at Camp Funston, Kansas; Camp Devens, Mass.; and at the Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y.

FRANK B. LAMMONS, Captain U. S. Infantry

Since Captain Lammons' appointment as Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University in 1923 he has gained the reputation among the students of being among the strongest backers of activities in the faculty. At all pep gatherings and smokers he is a popular and snappy speaker.

Captain Lammons was born in Texas in 1886. He received his education at a preparatory school and at Baylas University. During the years 1905 to 1911 he served in the Army at various stations in the United States and Philippines. From 1911 he was engaged in Railroad Transportation work from which the War took him in 1917. During the World War he was with the 90th Division in France and later, until 1922 he was with the Army of Occupation in Germany.

In 1923 he was graduated from the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., and was appointed to the University of Vermont where he has been until the present time.

WM. V. RATTAN, Captain U. S. Infantry

Like Captain Lammons, Captain Rattan is a native of Texas. He was educated at Christian University, Texas from which he graduated in 1915. While there he was prominent in football, baseball and track. His interest in athletics has never declined and since his coming to Vermont he has coached the Freshman football team.

Entering the Regular Army in 1917 as a Provisional Second Lieutenant, he served on the Mexican Border with the 40th Division. From 1919 to 1923 he was a member of the U. S. Legation Guard at Tienstein and for six months at Manila, P. I.

Upon returning to the States he attended the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., from which he was sent to Vermont as Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics in 1925.

J. D. FREDERICK, First Lieutenant, U. S. Army

Lieutenant Frederick was born at Springfield, Ill., in 1897. Upon graduation from high school in that city, he was appointed to West Point, for which he prepared at Wernt's Preparatory School, Annapolis, Md. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy in November, 1918. At the conclusion of the war he did post-graduate work there in preparation a study of the battlefields of France, Belgium and Italy.

In 1920 he graduated from the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., and from that time until his appointment to U. V. M. as Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics he served at several stations in United States and the Philippines.

ORAMEL H. STANLEY, Major Medical Corps, U. S. Army

Major Stanley is beginning his first year of service at the University. Be-

(Continued on page 4)

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber [illegible] in the City [illegible]
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class [illegible] No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Did You Ever Try
University Nut Delight
or
Fig Claiser?
VISIT CANDYLAND
101 Church St.
PHONE 3056-W

SHOES FOR THE OCCASION
BOYNTON'S

STATIONERY,
MAGAZINES,
NEWSPAPERS
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

TASTEFUL JEWELRY
for the woman of discrimination is what you will always find at Parish's. We comb the world for latest and best ideas in jewelry, and our precious stones come from the uttermost ends of the earth. Come and see them.
Russel W. Parish
97 CHURCH

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

Campus Jackets
The Latest Thing in Sport Wear
$9.00
Sheepskins and Leather Coats
Hayes & Carney
197 Bank St. Near Main
OPEN EVENINGS

Student's Accounts Solicited
Turk Says
Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready
This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	pay down	pay weekly
$25.00	$ 5.00
30.00
35.00
40.00
45.00
50.00
55.00
60.00
65.00
70.00
75.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURK SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the budget rules
Turk's
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

Co-ed Page

WOMEN HOLD FIELD DAY AT GRASSMOUNT

Co-eds Hold Annual Athletic Gathering—Seniors Win Athletic Cup by Large Margin

After the volley ball game, each class gathered together, and marched over to Grassmount where the 4 bonfires were lighted. The different classes gave several Vermont songs and cheers after which the supper, consisting of frankforts, pickles, coffee and doughnuts, was served. More songs were sung and then the song contest took place. The Seniors were declared the winners, with the Sophomores receiving honorable mention.

All then gathered around the bonfire. The following awards were then announced: 1929 numerals: Beatrice Haskins, Dorothy Cottrell and Esther M. Nelson; 1928, Elizabeth Burke, U. V. M., Lois Burbank, Doris Griffith, Doris Sprague. [illegible] Della Martin and [illegible] White Sweaters, [illegible]mont, Anna Ward and [illegible] After this, the varsity and [illegible] volley ball teams were [illegible]

[illegible] given for Miss Cum[illegible] Blanchard, Miss Laura [illegible] Thorne and Jeannette [illegible] of Rally Day. It was [illegible] the Seniors had won [illegible]0 points. Sophomores [illegible] to Freshmen 7 and Juniors [illegible] class repeated its song, [illegible]osed with "Champlain."

[illegible] hockey team is as follows: [illegible], Witters, Perelman, [illegible] Ward, Cushing, Parker, An[illegible], Goodsell, White. The [illegible] ball team has the following members: Bloomfield, Wood, Klein, Smith, Wheatley, Marsh, Ward. Subs: French and Sulloway.

ANNA WARD WINS CO-ED TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Anna Ward, Senior vs. June Westwood, Freshman played off the tennis finals, Thursday at 2:00 o'clock in the cage. Although the score does not sound exciting (6-1) (6-3), there was good playing on both sides. Anna Ward was strong on service, while June Westwood dealt a nifty backhand. In the first set there were four hard-fought deuce games, and in the last set, two. It was remarkable to note that throughout the tournament each player served but one set of doubles. Considering it is her first year upon the Vermont Campus against Miss Ward's four, June Westwood proved to be a plucky little [illegible] for the title.

Miss Ward played a more uniformly good game than did June Westwood—[illegible] was dashingly good at times, [illegible] entirely "off" at others. The [illegible]'s service was swift but not in [illegible]" Miss Ward, however, in her [illegible] managed to send the ball skidding [illegible] Neither player used much [illegible] on the whole—but could cope [illegible] kind of a ball.

[illegible] was good sportsmanship at [illegible] times in the game; and, when the [illegible] point fell to Anna Ward, June [illegible]stwood, rather out of breath, heartily shook her opponent's hand and exclaimed, "That was a good game!" meaning, that she was glad to have encountered such a good opponent. [illegible] is much future material in Miss [illegible]stwood.

[illegible] Ward, evidently unperturbed [illegible] her hour's exertion, begged Miss [illegible]mmings to allow her to play in the hockey finals, as she is a member of [illegible] team.

This year, the Seniors will have the honor of having their class numerals inscribed upon the Tennis Cup. Hurrah for '27!

MISS TERRILL TALKS ON VERMONT HISTORY

At the regular Student Union meeting on Saturday, Miss Terrill, Dean of the Home Economics department, gave a very interesting talk on traditions of Vermont.

She emphasized the value of our Chapel and told about the first Chapel in the Old Mill where every student in college gathered every day. When this Chapel became too small to hold the entire student body, Seniors and Sophomores went one day and Juniors and Freshmen the next. When the enrollment was increased still further, and no Chapel at all was possible, the first few classes to "escape" regular chapel were very disappointed. Now in contrast, the student body is alarmed for fear that compulsory chapel will go into effect with the completion of our new Chapel.

She also spoke of the attempted combination of Middlebury and Vermont, when it was planned to send all women to Middlebury and all men to Vermont. As we all know, this was never accomplished. She told many interesting and amusing incidents connected with her experiences during the first years in which she was at Vermont. She promised to tell more about them at another meeting.

It was announced that there would be no meeting next week as classes are to be set ahead for the special train to Middlebury. Charles Stevens gave a short talk to encourage co-eds to go to Middlebury on this special train.

SENIORS TAKE HOCKEY GAME BY SINGLE POINT

Thursday afternoon at four on the back campus in a close, clean game of hockey the Juniors went down to defeat at the hands of the Seniors by a 1-0 score.

The first half was scoreless although just a fraction of a second after timekeeper's whistle blew the Seniors knocked the ball through the Juniors' goal.

The single score came in the third quarter off Anna Ward's stick.

The Juniors put up a hard fight to tie or win after this but were powerless and the game ended without their seriously threatening the '27 goal.

SOPHS. THRASH FROSH IN SUCCESSIVE GAMES

The decisive game between the sophomores and the freshmen was played off Thursday afternoon. During the first game it was soon evident that the sophomores were the prospective winners. The freshmen were noticeably nervous and at first the sophomores were clearly a bit on edge. Misses Smith, Everest and Klein played beautifully for the sophomores, while the Misses Blumfield and Brown did as well for the freshmen. The first game ended with the enlightening score of 15-7.

Immediately upon the start of the second game, the mighty sophomores got into their stride and the "frosh" were unable to return the balls. Great teamwork showed as the sophomores slowly but surely put the freshmen down to defeat. There were flashes of brilliant volleying on both sides, but the score steadily mounted in favor of the second-year class, and ended with tally of 15-8.

W. A. A. NOTES

In case of rain, soccer classes will be held in the cage during the next three weeks. Hiking classes will be held also, but if anyone has a rider she should go to the office and make arrangements to go hiking at some other time. Anyone who wishes to may continue horseback riding or tennis until indoor gym begins on November 29th

DRAMATIC CLUB

Dramatic Club held a meeting at the Theta house Friday evening.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under Free Press Building

STAR RESTAURANT
CHINESE & AMERICAN FOODS
Regular Dinner 45c
From 11 A. M. to 2.30 P. M.
A La Carte Service all day
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
Phone 1818 144 Church St.

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

De College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)
Our CIRCULATING LIBRARY maintained for the special benefit of U. V. M. students
LATEST FICTION at 2c a day.

HOWARD'S APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP
Phone 3171 48 Church St.
Students' Trade Appreciated

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 Colchester Ave.
Opp. Engineering Bldg.
Home Cooking Our Specialty
Lunches to Take Out

Gifts in Jewelry
DANCE FAVORS and PROGRAMS
▲ ▲ ▲
F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

Lackawanna Anthracite
The coal that makes Home Happy
Try it
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College St.

The Wind can't be blamed for lingering about a pair of Gotham Gold Stripe Silk Stockings. Such lustre! Such colors! Such wear! Sheers & regular weight, from $1.85. Chiffons from $1.95.
The Old Bee Hive
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
Silk Stockings that Wear

YOU ALL HAVE CONSIDERED THE UNIVERSITY STORES' STOCK OF DRY GOODS A JOKE.
WE ARE NOW GIVING YOU ONE LAST GOOD LAUGH BY OFFERING YOU A MOST RIDICULOUS REDUCTION IN PRICE.
FRIDAY SPECIAL SALE DAY
AT THE
University Stores

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1890

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

TAILORING OF ALL KINDS
Suits to Measure $26 up.
Overcoats $22 up.
O'HARA

FOR SODA AND CANDIES
Go to
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
97½ Church St.
1 FLIGHT UP
Excellent service for Ladies and Gents

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

RENSSELAER BEATEN BY VARSITY IN ONE-SIDED CONTEST (13-0)

Varsity Gets Third Win of Season Saturday—Green and Gold Offense Good

[illegible] its third game of the season [illegible] Field Saturday, defeating Rensselaer 13-0 in a contest [illegible] as the score would indicate. The visitors could do little [illegible] the contest performance of [illegible] was performed in a [illegible] manner before an [illegible] crowd.

The Green and Gold offense looked [illegible] better than its defense as [illegible] Smith was called [illegible] but five times each, time [illegible] beat with sufficient [illegible] his teammates to get [illegible] the receiver in his [illegible]

[illegible] threatening from the opening [illegible] managed to score [illegible] before the close of the opening [illegible] a touch down pass from Con[illegible] to Mace over the goal line [illegible] of the prettiest plays of the after[illegible] attempted drop kick [illegible] Records are seldom re[illegible] when they are shattered, so it [illegible] to state that this is Con[illegible] fourth to score on the point [illegible] in the seven years of football here.

The second period was scoreless, with the rival visitors forcing the [illegible] on the defense and gain[illegible] consistency in mid-field on straight [illegible] In the third session Ver[illegible] fumbled often and scored once. Conway and Estabrook brought the ball to the visitor's marker from which [illegible] worked his way off tackle for a touchdown and later kicked the [illegible]

The final quarter saw new faces in the Vermont lineup. Estabrook got off several pretty runs and Candon had one of his days in his career. The [illegible] remained in good physical condition for next week's fray with Middlebury.

The [illegible]

Vermont	Rensselaer
Smith [illegible] c	c, Watrous
[illegible] l t	r t, Fitzgerald
[illegible] r g	r g, Mariner
[illegible]	c
[illegible]	l g
[illegible]	l t
Morse r e
[illegible] q b	Chandler (Wade, Mathunnee)
Conway [illegible] l h b	q b, Diehl
Candon [illegible] r h b
[illegible]	f b, Anderson (Herrara)
Southden [illegible] f b
[illegible]	r h b, Carson (Caughlin)
Smith, F [illegible] f b	f b, Schiller

Touchdowns—Morse, Conway. Point after touchdown—Conway. Referee—Swafford, Tufts. Linesman—Peach, Middlebury. Umpire—Johnson, Amherst. Time—Four 15 min. periods.

Score
Vermont	6	0	7	0	—13
R P I	0	0	0	0	— 0

Local Scabbard and Blade Charter Fourth One Granted in East

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] relationship between the military departments of the American universities and colleges conferring baccalaureate degrees. The society aims to develop the essentials and qualities of good and efficient officers. Members try to prepare themselves as educated men to take a more active part and have a greater influence in the military affairs in the home communities and to spread intelligent information concerning the military requirements of the country.

Every year the national society holds a convention at which the 66 companies located throughout the country send delegates. Last year the convention was held at Baton Rouge, La. [illegible] of Woodstock was the representative to the meeting last year.

Present Members

The present members of the local company are Captain C H Blackall, First Lieutenant L H Averill, Second Lieutenant C G Simpson, First Sergeant A [illegible] H A Aronson, E. C. [illegible], E J Moodie, O F Parody, G. S. Talbott, H. C. Sherwin, and W. M. Lockwood.

TRY-OUTS FOR COLLEGE PLAY ARE HELD TODAY

A meeting of Wig and Buskin was held Friday, November 5, at 7:30 p m. at the Delta Psi House, the play "Captain Applejack" was chosen to be presented December 16. Try-outs for the eleven roles will be held in Room 3, North College, at 4 p m today and tomorrow, November 9 and 10. A large turnout is desired. New men are encouraged to come out.

CLARKSON TECH FROSH HOLD YEARLINGS TO TIE

Coach Rattan's Yearlings went to Gloversville Saturday and had to be contented with a scoreless tie with the Clarkson Tech Frosh. The game was played in a sea of mud and water. The Vermont Freshmen were at a disadvantage, having no mud cleats or rubber pants as the Clarkson men were using, but outplayed their opponents at the win.

Clarkson never threatened, while on three occasions, Vermont was on their opponents goal line but either bad judgment or the inability to hold onto the water logged ball gave the Clarkson Frosh the ball.

Mitchell and Harwood were Vermont's consistent ground gainers. Mace made several good gains, including the longest run of the day, a dash of 10 yards. Sorois, Harwood, Bloomstrom, Knapp, McNally and Love played great defensive ball.

Vermont '30, Sorois r. e., Soloff r. t., Emmons r. g., McNally c., Perkins l. g., Burstein l. t., Griffith l. e., Dorey q. b., Bernstein l. h. b., DeRose r. h. b., Harwood f. b.

Vermont substitutions.—Love for Soloff, Bloomstrom for Emmons, Knapp for Perkins, Slate for Griffith, Reay for Dorey, Mitchell for Bernstein, Mace for DeRose.

Members of the Military Faculty

(Continued from page 2)

fore his appointment to the University Major Stanley had seen extensive service in various parts of the world. He entered the Army in 1916 and graduated from the Army Medical School. During the World War he was with the 11th Division. Since the war he has served at different stations in China and the Philippine Islands.

Born at Freyburg, Me., in 1887, Major Stanley headed for a medical career. In 1909 he received his A. B. degree from Bowdoin and three years later the degree of M. D. from the Bowdoin College of Medicine.

RAYMOND T. CONNER, Staff Sergeant D. E. M. L.

Sergeant Conner enlisted September [illegible] 1908 and served on the Mexican Border in 1911 and 1913 to 1914. He was on duty at Vera Cruz, Mexico from May 22, 1914 to November 20, 1914. From May 2, 1915 to September 11, 1915 he was in the Panama Canal Zone. His service with the American Expeditionary Forces lasted from October 16, 1917 to June 30, 1920. On August 27, 1920 he reported for duty at the University, where he has been ever since. All his service prior to coming here was in the cavalry.

OSCAR G. BECKERT, Sergeant D. E. M. L.

Sergeant Beckert enlisted on June 29, 1904, and served in the Philippine Islands from 1905 to 1908 and from 1910 to 1912. He was on the border in 1913. In 1917 he was commissioned captain and served in this capacity with the 79th Division until 1918. From 1918 to 1919 he was on the Mexican border with the Eighth Cavalry. He was stationed at Fort Ethan Allen with the 7th Field Artillery during 1923. On September 1, 1923 he came to the University.

Thorough Inspection Undergone By Unit in Spring of Year

(Continued from page 1)

port of faculty; clerical assistance, and academic credits, if any are allowed.

Student Support

Support by the students is rated on the following points: percentage of Sophomores who enroll for advanced military; students enrolling in advanced courses, who receive commissions; one twentieth point is allowed for every graduate, who during the previous calendar year, accepted a commission in the O. R. C.; one one-hundredth point is allowed for each student who at the time of inspection is enrolled in the advanced course.

Efficiency

Efficiency of theoretical instruction is determined by the teaching methods, organization of instruction and test of students in subject matter of respective years of course in which they are enrolled. The test is rated as follows: First year, value 3; second year, value 5; first year advanced, 8; second year advanced, 10.

Inspectors find the efficiency of practical instruction by grading the organization of instruction so as to obtain the maximum use of the personnel and equipment, appearance, discipline, courtesy, formal ceremonies, physical training and general physical condition.

The battalion did not make the distinguished class last spring. According to reliable reports the failure of the University to grant academic credit for work done in the military science course was responsible in part for one of the three times when the battalion has been deprived of their distinctive blue stars.

Vermont Has Military Science in Its Curriculum for Sixty Years

The University of Vermont is one of over half a hundred land-grant colleges and universities to have compulsory military training. Justin S. Morrill, while a member of the National House of Representatives from Vermont, introduced the so-called Land Grant, or Morrill Act, which became a law July 2, 1862. This law contains but a single reference to military education in land grant colleges—that occurring in section four.—"without excluding other scientific and classical studies, and including military science." From this one sentence has sprung the R O T C.

The University of Vermont catalogue for 1866-67 states that, "In accordance with the Act of Congress appropriating state public lands for the encouragement of instruction in branches relating to Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts and in Military Tactics, and with the Act of the Legislature of Vermont incorporating the U. V. M. and State Agricultural College," individual instruction will be provided in Military Tactics, among other courses.

Only Medics Exempted in '67

In the year 1867-68 only the medics escaped compulsory attendance at drill—drill five times a week. The next college year saw the introduction of gymnastic drill. It was believed that a combination of gymnastic exercises and military drill would be more beneficial than either drill alone. The catalogue says concerning gym work that it tends to give an erect carriage and manly bearing and secures them regular, pleasant and healthful exercise. Gymnasium and military still filled five hours a week. After several years the Instructor in Military Tactics seems to have been rated as a professor.

By 1874-75 the drill, which took place during the fall and spring terms, claimed but one or two hours a week. At this time, also, the United States Government loaned the University one hundred stands of Springfield breech-loading muskets. A simple uniform costing about five dollars and consisting of cap, gloves and blouse was worn during drill. Two years later the price of the uniform had risen to fifteen dollars.

Battalion Organized in '82

1882-83 saw the organization of the University Battalion, at that time comprising two companies. Officers were selected for their soldierly qualities and attainments. In general corporals were chosen from the Sophomores, sergeants from the Juniors, and the higher officers from among the Seniors.

At some time between 1902 and 1911 the requirements were so changed that only members of the two lower classes were required to take Military Science. In 1919 the Reserve Officers Training Corps came into existence, and since that time uniforms have been furnished by the government.

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
We are now open on Sundays.
PHONE 2246

FACULTY NOTES

The women of the [illegible] will meet at Grass[illegible] ning at eight o'clock [illegible] Groat will speak.

Mr. Walter Crocker, [illegible] Journalism, was [illegible] from Chittenden [illegible]

The Burlington High [illegible] team played the St. [illegible] Centennial Field last [illegible]

John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED REG U S PAT OFF
$9
Permanent Display
AT
Hayes & Carney
197 BANK ST.
$7
John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED REG U S PAT OFF
Stores in New York, Brooklyn, Newark and Philadelphia. Address for Mail Orders, 191 Hudson St., New York City

H A V E A C A M E L

No other cigarette ever had so many millions of friends

WHEREVER you travel, by sea or by land, in places of work or palaces of pleasure, you find the friends of Camel. And since the art of increasing life's comfort through smoking was discovered, no other cigarette ever made and kept so many friends.

Why does Camel lead the world? Because only the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are bought for Camels. Because Camel is given a blending that, regardless of price, can be found in no other cigarette. Because the world's largest tobacco organization spares neither cost nor effort to make Camel the utmost in cigarettes.

Camel rewards its friends with never-ending peace and satisfaction. Through the day and into the night, it's simply impossible to smoke enough Camels to tire the taste. We invite you to answer, now, the world's most popular smoke invitation—Have a Camel!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

© 1926

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1926 — NUMBER 18

GRID SCHEDULE FOR 1927 IS RELEASED

One of Most Ambitious Programs Laid Out for Varsity in Recent Years

TEAM OF NEXT SEASON GIVES MUCH PROMISE

Followers of Vermont athletics will voice general approval of the Varsity football schedule for 1927. It is a nine game affair and while it is quite as ambitious as any of its immediate predecessors, it is much more in accord with what the Athletic Department has been working for several years now.

Around veterans like Conway, Smith, Winchenbach, and Scutakes together with this season's talented Freshman squad, the Catamount coaches should be able to shape up a team of great potentialities. Unless an unexpected number of ineligibilities occur the best football squad ever turned out at Vermont should be in the field next September.

The Green and Gold will return again next fall to New York City for the opener. This year the Varsity eleven made an excellent impression against the strong Columbia machine, and the game fills the bill in every way for a curtain raiser. Harvard reappears on the schedule after some years absence, with the team returning to Massachusetts on the next Saturday meeting Williams at Williamstown, a game that finds approval among many well-wishers for Vermont.

The big Providence eleven opens the home season at Centennial Field on October 15, in one of the feature contests on the card. Tufts plays in Burlington on the following week-end. The state series opens with Norwich on October 29. Vermont meets another member of the "Little Three"—Amherst on November 5. November 12 will find Middlebury at Centennial Field, and Springfield again appears in the night cap Turkey Day contest at that city. The schedule:

September	24	Columbia There
October	1	Harvard There
October	8	Williams There
October	15	Providence Here
October	22	Tufts Here
October	29	Norwich There
November	5	Amherst There
November	12	Middlebury Here
November	25	Springfield There

ENGINEERS RECEIVE LOAN FUND IN MEMORY OF HORACE E. STEVENS

The University of Vermont announces a new loan fund for the use of students in the College of Engineering. The fund was given in memory of Horace E. Stevens, a graduate of the College of Engineering in the class of 1870, by his surviving relatives.

Mr. Stevens was born in Underhill in 1848, and after graduating from Burlington High School, entered the University of Vermont. He was a member of the Lambda Iota Fraternity. He and Henry H. Douglass were the first two men to receive the degree of Civil Engineer from the University.

After graduation Mr. Stevens went into the railroad game in Minnesota, and was one of the party that made the first survey for the Northern Pacific Railway from Bismark, North Dakota to the Yellowstone Valley. He was at different times employed as a government river and harbor engineer and worked on the Nicaragua Canal route survey. In 1902 he became a member of the Winston Brothers Contracting firm in Minnesota, and served as vice-president of the company until 1920. He died in Saint Paul in 1922.

Loans made from this fund are to be always conditional upon the applicant's established record of good scholarship and character. Such loans must be approved by the dean of the College of Engineering. The rate of interest charged for the loans will be four per cent while the student is in college and for a year thereafter, then six per cent. The principal shall at all times be kept intact and the interest collected shall be credited to the general fund of the University, provided however, that in case of any loss sustained as a result of any loan the principal shall be reimbursed to the fund such loss from the interest

MILITARY BALL STAGED BY SCABBARD AND BLADE A GREAT SOCIAL SUCCESS

Wednesday evening November tenth the Military Ball took place in the gymnasium from nine until one. The floor was filled to capacity and the Vermonters played exceptionally well.

The room was attractively decorated with flags and with bunting. The orchestra was in the center of the floor while at one end was hung a large service flag. A military atmosphere was gained by a promiscuous display of guns and rifles, and a large cider barrel occupied a conspicuous place in the hall.

During intermission refreshments of ice cream, cookies and coffee were served in the armory and in the cage.

At midnight the orchestra played "To The Colors" while the national and state flags were presented, giving a rather impressive ceremony.

The chaperons were Colonel and Mrs. Holden, Major and Mrs. Stanley, Captain and Mrs. Lammons, Captain and Mrs. Rattan and Lieutenant and Mrs. Frederick.

13 OF 19 GAMES WITH MIDD WERE VICTORIES

In the thirty-two years since the first football game between Vermont and Middlebury took place, 19 contests have been played of which the University has decidedly outpointed her opponent, winning 13 games with 290 points to 86 gained by Middlebury. Only twice have any victories been a walk away for Vermont. These were in 1899 and in 1922 when the scores were 49 and 32 to nothing respectively.

Date	Vermont	Middlebury	Place
1894	12	0	Here
1897	14	0	Here
1898	no game
1899	13	0	Here
1899	49	0	Here
1900	21	0	Here
1900	31	0	There
1901	20	0	There
1901	0	12	Here
1902-1904	no games
1905	10	0	There
1905	11	0	Here
1906	11	0	Here
1907-1912	no games
1913	10	7	There
1914	0	0	Here
1915	6	6	There
1916	2	7	Here
1917-1918	no games
1919	14	20	Here
1920	0	6	There
1921	14	7	Here
1922	32	0	There
1923	13	0	Here
1924	0	15	There
1925	7	6	Here
Totals	290	86

Won	13
Tied	2
Lost	4
Total games played	19

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE DEBATE TRY OUTS HELD THIS AFTERNOON AT 4

Class debates promise much interest and competition this year. The class of '27 now holds the Freshman-Sophomore cup for which the next debate will take place on November 16 the second Tuesday before Thanksgiving.

Tryouts will be given this afternoon at four o'clock in Room Three, North College, and equal opportunity will be given every man of the two lower classes who appears regardless of former experience. Those who try out should prepare a short argument on either side of the question: "Resolved, That the United States should cancel its war debts" and be prepared to give it before the judges.

BOULDER TO HOLD DANCE NOVEMBER 19

The Boulder Society met Tuesday evening and discussed the fund which it is proposed to raise for paying tutors for athletes who are down in their studies. No action was taken. It is planned to have a Boulder dance on the evening of November 19.

Jumping at conclusions is about the only mental exercise some folks take.

BOULDER SMOKER IN GYMNASIUM TONIGHT

Tonight at 7 45 in the Gymnasium the Boulder Society will hold a pep rally for the Middlebury game. Martin Vilas, prominent local attorney and Professor Donahue of the Mathematics department are among the speakers on the program. The popular Alumni quartette will render a few selections and the R O T C Band will be on hand. Coach McAvoy, Coach Latty and Captain Rattan will also be heard from.

ELIGIBILITY DEPARTMENT CONSIDERS BEST METHODS OF RAISING SCHOLARSHIP

At the meeting of the eligibility department held last Friday night at the Kappa Sigma House, there was a discussion about the status of the Freshman football men, their scholastic standing, and methods of remedying cases of poor standing. It was the general opinion that most of the responsibility for men low in their subjects should rest on the fraternity. Tutors are being provided in such studies as French, Mathematics, Spanish and Chemistry, as these subjects seem to be causing the most trouble. A number of suggestions made at the meeting will be passed on to the fraternities.

Doctor Aldinger, Captain Rattan, and representatives from nearly all the fraternities were present.

ARRANGEMENT OF SOCIAL CALENDAR IS COMPLETED BY THE FRATERNITIES

College and Fraternity Functions Will not Be Allowed to Clash—Definite Dates Assigned to All Events

A meeting of the representatives from each of the fraternities and sororities was held on Friday evening, November 5, in the Billings Library. The final draft of the social calendar was approved and is to be submitted to the University Council. A new plan has been followed in making out the schedule of dates for social functions. Formerly the dances were run without reference to the number which were being given on one night. Under the new plan, whenever there is a dance in the gymnasium given by one of the campus societies, none of the fraternities will be allowed to have dances on that date. Also, certain dates have been set aside on which all of the fraternity functions must come. The main purpose underlying this is to encourage the authorized worthwhile activities which give dances for the purpose of raising funds to carry on their work.

The dates for the calendar are as follows:

November 10—Military Ball (Scabbard and Blade).
November 12—Cap and Skull.
November 19—Boulder.
December 4—Football Hop.
December 11—Y W. C A Bazaar.
January 8—Gold Key.
January 26—Women's Glee Club.
February 4—Sophomore Hop.
March 19—Basketball Hop.
April 15—Akraia.
April 23—Boulder.
May 7—Glee Club.
May 14—R O T C Band.

Dates which have been allotted to fraternities for their dances are: November 5, 6 and 24; December 3, 17 and 20; January 7 (Owl Dinner Dance) and January 28; February 25; March 26; May 21 (Junior Week Dances).

The sorority dates are November 20, 24 and 27; December 3; March 4, 5 and 12; April 23 and 29; and May 6.

BRIKIATIS ORGANIZES COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

Peter Brikiatis, U. V. M. '29, of Saco, Me., the Christian World Education chairman of the University Y. M. C. A. cabinet, has organized a cosmopolitan club. The membership includes students representing Chinese, Greek, Armenian, South American, Jewish, and American nationalities. The aim of the club is to create international thinking on the campus and to promote an international spirit as much as possible.

Tomorrow at Sabine Field Catamount Faces Panther

Team Enters Fray with Nearly Full Strength—Much Improvement Since Norwich Game Especially in Aerial Department—Promising New Material Shows Up

TODAY LAST CHANCE TO GET TICKETS FOR MIDDLEBURY SPECIAL

Providing enough tickets are sold by the end of today, the special train will leave Union Station for Middlebury tomorrow at 12 30 P M. Classes will begin at 7 30 A. M. and end at 11 30 omitting the usual half hour given over to Student Union, which will give everyone a chance to make the train. The special will return immediately following the contest.

Round trip tickets are being sold by Boulder for two dollars and fifty cents. Reserved seats in the Vermont stands at Sabin Field are on sale for one dollar at the University Store, and will be sold to all who present special train tickets. If the tickets are not obtained here it may not be possible to get seats in the cheering section.

In case the train does not run and if enough signify their intention to go, busses will be chartered by Boulder at a reasonable rate.

BAND GIVES CONCERT IN RANDOLPH

Last night the R. O. T. C. Band took its first trip of the year, to Randolph where it played for a concert under the auspices of the American Legion Post as a part of the Armistice Day celebrations. After the concert an orchestra made up of band members played for a dance. A fair-sized and enthusiastic audience was present.

This is the first of several trips planned, the next being to Middlebury where it will play at the football game.

MEMBER OF AGRICULTURAL STAFF WINS TRIP TO WASHINGTON MEETING

Mr. T. H. Blow, County Agent for Washington County, representing the United States Department of Agriculture and the College of Agriculture of the University of Vermont, has won the trip to the meeting of the American Society for Agronomy, which is to be held in Washington, D. C., November 18-19, 1926. This trip is given to the eight county agents in the United States, who submit the best soil and crop programs to the Soil Improvement Committee of the American Fertilizer Association. Two of these trips are allotted to New England. This is the third time that a Vermont County Agent has won one of these trips. It was first won by F. R. Churchill '17, then County Agent in Addison County. In 1925 it was won by H. W. Soule '20, County Agent in Windsor County.

ETA SIGMA PHI HOLDS REGULAR MEETING AND INITIATES PROF. KIDDER

At a meeting of Eta Sigma Phi held last Tuesday evening Professor George Kidder was initiated as an honorary member.

The Greek comedy "The Frogs" by Aristophanes has been divided into three portions the first of which was presented by members of the society at this meeting, and the other two of which wil be given at succeeding meetings. Gilbert Murray's translation is being used and much merriment is still found in this comedy of ancient Greece.

The only difference between Jack Dempsey and a Freshman pledge is that Dempsey took a beating for about forty minutes and got $700,000 and the pledge takes a beating for eight months and gets a fraternity pin, which he has to pay for.

At Brigham Young University the Freshman women are required to wear green caps identical with those worn by the men and must obey many of the same rules.

He is a good orator who convinces himself.

BLUE AND WHITE BRUSH UP ON DEFENSE

Tomorrow the Catamount goes to Middlebury to meet the Black Panther on Sabine field. Although Vermont was defeated by a field goal at the hands of Norwich, the Cadets had no trouble in putting over two touchdowns against Middlebury. However, too much emphasis should not be placed on comparative scores in regard to the outcome of tomorrow's game for Middlebury has been improving rapidly in the last few weeks and will do her best to turn the tables on Vermont tomorrow.

At the same time Vermont has improved a great deal since the Norwich game as those few, who witnessed the Rensselaer contest, can testify. Although the Vermont line was completely outweighed they had little trouble in stopping the heavier Rensselaer backs. Vermont's aerial game showed some improvement over previous contests and with the constant drill in this department during the past week McAvoy's team should put up a great offensive game against Middlebury.

Vermont Squad in Good Condition

The Vermont squad will enter the game in good condition except for Simpson and Conway who are handicapped by "charley horses," but they will probably be in shape to start tomorrow. Because of injuries Robinson, who played a great game last Saturday, will probably start in place of O'Keefe who, although outweighed in every game, has put up a great fight all season. At the guard positions Kropper and Denning will start, with the possibility of Damon getting a chance as the result of his good showing last Saturday. Winchenbach and Sap Palmer will start at the tackle positions with Simpson and Morse or Leary at the wing positions. In the backfield Conway will call signals and will be on hand with his bag full of tricks. Johnny Candon will fill in one of the halfs and anyone who saw him perform last week knows that he can be depended on to tear up the Blue and White line. Either Scutakes or Thorne will fill in the other half. Smith can be depended on to kick Vermont out of danger should they need to and will be at his regular position at fullback. Last Saturday's game showed Coach McAvoy that he has one of the fastest backs in Vermont history in Esterbrook. He will undoubtedly give anyone a battle for one of the backfield positions next season and he may be used in the clash with Middlebury tomorrow.

Panthers Brush Up on Defense

Reports coming from Middlebury indicate that the Blue and White are brushing up on their defense against Vermont's aerial game. Middlebury's use of the passing attack thus far this season with the exception of the victory over Boston University, which was the outstanding game of the Panthers schedule, has not yet been anything wonderful.

Probable line-ups

Vermont	Middlebury
Simpson, l. e.	l. e., Whittemore
Denning, l. g.	l. g. Davis or Bedell
Palmer, l. t.	l. t., Wiley
Robinson or O'Keefe, c.	c., Furbush
Kropper, r. g.	r. g., Allen or Whitney
Winchenbach, r. t.	r. t., Webber
Morse or Leary, r. e.	r. e., Palmer
Conway, q. b.	q. b., Gollnick
Candon, r. h. b.	r. h. b., Willis
Scutakes or Thorne, l. h. b.	l. h. b. Hinman
Smith, f. b.	f. b., Ransom or Hendryx

SUPPER AT BAPTIST CHURCH FOR STUDENTS

This evening at 6 15 the Baptist Church will serve a banquet in the church parlors for students of the University with some High School people present.

Short talks will be given by the Rev. Oxley and Captain Amos Merchant and music features are prepared. Tickets may be secured at the Y. M. C. A. Office for thirty-five cents and everyone is invited to attend.

The Vermont Cynic

[illegible] NEWSPAPER [illegible] VERMONT

[illegible] Office of the [illegible] STATE [illegible] Union

Published every Tuesday during the college year. $3.00 a year, delivered in the United States. Single copy [illegible]

[illegible] should be addressed to the Manager. [illegible] Box [illegible] Entered at the Postoffice at [illegible] as second class matter. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Act of March 3 [illegible]

Editorial

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] News Editor
[illegible] News Editor
[illegible] Women's Editor
[illegible] Sporting Editor
[illegible] Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] Humor Editor
[illegible] 28 Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

[illegible] 29 Robert M Tracy '28
Frank G Rhedd '28
[illegible] 28 Lois Bagley '27
[illegible] Cook '27
[illegible] 29 Margaret Durick '29
[illegible] 29 Virginia Margie '28

Business Staff

[illegible] Raymond '27 . . . Business Mgr.
[illegible] '27 . . . Advertising Mgr.
[illegible] 28 . . . Assistant Manager
[illegible] 28 Assistant Manager
[illegible] 28 Assistant Manager

[illegible] undergraduates are heartily [illegible] All communications [illegible] by the writer, whose name [illegible] to be connected. They should [illegible] the Editor-in-Chief. Any [illegible] should be handed in at [illegible] before 9 p m. Sunday and [illegible] Tuesday)

In charge of this issue:

[illegible] Marshall . . . . . News Editor
[illegible] H Blanke . . . . . Assistant Manager

Vol. 46 NOVEMBER 13, 1926 No. 15

REAL SPIRIT

Tomorrow Vermont is to face Middlebury at Middlebury. This is not a championship game, but it will determine whether Vermont or Middlebury will be at the bottom of the three Vermont teams. Last year, practically all of the students of Middlebury came up here for the game, and this year, the entire student body went to Northfield. Middlebury was defeated but the cheering lasted until the final whistle. After losing this game, the team settled down and is now centering its efforts towards the Vermont game. They have forgotton about the Cadet game, and are determined to score a win over the Green and Gold. Are we going to let them do it? Every Vermonter should be down at Middlebury for the game next Saturday, to help make the answer negative.

Take, for example the spirit of the students of the University of Southern California. Their big game was with University of California at Berkeley, a distance of about five hundred miles. Nevertheless, over seven thousand students made the trip. A special train was chartered and carried about seven hundred besides the University's 114-piece band. Every automobile, or motor vehicle owned by a student went to the game. They even went by steamship going up the coast of California. We know of one student, a civil engineer of Vermont for two years and who transferred to U. S. C., who took his car, left Thursday night, drove one hundred miles that night, and all day Friday, so as to reach Berkeley by Saturday. Returning, they left early Sunday morning and arrived home for their classes at 9:30 Monday morning, covering a distance of about one thousand miles. Some spirit.

Los Angeles to Berkeley and return [illegible] miles. 7,000 students backed [illegible] team. Burlington to Middlebury and return 70 miles. How many students will make the trip? The enrollment of this University is 1,276. There ought to be at least 1,250 on that special train when it leaves Union Station tomorrow noon.

Northeastern University offers a prize contest for the best college songs to replace those now being used. Lack of appreciation of the songs that were being sung at mass meetings has effected this offer, consisting of two prizes each of 100 dollars, for two representative songs.

Miss: What are you doing?
Mose: After an engineer, by Dutton Company's done for [illegible]

FELLOWSHIPS OFFERED FOR ADVANCED STUDY IN FRENCH UNIVERSITIES

American Students of Ability, Who Are Graduates of Recognized Colleges, Will Be Given Opportunity

A limited number of fellowships for advanced study in France will be awarded for the year 1927-28. Each will carry a stipend of $1,200 and will be tenable for one year, with possibility of renewal for a second year if circumstances are favorable. In general, the followships are offered in the following fields of study: Agriculture, Anthropology, Archaeology and History of Art, Architecture, Astronomy, Biology, Botany, Chemistry, Classical Languages and Literature, Criminology, Economics, Education, English Language and Literature, Geography, Geology, History, Law, Mathematics, Medicine and Surgery, Oriental Languages and Literature, Philosophy, Physics, Political Science and International Law, Psychology, Religion, Romance Languages and Literature, Semitic Languages and Literature, Slavic Languages and Literature, Sociology, Zoology.

At present the followships are open only to men. A candidate

(a) Must be a citizen of the United States or one of the United States' possessions.

(b) Must at the time of making the application be a graduate of a college of recognized standing or of a professional school requiring three years of study for a degree, or if not qualified in either of these ways, must be twenty-four years of age and must have spent five years in work requiring high technical skill.

(c) Must be of good moral character and intellectual ability, and of suitable personal qualities.

(d) Must have a practical ability to use French books, both in general subjects and in his own special field.

In the absence of an absolute rule as to age, preference will in all cases be given to candidates between the ages of twenty and thirty years. Applications must be received at the office of the Executive Secretary not later than January 1, 1927. Full information and application blanks may be obtained from the Executive Secretary, Stephen P. Duggan, Ph. D., Institute of International Education, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Miss Elizabeth Colburn spoke on "Art in the Home" at a meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America Monday evening.

Sunday morning Professor A. H. Robertson addressed the Brotherhood of the First Church on "Bacteriology and its Application."

Miss Colburn has been appointed art chairman of the Vermont Parent Teachers' Association.

Waldo Brigham Buckham, son of James Buckham and grandson of the late President Buckham of the University of Vermont, was married on Saturday, October 30, at Saint Thomas' Church in New York, to Miss Helen J. Day of New York.

The marriage of Lester Edward O'Brien son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. O'Brien of North Willard Street, and Miss Ruth Mary Loveland, daughter of Mrs. Annie Loveland of Providence, has been announced. Mr. O'Brien is a graduate of the University in the class of '23, and a member of Sigma Alpha Chi Fraternity.

Sigma Alpha Chi announces the pledging of Robert L. Stewart of Hardwick and George W. Colby of Greensboro both from the class of 1930.

A pledge dance was held by the Delta Psi Fraternity last Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Dean acted as chaperones. The Algonquins furnished the music.

New members of the Newman Club were given a dance and reception at the rooms of the Catholic Daughters of America last Saturday evening.

Phi Delta Theta held a pledge dance last Saturday evening. Music was furnished by a four-piece orchestra. Professor and Mrs. Carroll and Dr. and Mrs. Pike acted as chaperones.

Alpha Chapter of Phi Chi Medical Fraternity gave a pledge dance in their rooms at the Metropolitan Building last Saturday night.

Examinations are to be eliminated at the [illegible] Union College and are [illegible] time to time what [illegible]

GLEE CLUB REHEARSAL

The Men's Glee Club will hold its first rehearsal next Wednesday, November 16 at 7:30 P. M. at 87 South Prospect Street.

First tenors are still needed and exceptionally good voices in other parts will be considered if the parties report immediately.

College Humor

"Why does my girl close her eyes when she is being kissed?"

"Look in the mirror."—Dartmouth Jack O' Lantern.

Percival: That sure was a dirty dig.

Percy: What's that?

Percival: I showed her a picture of me as a little boy sitting on my father's knee and she said, "My, who is the ventriloquist?"—Carolina Buccaneer.

Frosh: Are they very strict at Cornell?

Soph: Are they? Well, when a man dies during a lecture they prop him up in the seat until the end of the hour.—Cornell Widow.

Smoger: Is your father an admirer of antiques?

Lumber: Is he? Say, you should see the family car, and hear his ideas about how a fellow at college should live.—Notre Dame Juggler.

Judge (to holdup victim): While you were being relieved of your valuables, did you call the police at all?

Victim: Yes, everything I could think of.—N. Y. Medley.

The Wetness

Warning

Take heed, ye striped thomas-cats,
That roam the back-yards o'or,
Oh listen to my warning e'er it be for you too late!
If ever in your search for rats
You pass the Sci Hall door
Turn back, oh turn back quickly, lest you meet a horrid fate!

The maidens there are wondrous wise
And fair as fair can be,
With gentle hands they stroke your fur and make your cat's heart glad,
But ghoulish gleams are in their eyes
They study Zoo, you see,
And in the name of Science they'll conduct you to the lab.

So hearken, cats and kittens all;
Prick up your ears and learn
And in your Rules for Well-Bred Cats incorporate this clause,
"Cats who go near the Science Hall
Do never more return,
But give their whole nine lives up as martyrs for the cause."

(We're worried about that last verse. There seem to be some wonderful opportunities for puns there, like a few snappy remarks about "claws" and the "Cats Catalogue of Etiquette" but we just don't seem to be able to get them out. Can it be that we are getting old?)

Inevitable Fate

I'm just b'gosh a Vermont Frosh
Demure and very shy.
I gaze in awe at Sophomores
As lordly, they stalk by.

With knickerbocks and checkered socks
They set this campus blazing.
I hate their air so debonair
I hate still more their hazing.

CROSS COUNTRY RUN AT MIDDLEBURY

Coach Latty [illegible] mont's prospects [illegible] run to be held at [illegible] row morning. [illegible] doubt that Middlebury will win the meet. According [illegible] Donald of Middlebury should be first though O. T. [illegible] is slated to push [illegible]

The poor condition [illegible] attributed to the [illegible] on the part of the [illegible] didates as a whole [illegible] two of training. [illegible] most of the new members decide cross country running is not the sport for them. At the [illegible] are only five men [illegible] are in the class of [illegible] the team to run [illegible] is to consist of five [illegible] men on the team [illegible] cellent. Those running [illegible] R. T. Albee, S. M. Mackenzie, E. L. Dean Rowe, and O. T. Wood [illegible]

Even in spite of this [illegible] look, one never can tell [illegible] as was the case last year the result of this defeat should be wiped out in the football game on the afternoon [illegible]

Frozen milk in Luge blocks is being shipped from Seattle to China and the Straits Settlements. The milk is said to be fresh when thawed out upon arrival.

A bunch of saps with Gold Key [illegible]
I shudder when I see one
And yet my fate I can't escape
Someday I'll have to be one.

The moon isn't the only last quarter on this campus.

—but why choose your life-work that way?

YOU'D laugh at a man who couldn't make up his mind which colors to back. But isn't that about the way a good many men start out on their careers?

All through college the most important study a man can select is himself — to find out by self-analysis and experience what is his particular aptitude and what work he should get into after college.

It's a good rule to talk this over with the faculty and with men out in industry to get all the guidance you can in "finding yourself" — because your whole happiness and effectiveness in your career is at stake.

Published for the Communication Industry by

Western Electric Company

Makers of the Nation's Telephones

Number 63 of a Series

Co-ed's Corner

SORORITY NOTES

Pi Beta Phi

[illegible] entertained the province [illegible] Vida Peene this week. [illegible]ening the Sophomore [illegible] fraternity entertained [illegible] given by them in honor [illegible]

Alpha Chi Omega

[illegible] Chapter announces the [illegible]ois E. Fisk '29, Wednes[illegible] 3

[illegible] Raine, Zeta Chapter, [illegible] Conservatory of Music, [illegible] the initiation, Wednes[illegible]

[illegible]ond '22, Marjorie Perrin [illegible] Leighton '23 were pres[illegible]n, Wednesday.

[illegible]r '25 was in town this [illegible]

[illegible]nment of Jeannette Hays [illegible] Strong was announced [illegible] November 3.

Sigma Gamma

Sigma Gamma entertained at a tea [illegible]rsday afternoon in honor of the [illegible]nesses, Mrs. Elijah Swift, Mrs. [illegible] Wallace and Mrs. R. F. Doane. [illegible] Consuelo Northrop poured.

Current Comment

The Theatre

As the Theatre Club has just pro[illegible] "Daily with a Past" and re[illegible]earsals of "Captain Applejack" the [illegible]ege play are about to begin, it [illegible]ems fitting to muse through some of [illegible]e magazine articles about the stage, [illegible]ays and players.

The Theatre Magazine is, on request, [illegible] the desk, where pictures and read[illegible]g matter are both entertaining and [illegible]n some cases instructive. Within its [illegible]vers this month is an amazing ac[illegible]ount of the wealth of the present day [illegible]rtors and actresses. "Exit the Poor [illegible]Actor' is not only true of money and [illegible]tate but in respect to ability.

In the International Book Review [illegible]r October Brander Matthews dis[illegible]usses Dramatic Fashions. This [illegible]rticle is a review of his book entitled "Rip Van Winkle Goes to the Play, and [illegible]ther Essays on Plays and Players." [illegible]ip Van Winkle impersonates "the [illegible]uality of perennial youth which has [illegible]ndeared him to generations of play[illegible]ers." This character Brander Mat[illegible]hews assumes in discussing "the [illegible]reat memories of the past and the [illegible]resh impressions of today." He says [illegible]' Miss Rachel Crothers, Mr. Hatch[illegible]r Hughes, Mr. George Kelly, Mr. Law[illegible]rence Eyre. Mr. Lewis Beach and [illegible]thers have one quality in common: [illegible]heir plays are well written, in clear [illegible]nd clean English, vigorous and un[illegible]retentious uncontaminated by "fine [illegible]writing," falsely so-called. Without [illegible]parading it, they possess "literary [illegible]merit."

Professor Matthews does not think [illegible]hat the actors have today the same [illegible]rand style of yesterday, but have [illegible]gained in simplicity and subtler refine[illegible]ments of characterization. He dwells [illegible]n the rise of the profession of the [illegible]irector, a noble and very responsible [illegible]position whose power is unlimited. [illegible]He notes that in place of the "stars," [illegible]there is the well-balanced cast which [illegible]makes for evenness in production. "Lon[illegible]don has become a theatrical suburb of [illegible]New York." Many of our plays are [illegible]having great success abroad. The last [illegible]paragraph is worth quoting. "Every [illegible]generation has told itself that the [illegible]drama was going to the dogs, yet it [illegible]still lives. Despite every unfavorable [illegible]circumstance, the insistent demand for [illegible]the theatre will find dramatists to [illegible]write and actors to interpret."

Realism in the Theatre

Stark Young in The Yale Review, [illegible]nder the title "Realism in the [illegible]Theatre" has written marvelously of [illegible]all art for every age. It is a thrilling [illegible]bit of comment. Art is a form of life, [illegible]creation implies life; a work of art [illegible]is complete in itself and free of all [illegible]outside itself and yet at the same time [illegible]related to what is outside and [illegible]around it. However, this realism, this [illegible]connection with what is outside and [illegible]around it is not the only way of life in [illegible]the theatre. To prove his point he [illegible]describes Dusé's characterization of [illegible]the peasant woman who had a soul [illegible]full of motherly love, without appear[illegible]ance [illegible]an in looks or gesture, but [illegible]conveyed the emotions, the personal[illegible]ity of a woman merely by means of a [illegible]gesture. How vivid is his quoted [illegible]description of the innumerable paintings [illegible]of the Madonna which says that they [illegible]are not realistic as they neither re[illegible]present a Jewess nor a carpenter's wife. [illegible]He comments unfavorably upon a re[illegible]cent production of the casket scene in [illegible]"The Merchant of Venice." The play[illegible]wright attempted to make of this pag[illegible]eant [illegible]lovely ghosts a scene from [illegible]life, and of the Quality of [illegible]Mercy [illegible]h a sermon. Realism has [illegible]no here.

LITERARY SOCIETY TO MEET NOVEMBER 16

There will be a business meeting Tuesday evening, November 16 at Grassmount at eight o'clock. As it will be a very important meeting, all members are urged to attend

All contributions for membership should be handed to Eleanor Barrel or Eunice Cook by Monday, November 15, so that action may be taken on them at the meeting the following evening.

CO-ED COUNCIL PRESSES ITS HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Armistice Day is here again and with it the memory of the recent war. One of the few good results of the war was the increased knowledge in the medical world, with the discovery of new disinfectants and valuable chemicals. Another was the stimulus given to the betterment of the physical condition of the youth of the country due to the startling statistics shown by the draft board examinations

We admit that these reports concerned only the men of the country. What would have been the result of such an examination of all the women of our country? Would you be proud of your rating? There are, of course, certain physical defects which you yourself are not able to remedy, such as weak eyes and tonsils. But are you having these cared for? But there are on the other hand a great many physical characteristics which are entirely under your control. General efficiency and stamina, posture, muscular development, resistance to disease—all these are to a considerable extent under an individual's own control. Make the most of the start that nature has given you and there will be no cause to worry about the results of any examination.

A Co-ed's Diary

(ANOTHER WEEK OF COLLEGE LIFE.)

A week of disappointments particularly the weather. The Norwich-Vermont game—everyone in their best clothes and then such a down pour; reminded us of "The Quarterback" that is the field and the referees' clothes did. One thing we'll say for Norwich they have fine spirit. The dance that night—with all the boys in uniform, it reminded us some of the war. Monday the Sophomores had class elections—chose pretty good officers too, and the girls practiced for the rally which turned out to be a "never was" as far as Tuesday was concerned. Cheer up even if the rally didn't come off or rather go off the Bluestockings Hal o' ween party did, and all that literary advice was worth listening to. Did you say ghost stories? Oh no! Meanwhile our groom returned to class, he seems real pleased and we don't blame him. More pledging by the fraternities and more wild rumors. The Press Club met and read some weird story, I'll say, and, oh yes we mustn't forget convocation and the accompaniment of door slamming. Everyone is taking a much needed rest—tests are over for a few days, and now all gossip is pointed toward the Military Ball. Men's Frats are entertaining too. Saturday the Sigma Phis had a tea dance with much dance and little tea and then the informals are being numbered off one by one. Professor Carroll is back from an all too short visit and we cast a unanimous vote that all professors follow suit and attend a convention to be held somewhere in the West.

Yale University has appointed Professor Farr as class officer for the Sophomore class. Under this new administration policy, Professor Farr will act as dean of the class of 1929, remaining class officer until they graduate. If the plan is successful, each Sophomore will have its class officer hereafter. Under this plan the University hopes to give more personal attention to the needs and interests of individual students.

"Captain Applejack"

"Captain Applejack," as I recall it, has something of the mystical as well as of the mysterious and brings into play the dreamy and fantastical to heighten the dramatic effect, suspense and the comic. It is a play worth playing in, seeing played and commenting upon after you've seen it played

Otis Skinner in Scribner's gives a very interesting account of his acquaintances during his dazzling career as an actor of the first order The title "Three Madmen of the Theatre" suggests the delightful personal touch with which it is written.

NOMINEES FOR JUNIOR WEEK CHAIRMAN

Sabin C. Abell of St. Albans, M Irwin Gould of Burlington, and Robert M Whitcomb of Essex Junction are candidates for Junior Week chairman nominated by the standing nominating committee of the Junior class at a meeting held Friday afternoon at the Billings Library. A class meeting will be held in the near future to elect the chairman.

DEBATING A FORM OF RECREATION FOR MEN IN ENGLISH COLLEGES

English debating has had an eventful history. The following "outline of debating" by a member of the Cambridge debate team, now touring American colleges, appeared in the Harvard Crimson

Freedom of speech, one of the most cherished rights of democracies too often has only been attained by a dire and bitter struggle. The victory of this cause, however, throughout history has been the signal for a nation to exchange the battlefield or conspiracy den for the debating hall. It is therefore no bare coincidence that organized debating first arose in England's older universities. Oxford and Cambridge, during the decade following the Napoleonic wars, the Declaration of Independence, and the French Revolution had not been forgotten, especially by the younger generation Shelly by means of his poetry was both castigating the Tory administration and evoking the Goddess of Liberty to descend upon his harassed land Byron's example at Missolonghi fired the nation. While the corrupt monarchies bordering upon the Mediterranean Sea spasmodically convulsed Europe by their revolutionary movements. In response to these high hopes and great inspirations, and to assuage the bitterness of defeat and disillusionment, the students of that day took to debating as a noble recreation.

Evading Censure

Public disputation necessarily evoked the censure of authority. The University faculty, at least in Cambridge, proceeded to confine all resolutions strictly to questions of past history, in a furtive endeavor to avoid argument upon public policy or rhetorical diatribes against public men Thus arose the art of performing a modern drama in the midst of an historical setting. Forbidden, for instance, to discuss the vital question of the Reform Bill, involving the issue of democratic versus oligarchic government—the live problems of the day—the debaters would table an academic historical motion, as perhaps the relative merits of the governments of Athens and Sparta, under whose cloak, by carefully veiled phrases and indirect references, many a shrewd hit could be delivered by both. Whig and Tory against the prominent statesmen and causes of the day. A stranger, however, would have been mystified at so much heat and excitement being aroused by a seemingly academic disputation. Thus the English debater was full of the guile, deceit and reckless humor born of illegality, now solely attributed to the Bootlegger.

Lively Recreation

These characteristics have in some measure survived, although any restrictions upon the issues to be discussed have long since been removed Today the debate is still a lively recreation, partaken of in Cambridge on every Tuesday and in Oxford on every Thursday evening during term time The champions saunter down from their college halls after dinner to the Union Society, the name adopted by those original post-Napoleonic debaters for their club. Here they find an audience, varying in numbers from one hundred to six hundred, ready for the fray Those who have to open the discussion finger their notes too often hastily prepared, as they sip their last glass of port before being led into the arena by the immaculate ly attired President

Thus Oxford and Cambridge men for over a hundred years have developed debating as an art which depends upon clear thinking and quick wits sharpened by the criticism of their fellow students. It is important to realize that neither this art nor elocution have ever become a part of the curriculum of these two universities and that the Union Society would resent bitterly the intrusion of the faculty upon their weekly recreation. Even judges are excluded, for the procedure of these debates is based upon the time-honored practice of Parliament the division at the end being taken on the merits of the resolution rather than on the performances of the speakers.—The New Student

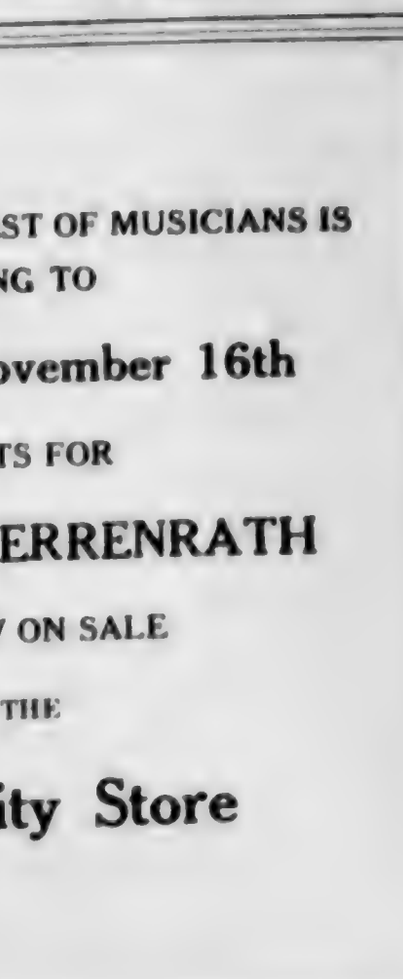
A frozen look doesn't cut any ice

"The Morality of the Undergraduate" written by Wilfred O. Cross, a Senior at the University of Illinois, which caused nation-wide comment last year because of its recital of "mixed pajama" parties, sent up an expiring sputter when the Rev Spoford in one of the college publications issued a fiery "final statement" defending Cross's charges "The morals of young people today are no worse than when I was in college," the Rev Spoford said in part. "I do not see how they could be However, we formerly had a conscience—today this moral standard is breaking down I attribute this largely to the teaching of behaviorism, the new psychology, which has been taken up by undergraduates to a great degree, due to the teaching of a lot of 'smart' professors"

Under the theory that intercollegiate athletics do more harm than good to the students, the University of Dubuque has temporarily at least discontinued them. One of the most definite reasons for this move is the salary paid to coaches, which is said to be far more than the department heads are paid.

UNIVERSITY STATION TO GO ON AIR SHORTLY

The Radio Club has not had the proper support Early in the season a call was sounded for all Freshmen interested in radio, and up to date the call has gone unheeded Station WCAX, however, is progressing rapidly and will be ready to go on the air in the near future Weekly programs will be broadcast from this station as soon as it is completed



CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
97¼ Church St.
1 FLIGHT UP
Excellent service for Ladies and Gents

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

TAILORING OF ALL KINDS
Suits to Measure $26 up.
Overcoats $22 up.
O'HARA

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

U. V. M.

We will paint or imprint FREE any school, fraternity or your own initials on that slicker or raincoat you buy from us.

WORK DONE BY AN EXPERT

PEOPLE'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
29 Church Street

ONE OF THE GREATEST OF MUSICIANS IS COMING TO Burlington November 16th
TICKETS FOR
REINALD WERRENRATH
ARE NOW ON SALE
AT THE
University Store

Christian Association Starts Drive for Funds to Support Heavy Program

The Y. M. C. A. budget has been [illegible] present year. This [illegible] totaled to $500—[illegible] of last [illegible] will soon launch the [illegible] the budget will [illegible] of interest to [illegible] in detail.

Noted Speakers Coming

[illegible] dollars. The [illegible] Norman Thomas who [illegible] early in [illegible] on the League for [illegible] of which he is [illegible] Mr. Thomas will be [illegible] in connection with [illegible] of last year during [illegible] of martial law.

[illegible] Bishop Booth will [illegible] Bishop Booth [illegible] the Harvard Theolog[illegible] He was for a time a [illegible] Later during the [illegible] saw service with the [illegible] American Evacuation [illegible] combat zone in France. He was made Bishop Coadjutor of Vermont on February 17 1925.

March will bring Henry Hallam Tweedy, Professor of Homiletics—which, by the way means 'art of preaching'—at the Yale Divinity School. Professor Tweedy received his B. A. at Yale in 1897 and his M. A. at the same institution in 1909. He was a student at the University of Berlin from 1898-99. He is the author of a number of books and articles including Religion and the War, The Kings Highway Series etc. He is reported to be an excellent leader of forums.

It is possible that Pitt Van Deusen will give a talk on Bible Study and Campus Problems sometime in February or April. Dr. Stimpson will speak on personal religion, at a date as yet undecided.

In connection with the seventy five dollars for speakers there is an allotment of fifty dollars covering advertising for speakers general advertising and pamphlets.

An item of fifty four dollars and ninety cents is due a former secretary. Harry Bone for supplies.

Conferences Held During Year

One hundred dollars is set aside for conferences. A part of the expenses of several delegates to the Northfield conferences winter and spring are paid out of this fund.

Northfield Mass. and Northfield Vt. are not to be confused. Northfield, Vt., is the home of Norwich, the conferences take place at Northfield, Mass. Between three and five hundred students and faculty from the New England and Middle Atlantic colleges assemble there each year to hear such speakers as Henry Emerson Fosdick, H. H. Tweedy and John R. Mott. Addresses, forums and discussion groups work over such questions as: interracial relations, social and industrial problems, campus problems, and international relations. It has been said that no student's college experience or learning is complete until he attends a Northfield Conference.

This year's National Conference is to be held at Milwaukee, December 28-January 1. It is a vast meeting at which representatives from all over the country discuss questions of present interest and importance. All railroads are expected to give delegates reduced rates, and entertainment while at Milwaukee will be free to early comers or at hotels, at reduced rates, for late arrivals. U. V. M. is entitled to seven delegates.

The National Council gets fifty dollars for expenses incurred by the travelling secretaries, overhead, and the official paper, the Intercollegian. Ten dollars of this amount is set aside for foreign work.

The Advisory Board of the U. V. M. gets another fifty to help pay the mail, stenog work and the secretary's salary. Twenty dollars and ten cents is reserved for social affairs and books.

The Student Friendship Fund

One hundred dollars goes to the Student Friendship Fund. What is the Student Friendship Fund? It has been defined as the Treasury Department of the World Friendship Program, a very important part of the movement for a better world. It is under the jurisdiction of the Council of Christian Associations. Each department of this great organization renders its service impartially, without regard for race, creed or political affiliation.

More specifically it is a great, world wide organization aiming to abolish war by the only practical means—international friendship and through the most logical channel the student body of the world—the leaders of the coming years.

And so quite naturally, it sponsors an International Student Service. During the period following the war it was known as the European Student Relief. In those days it aided sufferers among the students and professors, making possible books, equipment, food, clothes and shelter. It did much toward cementing a bond of fellowship and understanding among the students of the western world. It is constantly on the alert to meet student need anywhere in the world. It fosters the development of cooperative activities such as kitchens, employment bureaus, cooperative shops, loan banks, student homes, and hostels in university centers regardless of race, nationality or creed. It has helped to make possible work student exchanges to this country, has created an International Student Trust Fund; has provided the organ of 'Vox Studentium' for the migration of ideas from one student community in the world to another.

It is the International Student Service which organized student conferences to further promote understanding and friendship. Fundamental changes of attitude take place: students whose parents have known nothing but hatred and revenge form strong friendships. Germans and Frenchmen, Turks, Armenians, Greeks, Russians and Lithuanians rub elbows, fellowbeings in a friendly world. The conference of 1927 in Switzerland will study the relationship of American and European students in the question, "Why is the gap widening between us?"

Other Branches of Activity

Other high spots in the year's program are: International Conferences; Relief, Health and Employment Service; Encourage Self-Help and Employment Service; Promote Student Housing Projects; Student Exchange and Scholarships; Student Tours and Pilgrimages; the publication of Vox Studentium and other international forum literature.

To summarize, the Y. M. C. A. budget for 1926-27:

Speakers	$ 75.00
Old Debt	54.00
Office Expenses	50.00
Conferences	100.00
National Committee	50.00
Advisory Board	50.00
Student Friendship Fund	100.00
Socials and Books	21.00
The Budget	$500.00

GERMANY AND AMERICA EXCHANGE FELLOWSHIPS AS TOKEN OF GOOD WILL

Effort Being Made to Acquaint Students With Thought and Customs of Foreign Countries

The American German Student Exchange, Inc. announces that a limited number of fellowships for study in Germany will be awarded to American students for the year 1927-28.

German universities have established these fellowships as an international exchange for similar fellowships established by American colleges for German students. It is hoped that the Fellows will do their part toward developing international friendship and good will by creating a tradition of cooperation and reciprocity between the United States and Germany in the study of the institutions and psychology of the two countries. The fellowships are open to both men and women.

To meet the requirements for eligibility, a candidte must present proof of

(a) American citizenship.
(b) A working knowledge of German.
(c) Ability to carry on work at a German university, which implies at least two years in an American college or university.
(d) Ability to pursue independent study and research.
(e) Good moral character and adaptability.
(f) Good health.

Preference in selection will be given to applicants between the ages of twenty and thirty and particularly to those who are potential leaders in public life. The fellowships are offered in various fields of study, as follows: Political Science, Economics, Agriculture, Natural Sciences, Engineering, Sociology, History, Literature, Psychology, Theology, Education, International Law, Commerce, Journalism, etc.

The fellowships cover tuition, board and lodging during the academic term, and are tenable for one year. Students will be expected to furnish an amount of money sufficient for traveling expenses to and from the German university and for use during periods of vacation.

American Fellows will be required to report at the universities to which they are assigned at the time of official opening (about October 15) and to reside in Germany at least ten months. They may express preferences for certain universities, but these preferences must be supported by adequate reasons for the choice, in order to merit consideration by the Committee. Assignments will be made by the Committee after consideration of the subjects of study chosen by the Fellows.

For application blanks, and full information, address: Carl J. Friedrich, American German Student Exchange, Inc., Institute of International Education, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York. Application blanks, properly filled out and accompanied by all required credentials, must be in the hands of the Exchange by February 15, 1927.

SERVICE FOR STUDENTS AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The Baptist Church (on St. Paul St., between Bank and College Sts.) is having a special service for University students Sunday evening at 7:30. Representatives from the college Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. will take an active part in the service. One of the features will be the singing of the quartette from the girl's Glee Club.

PRESIDENT BAILEY TO SPEAK OVER RADIO

President Guy W. Bailey of the University is one of the speakers scheduled to address radio audiences from Station WEEI of Boston, this winter according to an announcement recently received from the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of that city. Every Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 7:45 a college president or other representative, of a New England college will go on the air from that station. President Bailey is scheduled to speak on February 15. Paul D. Moody of Middlebury and Charles A. Plumley of Norwich are also listed among the speakers.

Other universities, whose heads will speak are: Bowdoin, Connecticut, Trinity, Bates, Worcester Polytechnic, Tufts, Radcliffe, Simmons, New Hampshire, Boston, Clark, Williams, Maine, Amherst, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

This series is expected to satisfy a much felt want for good speakers and will be the most outstanding list of lecturers ever presented to the radio audience.

LOCATION OF MEMORIAL NOT YET DECIDED

The committee of Alumni is still undecided in regard to the memorial to the alumni who fought in the wars of the United States. The greatest reason for the delay of its completion seems to be the indecision of the location. There is a possibility that it may be placed upon the walls of the new chapel, but nothing definite has yet been planned. The form that the memorial wil take rests entirely with the committee which is comprised of Colonel Robert L. Whipple '06, of Worcester; Louis F. Dow '15, Editor of the Burlington Daily News; and Dr. W. A. R. Chapin '14, of Springfield.

One day an Irishman was walking down Market Street in Harrisburg when he paused before a book store. The proprietor had put up some signs advertising his bargains, and one of them read like this: "Dickens' Works Here for Four Dollars All Week."

"The divvle he does," said Pat in deep disgust. "The dirty scab!"

Corduroys

Corduroy Coats with Knickers to match

COATS $10.00
KNICKERS $ 7.00

* * *

Hayes & Carney
197 Bank St. Near Majestic
OPEN EVENINGS

FROSH WIN INTERCLASS CROSS-COUNTRY RUN BY A WIDE MARGIN

The dope, as often happens was that of the advance [illegible] class Cross-Country [illegible] upset on last Friday afternoon when the Frosh team came in [illegible] of the other classes.

The standing, with [illegible] follows: Freshmen [illegible] mores second with [illegible] 39 and Seniors 50. [illegible] calculated from the [illegible] the individual times [illegible] calculated from scratch, the Freshmen's score is 22, Juniors 32, Sophomores 35 and Seniors [illegible].

The advance dope [illegible] Seniors would win with the Juniors a close second!

The best time from scratch was made by L. Davis '30 [illegible] minutes and 32 seconds with O. Wood '28 and S. Martinetti '29 close behind. The winning time is the best that has been made this year and considering the cold weather and wind it is very good time for the course.

The Frosh team consisted of L. Davis, O. Martinetti, G. Edson and J. Eton.

Read—"What it Means to Be a Christian," by Dean E. J. Bosworth. Get it at the "Y" Office.

Corona has the features you want.

You can't get all these advantages in another portable.

Standard keyboard.
12 yards of reversing ribbon.
10-inch carriage.
Margin release on keyboard.
Variable line spacer.
Adjustable paper guide.
Self-spacing carriage return.
100 per cent visibility.
Proved durability.

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

To make the first part of life take care of the last part is the job we humans are up against.

I CAN SHOW YOU ONE WAY

"BERNIE" LEMIEUX '25
New York Life Insurance Co.

KEY AND SERPENT SOCIETY HOLD MEETING

The Key and Serpent Society met last Monday at noon. The question of contributing to the fund for the [illegible] of athletes was discussed but no [illegible] was reached and the matter was turned over to a committee composed of Taylor, Abell and Talcot who will investigate the fund.

The subject of blankets for Varsity men was brought up and after discussion was left with a committee composed of Marvin and Abell.

The Society will hold its next meeting at Sigma Phi Place next Tuesday at 8 P. M.

Freshmen at Vermont have an easy time as compared with Freshmen at some colleges. At Temple University the first year men not only must obey the conventional Freshmen rules as are in force here, but must also obey the following: Wear only white socks, white golf hose, green "four-in-hand" ties, white canvas gloves with green or red tops; they must keep their hands out of their pockets, must be clean shaven, must always carry their handbook, must not wear garters, and must not speak to girls.

If you have an hour to spare don't spend it with someone who hasn't.

CHALLENGE

Much interest has arisen lately by the posting of a notice on the Engineering Bulletin Board, in regard to a football game between the Civils and the Mechanicals and Electrical combined. There is an intense rivalry between these three branches but the Civils now feel that they can take on the combined forces of the other two.

The notice reads as follows:

"The Civils hereby challenge the Mechanicals and Electricals to a football game, to be played on Saturday, November 26, 1926. What do you say?"

Signed
ART SHAW '28.
Manager.
K. W. KYLE '28,
Captain.

A "Y" stag, resembling an old-fashioned hazing, was given the Freshmen at the Colorado Agricultural College. A line of 300 Freshmen started down an electrified chute in search of adventure, and found it in the form of a pool of tar. The dip into the tar appealed to the Sophomores and upperclassmen and the grandstands rocked with mirth. No paddles were used this year.

The man of the hour never wastes a minute.

Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says

Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay per week for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.26
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS
SUITS and TOPCOATS

Where the Budget Plan Originated — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

TOWER'S FISH BRAND COLLEGE COATS

SNAPPY, SERVICEABLE WATERPROOFS

All the go with College men

Varsity Slickers (YELLOW OR OLIVE)

Sport Coats (YELLOW OR OLIVE)

TOWER'S FISH BRAND "The Rainy Day Pal"

A. J. TOWER CO.
BOSTON MASS

625

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 BURLINGTON, VT., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1926 NUMBER 16

"CAPTAIN APPLEJACK" TO BE GIVEN NEXT MONTH; ELEVEN IN THE CAST

College Plays Are Represented In the Selections Made After the Tryouts of Last Week

As a result of the tryouts held on Wednesday and Friday of last week the cast of "Captain Applejack," which is to be given by the dramatic societies in December, has been announced. Understudies have been selected for each part and their names with the names of the first choices in the following list.

The appointments are as follows: Whitney Safford '28; Poppy Muriel Cleveland '28, Catharine Mrs. Agatha Whitcomb-Dorothy Cottrell '29, Eleanor Chap-Ambrose Applejack—Roger Whitney Doane '27; Anna Annette Rosenberg '30, Ann Mrs. Pengurd—Ann Per-Eleanor Taft '28; Horace—Ly-Cotcoran '30, Dean Rowe '27; Bezelsky—Ovid Parody '27, Evo Palmer—Eleanor David-Bennet—Whitney Doane '27, Dean Rowe; Johnny Jason—Herbert Crandall '28, Whitney Safford.

The Misses Cotrell, Perkins, Cleveland and Chapman, as well as Messrs. Parody, Lucchina, Albee and Safford, have all had parts in previous college plays and should therefore be a great help in keeping this production up to the standard set by college plays in the past. The play is to be coached by Mrs. C Ives Taggart who has coached all the major plays put on here for the last few years. The first rehearsal took place Sunday afternoon at the Vermonters' Club House.

A Resume of the Play

The well-to-do Captain Applejack lives on his beautiful summer estate with his aunt and his ward, who do their best to make him comfortable. One evening Captain Appleapck's behavior is very erratic. He does every thing out of tune with his usual habits. When his aunt and his ward express their astonishment at his actions he declares that he has advertised the house for sale, because it is making him old. He wants romance. That same evening he has a woman caller. She claims that she is a Russian countess and has some jewels in her possession. These jewels were given to her by the Russian government as a recompense for her services as a spy. However she wishes to return the jewels to their rightful owner and that is her reason for being in London. She says that she is followed

(Continued on page 4)

HON. JAMES B. WILBUR VERMONT BENEFACTOR PASSES 70TH BIRTHDAY

James B Wilbur of Manchester, Vt devoted supporter of the University of Vermont has just passed his seventieth birthday.

Six years ago Mr. Wilbur presented the University with the statue of Ira Allen which now stands at the head of College Street on the campus and to make room for which the statue of Lafayette was moved to the north end of the campus where it now stands.

Some three years later the student body was greatly pleased with the gift of concrete walks across the campus the same walks and in fact the only cement walks that cross the campus.

The Ira Allen Chapel is a memorial to Mr Wilbur which will remain through the years and ever endear its self to the hearts of Vermont students. The spirit of the man is well exhibited in the grandeur and helpfulness of the new chapel.

Two years ago Mr. Wilbur was made Trustee of the University since which time his guidance in the affairs of the institution has been found very valuable.

He has always been interested along literary lines has published several books and articles, and is now writing a biography of Ira Allen, that man whom he most thoroughly respects.

Mr Wilbur is now bringing to a close a visit of a few days in New York City and will return to his winter home in Sarasota, Florida.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE DEBATERS ARE CHOSEN

Tryouts for the Sophomore and Freshman debating teams were held last Friday afternoon at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel and teams were chosen.

The proposition used was "Resolved, That the United States should cancel war debts owed by war associates," and the same will be used in the final debate. The Freshmen will uphold the affirmative.

The Sophomore team is composed of Peter V. Briklatis, winner of the Kingsley prize speaking contest last year and recent founder of the Cosmopolitan Club—he is a member of Sigma Delta Fraternity; Charles H. Overly, a member of the CYNIC Board and of Sigma Delta Fraternity; and Philip W. Hammond of Burlington.

Men who will contend for the class of '30 are: Lane Cross of Northfield, Franklin Sears of Brattleboro, and Ralph Wilson of Richford.

BOULDER PEP RALLY ADDRESSED BY POPULAR SPEAKERS FRIDAY EVE

Martin S. Vilas, Professor Donahue, and Captain Rattan Among Speakers at Enthusiastic Gathering

Boulder Society held a pep rally in the gymnasium last Friday evening at 7:45 to liven up the latent spirit of the men for the Middlebury game on Saturday. The speakers of the evening were Professor Donahue, Martin Vilas, Coach McAvoy, Coach Latty, Captain Rattan, and "Speed" Denning.

Professor Donahue, an alumnus of the College and head of the Mathematics and Astronomy Departments, in his talk stated that pep is a divine inspiration. "If you have come here tonight without pep there is no use in trying to arouse it now," he said. "Overconfidence is the greatest reason for losing. Beware!"

Martin Vilas, who is a prominent local attorney and a good old product of Vermont's earlier days, spoke on the progress of the student body of Vermont and of the rise in intercollegiate standing of its teams. He put much enthusiasm into the men with his confidence of success.

Coach McAvoy gave a talk in his usual style—short and to the point. He said that the college athletics were fostered by a wholesome college spirit. "We can't look through a veil of hate and be successful," he stated.

Captain Rattan took the stand of one who has played football stating that nothing was more encouraging to a team than packed bleachers and the vocal support of the student body.

Coach Latty spoke very little on the Middlebury game but centered his talk on the track team. "The trouble is not with the men who are out," he said, "but with the students who don't support the team but prefer to lounge around in frat houses playing cards." In his opinion those men were doing neither the fraternities nor the school any good.

Denning was more optimistic than the other speakers, showing a great deal of enthusiasm. "Speed" predicted a wet game Saturday with slickers in vogue.

"Bob" Austin, graduated from Vermont in '24 and a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity, lead a few cheers. He showed all the old style he had as cheerleader in his school days.

Moodie announced that the "Special" would not run, but that he hoped that everyone would find other means of being present at the game.

The band played several peppy selections including the old "Fight Song," and the leaders led many snappy cheers that were given with all the zip that characterizes the Vermont spirit.

The program closed with the rendering of the U. V. M. classic, "Champlain." Cider and doughnuts were served in the baseball cage.

NOVEL MEANS OF REMEMBERING GRADUATES

At the University of Oklahoma photographs of all graduates are being taken to be used in compiling an identification system for future recommendations. Members of the faculty are continually asked for letters of recommendation, and since it is often hard to remember the students by name alone, this means of recalling them has been adopted. Sounds like a good system. Sort of a rogue's gallery, as it were.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE OF LEADING TEAMS IN EAST PROBABLE NEXT YEAR

Next fall will probably see the principal football teams of the East in a football league. This comes as a result of a disruption of the "Big Three." Princeton has severed all athletic relations with Harvard. The reason given was the reception always given the Princeton undergraduate body by the Harvard students. Harvard will probably continue to play Yale as usual. It is expected that Princeton will be invited to join a group that would include Dartmouth, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania. Notre Dame, Army and Navy are also logical contenders. The league will probably be known as an Eastern Conference, and will be run on the same line as the Western Conferences.

MEMBERS OF BAND HAVE EVENTFUL TRIP TO MIDDLEBURY GAME

Last Saturday the sixty-piece R O T C band went to Middlebury by bus to attend the traditional Vermont Middlebury game. It being the thirteenth of the month, there was considerable grumbling among the older men, as they knew the busses of old.

Below Shelburne the last bus, which had been acting queerly all the way, gave out entirely. In less than ten minutes all the members were again on their way, as cars going to the game were plentiful. Meanwhile, the first two busses had stopped, and one of them, leaving its load beside the road, went back to bring on the members on the stranded bus, but found no one. The members who had been on the broken down bus arrived in Middlebury before the rest of the band.

During the halves the Middlebury band, in white caps, blue sweaters and white trousers, marched over in front of the Vermont stand and played "Champlain." The R O T C band, in their uniforms, marched to the Middlebury stands and played "Gamaliel Painter's Cane." Then the Vermont band opened ranks and the smaller Middlebury band, consisting of thirty six pieces, marched into the center. The whole aggregation then played "The Washington Post March," by Sousa. Selections were also rendered during the quarters, and "Champlain" again after the game.

Mr. Lechnyr leads both the Vermont and the Middlebury bands, but for the day he turned them both over to his assistants. The band returned again immediately after the game. Many of the students made the trip by train.

NEWS IN BRIEF

At a recent meeting at the Unitarian Church Mr. Mower debated Judge Macomber on the World Court. Professor Carroll presided.

Friday evening, November 12 Judge Mower spoke before a meeting of the Faculty Club at the home of Professor Burns on the "Carnegie Conference in Europe."

For the past two Sundays Professor Thomas has preached in Jeffersonville.

Mr. Waterman '85 of Denver, Colorado, who was recently nominated for United States Senator from Colorado, was successful at the polls and has been elected.

Raymon D Fobes '25 is now connected with the Associated Springfield Newspapers, in Springfield, Massachusetts. The Springfield Republican is publishing on its editorial page a column entitled the New England College Section. In this column Mr Fobes hopes to publish articles that will boost the University of Vermont. While in College Mr Fobes took a course in journalism and had had experience in journalism before he entered.

Charles Mace '30, president of Freshman class and fast back on yearling grid team has been in the Mary Fletcher Hospital being treated for an infected hand which he received playing football several weeks ago.

CROSS-COUNTRY MATCH GOES TO MIDD. 30-25

The Green and Gold cross-country team lost the closest match yet, 25-30, Saturday at Middlebury. The short three-mile course was used as that is the distance for which the Vermont team has been practicing. The upstaters took first, fourth and sixth places but were unable to do better.

Dean Rowe came in first with a time of 15 minutes, 2-4 seconds. Arnold and Whiting of Middlebury tied for second place and divided the points for second and third. O T Wood (V '28) took fourth and Donald Blue and White captain, fifth. S M Martinetti (V '29) came in sixth. Stoughton and Butler (M) following shortly for seventh and eighth places. R H Apsey (V '28) and Ed Rowe (V '29) finished in the last two positions.

The temperature was very low and together with the hard-frozen road made running very difficult.

This year lack of material made things hard for the Vermont team but with the promising men in the freshman class this year the race next fall should be a different story.

POST TEAM DEFEATED BY YEARLINGS IN LAST GAME OF THE SEASON

DeRose, Mitchell, Bernstein and Harwood Go Over For Touchdowns. Tatro of Post Gets 70 Yard Run

In what was probably their last game of the season, the Yearling Foot ball Team won over the soldiers from Fort Ethan Allen, last Saturday by the score 34-0. The Post Team made only two first downs, and those came against the third team late in the game. The soldiers appeared to have a fair defense but no offense whatsoever. The first quarter was scoreless, although the Frosh would time and again take the ball down the field only to lose it on downs. The feature of this period was a 70-yd run by Tatro of the Post, who intercepted a pass. He was brought down by DeRose on the 14-yd line. After an exchange of punts the Frosh finally got under way and plowed their way up the field to the one yard line, when the quarter ended.

On the first play of the second period DeRose went over the line and Slate kicked goal. Score Frosh 7-0. Another tally followed immediately Mitchell scoring after a 70-yd run. Then substitutes began coming into the game and before the half was up the Frosh had scored again, Bernstein going over the line and Mitchell kicking the extra point. Score, first half Frosh 20, Fort E. A. 0.

In each of the remaining periods Harwood scored. The first in the third period on a line buck and the last on intercepting a pass and raced 45 yds for a touchdown. Mitchell kicked goal after both of these scores.

In next Friday's issue of the CYNIC there will appear a summary of the Yearlings season.

Summary of Thursday's game:
Touchdowns, Harwood 2, Mitchell, DeRose, Bernstein.
Points after touchdown, Mitchell 3, Slate 1.
Referee, Carney.
Umpire, Mangan.
Linesman, Clark.

FENCING PRACTICE TO START WEEK AFTER THANKSGIVING

The next week after Thanksgiving fencing, which was started last spring will be resumed under the direction of Lieutenant Allison of Fort Ethan Allen, who had charge of this sport last year. Practice will start soon in the new rooms remodeled for that purpose.

All those interested are requested to hand their names to Dr Aldinger. The number will be limited due to the size of the rooms. Practice will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30 o'clock.

The professor announced that tomorrow he would hold a formal examination, so all the students came with their Tuxedos on.—Penn. State Frosh.

BLACK PANTHER BEATS CATAMOUNT IN UPSET

Vermont Team Rated Better Than Blue and White Loses By Two Touchdowns on Porter Field

Vermont went on its biennial pilgrimage to Middlebury Saturday and returned with the small end of a 13-0 victory. And so strange as it may appear the Green and Gold finds itself securely anchored in third place in the State series until next fall. The victory of the Blue and White was not the least bit freaky. It carried the ball up the field on both occasions by smooth and varied attacks through the line and air.

Vermont got away to a most impressive start and then faded out of the picture entirely until the second half. Line plunging by Hinman, Ransom, and Willis accounted largely for the first touchdown, and Golnick's cleverly engineered passes, including a 27-yard heave to Whittemore, and a 18-yard toss to Hinman, had much to do with the second. During the remainder of the game the Klevenow men resorted mainly to a conservative defense game.

The Green and Gold opened up its best passing exhibition of the second in the last half but inability to mix in some line bucks with its passes cost one touchdown at least. On several occasions after brilliant marches down the field, a fumble or incompleted passes called a halt, when the Middlebury goal line was being seriously threatened.

Smith and Conway for Vermont and Golinick for Middlebury turned in colorful performances. The line-up:

Middlebury		Vermont
Whittemore, l e		r e, Morse
Capt Wiley, l t		r t, Winchenbach
Allen, l g		r g, Kropper
McProud, c		c, Robinson
Davis, r g		l g, Capt. Benning
Furbush, r t		l t, Palmer
Palmer, r e		l e, Simpson
Golinick, q b		q b, Conway
Hinman, l h b		r h b, Candon
Willis, r h b		l h b, Thorn Bentaken
Ransom, Hendrys, f b		f b, Estabrook

Score: Middlebury 13, Vermont 0. Touchdowns, Golinick, Willis. Points after touchdown, Willis. Referee—Holloran. Umpire, Hwaffield. Linesman, Johnson. Time 15 minute quarters.

GLEE CLUB NEEDS MORE MEN; 15 CHOSEN AT FIRST TRYOUTS

The tryouts for Men's Glee Club held two weeks ago enabled the tentative picking of 15 men, but more are needed. The following men being considered: D M Rockwell '27, 2nd bass, C H Wedell, '27 2nd tenor, O T Wood '28 1st bass, H E Barnes '28, R H Albee '28, 1st bass, H D Crandall '28, 2nd Bass, W W Parker '29 1st bass, G P Wisell '29, 1st bass, A A Piche '29, 2nd tenor, M L Cross '30 2nd bass, H C Dalrymple '30, 2nd tenor, R B Derby '30 2nd tenor, J W Eaton '30, 2nd tenor, H L Goddard '30, 2nd bass, Meyer Lucas '30 1st bass.

Manager Rockwell desires more material. The few who have come for ward display good ability but there are not enough. First tenors are especially needed and any others who can show a reasonable amount of talent.

Now there are more men in this University, also can sing. Middlebury, a college only half the size of this one, has a glee club much larger than Vermont although they have less material to choose from. But they have developed a certain spirit in this particular activity that has not been shown by the men on this campus.

Last year's glee club had excellent team work and developed good tone and quality but it lacked volume. This year's club does not want to be handicapped in this manner. Professor Bennett asks that more men try out for this activity and make it such a success that Vermont can be proud of it.

Tryouts can be arranged with Professor Bennett by appointment.

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

Published every Tuesday and Friday during the college year. Subscription price $3.00 a year, delivered anywhere in the United States. Single copy five cents.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, 136 Buckham Ave. All other correspondence to the Editor at 107 Colchester Ave.

Entered at the postoffice at Burlington, Vt., as mail matter of the second class privileges provided for in the Act of March 3, 1879. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of March 3, 1917, authorized on June 5, 1926.

Editors

Phelps '27 ..... Editor-in-Chief
Marshall '28 ..... News Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... News Editor
[illegible] ..... Women's Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Sporting Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Humor Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

[illegible] '29 ..... Robert M Tracy '29
[illegible] 29 ..... Frank G Rhodd '29
[illegible] '29 ..... Iola Bagley '27
[illegible] '29 ..... Eunice Cook '27
[illegible] 29 ..... Margaret Dorrick '29
[illegible] 29 ..... Virginia Margie '28

Business Staff

[illegible] M Lockwood '27 ..... Business Mgr.
[illegible] H Martin '27 ..... Advertising Mgr.
[illegible] Hooker 28 ..... Assistant Manager
[illegible] P Stevens '28 ..... Assistant Manager
[illegible] Farnsworth '28 ..... Assistant Manager

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor in Chief. Any [illegible] should be handed in or telephoned to 682-J before 9 p. m. Sunday and Wednesday

In charge of this issue:

Herbert P Crandall ..... News Editor
Robert T Holden ..... Assistant Manager

Vol. 46 November 16, 1926 No. 16

BISHOP BOOTH

We are more than fortunate in having a man like Bishop Booth speak to us this coming Thursday. Such men are not often found. All through his years of advance along theological lines he has kept in close touch with student life and with student thought. His relations with his children are responsive, with full confidence on their part and full understanding and good spirited fellowship on his part.

While the Bishop has, necessarily, quite strong opinions and beliefs yet he is in surprisingly fine touch with the college student's point of view. Not only this but he is willing to discuss problems with students on even ground and to try to work out mutually satisfying results. In such discussions Mr. Booth is not the pronouncing preacher he is merely a man talking with you as a man, giving you a chance to express your ideas and receiving the best of his thought.

Nor Bishop Booth's thought is not to be accepted as inconsequential religious propaganda. He is versed in all the subjects that a college man or woman is interested in, be it athletics, science or psychology; nor do we commend religious or pseudo-psychology, but we expect a real knowledge of the various sciences and their tenets.

This week we see the Bishop as we shall see him Thursday evening. He will be talking on a subject perhaps beyond the comprehension of many of us but for all of us there will be a flood of interest and inspiration. We can live at all times that, even while living the idealistic and to some extent impossible things that a man in the pulpit is bound to say. He has a real knowledge and sympathetic understanding of our point of view.

His personality is wonderful. Who knows the clerical robes that a Bishop of the Episcopal Church must wear but student is sure to be at ease with him. His home is frequently the scene of student visitors who are received with a welcome at any hour and who always leave with the expectation of coming again. Thursday night offers an opportunity of meeting Bishop Booth which few thinking students would pass over if they realized its full significance.

FENCING

The announcement that fencing is to start soon after Thanksgiving is but another evidence of the intention of the Physical Education Department to keep as many as possible engaged in some kind of competitive exercise. This follows very closely on the notice that the department will aid in the Outing Club winter sports program. Lieutenant Allison of the Fort who will again have charge of the sport, is fencer of note, having at one time been a member of the American Olympic team. Any man who goes out for this sport will have for a coach one of the best men in his field. It is rare luck to have such an expert in our very neighborhood and as he is a soldier, it is uncertain how long our luck will last. The army has a habit of frequently transferring its personnel. Here is an opportunity to cultivate coordination of mental and physical dexterity, which is seldom offered here. Those who are casting about for some recreation to replace those means of obtaining it which winter has cut off could not do better than select this one to keep them from deteriorating during the cold weather.

ETA SIGMA PHI

It is often the case that small and exclusive organizations are not well known on a campus, and this is true with the case of Eta Sigma Phi at the University of Vermont.

The local chapter, Iota, was only installed within the last year, having evolved from the old Greek club, the Eranos.

Eta Sigma Phi came into existence to meet the need of people interested in the classics, interested in the manners, customs, literary works and daily life of the ancient peoples of the Mediterranean coasts. Greece, as the center of civilization, is the main consideration.

The interests of the society are broad, while keeping within the classical domain.

Other chapters allow advanced Latin students as well as students of Greek to membership and the same policy is now under consideration here though at present only those with high grades in Greek are accepted.

The society grew up in the West and Iota was the first chapter to be installed east of the Mississippi though one more, at the University of Cincinnati, has since been established.

Mr. Bassett has been of the highest value to the society. A chapter at Vermont developed from his idea and through his work, and only through his cooperation has it come to its present state of prosperity and vigor. Since the other chapters were all so far away the installation of "Iota" was intrusted to him, a practice without precedent in the history of the classical organization. Professor Bassett's knowledge of Greek and Greek customs is seemingly unbounded and is of untold help to those preparing programs and to the society in general. His work in translations for plays is also worthy of note, and it was he who wrote the anthem for the local chapter.

The value of such an organization to the University is decidedly great. The study of the classics, though falling off because of its difficulty or other reasons, is recognized as a vital part of any institution or learning, as a basis for all higher intellectual work, as a foundation for esthetics. A society therefore which not only sponsors but which stirs up a true interest in the classics clearly stands as a monument of helpfulness.

Furthermore, it is well in keeping with the spirit of Vermont that one of the first chapters of Eta Sigma Phi should be here. For Vermont stands nearly alone in upholding the traditional honor of the "A B" degree, in keeping the time-old requirement of the classics, and in making that degree really mean the acquirement of a basic knowledge upon which to build a future education.

Oxford University announces that it has added a Belgian hare to the faculty of mathematics. The hare, it is said multiplies more rapidly than do any of the older professors.—Scottie Colonel.

As Others See It

Scouting

The results of Saturday's game show how a good scouting system helps a team. However, is this system to be desired? As Coach McAvoy said about two or three weeks ago it is not conducive to good sportsmanship and takes advantage of one's opponent in such a way that when the time for the game arrives the winning team usually wins in direct proportion to the success of its scouting system. Such was the case last Saturday. Middlebury scouted us in the Norwich game and in the R. P. I. game when many of Midd's Varsity were here to watch Vermont and Golnick, Midd's quarter, had our plays all diagramed and picked out our weak points so that last Saturday they were all set to strike at our weak points, and incidentally they found plenty of them. I do not mean to underestimate Middlebury's true ability as many did before the game, because she certainly put up a good offense, and might have won without scouting. However, I believe the whole principle of scouting is wrong and I think that the athletic authorities at Vermont should immediately take steps to form agreements with Norwich and Middlebury, similar to the one formed with Springfield, to put a stop to scouting. In this way a college will be able to win upon the merits of the team alone and not upon the merits of its scouting system. '27.

Individual Play

Once more will the editors of the various college publications in reviewing the past football season be able to say that in terms of games won and lost Vermont has not had a successful season, but the team has always given a good account of itself although outweighed, handicapped by this or that, minus the services of so and so, and blah, blah, blah, ad infinitum.

After witnessing the spectacle of last Saturday at Middlebury it is not to be wondered at if the spirit of the student body becomes slightly dampened if not drowned altogether. If our football team can't pull together and fight for Vermont how can they expect the student body to back the team to the last man? There was altogether too much crabbing of one another in Saturday's game, especially was this noticeable in the men who had seen previous service on the Varsity. Middlebury pulled together and we know what happened, but our team played the game each for himself or for his particular friend or fraternity brother. On the whole it was about as rotten an exhibition of football as one could desire to witness. It is about time the team woke up and came out of its trance.

After witnessing four successive football seasons with each one a little worse than its predecessor, and then to witness such a climax as this season has enjoyed with Norwich and Middlebury walking over us (imagine that!) it is not to be wondered at if the students begin to think that the only big thing we have in athletics is an overhead expense. Ye Crabbe.

Men on Side Lines

How about these men who have been sitting on the side lines all season with never a chance to play? Isn't it about time that some of them were given a chance to make good. In the R. P. I. game this plan of making substitutions uncovered Ester brook, but how about the rest of the squad who didn't get in? If they do not show the right stuff, go ahead and yank'em, but why not give them a chance at least. It might have been a good idea to put in the second team against Middlebury, they couldn't have done much worse than the Varsity.

Another little question that has troubled the writer for some time is in regard to the lack of trick plays among those used by our team. All we have is line bucks and end runs and a simple aerial game, these don't go over so big with our light team. Why not open up with a bunch of criss-cross plays, triple passes, and fakes of one kind or another. How did Brown win against Dartmouth and how did the Haskell Indians come from behind in the B. C. game? By the aid of plays which bewildered their opponents and kept them guessing all the time. Vermont is not keeping up-to-date in football lore, but it is high time that she got a start along this line if she does not desire to witness again such an awful flop of a season as this last one has been.

"Progressives."

ODDS AND ENDS

As a matter of fact the game Saturday was not played on a [illegible] field as was advertised in our headlines Friday. It was [illegible] let the game be played in Middlebury's sandpile.

—V—

"Friend" Collyer picked Vermont to win over both [illegible] bury which showed that his taste was better than his judgment.

—V—

Some hot dope expert actually picked the right [illegible] day's contests which breaks a record for the season.

—V—

A few days practice with opportunity to correct the [illegible] the Catamounts last week-end ought to make a very [illegible] their effectiveness and even now Springfield is only a [illegible] the McAvoy men. The Green and Gold is not inherently [illegible] smart football players and men who can play hard [illegible] reason to feel blue about the Thanksgiving Day [illegible].

—V—

Conway made some pretty catches of passes from [illegible] if "Jack" had had more time to throw the story might have been [illegible]

—V—

The Catamounts are putting out no alibis but a good [illegible] wondering how we got the wrong end of that 13-0 or at [illegible].

TOO MANY WOMEN AT WESTERN COLLEGES

Women are storming some coeducational institutions, to the dismay of college authorities. Northwestern University has taken steps to defend itself against feminine encroachment. A new law has been passed, according to Dean Raymond A. Kent, providing that there must be 450 men for every 350 women. The action was taken, he said, "in order to increase the professional atmosphere of Northwestern, and to protect the men." Oberlin College has taken steps to attract more men to the campus.

The University of Minnesota need not worry about the necessity for conducting a "More and Better Men" contest for some time, according to the registrar's office. There are about twice as many men at Minnesota as women this year.—The New Student.

CAP AND SKULL DANCE DOES NOT TAKE PLACE

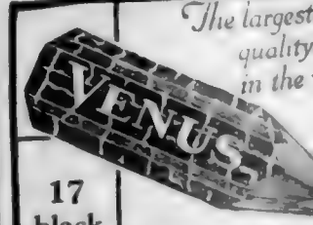
The Cap and Skull Dance which was scheduled for last Saturday did not take place as the Medics were unaware of the fact that this date was reserved for them. They hope to stage a dance at a later date.

If at first you don't succeed, remember that all co-eds aren't the same.—Carnegie Puppet.

"PAJAMA PARTIES LACK REMORSE" SAYS WRI[illegible]

That "Pajama Parties Lack [illegible]morse" is the thesis of Charle[illegible] Wood's article in the November Masses. "The Episcopal Church [illegible] Mr. Wood, "is perturbed [illegible] changed attitude of college [illegible] toward their derelictions. Our [illegible]er generation, it [illegible] been de[illegible] must be provided with a conse[illegible] and steps have been taken to p[illegible] it. It has none today; and wh[illegible] isn't sinning on a larger scale [illegible] previous younger generations [illegible] getting altogether too much fu[illegible] sin." Revelation in an Ep[illegible] church organ of student immo[illegible] on a Red Grange excursion fro[illegible] University of Illinois is credite[illegible] arousing the clergy.—The New Student.

FOR SODA AND CAND[illegible]
Go to
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
95 CHURCH ST.



Russel W. Pari[illegible]
JEWELER & OPTICI[illegible]
Burlington, Vt.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)
Our CIRCULATING LIBRARY is maintained for the special benefit of U. V. M. Students.
LATEST FICTION at 2c a day.

HENRY'S DIN[illegible]
155 BANK STREE[illegible]
You eat well wh[illegible]
you eat at Hen[illegible]
Where they serve the[illegible]
at popular prices

Lackawanna Anthracite
The coal that makes Home Happy
Try it
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College St.

The largest quality in the
17 black degrees
3 copying
Buy a dozen
Superlative in [illegible] the world-fa[illegible]
VENU[illegible] PENC[illegible]
give best servi[illegible] longest wear.
Plain ends[illegible] Rubber ends[illegible]
American Lead Pe[illegible] 220 Fifth Ave[illegible]

Sport Jackets
The Popular Campus Coat at $9.00
Other Sport Coats $7.50 to $15.00
SHEEPSKINS
Hayes & Carney
197 Bank St. Near Majestic
OPEN EVENINGS

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

STAR RESTAURANT
CHINESE & AMERICAN FOODS
Regular Dinner 45c
From 11 A. M. to 2:30 P. M.
A La Carte Service all day
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
Phone 1618 144 Church St.

TAILORING OF ALL KINDS
Suits to Measure $26 up.
Overcoats $22 up.
O'HARA

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington,
Printing for every student need

Co-ed's Corner

Interested in Rural Leadership?

The series of talks that Miss Holbrook was to give on this subject, which have been postponed, will begin Monday, November 16. All those who are interested are asked to come to the Y room at 7:15 in the evening. Anyone else interested is invited to attend every week for a period of six weeks and Miss Holbrook is planning another activity to follow.

A LA ANITA LOOS

(Gentlemen Prefer Blondes. By Anita Loos. New York. Boni and Liveright. $1 75 net.)

I had more laughs in an hour than as Dorothy says Eddie Cantor gets in a year. I mean Gentlemen Prefer Blondes is as comical as anything I ever read and Mr. Bordon who is trying to educate me says I am a bright girl and so he brings me books by Keyling and a Conrad and Jane Austin and George Eliot who is a woman and he brings this book for my lighter moods he says. There is a picture of a blonde on the cover and 12 men gazing contractedly at her and this made me mad because I am a brunette and so I told Mr. Bordon he could keep his old book anyhow. I mean I wanted the square-cut emerald at Cartier's for a present and not always books—books—books!!

Well I became intrigued so I opened the book with malice. There was a Peyton King who wanted to improve this girl's mind, so he says, for her and her girl friend, Dorothy, to run over to Europe and he will pay cash. The blonde called herself I, because she is an egotism but there came along an admirer and he says she should be called Lorelei after a girl who sat on a rock in the river Rein who was a siren.

Anyhow Lorelei and Dot engage Suite on the ship as grand as the Ritz. They arrive in London. Dorothy is very unrefined. She said watch me have a page of English history and waltzed off with the Prince of Wales. Lorelei had quite an affair with Peggy (in other words Sir Francis Beaumont) whose face only his jealous lady could love. Anyhow Lorelei caused him to buy her a diamond tiara and I sang Hail Columbia the Gem of the Ocean when those two Americans pulled off the clever detective stunt.

So then they went to Vienna and to Budapest where Lorelei fell in love with a highbrow Spofford and she educated his mamma to many things. So in the end she marries him and Dorothy was so unrefined she had to think about the Armenians so she wouldn't laugh at the wedding.

The picture in the book made me laugh too. They were like you see in the funny paper but Dot and Lorelei were adventurant and I learned a lot about Europe and this Anita Loos has humor and a keen eye and I learned that London is really nothing and how to get through France with the least work. So I draw the line if people think we are all gold-diggers because that's not true. I opened this book with malice and I guess I closed it with malice and I guess I'll write a book and become an authoress and maybe this book will be my chance to meet with this blonde and maybe I'll call it "Why Gentlemen Marry Brunettes."

Oh! La! La!

(THE CLOTH USED FOR MY LADY'S CLOTHES COLORS ARE DIFFERENT AND BRIGHT.)

More and more it is becoming an art to be able to select the suitable material for the dress to fit a certain occasion. How often does the fashionable woman hesitate before making a decision on this question? The modern girl is of greatest interest to us as we examine the materials represented in her wardrobe. First we note that plain colors are by far more popular than plaids or stripes this year; we discover that the desired effect is gained by the blending of contrasting colors. The favorite classic model is of jersey trimmed with fur. Flannel is being allowed to vie with serge in dark colors and models in straight lined effects with fullness at the waist and sides. For general wear, for dinner or the theatre, crepella is the favorite; while satin crêpe vies with velvet in the afternoon gown and crêpe de chêne and velvet are the only contenders for evening wear.

Colors Are Varied

Though the materials represented are few and far between, the colors are many. Channel red is losing its popularity and we find bright green, purples, and blues coming back. The one noticeable color, or rather shade, this year is black—black alone is distinguished looking while black combined is most graceful and black with pink velvet is absolutely stunning.

Fur Coat Is Long

The fur coat is as usual prevailing but no longer is it short and wrapped tightly, it is now longer, well below the knees and is made to give a bungling and loose hanging appearance. But we notice that the cloth coat has gained wide popularity, the brighter colors with rich fur combinations are attracting decided attention; particularly are these worn by people who wish to appear slender.

Now that I have imparted to you the much needed information about materials next week I will whisper of the prevailing mode in regard to stockings and gloves.

A Co-ed's Diary

(ANOTHER WEEK OF COLLEGE LIFE)

My what a week this has been starting Saturday when we all froze watching Vermont trim Rensselaer but 'twas worth it and what's more will bet the Frosh game was darn good. Anyway we don't lose our curls the way we did a week ago so everyone was ready for the informals that night. That surely was a nice party at Delta Psi and Phi Delts had a lot of pep too. Here it is the first week of the month gone and all our cash is gone—now anxious fathers will get loving notes from daughter and stern hints from son. What weather! It stops raining just long enough to allow Jack Frost a short visit only to have Sol heat up the earth again and Jack being angry, returned making it look as if the day for the Middlebury game would be cold and clear. The Military Ball with its accompanying ceremony was splendid, wasn't it girls? And for once the hot coffee was hot. Wasn't that second waltz, the best ever? Seems to be the unanimous opinion. Then Armistice Day—every one caught up their work unless they went to the movies to learn about navy life or journeyed to Randolph to show them what a band is. Friday—everybody sleepy and classes drag—they'll be worse yet tomorrow. Well anyway onto Middlebury! and we'll just see if they "Beat Vermont."

HIS FUTURE BEHIND HIM

—VERA DOYLE '28—

You have seen him as you walk along the street of your town, or sit in your church. He is tall and thin, his head bends forward in a dejected air. His clothes are clean, but shabby and years out of style. His face wears a sad smile, his eyes a far-away look, and his forehead is creased. Around his temples his thin hair is greyed. His voice is gentle and pleasing. You note with surprise the evidence of culture in its rich, round tones, in its careful selection of words and phrases. If you converse with him you are further impressed with his wide scope of knowledge, his obvious intelligence. You are at loss to explain the inconsistency of the man. You half unconsciously glance at his hands to determine perhaps the nature of his trade. The thought passes through your mind that he is a poor clergyman or school teacher, but no—his hands are reddened to the tips of his long, slender fingers and calloused the breadth of his narrow palm. Who is this man? What is he? He is scholarly, intelligent yet his livelihood is gained from manual labor. His brain is rich in ability, yet he has no material wealth. All the glories and joys of great knowledge are his, yet he wears an air of dejection, discouragement and weariness. You know him, you have seen him. He belongs to a great army. He is the man with a future behind him.

HIKE SATURDAY

An Outing Club hike to Marrion Parker's residence in Williston will start at 2 p. m. Saturday. Those who intend to go are asked to leave their names in the "Y" Room.

OUTING CLUB

Several girls went on a ten-mile hike to Appletree Point on Armistice Day.

We present Archibald Doolittel, who thought he was God's gift to the women, but who was only the answer to a squirrel's prayer.—Ga. Tech. Yellow Jacket.

POLITICS PROBLEM OF MANY COLLEGES AT THIS SEASON OF YEAR

While the voice of the politician is heard throughout the land, the campus statesman's voice is no less audible on many a college campus. Student councilors are being asked in the colleges, as well as class officers, and the season of bickering and deals is on.

At the University of Kansas football players who are also candidates for offices played at political intrigue so vigorously that they neglected the more muscular game and caused their university to lose. In fact, it is said that political factions split the football team asunder and rendered it impotent on the field. At least such is the charge of Chancellor Lindley who rebuked the athletic politicians publicly at convocation.

Shortly afterward the football men withdrew their candidacies by request of Coach F. C. Cappon. As a result there will be no attempt to hold elections until football season is over.

As usual there is much talk of cliques and combines. The Boston University News frankly admits their existence.

"The fact that clique politics exists cannot be denied. If one fraternity is not strong enough to swing the whole election, it combines with one or two others of the same strength and these, sometimes by affiliating with one or two non-fraternity men manage to control the entire workings of a class or organization. And once the clique gets in control it runs affairs to suit itself, behind closed doors which bear the sign 'No Admittance.'"

The News is in favor of benevolent despotism. Its editorial concludes: "It is far better that the clique run things to suit itself, for if every member of the class was to be consulted on everything the organization would collapse and nothing would be accomplished. If a clique can run the affairs of the class in a smooth manner it is to be given a vote of thanks and not censured for its lack of Democracy. We favor clique politics because (1) it is more efficient; (2) it is inevitable, and (3) it gives us something to talk about."

At Ohio State University the usual groups are conspiring for the Senior class presidency. Hitherto this has been done in secret. This year one of the groups comes forward with the suggestion that the fraternities implicated declare their combines openly and unashamedly: "The pre-election stand of this combination is honest and clean open publication of political combines and their principles rather than the underhand, sub-rosa methods that have prevailed in former years. That these campus political combines exist is a well-known fact, and this combine feels that the 'above board' publication of the political situation is the only honorable method of handling this problem for the best interest of all concerned.

"In the opinion of this group of candidates, refusal to publish well-recognized combinations can mean only one thing, namely, underhandedness."—The New Student.

ORGANIZATION FIGHTS TO KEEP FOOTBALL AMATEUR

The struggle to keep college football purely amateur goes on. In a letter to members of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, President Palmer E. Pierce sounds a call for educators to battle against the enemies of amateur football:

"The N. C. A. A. requires from its members the agreement to uphold the amateur law in intercollegiate sports. It is perhaps unnecessary to call attention to the fact that the distinction between the two classes of sports is often very hazy and indefinite. On this account it is becoming increasingly evident that the application of rigid regulations will not keep the two classes of sports separate and distinct. The spirit of the law must in a large measure control. On this account the ideals of sports in educational institutions must be kept on a very high plane, and educators should give continuous attention to the subject.

"It is reported that the survey of the Carnegie Foundation is beginning satisfactorily under the direction of Dr. James Howard Savage. There are rumors of the continued activities of our zealous alumni which are being investigated. For instance, it has been said that the alumni of one prominent university are paying the expenses of some thirty promising athletes at excellent secondary schools. The investigation should establish the truth or falsity of this and similar statements. In the meantime it is recommended that the athletic and academic authorities of educational institutions do everything possible to suppress improper proselyting. Many of the college athletic leagues are doing this as illustrated by the concerted action of the Big Ten colleges of the Middle West.—The New Student.

Now that Pekky Joyce is going to promise to love, honor and away for the fifth time, she ought to know whether four out of every five have it. —Jauca Frivol.

STUDENTS WANT A COURSE IN "HOW TO LIVE"

Rutgers students want to know "How to Live."

Intelligent living is one of the main proposals in an undergraduate report on the state of Rutgers education (modeled after the famous Dartmouth Report). The proposed course would consider the responsibilities of Fatherhood, sex hygiene and the fundamental principles of psychology.

A department of athletics is also proposed by these students who have been considering the needs of Rutgers for six months. A full professor would head this department. It is suggested that each student be required the minor in athletics.

"The committee feels that some of the apathy in students at the present time is due in no small degree to the methods of teaching and the people who teach," the report said. It is felt that there are many instructors who have been chosen because of their prominence in a given field than because of their abilities as teachers."

The report purposes introduction of the honors course and abolition of compulsory military training.—The New Student.

UNIVERSITY DIRECTORY NOW AT MEDICAL STORE

The University Directory has been out for over a week now; copies are available for every student at the Medical Bookstore. The Directory contains the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all students and faculty members of the University. It also contains the latest figures concerning enrollment and the registration in the different colleges. The majority of students come from Vermont with Massachusetts second.

The directory is an invaluable aid to every student as by means of it he can get in touch with any student or professor on the Campus.

HOWARD'S APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP
Phone 3171 41 Church St.
Students' Trade Appreciated

The Wind can't be blamed for lingering about a pair of Gotham Gold Stripe Silk Stockings. Such lustre! Such colors! Such wear! Sheers & regular weight, from $1.85. Chiffons from $1.95.
The Old Bee Hive
GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE Silk Stockings Last Wear

John Ward Men's Shoes
$9
Permanent Display AT Hayes & Carney 107 BANK ST.
$7
John Ward Men's Shoes
Stores in New York, Brooklyn, Newark and Philadelphia. Address for Mail Orders, 191 Madison Av., New York City

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1900

BISHOP BOOTH TO TALK IN OLD MILL CHAPEL WEDNESDAY EVENING

Episcopal Clergyman Will Address Students On the "Value of Prayer"

The Reverend Samuel Babcock [illegible] University of Vermont [illegible] Old Mill Chapel [illegible] The Value of Prayer. This [illegible] reference to the [illegible] which students all [illegible] are visiting.

[illegible] in Philadelphia [illegible] prepared for college at [illegible] Episcopal School from which [illegible] going directly to [illegible] was a member of [illegible] Fraternity and from [illegible] graduated in 1906 with an [illegible] in his studies and [illegible] general social life. He [illegible] the Virginia Theological [illegible] Seminaries to prepare for [illegible] and was ordained as dea[illegible] after which he did mis[illegible] work for four years in one of [illegible] poorer districts of Idaho.

After [illegible] years as rector of St [illegible] Church in Philadelphia Rev [illegible] went to France as a Red Cross [illegible] and served there with Evacu[illegible] Hospital number nine. On re[illegible] from France he was appointed as [illegible] to the rector at the Pro[illegible] Cathedral of Saint Mary in Philadel[illegible]phia and a year later became head of [illegible] an associate mission in Bucks County Pennsylvania.

In November 1924 Rev. Booth was elected Bishop Coadjutor of the Episcopal Church in Vermont and was consecrated the following February at Burlington where he has since resided.

A more intimate sketch of the Bishop will be found in an editorial on page two.

What Graduates of 1926 Are Doing

Helen A. Cushman of 1907 Pacific Ave., Atlantic City, N. J., is head dietitian in the Atlantic City Hospital.

Dorothy Hunt is serving as secretary in the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. Her address is 412 Fourth St., S. W. Rochester, Minn.

Robert L. Thompson, whose address is 17 S. Portland Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., is employed with the New York Telephone Company.

Arthur J. McClettrick of 3409 Prospect Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C., is in the office of the Southern Automobile Supply Co., Washington.

James A. Mason is attending the Law School of the University of Buffalo.

Dorothy M. Hall is teaching in Wells River, Vt.

Marion E. Parkhurst is teaching French and English and has charge of the High School library in Delevan, N. Y.

Marion Raymonds is with the National Education Association, 75 Crafton Road, Watson, Mass.

Dorothy Ledoux is teaching in Colby, Canton, N. Y.

Cora A. Hutchins is teaching in So. Burlington.

Rachel M. Virta is secretary with the General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y. 16 Washington Ave.

R. L. Rider is with the Travelers Insurance Co., in Burlington, 316 Main Street.

John H. Jackson, electrician, Hotel Hamilton, 20 Houston St., Atlanta, Georgia.

Margaret P. Hazen is teaching in Newport Center.

C. M. Wallis is student engineer for General Electric Co., 48 Mall St., Lynn, Mass.

Josephine E. Smith is teaching in Jeffersonville.

Cecelia M. Bliss is teaching in Greenville, N. Y.

Alice M. Young is teaching in Swanton.

Florence M. Williams is teaching in Damariscotta Mills, Me.

M. F. Goodrich is with the Commercial Department of the New York Telephone Company, 26 Sidney Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

D. R. Casey is a graduate student with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., 246 Ormond Ave., Sharon, Pa.

F. E. Bartlett is teaching in the Loomis Institute, Windsor, Conn.

Sophie M. Lobier is teaching in Pittsford.

Linna M. Patterson is teaching in Essex Junction.

Carolyn J. Strong is teaching in North Craftsbury.

Abel Wyman is teaching in Chelsea.

Nellie E. Clogston is County agent for Windham County 4-H Clubs.

Ruth Willis is teaching at Emma Willard School, Troy, N. Y.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE STARTS LAST OF MONTH

Basketball practice will start the next week after Thanksgiving. Several members of last year's team have been training with the cross-country runners so they should be able to hit their stride in the early season practice.

CORRECTION

An error was made in a headline of Friday's issue of the Cynic. Saturday's game was played on Porter Field in Middlebury. The headline stated that the game was to be played on Sabine Field which is at Norwich University.

MEMBERS OF "Y" HOLD SUPPER AND INITIATE DRIVE TO RAISE $500

Members of the Y. M. C. A. had supper Friday evening at the City Y. rooms as the initiatory move in the drive for funds which is being carried on this week. Following the meal Professor F. B. Jenks of the College of Agriculture addressed the men.

He stressed the importance of finances to any organization. Wealth may not be a measure of success but good financial standing is a necessary part of every undertaking. Professor Jenks described the early history of the "Y" here and cited some of the difficulties which confronted it the close of the World War. At that time the paid secretary, whom the government kept here during the war, had gone, the Association was in debt $800 and no funds were in sight to pay this or to hire a secretary. A group of faculty members got together and decided to attempt the recuperation of the Association, because of the importance which they attached to its work. At the end of a year over $4,200 had been raised, a secretary had been hired, and after the bills had been paid the books showed a balance remaining. In reference to the present drive for funds to carry on the campus work, the speaker stressed the importance of going into the undertaking with the will to accomplish the goal which has been set. The habit of success is a most valuable asset and should be cultivated in whatever one puts his hands to.

Following the speaker A. R. Birchard, Jr., '29, chairman of the finance committee, gave out routes to the canvassers and urged that the campaign be finished by the middle of the week. The amount to be raised is $500 and the uses to which it will be put are described in detail in Friday's Cynic.

Prayer Sessions

There will be a short meeting for prayer every noon at 12.20 in room 24, South College. The meetings are sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. All students are welcome and it is hoped that a large number will thus cooperate in observing the national week of prayer.

The Wetness

Art is Long

A young, vivid group they entered the room. Hope shone in every eye. Perhaps this time——— Maybe things will be different. At any rate there is always hope. The door closed behind them.

Time elapsed. Here and there bells rang, there were sounds of scurrying feet and eager voices. But the door opened not. Dusk fell, dawn came, then dusk again, still the door showed blank and inscrutable. The seasons swept their ceaseless round; the heavy-footed years lumbered past but the silent door still held its secret.

At last ..... the door-knob rattled faintly; pushed by a feeble hand the door creaked open on its rusty hinges. An aged man whose grey beard reached nearly to his waist tottered out. His bell-bottom trousers and green sweater hung limply on his withered frame. Behind him came a wrinkled crone incongruously dressed in the short skirts of a young girl. After her pressed more and more of the ancient beings, bent and old, with tattered note-books clutched in skinny hands. So worn, so old, so pitiful.

Where had they been? Oh, only to a meeting of Professor Myrick's French class.

Lament for Past Glories

In days of yore when men were men
And college men were devils,
When e'er the dear boys won a game
They sent the whole town up in flame;
The celebrations they held then
Do shame our modern revels.

They said, "Let's paint the old town red!"
And man to man, they did!
When they went out to make a night
The town's folk all turned pale with fright;
Their sons go home and go to bed,
Exactly as they're bid.

What we call desperate deeds and wild,
Our fathers laughed to scorn:
Oh, where pajama peerades now?
How long since chapel held a cow?
Indeed the times are growing mild,
The good old days are gone.

It's the Berets*

It has come; the worst has happened! Even until yesterday we had hoped that there might be some escape; that where others were enslaved we might go free. From the very beginning we had had that hope, faint it is true, and growing fainter daily as the thing coiled its length farther across the land, infecting one college after another. But still, though colleges about us were filled with it; though it menaced us on every hand, still we hoped and still each night could say, "For one more day, we have been spared." And so we almost came to believe that in some miraculous way the thing might pass us by.

But vain are human imaginings. Yesterday the blow fell! Yesterday we saw it, and not one but three——

Three what? Three Phi Delts in those doggone little tam-o-shanters they call berets! (And they used to be such nice boys.)

*We got this pun out of Life you probably won't be able to see the point of it we don't blame you we couldn't either for quite a while we don't think it is very funny anyhow that's why we told you where it came from so you wouldn't think we perpetrated it if we thought it was funny you can bet we'd never tell where we'd snitched it.

The eagerness of a group of University of Missouri sophomores to paddle Freshmen cost a total of $51.35 the other day when five of the Sophomores were fined in police court for disturbing the peace. The upperclassmen "rushed" a theatre in a vain effort to capture some first-year men.

Stude: Colleges are the limit.
Roommate: No, there's the insane asylums.—Texas Ranger.

The bleachers would go wild if peroxide gave out.—Oregon Orange Owl.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 Colchester Ave.
Opp. Engineering Bldg.

Home Cooking Our Specialty

Lunches to Take Out

Gifts in Jewelry
DANCE FAVORS and PROGRAMS
▲ ▲ ▲
F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under
Free Press Building

SHOES FOR THE OCCASION
BOYNTON'S

"Captain Applejack" to Be Given Next Month; Eleven the Cast

(Continued from page 1)

by a spy who is trying to take the jewels away from her. In reality the countess and the spy, in league with another man and woman are thieves. They have heard that there were jewels in Captain Applejack's house and were trying to get the "lay of the land."

As the countess is talking with the Captain a knock is heard at the door. Believing that it is the spy the countess begs the Captain to hide her, which he does. The visitors are the man and woman who are confederates of the countess. They say that their car has broken down and ask Captain Applejack to see if he can fix it. The Captain goes out and while he is gone the thieves open the French windows so that they may enter during the night. The visitors exit and the door bell rings again. This time it is the man whom the countess claims is following her. The Captain and the spy have a scene and the spy departs soon after.

That night the thieves enter and discover two secret panels behind the bookcase. While working at them one of the tools is dropped and the burglars are compelled to flee. Poppie Faire, the ward, arouses the house and they discover the tools left by the night visitors and also the two panels of whose existence they had been unaware. In one of these panels is found an old parchment which tells that one of Captain Applejack's ancestors was a pirate for a short time. He made a fortune on the high seas and then retired to live as a simple old country gentleman. Also the parchment discloses that there is a treasure in the house.

The second act opens with Poppie reading to the old gentleman, who is nodding his head sleepily. Poppie goes out to get him some coffee and while she is gone he falls asleep and has a dream. He dreams that he is this famous Pirateer Captain Applejack, his ancestor, and is on his ship. He has just captured a ship, robbed it, and killed all hands on board. He has captured the beautiful daughter of the captain of the ship.

The characters are the counterparts of Poppie, and the thieves. Poppie is the steward boy, the spy is one of the deck hands, and the man and wife have their parts. There is much dis-

Did You Ever Try
University Nut Delight
or
Fig Claiser?
VISIT CANDYLAND
101 Church St.
PHONE 3056-W

STATIONERY,
MAGAZINES,
NEWSPAPERS
♦ ♦ ♦
Bessey News Co.
136 Church St.

INSTALLATION OF CLOCK IS COMPLETED

The new clock in the [illegible] Ira Allen Chapel was [illegible] first time on Saturday [illegible] subject of much comment [illegible] tones in which it strikes [illegible] plainly audible all over [illegible] There is little danger [illegible] which it reads being [illegible] variation is not more than [illegible] per month.

Abie (calling central): [illegible] me the correct time, please?
Central: We are not allowed give correct time.
Abie: Vell; what time would [illegible] you were allowed to give correct time?
—Penn State Froth.

"Do you know the [illegible]
"Yes, sir, asthma [illegible]

pute over the division [illegible] some danger of mutiny [illegible] and the deck hand [illegible] who gets the girl, [illegible] countess. The Captain [illegible] every time. The act ends [illegible] as the steward boy, [illegible] alone in the cabin. The [illegible] tering "Aces, Aces, A [illegible] sleeve and out falls [illegible]

In the third act the [illegible] captured, and placed [illegible] treasure is discovered and Poppie Captain Applejack fall in love.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & C
112 Church Street

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROO
Corner Church and Pearl Sts
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
We are now open on Sundays.
PHONE 2165

Student's Accounts Solic
This schedule you how the Plan works.
Turk Says
Fall Suits and Top Coats Ready

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down.
$25.00	$ 5.00
30.00	6.00
35.00	7.00
40.00	8.00
45.00	9.00
50.00	10.00
55.00	11.00
60.00	12.00
65.00	13.00
70.00	14.00
75.00	15.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TU
SUITS and TOPCOAT
Turk's
156-158 COLLEGE STRE

ONE OF THE GREATEST OF MUSICIANS COMING TO Burlington November 16th
TICKETS FOR
REINALD WERRENRATH
ARE NOW ON SALE
AT THE
University Store

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1926 — NUMBER 17

WERRENRATH CONCERT DELIGHTS AUDIENCE OF MANY MUSIC LOVERS

Automobile Accident Delays Noted American Baritone for One Hour—Robert Carrick, Accompanist, Well Received

The third of the season's concert attractions presented by Arthur Dow was given at the gymnasium Tuesday night when Reinald Werrenrath appeared before a large audience.

The concert was delayed more than an hour because of misfortune on his way from Plattsburg where he had been a former home. He confessed to having faults and a dirty disposition" but "a clean heart and a clean present doubted his "dirty but agreed on his having a distinction voice.

Werrenrath is an American, a man of his convictions, and one whose sincerity is unquestionable. He deserves all of the acclaim that he has and then some. As to his selections he insists in singing those that he can understand himself. In that way he can put the appropriate feeling and expression into them. His voice is rich, mellow and his diction is unsurpassable. None of the tone was sacrificed in accomplishing this clear diction.

"I Love Thee" was especially well rendered in Danish. This may have been because his father was Danish. The group of Indian Melodies was also a very excellent number. He also sang in French and Italian as well as English. Several encores were given. Among these was "Duana."

Robert Carrick, Mr. Werrenrath's accompanist, showed his great ability at the piano in four selections which he played during the evening. He made up for Werrenrath in formality. In fact he was a rather pleasing contrast to Werrenrath.

The next concert of Mr. Dow's series will be by Mischa Levitzki, a distinguished pianist, December 8. After him will come Mme. Louise Homer, well-known contralto and another American artist, and then the Russian Symphonic Choir consisting of thirty mixed voices under the leadership of a famous conductor.

These concerts are all of a very fine type of entertainment and are well worth the attendance of University students. They cannot help but give hours of pleasure long to be remembered.

SCRUBS WANTED

All sophomores wishing to scrub basketball should report or give their names to Manager Averill at the Sigma Nu House.

DELIVERY OF CYNICS AT DORMITORIES DISCONTINUED

Hereafter the CYNIC will be delivered only at University and Medical Book Stores. The practice of delivering copies at the dormitories and fraternity houses will be discontinued as many of the students who live in these places habitually get their's at book stores while attending classes, making it useless to deliver them additional papers, which only serves to deplete the supply until there are not enough to supply everyone. The issues arrive at the CYNIC Office during the noon hour on Tuesdays and Fridays. They are placed in the Book Store directly after dinner.

MIDDLE CONVERSE HALL NOW OCCUPIED BY FROSH

The extensive renovating at Middle Converse Hall was completed a few weeks ago and immediately after its completion Freshmen took possession of the rooms. The repairing consisted of replastering the walls throughout and painting them white, putting steel sheathing on all the ceilings, nickeling the radiators, removing from the staircases filigree designs that were continually catching dust and varnishing all woodwork throughout. New lighting fixtures were installed everywhere except in the basement. Yale locks put on the corridor doors, the floors varnished twice, new linoleum laid on the hallway floor and the lavatories and showers repainted and varnished. The old fireplaces were taken out and finished up because in past years students had been careless, resulting in the building catching fire two or three times. The last new addition was an electric blower installed in the boiler room to be used when the draft is poor. An approximate estimation of the total cost of the renovation is $10,000.

SOPHOMORES ELECT HYLAND AND ROARK FOR THE STUDENT SENATE

The class of 1929 met in the Williams Science Hall, Monday, November 15, at 4 P. M. J. P. Hyland and L. E. Roark were elected as representatives to the Student Senate. A motion was made and seconded to appropriate $2.17 to pay for a window broken during Freshman Week. Following this the meeting adjourned. Many members of the Sophomore class were conspicuous by their absence.

A-strolling home lathers no hoss.
Colby White Mule.

FOOTBALL MEN FACE STRENUOUS PRACTICE

Preparation for Springfield Game Begins—To Be Home-Coming Affair for Alumni

The University of Vermont football team faces ten days of strenuous practice before the season's final with Springfield College on Thanksgiving Day. Disappointing as the season has thus far been, every effort will be made to bolster up the team both on offense and defense between now and November 25.

Following an impressive 14-0 win over Rensselaer, Vermont's showing against an underestimated Middlebury team was unexpected and disappointing. Not that there was anything shady about the win of the Blue and White Saturday, for the Klevenow coached eleven, after two weeks of intensive drill was at its top form against Vermont. It got its plays away fast and smoothly and mixed them up sufficiently to occasionally catch the Vermont secondary away out of position.

But now attention is focused on the Springfield match. Alumni of both colleges are making this game a sort of home-coming affair, while many local fans will take advantage of the holiday to get down to the game. Plans are also formulated for sending the R. O. T. C. Band to allow Springfield fandom an opportunity to hear one of the best college units in the country.

The Green and Gold in spite of these reverses is still in a position to put up a good scrap against Springfield. The team is in fine shape physically and has time to alter many remediable defects that should result in speeding up its attack, eliminating a proneness to fumble as well as presenting an improved defense against the forward pass. In that Coach McAvoy has two tolerably good passers in Smith and Conway, he should be able to muster up considerable of an aerial threat to supplement the Varsity's running game.

If the weather remains open and no unforseen accidents occur, there is a feeling that the team may spring a surprise Thanksgiving Day, before 1926 football becomes history.

KEY AND SERPENT PLANS TO POPULARIZE BASKETBALL TOURNEY

At a meeting of the Key and Serpent Society held Monday night at the Sigma Phi Place, it was voted to give the band twenty-five dollars toward the Springfield trip.

It was also decided that interfraternity basketball should be made more important than it has been in the past. This matter will be brought before fraternity representatives at a special meeting of the Key and Serpent Society which will be held next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at the Sigma Nu Lodge, to get their attitudes on the matter. A plan similar to that used in the interfraternity baseball series has been suggested. Three leagues will be formed, and each team will play every other team in the league. Then the winners of the three leagues will play each other for the title. Better referees is to be furnished and each fraternity will be asked to furnish more distinctive uniforms. This will make the series more like it is in other colleges. Times for practice are being arranged.

The chairman of the athletic committee was instructed to confer with the athletic department and draw up a schedule as soon as possible.

EDITORS AND MANAGERS OF ARIEL MEET

The Business Staff of the Ariel met Monday evening at seven at the Phi Mu Delta House to consider the advertising situation. The Editorial Staff met at the same time at the Sigma Alpha Chi House to consider several matters, especially that of the questionaire to be used by the class. The answers when the questionaires have been filled out and tabulated are published in the Ariel. Some changes have been made over that of last year and it is expected that more will be made before they are sent out.

"When I lie down like this for a quiet think, I realize 'ow tempus fugit is creepin' on."

"I couldn't 'ave told you the foreign name, but they're creepin' on me too."
—Goblin.

BOULDER DANCE HELD THIS EVENING

The Boulder Society will hold its first dance of the season this evening in the gymnasium. Music will be furnished by the popular Vermonters Orchestra. The tickets may be obtained from any Boulder man or at the door. The admission is one dollar per couple.

EDWIN LAWRENCE GIVES PRIZES FOR DEBATING

Debating prizes have been recently established by Edwin Winship Lawrence of of Rutland. The first group of prizes is established in memory of the donor's brother, Robert Ashton Lawrence '99 and is offered annually to students in the English Department of the University who exhibit the greatest proficiency in debate. The prizes offered are a first, of twenty-five dollars; a second of fifteen dollars; and a third of ten dollars. If debating ceases at the University the income from this fund may be used to assist worthy students.

The second group of prizes, established in memory of the donor's brother, Robert Ashton Lawrence and his father, George Edwin Lawrence, Middlebury '67 will be awarded to the three students participating in a joint debate between representatives of the University of Vermont and Middlebury Colleges, who in the opinion of the judges chosen show the greatest proficiency in this debate. The prizes are a first of twenty-five dollars; a second of fifteen dollars; and a third of ten dollars.

DAIRY PLANT OPERATORS AND MANAGERS MEET IN MORRILL BUILDING

A short conference of dairy plant men and the fifth annual meeting of the Vermont Dairy Plant Operators and Managers Association was held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday under the auspices of the College of Agriculture at Morrill Hall. Meetings were held daily at 9 a. m., 12:30 p. m., and 1:30 p. m., the 12:30 gathering being for luncheon.

A business meeting of the Operators and Managers Association was held at 2:30 p. m. The conference closed Thursday evening with a banquet at the New Sherwood Hotel.

Among the speakers at the sessions were: H. F. De Pew of the University of New Hampshire; H. B. Ellenberger, J. A. Newlander, W. B. Silcox and A. H. Robertson of the University of Vermont; M. H. Moody of Waterbury; H. F. Judkins of Springfield, Mass.; O. M. Camburn of the Vermont Experiment Station; J. F. Maclennan of Bellows Falls; V. R. Jones of Detroit, Mich.; H. E. Bremer of the Vermont State Department of Agriculture; W. P. Lockwood of Boston, Mass.; C. L. Hamlen of Colchester; R. W. Bell of Washington, D. C.; C. C. Fletcher of Shelburne and Wm. A. Schoenfield of Washington, D. C.

COLLEGES REFUSE TO TRAIN DEBATERS TO OPPOSE PROHIBITION

If the constitution is wrecked by college debaters who argue the merits and demerits of Prohibition eternal obloquy will not descend upon two North Dakota colleges. They have notified Pi Kappa Delta, National Forensic Society, that they will not prepare debating teams to argue that the Volstead law needs amendment to permit the sale of light wines and beer. The society chose as the year's subject for men's forensics: "Resolved that the Volstead Law be amended to permit the sale of light wines and beer."

Dakota Wesleyan University, through its president E. D. Kohlstedt, protested against the subject and declared that no Wesleyan debater would lift his voice in the affirmative, but offered to develop a team to uphold the negative of the "unethical" question against all comers. Northern State Teachers College of Aberdeen seconded the protest, declaring that the subject "verges on repudiation of the Constitution," and saying: "This college stands for law enforcement."

CIVILS WILL BATTLE ALL OTHER ENGINEERS ON GRIDIRON SATURDAY

Many Star Football Players Will Appear in Lineup on Rival Football Teams—Frosh Will Not Play

Tomorrow afternoon at Centennial Field, there will be a football game between the Civil Engineers and the combined forces of the Mechanicals and the Electricals. The game is the result of a challenge made by the Civils, the answer to which follows:

"The Mechanicals and Electricals accept with pleasure the challenge to a football game with the Civils, said game to take place on Centennial Field at 2 p. m., on Saturday, November 20, 1926. Letter men eligible to play."

H. G. Williamson '28,
C. C. Lyman '29.

"Corb" Lyman and H. Williamson are managing the challenged and have selected such well-known players as C. Price, F. Lanou, Cogswell, B. H. Morse, Beaulieu and Whitcomb.

"Art" Shaw and K. Kyle have charge of the Civils and as yet have not decided on a definite lineup as there are so many men out for every position. "Tex" Nilson, Van Name, Fiske, Donnelly, Damon, Phelon, Pike, Baldwin, "Dan" Johnson, Valenti and Martin are likely candidates for the Civils.

Because of the examination in Algebra for the Freshmen which occurs on Saturday afternoon, the Yearling Engineers will be unable to play, which makes a last minute change in both lineups. The game is called at 2 P. M.

The probable lineups are as follows:

M. E. and E. E.		C. E.
Price '28, l. e.	l. e.,	Shaw '28
Lanou '27, l. t.	l. t.,	Baldwin '28
Aiken '29, l. g.	l. g.,	Damon '29 or Fiske '29
Cogswell '28, c.	c.,	Phelon '29
Asheraft '28, r. g.	r. g.,	Van Name '29
Chamberlin '28, r. t.	r. t.,	Nilson '29
Morse, B. H., '29, r. e.	r. e.,	Kyle '28
Lyman '29, q. b.	q. b.,	Donnelly '29
Beaulieu '27, r. h. b.	r. h. b.,	Valenti '28
Williamson '29, l. h. b.	l. h. b.,	Johnson '28
Whitcomb '28, f. b.	f. b.,	Martin '29

ABELL IS CHAIRMAN OF THE 1928 JUNIOR WEEK COMMITTEE

Sabin Abell of St. Albans was elected chairman of Junior Week at a meeting held last Tuesday afternoon in the Chapel.

Abell has been prominent in various college activities. He was a member of the CYNIC Board, is an assistant manager of baseball. Among the other activities in which he has participated are the band and various class athletics and college dramatics. He is a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity, Key and Serpent, Pi Delta Rho, Wig and Buskin.

Committees for Junior Week are now being selected by the chairman and will be announced as soon as completed.

The Junior class also voted last Tuesday to give $25 for the R. O. T. C. Band's trip to Springfield.

INTERCOLLEGIATE WINDOW CLEANERS

"In the morning we begin
On the outside looking in Massaging window panes."

This ditty might well be the official anthem of the intercollegiate organization of window cleaners which has branches at a dozen or more colleges and universities in Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. These students earn their way in college by their window-cleaning activities.

Clarence and Walter Ross began this student organization, which they still control, in 1915 while working their way through the University of Colorado. Each branch that is formed has its own local manager.

Large contracts are often secured. The Rice Institute group, composed of fifteen students, has contracts for cleaning windows of some of the most important bank and office buildings at Houston, Texas.

Some of these student groups belong to labor unions. One of the most important instances is that of student window cleaners at the University of Denver.—New Student Service.

Young Catamounts Close Football Season With Impressive Record

With the cancelling of the Frosh-Soph game, the Yearlings have completed what can be called the most successful season that a Frosh eleven has ever had. Playing six games, they were defeated only once and that at the hands of the strong Dartmouth Frosh. The Dartmouth team is considered by football critics as the best Frosh team in the East.

The first game was with Troy Conference Academy here. The locals had no trouble whatsoever with the visitors and easily won by a 34-0 score. The following week, they journeyed to Hanover where they lost to Dartmouth. Vermont Academy was next on the camp and the Middlebury Frosh were also helpless before the onslaught of the Frosh backfield. After two weeks layoff, Clarkson Tech was tackled but the game ended in a scoreless tie. This game was played in a sea of mud and water. Clarkson furnished the feature run of the game, a run of ten yards which goes to show that something was wrong with the footing. The last game was with the Fort Ethan Allen team on Armistice Day, and this resulted in victory.

There is some wonderful material in the Frosh for next year's team provided they stay in college. Several Frosh to fill the shoes of Captain Rattan, Morse and Simpson are available. Love, Bernstein, Bloomstrom, Mitchell, Slate, Sirois, Corson and Bray. Only Candon will be lost to the backfield, while the other regulars will have to travel to beat out Mitchell, Mace, Harwood, DeRose, Bray and Dorey.

Mitchell leads the scoring with 33 points, with Bray a close second with 30. Slate has kicked 15 out of 16 tries for goal after touchdown.

Individual scorers are as follows:

	Touchdowns	Goals	Total
Mitchell	5	3	33
Bray	5	0	30
Harwood	3	0	18
Mace	3	0	18
Slate	0	15	15
Bernstein	2	0	12
Corson	2	0	12
Sirois	1	0	6
DeRose	1	0	6
Totals	22	18	150

The results of the six games are as follows:

Vt. '30		Opp.
34	Troy Conference	0
0	Dartmouth '30	20
27	Vermont Academy	0
55	Middlebury '30	0
0	Clarkson '30	0
34	Fort Ethan Allen	0
		20
150

This year the Yearlings were coached by Captain Rattan, who deserves a great deal of credit for turning out a championship team. The team was managed by Ellis J. Moodie '27. "P. D." Clark, former Vermont lineman, assisted Captain Rattan in whipping the line into shape.

The Vermont Cynic

THE [illegible] STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the [illegible] INTERCOLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION

[illegible] Published every Tuesday and Friday during the college year. Subscription price $3.00 a year, delivered anywhere in the United States. Single copy five cents.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, 216 So. Willard Ave. all other correspondence to the Editor at 161 Colchester Ave.

Entered at the [illegible] as second class matter.

Editors

[illegible] '27 ..... Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] '28 ..... News Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... News Editor
..... Women's Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Sporting Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
..... Humor Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

[illegible] '29 Robert M. Tracy '29
Frank G. Rhodd '29
[illegible] '29 Iola Bagley '27
Kunio Cook '27
[illegible] '29 Margaret Durick '29
[illegible] '29 Virginia Margie '29

Business Staff

[illegible] '27 ... Business Mgr.
[illegible] '27 ... Advertising Mgr.
[illegible] '28 ... Assistant Manager
[illegible] '28 ... Assistant Manager
[illegible] '29 ... Assistant Manager

Announcements and undergraduates are heartily welcomed to this column. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Any [illegible] should be handed in or telephoned to 681-J before 9 p. m. Sunday and [illegible]

In charge of this issue:

[illegible] ..... News Editor
[illegible] ..... Assistant Manager

Vol. 45 November 19, 1926 No. 17

GLADIATORIAL TRAINING SCHOOLS

The football world is much stirred up at the present time by the Harvard-Princeton break which but last week came out of a clear sky and filled the front pages of newspapers throughout the country. We are led to doubt whether or not the existence of football as played today among the American colleges is justified. When athletics which are supposed to be a side issue to the intellectual development, for which most colleges were organized, occupy the best space in our large dailies, we begin to think about this question.

No doubt the famous games that are played each fall among the larger colleges mean far more to the masses than do the ratings of the competing institutions with reference to their development of the intellect. To them the school with the championship team is the best school. If anyone were to start a college today and wished to succeed quickly, it would pay him to hire 15 or 20 A grade athletes, emphasizing football ability in his choice. Then he should proceed to get the championship of the East. Providing he had the equipment and reasonably good location, his institution should soon be crowded. This formula would satisfy the general run of people, but of course the institutions of today were not founded to supply Saturday afternoon entertainment to the populous. In spite of the popular conception of them as places where the "rah! rah!" boys originate, they do attempt to turn out men and women out into the world equipped to face life with a [illegible]

Such scandals as are now taking place in the football world and the publicity which they receive are but [illegible] to the trend of modern [illegible] are no doubt used [illegible] food but it is the [illegible] which the mob lauds. If the larger colleges continue their present policies calling for monstrous stadiums, large gate receipts, and high salaried coaches, it will be safe to predict the transformation of present day institutions of learning into gladiatorial training schools within the next century. This will be the most damning bald for young men, if they desire the approbation of popular opinion and the remuneration which this approval brings (the majority of them do).

COLLEGE PLAYS

Another college play is under way and in another month the Strong Theatre will be filled with an enthusiastic student audience.

The college plays at Vermont have come to mean a great deal in student life. Twice a year they come and twice a year the entire student body turns out for them. But too often the sacrifice made by members of the cast is overlooked, and their lot is thought of as merely fun. True, there is much enjoyment to be gained by making a place on the cast, a feeling of satisfaction to begin with, a new power found and developed, pleasant social times, a good trip, and the climax of congratulations that comes to one regardless of the way they play their rôle. Yet the time that thirty or more rehearsals take out of busy college life is not to be forgotten. No favor is shown a student merely because many hours of his time are snatched away; on the contrary he is given the gloomy look and credited in many cases with an "F." Social activities must needs be cut down nearly to the zero point and as for sleep, of course that was given up to a large extent anyway soon after coming to college.

But despite its draw-backs the college play is a vital part of life at U. V. M. Without it college life would be incomplete. The cast receives an education not elsewhere to be gained, poise, self-control, self-confidence. The student body (and the faculty too) get some good and beneficial enjoyment; and the University gets advertising of a quality that only Vermont casts are capable of producing.

The Wetness

In Memoriam

(Dedicated to the memory of the Catamount's fifth kitten, deceased November 13, 1926.)

Carry him off with doleful sound,
Down to the family burial ground.
Raise a white stone o'er his little mound
Alas for the Catamount!

Four of his brothers slumber here.
No football intrudes on their quiet bier;
Fumbles nor penalties cause them fear.
Alas for the Catamount!

Columbia, Syracuse—and two had died,
Providence buried one more at their side;
Norwich laid lowly our pet and our pride.
Alas for the Catamount!

Now is the flower of the family slain;
The Black Panther struts in proud disdain,
And President Moody carries a cane!
Alas for the Catamount!

Last year we raved and ranted and tore our hair in a search for a suitable mascot for Vermont. And finally we elected, or were presented with a Catamount. Please, what is a catamount? We gather that it is a feline; beyond there we are stumped. Is it a panther, a tiger, a jaguar, a mountain lion, a regular or circus lion, a leopard, a cheetar, a wild cat, an Angora, Persian, Maltese, Tortoise-shell, Manx or Backyard variety? Does anybody know? Does Professor Perkins know? (Ten to one he doesn't!)

Personally we sincerely hope that the variety will turn out to be Manx. Because Manx cats, though their claims to beauty are slight, have one valuable characteristic—they have no tails! Now the reason this quality is so valuable is this: according to all newspaper writers you can never beat anybody in football, unless you can twist their tail. If Princeton gets beaten then "Navy Twists the Tiger's Tail" appears in the headlines. If it is Yale who wins a moral victory then we learn that the Bull Dog was the recipient of a nice tail-twisting at the hands of Maryland. Brown you will observe is cheered on by the Brown Bear, and bears have no tails. You may have also noticed that Brown hasn't lost a tail (we mean a game) this year. What could be more obvious than that if you have no tail to twist your tail can't get twisted, and since all the papers claim that every winning college succeeds in some way in twisting their opponent's tail (we never saw them in the act but we probably weren't looking just then) it naturally follows that if you haven't any tail on your mascot you won't get beaten.

If you have been able to follow us this far you will have discovered that we think the Manx cat would be a great help to Vermont. With a Manx cat and a little organized prayer we ought to have a great football season next year.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

With the smell of tobacco entice a herd of college-goers into the gym, feed them plenty of loud-mouthed speeches and loose-mouthed stories, hypnotize them into braying some cheers and songs in concert, and have a successful smoker.

Get a fellow up front who can tell some real, he-man funny stories, stories that would make a corner loafer blush, for these Freshmen and Freshman-like upperclassmen need jokes with reinforced points. They need jokes that a moron would understand, provided that he be a depraved moron.

The speakers of the evening should be bloated with optimism. They should be so flooded with optimism that it stands on them like stagnant water, so filled with optimism that they can spit mouthfuls of it into the entranced ears of the idiot audience. You stir up pep without optimism. "The team is going to win," bawls the inspired speaker, and "Hurray," shout the college-spiritualized students.

Then, when the mob has been saturated with enthusiasm, give it a little food—some cider, perhaps, and a doughnut.

Compel Freshmen to attend your smoker—they are the ideal smoker material.

'28.

To the Editor of the Cynic:

After all that has been said and thought about the game last Saturday, it may be only recalling sad memories to say more. However, it is only human nature to find reasons when something goes wrong. Hence this communication.

In my opinion the whole trouble Saturday was over-confidence and the refusal to accept the possibility of defeat. This was apparent in two ways. In the first place, there was no pep aroused until Friday night and then it was too late. The week of the Norwich game was fittingly called "fight week," and by Saturday the team and the student body were rarin' to go. The consequence was that Norwich with and admittedly superior team, and despite rain, fumbles, etc., only beat us 3-0. The old Vermont fight was all that kept the Cadets from our goal line. In the second place, only about one-fourth of the student body was down at Middlebury. Those who were there did their best, but even they were scattered about the stands in such a way as to prevent effective cheering. So, without detracting from the Middlebury team, we may fairly say that if we had been as determined to win as Midd it might have been a different story.

It is about time that Vermonters woke up to the fact that Middlebury always plays better than they know how to against Vermont. They are our traditional rivals. Just take Harvard and Yale as examples of traditional rivals. You can never dope out a Harvard-Yale game, because neither team plays as it has during the early games. Some person once said that it is a better plan to bet on the underdog in a Harvard-Yale game. Last Saturday, Middlebury was, on paper, the under-dog, and yet look at the result! Next year is another year, and we can show the Panther that the Catamount too can play better than it knows how to. And above all remember that if you are doped to beat Middlebury by 100-1, then you may have to play one hundred times better to do it.

GES '28.

To the Editor of the Cynic:

There was considerable adverse (if so mild a term can characterize it) criticism of the football team. Every one of the three authors however, were evidently averse to doing anything but hint at what was wrong with the team Saturday. It seems to us that there are a bunch of fellows out there on the team who have been working hard all through the season for the college and they deserve a fair deal. There obviously was something wrong Saturday but the veiled allusions and indefinite hints such as composed the offerings printed in the last issue are getting us nowhere. If the men who wrote those complaints can put their fingers on the trouble then it is their duty to do so. The college as a whole deserves to know definitely about anything which reflects on the honor of Vermont. If there was rank incompetence or disloyalty concerned in the loss of that game how about these wise guys that know all about it coming out and telling the details instead of beating about the bush and making airy charges that there is no substance in to refute. The team and the coach deserve that this be done.

M. T.

CAROLINA FACULTY OPPOSED TO CENSORING

A faculty committee [illegible] University of North Carolina [illegible] itself opposed to censorship [illegible] stead the committee [illegible] dent editors responsible [illegible] own taste and intelligence.

When the Carolinian published the story "Slaves [illegible] Student Council was outraged [illegible] story as "obscene and [illegible] manded the resignation [illegible] Magazine's editors Messrs. Starr and Fowler.

A faculty committee considered the matter. It decided that the story was "improper for publication in the Magazine," but that the Council erred in fixing penalty upon the persons involved in their official capacity as editors...."

Finally, the faculty recommended that no machinery be set up outside the publications themselves which would have the effect of a censorship. Though the student publication runs the risk incident to the [illegible] confusing false and sensational impressions of genuine art, the committee would not substitute external control for inward sanctions. We cannot rationally look to the editorial organizations to develop within their own ranks such a sense of responsibility for our true literary interests as would prevent the possibility of the student public being moved to destroy the independence, freedom, and autonomy of the editorial boards of the student bodies by which they are elected and supported, and to whom they are responsible.—The New Student.

Professor Gifford [illegible] at a recent meeting of the Child Welfare Conference in the Main Room of the Billings Library. He [illegible] before the Discussion Club of the College Street Church on November [illegible] on a program of Legislation [illegible] to change laws in regard to child

1927 Meeting To-day

The seniors will hold a class meeting in the Lecture Hall today at 4 p. m. The business includes an Ariel announcement, appropriation of money for band, selection of class blazers and discussion of other matters.

College Humor

She: Give a sentence with the word justice.

He: I'd justice soon kiss you as not—Red Cat.

Young Hopeful (very): Mother, I think I'll shave.

Mother: You will not.

Father: Go ahead. She'll never know the difference.—Colgate Banter.

The grade of a co-ed's exam paper will approach zero as the number of dates she has a week approaches seven.—Rice Owl.

Oh: What would you give to have such adorable hair as mine?

My: Well, I don't know. What did you give?—Nebraska Awgwan.

"'Smatter, old top?"
"I forgot my name."
"Call yershelf Sam Williams."
"But tha'sh your name."
"So 'tish. You think of everything, don'sh you?"—Wash. Cougar's Paw.

Edward: Where do you come from, darling?

Co-edward: From New Jersey, the land of the religious mosquitoes.

Edward: Religious Mosquitoes?

Co-edward: Yes, dear, first they sing over you, and then they prey on you.—Mainiac.

Evileye: I guess I'll go to church today.

Longnail: What's her name?—Midd. Blue Baboon.

Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down
$25.00	$ 5.00
30.00	6.00
35.00	7.00
40.00	8.00
45.00	9.00
50.00	10.00
55.00	11.00
60.00	12.00
65.00	13.00
70.00	14.00
75.00	15.00

Ask to see Turk's New Tuxedo Suits $32.50, $42.50

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURK SUITS and TOPCOATS

Where the Anglers come from

Turk's

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

STAR RESTAURANT
CHINESE & AMERICAN FOODS
Regular Dinner 45c
From 11 A. M. to 2:30 P. M.
A La Carte Service all day
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
Phone 1618 144 Church St.

Hart Schaffner and Marx
SUITS and OVERCOATS
for
MEN AND YOUNG MEN
New Low Prices
$29 $34 $39
Peoples Department Store

Turk Says

Incontestably Correct

Distinction

WHO among us does not secretly aim to be distinguished—to be different from others?

John Shannon's English Coats

add just that touch of distinction which all well-dressed men seek. They are "Incontestably Correct".

Illustrated Booklet, showing three Fall Models, sent on request

Turk's

MAGNUS IMPORTS, Ltd.
Sole Selling Agents
200 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Wholesale Only

Cavendish Rag

John Shannon's English Clothes

Co-ed Page

TEACHING COURSE FOR UPPERCLASSMEN WILL BEGIN AT GYM TODAY

A combination course of Methods of Teaching of Physical Education, and regular Senior and Junior Physical Training is to be instituted this year. The first class will meet Friday afternoon, November 19, at two o'clock. Classes will be held once a week, thereafter, until the Easter Vacation—meeting on Fridays at two o'clock. This will count as regular Junior-Senior gym.

Five lessons will be given in basketball instruction; four in baseball; two in volley ball; and six in gymnastics and folk dancing. The course will commence with the theory and practice of basketball (throws, plays, etc.). Baseball, volley ball, gymnastics, games, and folk dancing will follow.

The students will find this a very helpful course, in that not only will the usual exercise be obtained, but also ability to coach. A large number of women graduates of Vermont have been asked to handle sports and various forms of physical exercise in the communities in which they teach.

A written recommendation will be given to all those who satisfactorily complete the course.

PROCESS OF SELECTION

There was no one at the Christmas card counter on this particular afternoon. People were not thinking about greeting cards, with Yuletide a good three fortnights away. The sun streamed through rain-flecked windows, and made shadows across the cards, white as mountain snow, the cards, blue as gentian, and the gray cards, which remind one of November dusk. Now and then, the sound of a train switching, or a cursory glance at a washing, dangling between two windows of an opposite block, brought me back to the world of realities.

For the most part I was lost in contemplation of the stacks of cards before me. Here were three rubicund peddlers, in great coats, plaid mufflers twisted around their necks. Real Dickens' gentlemen were they. Here was a dashing stage-coach, riding hard to the end of the paper. Berried branches twinkled from the windows and from the driver's hat. The destination perhaps was a tavern, for Christmas loves this merry, merry place;

Christmas saith with fondest face,
Brightest eve, brighest hair;
Ben, the drink tastes rare of sack and mace:

Rare!'"

Orange tipped candles at a window brought to mind Kate Douglas Wiggins' "Romance." And what a charming galaxy of poinsettias!

The star gleamed from a pasteboard carton. Madonna and Child, and Holy Joseph, and the Angels of the Lord awakened reverent thoughts. The meaning of Christianity was there.

Among the children's cards was a truly charming little miss, whose yellow bonnet was tied under her chin with ribbons, and whose bandbox was filled with mistletoe. Here, Santa Claus, grand old tradition was lifting his pack into a chimney. Here, he was whirling athwart the moon in his reindeer sleigh.

What history there is behind Christmas cards and before them! Theirs is a past and a future. Who is "H. P."? Has he, who pens those initials below the lowest floor, an innate love of English Yuletides and "Devon's glorious fields"? Is "H. P." as glad at heart as the mariner horse tends to show? Is he at peace with the world, he who draws the angels and the star? Will the recipient be cheered by a friend's remembrance? Will the message of good-will sweep gently the heart-strings for a single moment? Fitting personality to personality is an art. A nice discrimination must adjust the spirit of creator and the spirit of receiver to the truest harmony. I am not a connoisseur; and I lingered for some time at the Christmas card counter.

* * * * *

The store was closing. A saleslgirl, with deep circles under her gray eyes, came to me and wrapped up my cards. Clocks chimed the hour of six. Fifth Avenue was ringing in a nearby church. I stepped out into the hustle and bustle of the dinner hour, into a misty November night, with a sprig of holly and a package of Christmas cards under my arm.

Buddism says, "Be disillusioned—annihilate thyself."

LITERARY SOCIETY WILL ANNOUNCE NEW MEMBERS AFTER NEXT MEETING

Bluestockings held a meeting at Grassmount Tuesday evening to consider the contributions for membership. But there were so many handed in that it was impossible to read them all in one evening. Therefore it will be necessary to hold another meeting before the new members can be announced.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday evening, November 30 at Redstone at eight o'clock. It will be a social meeting.

Those members who have not passed in their papers for this month please do so before the social meeting. Papers should be given to Irene Bates or Laura Bliss.

POSTURE TALKS WILL BE GIVEN AT END OF MONTH

All outdoor classwork ends at Thanksgiving but indoor classes will not begin Monday and Tuesday, November 29 and 30. Instead, Sophomores and Freshmen are required to attend a Posture Talk at 4:00 o'clock in the Chapel on those two days. Monday, November 29 is intended for Academic women; Tuesday, November 30, for first and second year Teacher Training students. Specials may come either day. Roll-call will be taken.

CURRENT COMMENT

The Disappearing Personal Touch in Colleges

Clarence C. Little, president of the University of Michigan writes of "The Disappearing Personal Touch in Colleges" in Scribner's this month. Admitting from the outset that "education will always be, to some extent, an unsolved problem," he analyzes, with the aid of quotations, four distinct questions which arise in the mind of parent, student, faculty member and executive. They are:

1. The attitude of the college or university toward its students.
2. The dissatisfaction of students with the present methods of discipline and instruction.
3. Is it kindness to admit to college those whose fitness is doubtful?
4. The relation of religion to education among college students.

Under the first, he mentions the "greater degree of simplicity" and the "mutual understanding between faculty and student" of earlier times, in comparison with the "restrictive method" which he illustrates by quoting the "announcements" of three institutions. He summarizes "scholastic achievement must be made a part of youth, not youth a part of a set system of scholastic achievement." Under the second, he gives his source of material as "reports of various student committees." It seems that many college papers and alumni magazines are seeking advice and suggestions from undergraduate scholars. He asserts that the college man "will eventually understand and participate in disciplinary measures which are based primarily upon the belief that he is and desires to be inherently decent, physically, mentally and morally."

Under the third he does not "refer to academic qualifications.....It is rather fitness in maturity, seriousness of purpose, honesty and sense of obligation." He thinks "that it is not kind to admit immature, frivolous or narrowly selfish boys or girls to college today. It is not even democratic to do so.....To assure ourselves, in so far as we can, that the boy or girl desiring a college education, largely at public expense, is able to show at least the fundamentals of a democratic social personality is our clear duty. Under the fourth question, he says "nothing seems to me to be farther from the truth than the godless nature of our present-day college students... They decline to participate in organized worship....Many of our students feel that religion should be the crowning and most natural relationship into which man can enter and they are in great numbers desirous of obtaining access to a form of christianity which they can adopt happily and genuinely." He cites proportions from "Who's Who in America," and suggests as a book which has "caught accurately the spirit of youth today 'The Religion of Yesterday and Tomorrow,' by Doctor Kirsopp Lake."

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

FLORENCE HARD WILL COACH COURT TEAMS

Soccer teams were chosen on November 17 and 18. The games will be played on November 22 and 23.

Basketball begins on Tuesday, November 30. Florence Farr Hard U. V. M. '23, who studied basketball at Columbia this summer under C. D. Wardlow will assist Miss Blanchard in coaching basketball this season. All girls who wish to play are asked to sign up on the poster on the Physical Education Board in the "Y" room.

Y. W. C. A. TO MEET WITH PROFESSOR TUPPER

The Y. W. C. A. has been invited to meet at Professor Tupper's home on Sunday the twenty-first of November at four o'clock. This will be a very informal meeting and Professor Tupper has promised to read a few selections appropriate for the Thanksgiving season. We, who know him are looking forward to this occasion and we urge everybody who hasn't had the pleasure of hearing him to take advantage of this chance to make his acquaintance.

Oh! La! La!

(NOVELTIES AND ACCESSORIES WHICH MAKE OR SPOIL)

The dresses of the present season are not so very different from those of the preceding one and consequently the little things are playing a more important part in the dress of the lady of fashion. Take for example the question of stockings—silk should by no means be worn in the morning or for sports—for these occasions silk and wool hose should be worn either plain, heather mixed, or with contrasting clocks. The gaudy stripes and diamonds are as much out of place as the sleeveless sweater fad which immediately followed the war. But to wear a sports stocking to a tea or with even an extremely simple afternoon frock is to commit a social sin, for from four o'clock in the afternoon 'til the next morning silk is in the order—silk in light beige or gray, but never in gun metal or blue. The evening wear demands chiffon in gold or silver.

Gloves

But it is not only the material of the stocking which matters but also the gloves, hat and bag. These three things must blend exactly with the hose in color and also in usage for while one may wear a felt hat for most any event the gloves differ widely—now for shopping or classes a wash glove with a turn back cuff is the proper thing—while a kid glove of straight lines is suitable for teas or church and rough leather gauntlets answer the mode for sports wear.

The Bag

Now to turn to the "bag" question for classes or real shopping trips a small folder is easily tucked away and is neat and trim in appearance, but, for window shopping a bag of soft leather which may be tucked under the arm or else a roundish hanging bag is in the vogue while for teas a silver vanity case or a beaded purse is permissible—though the best dressed women do not burden themselves with such articles under similar circumstances.

Baseball Enthusiast: And then Griggsby came home on a liner.

She who is going to get slapped: Gracious, I didn't even know he was abroad.—Ex

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

HENRY'S DINER
155 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

NEED OF VENTILATION STRESSED BY COUNCIL

Do you properly ventilate your room? Far too many people seem to know nothing of the common-sense principles of proper air and temperature. If you are studying it will not be possible to concentrate to the best of your ability in either a too warm or a too cool room. Also the air must be fresh. We often criticize the conditions in certain classrooms but it is not true that we are often to blame. If a room is too warm no one would object to our opening a window but do we not expect someone else to do it instead? It is a sign of a very inefficient person who criticizes where he himself could improve the very conditions which he criticizes.

It has been complained by many that the dining halls in the dormitories are unbearably warm and that no meal can be enjoyed in such a temperature. There have been attempts to remedy this by opening the windows during the meal. But this brings a draft on certain people and is thus detrimental to them. There must be some solution for this. If the girls who wait table would open the windows when they go into the dining hall, perhaps fifteen minutes before the meal, and then close them at the start of the meal, the rooms would then be comfortable for all.

"When 'Tis Dreary Without 'Tis Cheery Within"
at
Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)

Russel W. Parish
JEWELLER & OPTICIAN
Burlington, Vt.

Sorority Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

The Grand Vice-President, Mrs. C. A. Hemis of Spokane, Wash., visited the chapter Monday and Tuesday. On Monday a tea was given in her honor at the house.

Shintoism says, "Be loyal—suppress thyself."

TAILORING OF ALL KINDS
Suits to Measure $26 up.
Overcoats $22 up.
O'HARA

MORE CORONAS ARE USED IN COLLEGE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE OF PORTABLE

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

To make the first part of life take care of the last part is the job we humans are up against.
I CAN SHOW YOU ONE WAY
"BERNIE" LEMIEUX '25
New York Life Insurance Co.

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

THE FRESHMAN CAPS
Sold at the
University Store
Are the ONLY authorized cap by order of the
BOULDER SOCIETY
We have a limited number so call early before our stock is exhausted.
Bouillon for cold weather will be sold at the
COFFEE CORNER

Winners
of First $2,000 Prize Contest

FIRST PRIZE . . . $1,000

Won by

Frank E. Phillips, 81 Longfellow Road, Worcester, Mass.

Winning Title

"Please your palate but don't punish your throat"

SECOND PRIZE . . $500

Won by

Mrs. Ethel B. Burgess, 3 Fairmount Ave., Auburn, Me.

Winning Title

"Old Gold delivers the goods without presenting a bill!"

THE 50 WINNERS OF $10 PRIZES

C. C. MacDonald, 481 Andover St., Lowell, Mass.
Harry A. Rodger, 14 Maple Ave., Andover, Mass.
Thomas Willette, Jr., 14 Oak St., Watertown, Mass.
G. M. Shurtleff, 76 Rugby St., Providence, R. I.
K. C. Maroney, 307 Blake St., New Haven, Conn.
W. N. Knox, 69 Undine Ave., Winthrop, Mass.
V. Gageon, 1345 Chapel St., New Haven, Conn.
W. J. McGarry, 9 Congress St., Rochester, N. H.
H. W. Curtis, 9 Cleveland St., Arlington, Mass.
W. W. Harris, 864 Crescent St., Brockton, Mass.
W. H. Miller, 2457 North Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.
M. J. McGonagle, 63 Ruskin Rd., Mattapan, Mass.
William Phelan, 714 Arctic St., Bridgeport, Conn.
Mrs. L. Clark, 309 Chapman St., W. Medford, Mass.
Miss M. Rearson, 336 High St., W. Medford, Mass.
H. Osterbera, 83 Cushing Ave., Belmont, Mass.
Wes Noble, Box 675, Fall River, Mass.
Mrs. I. W. Waitt, 19 Pleasant St., Reading, Mass.
H. C. Thompson, 21 Ellsworth St., Brockton, Mass.
Walter Morris, Meriden, Conn.
R. C. Bishop, 3 Cambridge St., Concord, N. H.
Bernice E. Comey, P. O. Box 31, City Mills, Mass.
Mrs. F. Gerling, 11 Orchard St., Holyoke, Mass.
Mrs. Earl H. Derry, Townshend, Vt.
James P. Marshall, 451 Pine St., Providence, R. I.
Mrs. G. P. Anderson, Cumberland Cen., Me., R.D.2
B. W. Hudson, 38 Oakley Rd., Woonsocket, R. I.
William V. Sheehy, 14 Laurel St., Waterbury, Conn.
N. de Popolo, 3-A Concord Ave., Cambridge, Mass.
E. S. Orr, 1 Estabrook Rd., Swampscott, Mass.
M. Silver, 16 Westview St., Dorchester, Mass.
Kathleen O'Hara, 80 Park St., Rockland, Me.
J. G. Campbell, 43 Warner St., Gloucester, Mass.
Arthur S. Blanchard, 43 Herold St., Roxbury, Mass.
Miss J. V. Swan, 1138 Smith St., Providence, R. I.
L. A. Outterson, 132 Hemenway St., Boston, Mass.
Edward Patrick Finnan, 43 Sachem St., Lynn, Mass.
Miss I. C. Sterling, 75 Arsenal St., Augusta, Me.
Chas. P. Hopkins, 55 Grove St., Ansonia, Conn.
L. H. Hackett, 10 Iroquois Rd., Arlington, Mass.
Joseph Young, 246 Fuller St., Dorchester, Mass.
George E. Arkwell, Cherry Valley, Mass.
B. Morton Havey, 103 Essex St., Bangor, Me.
Mrs. P. Galligan, 2 Pine Grove St., E. Milton, Mass.
Jennie Spicer, 89 South Market St., Boston, Mass.
Mr. Albert Ruhl, 86 Summer St., Andover, Mass.
Lawrence D. Brady, 30 Allen St., W. Springfield, Mass.
W. Hobron, 41 Berkeley Ave., New London, Conn.
R. J. Munkittrick, P. O. Box 174, Chicopee, Mass.
M. Oconnor, 44 A. Beacon St., Somerville, Mass.

WINNERS OF MISSING HEADLINE CONTEST . . . SEE OPPOSITE PAGE

"Friend, please your palate but don't punish your throat"

"You like a strong he-man's cigarette.

"So do I. But that's no reason why you should pay for it with a parched tongue or throat.

"Pick a brand that gives you all the punch you want without any punishment.

"Switch to OLD GOLDS . . . and get all the sweet without any bitter; all the pleasure without any penalty.

"They're smoothest—that's why!"

Some men have the mistaken notion that a real he-man's cigarette must be harsh and coarse. That's "all wet." A fine full-bodied cigarette, like a fine full-bodied Havana, is smooth and mellow. OLD GOLDS are mellowed by a new method that takes out all the bite and leaves in all the "kick." That's why you can smoke them without "throat-tickle"; why you can smoke and enjoy them morning, noon and night—without regret or after-effect.

PLENTY OF PUNCH · · BUT NO PUNISHMENT

OLD GOLD

THE SMOOTH*EST* CIGARETTE

20 for 15 cents

BAILEY DEBATING CUP IS UNDERCLASS DEBATE AWARD SINCE 1914

Numerals of Winning Debating Team Are Engraved on Trophy—Other Traditions Rumored

The Debating Cup was donated to the University of Vermont Debating Association in 1914 by Mr. H. Aiken [illegible] While at the University Mr. Bailey was active in debating and oratory. He was also a prominent member of the Commons Club and the Phi Mu Delta Fraternity.

The inaugural debate was instituted as an annual event in 1914 in which the trophy was won by the class of [illegible] In successive years following the trophy was won by the classes of 1918 [illegible] In the year 1918 there were no debates and no [illegible] Since then debates have been held yearly every year and [illegible] numerals have been engraved on the trophy. Those of '22, [illegible]

The trophy has grown up around [illegible] and highly valued [illegible] It has been and is, considered a great source of pride to secure the engraving of a class numerals to [illegible] already handsomely [illegible] the sides of this venerable [illegible] Among other traditions [illegible] cup is the rumored [illegible] of the winning team's imbibing [illegible] beverages therefrom in commemoration of victory.

Whether this worthy and time-honored custom may be continued in view of [illegible] constitutional amendments is a matter of speculation only.

This year the Sophomores are to be represented by C. H. Overly, P. V. [illegible], J. W. Hammond. The Frosh debating team is composed of Lane [illegible], Franklin Sears, and Herrick [illegible].

THE HARVARD-PRINCETON FEUD STIRRED UP BY THRUSTS IN LAMPOON

Threats of Princeton in Harvard's [illegible] have caused a break in the long-standing football relations between the two universities. An old [illegible] was brought to a head with the [illegible] Princeton's Game Number [illegible] of November 6, just before the [illegible] game and the afternoon [illegible] of the Crimson, also [illegible] by the Lampoon, announcing that [illegible] Roper held his breath too long when interviewed in his dressing room."

This "Harvard-Princeton feud" is based on Harvard's plan to drop Princeton from its football schedule, thus [illegible] the Big Three of Harvard, Princeton and Yale.

"It is unnecessary," began the Lampoon's former bomber editorial, "at times of [illegible] dissension such as this, to extend the editorial glad hand to the [illegible] with honeyed words concerning 'friendship's bond,' 'sports for sports sake,' 'may the best man win,' and so [illegible] and the usual catch phrases [illegible] accompany the keys to the city. [illegible] see no reason, however, to suppress the fact that the brotherly love [illegible] rivalry existing between Harvard and Princeton are [illegible] It takes more than the [illegible] of an athletic committee to [illegible] the effusions of a college.

"This is no hasty burst of feeling. It has been growing up steadily through the years and is culminated this summer in the proposal to drop Princeton from the Harvard schedule. That it was not carried out was due to no [illegible] on the part of the Harvard representatives. Lampoon looks forward to an impressive exhibition of [illegible] It will be a glorious [illegible] reverberating under the [illegible] Once more the old [illegible] days will [illegible] Harvard proposes to make [illegible] the Princeton [illegible] but once a year. It [illegible] some match.

"A [illegible] celebrating in [illegible] Princeton [illegible] with wine and [illegible] a cartoon showing two [illegible] [illegible] the caption beneath: [illegible] at the feet for dear old [illegible]

"Princeton was offended. President [illegible] expressed the hope that the Harvard attitude was not [illegible] typical along the Charles.

"But [illegible] refused to reply to Lampy's editorial. It suggested the time has come to examine the [illegible] agreement of the Big Three "with a view to strengthening the thing itself or [illegible] away with it immediately."

Princeton does not think it necessary at further cost to its dignity to preserve the Big Three.

The Harvard Crimson attempted to all troubled waters deploring the Lampoon [illegible] "gaucheries." It admitted that for years Harvard has adopted a patronizing attitude toward Princeton, culminating in the obviously undiplomatic incident of the early fall when Princeton was certainly treated in a cavalier fashion by those in charge of athletics at Harvard. This of course rankles in the hearts of both Princeton undergraduates and graduates alike.

Both Princeton and Harvard were partially responsible for bringing on this Tea Cup War, the Crimson decided. Furthermore, "such phenomena are intrinsic parts of all that the college of today and of the future must attempt with all its power to drive into permanent oblivion."

A few days later Princeton issued the announcement that she had broken her football relations with Harvard.—New Student Service.

MIDDLEBURY HOOPSTERS HAVE 18 GAMES ON SEASON'S SCHEDULE

The Middlebury basketball schedule which was recently published consists of 18 games and one date still pending. Only four of these are on the Panther's home floor; these being the return games with St. Steven's, the openers with Vermont and St. Michael's, and the match with the Massachusetts Agricultural College. The schedule is as follows: December 17—St. Steven's at Annandale; December 18—Upsala at East Orange; December 20—St. John's at Brooklyn; December 21—Pending; January 8—St. Michael's at Middlebury; January 11—Wesleyan at Middletown; January 12—Trinity at Hartford; January 13—Providence at Providence; February 5—Norwich at Rutland Winter Carnival; February 9—Vermont at Middlebury; February 13—St. Michael's at Winooski; February 15—Norwich at Northfield; February 16—New Hampshire State at Durham; February 22—St. Steven's at Middlebury; February 26—Springfield at Springfield; February 28—Vermont at Burlington; March 2—M. A. C. at Middlebury.

The downstater's hockey schedule has also been released, containing 8 games and one pending, as follows: December 18—Hamilton at Clinton; January 14—Amherst at Amherst; February 2—Vermont at Burlington; February 4—M. A. C. at Middlebury; February 9—Vermont at Middlebury; February 12—Pending; February 16—Williams at Williamstown; February 19—R. P. I. at Troy; February 21—Union at Schenectady.

With Graduates of the Class of 1926

The following members of the class of 1926 are teaching:

Harold F. Wilson, Wooster School Danbury, Conn.; Clara E. Whitney, South End School, North Hero; Ruth M. Wright, Goddard Seminary, Barre; Constance Weaver, Bakersfield; Arthur S. Stone, Richford; Elizabeth Sprague, North Bennington; Marcia Sisco, Richford; Leslie R. Rowe, Orleans; Lois Robinson, Benson; William A. Newton, North Troy; Beatrice Herberg, Madison, Conn.; Gladys Hapgood, St. Johnsville N. Y.; Alice Crowe, Springfield; Blandine B. Beauchemin, Stowe; Ruth M. Bacon, Freehold, N. J.; Agnes Town, Cabot.

Grenville S. Wilcox is with the Philadelphia Suburban Gas and Electric Company at 528 East 14th St., Chester, Pa.

H. R. Varney is doing research work at 489 Main St., Burlington.

Henry R. Norton, salesman for Frigidaire, resides at 55 Hanson Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Thomas H. Ketchum is a Highway Engineer and may be located at Lyon Block, Albany, N. Y.

Chester Bradley Russell acts as Special Agent for the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, 71 Allen St., Springfield, Mass.

David B. Hall is with the Canadian Bridge Company, Walkerville, Ont., as a draftsman.

Alfred E. Brooks is a chemist with the Eastman Kodak Co., 1187 Lake Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Henry W. Farrington has located as Instructor in Mathematics and Physics, and is Director of Physical Education and Athletics at Collinsville High School, Collinsville, Conn.

Kenneth B. Hendrick is farming in Franklin.

Russell Gray is Salesman-Demonstrator for the Purina Mills of St. Louis.

Philip Hodgdon has been appointed instructor in the Vermont State School of Agriculture at Randolph.

Harriet Thompson is a library worker in Medford, Mass. Her address is 79 Governor's Ave.

The Eligibility Department has the names of Freshmen and of the first two classes in the Arts and Science College on file at Mayforth's office. The grades are those of members of the athletic teams.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Independents held a meeting Monday night at 3 South College and elected C. S. Paine '29, as a member of the Gold Key Society. They also decided to hold a dance on December 17.

There was a meeting of the Vermont Cosmopolitan Club at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening. Goodwin Lee, a Chinese student at the University and a member of the Club spoke on China.

Nu Gamma of Phi Mu Delta recently initiated Ronald Moses of Groveton, N. H., Leighton Sanders of Burlington, H. Seigfred Martinetti of Barre, and George Poole of Lynn, Mass.

Kappa Chapter of Tau Epsilon Phi announces the pledging of Frank Mazel '30 of Burlington.

Charles Mace, president of the Freshman class and back on the Freshman football team, underwent an operation on his left hand Monday and has returned to his home for a few days. His hand became infected as a result of injuries received in scrimmage. No more complications are expected.

Last Sunday evening was association night at the Baptist Church. Clifford Quad '28, president of the College Y. M. C. A., read the scripture; R. B. Maxted, secretary of the College Y. M. C. A., offered prayer; Doris Harbour '27, president of the Y. W. C. A., gave a short talk on Association Work on the Hill; and representatives from the Girls' Glee Club sang in the choir. Rev. Oxley spoke on "Waging Peace." He said that we should be as feverent in waging peace today as we were in waging war in 1917-1918.

McAvoy Has Plenty of Veterans and Material for Basketball Tea

With football almost over, Vermont fans are beginning to look forward to the beginning of the court season. Coach McAvoy will have practically a veteran team to work with this season as only one letter man graduated last June, namely, Katz who held down one of the guard positions. Captain Marvin has a firm grasp on the center position while Prentice and Post can be depended on to fill the forward positions. Price, last season's guard will take care of one of the back court jobs. This leaves only one guard to worry about and there are several subs who saw a little service on the Vermont squad last year. The most promising of these candidates is Moodie, a fast man on the defense and with a fair eye for the basket. "Tim" Halligan, former all state guard on the championship Montpelier High team last season, will probably give anyone a run for his regular [illegible] after years. Whitcomb, [illegible] last season the pivot position, can be used [illegible] anything happens to Captain Ma[illegible] Jim Davies may be able to get [illegible] game after mid-years and [illegible] does will materially strengthen reserve forward strength. [illegible] one of last year's squad on the [illegible] man team and al[illegible] forwards seasons ago may [illegible] a [illegible] The chief weakness of the team year was lack of [illegible] it looks as though this defect will remedied during the coming season.

The schedule has already been printed and several [illegible] games ahead of the Green and Gold [illegible] One of the features of the schedule a tournament at New Haven in which Yale, Holy Cross, Middlebury and Vermont will participate.

Daily Dribble

Greece said, "Be moderate—know thyself."

Rome said, "Be strong—order thyself."

Confucianism says, "Be superior—correct thyself."

Life is an aquatic meet—some swim, some dive, some backwater, some float and some sink.

To master self—that is a worthy goal.

Digging wells is the only business where you can begin at the top.

Why freight a tub of words to express a spoon of thought?

FROSH NOTICE!

Frosh are warned that the [illegible] tion Vermont toques which [illegible] worn by first year men this [illegible] available only at the University [illegible] in the Old Mill. Other green [illegible] toques will not be recognized [illegible] may be worn only at the Frosh [illegible]

Compliments of

C. A. BARBER &

112 Church Street

Turn on the sunshine

WHEN Greek or calculus gets you into a tight corner, tie a tin to trouble—a tidy red tin of Prince Albert! Tamp a load of this really friendly tobacco into the bowl of your jimmy-pipe and light up. Watch the sun crash through the clouds with every puff!

P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat, no matter how fast you feed it, because the Prince Albert process gave Bite and Parch the air at the start. Cool as a Laplander's lap. Sweet as apple cider. Fragrant as spring blossoms. That's Prince Albert!

One pipe-load invites another. And . . . you can hit P. A. from morning till midnight and it won't hit back. Don't put off to tomorrow what you can smoke today. Get a tidy red tin of P. A. and turn on the sunshine . . . now!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 BURLINGTON, VT., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1926 NUMBER 18

Vote Taken Saturday and Monday to Determine Fate of Semi-Weekly

Cynic Policy to Be Decided in Poll Held by Student Senate November 27 and 30—Semi-Weekly Offers Many Advantages Over Weekly

The Student Senate will conduct a poll on Saturday, November 27 and Monday, November 30 to determine the students' wishes regarding the continuance of the semi-weekly CYNIC. Saturday votes may be cast in the Old Mill and at the Medical Building on the beginning of classes until 5 p. m. On Monday those who have not voted before may cast their votes in the Old Mill Corridor at any time before 5 p. m. Members of the Senate will act as checkers and will have tables in the Old Mill and Medical Buildings at the periods designated above for voting in each place. Charles Blackall '27, is in charge of the poll.

This poll is being held in accordance with the agreement which was made last spring when the semi-weekly issue of the CYNIC was discussed in a men's mass meeting and at a women's Student Union session. It was understood that if a favorable vote were taken on the plan, the new system would be tried until Thanksgiving time with no advance in price. As soon after Thanksgiving time as possible another poll was to be held at which time the students should vote as to whether or not they like the semi-weekly CYNIC well enough to have it continued at an additional cost of one dollar per subscription to be added to the term bills at the beginning of the second semester.

Vote in Favor of Experiment

The poll last spring showed the students overwhelmingly in favor of trying the semi-weekly plan. According this fall the CYNIC Board has published the paper twice a week up to the present time. If the students should not vote Saturday and Monday in favor of continuing the paper on a present basis, it will automatically become a weekly paper again and the financial loss incurred by the experiment will be borne by the CYNIC.

Improvements Caused by Change

To summarize some of the improvements which took place when the CYNIC became a semi-weekly, a few of the changes made at that time are described.

In order to give the publication more the appearance of a newspaper, the best grade of newspaper stock to be obtained was substituted for the gloss finish stock formerly used. With the same purpose in view the style of heads was also changed, not by the use of new type but by a change in number of lines and length. The type used by the CYNIC at present is the best to be obtained for a college paper and its excellence may best be appreciated by comparison with that used by other college papers.

The size of the sheet was also increased from a four column page, 14 inches in length to a five column page, 16 inches in length. Instead of the eight-page sheet once a week the present four-page paper is published twice a week and each edition contains three-fourths as much space as was originally printed in the weekly, making one and one-half to two times more reading material available each week than formally, this varying according to the amount of advertising.

News Covered More Adequately

The CYNIC is able to cover the news much more adequately than before and to print it while it is still quite fresh. Under the weekly plan the paper appeared on Saturday, and all material had to be in the hands of the printer, Wednesday night, making the freshest news at least three days old. Events happening on Thursday or Friday had to be left for the next week's paper.

Under the new plan the CYNIC is not merely a historical record but is able to print news which still bears some interest to the students. Important

(Continued on page 2)

LOIS BURBANK AWARDED PRIZE IN ART CONTEST

The judges of the Ariel Art Contest have announced the awarding of first prize to Lois M. Burbank '27 for her drawing of a division page, "Women." Miss Burbank, who was art editor of the 1927 Ariel, also received third place for another division page, "Seniors." Charles H. Mace, president of the freshman class, took second prize with a drawing, "Athletics." Florence A. Keyes '30 stood fourth with a page drawing, "Freshmen," and the fifth prize went to O. T. Wood for a cover design featuring Ira Allen.

Only a small amount of material was received from which to pick the winners of the contest. The results obtained, however, were satisfactory in view of the fact that this is the first attempt at such an affair, and indicate that it has possibilities if the custom be continued in the future and developed.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Robert P. Barnes '26 was at the Sigma Alpha Chi House over the week-end.

The University of Vermont is the recipient of a portrait of George P. Marsh. The portrait, painted when Mr. Marsh was about forty-five years of age and given by Miss Julia Willard of Burlington, will be hung in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library.

Miss Nellie Alexander of the education department of the University spoke at the second meeting of the Better Times League Thursday evening on "The Art and Science of Lighting." The meeting was at the Kappa Alpha Theta House.

At a meeting of the associate alumni of the University at the Kappa Alpha Theta House last Wednesday evening Walter H. Crockett spoke on "Early Burlington." During his talk, he mentioned some interesting historical incidents connected with Grassmount which is now a women's dormitory.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF FRATERNITIES TO MEET AT NEW YORK

The annual Interfraternity Conference, composed of delegates from the National fraternities of the United States and Canada, will meet at the Hotel Pennsylvania at New York, November 26 and 27.

More than 200 of the officers of the various fraternities will be present, as well as prominent educators from all parts of the country. Several college and university presidents will be on hand, among them the head of George Washington University, Dr. William Mather Lewis, who will make one of the principal addresses.

President William H. P. Faunce of Brown, who inspired the formation of the Interfraternity Conference eighteen years ago, is also expected. As a result of his idea fraternities have been encouraged to lay aside mutual jealousies and rivalries for the advancement of their common ideals and tasks.

Among the problems to be discussed at this year's sessions will be the paramount issue of scholarship, rushing and initiation, and a plan to develop regional interfraternity conferences in all the principal centers of the country.

The Conference will be presided over by Henry R. Johnston, Delta Kappa Epsilon from Williams.

In addition to the sessions of the Conference, which will take all of Friday and Saturday mornings, there will be a dinner of fraternity officials at the Hotel Pennsylvania Friday night and a dinner of fraternity magazine editors at the same place Saturday night.

JUNIORS NOTICE!

Grinds for the Junior men's section of the Ariel should be written before December 1 and left in the Ariel box in the Old Mill. All Junior men are requested to write a grind of from 120 to 150 words for each of any two members of the class of 1928.

FROSH DEBATERS MEET RIVALS IN CHAPEL FOR ALBION BAILEY TROPHY

Freshmen and Sophomores will clash once more this evening when they will debate for the Bailey Cup. The contest takes place at 7.30 in the Chapel. Interest is running high between the two teams representing the classes of 1929 and 1930. The question at issue is: Resolved: That the United States should cancel war debt owed by war associates. The Freshmen have assumed the burden of proof, the Sophomores are upholding the negative. The winners will have their class numerals engraved on the Bailey Cup. Peter V. Brikiatis will be the leader of the Sophomore team. His associates are Philip W. Hammond and Charles H. Overly. The Frosh leader is Lane Cross of Northfield, who will be assisted by Franklin Sears of Brattleboro and Herrick Macomber of Burlington.

All men and women interested in debating are invited to attend the contest. The proposition to be debated is the same which will be used in the varsity debates this winter.

STUDENTS TICKETS FOR TURKEY DAY GAME ARE ON SALE AT LOW PRICE

Special Rates for Vermont Supporters Available If Enough Buy Tickets

Reserved seat tickets for the Springfield Vermont football game to be played on Thanksgiving Day are on sale at L. P. Wood's Sporting Goods Store, the office of the Graduate Manager and the Medical Book Store. The regular price for the game will be $2.00 but any Vermont students who wish to go can obtain tickets for $1.00 at the above-mentioned places.

The football squad and band will number 80. If 20 students or outsiders are found who will make the trip a special reduced round trip railroad ticket can be secured for $11.00. Anyone interested should call or telephone at the Graduate Manager's Office.

LOCAL ROTARY CLUB INVITES MEMBERS' SONS TO DINNER ON MONDAY

The Burlington Rotary Club is to stage an evening's entertainment for Rotarians and their sons. The Club extends an invitation to all University of Vermont students whose fathers are Rotarians to attend this gathering as the guests of the Burlington Rotary Club. The dinner will be held at the Ethan Allen Club House, College St., Monday, November 29, at 6:15 o'clock.

NEW BLEACHERS WILL SEAT 1,080 PERSONS

Manager "Larry" Averill announces that the new bleachers to be used for basketball games are now on their way. The arrival of the new bleachers will be warmly welcomed, especially by the Freshmen, as already some of them know what a terrible time the Freshmen of the past have had with the old bleachers that had to be assembled and dissembled for each game. The new bleachers have no bolts and can be assembled easily.

The bleachers are very modern and will seat 1,080 persons, exclusive of those that can be seated in the balcony and running track. The main feature of the bleachers will be the footrests which will greatly add to the comfort of the spectators.

BISHOP SAMUEL BOOTH ADDRESSES STUDENTS ON VALUE OF PRAYER

Before a large crowd, among whom was a large number of students, Bishop Samuel B. Booth spoke on the topic, "The Value of Prayer," in the Old Mill Chapel on Thursday evening. The address was given in connection with Prayer Week, being observed from November 14 to November 20.

Bishop Booth pointed out that prayer is an exercise to get in touch with the invisible and that very few are expert at it, that prayer is a constant seeking on the part of the one who prays. He further pointed out that diligent practice on our part will lead us to pray for what is right and those who diligently seek shall ultimately find.

The Cynic will not be published Friday, November 26, because of the Thanksgiving recess, which takes many members of the Board out of town and is a holiday for the printers.

THANKSGIVING PARTY DANCE—REFRESHMENTS

Robinson Hall is to be the scene of a Thanksgiving party on the afternoon of Thanksgiving, November 25 at four. An afternoon of fun, refreshments at seven, a dance in the evening. An old time fiddler from Johnson has been engaged to furnish music for some real old time dances, while a five or six-piece student orchestra will aid in the modern numbers. Everyone is invited (eds and coeds). The party is under the direction of Florence Smith '27 of the Y. W. C. A. and Delbert Merrill '28 of the Y. M. C. A.

WOMEN STUDENTS MAKE LITERARY-SCIENTIFIC MOST POPULAR COURSE

Commerce and Economics Rates Second and Receives Heaviest Support by Men Students—Pre-Medics Gain

Literary Scientific is by far the most popular curriculum in the University. According to figures recently compiled last year the Literary-Scientific curriculum as it is generally known, had a following of 208 students. This year the enrollment in the course has increased 14. It is interesting to note that the most popular course is patronized largely by the women students. The ratio of co-eds to men in this course is three to one. In fact there are more women enrolled in the Literary Scientific course than in any other curriculum open to them, not excluding the two-year Teacher Training course.

The heaviest enrollment of men is found in the Commerce and Economics curriculum, which rates second to Latin Scientific in numbers. In the business course there are roughly three men to each co-ed. Total enrollment in this course shows a slight decrease from last year's figures.

General Science and the allied Pre-Medic course is almost exclusively made up of men. The Pre-Medic course has been augmented by a large inflow of 33 more students than last year. The Classical course in the College of Arts and Science interests only 14 men and 69 co-eds.

Co-eds are personae non gratae in the College of Engineering. The enrollment is made up totally of men. There are three departments in the College: Civil, Electrical and Mechanical. The first two departments have enrollments of 57 and the last an enrollment of 45.

Agriculture foots the list with an enrollment of 31. However the Home Economics Department of the College has 72 co-eds enrolled.

SEVEN MEN ELECTED TO CYNIC BOARD, ANOTHER COMPETITION TO START

As a result of the competition which has been conducted by the Cynic for the last two months, the following men have been elected to the Board: Merle A. Duval, Joseph W. Eaton, Harold P. Dow, Robert L. Stewart, and Robert E. Wilson, from the class of 1930, John G. Mediar '29 and Harold A. Fogg '28.

The next competition starts with the issue of November 30, and all freshmen or sophomores who desire to try for places on the Board are requested to meet the editor at the Cynic office on Friday, November 26, at 1:30 P. M. The next election to the Board will take place at Kake Walk time and all men who come out at the present time have an equal chance.

The Aggie Club held its regular bi-monthly meeting last Wednesday evening at which time Professor Depew of New Hampshire State University spoke on a particular phase of dairying.

A coed is as good as her roommate.—Ohio Wesleyan Mirror.

CIVILS SCORE LONE TOUCHDOWN AGAINST ENGINEER OPPONENTS

Valenti and Kyle Star for Winners—Game Played on Slippery Gridiron at Centennial Field

Last Saturday at Centennial Field, the Civil Engineers demonstrated their superiority over the combined Mechanicals and Electricals, trimming them in a football game by the score of 6-0. The score came early in the first quarter as the result of a pass, Valenti to Kyle, the latter crossing the line on the same play. Both teams were weakened by some players not showing up and by those on the varsity squad not being allowed to play. In the last half the Mechanicals used their entire squad of eleven men. Valenti and Kyle were easily the stars for the winners, the former getting off many long runs and the latter receiving numerous passes. Lyman and Cogswell put up a good game for the losers, Lyman causing the Civils not a little worrying during the last few minutes, and Cogswell breaking through the line and getting many tackles.

The Civils kicked off and after failing to gain, the Mechanicals attempted to punt, but the ball went over Lyman's head and the Civils recovered near the 10 yard line. After failing to gain through the line as the result of line plunging by Martin, Valenti threw a pass to Kyle, who was tackled in his tracks, but managed to squirm over the line. Valenti's attempted drop kick hit the bar and bounded off to one side. The remainder of the game was played on even terms, the Civils having the edge if any. In the last few minutes Lyman got off several long runs and with the help of a penalty, the Mechanicals reached the 20 yard line but the gun was fired before they could gain further.

The lineups are as follows:

Civils		M. and E.
Baldwin '28, r. e.		r. e., Ashcraft '28
Bragg, Douglass '29, r. g.		r. g., Reynolds '29
Phelon, Tucker '29, r. g.		r. g., Ely '28
Currier '28, c.		c., Cogswell '28
Mussy, Averill '29, l. g.		l. g., Davies '28
Southworth '27, l. t.		l. t., Johnson '29
Kyle '28, l. e.		l. e., Aiken '29
Valenti '28, q. b.		q. b., Lyman '29
Fiske '29, r. h. b.		r. h. b., Whitcomb '28
Shaw '28, l. h. b.		l. h. b., Morse '29
Martin '29, f. b.		f. b., Siebenmorgen '28

Touchdown—Kyle '28. Referee—P. D. Clark. Umpire—Whitmarsh. Head linesmen—J. Donnelly and P. Scutakes. Timer—Towne. Time—Four eight minute quarters.

RANDOLPH PAPER LAUDS PART TAKEN BY R. O. T. C. BAND ON ARMISTICE DAY

The Randolph newspaper was very complimentary in its article concerning Armistice Day events in the mention of the part taken by the R. O. T. C. Band that evening. Following is a quotation from it:

"The concert and dance given by the University of Vermont Band and orchestra at the Lamson Auditorium Thursday evening under the auspices of the Randolph Post, American Legion, in observance of Armistice Day attracted a large company. The musicians came from and returned to Burlington in three large motor busses. They stopped at Montpelier on the way down and serenaded Governor Franklin S. Billings at his residence. The governor was greatly pleased, expressing himself in a speech. Governor Billings said the incident reminded him of the splendid escort furnished him by this band at the inauguration of President Coolidge. The concert preceding the dance lasted an hour and a half and was a rather unusual demonstration of college band work. The sixty musicians introduced almost everything in band instrumentation, and the performance, led by Professor Lehnert, was remarkable for precision and tone. In keeping with the day the program consisted mostly of patriotic and war time airs. Following the concert an orchestra of ten pieces played for dancing which a goodly number enjoyed. The post cleared a small sum above expenses and had the satisfaction of putting over one more good thing for public entertainment. The Legion Auxiliary served supper to the band at the Parish House."

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the

NEW ENGLAND INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

Published every Tuesday and Friday during the college year. Subscription price $1.00 a year, delivered anywhere in the United States. Single copy 5 cents.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, 182 South Prospect St. All other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief at 207 Colchester Ave.

Entered at the Burlington, Vermont, Postoffice as second class matter.

Editors

J. Preston Phelps '27 ..... Editor-in-Chief
Richard C. Randall '28 ..... News Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... News Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Women's Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Sporting Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] '28 ..... Humor Editor
Lewis F. Jones '28 ..... Feature Editor
Wendell D. Safford '28 ..... Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

Charles H. Norwood '29 ..... Robert M. Tracy '29
[illegible] '29 ..... Frank G. Shedd '29
[illegible] '29 ..... Lois Bagley '27
[illegible] '29 ..... [illegible] '27
[illegible] '29 ..... Margaret Durick '29
Houghton A. Sanders '29 ..... Virginia Margie '29

Business Staff

William M. Lockwood '27 ..... Business Mgr.
Richard H. Martin '27 ..... Advertising Mgr.
[illegible] '28 ..... Assistant Manager
Charles H. Stevens '28 ..... Assistant Manager
[illegible] '28 ..... Assistant Manager

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if he desires. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Any business matter should be handed in or telephoned to 693-J before 9 p. m. Sunday and Wednesday.

In charge of this issue:

[illegible] ..... News Editor
Charles H. Stevens ..... Assistant Manager

Vol. 4 November 23, 1926 No. 18

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

Intramural athletics seem to have taken a long spurt lately with the passing of the much heralded game between the rival engineering colleges and the announcement of Key and Serpent that interfraternity basketball is going to be an important activity this winter.

It is seldom that a contest has aroused as much interest and talk as did the game which took place on Centennial Field Saturday. This must be the sort of thing that those who have been talking of developing athletics within our own walls had in mind. It would appear that every engineer who was free and eligible to take part was on the field ready to go in the fray. Enthusiasm, the lack of which is so evident at many of our intercollegiate contests, was not wanting. The game was the talk of the campus for fully two weeks before it came off and the relative merits of the various contenders will probably be discussed wherever two engineers meet for the next six months. This is the kind of sport to foster and the type which will booster up that lack of spirit that so many lament.

The Key and Serpent Society has something to work for if it will attempt the work on from the example which the College of Engineering has set for it. That this attempt is being made is evident from the rumors of the games which are being made for the various basketball tournament. Distinctive uniforms and good refereeing have been missing quantities in past [illegible] which greatly lessen the benefits to be derived from such competitions. More games will also aid in developing some good teams to meet at the finals. In the past little benefit has been obtained from this form of interfraternity rivalry because the majority of the organizations engaged in no more than one or two games and no preparation was made for these. The present policy of the Junior Society in starting early in the season with the league system which will allow each fraternity to play at least three or four games, should do much to put intramural athletics in the place where they belong.

Students contributing to the Campus Comment column are warned that no notice will be taken of anonymous letters. If desired, the name of the writer will be omitted from the letter, but in no case will an unsigned comment be printed.

The Wetness

Thanksgiving!

Oh, visions of turkey and cranberry sauce.
Of warm mashed potatoes and mince meat of course.
Of celery and radish, and after all these,
A big cup of Java, and crackers and cheese.

A big gobler drumstick and slice of the breast
I'll put on my plate—and I'll do the rest.

But what's the use of writing rhymes about an ideal dinner when really the nearest you'll ever come to it is by going to the Burlington Lunch and ordering it à la card.

The Boulder dance turned out to be quite a sizable pebble after all. We must take it on ourself though to suggest that the perpetrators of affairs in the gymn hereafter will not scatter so much sand, resin or whatever it was on the floor. I ruined my new satin slippers with the silver buckles.

Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE AT MILWAUKEE DURING CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

"For this generation—it will be Milwaukee," announces the Y. M. C. A. In numbers, this means three thousand students under one top: the Milwaukee Auditorium.

In enthusiasm, it means all that the Y. M. can possibly muster through the agency of its regular galaxy: G. A. Studdert-Kennedy or "Woodbine Willy," Charles W. Gilkey, Kirby Page, Bruce Curry, Mordecai Johnson, Harrison Elliott, Henry Sloane Coffin.

The topic is the radical one of Christianity itself: the question what it means, and what it was meant to mean.

The trains will pour into Milwaukee three days after Christmas, as in other years they have emptied into mid-Western stations: at Des Moines in 1920, the date of the last Y. M. conference; at Indianapolis in 1923 for that of the Student Volunteers in which the Y. M. had a share.—New Student Service.

Vote Will Determine Fate of Semi-Weekly

(Continued from page 1)

news may be handed in on Monday and Thursday mornings. The paper appears on the campus on Tuesdays and Fridays during the noon hour. Instead of the most recent events reported being three days old the newest material need not be more than 24 hours past. The new system of distribution has shaved some five or six hours from the time which it takes the paper to make its appearance. The postal service at its best never could be depended on to get more than a small percentage of the papers out on time. The papers are now obtained on the campus and are more widely read than before.

More Students Get Experience

Perhaps one of the greatest advantages of the new system is the training which many students receive in writing for the paper and in working in the managerial department. It has been necessary to greatly enlarge the Board. There are about 30 men and women writing and getting news for the Cynic at the present and about 12 men working on the business side. For the past two months there have been ten Sophomore and Freshman heelers out for the men's editorial staff and as many women working for the woman's editor. More underclassmen will be called out by the new competition which begins next week.

Vote for the semi-weekly and these advantages will continue.

SENIORS APPROPRIATE MONEY FOR THE BAND AND DISCUSS BLAZERS

A Senior class meeting was held in the Lecture Hall of the Williams Science Building Friday afternoon at four o'clock. Twenty-five dollars was voted to help defray the band's expenses to Springfield.

The matter of buying class blazers was discussed. A committee was appointed to investigate the cost of having the blazers made through different downtown stores. Only one estimate had been received at the time of the meeting.

Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

Ask to see Turk's New Tuxedo Suits $32.50, $42.50

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay per week for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan

LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS

Where the budget comes from — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York

156-158 COLLEGE STREET

Compliments of

C. A. BARBER & CO.

112 Church Street

We urge you to come in soon—before the regular Christmas rush commences.

Displays are complete and we are ready to give you every service.

Russel W. Parish

Jeweler

97 Church Street

TAILORING OF ALL KINDS

Suits to Measure $26 up.
Overcoats $22 up.

O'HARA

RAND'S HOME LUNCH

64 Colchester Ave.

Opp. Engineering Bldg.

Home Cooking Our Specialty

Lunches to Take Out

Something New!

A Vermont Calendar

—With the Campus Pines on the Cover.

12 pages of Campus Scenes,
To appear soon—wait for it.

Something Different

HOWARD'S APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP

Phone 2111 48 Church St.

Students' Trade Appreciated

XMAS GIFTS

We are now showing a large variety of

"Gifts That Last"

to practically cover your entire Xmas list.

We invite you to look over our stock while it is so complete.

▲ ▲ ▲

F. J. Preston & Son

JEWELERS

17 Upper Church St.

H A V E A C A M E L

A smoking pleasure that never fa

HERE is the outstanding fact of the entire cigarette industry: Camels never tire the taste, no matter how liberally you smoke them; never leave a cigaretty after-taste.

Only the choicest tobaccos that nature produces, only the finest blending ever given a cigarette could produce a smoke that never fails to please, that always brings the utmost in smoking enjoyment. Regardless of how often you want the comfort of a smoke, of how steadily you light one after another, Camels will never fail you, never give you any but the finest thrill of smoking pleasure.

That is why Camel sales, by far the largest in the world, keep overwhelmingly in the lead. Increasing millions are discovering the incomparable Camel quality — smoothness and mellowness.

If you want the one and only cigarette that's good to live with strenuously from morn to midnight — the cigarette that never tires the taste — Have a Camel!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

© 1926

Co-ed's Corner

Co-eds Attention!

Don't forget to cast your vote for the semi-weekly Cynic at the poll conducted by the Student Senate on Saturday and Monday.

STUDENT UNION

Delia Martin read the new social [illegible] the year. It was voted [illegible] accept it.

Y. W. C. A. vespers at Professor [illegible] were announced.

Adlin Tyler was elected campus manager of basketball.

Fraternity Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

The chapter held an informal dance at the Elks' rooms, Saturday evening, November 20. Professor and Mrs. Metcalf and Professor and Mrs. Carroll chaperoned. Paul Rider's orchestra furnished the music.

Alpha Chi Omega

Alpha Iota Chapter gave a Thanksgiving dinner at the rooms Wednesday evening, November 17. Mrs. Marvin, Mrs Whitney and Mrs. Carroll were guests at the program meeting presented by the Sophomores after the meeting. Carlotta Raine, Zeta Chapter, was the guest of honor and sang several solos. Alumnae present were Martha Leighton '23, Doris Sidwell, M. [illegible], Marjorie Perrin '22 and Amy Hammond '22.

Kappa Delta

Kappa Delta held an informal dance at the K. of C. rooms Saturday evening. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Yates, and Mr. and Mrs. Dresser. Flagg's orchestra furnished music.

CURRENT COMMENT

Longfellow

In the Bookman for November, Herbert S. Gorman writes of "Longfellow's Golden Years." This study forms a part of a forthcoming biography "A Victorian American," which shows the great poet as an ambassador to England mentioning Queen Victoria's estimate of the man. "Such poets wear a crown that is imperishable." Delightful Victoria! Here and now "he is on the high crest of the wave." Gorman says "Realism of any sort is not Henry's forte. Henry discussed Spiritualism with Tennyson. Henry even in his old age never loses his delight in a pretty face. Tennyson is in an amicable mood. 'Very English he is,' he notes, regarding Henry approvingly. Ruskin finds him 'a quiet simple gentleman neither especially frank nor reserved, somewhat grave, very pleasant, not amusing, strangely innocent and calm, caring little for things out of his own serene sphere.'" Gorman admits "Henry has ceased to grow." After this last trip to Europe, Gorman pictures him in his quiet "Cragie House," sitting by his study window, reading of the many disturbances about him, himself apart "graceful in this spectacle. He is a monument now and the sunny seventies form his calm afternoon of living." This is a beautiful picture of our beloved "poet of the people."

There follow political changes and revelations, the Chicago Fire and Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in '76 and many of Longfellow's friends [illegible] His seventy-second birthday [illegible] and with it comes a gracious [illegible] the presentation of an armchair made from the wood of the village blacksmith's chestnut tree, which [illegible] welcomes with one of his last gracious poems." It would probably be much assert that the old order in New England passes with the passing of the seventies, but it is certainly well on its way by this time. For some [illegible] the younger men are not of the same calibre as the older figures. The soil that developed them has been exhausted and though younger and more sky figures may spring up, the youths will be no more than shadows themselves. The pulse of New England beats too swiftly for contemplation. Henry is part of the tradition and, curiously enough, a part of another—namely, the Victorian."

It is a fine tribute, a close and more personal view of Longfellow than usual.

Joseph Conrad's Letters

Joseph Conrad's intimate letters to John Galsworthy and H. G. Wells appearing in World's Work are "the first of a series from the private correspondence of a master of literature. In these letters to his friends he poured his confessions, his hopes, his failures and his ever-growing victories. How the help, companionship and closeness of the friends is marked in the short personal notes! Vividly he portrays how the finishing touches of "Lord Tim" were put on. He struggled likewise with all his writing. Such an exaltation after a completion of a work and how well he describes his emotions to his friends whether in sickness or in the joy of life! Don't miss the picture from the oil painting of Conrad in the front of the magazine.

RURAL LEADERSHIP STARTS—BARN DANCE ON THANKSGIVING DAY

The class in Rural Leadership began Tuesday. It is conducted by Miss Holbrook at 7:15 Tuesday evenings in the Inner "Y" Room. If anyone wants to join it is not too late yet and there is some talk of having these meetings on Friday nights so that members of the Glee Club may attend.

There will be a Barn Dance on Thanksgiving Day.

Junior Women

Will all Junior women please put a snapshot of themselves in the Ariel Box in the "Y" Room for the Ariel as soon as possible?

A Co-ed's Diary

The majority of U. V. M. journeyed to Middlebury Saturday and saw among other things a "Hat rush"—that's even worse than our cane rush I think. And speaking of canes, President Moodie must have had a lot of practice before the mirror in order to handle the "Cane" so gracefully. And some dared to venture out again that evening—that Sigma Nu dance wasn't half bad was it? And the game furnished a convenient topic for conversation. Dr. Adams spoke at Vespers Sunday, a good crowd attended. He doesn't realize how he was honored does he? And last Sunday Professor Tupper entertained Y. W. C. A. Wasn't that great! We all look for warnings and still they don't come out—why not get the agony over with and make everybody more comfortable. English Literature caught some of the band napping—we don't blame you a bit after two sleepless nights. The radio Monday was fine—we agree with Will Rogers in his description of Russia. Hour tests again—seems as if we had barely finished with them for last "month" broadly speaking. Soccer—the girls all like to play at it but most of the time they hit the ground instead of the ball—if you think you can stand up on that field just try it! English Literature class omitted this week, every Sophomore wished Mr. Tupper a pleasant trip. And Judgment Day—those poor timid Frosh and what antics they performed guess next time they'll mind their P's and Q's. And Mr. Breciatis with his Christmas cards. Good luck(?) The Boulder Dance enjoyed the more since it was a Friday night—pretty fair n'est-ce pas? But the next morning oh dear me.

DEROGATORY LETTER COMES TO CYNIC OFFICE

An interesting letter was received by the Cynic this morning. Those students who are inclined to criticize the paper would have an opportunity to sit at the Cynic and burst into a long fit of laughter. Members of the Board are not taking the letter with much seriousness. The Cynic appreciates a good joke even at its own expense.

In the heavy mail which was received this morning, a letter from the Columbia Interscholastic Press Association was noted. It was addressed The Vermont Cynic, High School, Burlington, Vermont. The material which it contained would interest secondary school editors only. An engineer, who happened to be in the Cynic Office when the letter was received, suggested that probably the old joke about the College of Arts and Sciences being a "prep" school reached Columbia. The editors are wondering if the letter was sent by mistake or if the Columbia students were indulging in some subtle sarcasm.

SEVENTY COUPLES ENJOY BOULDER DANCE FRIDAY

The first Boulder dance of the year, held last Friday evening in the Gym turned out to be a great success socially if not financially. About seventy couples were in attendance. Dancing was enjoyed from 8:30 to 12:00 excellent music being furnished by Lachnyr's "Vermonters." Punch and wafers were served during the course of the evening.

Mr and Mrs Dophins and Lieutenant and Mrs. Fredericks were present as chaperones.

"When 'Tis Dreary Without 'Tis Cheery Within"

at

Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room

(Opposite Redstone)

HENRY'S DINER

155 BANK STREET

You eat well when you eat at Henry's

Where they serve the best at popular prices

The Old Bee Hive

FANCY WOOL STOCKINGS

New Color Combinations

$1.00 to $1.50

SILK AND WOOL STOCKINGS

Tans—Grays—Blondes

$1.00 $1.15 $1.50

John Ward Men's Shoes

INCORPORATED REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

$9

Permanent Display AT Hayes & Carney 107 BANK ST.

$7

John Ward Men's Shoes

INCORPORATED REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Stores in New York, Brooklyn, Newark and Philadelphia. Address for Mail Orders, 19 Hudson St., New York City

For Pure Home Made Candies

Call at

CANDYLAND

101 Church Street

Lackawanna Anthracite

The coal that makes Home Happy

Try it

Elias Lyman Coal Company

206 College St.

FOR SODA AND CANDIES

Go to

CHURCHILL'S Drug Store

96 CHURCH ST.

SHOES FOR THE OCCASION

BOYNTON'S

STATIONERY, MAGAZINES, NEWSPAPERS

• • •

Bessey News Co.

136 Church St.

HAVE YOU A UNIVERSITY SEAL BAGGAGE TAG FOR YOUR SUIT CASE AND WEEK-END BAG?

NONE OF YOU WANT YOUR PREP SCHOOL FRIENDS TO SHOW OFF THEIR COLLEGES MORE THAN YOU CAN YOURS.

STOP AT

University Stores

AND WE WILL SHOW YOU OUR BEST.

CLOTHES

Ready-made

And Cut to Order

ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.

Charter House

Suits and Overcoats

$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE

Charter House

OF BURLINGTON

The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.

MILES & PERRY CO.

"Quality Clothiers"

Established 1900

Track Dope

F. R. L.

Has the Cross-Country Season Been a Success?

[illegible] of sufficient funds to [illegible] a full cross-country schedule, the cross-country team has had an active season. Starting off with a single meet, a dual meet with Middlebury the [illegible] met an aggregation of veterans that [illegible] this year's Varsity team as Middlebury ran last year. In addition to having one of its best all [illegible] Panther this year had the advantage of previous intercollegiate competition. Against these [illegible] University offered a team whose experience was entirely different from the previous year. Our team was composed of Post, Tuddenham, [illegible] "Spike" Rowe and "Art" [illegible] on the team. Post is the only man back at college and eligible for competition, which he was unable to do because he returned to college three weeks late. Our 1926 team, composed of [illegible] Wood, Martinetti, Albee and [illegible] is entirely new and inexperienced with the exception of [illegible] who ran on the team in 2 [illegible] before going to the Middlebury game the team had had no intercollegiate competition. The third and great disadvantage under which our team labored was the fact that we had a squad of five from which to pick a team of five men. As a matter of fact we had a team of only four trained men for Mr. Rowe came out the last week when he learned that he was needed to make the fifth man of the team and ran in the meet with only four days training.

With all the advantage in the Panther's favor small wonder that those on the inside gave us not a ghost of a show. Rome even had it [illegible] that the entire Middlebury team would finish ahead of us. What the dopesters overlooked was the fighting spirit and perfect physical condition of those five men (excepting "Ki" Rowe's handicapped conditions) It was a sight not soon to be forgotten to see Dean Rowe's white jersey dash out on the home stretch with two blue jerseys a good fifty yards back. Rowe broke the tape with a time of 15 minutes and 25 seconds, for the three and one-quarter miles which is going some. The [illegible] score to 25 in Middlebury's favor was a surprise to all Vermont fans and the team felt as elated as if it had won a victory.

Interclass Cross-Country

This year for the first time in the memory of the writer, an interclass cross-country was held with 19 competitors. This would have been impossible last year. We are undoubtedly on the upward trend and the day will surely come when Vermont will not take Middlebury's dust in this branch of track as it has ceased to do so in regular track.

But the great need is more spirit, more backing. As long as we have five men from which to pick a cross-country team and eleven men from which to pick a football team, etc., our teams will take a back seat. (The football illustration is entirely hypothetical.) Of the nineteen men competing in the interclass meet ten were freshmen. Many of the others did not try for Varsity honors. The Middlebury coach showed surprise when he saw only five men toe the mark in the recent meet. After the meet the Middlebury boys were informed of the cause of this scarcity of men. We received the significant remark—"So there isn't much spirit at Vermont. Let's show them!"

SENIORS DEEM PRESENT DIVORCE LAWS ADEQUATE

Friday afternoon in the Williams Science Hall the Seniors held the most lively debate of the season. The popular question was "Resolved, that the Federal Government be vested with the power to control the granting of divorces."

The affirmative was upheld by E. C. Mower, C. W. Moore, and E. D. Marshall. The negative and winning side was supported by J. B. Phelps, O. S. Orton and E. J. Moodie.

The debate was characterized by bursts of oratory and appeals to the audience more than by any unusual knowledge of the subject, although there were one or two exceptions to the latter. Bursts of applause and laughter from the audience were common and used up much speaking time, a fact much resented by the participants in the discussion.

Mower starred for the affirmative and Moodie combined oratory and knowledge of his subject to good effect for the affirmative.

One feature of the meeting was the men's cheering section, which had not functioned before during the present year. It did much to enliven the occasion and were a great help in keeping up the spirit of the speakers.

"Has she a very musical education? Splendid. You can tell her the name of a song and she can tell you what's on the other side of the record."—Ala Rammer-Jammer.

CO-EDS CAUSE JAM IN OLD MILL SATURDAY

The coeds stirred up more commotion during the Student Union hour Saturday with their punishment of two freshman women for breaches of the frosh rules than the Gold Key Society could have done in 20 years. The corridors of the Old Mill were jammed so full that it was impossible to move. In spite of their efforts only a few were able to see the cause of the stir. One young coed climbed the stairs in an unusual manner and another made a perfectly legitimate proposal to one of Vermont's popular Junior men.

There is still uncertainty in the minds of many how such small incidents could cause the biggest jam in the memory of the oldest student.

Prof. Metcalf: What are the types of feeble-minded persons?

Willard '28: Idiots, imbeciles, morons, and..... didn't [illegible] anything about Sophomores.

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:00 A. M.—7 P. M.
We are now open on Sundays.
PHONE 1581

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

Corduroys
The latest in sport wear—
A Corduroy Coat with Knicker to Match.
$17.00
Hayes & Carney
187 Bank St. Near Majestic
OPEN EVENINGS

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under Free Press Building

STAR RESTAURANT
CHINESE & AMERICAN FOODS
Regular Dinner 45c
From 11 A. M. to 1 P. M.
A La Carte Service all day
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
Phone 1618 141 Church St.

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

Broadcasting from CRH

C. R. HANNA

"NEVER heard of station CRH", you'll say. Quite naturally, for CRH is not a station. CRH is Clinton R. Hanna, age 27, out of Purdue less than five years, a Research Engineer with Westinghouse at East Pittsburgh.

Any time you're listening to your radio, however, you may be getting better reception, a clearer program, because of CRH and the improvements in reproducing apparatus to which he contributed.

That story goes back to undergraduate days at Lafayette. Hanna, as a student, developed an intense interest in radio; and, making capital out of his hobby, his thesis was entitled, "Interrupter Type of Radio Transmitter."

To carry on his experiments, it was logical that Hanna should find his way into the Westinghouse Graduate Students' Course immediately after graduation. There he received varied practical shop training. Then, in less than a year, he was busily at work on his favored radio subject at the Westinghouse Research Laboratories.

One of his accomplishments has been the development of an improved microphone. He has introduced the electro-dynamic principle, in place of the condenser-transmitter type of microphone in earlier use. Hanna's development assures good quality of speech and music with greater continuity of operation than other types, because of its ruggedness and sensitivity.

For this inventive spirit and its result in microphones, Hanna's alma mater in 1926 honored him with a degree of Electrical Engineer to go with his Bachelor of Science degree of four years earlier.

And these are studies which still go on. There is no end to progress. It is because Westinghouse offers both facilities and appreciation for practical study that Research Engineers find satisfying careers in the Company's laboratories.

¶ "What's the future with a large organization?" That is what college men want to know, first of all. The question is best answered by the accomplishments of others with similar training and like opportunities. This is one of a series of advertisements portraying the progress at Westinghouse of typical college graduates, off the campus some five—eight—ten years.

Westinghouse

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 | BURLINGTON, VT., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1926 | NUMBER 19

SPRINGFIELD TAKES GAME FROM VARSITY

...ed and White Scores Only Two Points of Game When Candon Is Downed

...MITH IS INDIVIDUAL STAR WITH LONG PUNTS

Vermont came back into its old ...e form on Turkey Day to hold a ...arier and more experienced Spring...ld eleven to the narrow margin of ... Several times the Red and ...ite was within the shadows of the ...ermont goal posts but every time ...e Green and Gold line pulled itself ...gether and they held them for downs. ...e score came in the third period ...hen Springfield was forced to kick, ...e ball looked like it was going over ...e goal line but a fast Red and White ...n downed it on the one yard line ...ght in front of the goal posts. When ...andon tried to take it into the open ...d he was downed behind the line ...r the only score of the game.

...e booting of Jack Smith was ...y the feature of the contest; sev...a times when Vermont was in dan... ...ed the ball far down the ... ... long beautiful punts ... ... thing that saved Ver... ... a worse fate. He was also ... on the defense.

... half was about even with ... being able to make much ... the second half however ... to life and threatened ... a touchdown in the final quar... stopped by the gun.

... defeated by Middlebury ... Vermont's chances to ... Springfield to a comparatively ... seemed impossible especial... after Norwich came out so well ... Springfield, we think that the ... should be praised to the skies ... it also goes to show what the ... Vermont Fight" will do for a ... There seemed to be no partic... stars for Vermont in this game, ...erybody played the best they knew ... and nobody can ask any more of ... than they did at Springfield.

One of the Springfield papers seemed ... that Jack Conway took a ... chance in trying to run the ball ... under the goal posts but mem... of the team and Vermont fans ... followed the team to Springfield ...ree that this was the only thing to ... and so no blame whatsoever should ... placed on our fighting quarterback. ... Springfield this break turned out ... a story book for it was Capt. Haf... playing his last game for the Red ... White who downed Candon be... the line for the lone score of the ...

Vermont played far above the ex... of the assemblage of about ... and checked the Red and White ... many marches goal... when a touchdown seemed cer... Coach McAvoy's grid forces did ... to the air as was expected ... employed only straight-line ... which gave the Red and ... a lot of trouble.

SPRINGFIELD	VERMONT
...to, Capt., l. e.	r. e., Simpson
...Hafner, l. t.	r. t., Palmer
... g	r. g., Capt. Denning
... c.	c., Robinson
... Harwood, Leader, r. g.	l. g., Kropper
...ston McKillop, r. t.	l. t. Winchenbach
...ler, r. e.	l. e., Morse, Leary
...Enslee, Hinchcliffe,
..., q. b.	q. b., Conway
...mith, Linnell, l. h. b.
	r. h. b., Candon, Estabrook
...eves, Greene, r. h. b.
	l. h. b., Scutakes
...Mahnken, f. b.	f. b., Smith

Score: Springfield 2, Vermont 0. Safety, Candon (tackled by Hafner). Referee, J. E. Keegan. Umpire, A. W. ... Linesman, E. H. Greene. Field ...ge, F. J. Young. Time, four 15-minute periods.

Frosh Notice!

The only official Frosh Toque is sold by the University Store. All others are unofficial and will be dealt with as such. This will be considered adequate warning by the Cynic Society. Frosh, take heed!

Cynic Tryouts

All men of the class of 1930 who are desirous of making places on the Cynic Board are requested to meet the editor in the Cynic office on Wednesday afternoon, December 1, at 4 p. m.

COMMITTEES SELECTED TO AID KAKE WALK DIRECTORS ANNOUNCED

The directors of the Thirtieth Annual Kake Walk announce the selection of the committees which will assist them in preparing arrangements and conducting this popular festival. The Kake Walk is the first major event following mid-years and is the occasion of much rivalry among the different organizations competing for the cups awarded to those presenting the best stunts. Below are the names of the men who will be in charge. The Assistant directors have not yet been appointed. When chosen these will be two men from the junior class, who will automatically become directors in their senior year.

Directors

W. M. Lockwood '27, D. M. Rockwell '27.

Ushering Committee

Chairman, W. R. Doane '27; J. B. Phelps '27; F. M. James '27; D. M Johnson '28; R. T. Holden '28; F. J. O'Neill '29.

Seating Committee

Chairman, R. S. Aronson '27; C. G. Simpson '27; E. L. Boyce '27; K. W. Kyle '28; B. R. Morse '29.

Lighting Committee

Chairman, O. B. Nye '27; J. R. Morton '27; W. N. Cogswell '28; F. L. Sulloway '29.

Advertising Committee

Chairman, S. H. Martin '27; R. E. Lyon '27; H. T. Aplin '27; C. H. Stevens '28; H. D. Crandall '28.

Stunts Committee

Chairman, L. H. Averill '27; B. J. Humphrey '27; S. C. Abell '28; R. H. Albee '28; B. W. Gustafson '29.

Peerade Committee

Chairman, E. J. Moodie '27; E. C. Mower '27; M. I. Gould '28.

Kake Walking Committee

Chairman, C. H. Blackall '27; P. A. Goddard '28; F. R. Otto '29.

Announcer

O. F. Parody '27.

CANDIDATES WANTED TO TRY OUT FOR MEN'S VARSITY DEBATING TEAM

A meeting of candidates for the Varsity Debate Teams will be held this week. The time will be posted in the Old Mill probably Wednesday at 4 P. M. in the Old Chapel. All former debaters, and all men with scholarship records somewhat above C, and some speaking ability, are urged to try out for debating. Study and try-outs should begin soon. The men qualified to debate should feel the same obligation of loyalty to the University, as do men qualified for any other University team or activity.

A good schedule of men's debates is being completed by Manager Emory C. Mower '27. While no definite dates have been set, it seems likely that Waynesburg, Tufts, Colby, Maine, M. I. T. and Middlebury will be met, here or away. The question in most of these debates will be that "the United States should cancel the loans made to its associates during the World War." Among other problems that may be discussed are the McNary-Hangen government marketing bill, the protective tariff, the Oxford University system, reform of athletics, and disarmament. In some debates the modern features of divided teams (both colleges having one man on each side of the question) open forum and audience vote on shift of opinion "before and after hearing" will be tried.

Reading material on the war debt question will be found in "Foreign Affairs," "Annals American Academy Political and Social Science," "Current History," "Saturday Evening Post," "N. Y. Times" and references from the "Readers Guide."

An endeavor will be made to have members of the debate squad put on some debates, on war debt and other problems, before several Burlington clubs. This will be very valuable experience.

Whatever U. V. M. does in debating will depend on the willingness of the best men to enter into it. All men who can do this work should speak to Mr. Lawton Moore, public-speaking instructor, or to Mr Leon W. Dean, senior debating instructor.

1927 TRACK SCHEDULE CONTAINS FIVE MEETS

Spring Track Season Opens Against Montreal A. A. A. on May 7 at Centennial Field

The 1926-27 Track Season will officially open on May 7, when the Montreal A. A. A. will appear at Centennial Field. Last year the Canadians won from the Green and Gold by the score of 81½ to 53½. Captain Simpson was high point man for Vermont last year and as he is again captain this year, will be relied upon to bring quite a few points. Katz, Hill, and Platt graduated last June, which leaves a big hole in the weight events but Kropper and Woods should win places this year.

Hastings, who won the broad jump last in the Montreal meet, is back as is Prentice, who placed second. Hastings should also place in the pole vault. Shaw and Robbins will be available for the hurdles, as will Post, the Rowe brothers, Martinetti, and Albee in the distances. The dashes will probably be the weak spot this year, Crouter having left college. With the Indoor Meet this winter and the early spring training, Coach Latty should uncover some freshmen, who will fill the shoes of those who are not in college this year.

St. Lawrence is a newcomer to the Green and Gold's schedule, while the remaining schedule remains the same. The schedule is as follows:

May 7	Montreal A. A. A.,	here.
May 14.	Eastern Intercollegiates,	Worcester, Mass.
May 21.	St. Lawrence,	Canton, N. Y.
May 21.	Annual Interscholastics,	here
May 28.	State Meet,	Northfield, Vt.

FOOTBALL SEASON WILL CLOSE WITH ANNUAL HOP NEXT SATURDAY

Saturday evening, December 4, the Gymnasium will be the scene of the 1926 annual Football Hop. This gala event, one of the most popular informal dances of the social year, brings the football season to a fitting close.

Many novel features have always characterized this affair. Last year instead of the usual crepe paper decorations and fraternity booths, the Gym was attractively festooned with balloons and bunting. The dance orders were in the unique form of a football colored dark brown and adorned with gold tassels and lettering. New and startling ideas are made use of in these programs to make them truly emblematic of the football season.

This year the Hop is in the hands of a capable committee with Gene Knapp '27 of Phi Delta Theta as chairman. The orchestra and the reception committee have not yet been decided upon, but it can be safely said that the music will be up to the usual standard, snappy and tuneful. Dancing will be from eight-thirty until twelve, and refreshments will be served.

ARMENIAN TO ADDRESS INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The International Club (formerly the Vermont Cosmopolitan Club) will meet at the home of Professor Ladd at 515 South Willard Street Wednesday evening, December 1 at 7:00 o'clock. Mr. Barvarian, an Armenian, will speak on Armenia and Ekypt. The International Club is composed of foreign students and those who are interested in international and foreign affairs. All University men and women who are interested in foreign affairs are cordially invited to attend. The Club was organized for the purpose of establishing a better understanding of international problems.

THANKSGIVING PARTY HELD AT ROBINSON

The Thanksgiving Day party held at Robinson Hall under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. was a decided success and was attended by a large number of those who were forced to spend the day in town.

Beginning at 4 o'clock games were played until 6 when refreshments were served. The guests were organized into colleges and a series of intercollegiate matches took place. An old time fiddler from one of the Vermont towns was present for the evening's entertainment. Old fashioned dances were on the program and the only defect was a lack of teachers to instruct the dancers in the ancient steps.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. W. Dean and R. H. Manley served as chaperones.

1927 SPRINGFIELD GAME MAY BE HELD IN MORNING

It is possible that next year's Thanksgiving Day game at Springfield will take place in the morning, so that the fans may have their turkey dinner to look forward to after the football game which would take place at eleven o'clock. This will take the place of a boatrace which it was the custom to hold until within a few years at Springfield on the morning of Thanksgiving Day.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO AID IN DEBATING

Harry L. Ford, secretary of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce, has extended an offer through President Burley to supply University students who shall be preparing debates during the coming debating season with material. The Burlington office is able to get information for debaters through the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at Washington D. C.

Through the many departments of the National Chamber, practically every source of information is available and this service which the local Chamber offers should be of invaluable aid to students, who are members of debating teams during the coming winter.

Mr. Moore, instructor in debating, will offer to put on a debate before the local Chamber of Commerce. The opposing teams will be made up of Varsity debaters and should provide the local business men with very enjoyable entertainment if they see fit to accept the offer.

ROLE OF MRS. PENGARD IN APPROACHING PLAY ASSUMED BY MISS TAFT

Miss Eleanor Taft '28 is to take the part of Mrs. Pengard in the college play. This rôle was first assigned to Miss Ann Perkins but owing to frequent attacks of appendicitis and an operation undergone recently Miss Perkins is unable to continue in the part. Miss Taft is making rapid improvement and promises to do well in the rôle of Mrs. Pengard.

It is not definitely decided as yet whether Roger Albee or Whitney Doane will carry the lead as Ambrose Applejack. Both men are doing well and the choice will be difficult.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Miss Colburn went to her home in Albany over Thanksgiving.

John B. Sanford '15 recently gave a lecture on some of the phases of advertising before one of Mr. Crockett's classes in journalism. The work in advertising is a part of the work in the course in journalism.

Tuesday Nov. 23, Professor Burns of the Botany Department addressed the University Research Club. His subject was "The Photo-synthesis of Forest Trees," a résumé of a bulletin which he published during the summer. He stressed as his main point the fact that the amount of light which a forest tree demands is independent of the water supply available in the soil.

Kappa Chapter of Tau Epsilon Phi announces the pledging of Jack Levin '30 of Burlington.

At the first convocation of the year at St. Stephen's College, the student body voted almost unanimously to put into effect the honor system.

MEETING OF NATIONAL STUDENT FEDERATION TO BE HELD AT MICHIGAN

Federation Aims to Achieve Spirit of Cooperation Among Colleges in America

The Second Annual Congress of the National Student Federation, which was formed a year ago at Princeton, New Jersey, will be held at the University of Michigan on December 2, 3 and 4. Representatives from one hundred and sixty colleges in thirty-six states are registered for the meeting.

A delegate from this University was sent to first meeting of the Federation last year at Princeton. The Student Senate did not see fit to join the Federation at that time, but bulletins have been received throughout the year describing the work which is being done.

Purposes of Federation

The National Student Federation has three main purposes: (1) To achieve a spirit of cooperation among the students of different colleges throughout the country that the experience of one shall inure to the advantage of all. (2) to develop understanding between the students of America and foreign countries; (3) to further an intelligent student opinion on questions of national and international importance. During the past year undergraduate opinion regarding the prohibition law and compulsory chapel has been collected. Below are enumerated the methods some of which have already been undertaken and others of which will be used during the coming year to accomplish the three main purposes laid down above for the existence of the Federation. If these plans are carried out this organization promises to become one of the most vital influences at work among American Universities.

How the Federation Would Accomplish Its Purposes

1. The Annual Congress will provide a means of acquainting each delegate with educational problems and progress in other colleges of the nation. This will enable each college to have the experience of different institutions in diverse sections of the country with the resultant attainment of a more profound viewpoint upon its own difficulties.

2. The National Student Federation has established connection with the American Association of University Professors and the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Learning. Through this connection, Federation members will have at their disposal, articles, interviews and bulletins prepared by these organizations. The aim is to perform the same service for undergraduate life that these societies undertake for teachers. The intercollegiate news service during the year 1927 will issue bi-weekly articles by expert educators and leading students regarding important contemporary problems of undergraduate life, i. e., Freshman Rule in Athletics, Cooperation of the Student Council with the Faculty, the Problem of the Non-fraternity Man, Means of Achieving More Intimate Contact between Faculty and Undergraduates, etc.

3. The Open Road is acting as the Federation's travel agent in arranging tours of American students to various European countries. These tours consist of twelve or fourteen students and a leader. Cooperation by the National Unions of European countries secures entrée into government circles and private homes. During the summer of 1927, approximately five hundred students will travel under these auspices.

4. A special group of official student representatives will travel to Europe to study student conditions. These tours will conform to those of the English Speaking Union and will, in most cases, require a knowledge of the language and the country visited.

5. The National Student Federation will act as host to parties of European students coming to America and will provide hospitality and entertainment for them at the different American colleges and cities.

6. By arrangement with the Pan American Union, probably in the summer of 1928, student groups will visit Latin American countries and Latin American students will come to the United States.

7. The National Unions of European countries have offered the use of a number of private homes for American students during the summer. By pay

(Continued on page 3)

The Vermont Cynic

Entered at the ... Publication every Tuesday ... during the college year. ... $3.00 a year, delivered ... United States. Single copy ...

... communications should be ... to the Business Manager, 150 So. ... All other correspondence to ... at the Chronicle Office

Editors

... Editor-in-Chief
... News Editor
... News Editor
... Exchange Editor
... Intercollegiate Editor
... Humor Editor
... Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

Business Staff

... Business Mgr.
... '27 .. Advertising Mgr.
... '28 ... Assistant Manager
... '28 Assistant Manager
... '28 Assistant Manager

... and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Any ... should be handed in or telephoned (Tel. 602) before 9 p. m. Sunday and Wednesday.

In charge of this issue:

... News Editor
... Assistant Manager

Vol. 4. November 30, 1926 No. 19

OUR BAND

... organization on the campus ... has gained more advertisement for itself and for the college than any other during the past month. We refer to the R. O. T. C. band. Due to the indefatigable efforts of Captain Lawrence and the aid of committees from the Student Senate and Burgher Springfield was given the great pleasure of hearing the excellent music which Vermont talent can produce, and the football team had a special section at the Thanksgiving game to urge them on to their best efforts.

On the records of meetings held by student bodies during the past month something like this is spread, "motion to give 25 dollars towards paying expenses of band to Springfield passed." Almost without exception some such statement will be found in each secretary's book. Seldom has such a request been sounded for help to all the organizations on the Hill and ... no response was ever more gratifying. Because of this pecuniary interest which nearly everyone possesses in the band there cannot help being a greater personal interest in it ... each individual on the campus.

The band has made three trips and appeared once before a University student body. November The first ... to the Armistice Day football ... in Burlington. The Bandolph ... was lavish in its praise of the ... and the football team ... Lathrop.

... greatly appreciated the complete ... by the three ... on their way ... Bridgeport.

... say that the bandmen ... which they have received ... their bank accounts. ... the effort it cost them ... appear at the Boulder clusher on the evening of November 12 preceding the Middlebury game. They had ... all night following the Rand ... appearance attended classes all ... and yet arrived on time to play ... opening number at the pep raiser ... next day they were at the Middlebury game in full force.

From all accounts we should judge that an excellent showing was made on the Springfield trip and that a good time which we do not in the ... begrudge them, was enjoyed by everyone.

What greater evidence and advertisement of the spirit, which still exists at Vermont, can be had than the sending of a sixty piece band to a game 200 miles away and that on a holiday when most everyone enjoys a turkey dinner at home better than anything else.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of The Cynic:

... a number of low standing many ... are undergoing study ... hours every evening at which attendance of certain members is required. This is indeed very commendable and cannot but bring up scholastic standing in many instances.

There are other fraternities, however that make no demand upon the undergraduate as to his college work. He may study or not study, as he sees fit, and not be interfered with. This ... at first seems to be a very lax way and a hindrance both to the smaller organization and to the University, yet, though the fact may not in each case be realized, when all is said it is merely a working toward an ideal.

These last mentioned fraternities give each man the test of being equal or not being equal to acquiring a college education, they do not try to shove a man through college whether he belongs there or not.

All through our four years here we are compelled to make a bluff at becoming educated. Were we not compelled we would be making some ... besides a bluff. We have to go ... and have to do assignments. ... many of us have not even the alternative of leaving, because we have been told we must go to college.

If we were not pushed perhaps many of us would not stay here long; but wouldn't the charge wake us up, wouldn't the charge wake us up, wouldn't we realize that life demands a purpose and wouldn't it be better for us to realize the fact now instead of after graduation?

The fewer rules and requirements we can have as regards studies the nearer will we come to the actual college which this is supposed to be.

B.

WITH THE STUDENT OF THE CLASSICS

A Latin shark (?), in translating Virgil had had recourse to a trot. In ... having to read the selection in ... Simon stands cowering in the midst of the Trojans he made a wild stab for "exposure" and rendered the line "Simon was the sinecure of all eyes."

In the same Ode (III, 2) a fourth ... E. Eton rendered the last two lines as "Rarely has a Carthaginian lady abandoned her criminal precedent (Rarely has punishment failed to catch up with the guilty one fleeing ahead of her.")

Among other classic "boners," the following which took place in a French class, takes a prominent position: An Irish lad, asked to put into French the sentence "My dog is prettier than your sister is," rose to the occasion with "Mon chien est plus joli que votre soeur." Heaven help her!

A famous translator, who shall be nameless, has the following version of a line from Euripides' "Helen":

"For I should cover all the great exploits
That I achieved at Ilion with disgrace."

You upbraid a woman because she wavers between one man and another? Don't call her to task; she is only looking for a man who is constant!

—Goethe.

Meeting of National Student Federation at Michigan

(Continued from page 1)

ment of a small sum American students may live with European families and thus enjoy the opportunity of obtaining personal knowledge of the language and customs of the particular country.

At the request of the German National Union, the National Student Federation will send to Germany in the summer of 1927 several coaches and directors of athletics. They will ... German teachers in the practice and spirit of American competitive sports.

The Wetness

THE MIRACLE

Setting: At the pearly gates of ...

Time: Judgment day

Characters: St. Peter..Candidates for entrance, and assorted angels.

Act I

As the curtain rises, the golden staircase is revealed, thronged with departed spirits. Angels are grouped around the pearly gates and St. Peter is in the foreground with a "gold key" in his hand. He unrolls a piece of parchment, throws away his cigarette and speaks:

St. Peter: Two up for judgment today. ....First, Cinder Ella.

First Angel: Give her the razz.

Chorus: Yah! Yah! Yah! (harps twang)

Second angel: Hurry up there, Cinder.

Cinder: Can't hurry..stairs too crowded.

St. Peter: Make it snappy. Knock 'em down you dumbell!

First angel: Give her the razz.

Chorus: Yah..yah (harps twang)

(Cinder arrives at the gates.)

Second angel: Stand up straight.

First angel: Put your hands down.

St. Peter: Cinder.....

Cinder Ella: Call me Ella.

First angel: Give her the razz.

Chorus: Yah...yah (harps twang)

St. Peter: None o' yer lip! Cinder, you are accused of high-hatting the angels. (turning to angels) Is she guilty?

Chorus: Y..E..S!

St. Peter: (to Cinder) Go to Hell!

Cinder: I won't.

St. Peter: We have with us an example of a poor sport. (Cinder grins)

Third angel: Wipe off that smile.

Second angel: Kick her down the golden staircase.

First angel: Give her the razz.

Chorus: Yah! Yah! Yah! (harps twang)

St. Peter: Fer this, Cinder.....!

Cinder: Call me Ella.

St. Peter: Let us pray! Fer this Cinder, you'll flunk every darned entrance exam to heaven, if you cram all night: (to angels) Take her away!

First angel: Give her the raz.

Chorus: Yah! Yah! (harps twang)

Curtain

Act II

Scene: Same as Act I.

St. Peter: Next! Sally Hepatica.

Voice ten flights down: Here, Reverend Peter.

St. Peter: Snap out of it!

First angel: Give her the razz.

Chorus: Yah! Yah! (harps twang)

Sally: Here I am. Reverend Peter.

St. Peter: Sal, you are accused of slamming the door in the face of an angel. For this....you must die!

Third angel: She's already dead.

Sally: So's yer old man!

St. Peter: Cut the sass!

Sally: I'm sorry. Please pardon me, won't you, Rev. Peter?

St. Peter: Kick her down the golden staircase. (The angels obey.)

Voice twenty flights down: Oh thank you, Rev. Peter....dear dear angels, thank you. It's just what I needed!

St. Peter: (wiping a tear from his eye) Come up here, Sal.

Sally: I can't my neck is broken.. please, please excuse me, won't you Rev. Peter.

St. Peter: (to angels) Go get her! He breaks down and sobs (after interval, the angels return bearing Sally).

Sally: Oh, put me down.

(The angels set her down gently) She kisses the hem of St. Peter's coon coat.

First Angel: Will she ever forgive us?

St. Peter: (to Sal) You are a noble, noble girl, Sal, the kingdom of heaven shall be yours and all the angels therein. (He wipes tears from his eyes) To first angel: Gladys, open them gates! Gladys obeys. They pick Sally up and carry her in while the band of heavenly hosts brings up the rear, playing "Show me the way to go home"

Curtain Falls

NOTE: Dear reader, due to limitation of space the "miracle" had to be left out of this play, and I just could not think up another title. Please, please forgive me, won't you?

BURLINGTON THEATRE CLUB OFFERS PRIZES FOR NEW ONE ACT PLAYS

University students who are possessed of originality enough to write a one-act play are eligible to compete for prizes offered by Burlington actors. It has been many years since the college dramatic societies have given a play written by a student, but the contest described below should bring forth some ability along this line.

Believing that there is undeveloped dramatic talent in Vermont, the Burlington Theatre Club, Inc., celebrating its fifth anniversary, is offering prizes for original one-act plays written by Vermonters. The first prize is $25, the second $15 and the third $10. The judges of the plays submitted will be Professor Frederick Tupper, head of the English department of the University of Vermont; Professor William S. Burrage of Middlebury College, and Harold W. Slocum of the Theatre Club.

The rules of the contest follow:

1. The contest is open to any resident of the State of Vermont. All students in Vermont colleges are regarded as residents of the State.

2. All manuscripts submitted in competition must be mailed to reach the secretary of The Theatre Club before March 1, 1927. Manuscripts should be directed to Mrs. Paul K. French, 223 Pearl St., Burlington, Vt.

3. Each play must be signed with a fictitious name, and must be accompanied by a sealed envelope with the fictitious name on the outside and the writer's real name and address inside. In case return of manuscript is desired, return postage must be enclosed. The sealed envelopes will not be opened until after the judges have made their decision. The results of the contest will be announced not later than March 15, 1927.

4. No plays of more than one act will be considered. The playing time of plays submitted must be not less than 10 minutes and not more than 45 minutes. The action must require only one set of scenery.

5. There is no limit to the number of plays a single contestant may submit, but no play that has been published may be entered.

6. The writer will retain all rights in plays submitted, whether awarded prizes or not, but it is understood that The Theatre Club may produce any of the prize plays at any time without payment of royalty.

7. In case the quality of the plays submitted does not, in the opinion of the judges, warrant award, any or all of the prizes may be withheld.

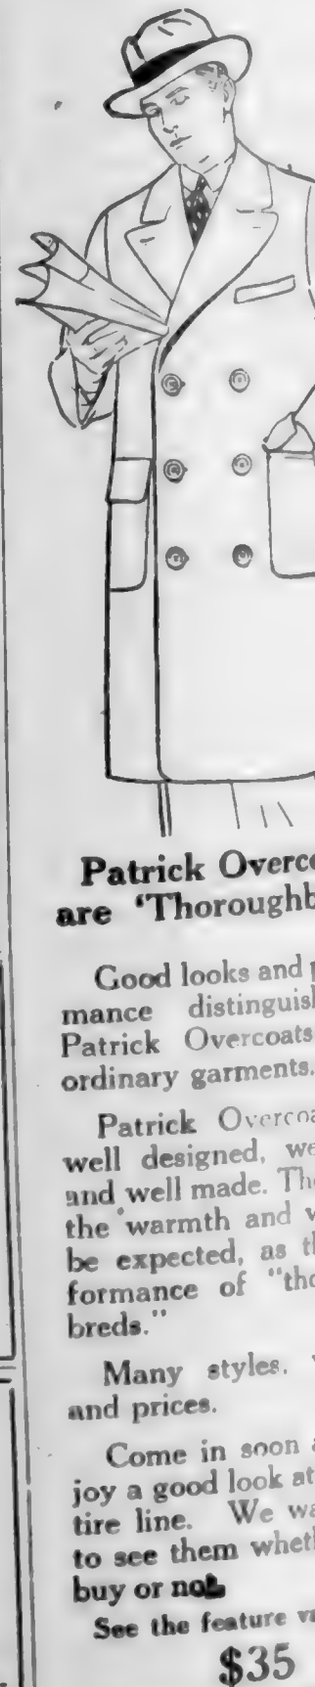
It has been the purpose of The Theatre Club of Burlington during the five years it has been in existence to foster interest in the drama by producing plays which the public would not otherwise have the opportunity to see. This purpose is in line with the prize offer now being made, and it is hoped thereby to encourage the development of native drama in the State.

CALENDAR FOR THIS WE

Tuesday, November 30
4 P. M. ...

Wednesday, December 1
4 P. M. ...
7 P. M. ...
7 P. M. Men's ... at the ...

Friday, December 3
3 P. M. Senior ...
4 P. M. Professor Samuel Emerson will ...
7 P. M. Men's ... sal at ...
7:15 P. M. ... in ...



Saturday, December 4
10 A. M. Women's ... Meeting in the ... Chapel.
8:30 P. M. ... in the ...

FRENCH LESSONS

Do you need a little brushing ... your FRENCH! Enquire about ... ing. Call 3125.

Ye College Hill Book Shop and Tea Room
(Opposite Redstone)

Patrick DULUTH
OVERCOAT

Patrick Overcoats are 'Thoroughb...

Good looks and ... mance distinguish Patrick Overcoats ... ordinary garments.

Patrick Overcoats ... well designed, well ... and well made. The ... the warmth and ... be expected, as the ... formance of "thoroughbreds."

Many styles, ... and prices.

Come in soon and ... joy a good look at the ... tire line. We want ... to see them whether ... buy or not.

See the feature value ...

$35

WRIGHT

HOWARD'S APPOINTMENT BARBER SHOP
Phone 3171 48 Church St.
Students' Trade Appreciated

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 Colchester Ave.
Opp. Engineering Bldg.
Home Cooking Our Specialty
Lunches to Take Out

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

THE GOLDEN PHEASANT TEA ROOMS
Corner Church and Pearl Sts.
11:30 A. M.—7 P. M.
We are now open on Sundays.
PHONE 3846

TAILORING OF ALL KINDS
Suits to Measure $26 up.
Overcoats $22 up.
O'HARA

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON E. DICKSON, Prop.

SHOES FOR THE OCCASION
BOYNTON'S

Co-ed Page

WOMEN BEGIN BASKETBALL PRACTICE THIS AFTERNOON

[illegible] practice begins at 4 [illegible] afternoon. Divisions into [illegible] each class have been care[illegible] so that girls who have [illegible] the same length of time [illegible] together. There are be[illegible] sessions on Tuesdays and [illegible] at 7, which include all [illegible] anxious to learn to play [illegible] portunity at this time to [illegible] ers who have had little [illegible] ence.

W. A. A. Council will have a dinner at Robinson Hall Wednesday evening.

An opportunity for girls who do not know how to dance to learn is to be [illegible] W. A. A. at 25 cents a lesson [illegible] ons. Those interested are asked to put their names in the box on [illegible] Cumming's office door.

CLASS IN RURAL LEADERSHIP CONTINUES

Miss [illegible]brook's class in rural leadership [illegible] has been held the past [illegible] Tuesday evenings, will be held on [illegible]day nights from now on. The next class will meet Friday, December 3. The place and the time are the same at 7:15 in the Inner "Y" room.

HEALTH CARDS COMPLETED

The Junior and Senior health cards have been finished and as soon as possible the results obtained will be published in the CYNIC.

OUTING CLUB

Eight girls went on the 5-mile hike towards Williston last Saturday. Doris [illegible] led the hike.

Sorority Notes

Alpha Xi Delta

Upsilon of Alpha Xi Delta held an informal dance at the fraternity rooms Saturday evening, November 27. Professor and Mrs. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Dean, and Mr. and Mrs. Dopkins were the chaperones. The Phi Delta Theta orchestra furnished the music.

Pi Beta Phi

The informal dance was held at the Phi Chi rooms Saturday evening, November 27. Professor and Mrs. Aiken, and Mr. and Mrs. Healey Randall chaperoned. DeWolfe's Orchestra furnished the music.

Delta Delta Delta

The chapter entertained at a dinner dance Saturday evening. Dinner was served at the Golden Pheasant after which dancing followed at the Eastern Star rooms. Professor and Mrs. Carpenter, and Professor and Mrs. Ladd chaperoned. Music was furnished by Paul Rider's Orchestra.

Alphi Chi Omega

Alpha Iota held its informal fall dance at the Phi Chi rooms Saturday, November 20. Professor and Mrs. [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. Dean, and Mr. and Mrs. Stoughton were chaperones. Ruth Wright '26 and Carlotta [illegible] Alpha Iota, attended the dance, Saturday.

Sigma Gamma

Sigma Gamma gave an informal dance November 20 at their rooms. Professor and Mrs. Wallace, and Professor and Mrs. Doane were chaperones. Music was furnished by the [illegible]. Alumnae present were the Misses Consuelo Northrop, Bertha Little, Alice Sunderland, Frederika Northrop, Doris Hall, Marion Little and Frances Farr.

THREE WOMEN ELECTED TO CYNIC BOARD

As a result of the last competition conducted by the editorial staff of the CYNIC three sophomore women have been chosen on the board. This competition was for sophomores only and was [illegible] weeks in duration. The new members, who were selected on the basis of regularity in furnishing and excellence of the material which they wrote, are: Constance Holden and Dorothy Cottrell of Burlington and Elizabeth Hagar of Clinton, Mass.

Another competition starts for freshmen and juniors tomorrow. Selections will be made from those trying out at Hare Walk time.

Cynic Scrubs Wanted

Junior and Freshman women interested in scrubbing for the Cynic will meet with the women's editor in room 3, North College, Wednesday at 4 o'clock.

Y. W. C. A. TO OBSERVE ASSOCIATION WEEK AND OUTLINE ITS FUNCTION

The week from November 29 to December 4 is to be Association Week. The purpose of this week is to set forth the things that Y. W. C. A. has done and intends to do as we find that there are many in college who are not sure of this organization's functions. Each day some part of the society's work will be explained through the bulletin board—so all should watch the Y. W. C. A. bulletin board this week.

Y. W. C. A. entertained the coeds at a barn dance Thursday afternoon and evening. Games were played and several stunts were presented. The party was held at Robinson Hall and was given especially for those unable to go home for the holiday.

PROPER WAY TO STUDY DESCRIBED BY MEMBER OF HEALTH COUNCIL

We have all been told many times that we came to college to study. If this is true then it is probably safe to assume that we spend a considerable share of our time in this pursuit. Now as posture is really the subject of this article, may we ask how you study, not in the mental sense of concentration, but in the physical sense of position.

There are several ways in which we hope that you don't study. There is the individual who is reading at a table; humped over, shoulders forward, back twisted, and feet at every possible angle. Another who has slid almost to the horizontal in a low chair. Still a third who is sprawled out on a couch in the worst possible position for study. If you are going to study, and we presume you do at times, first of all pick a comfortable chair. See that the light comes properly over your shoulder. Now sit easily in the chair, feet on the floor and with the shoulders and back resting against the back of the chair. Have your book at an angle so that you will not have to thrust your head forward like a turtle. Now being in a healthy and comfortable position you will be able, not only to get your assignment quicker, but to more fully comprehend it.

Oh! La! La!

Handkerchiefs

"Such small things," you will say, "what difference do they make?" "Just the difference between a well-dressed and a would be well-dressed woman is my reply," for it is the little things that count. Take, for example, the subject in question when should the gaudy-colored handkerchiefs be used and what is more important when should they not? The bright bordered ones are cheerful and most appropriate for the classroom or for sports use—while, on the other hand, those in pastel shades matching or at least blending with hat and gloves are most suited for church or teas or shopping, if it is in the afternoon. Now, for evening informal use any dainty little handkerchief is all that is necessary but for formal use white ones with lace edging or embroidered initial are the only ones permissible.

Collars and Cuffs

These articles, formerly used separately and easily changed so as to make the costume appear fresh, are now no longer so popular. Their use is limited as far as the fashionable woman is concerned to the school frock or the sporting outfit. In the first instance, a soft collar of a lighter shade than the dress is most usual and it is very plain—it has neither ruffles nor pleats nor is it stiffly starched. We have reserved the latter for our less fortunate companions, the men, who, on the campus at least, have made them conspicuous for their absence. The use of separate collar for sports wear is limited for the most part to changing this article on sweaters to keep them from getting soiled by heavy fur or leather neck lines worn over them. However, it is much smarter to use a scarf for this purpose and to on almost all occasions, omit the ever-decreasing in fashion detachable collar and cuff set.

CURRENT COMMENT

Rumania

Since we were all, more or less, interested in the royal visit of the Queen of Rumania and since so much paper talk has arisen, "Rumania and Her Problems: Some Personal Impressions by Robert MacIlray are welcome.

He refers to the stirring event though less sensational in character than the entrance of Germany to the League of Nations with a permanent seat in the Council, saying that the "Little Entente, composed of Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania obtained two council seats, a testimony alike to the effective political solidarity of this group of States and to its growing power in Europe." Though Dr. Benesh, the Czechoslovak foreign minister, held the seat for one year, yet the "Little Entente had put forward Rumania as its candidate for a seat.

Country Subject to Frequent Raids

Hungary and Soviet Russia are not the only countries that present problems or difficulties of foreign policy for Rumania. "The komitajis" make raids at times, on all three countries. Rumania regards these sporadic incursions with the greatest calmness. She acts as a pacifying influence in the Balkans."

"Rumania is largely, indeed predominantly Latin and Western in her civilization and outlook, and she has just concluded a treaty of friendship with Italy. "Something quite definite politically lay behind the negotiations. The Vatican, General Averescu, the present premier of Rumania who received his military training in Italy and whether Bessarabia belongs to Rumania or not enter into the treaty which denies the latter fact, causing the treaty to be judged as a comparative failure by many Rumanians. Even a letter from Signor Mussolini is not smoothing matters over."

Economic Troubles

"In addition to the problems or difficulties with which her foreign policy is beset, Rumania has to solve various questions connected with her domestic policy. These are largely economic but impinge on the political sphere. During the great war, Rumania suffered terribly in the actual fighting and afterwards from the Austro German occupation. In 1919 she fought the Hungarian Bolsheviks. "Reconstruction was slow, the government printed bank notes which caused a depreciation of the currency." In 1922 the situation showed an improvement, exports exceeding imports, and the improvement continued during the three following years, last year being the least favorable of the period.

Centralized Power Tottering

Centralization has so far been the policy of all the Governments Rumania has had; decentralization is advocated by both the Nationalist and Tsaranist parties, and is one of their reasons for uniting against the government. It is the union of these parties, which together form a strong combination, that makes likely some very interesting developments shortly in the internal politics of Rumania. This article is found in the "Fortnightly Review" for November.

Innocent Pupil (to teacher of physics): Why is it that when two people are walking in the moonlight there is only one shadow? Ex.

We know what Mrs. Dempsey said to reporters when she heard that Jack [illegible] the crown. "I'm not interested in champ[illegible]ps, all I want is Jack

We urge you to come in soon before the regular Christmas rush commences.

Displays are complete and we are ready to give you every service

Russel W. Parish
Jeweler
97 Church Street

Lackawanna Anthracite
The coal that makes Home Happy
Try it
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College St

The Old Bee Hive

FANCY WOOL STOCKINGS
New Color Combinations
$1.00 to $1.50

SILK AND WOOL STOCKINGS
Tans—Grays—Blondes
$1.00 $1.15 $1.50

For Pure Home Made Candies
Call at
CANDYLAND
101 Church Street

XMAS GIFTS
We are now showing a large variety of
"Gifts That Last"
to practically cover your entire Xmas list.
We invite you to look over our stock while it is so complete.
F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

FOR SODA AND CANDIES
Go to
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
86 CHURCH ST.

L. R. She screamed for help when I kissed her so I gave her another [illegible]. Ware.

HENRY'S DINER
138 BANK STREET
You eat well when you eat at Henry's
Where they serve the best at popular prices

STATIONERY, MAGAZINES, NEWSPAPERS
Bessey News Co.
130 Church St.

John Ward Men's Shoes
$9
Permanent Display
AT
Hayes & Carney
107 BANK ST.
$7
John Ward Men's Shoes
Stores in New York, Brooklyn, Newark and Philadelphia. Or Address by Mail Orders 191 Hudson St., New York City

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

The University Stores
ARE GETTING READY FOR CHRISTMAS
WE WILL HAVE MANY SUGGESTIONS FOR APPROPRIATE HOLIDAY GIFTS
WHICH CAN BE PURCHASED FROM US
COME IN OFTEN AND DON'T WORRY
OVER YOUR CHRISTMAS LIST.

The Life and Customs of Students in Danish Universities are Described [illegible] and eventful [illegible] 1917), as [illegible] and lecturer of [illegible] of Kiel in [illegible] Ladd [illegible] department went, [illegible] stationed at the [illegible] of Copenhagen do[illegible] in the special field. [illegible] His observations [illegible] result of actual con[illegible] with Danish Uni[illegible] machinery of the Danish [illegible] great help in studying [illegible] and customs of [illegible] country in general [illegible] article the following in [illegible]

Mediaeval Atmosphere

The Royal University of Copenhagen [illegible] far from the main [illegible] of the city, on one of [illegible] quaint continental [illegible] surrounded by stately [illegible] which still breathe the [illegible] atmosphere. Our Lady's [illegible] Cathedral School, the [illegible] Library and the Bishop's [illegible] are all here in this square. [illegible] quiet and charm as a [illegible] to the University [illegible] by Knud Christian I in 1478.

Numerous Scientific Schools in City Maintained by University

[illegible] of the University is [illegible] the building of Our Lady's [illegible] in various parts of the city [illegible] in the suburbs the University [illegible] a number of scientific insti[illegible]

[illegible] students is only an [illegible] of the University [illegible] more important fea[illegible] of the work is the scientific re[illegible] of great benefit to mankind [illegible] Finsin [illegible] heart disease and [illegible] discovered by [illegible] of the outstanding [illegible] Danish scientific re[illegible]

Freedom in Choosing Courses

[illegible] has the traditional [illegible] philosophy, science, [illegible] law and theol[illegible] After the completion of a three [illegible] at the gymnasium the stu[illegible] takes his Studenter Examen and [illegible] at the University as a [illegible] degree. He indicates [illegible] subject in which he wishes to specialize. There is a common two-term course in philosophy, the first year for all faculties. The student is at liberty to choose his own courses and attends lectures when he pleases.

The great majority of students live in town and congregate for their social activities at clubs, such as the Union and the Students Christian Association.

Dormitories

The students are accordingly assimilated for the most part among the city's population so that there is no very pronounced esprit-de-corps on the campus proper. However, there are certain dormitories, where students may live during the course of their University period. It is a special privilege to live in the Dormitories and it is necessary to do especially good work during the first year in order to be admitted. No rent is charged, nay may be even given a nominal stipend. The best known of the dormitories is the Regensen founded in 1623 and erected by Christian IV, the builder king of Denmark. In addition to this structure, there was also built the Round Tower, 115 feet high, [illegible] famous astronomer Tycho Brahe used as an observatory.

Celebration Follows Studenter Examen

Coming back to the students, after they have passed their Studenter Examen we observe a delightful and interesting custom on this day of days, perhaps the happiest and most eventful in their lives. The students are carried away by a spontaneous urge to celebrate the end of the long tedious grind through which they have just passed at the Gymnasium. So they hire [illegible] elegant coaches decorated with flowers drawn by the proverbial four frisky prancing steeds in glittering harness and driven by stately dignified coachmen, dressed in royal livery. The carriages move along in a long slow winding majestic procession through the crowded streets midst shouting, cheering throngs. Arriving at Kongensnytorv, the city's principal square, the students, both boys and girls, alight from their carriages and clasping hands form a huge ring, then begin to dance and sing to the amusement of the public while the police look on benignantly.

The procession takes up its march again and finally ends up at Tivoli, Denmark's great Amusement Park located in the very heart of Copenhagen. Here the celebrants indulge in more merry making of an interesting nature until they disband. It is indeed a pretty sight and fascinating to the foreigner, to behold these radiantly happy smiling faces making merry, disporting about in their newly-acquired white student caps adorned with little colored cockades in the center.

Traditional Festivals Celebrated in Secret

Only the students of Regensen attend the festivals, which are kept from the public and the press. The outstanding celebration of this character is the observance of the 12th of May of the birthday of a Linden Tree, planted in the center of the court in 17[illegible]. The tree, dressed in light green with a pair of white gloves on her trembling fingers, receives the handshakes of the students and the good wishes for the year. At this time, when there is never complete darkness in Denmark, due to the brilliant northern lights, the students sing their songs and make speeches in honor of their arboreal friend.

Student Organizations

A Provost, chosen from among the professors, is in charge of Regensen. The life of the Provost is not always a bed of roses as the students often give vent to their youthful exuberance by ingenious pranks, played on their guardian angel.

Their Alarm Clock Club, which aims to wake up the inhabitants of the Dorm by fire, water or other delightful Student-Torture certainly does not add to the peace and happiness of the poor Provost.

In addition to the dormitory life, there are other societies where the students meet on a common basis. There is the Students' Council, chosen each year by the students to represent them before the University and the public. The Council is divided into committees corresponding to the six faculties. Its duties are to purchase foreign literature and doctors' theses for distribution among the students. Also, international conferences on subjects of research are arranged by the council. Recently it has raised funds for suffering students in central Europe and Russia and has aided in the building up of libraries in the devastated regions of Europe.

The principal clubs are the Studenter Forening (Student Union) and the Studenter Samfund (Student Association). These organizations maintain libraries, reading rooms and halls for entertainment such as lectures and dances.

A reception was given by the Student Union to a group of visiting American students in the summer of 1922. Three long tables, decorated with Danish and American flags, were arranged in the center of one of the large halls. It is the custom on such occasions for anyone, who wishes to display his oratorical powers, to merely rise and tap his glass with a knife. At this particular reception, a Danish student felt constrained to speak of the Norse discovery of America by Leif Ericson in the year 1000. Whereupon an American student arose and informed his Danish friends of the second discovery of America by another Scandinavian—Andrew Volstead, who did away with America's old Norse name of Vinland or Wineland.

The Student Clubs function also in a very practical and helpful way. For instance, they act as employment agencies, placing students on farms in harvest time; providing free legal aid; and arranging lectures for workmen and artisans.

Dramatics, music, the sciences, and professions have their respective societies. The Student Singing Society, over a hundred years old has an international reputation, having made tours to see the capitols and universities in Europe and America. In recent years, organized athletics have come into their own. Gymnastics, boxing, track, tennis, rowing, fencing, football (soccer), and cricket, all find a place on the University program.

The Rector Magnificus

The Rector Magnificus is the high-sounding title given to the president, who is selected every year from the faculty. He is an administrative officer of the University and a member of the King's Court, always present at State functions and wearing a large golden chain, symbolic of his exalted office. The Magnificus is not unlike a constitutional monarch, with his cabinet of 20 elected members of the faculty. This body meets in a little old red building, dating from the 15th century, beneath which is a crypt. At one time, in University history, the cabinet acted as a board of censorship of the drama of the country and had additionally the power to sentence students to a term in the crypt for any infraction of the University rules.

Social Status of the Student

The Danish student regards his university work as a very serious profession. "The time has passed," said a former Rector, "when students could regard themselves and could be regarded as special class, who looked down upon others as philistines, who were snoring while the students went pearl fishing—not always for the clearest and most precious pearls! They cannot regard themselves as a class placed above all others nor do they as a hundred or half a hundred years ago belong to a definite social life. Thanks to the democratizing of society and the small expense of instruction, more folks can now send their sons and daughters to the University."

Through the medium of the American-Scandinavian Foundation there is an exchange each year of American Students sent to three Scandinavian countries and a corresponding group of Scandinavian students, who are given traveling fellowships to American Universities.

STAR RESTAURANT
CHINESE & AMERICAN FOODS
Regular Dinner 45c
From 11 A M to 2 30 P M
A La Carte Service all day
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
Phone 1618 144 Church St.

UNIVERSITY BAND IS ATTRACTION FOR LARGE CROWDS AT SPRINGFIELD

Much Pep Stirred Up in City Before the Game and Maintained Throughout With Music and Cheers

All band men were excused from classes at ten thirty on Wednesday so that they might make connections with the eleven twenty train and accompany the team to Springfield. A special car was assigned to them which did away with the necessity of changing cars at Essex Junction and at White River Junction.

They arrived in Springfield at six forty-five and went immediately to the Hotel Clinton, where they were assigned rooms. After supper they played a short concert in front of the Hotel Clinton, which attracted a large audience, and then marched several miles through the city. Between selections the bugle and drum sections played several marches. The streets were lined on both sides with interested spectators. Several automobiles bearing Vermont banners joined in the parade, and the football team watched from the sidelines. After returning to the hotel the band was dismissed until one o'clock Thursday. Most of them immediately invaded the town in search of adventure, which was waiting on every corner. Several members had interesting experiences, and some were the victims of practical jokes.

Through the courtesy of Clarence F Castle '28 the instruments were carried to and from the station, the members of the band rode to and from the field in trucks. Music was played again on the way to the game.

There was a large number of Vermont alumni and supporters at the game, but the band did all the cheering and made most of the noise. In spite of inferior numbers they did more and better cheering than the Springfield cheering section. A Springfield policeman became amused at the cheering and requested that the band play "The Wearing of the Green," which Mr. Lechnyr did, to the amusement of the crowd.

During the halves the band marched around the field and played "Champlain." At different times during the game they played Vermont songs and sang them.

INSTRUCTION GIVEN IN WRESTLING WITH HOLTZ, M '28 INSTRUCTOR

Besides basketball and training for track the sports being developed this winter by the Physical Education Department will include fencing and wrestling.

Wrestling wil be taught for the first time under the direction of Raymond Holtz, M '28. The college is fortunate in securing the services of a man of Holtz's ability and experience in the mat game, to offer instruction in this sport. He has been very active in wrestling circles in Hartford, Conn., and with his experience and ability Vermont should soon take her place among the colleges represented by wrestling teams. Classes in wrestling will be organized beginning Monday, November 29 at four p. m. in the auxiliary gymnasium. It is proposed to hold classes regularly on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays at four p. m.

Fencing will be taught for the second season under the direction of Lieutenant Allison of Fort Ethan Allen. A conference with Lieutenant Allison will take place on December 1, in the gymnasium to arrange the details. Classes will be held on Wednesdays from four to six p. m., Mondays from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. and on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

A rather stout Sophomore, being asked in Military how a detail of scouts would enter a wood, replied that the scouts would "spread themselves over the entire forest."

Recently in Latin 2 a student reading Horace, by mixing the word order a bit, gave the gem "hither the contractor, with a crowd of workmen, lets down masonry into the deep, and the master, disdainful of the earth." We are going to ask the editors of the text to revise the next edition of the Odes to conform to this rendering.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

FRESHMEN GAIN 2-1 DECISION IN DEBA[illegible]

In a spirited [illegible] the Freshman debat[illegible] of Cross, Sears, a[illegible] a 2-1 decision over [illegible] made up of Overl[illegible] mond. The prop[illegible] solved: That the [illegible] cancel debts owed [illegible] The Freshman team [illegible] tive, and made good [illegible] not only with plausi[illegible] by truly masterful s[illegible] Sears of Brattleboro [illegible] for the victors in s[illegible] markably keen rebut[illegible] entire debate was mar[illegible] livery on both sides o[illegible] For the Sophomores [illegible] Peter V. Brikiatis [illegible] commendation.

The result of the [illegible] the Bailey Debating [illegible] of '30. The last hol[illegible] the Class of 1927.

JUNIORS!

The honor list blanks for Juniors and Seniors and the questionnaire blanks for Juniors will be distributed to fraternity houses and dormitories this week. Blanks for those living elsewhere will be found on the Ariel Box in the Old Mill.

That co-ed was not [illegible] tary to her own sex wh[illegible] half line from Euripi[illegible] is a possession for a [illegible] band only."

Tartan Clanste
The latest in Imported W Hose
$1.50
McGREGOR SPORT WE
Hayes & Carne
107 Bank St. Near Ma
OPEN EVENINGS

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking
MILES & PERRY, CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1909

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!
ANDREW CHARLAND
Barber
New Shop Under
Free Press Building

Student's Accounts Solicited
Turk Says
Ask to see Turk's New Tuxedo Suits $32.50, $42.50
This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay per week for 10 weeks
$35.00	$ 5.00	$ 3.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.36
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Where the Budget Plan Rules — Turk's — Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 BURLINGTON, VT., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1926 NUMBER 20

NORMAN THOMAS TO ADDRESS STUDENTS ON ECONOMIC PROBLEMS

Well-Known Journalist and Lecturer to Speak Here Next Week—Auspices of College Y. M. C. A.

On Wednesday and Thursday of next week, December 8 and 9, Norman Thomas will address a series of three meetings to be held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. The meetings will be held at 4 and 8 o'clock on Wednesday and at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon either in the Old Chapel or the gymnasium, the place not being definitely agreed upon at the present time.

Norman Thomas, Executive Director of the League for Industrial Democracy and contributing editor of The Nation and The World Tomorrow, is unusually equipped as a speaker on social and economic problems.

Graduate of Princeton

Mr Thomas is a native of Marion, Ohio. He is a graduate of Princeton University (1905) and of the Union Theological Seminary. In his university days, he represented his alma mater in college debates with Harvard and Yale was valedictorian of his class and was elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He spent two years in settlement work and some months in travel around the world before entering Union Theological Seminary. In his senior year there Mr Thomas became associate pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church in New York City and later, as director of the American Parish, did extensive work among the recent immigrant population of the upper East Side.

More recently he has served successively as secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, editor of The World Tomorrow and the New York Leader an interesting but short-lived attempt at a labor daily newspaper not purely propagandist in character.

In the fall of 1922 he resigned from associate editorship of The Nation to devote his time to the League for Industrial Democracy, with headquarters at 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

A Forceful Speaker

Mr Thomas is one of the most forceful and eloquent speakers in America on economic and international problems. He is this year lecturing before college and city audiences on many subjects. At present his efforts are being concentrated on bringing about better relations between the employees and employers in industry. Among the colleges at which he has spoken recently are Harvard, Cornell, and Union Theological Seminary. He is also a popular conference leader, being one of the outstanding speakers on a program of many eminent leaders who were at the Northfield, Mass., conference last June.

The topics on which he will speak will be taken from the following: "What is Industrial Democracy," "Race Religion and Fraternity," "Is Human Nature Helpless," "Some Questions for Prosperous America." Mr. Thomas is a speaker who will stimulate thought and who will have some radical opinions with which many will be inclined to disagree.

CATAMOUNTS WILL HAVE TURKEY DAY BATTLE AT SPRINGFIELD UNTIL 1929

A contract was signed last fall under which Vermont and Springfield College are to play a football game at Springfield on Thanksgiving Day for four successive years. The first game under the contract was played this year, Springfield winning by a score of 2-0.

Owing to a union of church services held in Springfield on the morning of Thanksgiving, the Springfield Y. M. C. A. and other organizations prevented the game from being played in the morning. However arrangements are being made so as to be able to play the game in the morning in the future.

It is proposed to send the band to Springfield again next year and arrangements will be made with Station WBZ to have the band broadcast from that station the night before the game.

Physiology tells us that we started from a single cell. Also, it may be added that we often end there, too.—Gargoyle

KEY AND SERPENT WILL GIVE BLANKETS TO SENIOR LETTER MEN

Last Tuesday evening the Key and Serpent Society met at the Owl House. The Interfraternity basketball series was discussed and George Talcott was delegated to interview the Independents as to whether they desired to enter the series or not.

Five "V" blankets were ordered for the Senior members of the football team. The following Seniors will be given blankets: "Swede" Aronson of Proctor, "Rolly" Aronson of Rutland, "Johnny" Candon of Pittsford, Bill Morse of Middletown, Conn., and Carl Simpson of Lyndon. Although "Swede" Aronson did not play with the team this fall, due to an injury received last year at the Norwich game, he will receive a blanket in recognition of his valuable services up to that time.

ALL JUNIOR GRINDS MUST BE TURNED IN BEFORE DECEMBER 15

Men's Grinds Slow in Coming Though Women's Write-Ups Nearly Complete—Senior Picture to Be Taken on Chapel Steps

Every Junior man will be expected to leave two grinds on any other Juniors in the Ariel box in the Old Mill before December 15. There seems to have been a misunderstanding about these, with an idea that the grind editors were to do all of the writing themselves. This is of course impossible, and for this reason the time has been extended two weeks to December 15. The grinds should be from one hundred and twenty to one hundred and fifty words in length, and the editors hope that no man will feel that some unusual ability is required.

Each Junior must also turn in a snapshot of himself, preferably a glossy print, before Christmas.

The work is progressing rapidly in most of the departments. The women's grinds are nearly ready for the printer, and other sections will be sent down to the Free Press soon. The David J. Molloy Company of Chicago are working on the cover design, and the Junior photographs will be sent to the Bureau of Engraving in the near future.

The Sophomore and Junior pictures for the Ariel will be taken on the Library steps tomorrow morning during the Student Union period. The Library has been reserved in the past for the Senior class, but the Chapel is now considered to be the logical place for their picture, since it is the finest and most distinctive of the University buildings. The Senior picture will probably be taken Saturday, December 11.

CYNIC TO CONTINUE ON SEMI-WEEKLY BASIS AS RESULT OF POLL

In a poll conducted by the Student Senate last Saturday and Monday, the students voted by an overwhelming majority to continue the CYNIC on the semi-weekly basis. The voting was quite light, the votes in favor numbering 380 and those against 80. The total student enrollment is nearly 1,300 and the votes cast amounted to 460. According to the agreement reached last year by the Student Senate, if the poll this fall favored continuance of the CYNIC on a semi-weekly plan, the price of the paper would be increased one dollar.

From 1909 the CYNIC was issued weekly until this fall, when the student organ was put on a semi-weekly basis. For several years there had been agitation to turn the CYNIC into a semi-weekly paper, but it was only last spring that the students voted overwhelmingly to try out the plan of issuing the paper twice a week. Pursuant to the mandate of the students the CYNIC began publishing two editions a week. The vote conducted last Saturday and Monday guarantees continuance of the new policy.

Where there is a snowstorm, there is a white, snowlike substance called snow.—Ohio Wesleyan Mirror.

POPULAR FOOTBALL HOP TAKES PLACE IN GYM TOMORROW EVENING

The Annual Football Hop will take place tomorrow night at the gymnasium. According to custom the affair is in charge of a committee chosen from the Sophomore class. The committee in charge is: E W Knapp '29 chairman, J P Hyland '29, R E Buckley '30, W S Rogers '29, H E Karr '29, K L Price '29, A Elzada Fiske '29, Margaret E Miller '29, Charlotte E Cleveland '29, Marion A Everest '29, and Lucille A. Brunelle '29. The chairman, Eugene Knapp of Quincy, Mass., is a popular member of the Sophomore class. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

According to the precedent established last year the fraternities will not have booths at the dance as was customary for a long time. The decorations of the evening will be simple. A large green curtain will be hung on the east side of the gymnasium. A large catamount made out of cardboard will be displayed against the green background.

Music for the evening will be furnished by the DeWolfe Serenaders. Chaperones for the occasion are Dr and Mrs. Aldinger, and Captain and Mrs Rattan. The admission is only fifty cents. As usual a large crowd is expected.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS. STUDENTS FORM CLUB

A new organization has been chartered on the Hill recently. A group of students from Springfield, Mass., and its immediate environs have formed a Springfield Club. A petition was presented to the University Senate a short time ago and was accepted by that body. The purpose of the club is to promote the welfare of students coming from Springfield and to encourage men from that city to come to Vermont. A meeting of the Club will be held in the near future after which the definite plans and purposes of the organization will be announced. The local Springfield Club expects to affiliate with a projected confederation of Springfield Clubs at other colleges and work with the Springfield Alumni Club. Harold Mayforth and "Hank" Dresser are advisory members of the Club. The following men from Springfield will comprise the membership of the new organization: E T Hare '29, A. S. Taylor '27, C. F Castle '28, O. T. Wood '28, E. J Roy '28, A R. Birchard, Jr. '29, H H. Ballou '30, A. W. Phelon, Jr '29, C H Mace, Jr '30, H. K. Borkland '30 and H A Slate '30.

CHINESE COINS GIVEN TO VERMONT MUSEUM BY ROBERT E. LEWIS

A collection of Chinese coins dating from 2254 years before Christ to the present day has recently been acquired by the University Museum, due to the courtesy of Robert E. Lewis.

For convenience the Chinese coin has had a square hole in the center, making it possible to carry a large number on a string. This custom made its appearance in 220 B C and for one exception has been retained for two thousand years.

The first piece has the date 2254 B C. It is an irregular piece of metal, fashioned similar to a Chinese temple. The remaining pieces until 1875 are quite similar in size and shape differing only in the date and the ruler. Each new ruler and rebellion had their own monetary system. The "Cash" has been the unit of the Chinese since the first appearance.

A "Cash" is an exceptionally small unit the coins being issued from five to fifty Cash. A ten Cash piece is about the size of our American quarters while a fifty Cash piece is of quite large proportions, exceeding the size of our dollars.

Since 1900 the Chinese have adopted the dollars and cents units, their dollars being worth about fifty cents in American money.

Here lies John Dubb for many eternities.
He pledged himself to six different fraternities.—Ez.

MEDICS WILL DEDICATE THEIR ARIEL SECTION TO PROF. F. K. JACKSON

The medical section of the Ariel is to be dedicated to Professor F K Jackson who for many years has been professor of physiology in the College of Medicine. Professor Jackson is now absent on leave from the college and is studying in Scotland.

The editor in chief of the section is A B Soule Jr M 28. C A Newhall M 28 is grind editor and W P Harrison M 28 is art editor. Other members of the staff are L E Wilson W L Deignan H F Sullivan, V M Turk and R S Holtz all M 28.

DEBATE CHALLENGE COMES TO VERMONT CO-EDS FROM MIDD

Frosh-Soph Women's Debate To Be Held Dec. 17, Preliminary To Organization of Co-ed Debating Society

Mr Lawton Moore instructor in argumentation and debating has received a challenge from the Women's Debating Club of Middlebury College. The Black Panther coeds are anxious to debate with the Vermont women. As the local coeds have no debating organization, negotiations for the debate are being held up until the women have prepared to answer the challenge which has been flung at them.

Preliminary to tryouts for the women's Varsity debating team a Sophomore-Freshman Debate between women's teams representing the classes will be held. Tryouts for the Freshman and Sophomore women teams will take place in the Old Chapel Monday December 6 at four o'clock. The subject to be discussed is "Resolved, That American academic colleges should abolish compulsory attendance upon lectures and adopt the Oxford tutorial system." All contestants for the teams will be allowed three minutes in which to speak. Previous experience in debating is not a requisite.

The underclass debate between the two women's teams will take place on December 17 in the Old Chapel. As yet no cup has been offered for the winners of the event, but it is fairly well assured that the victors will be presented with a cup similar to the Bailey Cup, which is the coveted prize of the underclassmen's debating team.

ALL VERMONT TEAM IS SELECTED BY CYNIC

After seeing the result of the attempt on the part of the Free Press to pick an all Vermont team we thought that we could not do much worse to have thrown our proverbial hat in the ring. It isn't a brown derby in our estimation either. The following teams were picked on a basis of the games in the state series.

We realize that there may be some one on the hill who will not quite agree with our selection. If this person will kindly wrap up his objections in a plain piece of brown paper and mail same to Sydney, Australia (which will be our address until the storm blows over), we will promptly refer same to our waste basket. We might add as we leave town that we had plenty of trouble in picking a second team due to the fact that there were so many candidates for this class.

First Team		Second Team
Whittemore, M.	l e	l e, Palmer, M
Molter, N.	l t	l t, Hourin, N
Furbush, M.	l g	l g, Denning, V
Crowley, N.	c	c, McProud, M
Wiley, M.	r g	r g, Tansey, N
Winchenbach, V.	r t	r t, Palmer, V
Dunlap, N	r e	r e, Simpson, V
Smith (Capt.), V.	f b	f b, Candon, V
Rice, N.	r h	r h, Kane (Capt.), N
Conway, V.	l h	l h, Willis, M
Golinick, M.	q b	q b, Sherman, N

1st Water boy, Whitmarsh, H V D

Herein lies the greatest misfortune of mankind:
That a man can control his actions and feelings
Concerning everything that happens in his life, until
The accident happens, and then he no longer contains himself.
—Grizzlyparser

PLENTY OF MATERIAL IS AVAILABLE FOR VARSITY COURT TEAM

Seven Veterans Appear For Practice—Many Other Trained Players Turn Out for Practice — Season's Prospects Are Very Good

Many veterans and new men appeared for Coach McAvoy's first practice session Monday night. At the present time the coach has about thirty men reporting from which to shape a team for the first game with Montreal A A A December 12.

There are seven veterans reporting who can be counted on this season. "Doc" Marvin and "Bob" Whitcomb, centers and "Archie" Post, Howard Prentice, "Jim" Davies, forwards, are already showing signs of their skillful work of former times. "Kicky" Price and Ellis Moody last year back court men look better than ever. "Mike" Katz and "Bob" Thompson, two of last year's hoopsters were lost to the quintet by graduation.

Several members of last year's Freshman team look promising. Among them are "Sap" Palmer, guard; "Hick" Morgan center, "Stanley" Estabrook, "Burt Morse and "Johnny" Pike, forwards.

There is a great deal of other good material available from former class and fraternity leagues. Some of these undoubtedly will prove to be very good. Among them are M V Taylor, George Graves, "Dean" Rowe, Muzzey McGinley, A Mackay, and E Mackay, also a good number of Freshmen and new men who look promising. Hugh Wallace, captain-elect at Exeter is out and should be useful. With this excellent material and others who will probably show up within a few days, Coach McAvoy will be able to shape another star quintet for the Green and Gold.

PROFESSOR EMERSON ADDRESSES STUDENTS TODAY IN GYMNASIUM

Students of the University will have the privilege of hearing Professor Samuel Franklin Emerson at a convocation this afternoon at four o'clock in the University gymnasium. Professor Emerson will lecture on the subject "Has Our Western Civilization Reached Its Final Turning Point?"

Professor Emerson is a native of Vermont being born in Northfield in 1850. He is a graduate of Union Theological Seminary, and took up post graduate work in the Universities of Tubingen and Berlin, Germany. He received his Ph D at Amherst and LL D at the University of Vermont.

In 1881 he became Professor of Greek in this University and remained in that capacity until 1889. From then until 1923 when he retired, he acted as Professor in History and Sociology.

He is widely known as a lecturer and preacher throughout New England and as one of the most scholarly men on the faculty. An interesting and facile talker he will both instruct and delight his audience.

NEWS IN BRIEF

G B Lucarini, Instructor in Mechanical Engineering, who recently underwent an operation at the Mary Fletcher Hospital, is reported to be gaining rapidly.

The condition of Anna K Perkins '28 after an operation at a local hospital, is improving.

Benjamin Katz, C V M '24 spent Thanksgiving in Burlington. Mr Katz is employed in New York City as an electrical engineer by the General Electric Company.

The Billings Library has been presented a copy of the book "The Last Legion," the author of which is Dr W A R Chapin '15. It is a very interesting book dealing with the experiences of 1,400 American doctors serving in the British Medical Corps.

Nowadays when a man marries he doesn't give his name to a girl. She just borrows it for a little while.—Utah Humbug

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the [illegible] COLLEGE PRESS ASSOCIATION

[illegible] Published every Tuesday during the college year. [illegible] a year delivered [illegible] United States. Single copy [illegible] communications should be addressed to the Business Manager. All correspondence to [illegible] Chester Ave.

Editors

[illegible] .....Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] '28.....News Editor
[illegible] '28.....News Editor
Women's Editor
[illegible] .....Sporting Editor
[illegible] '28.....Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] '28.....Humor Editor
[illegible] Ward '28.....Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

[illegible]

Business Staff

[illegible] Howard '27....Business Mgr.
[illegible] '27...Advertising Mgr.
[illegible] '28....Assistant Manager
[illegible] '28..Assistant Manager
[illegible] '28..Assistant Manager

[illegible] and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. They should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Any [illegible] should be handed in or telephoned before 9 p. m. Sunday and Wednesday.

In charge of this issue:

[illegible] A. Cornelius.....News Editor
[illegible] Ainsworth.....Assistant Manager

[illegible] 41 December 3, 1926 No. 20

A NEW CLUB

We note with pleasure the announcement in this issue of the formation of a new club to be comprised of men coming from Springfield. This is the first attempt of its kind to have been made recently by any of the groups on the campus representing the different towns and cities from which they come. One of the main objects of the organization according to the founders is the attraction of other men from their home city to the University. The formation of such clubs with this as one of their objects organizes the men who possess the real Vermont spirit in a way which will make that spirit the most effective in helping the University. Results of this sort mean advertisement of the college and the attraction of men of high calibre, who would never have come here otherwise. Therefore we congratulate the Springfield men on their endeavor and hope that others will follow in their steps.

[illegible] ACCEPT CHALLENGE?

From the jungle home of the Black Panther has come a debate challenge addressed to the Vermont women. The Middlebury girls are already organized to meet our local women while in the Vermont camp, thus far only plans have been made to accept the challenge.

The Vermont women cannot fail to accept the M[illegible] challenge. To do so would be highly detrimental to the [illegible] reputation of the University of Vermont. Middlebury defeated the Catamounts' football team this year and presumably the Black Panther is confident. If the Vermont women ignore the M[illegible] challenge, President Mead[illegible] may well parade again with the Panther cage.

Women debating teams are not uncommon in the large women's colleges here in New England. If a Vermont team is organized and sufficient interest is shown in debating it is quite possible to arrange for debates with these college teams. Thus far the Vermont women have entered the intercollegiate field only through the medium of the rifle team. Intercollegiate debating for women would be highly beneficial to the University of Vermont.

The Wetness

An Open Letter

[illegible] Faculty,

[illegible] for [illegible] a year you've kept us in [illegible] suspicion.
And pretty well we've stood it, though
[illegible] strain has been intense
We have stood off the evil day as well as mortal can,
But now we feel the time has come to ask you, man to man—
[illegible] (soft music please)
Are we [illegible] to go to chapel?
[illegible] Or do we have to go—
[illegible] at [illegible]?"
(We [illegible] the worst to know.)
Shall the sinners be excused?
[illegible] Faculty you know we love you so—
Won't you dispense
With this horrible suspense
Of darling' say it isn't so'

Just Between Us Boys

(Overheard at Faculty Meeting)

With Profuse Apologies to Life and [illegible] Mayer

Professor X My Dear, Have you seen the last Cynic? Because I think it is the most Revolting Thing, because I mean it is all Full of the Most Horrid Jokes on the Faculty Members and I think it is Perfectly Horrid, I mean I Actually Do! I think it is Perfectly Putrid the way the students say Mean things about us and I think it ought to be Stopped because there really ought to be a Board of Control or Something because you know my dear, if it goes on like This why they'll get so they'll say Anything and I really think that the Cynic Ought to be Suppressed or Something, I mean I Actually Do!

Song by the Cynic Editors

Our paper may be rotten,
Our news may all be stale,
Our jokes may all be borrowed,
Their humor very pale.
But there's one ray of gladness
That lightens all the gloom
For though we're punk we never can be
As punk as the Harvard Lampoon!

CAMPUS SERMONS

Volume I Section I A

To Freshmen

You can do just what you want to do in this world, Freshmen. You won't believe me now because you are too young to realize the value of your college training. You can go through the University and get all there is in it, or you can sneak through and come out empty-handed. It all depends upon YOU and your ability to go after the things you want. Why just take Jack Dempsey and Benarr McFadden for examples. Both are men of fame, of honor, of authority; but do you think their education was handed to them? Do you think Jack Dempsey would ever have been a champion if he hadn't had PUSH. Yet, he didn't begin to develop that push in later years, he started in young, at college. He had to dig for things he got. He worked his way through college and got his master's degree in philosophy before he even discovered that he was athletic. But he never would have discovered it of course if he hadn't gone out for everything. You never can tell what is waiting just around the corner for you.

Benarr McFadden was different. He didn't go directly through college. It was hard for him to learn. He was up at Middlebury for the first semester, and flunked out at mid-years because he spent too much time writing poetry. Still he was determined, and at once set to work in writing feverishly of his experiences at college. "It was my college life," he writes in retrospection, "little of it as there was, that enabled me to become a famous writer. Those delightful experiences on the campus were the inspiration of my greatest magazine, True Stories. It was here, too that I began to train my hair to its present luxurious growth. I would advise anyone to go to college for a few weeks anyway to get some ideas."

Here we have two illustrious examples of what may be accomplished with a college education. There are more, many more worthy of note. START today, Freshmen, to make the most of college, to develop PUSH. You can do it with ten-days' practice in getting in and out of the Old Mill between classes. Perhaps you may someday be a Jack Dempsey or a Benarr McFadden, and if you are, think of the glory you will give your Alma Mater. We may even be way up at the top of the list with Middlebury!

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

We have in the new chapel a large clock, which can be seen from quite a distance. Normally this ought to be of considerable assistance to students in arriving at classes on time. The facts goin' quite to the contrary. On the morning after Thanksgiving, when tardiness is especially to be avoided, this clock was several minutes slower than bell time. A number of students who might have reached Military classes by hurrying, supposed they had plenty of time and arrived, only to be credited with a cut as tardy.

I do not know which is correct, the chapel clock or the college bells, but I would suggest that if possible, for the convenience of the students, they be made to agree.

Yours sincerely,
'29

STUDENTS TAKE HAND IN REGULATION OF ACTIVITIES

Dean Armstrong of Northwestern announced in a speech that "the present student body has been demanding a voice in the management of its own affairs. We have just recently granted membership to four students on the highest faculty board for the supervision of student activities."

The Student Council of the University of Tulsa (Okla.) decided to enforce the honor system first upon itself. It adopted the following: "1. The student council goes on record as being against cheating of any kind. 2. Any member of the council found cheating will be automatically expelled from the council." All this ought to go without saying, but it hasn't always.

The Cornell Daily Sun, having found a tradition on its campus costly, cumbersome and silly, proceeded to try knocking it out. Junior Week was its name, and its effect hollow-eyed, and expensive. The duty imposed by this week was that of riotous enjoyment for three full days and nights, so it appears; for, as the Alumni News remarked, "these eighty hours of jazz presented the severest test of manly endurance."—New Student Service.

U. V. M. student breaks camera! At the Ariel sittings held recently, Clifford Quad '28 so affected the camera, that as he was about to rise, the tripod collapsed, the camera falling to the floor.

He: Someone took me for [illegible] Fairbanks today.
She: How's that?
He: I gave [illegible] the street car [illegible] "Don Q."—Buck[illegible]

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, V

Printing for every student need

WHEN THINKING OF
CHRISTMAS CARDS
IT IS GOOD TO KEEP IN MIND THE OL PROVERB
"The Early Bird Catches The Worm
Stop at
The University Stores
AND WE WILL SHOW YOU OUR BEST

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits and Overcoats
$40, $45, $50

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF BURLINGTON
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
MILES & PERRY CO.
"Quality Clothiers"
Established 1866

TAILORING OF ALL KINDS
Suits to Measure $26 up.
Overcoats $22 up.
O'HARA

STUDENTS ATTENTION!
For the Best Barber Service in the City go to
DICKSON'S BARBER SHOP
140 Church Street
Five First Class Barbers and No Long Waits
ELDON H. DICKSON, Prop.

We urge you to come in soon—before the regular Christmas rush commences.
Displays are complete and we are ready to give you every service.
Russel W. Parish
Jeweler
97 Church Street

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

Before the days of CORONA most College work was written by hand. Now everything is typewritten.
You'll find CORONAS at work in every college in the world. More are in use today than all other makes of portables combined.
Come in and see the latest model. It is the last word in portable typewriters. Standard four-row keyboard, wide carriage, twelve-yard ribbon—more big-machine features than any other portable. Price only $60.
We also have some bargains in used Coronas as low as $25.

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET

Co-ed's Corner

STUDENT UNION HEARS REPORT OF CONFERENCE

[illegible] Brown gave a short report of the conference which was held [illegible] from November 11 to [illegible] 20 colleges in the league [illegible] the Women's Intercollegiate Government Associa[illegible] system was discussed [illegible] by the head of the [illegible] department of William and [illegible] Besides the general "round table" discussions [illegible] the girls of Trinity College [illegible] with a banquet, a trip [illegible] House and a musical [illegible]

[illegible] introduced the question [illegible] debating. The first debate [illegible] between the Freshmen and [illegible] A challenge has also [illegible] from the Middlebury [illegible] debating team. If enough [illegible] it is hoped that both [illegible] can take place. All [illegible] met in the chapel Monday [illegible]

A Co-ed's Diary

My this week has seemed just like a dream. I never in my life had anything go past so quickly. First there was that Vesper Service at Professor [illegible]'s home when Mr. Aiken led splendidly. The first of the week everyone was so excited about going home for Thanksgiving and then the day finally did come and we all ate so much. And those who stayed in Burlington went to the Barn Dance at Robinson and my wasn't it jolly? But that fiddler surely showed us up as the dumbest of dumb. Then Saturday were the girls "informals." With the boys so anxious to be asked and the girls equally sparing with their invitations. That afternoon the Army-Navy game for those who could get near a radio—that game which was read like a story and was so full of thrills. Then Red Grange attracted our attention and all of U. V. M. turned out to attend the movie course at the Majestic. Wasn't it thoughtful of Dudge Mower to have to leave town that day? But every gain has its loss for having government Thursday isn't all that it might be. Dr. Aldinger talked to the women about posture. He was really interesting but it was unfortunate that those young men with nails entered at just the wrong moment. Debating attracted equal numbers of Freshmen and Sophomore women but choosing a question became almost a debate in itself. The band and team survived the Springfield trip and have appeared on our campus again looking as swell (ed) as ever. Maybe it was due to the dinner they had. Now, once more six weeks have passed, and we again are being swamped with tests, themes, reports, and all the things that go with them.

A LETTER

(WRITTEN IN THE COLLEGIATE JARGON OF THE TIMES, 1926)

Dear Mabel:

I should have written you before, but my goodness, I was never so busy in all my life! and I thought a Junior did nothing but have fun! As you know, I'm taking gymnasium, and its no Waterloo. Being lazy, I didn't feel inclined upon to take it my Freshman year, and I verily believe, Mabel, that I'll be meeting St. Peter or his worthy representative in the lower regions, in middy and bloomers.

A "gym" class in the middle of any afternoon is a bore, and this afternoon was a particularly busy one. Nevertheless, I went to the gym at three, and for once, I got there on time, which means hard labor on my part. To my great disgust, I found that the class had been changed to Thursday. I was very mad. There I had a free hour and nothing with me to study. Why couldn't I go home? Because I couldn't until four o'clock and listen to Dr. Aldinger's (he's our "dean of women") give a lecture on posture in the Chapel. Now really, Mabel, I have B+ in posture, do you see any pressing need for attending that lecture? Nevertheless I went, and got there with practically nothing done, and bored out.

A Junior's state is really a happy one, but when you come to college—you have to pass physical education before you reach that exalted position [illegible] I'm telling you, the Junior's life is not all roses!

Now write dear, and tell me all the news, but under pain of death, don't mention "gym," it's a sore subject, and I haven't been horseback riding either!

Sincerely,

BLANK.

BLUESTOCKINGS ELECT SIXTEEN NEW MEMBERS

At the meeting of Bluestockings held at Redstone Tuesday evening November 30, the following girls were elected to membership from the class of 1928: Vera Doyle, Anna Perkins, Rachel Skinner, Mabel Stearns, and Helen Stevens; from the class of 1929, Catherine Bassett, Alice Bellmore, Margaret Corbin, Mary Freeman, Dorothy Strong, and Mary Turner, from the class of 1930, Priscilla Campbell, Edith Fishman, Janice Goodrich, Mary Spargo, and Laura Thorpe.

The contributions were all read and considered very carefully, the name of the author being withheld until the final action was taken, to guard against any biased opinions. The new members will be welcomed at the Christmas party.

Sorority Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

Margaret Hazen '26 was in town over the week-end.

Anna Perkins '28 is convalescing at the Mary Fletcher Hospital following an operation for appendicitis.

FOURTEEN HOURS SPENT AT TABLE EVERY WEEK

Do you know what a picture taken of a typical table in one of the college dining-hall would show? No, we are not making any criticism of your table manners or attempting to imitate Emily Post in any way. What we are refering to is the posture of people at meals. Far too large a majority sit with round, drooping shoulders, head thrust forward, chest crowded inward, and feet entwined in drastic positions. How anyone can hope to properly assimilate a dinner taken under such conditions is hard to understand.

We spend on the average about two hours a day at the dining-table. This means fourteen hours a week. You wouldn't consciously do anything for fourteen hours each week if you knew it to be directly harmful. And think how much could be accomplished from fourteen hours of correct posture each week. Let's improve our appearance at meals. Keep your head up, your shoulders back, your feet on the floor and see if even dormitory meals do not taste better.

CURRENT COMMENT

Today

The Literary Digest International Book Review contains not only portraits of authors but thinking criticisms by well-read people on them. Brander Matthews speaks of Kipling's sobriety and sanity, his regard for form, his resolute self-control, his freedom from freakishness, and his insistence in holding fast to that which is true and of good report. Although Kipling never preaches, there is a moral implicit in all his work. Perhaps it is in 'if' that this ethical code is most resonantly expressed. Kipling is the only man of letters in our time who is equally esteemed as a singer of ballads in rhyme and as a teller of tales in prose. Kipling is one of the supreme masters of the short story." There follows a comparison between Kipling's Hawthorne and others of his rivals and a short but concise and direct ciriticism of his latest book, a group of fourteen short stories under the title "Debits and Credits."

Henry B. Fuller, in his review of H. G. Wells' book "The World of William Clissold, which Mr. Fuller says is an attempt "to produce a whole library in a single volume," gives us a glimpse of the man. "Mr. Wells, by his own declaration, prefers the rôle of journalist to that of artist. Therefore frankness of ten banishes amenity. The present state of affairs impresses Wells as a rummage sale, a 'revue.' He is as impatient as ever over humanity's obstinate continuance in inefficiency and folly, and feels sure that a strong, intelligent pull altogether will turn the trick. He calls for conscious cooperation. Science is a morning star tacitly hopeful. There is a presage of change in all human relationships." Mr. Wells fully believes that "big business, high finance, and a superpress, experiencing a gradual change of heart and developing a quickened sense of social responsibility will presently remake this unsatisfactory world of ours, remolding it more closely to the heart's desire—Wells' desire," needless to add. These, both of which are found in the Literary Digest International Book Review for November, are striking word portraits of living, thinking, acting men.

COURSES FOR TEACHERS

The Department of Education is giving two interesting courses at present. [illegible] Professor Crockett, lecturers on the History of Vermont at the University, and Professor Dunmore, head of the department, conducts the course in Principles of Instruction at the high school. Both of these courses are regularly attended by about [illegible] local teachers.

The Married Public Woman

June Lucas in The Bookman for November writes on an argument delivered in her own peculiar charming style on the question "Public Women in Married Life." She admits that husbands are never pleased at first but get used to having their wives on the front pages of all the newspapers after awhile. She doesn't see anything funny about married women in public life. She admits that Public life is getting a bit difficult to define because we have so little private life. Her reasons and illustrations why a husband is really a great hazard to a woman's platform work" are well, if not argumentative at least laughable. She says "women have about nine public lives open to them." She candidly remarks that the women in the legislature "fighting for a lovely cause go at those men as if they were one composite husband." And she follows with "Now, I am not saying that legislatures don't often behave like some husbands." "So I say about married women fighting for a public cause that they'd better stay out of it if they're not happy at home." Altogether an amusing article.

Love thy neighbor as thyself but don't let your wife catch on.—Ivoreid

SEXTET AND DOUBLE QUARTET ARE CHOSEN

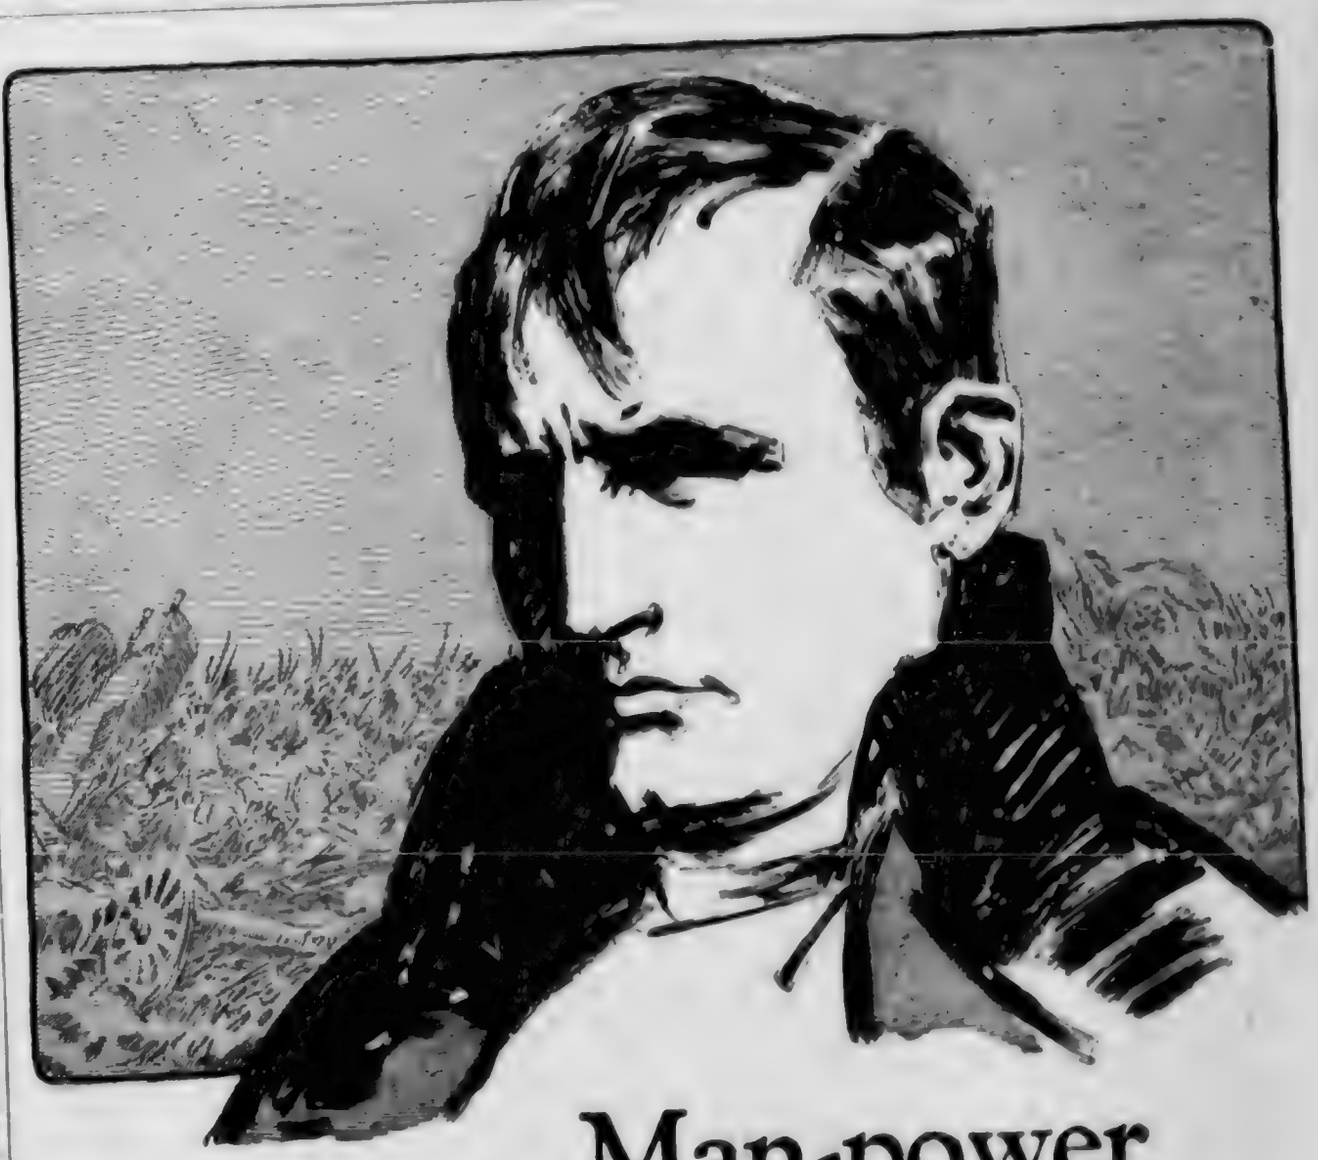
The members of the sextet and double quartet are as follows: Sextet, first soprano Edith Start and Evelyn Bower; second soprano Fern Wyatt and Catherine Bassett; altos Edna Marion and Marian Sargent. Double quartet: first soprano Edith Start and Evelyn Bower, second soprano Catherine Bassett and Mary Corbin; first altos Edna Shaw and Jeanne Lawrence, second altos Doris Martin and Gladys Kone. Margaret Corbin is first accompanist and Irene Margette second accompanist.

ODDS AND ENDS

Our dear friend (?) Macaulay did [illegible] up [illegible] nally. The sentence quoted following is an example gleaned from the "History of England": "At present only one inhabitant of the capital in forty dies annually." Evidently no one has ever noticed this inasmuch as it was never brought to our attention in class.

Elections in Japan are going to the dogs, as is proved by a rather interesting photo in "die Woche." Candidates for office have their qualifications and life history printed on cloth, which is then tied on a dog's back. The dog is let run loose about the principal streets and is an effective advance agent according to the legend accompanying the photo in "die Woche."

Stamp collectors may be interested in learning that Germany is proposing the issue of a new commemorative set. Advance proofs have been taken and cuts are shown in a recent issue of the popular Woche. But four of the proposed set are shown, all portraits of great Germans. The following stamps are shown: 3 pfennig, Goethe, 10 pf. Frederic the Great, 20 pf. Beethoven 30 pf., Albrecht von Dürer.



Prisoner: Ha! Ha! Ha! That's a hot one.

Visitor: What's so funny?

Prisoner: They're giving me the chair tomorrow, and I'm the wrong guy.—Wash Columns.

STAR RESTAURANT
CHINESE & AMERICAN FOODS
Regular Dinner 45c
From 11 A. M. to 2:30 P. M.
A La Carte Service all day
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
Phone 1618 144 Church St.

Hart Schaffner and Marx
SUITS and OVERCOATS
for
MEN AND YOUNG MEN
New Low Prices
$29 $34 $39
Peoples Department Store

Man-power

The laboratories and shops of industry are the sources of many of the enduring attainments of our times. In the General Electric organization is an army of 75,000 persons, co-operating to make electricity do more and better work for humanity.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-18.

Four millions of the best man-power of Europe perished in the Napoleonic conquests. Military conquest is non-creative, while industry is always creative.

In the last ten years one American manufacturer—the General Electric Company—has created machines having a man-power forty times as great as that of all the lives lost in the Napoleonic wars.

In the years to come, when the college men and women of today are at the helm of industry and of the home, it will be realized more and more that human energy is too valuable to be wasted where electricity can do the work better at lower cost.

201-94DH

GENERAL ELECTRIC

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK.

WINNERS OF THIRD HEADLINE CONTEST . . . SEE OPPOSITE PAGE

"Don't be stubborn, Sir! – Give Old Gold a smoking chance"

Solomon was the first wise man who said "Nothing ventured . . . nothing gained."

America was discovered by a man who'd try anything once.

We KNOW that OLD GOLD is a better cigarette.

We KNOW that it is the smoothest and most satisfying cigarette ever parked between a pair of lips.

But the proof is in the smoking.

How can we "make good" our claims if you won't test them fairly with your taste! Here's what a fair tryout of OLD GOLD will prove to you:—That a cigarette can have plenty of punch without any punishment. That it can have all the aroma and fragrance in the world without taxing or tiring your tongue or throat. That you can smoke it morning, noon or night . . . as many as you like . . . with maximum enjoyment and without regret or after-effect. Now we leave it to you, Sir:—Isn't it worth a few cents to make these great discoveries?

PLENTY OF PUNCH · · BUT NO PUNISHMENT

OLD GOLD

THE SMOOTH*EST* CIGARETTE

20 for 15 cents

The Product of
P. LORILLARD CO.
Est. 1760

Winners
THIRD $2,000 HEADLINE CONTEST

FIRST PRIZE . . . $1,000

Won by

Paul S. Conover, Cor. Hampshire & Methuen Sts., Lawrence, Mass.

Winning Title

"Don't be stubborn, Sir! Give OLD GOLD a Smoking Chance!"

SECOND PRIZE . . $500

Won by

Wilbur N. Haines, Newmarket, N. H. (Box 351)

Winning Title

"Don't be stubborn, Sir! Let OLD GOLD prove my claims!"

THE 50 WINNERS OF $10 PRIZES

James Allen, 92 Broadway, Lawrence, Mass.
Mrs. E. Betterley, Hall Hill Road, Somers, Conn.
R. E. Beals, 49 Fountain St., Worcester, Mass.
Geo. A. Bingham, 3 Exeter Park, Cambridge, Mass.
G. A. Boland, 476 Main St., Worcester, Mass.
Paul T. Burke, 11 Fenton St., Dorchester, Mass.
B. Campbell, 95 Audubon Rd., Suite 19, Boston, Mass.
C. R. Church, 24 Summer St., Easthampton, Mass.
Michael J. Curran, 28 Blake St., Wollaston, Mass.
G. E. Curtis, 19 Temple Ct., Waterville, Maine.
Lloyd T. Dunham, College Ave., Brooks, Maine.
Parkman Edwards, P.O. Box 356, Woonsocket, R.I.
A. L. Fearns, 1671 Cambridge St., Cambridge, Mass.
Mrs. M. Green, 43 Evans St., Dorchester, Mass.
Miss Jessie Harris, 109 North St., Danbury, Conn.
A. A. Hilferty, Maynard, Mass.
Miss M. E. Huber, 38 Young St., New Haven, Conn.
T. M. Jordan, 41 Pearl Street, Lawrence, Mass.
Miss C. E. Jennison, 66 Bank St., St. Albans, Vt.
J. H. Keith, 374A Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.
F. N. LaMontagne, 34 Orchard St., Northampton, Mass.
E. L. Lapham, 32 Converse St., Longmeadow, Mass.
Miss Jennie Little, 25 High St., Ipswich, Mass.
Miss Marion Locke, Box 13, Endfield, N. H.
R. Longfellow, 162 West Newton St., Boston, Mass.
E. Lopatin, 14 Concord Sq., Boston, Mass.
J. B. Lynch, 21 Cortes St., Suite 5, Boston, Mass.
James L. Maher, 26 Brahms St., Roslindale, Mass.
Robert H. Marshall, 39 King St., Holyoke, Mass.
H. McDermott, 47 Eagle Street, Providence, R.I.
Alex Melrose, 30 Summer St., Leominster, Mass.
J. C. Mott, 14 Beach St., Rockport, Mass.
Wes Noble, Box 675, Fall River, Mass.
Mrs. J. O'Hea, 482 Medford St., Somerville, Mass.
T. Oneto, 863 Woodward Ave., New Haven, Conn.
J. G. Pollard, Harvard Business School, Cambridge, Mass.
E. J. Power, 18 Park Street, Hyde Park, Mass.
H. R. Preston, 120 Long Hill Street, Springfield, Mass.
Y. Rolicheau, 359 Alden Rd., No. Fairhaven, Mass.
R. Scott, 220 Hartford Ave., Hartford, Conn.
Edward Shay, 41 Exeter Street, Wollaston, Mass.
R. E. Shoup, U. S. N. Hospital, Portsmouth, N. H.
D. W. Sproat, 131 Phoenix Terrace, Springfield, Mass.
M. M. Sullivan, 82 Carolina Ave., Providence, R.I.
C. W. Tozier, P. E. A., Box 428, Exeter, N. H.
F. M. Tyler, 51 Franklin St., Westfield, Mass.
Vernon R. Walker, 65 Lowell St., Andover, Mass.
Gaius F. Warner, Skowhegan, Maine
Idyl S. Way, 25 Westbourne Terrace, Brookline, Mass.
Miss J. T. Williams, 172 Clark St., Portland, Me.

History of Dramatics at Vermont Brings to Light Interesting Facts

[illegible] twenty-five years [illegible] University of Ver[illegible] surely obtained [illegible] activities. It [illegible] was ever more [illegible] than there is [illegible] to imagine a high [illegible] of production standard ever [illegible] than the University [illegible] during the past [illegible] years.

[illegible] two years Wig and [illegible] and Masque and Sandal, [illegible] dramatic societies, have staged two [illegible] each in December before [illegible] other during Junior Week. These plays have been coached by Mrs. [illegible] Cowgill who came to the [illegible] in the spring of 1923. Mrs. Cowgill devoted her work at Ver[illegible]ng personality and [illegible] knowledge of dramatics gained [illegible] and experience on the [illegible] asked to comment on [illegible] of some of the University [illegible] have been in college [illegible] two and one or three years, she [illegible] without taking any praise [illegible] herself for the results they had [illegible] could truthfully say that [illegible] parts by Barbara Pease '24, [illegible] 25, Dexter Butterfield '26, [illegible] Marshall '27, Raymond Hol[illegible] and several others had shown [illegible] ability.

It is generally known that women [illegible] are very good actresses, but about [illegible] years ago at the University [illegible] their natural talent was [illegible] quite talent for most of the [illegible] were made up entirely of men. [illegible] women alone presented plays, [illegible] at a still later time both the [illegible] casts.

In [illegible] the Shakespearian Age was ushered in with the new century. In fact it got a bit ahead of it, for the first Shakespearian play which was presented in the series continuing over [illegible] years was "As You Like It," given in 1899 on the lawn at Grassmount with a cast made up entirely of women. This and other early plays owed much of their success to the admirable training of Ernest Elton, a popular actor. In May, 1900, the well-known classic "Ralph Roister Doister" was presented at the Howard Opera House. The second Shakespearian play, "Much Ado About Nothing," occurred June 12, 1900, at Grassmount with an entire cast of women. "She Stoops to Conquer" was the third play of this series and was given April 12 at the Howard Opera House by the men. The fourth play of this kind, "Twelfth Night" was presented in June, 1902. Important parts in both "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Twelfth Night" were taken by Grace Goodhue, now Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

Shakespeare was not given another showing for two years. "The Tempest" was presented July 5, 1904, by a cast of both men and women. The cast of "A Midsummer's Night Dream" given at Grassmount June 27, 1905, was also mixed. Since then both men and women have taken one or two flings at Shakespeare. "As You Like It" was again presented at the Strong Theatre with a cast of both sexes in 1907. "Twelfth Night" was repeated with a similar cast in 1916 as the annual Junior Week production. Many other plays except those of Shakespeare, however, were staged from 1900 to the present time.

In 1908 the play "William Warren's Welcome" marked a new era in the history of the drama at U. V. M. It laid the foundation for a new custom, namely, the producing of a play written by an undergraduate. Later, prizes were offered for the best original drama, and many worthy contributions were received.

Coaches and Societies

The University has been fortunate in its coaches who have directed the development of dramatics on the hill. Professor Andrews, in particular did considerable work in this line. Another in close contact with the college plays is Professor Tupper, head of the English Department. Professor Tupper helped to organize the first dramatic society in the "nineties." He has been the guiding light of this phase of the college activity, and throughout the years his kindly criticism and loyal counsel have been invaluable. He has been an honorary member of Wig and Buskin throughout most of its history.

With the enlarged interest that is now so prevalent U. V. M. will present still better plays and develop much more hidden talent to the benefit of both the players themselves and the audience to whom they play. The Burlington Theatre Club, now in its fourth year, offers a splendid opportunity for those who wish to continue their dramatics after graduation. The Club is in close sympathy with the dramatic societies on the Hill and is cooperating wherever possible to give the greatest benefits to the members.

With the Graduates of the Class of 1926

William E. Gee is Deupty Collector and Inspector of Customs, stationed at Derby Line, Vt. His residence address is 170 Main St., Winooski, Vt.

George P. Tuxbury is employed in the laboratory of the United Farmers Cooperative Creamery Asso., 19 Roland St., Charlestown, Mass.

G. D. Stephens is with the Standard Oil Company of N. Y., 56 North Pearl St., Albany, N. Y.; his residence address being 326 Second Ave., Albany, N. Y.

Ranald B. Twiner is farming in Montpelier, Vt., and is reached by R. F. D. 4, Montpelier.

Dr. R. L. Smith is at the Waterbury City Hospital, Waterbury, Conn., and residing at 1070 Hampden 85, Holyoke, Mass.

Anna J. Mitchell is teaching in Jericho Center, Vt.

Dr. Horace P. Marvin, Main St., Essex Junction, Vt., is a First Lieutenant in the Medical Reserve Corps, U. S. Army.

Charles H. Kimball is an engineer with the Canadian Bridge Co., Walkerville, Ont., Canada.

Dr. Charles C. Joyce, 5 North St., Proctor, Vt., is a member of the Medical Reserve Corps, U. S. A., with rank of First Lieutenant.

Catherine Harris is teaching in Stowe, Vermont.

Raymond S. Gates is in the employ of the Vermont Marble Co., Proctor, Vt.

Helen M. French is teaching Home Economics in St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Dr. Estelle Foote has been connected since graduation with the Worcester Memorial Hospital, Worcester, Mass.

W. J. Clark has a position with the Chase Bros.' Nurseries, Honeoye Falls, N. Y.

Dr. Bertha Chase is interne at the Mary Fletcher Hospital, Burlington.

Dexter D. Butterfield is teaching mathematics at the University of Vermont.

Helen M. Ransom is teaching in Woodstock, Vt.

Ethel Symes is teaching in the sixth grade, Brattleboro, Vt., and residing at 17 Western Ave.

Emily M. Hinds is teaching in Westmore, Vt.

Dr. F. L. Fletcher is interne at the Boston City Hospital, Boston, Mass.

Marianne E. Parkhurst is teaching in Taftsville, Vt.

Ruth G. Young is teaching in North Hero, Vt.

Dr. Charles T. Schechtman is with the Binghamton City Hospital, Binghamton, N. Y.

Dr. A. A. Cirillo is at present doing work with St. Mary's Hospital, Hoboken, N. J.

Arthur M. Guild is in the insurance business with the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn., his residence address being 126 Capitol Ave., Hartford.

Harold F. Wilson will teach history and English this year at the Wooster School for Boys in Danbury, Conn., and intends to take his A. M. in the field of history the following year at Harvard University.

Grenville Spear Wilcox writes that he is now with the Philadelphia Suburban Gas and Electric Co., in Chester, Pa. He says he likes the country and his work but there is no place like Vermont. His address is 528 East 14th Street, Chester, Pa. He also [illegible] that R. M. Johnson [illegible] is with [illegible] city engineer in that [illegible] city.

Beatrice Herbert is teaching [illegible] and Math in the High School at [illegible] ison, Conn., this year.

Dr. F. J. McAvoy is [illegible] Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit.

Ruth Bacon is teaching in Fr[illegible] N. J.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB HEARS ARMENIAN TA[illegible]

The International Club [illegible] the Cosmopolitan [illegible] of Ver[illegible] met last Wednesday evening, [illegible]ber 1, at the home of Professor [illegible] 515 South Willard Street. Mr. B[illegible]ian, an Armenian [illegible] on Ar[illegible] and Egypt." The club is composed [illegible] foreign students and some [illegible] in international foreign affairs.

HENRY'S DINE[illegible]
155 BANK STREE[illegible]
You eat well wh[illegible] you eat at Henr[illegible]
Where they serve the [illegible] at popular prices

To make the first part of life take care of the last part is [illegible] job we humans are up against.
I CAN SHOW YOU ONE WAY
"BERNIE" LEMIEUX '25
New York Life Insurance Co.

Fraternity Notes

Sigma Phi

Sigma Phi held its fall initiation at the chapter house Saturday evening when the following members of the class of 1930 were made members of the fraternity: Robert A. Billings of New Haven, Conn., Robert M. Carey of Waltham, Mass., Francis E. Beer of Fitchburg, Mass., Benjamin L. Bullock, Jr. of Manchester, Charles W. Capron of Bellows Falls, Wendell W. Lang of Cambridge, Charles H. Mace, Jr. of Mittineague, Mass., Ivan D. Stanhope of Winooski and Clifford L. Morse of Wethersfield, Conn. A supper followed the initiation ceremony.

Charles Mace, president of the Freshman class, and back on the yearling eleven, has returned to college after two weeks' absence. His hand became infected after an injury sustained in the game with Fort Ethan Allen on Armistice Day.

Phi Mu Delta

Phi Mu Delta is running a table at the house. The table was formerly opened last Sunday with a dinner served to 22 members. Following the meal Ronald A. Woodward '18, Ronald Hanford '24 of Nu Alpha and various [illegible] of each undergraduate class made impromptu speeches.

Tuesday an informal picture of the fraternity was taken on the front steps. Pictures were also taken of the chapter room, the dining room and the [illegible] porch.

Sigma Alpha Chi

Sigma Alpha Chi announces the pledging of L. O. Clayton '30 of Bennington.

Sigma Delta

The fraternity announces the pledging of C. W. Beane '30 of Middlebury and K. A. Dimick '30 of Windsor.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

MORTON AND ROBERTSON TO REPRESENT A. S. M. E. AT NEW YORK MEETING

The last meeting of the A. S. M. E. was voted the most interesting one this year. P. C. Greene gave a very pleasing paper on "Iron Mines in New York." The reading of an article by F. A. McLaughlin on the "New Features of Foreign Automobiles" proved to be very enlightening. Discussion of the above subjects followed their reading. It was voted to send J. R. Morton and M. J. Robertson, representing the student branch to the national convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers which will be held December 8 in New York City.

Recipe

Take four wheels, thirteen boards, two lanterns, four seats, one horn and mix carelessly. Shake well before using. Result: that Phi Delt Franklin.

He: Do you believe in perpetual motion?

She: I was almost convinced of it watching you at dinner tonight.—Notre Dame Juggler.

Student's Accounts Solicited
Turk Says
Ask to see Turk's New Tuxedo Suits $32.50, $42.50
This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay weekly for 10 weeks
$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
30.00	6.00	2.40
35.00	7.00	2.80
40.00	8.00	3.20
45.00	9.00	3.60
50.00	10.00	4.00
55.00	11.00	4.40
60.00	12.00	4.80
65.00	13.00	5.20
70.00	14.00	5.60
75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS SUITS and TOPCOATS
Turk's
156-158 COLLEGE STREET

Everything's going to be all right

THAT'S the way P. A. talks to you in the bowl of a pipe. This great national gloom-chaser stabs the darkest clouds with a ray of sunshine. Buy a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today and see. Tamp a load of this friendly tobacco into your jimmy-pipe and light up.

Cool as a sub-cellar. Sweet as the breath of fresh-cut violets. Fragrant in the tin and fragrant as you smoke it. Never a tongue-bite or a throat-parch. So mild you can hit it up from sun-up to sun-down, yet with a body that satisfies completely.

There's more philosophy in a pipe-load of P. A. than in the average Doctor's thesis. No matter what brand you are smoking now, you don't know how much your jimmy-pipe can mean to you until you pack it with good old Prince Albert. Get started now.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

© 1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., TUESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1926 — NUMBER 21

LEADING SOCIALIST TO BE ON CAMPUS THIS WEEK FOR TWO DAYS

Norman Thomas Leader of the New York Socialist Party Will Present His Views On Existing Industrial Evils

Norman Thomas, Executive Director of the League for Industrial Democracy with headquarters in New York City is scheduled to speak at the University on Wednesday and Thursday, December 8 and 9. His talks, while not openly socialistic, will undoubtedly show a marked trend in that direction.

He is admirably fitted to represent the movement of Socialism through his wide experience as a college debater, a public lecturer, and through his work with our numerous alien population. Cornell, Harvard, Chicago, and Princeton have raised him highly. At Harvard Mr. Thomas won the greatest applause for the weakest of four political parties by his eloquence and forceful appeal.

At different times Mr. Thomas has been Socialist candidate for Mayor of New York City and Governor of New York State.

Recently he presided at the funeral of Eugene V. Debs, and in a current number of Current History has a biographical sketch about him.

Through the cooperation of President Guy another speaker will come to the campus sometime in the future, who will speak on similar topics, but from the opposite viewpoint. This is an unrivalled opportunity to compare the viewpoints of two of the most discussed trends of modren times.

DEBATERS TO START WORK THIS WEEK

Arrangements have been made for the men's varsity debating team to debate at Middlebury on March 11. The question will be, "Resolved, That the United States Should Cancel the Debts Owed by War Associates." Vermont has the affirmative side. A meeting will be in Old Chapel of all men interested in debating.

February 25 and 26 have been accepted as tentative dates for the co-eds' debate with Middlebury. One of these debates is at the downstate college and the other in Burlington. The question will be "Resolved, That It Would Be Advisable to Give Congress Power to Enact Uniform Marriage and Divorce Laws." The debates are contingent on eligible candidates appearing. Woman's debating is a new activity here and it is not yet certain how much interest will be shown. There will be a meeting of all women interested, in the Old Chapel on Friday at 4 p. m. There is a possibility of arranging five or six debates with such colleges as Wellesley, Mt. Holyoke and others.

Reference material for the topics to be debated by both the men and women has been placed on reserve in the Library. The subjects will be discussed at the debate meetings held this week.

GLEE CLUB ADOPTS STRICT CUT SYSTEM

The men's Glee Club is holding rehearsals regularly on Monday 4:30 to 6:00 p. m. and Wednesday and Friday 7:00 to 8:00 p. m. A new cut system has been put into effect. Any man with more than two unexcused cuts, three tardinesses counting as a cut, is automatically dropped from the club. All men should attend regularly and new candidates should report to Professor Bennett at the next rehearsal.

COUNTY AGENTS COMING HERE FOR CONFERENCES

The County Agricultural Agents throughout the state, representing the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College, will attend the usual annual conferences for the agents at the University during the early part of December. The dates which have been arranged for them are the 6, 7, 13, 14, and 15. The agents will arrive at different times during these dates and be in conference with the various specialists at the University.

Mohammedanism says, "Be submissive. Assert thyself."

1926 Football Squad

Left to right—1st Row: Leary, Candon, Conway, Simpson, Denning, Smith, Morse Cropper O'Keefe
2nd Row: Dresser (Line Coach), Lyman, Estabrook, McGinley, Palmer, P Scutakes, Foster Damon Williamson, Mittigay, McAvoy (Coach)
3rd Row: Donnelly, Howard, Davis, Werner, Robinson, Bresee, Nilsen Thorne J Scutakes

Football Prospects for Another Year Good—Three Veterans Graduate

The past football season, though far from successful from many view points, has a few bright spots here and there. The holding of the Morningside Lion to two touchdowns was one of these, the other glowing brand was Vermont's come-back at Springfield.

However, this season is now past history, and we are not going to pass out any alibis. Vermont had her weak spots, and the material was not available to strengthen these points, but next year we hope to see a big change in the results. If the faculty doesn't see fit to flunk out the entire frosh football squad the local fans will see the weak spots in the Catamount's team greatly strengthened, and there will be plenty of good reserve material.

Only three men will be lost by graduation, namely, Simpson, regular end on this season's eleven. Morse, the other wing will also get his sheepskin leaving Coach McAvoy without any veteran wings. A serious loss to the backfield will be in one of the halfback positions which was so ably filled by Candon during the past season. Estabrook and Mitchell who came along well this season will probably be called into service in 1927. Coach McAvoy will have plenty of end material to work with next season with Williamson sub on this year's team and Sirois and Slate from the freshman eleven.

All in all the prospects for next year look the most promising that Vermont has had since 1922. The team is facing one of the hardest schedules that a Vermont eleven has faced in a number of years. In order to meet this line up with any kind of success the team will have to be much better than this season's eleven and all things point to the fact that Coach McAvoy will have a wealth of material to work with.

The readers of this article may think that the only object of the writer is to criticize this season's eleven but the writer wishes to state that this is not so. Everyone must realize by this time that the team was not all that it was cracked up to be, but nevertheless the fact that the eleven gave all that it had and that the material was not all that could be asked for must be taken into consideration and all due credit be given to the members of this season's team.

Summary of Season

The opening game was played with Columbia at New York on September 25, and was lost by the score of 14-0. The day was ideal for baseball, which was a great handicap to both teams. Both touchdowns were the result of fumbles. On October 8 the Green and Gold journeyed to Syracuse where they

(Continued on page 2)

MILITARY NEWS

This morning the R. O. T. C. unit underwent a rather informal inspection for the purpose of determining whether or not the University shall be one of the New England universities entered in the Federal Military Inspection in the spring. Colonel Rush B. Wells, inspecting officer of the First Corps Area, R. O. T. C. was here.

Rifle Team

Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock all candidates for the Rifle Team assembled in the Cage for the purpose of organizing this year's team. Forty five candidates have signed up for the team, among whom are many Fresh men who have won their letters for this event in high school. This is the largest number of candidates the Rifle Team has ever had. These new men promise to push the last year's members hard for positions on the team. Manager Bissell has not as yet announced the schedule for this year, but the same will appear in the near future in the columns of the Cynic. On the whole this year's team ought to excel last year's, even though teams in former years have been above average.

Captain Rattan will spend his vacation in New York City where he will attend the annual Coaches' meeting.

PICTURES NOT TAKEN

Due to inclement weather, the pictures of the upper classes were not taken Saturday, December 4, as scheduled. They will probably be taken next Saturday, December 11.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB ORGANIZED TO PROMOTE FELLOWSHIP OF MEMBERS

Local Organization Aims To Affiliate With National Cosmopolitan Club

During the first part of this college year, Peter Brikiatis '29 of Saco, Me. was elected to the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet as chairman of the Campus and World Relations Committee. Mr. Brikiatis will be remembered as the winner of the Kingsley Prize Speaking Contest of last year, and as the mainstay of the Sophomore Debating Team this year. In line with the work of that committee, he called together a group for general discussion purposes.

He had noticed that many of the other colleges and universities had cosmopolitan clubs, clubs made up of students of many nations. So, towards the end of November, Mr. Brikiatis, with the aid of Secretary Maxted, organized the Vermont Cosmopolitan Club. This name has since been changed to the International Club.

Though the club has become an assured success, it is still in its infancy. No constitution has been drawn up as yet. Its purpose is to encourage discussion of and debate on questions of world wide interest. Though meeting places are provided by the Y. M. C. A. the club is distinctly an organization to promote international fellowship through actual contact, and to create a true understanding of present political and social problems through debate and open discussions. It is not a group organized for religious discussion.

The officers are: Peter Brikiatis '29 (Founder and representative of Greece), president, Max Orr '30 (Canada), vice-president, Goodwin Lee '28 (China), secretary. The club expects to become a member of the National Cosmopolitan Clubs soon. When it does, Vermont will have another national society to its credit.

Conducts Information Bureau

In connection with its discussion work the club is running an information bureau for the convenience of those going abroad. Literature and first hand information on Europe, China, and other continents and nations will be gladly supplied at any time.

At a recent meeting of the club it

(Continued on page 2)

ANNUAL FOOTBALL HOP HAS LARGE ATTENDANCE

Vermont terminated its football season Saturday evening by what is conceded to have been the most successful and popular informal social function of the year. About a hundred and fifty couples attended the "Hop" which was held in the gymnasium. This is the largest attendance recorded at any dance this fall with the exception of the Freshman mixer.

The hall was cleverly decorated with varicolored streamers and strings of balloons from the running track to the orchestra platform in the center of the floor. A novelty in decorating was the presence of fraternity banners on the walls and a large cardboard Catamount on the green back drop at the east end of the hall. Punch and wafers served as refreshments from the Armory.

The music was rendered by the popular Vermonters orchestra composed entirely of college men. The combination of music and play of colored lights during the moonlight waltzes was very effective and produced a spirit of gayety usually attendant on moonlight nights in June instead of Vermont winters.

Coach and Mrs. McAvoy and the members of the football squad were guests of honor. The dance was chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. A. K. Aldinger and Captain and Mrs. Rattan.

SENIORS FAVOR JURY SYSTEM BY CLOSE VOTE

The question debated by the Seniors Friday, was "Resolved That the present jury system be abolished." J. Shapiro, A. T. Post and M. G. Pierce upheld the affirmative, while F. E. Somerville, A. S. Taylor and F. H. Sears defended the present system. The debate went to the negative by a narrow vote. The failure of the affirmative to provide a good substitute for the present system led to their downfall. Somerville starred for the winners. He had a supply of material to present and delivered it in a pleasing manner.

PROFESSOR EMERSON THINKS CIVILIZATION MAY BE DECLINING

"Mechanical Nature and Omnipotent Man" Conceptions of Western Nations May Lead to Their Downfall

A convocation was held last Friday afternoon at four in the gymnasium. The speaker of the afternoon was Dr. R. F. Emerson, Professor Emeritus of History. His topic was: "Is Our Western Civilization Nearing a Turning Point?"

During the course of his discussion Professor Emerson showed how our present "political economic policy" brought on the last great war. He said that the ultimate goal of all political, economic and social evolution is national equilibrium; that nations have passed through three distinct stages. (1) the stage of the rule by aristocracy and the clergy, (2) the rule of the third estate, or democracy, and (3) the ascent of socialism. He showed that kings had been successful in maintaining empires but that in the natural evolution of affairs democracy was bound to come, that democracy itself came mainly as a result of the French Revolution, and that Darwin and Carl Marx were the joint originators of the socialistic idea. He showed that the reasons why our civilization might be nearing a turning point is that our "mechanical nature and omnipotent man" the key words of our modern civilization are in themselves somewhat contradicted by some of our modern theories and recent beliefs.

During the course of his lecture, Professor Emerson made the following statements. "Every man must work out his philosophy of life. The attitude of the Church has changed, for contrary to its faith, creed, and spirit of belief, it gave its sanction to a brutal and bloody war. Every one of us must act as he thinks best and if he is wrong so much the worse for him. Socialism has become an organized body for the overthrow of our present day civilization while it may have the good of society as a cause for its existence."

The success of Socialism would mean the collapse of our Western civilization although it would be the culmination of the principles inherent in it. The messages of moralists are ineffectual either because they are listened to indifferently or completely ignored. Religion is concerned with all human relations and science wants to control them. Present day immorality is due to the disappearance of traditional religion. Belief in the natural nobility of man is the cornerstone of popular government." Professor Emerson also emphasized the fact that the recent Great War was the natural outcome of the changing ideas of politics and economics.

Before the main speaker took the platform announcement was made of the results of the Freshman prize entrance examinations. The prize for the best examination in Greek was given to H. M. Macomber of Burlington. In Latin the first prize went to E. O. Bundy of Sutton, the second prize went to E. H. Powell of Burlington. The prize in Mathematics was given to A. D. Wardwell of Chittenden.

PLANS FOR SCHOOL BOYS TOURNEY TAKE SHAPE

The Annual Interscholastic Basketball Tournament will be held in the University gym on March 11 and 12.

No definite plans have been made and the committee to decide what teams shall participate has not yet been drawn up.

The officials at the next tournament will be James E. Young of Adams, Mass., and Martin Souders of Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.

MEDIC SENATE MEETS TO DISCUSS PETITION

Last Thursday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock the Medical Student Senate met in the Medical Building for a brief discussion of the proposed petition to the faculty council of the University for a change in the student athletic tax system for medical students. The petition will be drawn up and presented in the near future.

R. O. Godfrey, M '27 presided.

Judaism says, "Be holy—Conform thyself."

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Entered at the ... POSTOFFICE ... Published every Tuesday ... the college year ... $2.00 a year; delivered ... Single copy ... Subscriptions should be ... Business Manager, 110 So. ... Correspondence to ... Editor Ave.

Editorial Staff

... Editor-in-Chief
... News Editor
... News Editor
... Women's Editor
... Sporting Editor
... Editor
... Manager Editor
... Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

Business Staff

... Business Mgr.
... Advertising Mgr.
... Assistant Manager
... Assistant Manager
... Assistant Manager

... undergraduates are heartily ... All communications ... by the writer, whose name ... if so desired. They should ... the Editor in Chief. Any ... be handed in or tele... before 9 p. m. Sunday and Wednesday.

In charge of this issue:

... News Editor
... Assistant Manager

... December 7, 1926 No. 21

SUNDAY'S CONVOCATION

... which is attached to ... conversations, stating that ... is compulsory ceased to be ... last Friday when the entire col... to hear Professor Emer... speak. Probably the announce... that attendance was to be taken ... something to do with this simul... desertion of such a large num... to abide by the ruling.

However Friday's turnout was no more than a suitable mark of respect for a man who gave nearly half a century of his life to training and developing the minds of thousands of young men and women who have crossed the threshold of this University. He not only left his imprint on generations of students but through his own fame as a scholar and thinker brought fame to the University. This college has had and still has many men on its faculty who are well known throughout the country for work in their respective fields. Professor Emerson is among the most prominent of these.

... is it possible for us to do ... those who have done so much for our college, as was done last week in so fitting a manner, and we can congratulate ourselves (or should we say the administration) on not letting it slip by.

NORMAN THOMAS

Tomorrow and next day Norman ... will be on the campus and all ... who pride themselves on their ... as thinkers which is the ad... a college education gives us ... not miss this opportunity to ... and who has decided views on the ... situation as it ex... between employers and em... ployees. In our class rooms we study ... and hear lectures on the ... as they stand. We are left to de... for ourselves what is the best ... to be taken in the matter. This week there is coming an opportunity for us to check our ideas against those of one who has had first-hand experience in the field of industrial troubles. He has lived in it and was even arrested once for trying to set forth in ... the wrongs suffered by striking workmen.

Mr Thomas thinks he has a remedy for industrial disturbances and he is much better qualified to propose one than are many whose only information is hearsay and text books. It is a fine thing to know the theory of any situation but it is also well to get the theory attached to reality. In Mr. Thomas' talks and in the discussions which will follow them we should receive much help in this respect. He will also suggest the part which all college men and women should prepare themselves to fill in the social situation of today.

The Wetness

Domesticity

I want a problem, a kitchen all my own,
... for a monitor, a washtub for a throne.
... And a bottle to suck me a bone
And the sun streaming in in the golden afternoon.

I want a kitchen with a white porcelain sink
A blue bowl beneath it where the dog ... find a drink
... rows of spices in a trim tidy ...
And a cook-stove gleaming, black and benign.

I shall have aprons of pink calico;
In every window geraniums shall grow;
I'll have a pot of parsley and a little pot of chives
... shining saucepans and sharp butcher knives.

Then I shall bake the most wonderful things,
Fragrant loaves of crusty bread and ... coffee-rings,
... for the cookie-jar and little cakes for tea,
Ambrosial fruit-cake and pies of high degree.

I want a kitchen, a kitchen all my own;
But what good's a kitchen if you live all alone?
For the only fun in cooking is when ... cook for two.
So—I want a kitchen, I also want you.

Our Christmas List

All the advertisements now advise the giving of useful gifts and recommend everything from gas stoves to vacuum cleaners. Accordingly we have made out our list this year with a true regard for the necessary instead of the frivolous.

For President Bailey: A screen behind which he may retire when convocation gets too boring and allow that expression of burning interest to relax.

For the Delts: The address of a good tutor so they can bring up the scholastic standing of their freshmen.

For the Sci Hall: Some incense and a burner to add that Oriental atmosphere.

For the Owls: A milk-shake mixer.

For Professor Mower: A reading desk to replace the gold-fish aquarium he has been using in Gov. 1.

For the Freshmen: Spiked collars to wear when running the gauntlet.

For Professor Metcalf: A new piece of chalk.

For the Ariel Board: The promise of rest in heaven at least.

For a Selected Group of Our Faculty: An alarm clock that rings at the end of the hour, sets off a firecracker at the end of two minutes more, and if not shut off at ten minutes after the hour, sets fire to the classroom.

An Apology

(After Edna St. Vincent Millay)

Written under "adverse conditions" and constantly interrupted by the necessity of reciting in "Theories of Induction" careless in meter, yet true and painstaking in feeling.
Oh, heart, beat on! Let broken sighs
Be only sign-posts of that grief,
That tears a soul beyond belief.
In woman hate a man that cries
And she, she thinks it only lies.
What balm can ever give relief
When dreams upon a stormy reef
Have shattered? Gone to never rise.
She cut me dead. The fault was mine.
She cut me dead and went her way.
My friends were stunned at what they saw;
But now she might at least be kind
She might be kind—might smile. Some day
She might excuse my gross "faux pas."

"I'd face death for you!"
"Why did you run from that dog?"
"It wasn't dead."—Witt

WINTER PROGRAM

With the coming of the genuine Vermont winter in the form of snow and zero weather, indications of the indoor activities which characterize the winter collegiate calendar are making their appearance.

A large and promising men's basketball aggregation is practicing regularly in the intervals when the gym floor is not occupied by a much larger force of women stars in the same sport. With seven veterans back and the many promising members left from last year's freshman squad as well as other class and fraternity teams things look bright for the varsity's making someone work hard for that mythical title of New England Champion.

Among the minor sports the rifle team and wrestling seem to be most popular with half a hundred signed up for the former and some forty men reporting to Raymond Holtz to learn the mat game. With such a wealth of material the marksman should be able to give Norwich a run for the intercollegiate honors. Wrestling is as yet an unknown quantity and there are no previous records for us to live up to but the interest shown promises well for it.

Among the non-athletic diversions debating and dramatics seem to occupy the stage just at present. "Captain Applejack" will be presented on December 11 and is one of the most enterprising attempts made by the dramatic societies in a long time. Varsity debating is getting under way and with a competent coach in Mr Moore, much promising material should develop.

Journalistic lines are also receiving much support. Twenty-five men and women are entered in the new competition for places on the Cynic Board. The Ariel will soon be sending copy to the printer. Plans for the year book are maturing rapidly and the juniors are busy carrying them out.

Football Prospects for Another Year Good

(Continued from page 1)

lost by the score of 62-0. Captain Hansen, Syracuse's right end, was chosen by Billy Evans for the second all-American team. Many Vermonters were given a thrill Saturday, by the ringing of the Old Mill bell, but some Freshman had found his way into the belfry and started ringing the bell after the Frosh victory over T. C. A. On the following Saturday, Vermont came out on the long end of a 14-7 game with Clarkson Tech. Scutakes, a newcomer, scored both touchdowns and Conway kicked both goals. The next game was lost to Providence College by the score of 21-0. The following Saturday, Tufts was handed its first setback of the season by the locals to the tune of 14-13. Scutakes and Conway scored the points in this game, Conway getting one touchdown and both tries for goal. "Jim" Rice, Norwich halfback next beat Vermont by a dropkick, giving Norwich its first victory over Vermont since 1920 and also the State Championship. This makes seven games that the Horsemen have won out of twenty-one contests. The next game proved a victory for Vermont over Rensselaer, by a 13-0 score. Morse and Conway accounted for the scores, while Conway's kick was blocked for the first time in three years. Vermont next lost to the other Vermont college, Middlebury, by the score of 13-0, thus placing the Green and Gold in third place in the State series. The final game was played with Springfield at Springfield on Thanksgiving Day. This game also ended in a defeat, Candon being thrown behind his own line by Captain Hafner of Springfield, thus giving the Red and White a 2-0 decision. Thus ended the 1926 football season for Vermont with three wins and six defeats.

International Club Organized to Promote Fellowships

(Continued ...

... was voted to ... faculty and ... ciety. This will bring to the club ... of extensive foreign experience ... should go far ... society one of ... tions in the ...

Representation Unlimited

As yet no ... the number of ... any country. The ... the club faces is ... foreign represent... versity. It is ... tionalities will come ... the result of this ... unsettled condition ... over, the good that ... this, linked with ... can hardly be estimated.

In a little over six weeks the membership has grown ... thirty, and attendance is far above that of most organizations. At present the following countries are represented in the society: ... Denmark, England, ... land, Italy, Philippines, Spain as well as members of the Jewish and American clans.

Suitable Christmas Gifts

EVERYTHING A MAN WEARS.

* * *

Hayes & Carney

197 Bank St. Near Majestic

OPEN EVENINGS

H A V E A C A M E L

It's mighty easy to like the best

THAT'S why Camel is the most popular cigarette ever made. In all tobacco history there has never been a cigarette preference like Camel's. Nothing is too good or expensive that will make Camels the world's finest smoke.

Camel is the friendliest cigarette ever made. From early morning to night's last reluctant parting you just can't smoke enough Camels to tire the taste. Camels are the celebrated smoke that brought an end forever to cigaretty after-taste.

If you've not yet learned how really satisfying a cigarette can be, just try Camels. Into this one cigarette the world's largest tobacco organization puts every good quality that could be wished for in a cigarette. All the mild and mellow fragrance. The most perfect blending. The utmost in smoking enjoyment and contentment, regardless of price.

Have a Camel!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

© 1926

Co-ed Page

36 WOMEN OUT FOR BASKETBALL TEAM

Many Veteran Players From Class Teams of Former Years Will Be Seen in Action

[illegible] practice began Tuesday [illegible] signed up for it. Interest [illegible] this year's record bids [illegible] that of previous years, [illegible]ass striving for points [illegible]ession of the all-sports [illegible]st of the divisions are [illegible]layers have been divided [illegible] according to experience, [illegible] of the same ability may [illegible]ether. Besides a large [illegible]ew players many players [illegible] known reputation are out [illegible] year.

Among the star players for the Seniors are "Tony" Thorne, Arline Cushman, Alma Tyler and "Breed" Metcalf. The Seniors have a welcome addition in Adelaide McLaughlin, who already has the reputation of being one of the best players on campus.

The Junior bright lights are Annette "Bell" Martin, and Elizabeth [illegible]gree

The Sophomore team already promises to be strong with Lucy Morgan, Rachel Perelman, and Emilia Zilinskas in the ranks

So far Freshman practices have been limited and only a part of those signed have been able to report. Time will doubtless bring to the front many good players, as in former years.

A beginners' class has been started for those wishing to learn the game. This comes Tuesday and Thursday evening from seven to seven-thirty.

There are also classes for girls wishing extra practice. These come on Tuesday and Thursday from seven-thirty to eight and on Friday from three to four. This gives girls of less experience a chance to make a team. Class teams will be chosen after Christmas. Members will be required to keep a certain form of health card. All practices must be made up before anyone can make a team.

PRESS CLUB TO ELECT FRESHMEN IN JUNE

At a recent meeting of Press Club it was decided to limit the membership to Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores until June. However, Freshmen will continue to try out and will be chosen to fill the vacancies at the end of the year.

Irene Bates '28 was elected secretary-treasurer of the Press Club, due to the resignation of Merta Munro '28.

The social meeting of the month was a tea given by Professor Walter Crockett and Mr. L. W. Dean, for the members of the staff, on Wednesday, December 1.

FILMS OF HISTORIC SCENES TO BE KEPT IN WASHINGTON ARCHIVES

The Literary Digest of November 27 contains an article entitled, "Movie Archives to Preserve Historic Scenes." It states that Will Hays is collecting ancient films and news reels which are of historic interest. These are to be duplicated by a process recently developed by the Eastman Laboratories which will preserve them for future generations. They will be placed in vaults in the Archives Building at Washington.

Each year the films which are considered of greatest historical interest will be added. Probably a great deal of difficulty will be met with in choosing the films. It is hard to decide just which events will be of greatest interest and value to future historians.

The films which are now being stored are ones which have been made in the last thirty years. Among those found is the first movie comedy. It shows the hero, John Alto. This was taken with a camera made by Edison. Other treasures brought to light are the San Francisco earthquake, the early flight of the Wright brothers, and the first automobile races. Mr. Hays has also suggested that such historical pictures as "Birth of a Nation" and the "Covered Wagon" be preserved.

A NEW ORGANIZATION ON THE CAMPUS

The University Council has granted official recognition to a group of Jewish girls who have organized under the name K. E. L. Its purpose is [illegible]ocial and to promote Vermont [illegible]among its members.

JUNIOR-SENIOR FINAL IN HOCKEY NOT PLAYED

The Junior-Senior final in soccer was not played off because of unfavorable weather on Wednesday. The points stand 1-1.

There is a Beginners' class in basketball for girls wishing to learn the game. The class comes on Tuesday and Thursday from seven to seven-thirty.

Basketball classes for those wishing extra practice are on Tuesday and Thursday from seven-thirty to eight and on Friday from three to four.

RED LETTER DAYS ON THE Y. W. C. A. CALENDAR

Wednesday and Thursday, December 8 and 9

Wednesday a group meeting in the Chapel at which Mr. Norman Thomas will discuss the question "Is Human Nature Hopeless?" In the evening he will speak on "The Meaning of Industrial Democracy." Thursday will be devoted to private interviews. Everyone is urged to keep these dates in mind.

Saturday, December 11

Y. W. Bazaar at the gym from four in the afternoon until midnight. A chance to do your Christmas shopping, have a good time and at the same time help your association.

Sunday, December 12

Vespers at Grassmount at four o'clock which will be in the nature of a sing.

BRIDGE AND READING SHOULD NOT CUT OUT ALL WINTER SPORTS

Just at this time of the year we all seem to take it into our heads to hibernate, at least as far as exercise is concerned What about it, aren't you staying in too much? Don't you feel just a little logy and irritable? Aren't you playing bridge and reading too large a share of your spare time? Don't be afraid of the winter, it is really the best pep-raiser of all the seasons. If there is enough snow make use of it for winter sports; if not then get out and hike. The Outing Club has been having an unusual number of hikes this fall and everyone should be taking advantage of them. So don't let a little cold weather scare you, shake off your laziness and come on outdoors.

CURRENT COMMENT

The Scientific City

"The Scientific City of the Future," an authorized interview with Thomas H. Edison, by Edward Marshall, is in The Forum for December. "Humanity," says Mr. Edison, "doesn't think very far ahead." That is why twentieth century city dwellers are cramped in streets originally designed for a few people and a few horses. Now trucks and automobiles are moving things of great value, with the interest on the money invested in these values running on every minute, through the choked traffic of the city's streets, causing tremendous losses from delay. That, in a nutshell, is the problem aerial navigation is attempting to solve.

Astonishing figures are quoted and comparisons made, which prove the terrific and unbelievable loss of money caused by traffic congestion.

A few tentative plans are suggested, but Edison admits that "Only the mathematician can figure out the traffic problem. He will be the traffic policeman of the future

"Rapid movement of humanity is more necessary than rapid movement of goods. The traffic congestion which delays the transit of goods is bad; that which delays the rapid transportation of men is still more serious."

Aerial navigation, Edison does not think, will solve the problem though it will transport passengers and comparatively light articles. He sees in the future, the perfection of the helicopter—the flying machine which will go straight up and down at any desired speed when necessary, as well as forward. Roofs of the large city buildings will then be used for landing. This will mean speed and that is what future humanity will demand

Skyscrapers will be prohibited in the future because they cause a small town of people to flow out from their doors within a short space of time congesting the already over-crowded city streets and causing loss of time

"Time is really the only capital that any human being has, and the one thing he can't afford to lose."

"Noise will increase as city congestion grows." Busses will supplant surface cars because they are more flexible in traffic. They will make less noise than surface cars. Noise probably will not decrease to any great extent. It does not hurt us, it merely decreases the acuteness of our hearing. We shall be able to endure it without suffering. He says, "My deafness is an advantage to me. It saves me from many interruptions and much nerve strain."

The management of municipal problems will be met in a scientific way. It is a matter of mental mechanics We should turn official positions over to experts and away from political control.

A scientifically not politically selected trained and managed body of men will act as the police force and cope with the increasing crime problem.

"Humanity cannot be standardized, but it can be controlled if it can be controlled it can be trained." It is trained in the business world, why not in the world of municipal management

DRAMATIC CLUB GIVING ONE-ACT PLAY DEC. 19

Attempt Being Made to Present "Why the Chimes Ring" In New Chapel

The Dramatic Club is giving a one act play, entitled, "Why the Chimes Ring." The story is one of true Christmas spirit and one learns from it that only when a perfect gift is laid on the altar, do the chimes really ring.

Those taking part are Marion Everest '29 as "Holger"; Marion Bacchus '29 as "Stein"; Lillian Avery '27 as "Bertel"; Harriet Metcalf '27 as the "Old Woman"; Dorothy Strong '29 as the "Priest"; Irene Bates '28 as the "Rich Man"; Arlene Cushing '27 as the "King"; Charlotte Cleveland '29 as the "Young Girl"; Faith Edmunds '29 as the "Student"; Katherine Bassett '29 as the "Beautiful Woman" and Merta Munro '28 in the rôle of "Courtier."

Anna Ward '27 is stage manager, assisted by Katherine Bassett, in charge of Costuming, and Thelma Price in charge of properties.

An added feature to this entertainment is the carols, which are to be sung by a choir composed of the united voices of the Men's and Women's Glee Club. The sextet is to have a special part and deserve commendation in the way in which it is making progress. Arrangements are being made to hold this unique program put on through the efforts of Dramatic Club and the Glee Clubs, in the new chapel on Sunday, December 19.

PLANS BEING MADE FOR BAZAAR ON DECEMBER 11

The Y. W. C. A. Cabinet held a joint meeting with their advisors Wednesday afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the Bazaar, which is to be held December 11 From reports of the various committees it was discovered that several attractions are to be included in this year's Bazaar. Two of the features are the Oriental Booth and the Vermont Booth.

Marion Potter '29 has been elected to the Cabinet as chairman of Social Service Committee.

EDUCATIONAL CLUB

The Educational Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Vermonters' Club House, Wednesday, December 1. Professor and Mrs. Robinson gave a talk on Venice. Refreshments were served.

BLUESTOCKINGS ELECT SIXTEEN NEW MEMBERS

Sixteen members have been elected to Bluestockings, women's literary society: from the class of '28, Vera Doyle, Anna Perkins, Rachel Skinner, Mabel Stearns, Helen Stevens; from the class of '29, Catherine Bassett, Alice Bellmore, Margaret Corbin, Mary Freeman, Dorothy Strong, Mary Turner; and from the class of '30, Priscilla Campbell, Edith Fishman, Janice Goodrich, Mary Spargo and Laura Thorpe. The new members were elected on the basis of articles written and read at meetings of the club. Some very good material is being turned out by members, some of the best of which will be published in early issues of the CYNIC.

"Am I the first girl you ever kissed?"
"As a matter of fact, yes"—Spartan Spanker.

Favorite Fiction Characters

[illegible] Erskine, author of the "Private Life of Helen of Troy," has written an article in the December [illegible] on "Favorite Fiction Characters." He lists five American and five British characters that he believes appeal most to readers. He also gives [illegible] for his choices.

"Leatherstockings" is placed first because of and love of nature are the traits that have endeared him to readers. Next come Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn. They are treated as one because of their love of adventure, imagination, and human qualities. "David Harum," the hero of the book by the same name, is interesting because of his shrewdness, ingenuity, and efficiency. The fourth choice is Little Eva, popular because of her goodness and refinement. The last American character is Hester Prynne, because of the "Scarlet Letter."

Of the British characters Robin Hood in "Ivanhoe" is best liked by American readers for much the same reason as is "Leatherstockings." The fact that he troubles only those who are disliked by a reader adds to his charm. John Silver of "Treasure Island" gives much delight. The glamour of his being a pirate interests those who like highly spiced adventures. Americans sympathize greatly with children in distress, and therefore they have tender feelings for Oliver Twist. The seamy side of high society is satirized in Becky Sharp of "Vanity Fair." Last on the list is Trilby, a waif of the Latin quarter who becomes a model, and then a remarkable singer

Sorority Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

Margaret Hazen '28 visited the house last Saturday

Delta Delta Delta

Eta Chapter of Delta Delta Delta announces the pledging of Mary Freeman '29 of Essex Junction.

Alpha Chi Omega

Frances Dimick's name will be engraved on the Chapter Scholarship Cup as the girl whose scholarship improved the most last semester

Kappa Delta

Emma Black and Alice Wright '26 were in town over the week-end

CHRISTMAS BOOKS!

Why not BOOKS for gifts?
Take a book home with you—or save packing and have us send it.

Any book not already in our stock will be gladly ordered for you. Order such books early. You will enjoy visiting

Ye College Hill Book Shoppe and Tea Room
343 South Prospect Street

The Old Bee Hive

For Christmas Gifts
GOTHAM Gold Stripe Silk Stockings
Sheer and Service weight, all fashionable colors.
$1.85, $1.95, $2.50
PAIR

John Ward Men's Shoes
$9
Permanent Display AT Hayes & Carney 107 BANK ST.
$7
John Ward Men's Shoes
Stores in New York, Brooklyn, Newark and Philadelphia. Address by Mail Orders, 191 Hudson St., New York City

Free Press Printing Co.
189 College St.
Burlington, Vt.
Printing for every student need

WHEN THINKING OF
CHRISTMAS CARDS
IT IS GOOD TO KEEP IN MIND THE OLD PROVERB
"The Early Bird Catches The Worm"
Stop at
The University Stores
AND WE WILL SHOW YOU OUR BEST

ATTITUDE TOWARD COMPULSORY CHAPEL STUDIED BY FEDERATION

Questionnaire Sent Out to College Presidents, Students, and Ministers—Undergraduates Indifferent

[illegible] of questionnaires [illegible] presidents, and the [illegible] of the nation, [illegible] representative group [illegible] appear frequently be- [illegible] of various [illegible] the report issued [illegible] chair- [illegible] Committee on [illegible] on the subject of [illegible] carried on by the [illegible] Federation of Amer- [illegible] conducted throughout in [illegible] spirit, which has [illegible] discover the facts of [illegible] to foster a revolt of [illegible] an ultra-conserva- [illegible] this end in view, [illegible] distributed to the [illegible] to the college presi- [illegible] the undergraduate edi- [illegible] In addition to 25 [illegible] representative col- [illegible] the relatively large [illegible] received from the college [illegible] seem to indicate, when [illegible] the scattering student [illegible] that the agitation among [illegible] on the subject of com- [illegible] is not so widespread [illegible] might have been led to believe.

Presidents Vote Against

The questionnaires issued to the college presidents contained the follow- [illegible] questions: 'Do you favor [illegible] chapel—Sunday, week day, or both? What do you deem to be the chief benefits of compulsory chapel for your undergraduates?' 'What do you believe to be the greatest change in the religious interests of the pres- ent students as compared with those of 1900?' Approximately 415 replies were received, with the following results [illegible] the 'for and against' poll con- templated in the first question. For [illegible] Sunday chapel, 136; against; for [illegible] compulsory week day chapel, 120; against, 90.

[illegible] question elicited in gen- eral several reasons in support of com- [illegible] chapel from those who ap- proved of it, the two most important being the religious and inspirational values of the services, and the contribu- tion which it makes to college unity, with 110 votes for each.

"Become More Sermon Tasters"

The [illegible] ministers who replied [illegible] to the [illegible] questions were at vari- [illegible] as to whether there was a notice- [illegible] difference in speaking before an [illegible] compelled to attend, and one [illegible] was voluntary. Of [illegible] who had formed an opinion, ten [illegible] preference, while six were [illegible] of a spirit of hostility in [illegible] Nine favored com- [illegible] chapel, five were opposed, and [illegible] thought that its advisability de- [illegible] largely on the tradition, size, and [illegible] of the particular college.

[illegible] the system of compul- [illegible] Dr. George Craig Ste- [illegible], Illinois, declared [illegible] would rather speak to a hun- [illegible] who were there because [illegible] to one hundred who were [illegible] than to a [illegible] who were [illegible] Too often college [illegible] are forced to substitute [illegible] Sundays for attend- [illegible] parish churches get [illegible] by [illegible] raising the value of [illegible] on the terms of the [illegible] They become mere sermon [illegible] and when they get out of col- [illegible] are independent of the less [illegible] man who happens to be the [illegible] church. During [illegible] years in college a Methodist [illegible] is unable to become a more stalwart Methodist, an Episcopalian a better [illegible], etc., so that these [illegible] may be revitalized and re- [illegible] by the fresh [illegible], gifted [illegible] putting into them out of [illegible]

[illegible] Stearns, the principal of Phil- [illegible] Andover Academy, feels on the [illegible] hand that 'the groups before [illegible] have regularly spoken in col- [illegible] have represented those who were [illegible] to attend. When this require- [illegible] is abolished, the students are not in evidence, and it is certainly far [illegible] inspiring to speak to the members of the faculty alone.'

Others were of the opinion that a voluntary group 'consisted of those who least needed the message,' and that it was far more exciting to a speaker to talk to a compelled audi- ence. As far as the religious inter- ests of the present day student go, the pastors were not in the least alarmed for the future. Their replies ranged from a belief that there had not been much change to the theory that a greater religious interest exists now among undergraduates than ever be- fore.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Professor Hassett is a member of the committee on arrangements of the American Philological Association which recently met in Philadelphia.

A meeting of the county agents of the Farm Bureau Association will be held here soon.

Last Monday evening a group of the older members of the faculty met with Professor Emerson for dinner.

Professor Donahue's astronomy class had the pleasure of meeting with him Thursday evening and viewing the wonders of the heavens, to the mutual enlightenment and benefit of all.

Last Saturday Professor Emerson spoke before "The Friends and Coun- cil," a women's organization. Sunday morning he reached in the College Street Church.

Miss Isabel Cassidy of the Art De- partment went to Alburg Friday night to lead a class in Art for the Y. W. C. A. there. Miss Parker leads a class in physical education for the local as- sociation each week.

Two chemists of the Wells & Richard- son Company, gave a demonstration of tied and dyed work before Miss Col- burn's Art class last Friday morning.

The Scabbard and Blade Society held a regular meeting on Monday. Tenta- tive plans for the new year were dis- cussed but no definite action was taken on them.

NATIONAL ORATORICAL CONTEST WILL BE HELD AT LOS ANGELES, CALIF.

Five Thousand Dollars in Prizes Awarded to Final Speakers in June, 1927

The National Intercollegiate Orator- ical Contests, financed and conducted by the Better America Federation of California, offer cash prizes totaling $5,000 as a contribution toward better and more intelligent citizenship. They ask that college thought and enthu- siasm be turned toward these contests in order that a better understanding of the constitutional government, under which America has risen, will be fos- tered.

The orations must be original, must not require more than 10 minutes for delivery, and must be on any of the following subjects: The Constitution, Washington and the Constitution, Hamilton and the Constitution, Jeffer- son and the Constitution, Marshall and the Constitution, Franklin and the Constitution, Madison and the Con- stitution, Webster and the Constitu- tion, Lincoln and the Constitution.

There will be seven cash prizes awarded at the final meeting in Los Angeles on June 23, 1927, of the follow- ing amounts: first, $1,500; second, $1,000; third, $750; fourth, $550; fifth, $450; sixth, $400; seventh, $350.

A college can be entered in the con- test through a letter from either an official or a student. All entries must be received not later than March 15, 1927 at the contest management head- quarters, 605 Hibbs Building, Wash- ington, D. C.

To Be Seven Districts

The working unit in the contest is the individual college. Each college is to select its own representative, and is to have only one. This speaker should be selected at a contest or series of contests.

There will be seven major regions over the entire country, in which the colleges and universities will compete among themselves. The exact designa- tion of the territories will me made known after the list of entrants has been closed, namely, on March 15, 1927.

These regions will be subdivided, and groups of about eight, the repre- sentatives of the different colleges will compete at a designated place to deter- mine the contestant who will be repre- sented in the National finals at Los Angeles.

All contestants are to pay their own traveling expenses at all stages of the contest. At the finals it is expected that the prizes awarded will defray the total expense of the trip.

INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATE LEAGUE GETS UNDER WAY WITH 28 MEMBERS

A great deal of interest has been shown of recent years throughout the state in high school debating. Large- ly responsible for creating and stimu- lating this is the Vermont Inter- scholastic Debating League, an organ- ization fostered by the University of Vermont, which now numbers among it members of twenty-eight high schools and academies of the state. The league has already begun to func- tion this year; the executive commit- tee consisting of DeForrest Bartoo, Superintendent of Schools at Essex Junction, who was again chosen pres- ident of the league; H. Dean Pearl, Supervising Principal of Burlington High School, Secretary and Treasurer, and E. H. Clowse, Principal of Rich- mond High School, has selected as the subject for this year, "Resolved, That Congress should enact legisla- tion embodying the principles of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. Con- stitutionality waived." Mr. Pearl has obtained bulletins from Washington dealing with this topic which he is sending to all the members of the association. The public speaking de- partment of the University has offered to assist the debaters. With an inter- esting subject, a wealth of material, and expert advice, there should be some hotly contested discussions this winter among the state perparatory schools.

Conditions of Contest

The Vermont Interscholastic Debat- ing League is entering upon its third year of activity; it is open to any in- stitution of high school standing, pub- lic or private, in the state. The league decides what teams are to meet, and lays down general rules to govern the debates. A school may maintain two teams of three members each, a nega- tive and an affirmative, or one team, prepared to argue on either side; girls as well as boys may take part. The state is divided into districts, with five members of approximately the same size in each precinct. Thus each team debates four times for supremacy in its district; the decision is rend- ered on the merits of the debate, not of the question. The championship is decided on a point basis; the vote of each judge counts one, and the victory counts one. Then these district win- ners meet, and the two best teams are selected by straight elimination. The final debate is held at Burlington, sometime in May. Each member of the team awarded the decision at this time, including the alternate, is awarded a scholarship at the Univer- sity of Vermont to cover full tuition for one year; to the runners-up are given scholarships for half of the tuition.

Brattleboro 1926 Champ

In 1926 Brattleboro defeated Brad- ford in the final debate. The subject under discussion was the recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States. Last May Brattleboro was again a finalist; the team this time however, upholding the affirmative of the ques- tion of the government ownership and control of coal mines, was defeated by the representatives of Goddard Semin- ary.

BLACK PANTHER HAS 11 VETERANS RETURNING FOR 1927 GRID SEASON

Although the Black Panther will lose Captain Wiley and five other football letter men by graduation, there is every indication that with the eleven players awarded "M's" this fall who are to return, as a nucleus, and strong material from the class of 1930, the Middmen will have a powerful team next fall.

The schedule, which was released recently, comprises seven games, with the possibility of an eighth. The sea- son opens with Williams at Williams- town on the first of October. The Ver- mont game is to be played at Burling- ton on November 12, and the final contest is a week later with Provi- dence.

The entire schedule is as follows: October 1—Williams at Williamstown, October 8—M. A. C. at Middlebury, October 15—Tufts at Medford, October 22—Pending, October 29—Hamilton at Clinton, November 5—Norwich at Mid- dlebury, November 12—Vermont at Burlington, November 19—Providence at Providence.

They say that a little bit of vinegar knows its own mother, but it's a wise cork that knows it own pop.—Maintac.

FOR SODA AND CANDIES
Go to
CHURCHILL'S
Drug Store
86 CHURCH ST.

RARE INDIAN VASES ARE IN UNIVERSITY MUSEUM

Among the relics in the University Museum are three Indian vases un- earthed during the last century near Burlington. These vases were prob- ably made by Indians of Vermont four hundred years ago and are excellent examples of Eastern pottery. Pottery of the East differs from that of the West in that the Eastern pottery is usually lined while the Western pot- tery is merely painted.

The most unique of the three jars was unearthed under a tree trunk near Colchester, about 1825. It is the most highly decorated of any complete jar found in New England. The top is square tapering to a circular form near the bottom. About the top is a design of great exactness which could hardly be excelled by a machine of today.

A larger jar was found at Bolton in a cave in 1895. The top is hexagonal, which is quite unusual, with a circular bottom. Decorations form only a rim about the mouth while the base is perfectly smooth.

The third jar is of the type that was most commonly used by the In- dians. The circular pattern is fol- lowed throughout and the top has but a small rim of decorations. The capac- ity of the jars vary from nine pints to fourteen quarts.

ODDS AND ENDS

"Market reports....lobsters....so much a pound...."

"Does that interest you?"

"Hardly. I was only looking to see how much they would cost if I had the wherewithal to buy them!"

—L' Illustration.

"What do you think about all these cuts in appropriations?"

"Why, I consider them quite excel- lent, at least for the other states in the Union."

—Abridged, from L' Illustration.

An American lady had lived for sev- eral years in Germany, without how- ever picking up but a few scraps of German. One day, invited to an opera party, she did want to learn a few idiomatic expressions. Her son told her of the quaint German custom of saying "Blessed be the meal time" when one arises from the table before the others. Accordingly in the res- taurant later on, what was the surprise of everyone present when she babbled out the words for "Picture gallery"—all the German she could think of!

VERMONTERS' CLUB TO HOLD PARTY

Vermonters' Club is planning a Christmas party to be held in the gymnasium Friday evening, December 10th. This promises to be an unusual party, and a large attendance is ex- pected. Each big sister is asked to bring her little sister.

Guest (on phone): Say, ain't I pay- ing for two people in this room?

Room Clerk: Yes sir, it's listed under double rates.

Guest: Then how come there's just one Bible?—Okla. Whirlwind.

TAILORING OF ALL KINDS
Suits to Measure $26 up.
Overcoats $22 up.
O'HARA

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 Colchester Ave.
Opp. Engineering Bldg.
Home Cooking Our Specialty
Lunches to Take Out

CHRISTMAS GIFTS OF GOODS THAT LAST
Russel W. Parish
Jeweler
97 Church Street

CADETS ELECT SHERMA... CAPTAIN AND RELEAS... 1927 GRID SCHED...

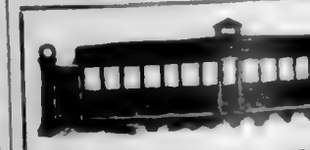
Roger Sherm... Mass., quarterback ... eleven for two ye... Junior class, and ... ball team, was re... the gridmen nex... Freshman and Va... man's work as a ... a broken field run... ularly noteworthy.

Final arrangements ... schedule have been ... card now stands ... games, beginning ... September 24. ... M. A. C. on the ... Day. The Vermont game ... Northfield on October 29 ... Cadets will meet the Purple Pan... Middlebury the following Saturday.

The complete schedule: Sept. 24—Dartmouth at Hanover; Oct. 1 — Rensselaer at Troy; Oct. 8—Brown ... idence at Providence; Oct. 15— Colby at Northfield; Oct. 22— Textile at Northfield; Oct. 29— Vermont at Northfield; Nov. 5— Middlebury at Middlebury; Nov. 12—M. A. C. at Amherst.

Fraternity Note...

Sigma Alpha Chi



Sigma Alpha Chi announces the pledging of C. H. Reed '30 of Britain, Connecticut.

Lambda Iota

The Owls held a dance at the ... Friday evening. Dancing ... was furnished by Hayes Or... Lieutenant and Mrs. Frederi... present as chaperones. Rep... tives of several other fraterni... tended as invited guests.

"GIFTS THAT LAS...
A PIECE OF JEWEL...
A WATCH
or
A PIECE OF SILVE...
Will be a gift that wi... pleasure for many years t...
▲ ▲ ▲
F. J. Preston & ...
Jewelry of the Better ...
17 Upper Church St...

COMFY SLIPP...
Genuine Daniel Gree... pers made of selected ... rial by skilled crafts...
BOYNTON'...
65 CHURCH STR...

HENRY'S DI...
155 BANK STR...
You eat well ...
you eat at He...
Where they serve ... at popular pric...

Student's Accounts ... This sch... you how ... Plan wo...
Turk Says
Ask to see Turk's New Tuxedo Suits $32.50, $42.50
Try the Budget
LANGROCKS and SUITS and TOP...
Where the Anglers come from Turk...
156-158 COLLEGE

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1926 — NUMBER 23

ATIONALISM IS THE RELIGION OF THE DAY SAYS NORMAN THOMAS

r. Thomas Believes a Centralzed World State Impracticable But That Cooperation Is the Need of the Hour

Last Wednesday evening at seven- reen, Mr Norman Thomas, who has en a candidate for Governor of New rk State and Mayor of New York ty, addressed a group of about forty rsons in the Chapel in the Old Mill the subject "Race Religion, and Fra- rnity

World-wide Interdependence of Nations

He said that the nations of today are t independent, there is a world-wide terdependence. There never was a me when man has not been a mem- r of a group to which he has been yal. The growth of man's interde- ndence has been brought about by eat economic problems. Men feel yalty to religion, race, nation, and to me extent to the economic class to hich they belong.

First, Mr. Thomas stressed religious yalty. He spoke of religion as an rganization with definite beliefs and remonies, and which was a great ce-making for fraternity, although always for peace between groups of ople of different religions. Very eligious people are not tolerant, and proportion as we care about our ligion, it is not easy to be tolerant. e do not love liberty as much as we m to. Instead we love truth, and grieves us when someone rejects mething we think is a truth. We do t want liberty until it is denied us.

Religion Does Not Mean Peace

Religion has made for fraternity be- use it has had truth, but it has not ways made for peace. The religion Mohammed was that of the sword, hile that of Jesus was love. There as been religious war between the atholics and the Protestants which ither ought to be proud of. As his- ry shows, religion has always gone nd in hand with war, although it ed not always do so. The Quaker ligion has proved this. Protestant- m, Catholicism, Judaism, and Mo- mmedanism have had rather bad rec- ds, while Buddhism and Confucian- m have had better records.

The next point Mr. Thomas stressed as that of race. Race as determined color or general type is a rather odern conception. There is little idence in history that in ancient mes the color line was as keenly felt it is today. The opposite is shown the books of travel of Moreo Polo. e felt respect rather than superiority r the colored races that he met with the course of his travels. The odern conception of race does not ake for fraternity.

Nationalism a Ruling Force

More strongly than race or religion r. Thomas stressed the fact that na- nalism does not make for frater- ty. Carleton Hays said that nation- lism is the outstanding religion of r time from a psychological point view.

That nationalism is stronger than y other form of religion was shown the World War. Men of different ces, colors and creeds lined up to- ther, and Christian killed Christian. war each side tries to appropriate e same God for itself, which shows e strength of nationalism.

As a religion, nationalism leaves uch to be desired. You can join a ligious sect if you have not been member before. Christianity, Mo- mmedanism and Buddhism seek for nverts and are inclusive. National- m does not give one not a member uch of a chance to get in. If you e not an American, you are not d's best friend. The present immi- ration laws are exclusive and particu- r, and few get in.

All great religions have stressed the nciple of loving one's brother, even their darkest moments. National- m stresses love for Americans, and red for all others. The modern ception of patriotism seems to be t of licking somebody.

Centralized State Impracticable

Mr. Thomas does not believe that a e, centralized state would be prac- al, as it would be too large to be verned. But to have world peace

(Continued on page 3)

FRANKLIN OTTO ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF SOPHOMORE HOP COMMITTEES

Plans for the Sophomore Hop, which will be held in the gymnasium on the evening of February 4, are now taking definite form. Franklin Otto is chairman and the committees are as follows: Decoration committee Mary Comstock, chairman, Lucille Brunelle, Charlotte Cleveland, Catherine Bassett, Reuel Young, Bertel Gustafson and Robinson Darian. Favor committee—John Hylan, chairman, Alzeda Fiske, Helen Prentiss and Gerald Van Name. Music committee Eugene Knapp, chairman, Woodhull Hall and Kenneth Price.

INDEPENDENTS ANSWER FRATERNITY OBJECTIONS IN REGARD TO TOURNEY

On Monday, December the 6th, the Vermont Independents held a meeting at 7 o'clock in the "Y" office Quite a few men were present. The Independents have all preparations completed to hold an informal dance on Friday, December 17, at the Phi Chi rooms, from 8:30 P. M. to 12 P. M with music furnished by the Kenwood Orchestra. Refreshments will be served. Admission is the nominal sum of two dollars. Professor and Mrs. Ladd will act as chaperones. Those men who have paid their dues to the Independents may see Mr. Maxted at the "Y" office about their dance tickets. All others who wish to buy tickets may get them at the same place.

In regard to entering the interfraternity basketball tournament, a delegate from the Key and Serpent Society was present at this meeting and explained that it was unfair that the Independents should take part in the tourney because they would have no use for the prize cup if they did win it; secondly, that the Independents had a large number of men from which to pick a team; and thirdly, that the tournament was to foster good feeling among the fraternities and therefore the fraternities come before the Vermont Independents. The replies to these reasons for rejection in the tourney were that if the Independents did win the cup which is extremely unlikely they might keep it in the library, secondly, that the Vermont Independents consist of those men who have paid their dues and therefore should be regarded as a society. Finally, that if they were not admitted it would engender bad feeling among the students.

WCAX TO BROADCAST FIRST PROGRAM OF YEAR

Radio listeners will be given a treat this evening when Station WCAX of the University broadcasts its first program of the year. WCAX will go on the air from seven until eight o'clock, and an interesting hour is assured.

This station was first opened October 10, 1924, under the operation of the Extension Service Bureau of Agriculture. As it is entirely financed by this Bureau the programs must be of an agricultural nature. Frank Sulloway, chief operator, and Glen Aiken, both of the class of '29, have charge of the station. L. W. Dean of the English Department is the announcer. WCAX operates on a wave length of 252 meters, and has been heard well over the state.

Below is the program for this evening. The Extension Service Bureau would greatly appreciate any acknowledgment of the reception of this program by parents or friends of the students.

7:00 P. M. Burlington High School Orchestra, A. E. Holmes, Director.
7:30 P. M "Food Value of the Banana," J. C. Weingartener.
7 40 P. M. "Christmas Gifts," Mrs. Emma A. Fuller, Extension Specialist in Home Economics.
7:50 P. M. "The Taming of Red Clover and Alfalfa Seed," Dr. Ernest Van Olstune.

To this anvil I compare an empire,
to the hammer the ruler,
And the people to the iron that lies on the anvil.
Woe to the poor iron, when random blows
Strike uncertain and the kettle does not readily appear from the iron!
—Goethe.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE IS APPROVED AND RELEASED BY ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Season Opens With Catholic University on April 2 and Runs Till June 18 Including Twenty-seven Games

The 1927 baseball season will open on April 2, with Catholic University at Washington, according to the schedule just released by Mgr. Marvin and approved by the Athletic Council The games on the Southern trip will be played as usual during the Easter recess, closing with the Army at West Point on April 12. There will be ten home games, seven of which come on successive dates at the end of the season, closing with the Annual Alumni game, June 18.

The schedule stands as follows

April
2 Catholic University, at Washington, D C
4. U S Marines, at Quantico, Va
5 U S Marines, at Quantico, Va
6 Navy, at Annapolis
7. Univ of Delaware, at Newark Del
8. Drexel Inst., at Philadelphia.
9 Princeton, at Princeton.
11. Fordham, at New York City
12. New York Univ., at New York City.
13. Army, at West Point.
22. Springfield, at Springfield
23 Holy Cross, at Worcester

May
6. St Lawrence, at Canton.
7. Clarkson Tech., at Potsdam
12 Middlebury, at Middlebury
14. Pending, at Burlington
17 Norwich, at Northfield
18. Pending, at Burlington
20 Conn. Agr College, at Burlington
24. Dartmouth, at Hanover
27. Springfield, at Burlington
28. Mass Agr College, at Burlington
30 Dartmouth, at Burlington.

June
1. Holy Cross, at Burlington
4. Middlebury, at Burlington.
11. Norwich at Burlington.
18. Alumni at Burlington.

CHAIRMAN OF JUNIOR WEEK PICKS COMMITTEE

Sabin C. Abell, chairman of Junior Week, announces the selection of the committees which will assist him in managing the annual junior festivities. Junior Week comes the middle of May this year. The main events of the week are the Peerade, Prom and college play. Saturday night, May 21, will be given over to fraternity dances. The names of the committee members follow:

Junior Prom Committee

Chairman—R. M. Whitcomb

Programs and Favors

J. C Conway, Chairman, K H Gurney, F. A. McLaughlin, Marion Cleveland, Eileen Goodwin, Pauline Lynch

Decorations

Della Martin, Chairman, P C Greene, L. G. Leary, Jr., C H Stevens, D Tatleman, A. C. Unsworth, Alma Batten, Annette Burns, Doris Hart, Elisabeth Mildon, Juanita Witters, Margaret Wood.

Prom Refreshments

J. J. Curran, Chairman, R. T. Holden, A D. Pingree, Helen Merritt, Merta Munroe.

Publicity

H. D. Crandall, Chairman, J. O Phelps, W. F. Reagan, Elizabeth Billings.

Peerade Committee

C. F. Castle, Chairman, W. N Cogswell, G V. Goodwin, G A Gould, Mildred Roberts, Rachel Skinner.

Banquet Committee

H. C. Collins, Chairman, K. W. Kyle, L. H. Marvin, Irene Bates, Eleanor Lockwood.

Junior Week Program

M. C. Robbins, Jr., Chairman, C. T. Hewes, G. S. Talcott, Dorothy Dearing, Marjory Tewksbury.

PLAY BEING REHEARSED THREE HOURS DAILY

The play Captain Applejack which will be presented by the University the sixteenth of this month is progressing rapidly The characters are all doing well with their parts and everything is going very smoothly The costumes will be obtained from Brooks in New York the concern that furnished the costumes for the play 'Arms and the Man" which was presented by the Theatre Club

A three hour rehearsal is being held every day.

DEDICATION OF NEW CHAPEL EXPECTED TO TAKE PLACE IN JAN.

Work on the outside of the Ira Allen Memorial Chapel has been completed, and interior decorating is being completed now. The organ has been installed and workmen are now busied in toning and aligning the organ and stops

Plans are not yet fully matured, but it is expected that the new Chapel will be dedicated January 14 1927, on the Friday preceding mid years Special services will be held with the Rev Charles Edward Jefferson D D LL. D., at present pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle (New York City) as speaker for the dedication ceremony A special organ program will be offered by Thomas Tertius Noble, organist of St Thomas' Church (New York City)

Dr. Jefferson delivered the baccalaureate sermon for the class of 1924 He has received many honorary degrees, including the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the University of Vermont (1921) Dr Jefferson was pastor of the Congregational Church of Chelsea, Mass., from 1887 to 1898, after which time he was transferred to the Broadway Tabernacle in New York City, where he still is pastor He has written many books and treatises

Thomas Tertius Noble is a native of England He is a graduate of the Royal College of Music, London, and is a Fellow of the Royal College of Organists Mr Noble has been organist at Cambridge University in several of the colleges, and at Ely Cathedral, and York Minster He has been organist and director of music at St Thomas (New York) since 1913 He has composed much church music, and has made victrola records of his own compositions

BASKETEERS ROUNDING INTO SHAPE FOR SEASON

The basketeers under Coach McAvoy are rounding into pretty fair pre-season shape. Several times a week the first squad of twelve men work out on signals and finish with a short scrimmage between the firsts and seconds

The first team is the old line up of last season with Capt Marvin at the pivot position, Post and Prentice waiting for his tipoff and Price in the back court with "Sealey" Estabrook of last year's yearlings to support him The red headed guard is showing up very well in his first attempts to keep up with the varsity pace and looks as though he could successfully fill the shoes of the redoubtable "Mike" Katz, erstwhile bulwark of the Catamount defense

The seconds are giving the varsity strong opposition. "Hick" Morgan, '29, center, Pike and Morse at forward positions and Mackay and Whitcomb at guards present an unusually strong aggregation for the reserves which are generally none too powerful. Mackay is passing very well and even if he does not earn a regular berth will undoubtedly be a capable substitute in times of stress when a stopgap is needed

The freshman squad of about forty has been cut to twenty five by Coach Dresser who is to be the mentor for the baby hoopsters during the coming season and he says there will be only one more cut, which will reduce the squad to a permanent number of twenty. He has retained four of the, at least temporarily, unsuccessful varsity candidates to assist him with the freshmen. The squad is to be divided into sections of five each and one of the men, who are McInley, Rowe, Lyman and Cogswell, will be assigned to each section as leader to aid the coach in whipping the aspirants into shape There is some very good material out but it is too early to predict the value of any particular men

ROY CHAPMAN ANDREWS NOTED ASIAN EXPLORER TO SPEAK HERE MONDAY

Mr. Andrews Will Illustrate His Lecture with Pictures Taken While He Was in Asia

Roy Chapman Andrews, noted naturalist and explorer who has just returned from Asia, will give an illustrated lecture in the gymnasium at eight o'clock on Monday evening, December 13 Still pictures and moving pictures will be used. The topic will be "The Search for the Oldest Man" and tickets are free to faculty and students of the University.

Mr Andrews graduated from Beloit College where he was a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity. He received the M A. degree from Columbia University and the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Brown University. He is chief of the division of Asiatic Exploration of the American Museum of Natural History In 1908 he travelled and explored in Alaska Mr Andrews was a special naturalist on board the U S S Albatross on an extended voyage to the Dutch East Indies Borneo and Celebes in 1909 10 From 1911 12 he was engaged in an exploration of North China and was with the famous Borden Alaska Expedition in 1913. After this he specialized in the study of whales and other water mammals until 1914

Mr. Andrews has been the leader of the Asiatic Expeditions of the American Museum of Natural History Of these the first expedition, in 1916 17 was through Thibet, Southwestern China, and Burma The second expedition in 1919, was to North China and outer Mongolia The third, and best known expedition, left for Central Asia in 1921 and returned after three years to report and organize for additional work in Central Asia, this series of expeditions to continue until 1928

The 1925 expedition discovered the oldest known mammals and extensive evidences of primitive human life on the Central Asian Plateau The explorers used motor cars and traveled over six thousand miles The project opened the Gobi Desert to the use of motor cars for commercial purposes, discovered various geological strata previously unknown, discovered some of the richest fossil fields known in the world also the first dinosaur eggs known and a skull and parts of the skeleton of the baluchitherium which is the largest mammal known to have inhabited the earth in prehistoric times

Mr Andrews is a member of the Century Club, Explorers' Club, Authors' Club, Boone and Crockett Club, Ends of the Earth Club, and the Peking Club. He is the author of "Whale Hunting with Gun and Camera," "Camps and Trails in China," "Across Mongolian Plains," and of the "American Museum on Natural History Publications" "The California Gray Whale," and "The Sea Whale" He is a member of several biological societies of New York City and of Washington

Mr Andrews comes here from a life of fascinating scientific research and, needless to suggest, numerous adventures This man, with such a background of world-wide experience, should prove one of the most informative and interesting speakers of the year

SENATE APPROVES FIVE VOTE RULING

The Student Senate met Tuesday evening at Sigma Phi Place. The new system of electing sport managers was approved as adopted by the Athletic Council This gives the Graduate Manager and the Director of Physical Education one vote each. The other three votes are cast as before by the retiring manager of a sport, the team and the coach The Senate felt that the Athletic Council should have referred the plan to them before adopting it

---

A harebell
From the ground
But late had sprung up
Into loveliest bloom.
There came a bee,
And plundered the sweets he found
there
They must have existed, perchance,
The one for the other
—Goethe

The Vermont Cynic

THE OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Member of the INTERCOLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION

Published every Tuesday and Friday during the college year. Subscription price $1.50 a year, delivered anywhere in the United States. Single copy five cents.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, 150 So. Prospect St. All other correspondence to the Editor, 197 Manchester Ave.

Entered at the postoffice at Burlington, Vt., as second class matter, under the act of March 3, 1879. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, act of October 3, 1917, authorized on June 5, 1918.

Editors

Editor-in-Chief
News Editor
News Editor
Women's Editor
Sporting Editor
Intercollegiate Editor
Humor Editor
Feature Editor

Assistant Editors

George M. James '28
Assistant '28
Virginia Margie '28
Assistant '28
Assistant '28
Assistant

Co-ed Page

The Bazaar

Saturday, the eleventh day of December in this old year of our Lord 1926 will be a great and glorious festival day. The "Gym" is to be the scene of this fête and everyone is cordially invited.

Question: "What's going on?"

Answer: "Lots of things!"

There is fortune-telling all during the afternoon and evening, and the Madames "Whosis-Whatsis" are all primed to tell you your past, present and future as you've never heard it before and probably never will again.

Waffles, candy and other "yum-yum" baked foods are to be on hand ready for consumption. Could anyone resist those waffles and gobs of maple syrup? Draw up your chairs, Saturday and fed, to!

There are the "fixin's" for several bridge games for those thus inclined.

Moral: Look out for the card sharps!

Oh yes, and then there is a special Vermont booth, with just heaps of things for any self-respecting Vermonter. Catamounts will be painted on slickers (perfectly harmless, you understand, but very lifelike!). So bring your slickers, if you want to be in style.

There will be some very "spiffy" gifts from the Oriental store, which you will be able to get at a reasonable price. (A good way to make your friends think you've been travelling.)

But, hark, my dears, and listen carefully! In the evening, the famous and very-seldom held "stag" dance will be a progress, with the far-renowned "Algonquins" in attendance. It is from eight until twelve bells, come, laugh, and make merry until the Sabbath doth begin!

Sorority Notes

Alpha Chi Omega

Alpha Iota chapter had a Christmas bazaar at the Athena Club, Saturday, December fourth.

Ina Westover '25 was in town for the bazaar.

The patronesses entertained the active chapter at dinner at the home of Mrs Douglass, Monday, December sixth.

Pi Beta Phi

The Juniors gave a tea in honor of their patronesses recently.

Alpha Xi Delta

A dinner and entertainment was given in honor of the patronesses by the upperclassmen. Mrs. Guy W. Bailey, Mrs. Myrick, Mrs. Watkins and Mrs Mower were present.

CURRENT COMMENT

United States of Europe

The feeling for the need of a united Europe has been spreading in recent years. The actual step toward the realization of this movement was taken in October when the Pan-European Congress met in Vienna. Count Coudenhove-Kalergi of Vienna was the instigator of this Congress. In 1923 he had first appealed for members of a Pan-European Union. Sixty adherents answered this appeal. The number has now increased to 20,000. It was this Union which made possible the Congress attended by representatives from every European country.

Among these representatives were numbered the President of the Reichstag Politis of Greece, Caillaux and Herriot of France and Ex-Chancellor Wirth of Germany. The meeting of the two thousand delegates was opened with impressive ceremony creating a mystical atmosphere. After a showing of the flags of twenty-eight European nations, a large banner with the symbols of the Pan-European Union, a red cross on a gold field was displayed.

Several interesting speeches were given notable among these, the one of Politis which dispelled the fears of friends of the League in regard to the new Pan-European Union. Ex-Chancellor Wirth spoke on America's attitude toward Europe, saying that to America Europe is either a united whole or nothing at all.

Briefly the aims of this movement are: the formation of a union of all those Continental countries desirous and able to do it, in a primarily economic federation; to make border lines invisible; to have intellectual cooperation; to form a European gold reserve bank."

This is discussed in an interesting article the "First Congress for a United States of Europe" by Harry D. Gideonse in the Current Review for December

STATISTICS GATHERED ON THE HEALTH HABITS OF UPPERCLASS WOMEN

The recent census taken of the health habits of Juniors and Seniors has been completed. Although not a very large number responded, sufficient information has been obtained so that statistics can be given. Of all the items on the card eating between meals seems to be the greatest fault. During the recorded time this was kept perfect by only five persons! Evidently we still have our childish impulses to be continually eating. Another item also slighted was exercise for posture. Very few of us have the perfect type of figure and it would seem as if this exercise, with its desired results when faithfully practiced would be among the most popular. Only about one-third of the people received the prescribed amount of exercise out-of-doors and about the same number believe in resting ten minutes a day. The remainder of the items were well kept and we can offer no criticism of them.

A result of the census will be posted on the Health Council bulletin board in the "Y" room and further comments on the results will be published in the CYNIC.

IMPORTANCE OF EXERCISE STRESSED

Everyone who heard Miss Levins speak last Saturday will remember how she stressed exercise as one of the main requisites of good health. How far are you living up to it? This cold weather is rather discouraging but the more you stay inside the more you mind it. Skating will soon be here and there is no better way of getting out-door exercise and of health-building than through this sport. And when the roads are sufficiently well covered with snow horseback riding will again be in order. Don't think that just because it is cold that you have to give this up. Keep up and keep outside for your exercise and mid-years won't seem half so bad.

K. E. L. ENTERTAINS

K. E. L., the group of Jewish girls on the campus, entertained Miss Sadie Schenkman of McGill University as a week-end guest.

OUTING CLUB

An organized hike was held Monday afternoon. The hikers went cross-country, the distance being three miles.

Oh! La! La!

Galoshes

Now that winter has come once more the galoshes are taken out from the attic and our campus is beginning to resemble Santa Claus' reindeer in sound. Girls—girls! Why do you insist on having your feet enveloped in such clanging, jangling untidy looking apparel? This year more than at any other time the young lady to be stylish must be dressed neatly and such footgear spoils the effect of the otherwise detailed costume. If, however, your feet are dainty in size and you are desirous of advertising the fact why not purchase some of those vivid-hued overshoes displayed on Church Street? The red ones do look Christmasy but for heaven's sake don't wear red galoshes with a purple dress.

Rouge

In these days it is no longer considered to be bad form to add a little to the natural color of your cheeks in fact that young lady who scorns the use of cosmetics is regarded as a little too prim. However there is some choice as to shades and now I beg of you, young ladies of fashion at U. V. M. don't use that terrible orange rouge particularly if you are wearing a red evening gown. And remember that not so much color is expected during the day as at night.

"I never kiss a new acquaintance for twenty-four hours."

"Heavens! I never kiss anybody more than twenty minutes!"—Voo Doo.

STAR RESTAURANT
CHINESE & AMERICAN FOODS
Regular Dinner 45c
From 11 A. M. to 2:30 P. M.
A La Carte Service all day
Special Sunday Dinner $1.00
Phone 1618 141 Church St.

RIFLE TEAM NOT TO BE ORGANIZED

Rifle marksmanship has been discontinued for this year. The action was difficult to take, considering the excellent record of previous years, but the lateness of the season and the expenditures necessary for the new tennis courts justify this decision. There is a possibility that archery will be given in the spring to replace this sport.

STUDENT UNION

Miss Levins gave a very interesting talk on 100 per cent health. She especially stressed regular exercise and plenty of sleep.

Naomi Thorne '27, president of W. A. A., announced that the basketball schedule will remain the same as originally planned.

There will be a Student Union Council meeting Friday, December 17, at four o'clock.

BLUESTOCKINGS!

The Bluestockings Christmas party will be held at Redstone Tuesday evening, December 14. All members, both old and new are strongly urged to attend. The party will begin at 7:30 and will not last more than an hour and a half or two hours. Members are warned about their cuts. Most of the members have already had their two.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE DEBATE TO TAKE PLACE BETWEEN THE WOMEN

On Monday afternoon in the Old Chapel the tryouts for the women's Freshman-Sophomore debate were held. There were four first-year women out, and their rivals had six candidates. The subject was, "Resolved, that American Colleges should abolish required lectures and adopt the Oxford tutorial system." The competition was keen, and the judges had no little difficulty in selecting the teams. Those who have been chosen to represent the class of '29 are Dorothy Cottrell of Burlington, Bertha Klein of Windsor and Gladys R. Kone of Hartford, Connecticut. The Freshman team is composed of Edith E. Fishman of Hartford, Connecticut, Mabel L. Freeman of Norristown Pennsylvania, and Janice M. Goodrich, of Richmond, Vermont.

The debate between the two lower classes will be on this same subject with the sophomores upholding the affirmatives on the evening of Friday December 17. It is hoped that a cup can be secured to be awarded to the winning team. Mr Moore of the public speaking department, who is coaching the debaters, expects to find material for a women's varsity team which will meet the Middlebury co-eds.

Compliments of
C. A. BARBER & CO.
112 Church Street

TRANSLATIONS

The Wanderer

Now the blue vales, misty still,
Yearn for the night.
The tree-tops sway gently,
And but a light breeze blows softly
A breeze that fans my troubled brow
No beckoning light gleams on my path
now.
The night grants me no blissful rest
And as I stride onward, slowly onward,
A foreboding of evil is my companion
I wander homeward through the night.
—From the German of Hans Bethge.

Wanderer's Night Song

Each slope of green
Spells peace.
And every scene
Surcease.
From striving free—
The birded woods are still,
Wait but a little till
Peace come to thee.
—Goethe

Translation Anonymous.

Never take women into your councils.
—Menander.

A Gift Pen Will Be Appreciated
WATERMANS, PARKERS DUOFOLDS and CHILTONS
None Better
HOBART J. SHANLEY & CO.
5 Church St.

A sermon in stones

CECIL RHODES, the diamond king, had a real idea which he passed on to diamonds in the rough.

"Be well-rounded men, broad in your sympathies," he said, and he made this the basis for selection of Rhodes scholars.

Surely there's a lesson for every man—graduates alike in arts, in pure science or in applied science—to balance the student in him with the athlete, the individualist with the man of sociability, the specialist with the "citizen of the world."

For Rhodes' idea was no theory. It is shared by hard-headed business men today.

Published for the Communication Industry by

Western Electric Company
Makers of the Nation's Telephones

Number 64 of a Series

7 FOOTBALL MEN TO RECEIVE THEIR "V'S" BY VOTE OF COUNCIL

Baseball Practice to Begin February 23, and Southern Trip Will Be Made as Usual

The Athletic Council [illegible] members in addition to the four [illegible] alumni the [illegible] Manager H A [illegible] meeting [illegible] suggestions of [illegible] committee. [illegible] letters to Varsity [illegible] Freshman play [illegible] awarding class pin [illegible] certain members [illegible] silver foot [illegible]

The baseball advisory committee recommended that the schedule as drawn up by Manager Marvin be accepted and approved for the season of [illegible] baseball practice be started [illegible] immediately after the Kake Walk on February 23 and that the [illegible] trip be made in 1927 as usual. All of this the Council approved. The Football Advisory Committee consists of [illegible] (chairman), J. H. Patrick, Jr., F. E. Howe, Dr. A. K. Aldinger, Graduate Manager H. A. Mayforth, Manager Marvin and Captain [illegible] Morse.

The Athletic Council voted to award the following Varsity football men with their insignia: Candon, Conway, Captain Deering, Damon, Kropper, Simpson, Estabrook, J. Scutakes, Lacey, Morse, O'Keefe, Palmer, Robinson, Smith, Thorn, Winchenbach, and Manager Axelson.

The council then voted to give the class numerals [illegible] to 27 members of the freshman squad and to three assistant managers. They also voted to allow the class to purchase and present silver football charms to the following members: Captain Levine, McCann, Blumstrom, Bachman, Knapp, Lowe, Bernstein, Slate, Birois, Gourson, Griffith, Bray, Dorey, Mace, Mitchell, Derose, and Harwood.

It was voted to send Dr. A. K. Aldinger physical director, and H. A. Mayforth, graduate manager, to the National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting at the Hotel Astor in New York City December 29th and 30th and to send Coach McAvoy to the American Football Coaches' Association meeting at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City on December 28.

It was voted to award the track "V" to the following men: Dean Rowe '27, who finished first; O. T. Wood, '28, who finished fourth; and S. Martinetti '28, who finished fifth in the dual cross-country meet against Middlebury this fall.

The entire council will have its picture taken on January 10. It is the first time at the University that the council has ever attempted a picture as a unit. The personnel of this year's council is as follows: Faculty, Dr. E. H. Buttles, Prof. F. R. Jenks, Prof. F. D. Carpenter, Prof. James E. Donahue; Alumni, Dr. Douglass McSweeney, John H. Patrick, John O. Ravendale and Royal Bingham; Students, Mgr. of Football, R. S. Aronson, Mgr. of Baseball, Lawrence Marvin, Mgr. of Basketball, Larry Averill, and Mgr. of Track, Floyd James; Athletic Department, Physical Director, Dr. A. K. Aldinger and Graduate Mgr. H. A. Mayforth.

TWELVE FRATERNITIES TO COMPETE FOR CUP

According to present information, the Interfraternity Basketball Tournament will start shortly after mid years and will be finished before the end of March. The following fraternities have entered teams. They are Alpha Tau Omega, Delta Psi, Kappa Sigma, the Owls, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Mu Delta, Sigma Alpha Chi, Sigma Delta, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi, Tau Epsilon Phi, and Zeta Chi. When the tournament starts there will be three leagues consisting of four teams each. All teams will have uniforms in the present series. The games will be played in the gymnasium. The present plan has the teams play more games than in former series so that there will be no question as to the superiority of the winning team. The winners will receive a cup donated by the Key and Serpent Society.

Due to the awkwardness of having a league with five teams, the petition of the Vermont Independents has so far met with but little success in their attempt to enter the tournament. The final decision concerning their entry will be determined at the next Key and Serpent meeting on December 14.

The purpose of the interfraternity basketball tournament is to foster good feeling among the fraternities and to possibly discover any good material for the Varsity team.

FAMOUS RUSSIAN ARTIST MISCHA LEVITZKI GIVES CONCERT IN GYMNASIUM

Mischa Levitzki had no trouble in captivating and thrilling the audience Wednesday evening in the gymnasium by his playing. The audience, even though not as large as at times showed appreciation of his ability by a great amount of applause. Encores were given.

The artist had a wide range of expression and perfect technique so that everyone thoroughly enjoyed his concert.

Mischa Levitzki was born in distant Krementchuk, southern Russia, May 25, 1898. He showed marked talent when but seven and Michallowski of Warsaw became his teacher. Good fortune visited him and he came to New York. From 1907 until 1911 he was at the Musical Institute working with the brilliant Stojowski. Under Dohnanyi at the Kgl. Hochshule, Berlin, he studied so assiduously for four years, beginning late in 1911, that he gained the Mendelssohn prize. First an obscure Russian boy then a young student in music in alien and war-harassed lands, finally, the struggle over, and only twenty-five, a great artist beloved and acclaimed.

GERMAN CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS AND PLANS FOR CHRISTMAS PARTY

Under the direction of Professor F. D. Carpenter the "Deutsche Verein" was formed four years ago and was continued until last mid-year. Due to poor attendance and the lack of cooperation by the student body the club was broken up. However, this year under the guidance of Professor F. D. Carpenter and Professor B. F. Ladd, the organization is being revived.

The purpose of the club is for the advancement of the knowledge of the customs of the German nation and the improvement of the conversation in the German language by those who are studying it in the University. There is also a social benefit. The singing of German songs and dancing usually follow the meetings.

At a meeting held last Friday two officers were elected: Larry Kimball, '27, of Bethel, president; Agatha Jasspon, '27, of Fitchburg, Mass., secretary and treasurer. The office of vice-president was left open until a later meeting.

It has been planned to give a Christmas party. Invitations are to be sent out to students recommended by the German department.

CENSORSHIP SCORED AT PRESS CONGRESS

Professor G. A. Gallup of the journalism department of Iowa University, speaking before the Second Annual National Press Congress on November 19 said, "Faculties in most colleges do not take a very mature attitude in regard to college papers. It is silly for a college administration to believe that every word in a college paper will be read by everyone in the state from the governor down." Professor Gallup is of the opinion that the time is not far off when most college administrations will give up control of the student publications, as has already been done at all the larger universities throughout the country.

"The performance of the various athletic teams is the only unifying interest in American colleges today," said Professor W. G. Bleyer of the University of Wisconsin, "and it is up to the college paper to create other common unifying interests of a cultural nature." Professor Bleyer also believes that the criticism of teaching or administration policies in a college paper is a total waste of space; inasmuch as such criticism never accomplishes results. "Analyze, rather than criticise," was his advice to the assembled student editors.

Let no man be like his neighbor, but let every man emulate the superman!
How do you make that out? Let each be in himself perfect.
—Schiller.

If you wish to know yourself, then find out what others say about you.
But if you desire to know other people, then look in your own heart.
—Schiller.

A friend is a dear possession; but even in an enemy do I learn:
My friend shows me what I can do, and the foe, what I ought to do.
—Schiller.

FOR SHOE REPAIRING
try
SIKORA'S SHOE SHOP
188 Bank Street

CLASS IN WRESTLING SHOWS GOOD MATERIAL FOR A COLLEGE TEAM

Twenty men are reporting regularly at the wrestling practices coached by Raymond Holtz a Medic of the class of '28. The outlook in the future is this new activity as a permanent sport at our University is a very creditable possibility. And its coach is ambitiously entertaining great hopes of turning out a crack wrestling team with the aid of the promising material and focused interests.

The method of procedure is begun with moderately strenuous setting-up exercises, followed by a demonstration of new holds and breaks for holds. The class, divided in pairs according to weight, are then set to practicing these, until they have thoroughly mastered the fundamentals. They are also shown the holds that are barred from intercollegiate wrestling such as the strangler, toe hold, double Nelson, punishing face hold, and hammer lock above right ankle, but are not allowed to practice these in their short bouts no more than they would be in an intercollegiate contest. The last half of the period is devoted solely to single matches coached enthusiastically by Mr. Holtz who corrects and spurs on the bottom man with the wrestlers' slogan "Move, kick, roll, jump, push, bridge!"

STILL CHANCE FOR MEN TO SCRUB CHEERLEADING

With the opening of the basketball season on the fifteenth comes the call for candidates for cheerleaders. It is planned to give the aspirants practical experience by allowing them to lead the cheers at the court games this winter. This scheme will be followed entirely instead of holding cheerleading schools, as was done in the fall. Not only those who were out during the football season, but also any others who would like to begin now should present themselves on the gymnasium floor at the first contest. There is still opportunity for the man who will work hard consistently, to obtain a place on the cheering squad.

CHAPEL SERVICE AT INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL LED BY VERMONT STUDENTS

The deputation sent by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. to Vergennes last week-end consisted J. M. Knox, Medic '29, C. W. Quad '28, Mabel Pierce '29 and Dorothy Claflin '29. The group took charge of the Sunday services of the United Church of Vergennes. They also conducted a social for the young people of all the churches Saturday evening. Sunday afternoon they visited the Industrial School and led the chapel exercises there.

The general theme of the morning service was, "A College Man's Religion," for the young people's service in the evening the topic was "Strength." There was a forum afterwards in which the problems of young people of today were discussed.

ETA SIGMA PHI

A meeting of the Greek honorary society, Eta Sigma Phi, was held in 54 South College, Tuesday evening. The last part of the Greek play, "Aristophanes Frogs," in which the members have had parts assigned to read, was finished.

Student's Accounts Solicited

Turk Says

This schedule shows you how the Budget Plan works.

Ask to see Turk's	On a purchase amounting to	You pay down	You pay per week for 10 weeks
New Tuxedo Suits	$25.00	$ 5.00	$ 2.00
	30.00	6.00	2.40
	35.00	7.00	2.80
	40.00	8.00	3.20
	45.00	9.00	3.60
	50.00	10.00	4.00
	55.00	11.00	4.40
$32.50, $42.50	60.00	12.00	4.80
	65.00	13.00	5.20
	70.00	14.00	5.60
	75.00	15.00	6.00

Try the Budget Plan
LANGROCKS and TURKS
SUITS and TOPCOATS
Turk's
Where the Students Trade
Burlington Cincinnati Columbus New York
154-156 COLLEGE STREET

PROF. LADD TELLS OF WAR EXPERIENCES WHILE INTERNED IN GERMANY

Last Monday evening Professor J. P. Ladd spoke before a Ladies Night gathering of the local Rotary Club on his experiences in Germany dur[illegible] the War. He told a thrilling st[illegible] of an occasion in 1914 when he [illegible] placed under arrest and sentenced [illegible] be shot as an English spy. At t[illegible] time Professor Ladd was studying German at the University of Kiel. He was summarily thrown into prison on slight suspicion and soon after his guard had told him that he had but a half hour to live, a German officer came in and asking him further questions as to his identity was convinced as to his innocence. He was released, although forbidden to leave the city during the remainder of the war. During Professor Ladd's stay in Kiel he acted as Professor of English.

Fraternity Notes

Sigma Delta

Sigma Delta announces the pledging of A. L. Knapp '20, of Wethersfield, Connecticut.

Last week a table was started at the house, fourteen members of the fraternity are eating there regularly.

Delta Psi

At the last meeting of the fraternity several alumni were present among whom were Emeritus Professor S. E. Emerson who gave several addresses in Burlington last week, Judge Macomber, Max L. Powell, and Professor S. E. Bassett.

ART COURSE INCLUDING STUDY OF PASTELS TO BE GIVEN BY MRS. DOANE

After Christmas Vacation an opportunity will be given to [illegible] so inclined, to pursue a [illegible] in art. It will consist [illegible] pencil and charcoal drawing [illegible] studied art in [illegible] Burlington, has offered to [illegible] of the class, which will [illegible] meet twice a week, at night. If more than twelve sign up for the course the expense attendant on models and materials will be very small. If on the other hand, less than ten sign up the course will not be given.

It is urged that prospective applicants be not bashful in signing up for the course, since the latest studies of Psychology have shown that the "artistic temperament" is not necessarily born in a person. Anyone interested in this course will please call Mrs. R. F. Doane, Tel. 353-W before Christmas Vacation.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS OF GOODS THAT LAST

Russel W. Parisl
Jeweler
97 Church Street

To make the first part of life take care of the last part is the job we humans are up against.
I CAN SHOW YOU ONE WAY
"BERNIE" LEMIEUX '25
New York Life Insurance Co.

U. V. M.

We will paint or imprint FREE any school, fraternity or your own initials on that slicker or raincoat you buy from us.

WORK DONE BY AN EXPERT

PEOPLE'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
29 Church Street

WHEN THINKING OF
CHRISTMAS CARDS
IT IS GOOD TO KEEP IN MIND THE OLD PROVERB
"The Early Bird Catches The Worm"
Stop at
The University Stores
AND WE WILL SHOW YOU OUR BEST

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 — BURLINGTON, VT., TUESDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1926 — NUMBER 23

SMITH AND STEVENS ELECTED TO GUIDE THE 1927 FOOTBALL TEAM

Hyland, Mackay and Otto Are Assistant Managers — Collins Manger of Freshman Football

The football elections were held over the week-end and the results released Monday. The choice for captain of the Green and Gold gridiron representatives was "Jack" Smith, '28. The manager is "Charlie" Stevens '28 and assistant managers are to be A. G. Mackay, F. R. Otto and J. P. Hyland. H. C. Collins is to be manager of freshman football for 1927.

J. A. Smith, of Dedham, Mass., is a member of Kappa Sigma and of the Serpent. He has played varsity football since his freshman year when "Tom" Keady then director of athletics at Vermont picked the obscure back out from the squad of green aspirants and said, "Come over here to the varsity, you belong with the freshmen." Under Tom's" tutelage "Jack" learned a great deal of football and he has been developing ever since until this season he has undoubtedly been the most valuable man in the Vermont backfield. His spectacular long-distance punting under all conditions has won him recognition in the football world and last year he was given credit for the third longest punt of the season. But his punting is only part even of his football accomplishments for not only does he carry the ball as well as any man on the team but he is an accurate passer and his sterling work on the defense where he was shifted from line to backfield as the occasion demanded was little short of marvelous at times during the past season. He has played fullback and halfback on the football team and he has earned his "V" as a pitcher in baseball. He has been an able and conscientious worker in many lines of activity and well deserves the honor conferred upon him.

C. W. Stevens is a member of Phi Delta Theta and his home is in Essex Junction. He is President of the Junior Class and of Key and Serpent. He is a member of the Student Senate and Assistant Business Manager of the Cynic. He is also on the business staff of the Ariel and is interested and active in many other campus organizations.

H. C. Collins, of Greensboro Bend, is a member of Phi Mu Delta and of Key and Serpent. He is also Assistant Kake Walk Director.

A. G. Mackay, of Peacham, is a member of Sigma Alpha Chi and of Gold Key.

F. R. Otto, of Maplewood, N. J., is a member of Kappa Sigma and is Chairman of the Sophomore Hop Committee.

J. P. Hyland, of Worcester, Mass., is a member of Sigma Nu and the Student Senate.

MEETING OF DEBATERS THIS AFTERNOON

This afternoon at four o'clock in the Old Chapel the men interested in varsity debating will hold another meeting. Any students who were unable to attend the meeting last week should come this afternoon. In a debate that has been arranged with Middlebury Vermont will uphold the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, That the United States should cancel the debts made to her associates in the world war."

TOPICS ANNOUNCED FOR SPEAKERS IN CONTEST

Further information has been received concerning the third National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest to be held at Los Angeles. The orations must be original, must not require more than ten minutes for delivery, and must be on any one of the following topics: The Constitution. Washington and the Constitution, Hamilton and the Constitution, Jefferson and the Constitution, Marshall and the Constitution, Franklin and the Constitution, Madison and the Constitution, Webster and the Constitution, or Lincoln and the Constitution.

Mr. Moore offers further information in regard to this contest for those who are interested and wish help.

Sophomores at the University of Washington have adopted overalls as their official costume.

Men Who Will Figure in Tomorrow Night's Contest

W. J. McAvoy, coach of football and basketball

"Doc" Marvin, '28, veteran center and captain of the basketball team

"Archie" Post, '27, fast forward and last year's captain

BASKETBALL MEN TO PLAY IN YALE TOURNEY DURING THE HOLIDAYS

Yale, Tufts and Holy Cross Are Other Teams Which Will Meet at New Haven After Christmas

The Varsity basketball team will spend December 28, 29 and 30 at New Haven, Conn., where they will play in the Yale Tournament. The other teams entering are Yale, Holy Cross and Tufts.

In the opening game on Wednesday evening the 29th Yale will meet Tufts. Directly following this game Vermont will meet her old-time rival Holy Cross. Thursday evening, the losers of the first day's contests will play for the cellar position. Following this the winners of the previous evening will battle for the title.

The players will be entertained at the Y Club. Theatre trips, sightseeing tours, conferences and practice sessions will fill most of their unoccupied moments.

This is the first time in recent years that Vermont has been entered in such a tournament. It will bridge the long gap in the playing season which would exist because of the holidays, from the opening game with the Montreal A. A. A. tomorrow evening until the Crescent A. C. contest at Brooklyn on January 7. Tomorrow evening's game is the last time that a varsity contest will be played here until after mid years.

Program for Yale Tournament

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 28

2:00-6:00—Practice in Gym (Dependant on time of arrival—period will be assigned)
6:30 P. M.—Dinner at Y Club (short talk on Intercollegiate basketball)
7:30 P. M.—Short meeting of captains, managers and coaches
8:15 P. M.—Shubert Theatre

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 29

8:15-9:00—Breakfast at Y Club
12:30 P. M.—Dinner at Y Club
2:15 P. M.—Optional sightseeing tour
5:00 P. M.—Supper at Y Club (Coaches and officials to have informal talk)
7:30 P. M.—First game (Yale vs. Tufts)
8:45 P. M.—Second game (Holy Cross vs. Vermont)

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30

8:15-9:00—Breakfast at Y Club
12:30 P. M.—Dinner at Y Club
2:00 P. M.—Poli's Palace Theatre
5:00 P. M.—Supper at Y Club
7:30 P. M.—First game (losers on first night)
8:45 P. M.—Second game (winners on first night)

